Had Gems Valued at $2,000 When He Left Residence.

Employers Receive Two Notes Demanding $10,000 for His Return.

New York, Jnue 22.—Meyer Newman, a diamond salesman, left his home last Tuesday morning with $2,000 worth of diamonds and he has not returned home since. His wife, who is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, says she believes her husband is being held for ransom and that he will be killed if $10,000 is not paid by his captors. Two anonymous letters in which demands for $10,000 have been made upon the diamond merchants of Stern Brothers & Co., have been received by that firm and were turned over to the police, who are investigating the strange disappearance of Newman.

A telephone message which Newman received the night before he went away, figures in the case. After talking to some persons over the telephone for several minutes, he told his wife that two men from the West had asked him to carry diamonds to them for inspection early the next morning.

On Tuesday morning Newman, who had kept in his house some of the diamonds he had for sale, placed $2,000 worth of the gems in a pocketbook and left the house. When he did not return to his home for dinner Tuesday night his wife became alarmed and sent word to Newman's relatives that her husband was missing. They instituted a search of the morgue and the hospitals, but could get no trace of the missing salesman.

On Wednesday the firm of Stern Brothers & Co. received a letter, of which the following is a copy:

"This is to notify you that Meyer Newman is being held a captive for a ransom of $10,000. You are to place the money in a tin can at the Bronx park entrance before June 30."

This communication, which was written in ink on paper of good quality, was enclosed in an envelope deposited at the main postoffice on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The members of the diamond firm paid little attention to the letter. On Saturday they received another letter which was a duplicate of the first. These letters they turned over to the police.

STATE PARK IS BEING MISUSED

County Attorney Dampier Makes Attack on Forestry Board.

Akeley, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Attorney E. R. Dampier of Hubbard county is out this week with a very strong statement in reference to the misuse of the state park at Itasca lake, which has caused a sensation, coming from such an official source. Mr. Dampier says he visited the Douglas Lodge last week, one of the most unique and historical places in the state, and continues as follows:

"Last winter the legislature turned the park over to the forestry board, and since then the policy of the board has been to kill off as much as possible attractions to the park and turn it into a sort of summer school for forestry students, the result of their efforts being a total neglect of the buildings and park features.

"The commissioner of the park repeatedly called their attention to the fact that the buildings were rapidly going to decay and that the logs needed a new coat of oil and varnish, but they paid no attention to him, though they were as familiar with the conditions, as they visit the park as often as anyone. They are now figuring on taking this beautiful building and turning it into a school. To the people of the state the value of this place as a park, as a place of recreation and amusement is of far greater value than it would be as a place for the testing of fads by a lot of superannuated university professors, and no candidate for the legislature from this district should receivbe support for that office unless he is ready to put himself on record as being willing to use every legitimate means in his power to take the control of this park from the hands of the forestry board and return it to the people as a park, pure and simple, and to see that it is kept up and made attractive as a park."

BRYAN MAN WRATHY

Washington, June 22.—Wrathy over the telegram that Archbishop Ireland sent to Secretary Taft as "the choice of the American people," W. J. Dwyer, regarded by many as Bryan's closest friend in the District of Columbia, and himself a Catholic, came out Saturday night in a published criticism of the archbishop.

"Archbishop Ireland should keep out of politics," said Dwyer. "If he is not called down by Rome he will create much bad feeling among religious denominations, especially the Catholics."

INNOVATION AT DENVER

Delegates Will Sit Higher Than the Presiding Officer.

Speakers' Stand Will be in the Middle of the Hall.

Denver, Colo., June 22.—The acoustic properties of the new Denver auditorium, which seats 14,000 people, are pronounced the most perfect of any similar assembly hall in the country. Eminent actors, singers and orators have been induced to make practical tests of the acoustic values of the great hall during its construction, and changes have been made at the suggestion of those who have found defects. As the place is now arranged, a speaker using a moderate speaking tone is plainly heard by auditors sitting in any part of the vast building.

The committee in charge of the construction of the auditorium decided to place the stage for the convention as near the center of the hall as possible, instead of near one end, as is the custom in such places. This gives the speaker a great advantage, inasmuch as it enables him to use a lower tone of voice than is usually employed in addressing 14,000 people, although he is required to turn his back on part of his audience during his address.

The Denver auditorium is so constructed that the speaker stands on a lower level than his auditors, and all the air currents passing through the building for ventilating purposes are drawn from directly beneath the platform on which the speakers stand. In this manner every circumstance tends to carry the sounds of the speaker's voice straight to his hearers, so that

TO OPERATE IN VACUUM

New Scheme to Keep the Air Free From Germs.

New York, June 22.—The Rockefeller institute will install next year a vacuum operating room such as has been exhibited there by Prof. G. Sauerbruck of Marburg, Germany. This new operating room, or cabinet, provides for operations in atmosphere free from microbes, and enables the operating surgeon to have the pressure of air upon the exposed parts of the subject much less than in an ordinary room.

Prof. Sauerbruck used a dog to illustrate the usefulness of the cabinet. The dog's head was struck through a hole in the side of the cabinet, so that he could breathe into the outside room. His body remained inside the cabinet on a table. Two surgeons went inside the cabinet, after which it was hermetically sealed, except for an arrangement provided to let in as much air as the surgeons needed for themselves. This came through a water cask, which purified it in its passage.

The lungs of the dog were laid bare inside the cabinet, so that tuberculosis serum could be applied directly for experimental purposes. It is asserted that the use of the vacuum operating room will make it much safer for the subject on the table, since the exposed parts will be much less exposed to germs in the air.

Moreover, it is claimed that the vacuum cabinet makes it safer to remove parts of a lung infected with tuberculosis germs. Besides, the lungs can be kept exposed to the surgical eye a longer time, while the subject goes on breathing just as easy as if the whole operation were inside an ordinary operating room.

MYSTERY UNSOLVED

George Genery Has Been Missing for Over Two Weeks.

Marquette, Mich., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery of the disappearance of George Genery, keeper of the north light on Grand island, who has been missing for more than two weeks, continues as perplexing as ever. His present whereabouts, if he is alive, or what fate has befallen him, if he is dead, are matters that still puzzle the authorities of Alger county. Genery's assistant, E. C. Morrison, of Detroit, having been found dead in the lighthouse sail boat, it was first believed that one if not two murders had been done. But now that two separate juries summoned by the coroner at Grand Marais have decreed that violence did not occasion the man's demise, the supposition is that the light keeper has, himself, been the victim of some inexplicable fatality of accidental nature.

Genery was last seen the morning of Saturday, June 6. He had been to Munising for provisions and had started back in his sailboat. That he reached the island is proved by the fact that supplies purchased by him were found, undis-

PARTICIPATORS IN MASSACRE

Of Russian Jews in 1905 Are Given Sentences.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—Sentences were handed down today in the case of the participators in the Jewish massacre of 1905, at Rialystok, when eleven Christians and seventy-three Jews were killed and twenty-three Christians and eighty-two Jews were wounded. One of the prisoners was sentenced to three years' penal servitude, thirteen others were condemned to from six months to a year's imprisonment, and fifteen were acquitted.

Plate Glass Windows Broken in a Number of Houses.

Storm Passes Over Duluth Without Doing Any Damage.

St. Paul, June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A furious wind and rain storm broke over St. Paul at 8 o'clock today, and considerable damage was done in the fifteen minutes during which the tempest was at its height.

A huge traveling steam crane at the St. Paul foundry, opposite the Dale street shops of the Great Northern, was lifted from the rails on which it was mounted and thrown over. It was twisted and otherwise badly damaged. The crane weighed ten tons.

Trees were blown down in different parts of the city and traffic was delayed on two street car lines from this cause. A tree fell across the tracks at Rondo and Mackubin streets, and it was nearly an hour before the traffic was resumed. At Selby and Nina avenues a falling tree broke the trolley feed wire, and the Selby, Merriam park and Selby-Lake lines were tied up for a considerable time.

Plate glass windows were blown out at the following places: Heller's drug store, Tenth and St. Peter streets; Summit bowling alleys, 928 East Seventh street; Winslow Furniture company, 434 Wabasha street, damage, $100; millinery store at 509 Wabasha street. A large shack at Wabasha street and College avenue was blown down; it was owned by Rud T. Frey, 568 Wabasha street.

In Duluth, the storm did not do any extensive damage.

The greatest velocity reached by the wind was twenty-four miles an hour, and the downpour of rain did not last long enough to flood many basements or overflow the sewers.

Timid citizens, however, were given a bad scare by the threatening aspect of the sky. For a time it looked as if a real Kansas cyclone were approaching, and it was so dark that it was impossible to see more than the length of a city block.

MADE QUICK AUTO TRIP.

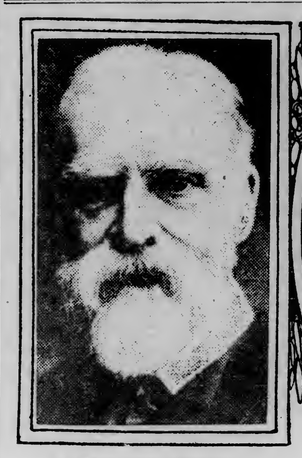

Marquette, Mich., June 22.—Making the trip by automobile, E. G. Cole and party arrived at Iron Mountain from Ripon, Wis., in less than eight hours. The distance is 215 miles. Except in the vicinity of Green Bay, Wis., the highways were found in excellent condition.

BACK TO THE GARDEN.

Mrs. Cabbage Head: "Yes, dear, I know you have been awfully busy of late, but now that the convention is closed, the spring rains about over, the Cubs and Sox leading the baseball world, the mosquitoes so thick that fishing is a hardship, DON'T YOU THINK YOU COULD FIND TIME TO WEED THE GARDEN AND CUT THE LAWN?"

JAMES BRYCE, THE BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO AMERICA, IS THE GUEST OF THE CITY

AMBASSADOR BRYCE.

MRS. BRYCE.

Party Spends the Morning Looking Over the Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Will be Entertained at Banquet.

Distinquished Visitor Refuses to Give Out An Interview.

Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, is the guest of the city of Duluth today, having arrived here yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Bryce. Mr. and Mrs. Bryce are at the Spalding. They were the guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor.

This morning Mr. Bryce made a tour of the harbor in the government yacht, Vidette. Maj. Graham D. Fitch, government engineer was the host. This afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Marshall. This evening the ambassador will speak at a dinner given at the Commercial club in his honor at 7 o'clock.

Tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce will visit the Mesaba range. Tomorrow evening they will leave on the North West for a trip of the lakes.

As a statesman and keen student of international politics, Mr. Bryce is ranked among the truly great men of England. Before his appointment as ambassador to the United States, Mr. Bryce had been considered one of the leaders of English politics. He is the author of books that are considered the highest authority on constitutional history. His history of the American commonwealth is considered the best history and criticism of the country. His appointment as ambassador to the United States was a recognition of his great knowledge and deep study of industrial and political conditions in the United States.

Ambassador Bryce apparently has an aversion to newspaper men, in common with many diplomats. To the request of a Herald reporter, Mr. Bryce this morning pleaded the excuse that he was too busy to see a newspaper man. Later efforts to see Mr. Bryce in his room at the Spalding also were fruitless.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce were entertained yesterday afternoon and evening by Maj. Graham D. Fitch and Mrs. Fitch with a trip up the river to Fond du Lac, and a dinner on board the U. S. yacht Vidette. The other guests were the British Vice Consul and Mrs. Taylor and the Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of Duluth.

SANE FOURTH FOR BROOKLYN BOYS

Will Hear Eloquent Speakers Instead of Losing Fingers.

New York, June 22.—Many boys of Greater New York are uniting in a project to celebrate the Fourth of July most patriotically, and at the same time sensibly, without blowing off their fingers, or shooting out their eyes, or starting costly fires. At least 5,000 boys, it is expected, will march to the city hall here on the glorious Fourth, and with the Stars and Stripes above, will hear eloquent speakers tell them how lucky they are to have been born in this land of the brave, instead of having been imported here.

The idea seems to have originated in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn, where quiet is precious. It meets with Fire Chief Croker's entire approval and he has written an approving letter to the man who started the movement. Borough President Ahearn has given permission to the celebrants to use the city hall portico as a speaker's rostrum.

MINER'S BACK BROKEN.

Calumet, Mich., June 22.—Matt Saluska, a miner, met with a terrible injury while at work underground, in C shaft, Champion mine, Thursday night, and is not expected to recover. Saluska was struck by a piece of loose rock, and sustained a broken back and other injuries.

MEMBERS OF TRUST FINED

Manufacturers of Wrapping Paper Are Assessed $1,000 Each.

Pleaded Guilty to Combination in Restraint of Trade.

New York, June 22.—Twenty-four companies manufacturing manila wrapping paper were fined $1,000 each by Judge Hough in the United States circuit court today. They pleaded guilty on Friday last to maintaining an illegal combination in restraint of trade. They were members of the Manila & Fibre association.

The companies pleading guilty and fined are as follows:

Analomink Paper Co., North Water Gap, Pa.; Bayless Pulp and Paper company, Austin, Pa.; Bedford Pulp & Paper company, Big Island, Va.; Brownville Paper company, Brownville, N. Y.; The Champion Paper company, Carthage, N. Y.; Central Paper company, Muskegon, Mich.; Continental Paper Bag company, Watertown, N. Y.; De Grasse Paper company, Pyritets, N. Y.; Dexter Sulphite Pulp & Paper company, Detroit, Mich.; Fletcher Paper company, Alpena, Mich.; Gould Paper company, Lyons Falls, N. Y.; Hartje Paper Manufacturing company, Steubenville, Ohio; Island Paper company, Menasha, Wis.; Jefferson Paper company, Black River, N. Y.; Newton Falls Paper company, Newton Falls, N. Y.; Oreno Pulp & Paper company, Orono, Me.; Parsons Pulp & Paper company, Parsons, W. Va.; Racquette River Paper company, Potsdam, N. Y.; York Haven Paper company, York Haven, Pa.; Moyer & Pratt, Lyoons Falls, N. Y.; Munising Paper company, (Ltd.), Munising, Mich.

The association was organized in 1906 by John H. Parks and was composed of wrapping paper manufacturers. An indictment was found against Parks and twenty-five companies, charging illegal combination in restraint of trade. The indictment, at the request of United States Attorney Crim, who conducted the inquiry, was kept under the seal of the United States Circuit court until Solomon M. Stroock, counsel for the Fibre & Manila association, appeared before Judge Hough and pleaded guilty for twenty-three of the companies named in the indictment.

DES MOINES RIVER RISING

People Again Face Possibility of Being Driven From Home.

Des Moines, June 22.—The Des Moines river is again rising and people living in the low lands again face the possibility of being driven from their homes.

Exceptionally heavy rains during the past week in the Upper Des Moines valley are responsible for the present rise.

KING PETER TO ABDICATE.

Servian Parliamentary Crisis Acute and Outlook is Gloomy.

Vienna, Austria, June 22.—Information reaches here that the parliamentry crisis in Servia is acute. It has been learned from a Servian politician that it is extremely probable the difficulties will end in the abdication of King Peter. As the country has little confidence in the crown prince, the national outlook is gloomy.

"CARVED" HIS FRIEND.

Calumet, Mich., June 22.—Andrew Laine, charged with assault with intent to murder, was bound over, in Justice Jackola's court, to the next term of circuit court. He was taken to the county jail last evening, where he will be confined until the September term. Laine is accused of carving up a friend with whom he was walking down Pine street.

OCEAN TO OCEAN BY WATER ROUTE

Waterway Conference at Chicago Takes Up Big Plans.

Chicago, June 22.—After agreeing to recommend a transcontinental waterway from ocean to ocean, the complete canalizing of the country and other important work, members of the commission appointed by the president to devise means for the conservation of the country's resources, left for their homes, following two conferences. The inland waterways commissioners and government representatives arrived at a thorough understanding of their separate functions.

The first recommendations agreed upon were for the consideration of coal and forestry. It will be recommended that waterways in the Atlantic slope be utilized for generating more electric power, so the consumption of coal in Eastern industrial centers may be reduced.

Another recommendation will be a statute similar to the German law on forestry. Under such a measure every person who destroys a tree unless given permission to do so by the government, will be required to plant another and insure its growth.

Other plans of magnitude discussed were for a transcontinental waterway through the Great Lakes, the Sault Ste. Marie canal, Colorado, Snake and St. Lawrence rivers. A new canal of little more than a hundred miles and the dredging of the rivers, together with the waterways already navigable would complete the route and enable ships to pass from ocean to ocean.

The Chicago drainage canal will make deep water navigation north and south possible between the lakes and the gulf.

Plans were read for canalizing the entire continent as a means of promoting agriculture, employing idle labor and cheapening rates of transportation.

SENATOR J. W. BAILEY MAY NOT ATTEND CONVENTION.

New York, June 22.—Friends of Senator J. W. Bailey, think it very doubtful if he will be able to take any active part in the Denver convention and it may be that he will not be fit even to attend. This statement was made in view of dispatches from Chicago which have represented that the sub-committee of the Democratic national committee had beeen considering Senator Bailey for chairman of the committee on resolutions. The senator is still in bed at the Waldorf and it will be at least a week or ten days before he can go out.

Box Car Lodgers.

Box car lodgers are numerous in Duluth this summer. Every few days a number of them are rounded up by the police. Some are fined or given jail sentences on the charge of tresspass or vagrancy, and others are allowed to go on condition that they leave town. It all depends upon whether it is an aggravated case or not. Seven men charged with tresspass, who were hauled out of a box car yesterday, lined up in police court this morning. All were given suspended sentences, on condition that they get out of town and go to work.

Court Hears Case.

The timber contract of Ulrick Samuelson against Peter Trader and others is being tried today before Judge Cant. The action involves a claim of about $50 and is being tried by the judge.

Cumming Will Run.

Joseph W. Cumming, a well known resident of the seventh ward who is a member of the new board of health, will be a candidate for the nomination for county commissioner, in opposition to John Sundeen at the primaries next September.

Mr. Cumming was a candidate for the office, against Mr. Sundeen, four years ago and was defeated by the latter. Mr. Sundeen has signified his intention of being a candidate for re-election.

HUGE CIRCUS TENT FALLS ON CROWD OF SPECTATORS

The huge circus tent of the Hagenbeck & Wallace shows blew down this afternoon on the heads of several thousand people who were waiting for the afternoon performance to begin.

The tent was about half filled with spectators at the time. The huge canvas was water soaked and the hundreds of tons of water were too much for the poles that supported it. One of the poles near the entrance from the menagerie snapped and it was followed an instant later by others. Slowly the great canvas sank upon the heads of the terrified spectators. Women shrieked, children cried and the interior of the tent was a bedlam of confusion for a few moments. The greatest danger to the spectators was from the swinging poles. The fragments of the poles, supported by the ropes, swayed about over the heads of the people.

The seats remained standing, and partially supported the canvas until the spectators were able to crawl from underneath. One by one they emerged from the edges of the tent. A corps of the circus employes rushed to their assistance and succeeded in extricating hundreds of women and children who were entangled in the seats and the canvas.

For ten or fifteen minutes the greatest confusion reigned. Mothers, who had become separated from their children, were nearly frantic with fear. Many women fainted. Children were crying and men were rushing about trying to find their friends or families.

The excitement gradually subsided, and so far as could be learned nobody was injured by the accident. Employes of the circus made a thorough search under the canvas and reported that everyone had escaped.

At the hour of going to press, the circus men were at work restoring order and erecting the big tent once more. As soon as the big tent was properly guyed and geared once more, the intention of the circus officials was to resume the afternoon performance, which was so rudely and unceremoniously interrupted by the wind which toppled the canvas.

The evening performance will be given complete, as usual.

SUBJECT TO STATE LAWS

Public Lands May be Assessed for Drainage Purposes.

Failure of Assessments May Entail Loss of Land Involved.

The attention of the register and receiver of the Duluth land office has been called by the department to an act of congress of May 20 of this year subjecting the public lands of Minesota to the drainage laws of the state. The act covers lands controlled by the Duluth, Cass Lake and Crookston land offices and is of immense importance to homesteaders and entrymen of all kinds, who have not received their patents, and prospective entrymen.

The law provides that all public lands in Minnesota, whether unoccupied and open for entry, or entered upon, but not yet patented, shall be subject to the drainage laws of the state of Minnesota, in the same measure and under the same provisions as the land held by any private party.

In case of the non-payment of state assessments for drainage purposes, any unentered lands or entered lands without patent, may be seized and sold by the state for the drainage fee, the sale to be merely a right of entry, which may be exercised at the United States land office. The purchaser of the right may purchase the land from the government for $1.25 per acre, providing he has the qualifications of a homesteader, but no one man can acquire more than 160 acres by that means.

If there are no private bidders at a sale of the kind, the state may purchase the land from the government for $1.25 an acre and sell it to anybody, with the same limitations—that the purchaser shall have the qualifications of a homesteader and that no one man shall acquire more than 160 acres.

Section 8 of the act provides that entries and proofs may be made and patents issued for all ceded Chippewa lands (except in the Red Lake reservation), which were withdrawn under the act of June 21, 1906, in the same manner in which entries, proofs and patents for the other lands are made and issued under the homestead laws, subject to the payment of the purchase price fixed by law, for such lands.

Persons making final proofs of entries in the Red Lake reservation will be required to pay 3 cents per acre in addition to the purchase originally fixed by law, except in cases where entry was made prior to Nov. 10, 1906, the date of the withdrawal under said act of June 21, 1906.

GOT A DUCKING.

An Overly Polite Captain Bowed Himself Into the Water.

According to one of the crew that came up the lakes from Cleveland on the freighter Zenith City, which arrived at Two Harbors late last night, Capt. Gegeaux, while gallantly escorting some ladies ashore at Cleveland, received a thorough ducking in the oily waters of the slip at which the boat was docked.

The captain is a large man, and in his polite efforts to bow the ladies down the gang plank, bowed himself from the plank into the slip, creating not a little stir on board and along the dock. A boat hook was fixed in his clothing and he was hauled aboard.

When the water had been rolled from the captains' rotund body, so that he could express himself, he reported the keel and propeller of his vessel in fine condition as far as he could judge through the muddy waters. Except from being sick from the amount of filthy water he had swallowed, the ducking had no bad effects.

MILWAUKEE MAN SENT TO PRISON FOR LIFE.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 22.—George Willoughby, who shot and killed his wife at their residence on Prospect avenue on March 22, today pleaded guilty to the crime in the municipal court, threw himself on the mercy of the court and was sentenced to life imprisonment at Waupun by Judge Brazee. Willoughby was one of the most prominent businessmen in Milwaukee before the murder, and, together with his wife, was prominent in church work.

CHISHOLM BOY DROWNS.

Overcome by Cramp, He Sinks in Longyear Lake.

Chisholm, Minn., une 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Tarkanan was drowned while swimming in Long Year lake Sunday about 4 p. m. He got cramps. The body was found forty-five minutes after the disappearance. He was 16 years old and resided at the Myers location. Alex Hill dove four times until he found the body in ten feet of water.

AUSTRIAN ICICLE FACTORY.

A series of poles is arranged so that the water will fall slowly over each one in the series. Of course, the water in the winter time freezes, forming large icicles. When the icicles have attained the proper size the employees of the "ice plant" come arond with carts, break off the great sticks of ice and haul them away to a place where they are put in storage.

Of course it is much easier to handle a larger quanity of ice in this way than it is to cut it from some stream and then pack it away. There may, however, be a difference in quality between stick ice and lake or river ice.

FISHERMAN LOSES LIFE

Minneapolis Man Victim of Storm at Shady Oak Lake.

Terrific Wind Does Much Damage at White Beach Lake.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry H. Fortwenger, a coach repairer in the employ of the Omaha railway, was killed in the storm that swept over Minneapolis and vicinity early today. He had gone to Shady Oak lake to fish and when the storm broke took refuge in an abandoned shanty which was wrecked by the wind. A heavy beam fell across his chest crushing him so that he died within an hour.

At Lake Minnetonka the double-deck steamer Puritan was caught broadside by the wind and was driven ashore with twenty passengers aboard. All escaped without inury.

Many Barns Demolished.

St. Paul, June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The windstorm which struck St. Paul early today blew down many barns in Steele county and did damage in the towns of Ellendale and Clark's Grove estimated at $150,000. No fatalities are reported. At New Richmond, Wis., the inhabitants were panic-stricken by the sudden fury of the wind and many ran to the cellars fearing a repetition of the disaster of 1899. Buildings were unroofed and plate gluss windows were blown in. No loss of life reported.

The wind at St. Paul which came from the West and northwest, blew the hardest about White Bear lake. The west shore of the lake was especially afflicted. Wildwood, Mahtomedi and Dellwood escaped almost wholly, but along the road between Bald Eagle and White Bear so many trees were overturned and so many large branches were scattered far and wide that automobiles could hardly travel. Car traffic to White Bear was interrupted all morning.

An automobilist who came in from Bald Eagle reported that at Lake Phalen he saw a Maxwell runabout, a light machine, overturned by the wind and lying on its side. Its former occupant had apparently not been hurt and was engaged in pushing back his vehicle into a more dignified position

Lake residents found the village square at White Bear littered with big limbs. As the incoming trains moved southward, passengers saw more than a dozen trees that had been blown down between the village and Goose Lake. At Lake Shore several of the most attractive private groves had lost big trees.

Some of the summer cottages at Bald Eagle and White Bear were slightly damaged, but the occupants considered themselves lucky in escaping a genuine cyclone, such as has visited the neighborhood of White Bear on at least two occasions within the last quarter of a century.

Gladstone was also visited and reports of damage done were received this afternoon.

LONG TRIP WITH MULES

J. T. Armstead Comes From Indianapolis in Covered Wagon.

Over a Month Consumed Riding Behind Long-Eared Beast.

After traveling more than a month in a covered wagon drawn by a pair of mules, John T. Armstead of this city has returned from Indianapolis.

Mr. Armstead drove all the way from Indianapolis leaving there on May 14, and arriving in Duluth on June 15.

He laid over six days of that time on account of rainy weather.

Leaving Indianapolis he drove through Crawfordsville, Danville, Bloomington Peoria, Moline, Rock Island, Davenport, Dubuque and St. Paul.

H. T. Coverdill of Indianapolis accompanied him on the trip and returned last evening to Indianapolis.

"I took the trip for the purpose of seeing the country, and for the outing," said Mr. Armstead today. "I also wanted to get the mules here, and I enjoyed it hugely."

Giddings Began Today an Extraordinary SUIT SALE

At Three Prices, viz:

$17.50, $25 and $35

Previous Prices Randging from $25.00 to $85.00

THESE SUITS are not left-overs, not poor styles, not out-of-the-ordinary sizes, heavy materials, nor yet job lot bargain suits. On the contrary, they are up-to-date garments of most desirable material, tailored in that "well-done" manner and lined with first quality Peau de Cygne or Taffeta. That's why this sale is not to be confounded with the ordinary bargain suit sale, which offers cheap satin linings, cracky stiffening, skimpy skirts, workmanship that never felt the deft touch of skilled fingers, and wool which can trace its lineage to the cotton fields. In other words they are GIDDING SUITS taken direct from the regular Gidding stocks. Why? Simply because we were determined to keep our stocks in healthy condition until June first and we are now determined to have every garment sold during the season for which it was bought. No "left-overs" for us, we won't have them.

Specialist vs. General Practioner

Do you believe that "concentration of energy focused on a single purpose nets better results than general application? If you needed eye glasses, would you not go to an oculist rather than a physician? Is there, then, any law of reason which says this should not apply to merchandise as well as to profession? Then milady, why not buy your Garments of a Woman's Garment Specialist? It means more value in fit, style, workmanship and quality for the same money.

Regular $25.00 Values.

The Prices on Jackets Are Cut in Two

All Mixture and Covert Jackets worth to $17.50, at HALF PRICE.

COPPERS ARE RATHER SOFT

The copper stock market was rather quiet during the session today. After the opening the entire list was depressed, but during the latter part of the session there was a little rally, but that fact did not cause the market to close strong. It was rather soft and indifferent at the end of the session.

North Butte opened at $67, declined to $66.87½, rallied to $67 and closed at $66.25 bid. Amalgamated opened at $68, declined to $66.25 and closed at $66.25 bid and $66.37½ asked.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10.62½, advanced to $10.75, declined to $10.12½ and closed at $10.12 bid and $10.25 asked. Butte Coalition opened at $22.87½, declined to $22 and closed at $22 bid and $22.25 asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $108, declined to $107.50 and closed at $107.50 bid and $108 asked. Anaconda opened at $42.50 and closed at $42.50 bid.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $12.50 and $12.62½ and closed at $12.37½ bid and $12.50 asked; Denn-Arizona at $2.62½ and closed at $2.50 bid and $2.75 asked; Calumet & Sonora at $7 and closed at $7.12½ asked, and Butte & Superior at $1.12½ and closed at $1 bid and $1.12½ asked.

Globe was inactive and closed at $5.37½ bid and $5.50 asked; Mowitza at 90c bid and 95c asked; Butte-Balakava at $7.25 bid, and Red Warrior at $1.25 bid and $1.37½ asked.

Black Mountain sold at $3.87½, declined to $3.50 and closed at $3.37½ bid and $3.50 asked.

The Jerome, Ariz., News refers as follows to the copper property in which a number of Duluth people are interested:

In company with J. J. Shaw, manager of the Mazatzal Copper company, and Alex H. Lyons, the editor of the News paid a visit of inspection to that company's property, in Tonto Basin this week. Development work has been confined to the ledge opened up about seven weeks ago with most gratifying results, as evidenced by the following showing: The vein has been drifted on for a distance of 138 feet to the south, of which the first 22 feet is a sulphide assaying from 4 to 11 per cent copper, and the remaining 116 feet in carbonate ore assaying from 6 to 15 per cent. At 60 feet from where the ledge was cut in the tunnel a crosscut was driven for 30 feet to the east, which showed carbonate ores of high value and vein matter heavily copper-stained, and with no walls yet shown as the sulphides are of the best grade in the floor of the drift. At this point a station is now being cut and timbered with a view to sinking 100 feet below the tunnel level. Four hundred feet south of the Bullfrog tunnel there is another tunnel in the same ledge, showing a width of 25 feet of copper carbonate ores. This ledge has been practically developed for this distance and we agree with Mr. Shaw in his belief that the ledge is fully 40 feet in width and that the winze now sinking will show solid sulphides, and prove conclusively that the Mazatzal will in a very few months demonstrate itself to be one of the big mines of the West. Our remark of last week that the Matazal will make rich men of many of Jerome's citizens was no idle one, and since our visit to the scene of operations, we want to repeat it in italics.

Walker's Copper Letter in Saturday's Boston Commercial said:

Copper is showing a decided improvement in tone. Lake is 13⅜ and electrolytic 13 cents per pound. Evidence is multiplying that domestic consumption is increasing. American consumers are much more hopeful and are disposed to buy a little copper for future delivery. There has been some demand for September copper, but producers refuse to sell so far in advance of current low prices. Producing and selling interests are extremely hopeful and confident. The consensus of opinion among them is that copper will sell at 14 or 15 cents before the end of this year, and be in strong demand at those prices.

The consumption of copper and the market price of the metal depend upon the business situation more largely than anything else. The great industries of this country were built up under a government guarantee of protection to property, and with some governmental encouragement. If that protection is to be withdrawn through the enactment of anti-injunction laws, and if the anarchistic mouthings of labor agitators are to form the basis of legal code, it must not be expected that industrial activity will continue to expand. The character of the anti-injunction plank which is placed in the Republican platform by the Chicago convention, and the interpretation of it by the business interests of the country, is the vital factor in the situation at the present moment. If conservatism wins in politics, it will give this country a long period of unexcelled prosperity, and copper will be one of the commodities which will have substantial advance in price.

MAX BAHR RELEASED

Saloon Men Cannot be Prosecuted Twice on Same Charge.

In a decision handed down this afternoon, Judge Dibell released Max Bahr, bartender of the St. James hotel, from custody.

Bahr was convicted and fined for violating the liquor ordinance in the municipal court. He was later indicted by the grand jury, and his attorney demurred on the ground that he could not be punished twice for the same offense.

The decision of Judge Dibell upholds the claim of the defense, and it will be impossible for saloon men in future to be punished both by the municipal authorities and by the district court.

OVERWHELMED WITH REPLIES.

Washington, June 22.—The Republican congressional committee has been overwhelmed with replies to the offer to pay $150 for the best article on why the Republican party should be successful next November.

RAISED HIS OWN VEST.

Chicago Inter Ocean: "Now, this white waistcoat I am wearing," said Prof. Edward W. Worst to the National Association for the Unification of Manual Training and Graphic Arts, "I raised from the seed in my own back yard garden."

The members of the N. A. U. M. T. G. A. looked at the professor, then screamed for help in one voice.

"Police! He's got 'em!" said an excitable little man in the front row.

"Stuporous melancholia dementia Americana," said a member, who had been reading the Thaw trial.

But Prof. Worst calmly tided the storm as though he'd never heard of Matteawan, then raised his hand for silence.

"It is a fact, gentlemen," he continued, as he fingered his vest—ahem! waistcoat—proudly. "I planted the flaxseed myself. I spun the flax on my own spinning wheel, wove the textile on my own loom, cut the goods, and sewed out the finished garment alone and unattended.

"Everything I wear I made myself, from dyeing to weaving."

While the members of the N. A. U. M. T. G. A. gazed in startled awe at this man who would make such a love of a husband, the professor went on to explain the why.

"I'm head of the industrial department of the Chicago normal school, and it is my profession. So I unite business with pleasure. During the Christmas holidays I wove the cloth for my overcoat. I bought the wool from a farmer near Lockport, Ill. I paid 25 cents for the six pounds to the coat. I washed, carded and dyed the wool, using a vegetable dye of logwood and copper sulphate, the dye of the colonial times. It was fun."

At an early hour this morning Prof. Worst had still succeeded in evading a horde of women with leap-year intentions.

BEAR TRAP SET FOR OFFICERS.

Knoxville Sentinel: The gaping jaws of a bear trap is what confronted Deputy United States Marshal John H. Blankenship, Deputy Marshal George Shary and others when they made a raid last Friday night into the mountains of Blount county.

In the posse were the two deputies mentioned and Deputy Revenue Collector J. S. Remine. They left the city and went to the North Carolina line, and there located a distillery, alleged to have been owned and operated by "Uncle Sam" Burchfield. It was in the fastnesses of the mountains, and as the officers were just on the point of leaping from the roof into the little house, Messrs. Blankenship and Sharp spied the bear trap and crawled back.

They were both on the point of leaping down at the same time, and had they done so they would have been instantly caught in the trap. The trap is said to have been one of the largest ever seen in the mountains of East Tennessee.

Burchfield had escaped, but it is said that he will be arrested, but the officers in quest of him will look out in the future for man traps as well as bear traps.

HOW OLIVE OIL IS MADE.

The trees blossom in Tuscany in the month of May. The fruit begins to ripen in November and is generally in full maturity by January.

It is a risky crop, says What-to-Eat, maturing, as it does, during winter weather. A cold snap with frost may cause great damage to the fruit.

Sometimes the fruit remains on the trees till May, yielding a pale, very thin oil, appreciated in some quarters, but which speedily develops rancidity.

The process of extracting the oil is simple in the extreme; the fruit is first crushed in a mill to a uniform paste, then the paste is transferred to circular bags or receptacles made of vegetable fibre. A pile of these are placed in a press and the exuding oil flows into a collecting tank below.

Essential conditions are that the mill should not revolve too fast, or it will overheat the olive paste and give a bad flavor to the oil; that the bed of the mill should not be of metal for the same reason.

Also the degree of pressure, when the object is to get the finest quality of oil—"oil from the pulp," as the term runs—must not be excessive. The finest olive oil is essentially a cold drawn oil. Heat is prejudicial to quality.

However, when all possible care has been taken in the process the fact remains that olive oil can be made only from freshly gathered, perfectly sound, ripe olives of the proper kind. The big fat olives of hot, sub-tropical climates can never yield a delicately flavored oil.

The newly made oil must be allowed to settle. It is then clarified simply by passing it through purified cotton wool in a suitable filter. Really fine olive oil calls for no other treatment whatever, chemical or otherwise, to render it fit for the table. On this point it is as well to be clear, as reference has been made before now to processes for refining olive oil so as to obtain a specially fine quality—one might as well try to "paint the lily or adorn the rose."

After being brought to America the clarified oil is preserved in warehouses in large slate lined tanks, holding up to 20,000 gallons each, wherein the oil is maintained at an equable temperature. For bottling and can filling purposes it is transferred by pipes from these large tanks to other smaller tanks in the packing rooms.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The work which is being carried on at the West end in sewing classes by the women of the Twentieth Century club is doing much in that part of the city to supply the need for vacation schools for many of the young people. The rooms in the basement of St. Luke's church have been fitted up as clubrooms, and the sewing school, which was started a few months ago, has had a phenomenal success. Mrs. A. L. Agatin is at the head of the school and has as her assistants several of the club members and others interested in the work. A series of informal afternoons have been planned once each month for the young girls of the sewing classes. The first, which will be an ice cream social, will be held Wednesday of this week at the clubrooms.

Arrangements are now being completed to have the rooms open three evenings a week, in order that the children of the vicinity may have the advantage of the books and magazines. A loan collection of books from the public library is installed at the rooms, and fifty books, which have been given to the club outright, are also there for the use of the children. Current magazines are available, and the days upon which the rooms are open are popular ones with the young people who have come to use the rooms. An attendant will be engaged to be in charge of the rooms and interest the children, and the rooms will be open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, from 5 to 9 o'clock in the evening.

ART RECEPTION.

Mrs. R. M. Seymour to Speak on Handicraft Work.

The second in the series of informal receptions to be held at the Y. M. C. A. building in connection with the state art exhibit will be held tomorrow afternoon. Although the exhibit is open each day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night, a series of informal receptions has been planned at intervals during the two weeks. Tomorrow afternoon a number of Duluth women interested in the work will receive informally at the rooms. The hostesses are to be Mrs. W. E. Silvey, Mrs. G. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. W. M. Prindle, Mrs. G. E. Granger, Mrs. T. F. Cole and Mrs. R. P. Dowse. During the afternoon, Mrs. Robert Seymour will talk on the handicraft of the exhibit. Mrs. Seymour gave this talk at the time of the exhibit at Minneapolis and it is of great interest. Everyone interested is invited to attend the lecture and the exhibit.

TO ATTEND MEETING.

Local Librarians Go to National Meeting.

Miss Frances Earhart, Miss Tillie Thorn, Miss Zelma Kaiser and Miss Alice Gaylord left Saturday for Lake Minnetonka, where they will attend the annual meeting of the National Library association, which is in session there this week. Miss Poirier, librarian of the Duluth public library, left today to attend the meeting, and Miss Charity Jones will leave Wednesday to be present at a few of the sessions. Miss Louise Love of Cloquet will also be in attendance at the meeting.

W. R. C. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Women's Relief Corps will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Rowley's hall. The reports of the delegates to the departments convention will be presented.

Surprise Party.

Miss Gertrude Tischer was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening at her home, 1224 East Fourth street. A delightful evening was enjoyed by the following guests:

Misses—

Masters—

Fruit Fudges.

Mix together two cups of sugar, one-half of molasses and one-half cup butter. When this has boiled seven minutes, add one-half cup of grated chocolate and boil seven minutes longer. After it is taken from the fire stir in two tablespoonfuls figs, two of raisins, one-half cup English walnuts and a teaspoon of vanilla. (All the fruit must be chopped very fine.) Cool in sheets three-quarters of an inch thick, and cut in cubes.

A good rule in the making of fudges is to stir it constantly until it begins to boil; then cook slowly, stirring occasionally, eight or ten minutes—or until it makes a firm ball when dropped in water. When fudge (or any candy) is flavored with extract, the latter should be added after the mixture is taken from the fire.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer are at home in their new residence, 2230 East Second street.

Miss Midlinger of New York is the guest of Mr. and Mrs A. Fitger.

Mrs. L. E. Rieberman of 2031 East First street has returned from a visit at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kruger of the Portland flats have as their guest, J. L. Ream of Axtel, Kan.

Mrs. M. K. Williams and daughter of Minneapolis are the guests of Mrs. E. M. Kelly of Fourth avenue east.

Mrs. E. M. Ferguson has returned from Central America. Mr. Ferguson was detained in Chicago on business for a faw days.

Miss Georgia Everest of London Road has returned from New York, where she attended Pratt institute during the year, taking the first year in the normal course in art.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Deery of 418 East First street have returned from a short outing at Rice Lake, Wis.

Miss Mary Naughton has returned from Chicago, where she studied for several weeks with Larado Taft at his studio.

Miss Grace McKinstry of Faribault will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Weston until Wednesday of this week. Miss McKinstry is one of the foremost portrait painters of the state. She has studied abroad and received many honors and has been closely identified with the growth of the state art society. Her talk at the opening reception of the exhibit in this, which was given Saturday morning, was much enjoyed. Miss McKinstry will receive with the hostesses at the reception at the rooms tomorrow.

SUMMER SALADS.

Best Method of English and of French Cooks.

The "salad days" are upon us, and with them the usual anxious solicitude for a change. Everybody can make a salad, to be sure, but not everybody can get anything new; not everybody can afford to buy those things which are considered "requisite and necessary in the shape of head lettuce, fresh tomatoes, cucumbers, asparagus, or the still more expensive chicken and lobster. It behooves, therefore, that we look about for every possible expedient, says an exchange.

In England they are more particular as to the method than as to the ingredients. An English cook is very much afraid of water on his salad; he cleans it with barely enough to get out the "slugs and snails" and is careful to dry it leaf by leaf, first in a wire basket, then with a dry cloth. His unvaried rule is to break the leaves—it is with him a crime to cut lettuce apart. But his ideas of salads are limited to green stuffs—endive, lettuce, watercress and mint, with perhaps a dash of onion or a garniture of egg and the dressing. In this last your English cook puts too much vinegar; he is prone to leave a puddle of acid and vinegar in the bowl where should be oily traces only.

Americans are growing more like the foreigners on the continent in the matter of solids. We have learned the art from French and Italian cooks; like them, we use heavier foods—as well as unconsidered trifles. On the continent they make herring salad, sausage salad, ham salad, everything into salad.

And your Frenchman sets great store by anchovies, garlic, olives and sardines. Nor does he, in spite of the sound of these, make his salad messy or greasy, and chiefly for the reason that he is careful in the treatment of his green stuffs. He, like the Englishman, will leave no water in his lettuce, and the oil is not put on in a mass, but sprinkled lightly here and there, the whole stirred and tossed with a fork.

This careful use of odds and ends of fish, meat, vegetables, etc., is a sensible and economical plan. For with these—a little of everything left over—with a bit of something cold and green, with oil and a dash of mustard, our "salad days" may be wonderfully and cheaply prolonged.

IS SEARCHING FOR HER SON

Mrs. Ellen McFadzen Lost Track of Youth in Moving.

Mrs. Ellen S. McFadzen of McLeod, Alberta, is looking for her son, of whom she has lost tack through the fact that both moved about the same time.

"My son is somewhere in Minnesota, but I cannot find him," says the mother, in a plaintive little letter to The Herald. "We lost track of each other when both of us moved. I came from the East here. When I wrote him last I had not the slightest idea of moving so far.

"He sometimes goes by the name of Archie or Bert McFadzen, is 29 years old, fair as to complexion, blue eyes, curly hair, slight build and is a blacksmith and violinist."

ENJOY PICNIC.

Members of Scandinavian Relief Association Have an Outing.

Members of the Scandinavian Relief association of the West end went to Peterson's island at Fond du Lac for a picnic yesterday and nearly 500 of the members and their friends enjoyed the affair. The party went up the river on the steamer Mascotte and a program of sports including races of many kinds was a feature of the day. The second prize in the fat men's race, an alarm clock, was won by Capt. Lloyd of the steamer Mascotte.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Pie cherries, 2 qt. boxes for 25 cents.
Plums, 10 cents a qt. box.
Golden crockneck squash, 8 and 10 cents each.
Asparagus, 10 cents a bunch.
Watermelon, 45 cents each.
Lamb chops, 35 cents a lb.
Porterhouse steak, 25 cents a lb.
Ham hocks, 12½ cents a lb.

The time for cherry pie, really the most delicious combination known to mankind is here. There are people who joy in the spiciness of pumpkin pie and enthusiasts wax eloquent over mince, and there are those who even like pie plant, with a liking that is incomprehensible, but the tribute offered cherry pie is silence, a deep, palpitating, adoring, appreciative silence.

The wherewithal to make cherry pie is now to be had in the market, at prices which are not prohibitive.

Crookneck squashes, dainty golden things, are the prettiest vegetable that is shown, and if you like vegetables because of their prettiness, golden squashes are what you must get.

MARINE NEWS

EAST BOUND TRADE LIGHT

Shipments of Flour Show Big Decrease This Year.

Ore Movement Will be Heavier This Week Than Last.

Though prospects in the ore trade are brighter, with consequent activity in marine circles throughout, the managers of line boats are not smiling any too brightly over their business.

Westbound consignments have been plentiful enough and nearly all of the mines have had all they could handle. Eastbound, however, some of the boats have been compelled to go out with short cargoes. The copper trade from Portage Lake is not heavy enough to supply all of them.

Flour shipments have fallen down for this time of the year. The grain trade is practically all over and the boats are now dependent upon regular merchandise shipments. The eastbound freight movement by boat has not fully started, and until it does, the line managers must look to consignments from Eastern ports to make their business profitable.

Prospects for the ore trade this week are brighter than at any time this spring. The movement has been increasing steadily during the past two weeks. Shipments last week were heavier than at any time for the season. The loading of independent boats at the Missabe docks is a good sign and indicates that shipments will be on more nearly an equal basis from now on.

Reports from lower lake ports are that the independent owners, many have held their boats in port all spring, are becoming active and there will soon be a big fleet headed up the lakes with coal. Now that return cargoes are more plentiful, owners are willing to take coal carriers, with chances of a return cargo, than they were to carry coal at 30 cents with little or no prospect of securing a load for the down trip.

Grain stocks in the local elevators are down far below what they were at this time last year and but very little grain will be sent out in the next month. From now until the new crop begins to move, the line boats will be the principal carriers of grain and the big carriers will turn their attention to the ore and coal trade, such of it as they are able to secure.

NEW STEAMER HERE.

William Livingston Comes to Duluth for Cargo of Ore.

The new steamer William Livingston, constructed at the Ecorse yards of the American Shipbuilding company for G. A. Tomlinson of Duluth, arrived in port on her maiden trip yesterday afternoon. She was light and preceeded immediately to the Missabe docks for an ore cargo. The Livingston is a fine boat of the type of other large carriers of the Tomlinson fleet. She is sailed by Capt. D. P. Crane.

The Livingston is the first of three boats constructed this year for Mr. Tomlinson to arrive at her home port. The Henry Berwind and Fred G. Hartley are now bound up the lakes and will arrive some time this week. They will also take ore for their first trip down the lakes. Several Tomlinson boats are not yet in commission, but it is expected they will be before the first of July.

MUST ENFORCE LAW.

Inspectors Must See That Boats Have Full Crews.

Vessel inspectors have received instructions from George Uhler, chief supervising inspector, to enforce the law with the beginning of July specifying the minimum number of licensed officers and crew necessary for the safe navigation of a vessel. This law was passed by congress in April. Inspectors at annual examinations are to note upon the sailing certificate of each vessel the number of men it is necessary in their judgment to have on board to navigate the boat for the protection of the steamer and all on board. An appeal from the orders of the inspectors must be made within forty-eight hours after the receipt of the new certificate.

Heretofore inspectors have stipulated the number of men a boat should carry, but there was no law compelling the enforcement of their orders. When the new law goes into effect the captain violating the inspectors' orders will be fined or suspended, or both.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE.

Excursion Boats Collide in Detroit River, Causing Panic.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—A terrible marine disaster was narrowly averted on the Detroit river yesterday afternoon when the heavily laden Belle Isle ferry steamer, Brittannia, collided with the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company's steamer, City of Alpena.

Misunderstanding of signals is believed to have been responsible for the collision. The Brittania, loaded with several thousand men, women and children, was pulling out into the river from the dock at Third street bound up, when the City of Alpena, bound down, left her dock at Wayne street three blocks up the river.

A moment after the two steamers left their docks, the thousands on the Brittannia saw that a collision was inevitable. Women and children screamed with fright and rushed about the decks, pulling down life preservers. The Brittannia rammed the City Alpena on the starboard quarter forward of the paddle box and crushed in the upper decks for ten feet. The Brittannia was practically uninjured and the damage to the City of Alpena was so slight that she proceeded down the river. For several minutes after the collision, a panic of dreadful proportions threatened on the Brittania's crowded deck but quiet was finally restored. A number of women fainted.

Marine Notes.

The steamer Tionesta of the Anchor line arrived on her first trip yesterday morning, with a good passenger list. She leaves tonight on the return trip. The steamer Juniata will arrive Thursday.

Capt. W. S. Crozier arrived in Duluth yesterday from Cleveland, where he was connected with the Lake Carriers' shipping office. He will assist Capt. Currie, the local shipping master, and will probably be put in charge of an office to be located on the docks.

The steamer Huronic, the Northern Navigation company's passenger boat, arrived at noon today with a list of passengers from Sarnia and Port Arthur.

The J. F. Durston, which went to the Missabe docks to take ore Saturday will leave today on her first trip down the lakes.

WOMAN TRIED FOR BLIND PIGGING

Mrs. Annie Erovich Alleged to Have Sold Beer.

The trial of Mrs. Annie Erovich, on the charge of running a blind pig at Biwabik, was started this morning in the district court. The defendant is the wife of John Erovich, who was indicted for running a blind pig, assault and for resisting an officer. The assault indictment was dismissed for lack of evidence, and the jury acquitted Erovich of running a blind pig. He has not yet been tried for resisting the officer.

N. B. Arnold, who is defending Mrs. Erovich, has attacked the indictment with a view of getting it dismissed.

W. E. MAGNER IS A CANDIDATE

Some of the residents of Lakeside and their friends are circulating petitions requesting the school board to place the name of W. E. Magner on the ticket for one of the three new members of the board to be elected this year.

Mr. Magner is one of the oldest and best known residents of Lakeside. He is now serving his second term as president of the Commercial club, and is well qualified to serve as a member of the board. It is said that J. J. Le Tourneau, who has represented the Lakeside district on the board for the past nine years, is not anxious to serve a fourth term, as his business and other interests require all of his time, and he feels that he has devoted his share of time and attention officially to the public schools. Mr. Magner himself is said to be merely a receptive candidate for the position, but his friends are enthusiastic in his support and have begun the circulation of petitions in his behalf throughout the city.

KEEP DOWN TAXES.

F. B. Daugherty Says That Duluth Should be Economical.

F. B. Daugherty, former state senator and at the present time general manager of the Great Lakes Dredge and Tug Owners' association, is at the Spalding hotel. Mr. Daugherty says that he is greatly pleased over the nomination of Taft and is also greatly pleased over the progress Duluth is making.

"There is one thing that the officials of the city should guard against," said Mr. Daugherty "that is the rate of taxation. The country is growing and business interests are continually looking for new fields of endeavor. Manufacturers and other employers of labor are not going to come to a city where the rate of taxation is excessive. If Duluth is to be a big city the rate of taxation must be kept down."

IN DULUTH CHURCHES

PEACE IS BANISHED

Four Witnesses Testify to Its Effect on Man.

"One of the most obvious effects of sin is that it banishes the angel of peace from the fireside of the human heart," said Dr. Campbell Coyle last night in his sermon at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Coyle spoke on the subject, "What Sin Does for a Man," taking his text from Rom. vi, 23, "The Wages of Sin is Death."

"There are four witnesses that absolutely testify to the awful effects of sin," said the speaker. "The first is history; the second, observance, and the third and fourth, experience and the Bible. Every page of history tells us a sad tale of sin. By casting our eyes about us, we observe sin on every hand. There is something dreadful operating in the midst of our human lives. Since man's first disobedience, until now, all descendants of the first man have experienced the pain and hell of sin.

"In the Bible, all the way down the course of the inspired narrative, from the sin in the Garden unto the crimson hill of Calvary, and still on until the devil is cast into that lake whose billows dash in everlasting flames upon the beach, sin is clearly seen at its awful work of desolation and destroying the human race.

"Sin banishes the angel of peace from the fireside of the human heart," said the speaker. "It is the will of God that his angel of peace should dwell within our hearts. God never intended that the human breast should be the home of sadness and unrest, or the human face should be shadow-tainted, or seamed, or scarred with furrows of care. But what do we see as we turn our eyes about us and upon our own souls? Sadness everywhere, omnipresent, in the beating heart of man. How strange it is that we will persist in doing wrong, when we know out of the mouth of four unimpeachable witnesses that sadness is sure to come?

"Sin also separates men from man, and men from God. It undermines character and makes absolutely certain the ultimate overthrow and destruction of the life temple, which the persistent sinner is building. It destroys the whole man—body, mind and soul—and if persisted in down to the last, makes the doom of death an absolute certainty."

Dr. Coyle concluded by saying, "We are men and women made in the image of God, and, therefore, let us live as men and women ought to live, and by our constant victory over sin, prove our high extraction."

GHOSTS EXIST.

Pastor Says That They Dwell in the Souls of Men.

"In no untrue sense it might be said that the world is more or less chaos until the human mind, with its valuations, looks upon it and says 'Let there be light,'" said Rev. George R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday morning. "And in this sense our daily experiences are but so much clay which we shape into forms beautiful or hideous. Emerson is right when he says 'My children, you will never see anything worse than yourselves.'

"How many a proud and selfreliant intellect refuses to believe in ghosts, and yet in this same intellect or in that same heart there dwell spooks. Often the proudest man is controlled by what has no real substance at all. We speak of the dreadful things of life, of our fearful experiences. But what is dreadful and fearful or full of dread and full of fear? Not the external fact, but the inward realization of it. On the fair sea of Galilee was at one time, so the story goes, a great storm. And out on the heaving waters in a boat was the Master and his disciples. But while the disciples trembled with fear, the Master himself lay calmly asleep in the stern of the boat. At last they awakened Him and asked His help. And he turns to them and says: 'Oh ye of little faith, why are ye so fearful?' Yes they were fearful because they were empty of faith. They feared death because they had no faith in life.

"But as people are afraid of death, they are still more afraid of life with its varied experiences. In almost every face there is written the story of trial in mind and soul; only the fewest men and women show by their serene looks that they met the hard facts of life in a living faith. We see people suffer in soul; only the fewest men and women show by their serene looks that they met the hard facts of life in a living faith. We see people suffer in soul and mind; it is real suffering, and yet to no small extent it is self induced and exaggerated pain. They will hug and nurse their grief and sorrow as if they loved it instead of casting it aside.

"Half the suicides in the world are the result of a cowardly fear. It is the thought of future want rather than present starvation that will urge men to the act. It is the nightmare of social ostracism and community that will drive men into the arms of death.

"And behind all these needless disturbences of the soul, behind all these griefs and pains, behind all this fear there is a false love of self, which shuts out the faith which alone could give it peace and happiness. As soon as ever we forget self, as soon as ever we set aside selfish considerations, the storms of life begin to ease and our ship runs smoothly with the wind.

"What we need is the wider love and the deeper faith, the assurance that no real evil can come to us in God's world. There is a saying Christ asleep in every little boat that tosses on life's tempestuous sea: we only need to call Him to get help. It is our divine self that even in the most trying storm can speak the calming word and run the ship safe and sound into the harbor of God."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CROOKSTON HAS SHOCK

Terrific Bolt of Lightning Throws City Into Small Panic.

Several People Stunned, But None is Seriously Injured.

Crookston, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—About as freakish an electrical storm as ever visited Crookston resulted in a mild panic Sunday afternoon. There was only one heavy flash of lightning, but it was the most terrific ever witnessed in Crookston or vicinity.

From 1 o'clock heavy clouds hung over the city and the atmosphere was exceptionally close and rain was expected every minute. About noon many commented upon the sulphuric smell with which the air seemed to be permeated. Shortly after 1 o'clock rain began falling and a few minutes later there was a blinding flash of lightning and a crash of thunder which rattled dishes, stoves and every thing loose, and nearly sent every one into hysterics.

The bolt struck two trees along the sidewalk on Woodland avenue, Jeromes addition and A. L. Berkland, a mergenthaler operator for the Journal who was about twenty feet distant was knocked down but not seriously injured. The bark flew from both trees clear across the road.

At least ten other people in the city were knocked down, including Andrew Peterson, son of a Great Northern section foreman who was five blocks from where the bolt struck and Amelia Morberg who was two blocks distant in her fathers store. A stranger who was walking on the Great Northern tracks eight blocks from the bolt was also knocked senseless and half a dozen children out playing were knocked down. All those shocked soon recovered.

But the peculiar part of the phenomena was that nearly every residence in the city which is equipped with telephones or electric light was affected more or less. Archie Hillard, the druggist, went up stairs to close a window and was close to a drop light when the blinding flash came. He saw a blue flame, the bulb flew into a thousand fragments and Hillard picked himself up from under the bed when he revived. The domestic at Hillards was putting on the tea kettle when the flash came. The kettle was hurled from her hands across the stove and to the floor. The domestic was hurled to the other side of the kitchen.

Similar experiences are reported from every part of the city, and the miraculous part of it is that no one was seriously injured. Graham Munch was sitting up stairs in his room a short distance from one window and states that a bar of fire seemed to stretch from one window to the other and he was so shocked he fell over backwards. The telephone service throughout the city was crippled for a time, many phones being entirely out of commission yet, while scores of electric lights are out of business temporarily. Following the flash, the rain poured in torrents for a half hour.

WALKER TO GET NEXT MEETING

Park Region G. A. R. Ends After Electing L. S. Spencer Commander.

Akeley, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Commander Marcus Whitman Bates of Duluth addressed the Park Region G. A. R. encampment in the opera house, Saturday afternoon, on "Patriotic Endeavors of the Old Soldiers." He advocated the flying of flags in all public schools and said the old soldiers were not too old to live such lives as would be examples to the children. The encampment closed Saturday evening.

At the Akeley Gun club grounds the old soldiers made a splendid record, as they practically defeated the expert members of the club on their own grounds. Comrade Deming won the first prize and the district commander won the second prize, with four out of five hits. This was the most remarkable shooting, the wind blowing hard, and Commander Spencer was suffering terribly from rheumatism and could scarcely stand. State Commander M. W. Bates of Duluth and J. G. Holland and Comrade Colby made good scores. Frank W. Butler hit sixteen out of 25, and M. O. Olson was second.

The old soldiers elected the following officers: District commander, L. W. Spencer, Park Rapids; senior vice commander, Thomas Colby, Akeley; junior vice commander, Martin Minister, Akeley; quartermaster, C. W. Arkills, Badoura; surgeon, Judge L. M. Lange, Cass Lake; officer of guard, S. S. Glidden, Aitken; chaplain, Hennock Pennock, Park Rapids; officer of the day, Paul Nosh, Walker. The next encampment will be held in Walker.

The boat race on the lake was not official, but three boats ran and the Olson and Johnson boat won by a good margin, Mrs. Olson and J. P. Johnson having charge.

The public procession was headed by the Akeley band, Akeley fire department, veterans of the Park Region association, pupils of the public schools, Mrs. Anna Tufts, Ed A. Harvey and Martin Minister being in charge.

$1,000 REWARD
UNDER OATH
If Blackburn's Casca Royal-Pills Contain Croton Oil in Any Form.

State of Ohio, } ss.
County of Montgomery }

To whom it may concern:—

Personally appeared before me, I. Robert Blackburn, who being duly sworn according to law deposes and says: That the proprietary remedy known to the public as Blackburn's Castor Oil Pills, and lately as Blackburn's Casca Royal Pills, do not now, and never did contain one particle of Croton Oil in any form whatever; reports of incompetent (or grafter) chemists, to the contrary notwithstanding. He further says under oath that he will pay the sum of $1,000 to any doctor, chemist or private individual who can conclusively show by chemical and physiological tests that the pills above referred to do contain Croton Oil; or that they do not contain Castor Oil.

I. Robert Blackburn

Sworn to before me by the said I. Robert Blackburn and by him subscribed in my presence this 8th day of June, 1908.

JOSEPH A. WORTMAN,
Notary Public, Montgomery Co., Ohio.

Note:—I personally guarantee these pills to be a harmless, civilized, pleasurable physic and a true remedy for constipation.—I. R. B.

WHEEL OVER HIS NECK.

Man Still Lives After Loaded Wagon Passes Over Him.

Aitkin, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The wheel of a wagon loaded with wood passed over the neck of D. Codner a few days ago, and although badly injured, Dr. George, his physician, is of the opinion that his patient will recover.

The accident happened on the East Mille Lacs road near the home of J. M. Case, as Mr. Codner was bringing a load of wood to town from the Reber farm.

Dr. George found the injured man suffering from severe shock, but could discover no fracture of the vertebrae of the spinal column, and pronounced his condition much better than he expected to find it.

ASHLAND TEAM WINNERS.

Ashland, Wis., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Court Madeline No. 95 team has returned from Spooner, where, in competition with teams from Duluth and one from Superior, the Ashland team won the first prize as the best drilled team at the meeting of the high court of the United Order of Foresters. In addition, Mrs. J. J. Holstein was elected vice ranger of the high court, and Bert Williams was elected delegate to the superior court. The splendid work of the Ashland team resulted in an invitation to enter the contest at St. Paul next month, where the team stands a good chance of gaining further honors, if the members decide to accept the invitation.

The degree team officers were Mrs. J. J. Holstein, captain; Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mrs. A. Taylor, Miss O. Nelson, Mrs. A. Taylor, Miss O. Wheeler. The other members of the team were: Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Walsch, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mrs. Fessler, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Hahn, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. LaSavage, Mrs. Szeretsky, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Miller and Miss Bernice Griffith, musician.

Messrs. Kelly, Williams and Burnsides accompanied the team.

BIG FALL PROVES FATAL.

Man Who Dropped From Tall Smokestack, is Dead.

Houghton, Mich., June 22.—Peter Pinten, the former employe of the street railway barns at West Hancock, who fell from the smokestack of the Pryor lumber mill at Ripley Thursday, is dead of his injuries. He was 30 and is survived by a wife and several children.

At first it was not supposed that he was as seriously hurt as afterwards appeared, and it was not thought there was much danger of a fatal termination. However, during Thursday afternoon it was found that he had been injured internally to such an extent that in spite of all that could be done for him, death resulted.

Pinten was engaged in painting the smokestack when the accident occurred, and it is said to have been due to the breaking of a rope. Pinten fell heavily through the air, striking at the bottom with frightful force and being rendered unconscious. He regained consciousness at the hospital, where he was immediately hurried, and Rev. T. J. Atfield was called. The chances for recovery were at first regarded as favorable, as the existence of internal injuries was not apparent.

CROOKSTON IS PLEASED.

Honor Shown Martin O'Brien by Woodmen, is Appreciated.

Crookston, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is general pleasure expressed here over the action of the Modern Woodmen head camp at Peoria, Ill., in electing Hon. Martin O'Brien of this city on the board of auditors, as the honor is one of the highest that can be paid a member of the order. Membership on this board is greatly sought and Mr. O'Brien's selection will be favorably received wherever announced.

The candidacy of Mr. O'Brien was pushed by the local camp and backed by the Minnesota state camp and when the head camp convened there was but little opposition to his selection, inasmuch as he is regarded as one of the leading members of the order throughout the United States. Carl Riedesel is also in atetndance at the national meeting.

DEER WITH HIS COWS.

Wisconsin Man Finds Strange Animal With His Bovines.

Marshfield, Wis., June 22.—When Albert Bork, who lives near this city was driving his cows to cover the other night, he did not notice that a slender and graceful young deer had mingled with the herd, and had entered the barn with the rest of the cloven hoofed family on Bork's estate. A few moments later, Mrs. Bork entered the barn, and sat down to milk one of the cows. Just as the first streams of milk were striking the opening bars of the milking song on the bottom of the tin pail, the deer took alarm. Mrs. Bork saw the animal shoot past her like a trout through a brook. That was the last she saw of the visitor.

NORTH DAKOTA LIVESTOCK.

Annual Report of State Association Shows Interesting Facts.

Bismarck, N. D., June 22.—The first annual report of the North Dakota Live Stock association has been compiled by W. R. Richards, secretary of the association, and the volume will soon be ready for distribution. The report will contain all the addresses before the annual meetings of the association held during the past years, and will be well illustrated with cuts of a large number of the fine animals owned in the state.

This report will show what is being done in North Dakota toward producing fine herds and will be of great interest to every stock breeder in the state. The publication will hereafter be printed annually, an appropriation being made for its publication during the session of the last legislature.

WILD WOLVES HIS PETS.

Michigan Man Who Coins Money Killing Animals for Bounty.

Michigamme, Mich., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although he wears his hair long, about two feet long, in fact, and although it falls over his shoulders in a series of little cascades of ringlets, there is nothing of the mollycoddle about William Krisch, hunter, trapper and woodsman, who keeps wild wolves as pets at his wilderness home, near Michigamme. He is, perhaps, the most successful wolf-slayer in Upper Michigan. As Krisch himself explains it, long hair is merely an adjunct to his business. His hair is a protection in cold weather, and it is only for that he values it, even though it is of the sort that might arouse a woman's envy. Every once in a while Krisch comes to town for the purpose of collecting the bounties on wolf pelts. No man in the Lake Superior region has killed more of the animals than he, and this is the secret of his success—he has a number of female wolves at his cabin, and uses them as decoys. Other wolves are attracted, and as they make their appearance, Krisch bags them.

THUNDER WAS DEAFENING.

Severe Electric Storm Visited Long Prairie—Two Houses Struck.

Long Prairie, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most terrific thunder storms ever witnessed in this region passed over this village Wednesday night, between 10 and 11 o'clock. The crash of thunder was almost deafening for a few minutes and a heavy shower of rain fell. The residence of W. G. Graham, in the northeastern part of the village, and that of Otto Besemann, in the Locke addition, in the southeastern section, weer struck and shattered to some extent, but the families were not hurt.

MINOT WATERWORKS PLANT.

City Council Has Decided Upon Using Filtration Plant.

Minot, N. D., June 22.—A waterworks system, with a filteration plant, which will cost altogether approximately $150,000, has been decided upon by the city council.

Some of the members of the council were in favor of experimenting with wells, but thinking that this would cause a further delay, and recognizing the crying need of a waterworks system, the majority took the view that the filteration system should be adopted.

The resolution asking for bids for the sale of approximately $30,000 worth of bonds was passed.

BRAINERD PRIMARIES.

Republican Delegates Are Understood to be Uninstructed.

Brainerd, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Republican primaries were held in four of the wards of the city Saturday night. There were no contests and little interest was manifest. So far as can now be foreseen, the delegation to the state convention will go uninstructed. The following were the delegates elected to the county convention, which meets the 26th: First ward, R. R. Wise, C. B. Rowley, Oscar Hagberg, J. C. Mutch; Second ward, Judd Wright, J. A. Thabes, F. W. Wieland, J. C. Davis, A. J. Halsted, R. K. Whiteley, H. J. Spencer, F. A. Farrar; Fourth ward, John Larson, P. G. Fogelstron, W. J. Hutchins; Fifth ward, Archie Purdy, Fred Kerr, A. M. Opsahl, Toger Peterson, R. H. Paine.

HANCOCK MAN KILLED IN FORT WILLIAM EXPLOSION.

Fort William, Ont., June 22.—Frederick Jeffrey, an Englishman, and John Crowley of Hancock, Mich., were instantly killed Saturday night by a premature explosion in the Lock Lamond water works near this city, in the tunnel, where there is a large force at work. William Jock was also fatally injured.

ONE KILLED IN DUEL; OTHER ONE MAY DIE.

Sturgis, S. D., June 22.—E. H. Baldwin and Edward Graham, both of Camp Creek, engaged in a pistol duel on a ranch north of Spring Creek Sunday morning, with the result that Baldwin was killed and Graham is not expected to live.

Graham alleges that Baldwin fired the first shot. The men had been at outs for some time and met in the road.

EVERYTHING READY

And the Great Wittman Will Arrive Tomorrow.

The much talked of young scientist and his big free show will arrive on scheduled time and the big parade will leave the lot at 12 o'clock tomorrow, taking in the principal streets, returning in time for the free show at 8 o'clock. Money will be scattered along the line of march and a vast throng will turn out to see this unique spectacle. PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—Contigent upon the securing the promise of 200 people to take the trip, the machinists have arranged for an excursion to Duluth, starting on July 3, for which a rate of $6 for the round trip, including berths and meals, has been offered by the Booth line company.

Hancock—The lightning during the electric storm of Thursday evening played serious pranks with electric light and telephone wires in a number of places in Hancock and several phones were burned out in consequence.

Houghton—Rufus R. Goodnell has resigned as resident agent of the St. Mary's Mineral Land & Canal company, a position he has held for the past forty-three years, during all of which time he has made his home in Houghton. He is succeeded as agent by Frederick W. Nichols, who for the past twenty years has been his assistant.

Lake Linden—The Lake Linden creamery establishment has started operations and a number of interested citizens have already visited the plant. Farmers are bringing many quarts of milk to the factory. It is expected it will handle about 1200 quarts daily when the plant is running to its full capacity.

Calumet—The four organizations of Odd Fellows in Calumet and Laurium attended the services at the Calumet M. E. church Sunday morning, when an appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. E. Sedweck, pastor of the church.

Lake Linden—During the storm Thursday evening lightning did considerable damage at Lake Linden striking several places. A building owned by Emil Stehlin as a hay barn was struck and totally destroyed by fire. In the barn was considerable machinery, hay press, etc., valued at about $400.

Hancock—Peter Klemppainen died at his home on Fourth street, early Friday after a short illness with spinal meningitis. He was 23 years old and is survived by a mother, two sisters and two brothers.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Maple Lake—The three days' annual meeting of the Northwood, Iowa, Reunion association held here came to an end Thursday evening. The next meeting will be held at Detroit, Minn. The new officers for the ensuing year are: Mrs. F. C. Hall, Fargo, president; Miss Grace Hall, Fargo, vice president; F. C. Hall, Fargo, secretary, and J. P. Fotte, Crookston, treasurer.

Staples—Will Britts of Portland, Or., and his brother, Charlie, of Duluth, weer in the city last week on their way to Verndale to visit their parents.

Red Lake Falls—Great preparations are under way for the celebration of St. Jahn's day on Wednesday in Red Lake Falls.

Warren—The Marshall county teachers' summer school will commence here July 6, and be in session four weeks. A specially strong corps of instructors has been secured.

Thief River Falls—Assessor D. P. O'Neill has total the assessed personal property of the city of Thief River Falls at $302,037. This is by far the largest personal property assessment ever recorded for the city, and exceeds the assessment of 1907 by $113,011.

Akeley—A terrible hail storm swept the G. A. R. camp Thursday evening followed by a hard rain and wind storm. Hundreds of people who had gathered on the grounds rushed into the tents, but were drenched to the skin. Mrs. F. E. Giese, with her little son, rushed into the adjutant's tent, which was blown down, enveloping both.

Long Prairie—Arrangements have been made to celebrate the Fourth in William Lundser's grove on the eastern shore of Lake Latimer.

Moorhead—Prof. F. E. Lurton of the city schools has been signally honored by the alumni of his alma mater. At a recent meeting of the Alumni association of Carlton college, held at Northfield, he was elected president of the association.

Pine River—Elmer P. Arnold has returned to his home at New Holland, Ohio, after spending about a week here looking over Bennar lands. He was well pleased with this country and will return next September to make this his home. He owns a farm in Ohio worth $100 per acre, but will dispose of it, as he considers this soil just as productive as that.

Hawley—County Treasurer Paulson did a big business in tax collections during the last month. The collections amounted to $102,744.22, and on the last day of May—the last day upon which taxes can be paid without penalty—the treasurer collected $42,542.78.

St. Cloud—Henry P. Steckling was awarded the contract for the erection of the new Sisters' home which the Immaculate Conception congregation will erect during the summer, his bid having been the lowest out of three submitted. The building, when completed, with steam heating and plumbing, will cost in the neighborhood of $13,000.

Frazee—Christian Granrudh of the town of Spruce Grove committed suicide recently by shooting himself in the forehead with a rifle of .32-calibre. The man was 24 years of age. It is not known what caused him to commit the rash act, but it is understood that he was an inveterate drinker.

Brainerd—Probably the first full-blood Guernsey bull ever in Crow Wing county was received by F. C. Peabody, who lives twelve miles north of Brainerd on the Pine River road. It is a four weeks' old calf and was raised by the Riverside dairy farm, Minneota, Minn.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Oscar Engstrom, aged 29 years, of 1023 Eleventh street west, is reported missing since last Monday. Mr. Engstrom is a married man, having a wife and two children. His father, August Engstrom, reports the facts, and he fears that something may have happened to his son.

Bayfield—Fire here Thursday afternoon, for a time threatened the C. E. Johnson Lumber company plant. It was prevented from spreading to the yards, however, and the loss, which was confined to the burning of a shed with the lumber inside of it, being about a $1,000.

Kenosha—George A. Busse, a brother of Mayor Fred Busse of Chicago, had a narrow escape from being killed just south of Kenosha, when the automobile which he was driving, and which had as passengers George Jackson of Chicago and a chauffeur known as "Rudolph" went over an embankment on the Waukegan road, two and a half miles south of the city.

Milwaukee—Thomas H. Brown, a former mayor of Milwaukee for some years tax commissioner of the city, and an active business man here during a greater part of his life, died suddenly at midnight Thursday, at his residence, 182 Fourteenth street, at the age of 69 years. Death came after an illness of but twenty-four hours.

Ashland—The Retail Clerk's union will give a leap year dance at the Eagles' hall Friday evening, June 26. A good time is assured all that attend.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—T. A. Arnold, a locomotive engineer on the Northern Pacific railroad, received quite a severe injury while pulling second No. 51 across the Red river bridge Thursday night. As the engine was crossing the bridge, Mr. Arnold was looking ahead with his head partially out of the cab window when he was struck by something, and a large and severe scalp wound inflicted.

Valley City, N. D.—At a good roads convention held here, the principal speaker was Prof. D. E. Willard of the state agricultural college at Fargo, a pronounced enthusiast on the potent necessity of good roads all over the state. The attendance of farmers was encouraging and more so the display of interest in the great question.

Fargo, N. D.—William F. Priest, the Front street barber, who attempted to "shuffle off this mortal coil" via the carbolic acid route on Wednesday evening, and who was discovered a short time after taking the potion and removed to St. John's hospital, is reported to be considerably improved.

Crosby, N. D.—Hon. L. B. Hanna, Republican candidate for congress, is scheduled to make several addresses in different parts of the state this month and he will deliver the oration at Crosby, N. D., on July 4. He will also speak at Wild Rice, Monday afternoon, June 22; Grandin, Tuesday evening, June 23, and Tower City, June 26.

Fargo, N. D.—Despite the unsettled state of the weather, there was a large crowd in attendance at the graduation exercises of the students of the Sacred Heart academy Thursday night when twenty-five young people were awarded their "sheepskins." This is the last graduation of the season.

Bismarck, N. D.—Bishop Moore, assisted by Dr. Danford, Pastor Magin and other ministers, laid the cornerstone of the new $30,000 Methodist church Thursday. The contract has been let for the completion of the brick and stone work recently and the construction work is now going on as rapidly as possible.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Governor John Burke has appointed Judge E. W. Conmy of Pembina as a member of the university board of regents to succeed James V. Brooke of Cando, who resigned.

MARRIES SPRINGBROOK GIRL.

Methodist Minister at Spooner Crosses Line for Wife.

Spooner, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. C. I. Mason, pastor of the Methodist church, was married last week to Miss Gertrude M. Linn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Linn of Springbrook, Ont. Rev. W. B. Seccomb performed the ceremony, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Upon the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Mason here, they were received by friends with friendly showers of rice.

BIG DITCHING MACHINE.

International Falls, Minn., June 22.—The ditching machine that is to transform the large swamp lying between Rainy and the Little Fork into high, dry, productive land, has arrived. The steam shovel attachment lifts a yard of dirt at each dip, and the contractor thinks that he will be able to construct a mile of ditch a week. At that rate it will take two summers to complete the contract.

ANTI-INJUNCTION PLANK SCORED

Bryan Says Republican Plank is a Transparent Fraud.

Lincoln, Neb., June 22.—William J. Bryan yesterday afternoon gave out a statement, in which he scores the anti-injunction plank of the Chicago platform. He says:

"The anti-injunction plank of the Republican platform, as finally adopted, is a transparent fraud. It is possible that the members of the committee were buncoed by some trust lawyer—that is the only charitable view that can be taken of it. Those who advocated the plank claimed to be doing it as a concession to the wage earners and yet if one will read the plank, he will see that it is in fact an announcement that the Republican party is unalterably opposed to the laboring man's position.

"The plank assumes that somebody is attacking the courts and that the courts are in danger of losing support or of having their powers weakened. There is no attack upon the courts and there is no thought anywhere of interfering with any legitimate function of the court. The Republican convention put up a man of straw and then proceeds to demolish it; it suspects an unholy assault upon judiciary and its righteous indignation at once finds expression in a boastful assertion of its innocence of participation in any such suspected assault."

After quoting the remainder of the plank, Mr. Bryan says: "It will be seen that the man who wrote the injunction plank copied the statute almost word for word, and made the exception as broad as the statute. If the convention had been frank in the statement of its position, it would have quoted the present statute and said that it was in favor of the enforcement of the law, just as it is.

"If the demand of the laboring man was unreasonable, why did they not say so? Why did they resort to deception? The Republican party will find that an honest course would have been safer than the dishonest course pursued.

"Secretary Taft is known as the father of government by injunction and his speeches in Oklahoma last year leave conclusive proof of his adherence to the position taken by him on the bench. He is still in favor of the use of the writ of injunction in labor cases and he is opposed to trial by jury."

LEGRANDE NOT DESTROYED.

Michigan Town Was Saved From Destruction by Fire.

Wolverine, Mich., June 22.—Forest fires continue to rage over a large extent of timbered land in this county, but, fortunately, the wind was light all day Sunday and townspeople and settlers have been able to prevent the flames from reaching their homes.

Reports have been received here that th town of Le Grande, which Saturday night was reported to have been destroyed, had been saved from destruction, the fires burning themselves out at the edge of the woods.

ENGLISH TOWN HAS MYSTERY

Ghostly Highwayman in a Forest Caused Much Excitement.

London, June 22.—The generally quiet and sedate little town of Loughton is greatly excited over a series of mysterious incidents that have happened in the neighborhood. People passing through that part of Epping Forest known as Warren Hill, late in the evening have been the victims of strange assaults, but the closest investigation has failed to reveal the assailant. Many fruitless efforts have been made to solve the mystery, but the whole affair is so remarkable that many people in the district attribute it to the supernatural.

The first strange thing happened when three gentlemen were walking towards Loughton, a few minutes before 11 o'clock, and one of them was suddenly struck in the face by a stone. He received a severe bruise, and he and his friends made a most thorough search for the assailant, but could find nobody.

A few nights later another gentleman was passing the same place, at about half past ten, when he received a violent blow between the shoulders. He looked all over for more than fifteen minutes, but could find neither man nor spirit, so he informed the police. The next evening the inspector sent a constable out, who hid behind a bush and awaited events. He did not have to wait long, for suddenly he received a violent blow in the face by some invisible hand. He stepped aside, only to receive another blow, which knocked off his helmet, which was afterwards found to be full of long scratches, as if from claws. No trace of the assailant was found.

Another victim was a young girl of 18, who was attacked when returning home, caught by the hair and hit in the face. She screamed for help, and a workman came to her assistance, but neither of them could find anyone near the place.

A party of about a dozen young men then determined to capture the ghostly highwayman. For about half an hour nothing happened to them, and then, with the same silent swiftness that had characterized the other attacks, the attack came. One of them received a blow in the face, but search as much as they might, they could find no one. Now even the police avoid the haunted forest.

CIRCUS HORSES KILLED.

Bismarck, N. D., June 22.—Gollmar Brothers' circus train, early Sunday, collided head-on with an engine at Medina, seventy-three miles east of here on the Northern Pacific. Twenty-four draft horses were killed. One man was slightly injured.

STORM DOES BIG DAMAGE

Southern Minnesota Visited by Tornado, Rain, Lightning and Hail.

Austin Swept by Worst Storm on Record—Mankato Also Hit.

Mankato, Minn., June 22.—This section was visited by one of the worst storms in years, Saturday. A high wind, accompanied by lightning, rain and hail, did untold damage over a large portion of Southern Minnesota. The wind here uprooted shade trees, unroofed buildings, broke plate glass and generally scattered things. Several buildings were struck by lightning.

At Milford, in Brown county, a school picnic was being held when the storm broke. The children sought refuge in the school building. All the windows in the schoolhouse were broken and many children were cut by flying glass.

Small farm buildings were blown down, but no one was seriously injured. Several barns were struck by lightning, and in the town of Sigel many horses and cattle were killed.

The Minnesota river is rising and lowlands are flooded.

Austin, Minn., June 22.—The business district of Austin was swept Saturday afternoon by the worst storm known to the oldest inhabitant. While it had the destructive force of a twisting tornado, it lacked the funnel-shaped appearance usually associated with a disturbance of that nature.

A tremendous fall of hail and rain accompanied the wind. The destruction of crops, barns and outbuildings of all sorts in the country outside of Austin is estimated at fully half a million dollars. Crops of all kinds in a large area were literally beaten into the ground and hopelessly ruined.

Church Thrown Into Panic.

A large Catholic church, where forty-hours' devotion was in progress, and which was filled almost to overflowing, was struck by a bolt of lightning and a brownstone cap, weighing about 250 pounds, crashed down seventy-five feet or more beside the opened doors.

All the women and children were terrorized, and a frightful panic seemed imminent. Cries and shrieks came from all parts of the room. Many in the audience believed that death was near and in mortal fear recited their prayers.

Father Hughes, a visiting clergyman, was in charge of the services and counseled the audience to have no fear as the danger, if any, would soon be past. His reassuring words quieted the fears of the people and the most of them remained in their seats until the storm broke. The church was damaged by flying slate and branches of trees and other missiles to the extent of several hundred dollars.

At the courthouse, a jury which had been charged and was deliberating over its verdict, was thrown into a panic and the members undertook to flee from the building. Sheriff Nicholson promptly turned the key in the door and locked them in, and order was soon restored.

Wind Suddenly Changes.

The storm came from the southwest, and in less than forty minutes the wind, which blew all the time with grueling force, whipped into the west, then the north and then the northeast. The air was filled with pieces of buildings and branches of trees. Streets were choked with the trees which were the pride of Austin. At least a thousand were levelled to the ground. Firemen and other civic workers were called out to clear the streets, and worked far into the night. Austin, once one of the handsomest cities in Southern Minnesota, is now battered and bedraggled. Several acres of barns were blown down. A thousand windows were broken and probably 500 houses are without chimneys. That someone was not killed or injured hardly passes belief.

The Hormel Packing company's plant was directly in the path of the storm and sustained a financial loss of $15,000. The roof of the immense storage building was torn off and all the stock, consisting of sugar, spices, saltpeter and salt, was ruined. The Austin Cement company's building, a low, flat structure, was razed, the loss there being $1,500.

Nearly every building on the grounds of the Agricultural society was blown to pieces. The amphitheater was scattered for blocks around and the building, erected last fall through the efforts of the women of the county, is a total loss. Art and floral halls, the poultry building, all the cattle and sheds were broken into pieces and carried many blocks by the terrific wind. The twelve-foot fence around the park is all down. The loss to the society will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Both telephone companies, the Northwestern and Interstate, lost heavily. Wires were left a tangled mass and hundreds of poles are down. The loss to each company will figure at least $5,000.

The city's electric light plant was disabled at almost the first blast, the roof being taken off the boiler house. The loss there is $5,000. Repairs cannot be made for several days.

The roof of the Southern Minnesota Normal college was blown off and the building damaged to the extent of $1,000.

Sleepy Eye, Minn., June 22.—The worst hail storm in the city's history occurred Saturday, hail two inches in diameter falling for over an hour with a heavy wind. Crops in the surrounding vicinity, it is estimated, were damaged over $150,000. Almost every business house and residence was damaged and windows broken will cause a loss of several thousand dollars.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—Later advices give additional details of the destruction wrought by the wind and hail storm Saturday in the southern part of the state. A mile of track was washed out on the Northwestern line between Worthington, Minn., and Sioux Falls, S. D. In the vicinity of Lake Washington, the hail broke every north window and piled up on the inside of houses, near Pettis, hail drifted to the depth of six to twelve inches and killed young livestock.

WISCONSIN HARD HIT BY ELEMENTS

Milwaukee, Wis., June 22.—The wake of Saturday night's storm has left millions of dollars of damage. Crops in the vicinity of Prairie du Chien are totally destroyed, buildings unroofed and wrecked, glass fronts smashed and trees uprooted or broken down. The loss in Prairie du Chien will reach $200,000. In McGregor, across the river, the loss will reach $300,000. About four inches of rain fell in the forty minutes, during twenty-seven minutes of which hail as large as a walnut stripped everything. Teams hitched on the streets at McGregor were drowned.

Reports to the train dispatchers of the railroads centering here indicate that there was no loss of life in Saturday night's storm, though there will be delay in traffic until Wednesday, owing to extensive washouts. Prairie du Chien is cut off west of Wauseka. Dispatchers report that the washouts include several miles on the river division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Burlington roads.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., June 22.—A terrific rain, hail and wind storm, late Saturday night, lasting forty minutes, during which hail fell which ruined all the crops, unroofed buildings, smashed all windows in buildings facing the west and northwest, demolished trees, put the light plant out of commission, blew the telephone wires down and flooded the streets. The storm broke from the west, and for forty minutes the darkness was so intense that an object fifty feet away could not be distinguished, save for the flashes of lightning.

Hail eight inches deep was piled on the walks, and trees two feet in diameter were twisted off. Washouts along the railroads are numerous and indications are that the storm covered a swath from Cassville to Lynxville, forty-five miles wide, and worked from the west to the east.

La Crosse, Wis., reports that a terrific wind and hail storm swept from Winona down the Mississippi to Dubuque Saturday.

In the afternoon the wind did considerable damage near Lakota, Minn., between Winona and La Crosse, but the most serious damage resulted from a later storm Saturday night.

The big tent, in which the Chautauqua is being held, at the La Crosse inter-state fair grounds was blown down, burying 1,500 people underneath. None, however, was seriously injured, authough many were painfully bruised.

Capt. Richard P. Hobson was the principal attraction at the Chautauqua for the day, but he had left the tent before the storm broke.

The Chautauqua is on the outskirts of the city, and no damage whatever occurred in the main part of the town.

Washouts have occurred at several points on the Burlington and Milwaukee roads and traffic will be greatly interfered with during the next forty-eight hours.

BRYAN DISCUSSES THE CONVENTION

Questions Upon Which the Republican Party Has Retreated.

Lincoln, Neb., June 22.—Under the caption, "In Full Retreat," William J. Bryan, in the next issue of the Commonwealth, will discuss the Republican convention. He says:

"The Republicans who attended the national convention as spectators and joined in the demonstration in favor of President Roosevelt and Senator La Follette must have felt indignant as they watched the panic-stricken delegates running over each other in their effort to get away from the La Follette reforms, some of which had been indorsed by the president himself, Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin, representing the La Follette men, brought in a minority report, signed by himself alone. Fifty-two members of the committee signed the majority report, and one signed the minority report. The Republican party will find the ratio of 52 to 1 a very embarrassing one to deal with in the coming campaign.

"Mr. Cooper's report contained a declaration in favor of publicity as to campaign funds. It was lost by a vote of 880 to 94, more than 9 to 1.

"Another plank of the La Follette platform authorized the ascertaining of the value of the railroads. This plank was lost by a vote of 917 to 66. The injunction plank adopted by the Republican convention is a retreat from the position taken by Secretary Taft in his speeches, although neither of them went as far as they ought to have gone in their effort to prevent what is known as 'government by injunction.' Here is the third retreat.

"The president has advocated the income tax as a means of preventing swollen fortunes and of equalizing the burdens of government. The Republican platform is silent on the subject. The president advocated an inheritance tax, but the Republican convention is silent on that question.

"In the president's message to congress, last spring, he presented an indictment against the conspiracy formed among the great lawbreakers to prevent the enforcement of the law and to evade the punishments provided by law. The platform adopted by the Republican convention contains no intimation of danger. The convention, by a vote of 866 to 114—more than 7 to 1—voted down the plank in favor of the popular election of United States senators.

"Here are seven propositions upon which the Republican party, in national convention assembled, has retreated from the position taken by that party in congress, or from the position taken by the president. What have Roosevelt Republicans to say? The president has awakened a spirit of reform within his party; he has at least revealed to the world that there are reformers in the Republican party. Can that spirit now be quelled by a standpoint convention? Millions of Republicans have enlisted at the president's call to arms and are ready to march forward. Will they furl their banners and turn back merely because the president acquiesces in the sounding of a retreat?"

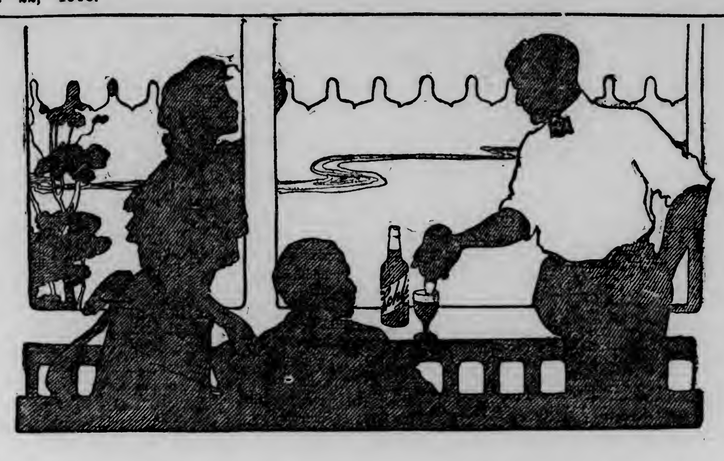

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Delegations representing the central bodies of the Illinois State Federation of Labor in convention at Springfield, Ill., Sunday indorsed the candidacy of John Mitchell for governor of Illinois and pledged him their individual support.

While endeavoring to pass another automobile with which it was racing at high speed Sunday, a big touring car, carrying five passengers, ran into a third automobile which had drawn up alongside of the road a mile east of Hempstead, Long Island, to avoid the racers, and killed one man, J. K. Arosemina of New Rochelle, N. Y., and injured the occupants of both cars.

R. M. Sallier and Edward Jones, cattlemen, were both killed in a duel Sunday evening near Ct. Vrail, N. M. The men were neighbors and quarrelled over a cattle trade. Guns were drawn and fired simultaneously. Both men were instantly killed. The trouble is said to have been the outgrowth of an old feud. Both men were wealthy and highly respected.

The town of Burk Falls, Ont., was almost completely wiped out by fire Sunday, involving a loss of $100,000. All the hotels, churches and business houses were destroyed with several dwellings and many families are homeless.

THE ALCOHOL in beer is a trifle—only 3½ per cent. The effective ingredients are barley and hops—a food and a tonic. Pure beer is both good and good for you.

In Germany, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Austria beer is the national beverage. Nearly all people, of all ages, drink it.

And all the world envies their sturdy strength.

Every doctor knows how beer benefits. If you need more strength or vitality he will prescribe it.

But be careful to choose a pure beer, else you get harm with the good. And select a beer well aged to avoid biliousness.

The way to be sure is to order Schlitz. We go to extremes in cleanliness. We even filter the air that cools it. We age it for months. We sterilize every bottle.

Schlitz has no after effects.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga. writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half a 25 cent box won the day for me by effecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at all drug stores.

NO CHAIRMANSHIP FOR HITCHCOCK

Refuses to Head Republican Committee on Account of Ill-Health.

Cincinnati, June 22.—Secretary Taft's visit to his home city, so far as concerned the selection of a Republican national chairman, was a fruitless mission.

Frank H. Hitchcock, who managed the preliminary campaign of the war secretary, at Washington, might have had the chairmanship, but at the last moment he declined to permit the use of his name because of the condition of his health.

A telegram was received by Secretary Taft from Mr. Hitchcock, requesting that he be not considered in connection with the chairmanship. He said that his physical condition was such as to render it substantially impossible for him to undertake the onerous duties of campaign manager at the present time.

It is significant that, after a conference lasting two hours, Secretary Taft, Representative Sherman and the members of the subcommittee of the national committee, decided to postpone action on the chairmanship and treasurership of the national committee until July 1. On that date a meeting of the candidates and the members of the subcommittee will be held in Washington, finally to determine the matters which could not be solved Saturday.

MISTAKEN OPPOSITION.

Until representatives of the bankers appeared before the platform committee at the Republican national convention to oppose the postal savings bank, and to protest against its indorsement by the Republican party, it had been supposed that the old opposition from the banks to this progressive improvement had been allowed to die out.

As it is, it is doubtful if those who protested against the approval of the plan by the Republican party represents any large proportion of the nation's bankers, even of its savings bankers.

The president of the American Bankers' association, who appeared against the postal savings bank, said that the postoffice banks would take 40 to 60 per cent of the deposits now in private savings banks, and "would tend to cause still further withdrawals in times of financial panics."

These fears are rather far-fetched, and are far from seeming reasonable. Advocates of the postal savings banks assert that instead of drawing money from existing banking institutions, they would draw out of hiding millions of dollars that never get into the banks at all. This is particularly true of the savings of immigrant laborers, who are accustomed to postal savings banks in their own countries, and will trust no other banks here. Every dollar thus drawn into circulation is worth $5 to business, because it becomes the foundation for the credit that is the lifeblood of commercial activity.

There is no reason to suppose that private savings banks will lose any of their deposits, and if the postal savings bank inculcates habits of thrift, it is to be expected that the private savings banks will profit. The postoffice banks will not pay as high a rate of interest as private banks, and while the postoffice will get the savings of those who think first of safety, the private banks will get the savings of those who wish to see their money earning something. The Herald does not believe that the results of postal savings banks would be anything but beneficial to the private banks of the country.

But the main consideration is not the effect of the innovation upon existing banks; it is the effect it will have upon the people, and upon the general business of the country. If it increases habits of thrift, and thereby decreases the dangerous tendency to extravagance so prominent in the American people, it will do a splendid service.

If it draws out of hiding millions of money that is now hidden away in cracked teapots, stockings and fireplaces, and gets it into circulation, it will be of enormous benefit to business, because every million of new money added to the circulation means five millions of new credits, for the plan is to have the government deposit in the national banks the money it receives from the people, which will make it available for business.

CIRCUS DAY.

Circus day is a wonderful institution, without a moment in its string of hours that does not contain its mysteries, its excitements and its pleasures. It is something to look forward to for many a long day when there is but one circus day a year; but when there are two circus days in one week—that comes about as near forming the state of perfect delight which every human being dreams about and only small boys ever realize.

However, let nobody be taken in by the theory that circuses furnish pleasure for nobody but small boys. There are others. When grown people try to let on that they are blase and case-hardened, and that they have grown beyond the youthful appreciation of the delirious fascinations of circus day, you are justified in looking upon their attitude as largely affected, not real. There are those who unaffectedly admit that they like to go to the circus, and who do not pretend that they only go to please the young folks—some of those "blase" people hunt around for weeks ahead of circus day to find young people to take to the circus. Nearly everybody retains youth enough to like the circus; the only difference is that some try to conceal it and others don't.

So this is a joyful week for young people of all ages, with a big circus today and another big one Friday; with a grand, unparalleled parade today, and another grand, unparalleled parade Friday. Politics, business, baseball, fishing—all are crowded into the ignominous background to give the center of the stage to something really important.

CO-EDUCATION AND ATHLETICS.

England has an institution known as the "silly season," during which its public prints take up more or less absurd topics and discuss them with more or less gravity and profit—generally less. This year's subject is co-education, and discussion is waxing hot and heavy—mostly heavy.

To this discussion, in a letter in the Spectator, Price Collier, an American, contributes the following most amazing information: "Our athletes whom your men meet in competition are all without exception educated in our private schools, such as St. Paul's, Groton, St. Mark's and others, conducted on the same lines as your public schools, where the masters are all men, and in our colleges, where again the professors are men. On the other hand, our professional baseball players, probably the trickiest lot of game-players in the world, I am ashamed to say, are, if they have had any schooling at all, drawn from our women-taught public schools."

Very likely this astonishing Mr. Collier has been away from home so long that he has forgotten nearly everything he ever knew about this country; either that or he never did know anything about it. For most assuredly he could not otherwise have crowded into so restricted a space so much misinformation.

The first item at which the average American citizen will hasten to heave a brick is his charge that American baseball players are "tricky." They may be tricky in the sense of employing a little intelligence in playing and winning their games, but in the sense of dishonest sport the charge is an absolute falsehood. As a matter of fact, there is not an open-air sport in the world more free from dishonesty and trickery than baseball. It is almost impossible to "hippodrome" a game—that is, to play it merely to provide a spectacle, and to burlesque real play by making it come out according to a program—and if such an attempt were made there isn't a 9-year-old boy in the country that couldn't spot it instantly. "Throwing" games for money is almost unknown, and as it is easily detected no player who intended to keep on at the game would dare try it.

College football, which is far less professional than baseball though not so free from professionalism as it ought to be, is much more tricky, in the sense intended by Mr. Collier, than baseball ever was or ever could be.

The statement that American college athletes are "men-trained" is also untrue. Says the New York World: "What about men from such great co-educational colleges as Michigan and Wisconsin universities, which the English Mosely educational commission so much admired? Even in such men's colleges as Yale and Harvard a large proportion of the athletes hail from the excellent co-educational public schools of our cities and villages."

There is no reason why masculine physical development would be stunted by attendance upon schools where there are women teachers and women students, and as a matter of fact the athletic product of co-educational institutions is quite as good as that from schools from which women, as teachers and as students, are barred. No flimsier argument against co-educational institutions could have been imagined, especially since it seems to be based on the idea that the main function of schools is to turn out athletes.

DULUTH'S DISTINGUISHED GUEST.

Duluth is proud and pleased today with the honor of a visit from James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States; proud and pleased not less because it is an honor to be visited by the representative of the British empire than because that representative is James Bryce, who stands as high in the esteem of the American citizenship as he does in the respect and admiration of his fellow-citizens of Britain.

Two of the most helpful books upon America and its people and institutions—if they are not the most helpful and the most important—have been written by men of other lands. De Tocqueville, the Frenchman, with his "Democracy in America," and Bryce, the Briton, with his "American Commonwealth," produced monumental works which have been important factors in awakening the American people to the fullest realization of the possibilities and perils that confront them. Half a century separated these two books, and Mr. Bryce had the advantage of an instructive retrospect which makes his book the more valuable of the two. That book is largely read by the American people today, though it was written a quarter of a century ago, and always with pleasure and profit. Though he had a keen eye for our defects, they were pointed out as a friend would point out the defects in another, with a view to helping him to correct them. His treatment of our institutions was actuated by the most thorough sympathy, and no greater honor has ever been done this people by their British cousins than in the appointment of Mr. Bryce as ambassador to this country.

Jurist, scholar, author, statesman, good citizen of Britain and of the world, Duluth is doubly honored in the privilege of doing honor to this most welcome guest.

IF REGULATION FAILS.

"The railroads may win," said Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in an interview about railroad regulation with Lincoln Steffens published in Everybody's Magazine, "but if they win they lose."

"How so?" inquired the interviewer. "What do you propose to do if regulation fails."

"Own," was the succinct and significant reply.

Senator La Follette, in his attitude toward the railroad problem, unquestionably represents the sentiment of an immense number of the voters of this country. He goes farther even than President Roosevelt, who is as yet a little timorous about following his views out to their logical end. Therefore La Follette is cordially hated by those who are opposed to government interference with "business," no matter how selfish and oppressive business may become. The fear of what he stands for was illustrated by a remark made by Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, who was trying to head off the nomination of Senator Dolliver of Iowa for vice president at the Republican national convention.

"You don't want another La Follette in the senate, do you?" he exclaimed, and the fear-blanched faces that confronted him gave the answer. What he meant was that if Dolliver was lifted out of the senatorship into the vice presidential nomination, Cummins of Iowa, who is something of a La Follette in that he is for the people before he is for the railroads, might be put into Dolliver's place in the senate.

But all La Follette asks is regulation. He only desires that these indispensable public utilities, the railroads, shall be regulated so that they shall serve the people first and not Wall street first.

In that demand, he represents the sentiment of the American people, and as The Herald has said before, railroad men who oppose regulation are intensely short-sighted and deplorably silly.

If it is a question between permitting big business to walk roughshod over the people and providing strict government regulation, the people stand for regulation, and what they demand they are going to get. They are beginning to get it now, in a small way.

But if railroad men continue to kick against the pricks, and to obstruct, delay and defeat public regulation of railroad functions in the interests of the public, one more thing can be done, and most assuredly it will be done. Senator La Follette told what that thing is in his interview with Steffens.

"If the railroads win in their fight against regulation, they lose. What will the people do if regulation fails? They will own."

There can't be any doubt about that. If regulation fails, railroad abuses will multiply. Control will become more and more centered, until a complete monopoly results. Monopoly seems to be the logical outcome of present evolutionary processes, anyway.

When it comes to a question whether the people are going to let such a powerful monopoly remain in selfish private hands to be misused as the owners see fit, or whether the people will take over that monopoly for themselves and make it a public monopoly, operated by all for the benefit of all, there can't be much question about which the people will choose.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

The observations of a hotel clerk:

"Women don't act afraid any more, as they used to, when they were traveling alone," began the hotel clerk. "It used to be considered strange for a woman to travel alone. Now it excites no comment. In fact, at the present time there are quite a few women traveling for business houses.

"I can remember when a woman who was traveling alone would act as if she was afraid to come up to the desk and ask for something that she wanted. I've seen them pause and hesitate before they could muster courage to walk across the lobby, before all those men, and get what they wanted from the clerk.

"Now a woman, as a rule, unless she is from the country and not city broke, will walk right up to the desk and get what she wants. And if she doesn't get what she wants, you may be sure that she will know the reason why. When it comes to getting what she wants, a woman has the average man beaten a city block.

"A woman always expects to get the worth of her money. The women with whom I have come in contact in the hotel business have been sticklers for the best in the house—at the most reasonable price. They generally know what they want, and they generally have a way of getting it. The time has passed when women pause and hesitate; now they are as familiar with the conditions in hotels as the average man, and it has been brought about because today there are so many women traveling.

"The hotel is being considered more as a home by women, and the awe of it has passed. The woman who is without an escort is a familiar figure in the hotel.

"Men are like frogs; you can never tell by the look of a frog how far he is going to jump; you can never tell by the clothes of a man what his assets may be. This is the mistake the clerk just starting in the business makes. He is liable to judge a man by his clothes. I have seen men who at the first glance you would almost take for beggars, who possessed a bank account that would run well into the triple figures. They simply didn't care for clothes, never thought anything about them, and for that reason never wore anything more stylish than a year-old gingham apron.

"I have seen seedy, poorly clothed men come into the hotel and ask the price of rooms. From their appearance a clerk would think these men would want the cheapest room in the house. Just here is where he makes his mistake. These boys with the seedy clothes and the hand-me-down exterior often possess a desire for the very best things in life and they take the best room in the house. You have often seen men in the lobbies of the hotels who looked as if they were lobby loafers. Of course, there are lobby loafers who are illy dressed and seedy looking, but the chances are that the man you picked for the fellow who was hanging around the hotel is stopping in the best room in the house and is in the city to fix up some deal that would supply that dandy dressed chap with more money than he has ever seen.

"It is equally certain that you can't judge the well-dressed man by his clothes. How are you to know that the clothes are paid for? I have often noticed that the flashy dressers are the fellows that are shy on the stuff that purchases government bonds and that they are playing their flush one card shy.

"These fellows like to be seen around the best hotels. Many of them have their mail sent to the best hotel in the city, while in many instances they are stopping in the lowest priced house in town. There is a certain class of fellows whose sole aim in life seems to be to create the impression that they are something above what they really are. They are the kind of fellows who dress in the most up-to-date fashion, though they are starving themselves to do it.

"I have often wondered if they couldn't get more satisfaction out of life by not trying to fly so high. You know the song that says no bird ever flew so high that it didn't have to light? Well, that's just the way with this class of fellows; they are always playing above their meals, never have the coin to make a really good play, and are invariably playing in the beans and pancake food league, because they must have the latest cravat, etc.

"Look at the old fellows who march up to the desk with clothes that look like the rags the late Sol Smith Russell used to wear, when he played the part of an ignorant country bumpkin. They aren't there with the scenery, that's sure enough, but let any little game get started, or let any play come up that requires coin to let you in at the go off, and you will find those old boys with the Henry Clay style of clothes just unwinding an old-fashioned purse and producing a roll that would choke a horse.

"And those boys don't eat in the beans and pancake league, either. They don't wear the latest New York clothes, but they treat themselves to the best in other lines—and they never four flush. That's the difference between some of the really gay boys and the quiet, seedy ones with th shiny old swallow tails.

"No; you can't always tell. You want to take a good look, first, and then you want to play low until you get the bearings. As for women—never argue with them."

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday and today several destructive storms occurred, all of which missed Duluth, though last night there was a sharp thunderstorm, and this forenoon the city suddenly darkened as a portentously fearful cloud, flying low, passed over the city, rolling and tumbling formidably. It only brought a severe shower and a little thunder and lightning, but it looked as though it might have been capable of doing some damage elsewhere. Yesterday it was cool because of a lake wind, but a few miles away from the lake it was hot. Last night's lowest temperature was 47 degs, and yesterday's highest was 63 degs. The weather man looks for showers and thunderstorms tonight and tomorrow.

A year ago today it was cloudy, foggy, rainy and cool.

Yesterday was the longest day of the year, 15 hours and 5 minutes, and today is a minute shorter, the sun rising at 4:12, the same time as yesterday, and setting at 8:20, a minute earlier.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Barometric depressions central over Nebraska and Saskatchewan with stationary high pressure areas over Southeastern states and the Plateau region, caused a continuance of southerly winds and high temperature Sunday and last night in most districts east of the Rocky mountains, the principal exception being localities adjacent to Lake Superior. Showers also resulted throughout the Northwest and at isolated places in the extreme South and East.

Following were yesterday's highest temperatures:

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, June 22.—Local forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Tuesday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges—Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday with probably showers or thunder storms; moderate temperature; fresh winds, easterly shifting to westerly Tuesday.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, June 22.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Tuesday: Upper Michigan—Probably showers tonight and Tuesday; cooler in northwest portion.

Wisconsin—Generally fair weather, except possibly local thunder storms late tonight or Tuesday; continued warm followed by cooler Tuesday afternoon or night.

Minnesota—Showers tonight and Tuesday; cooler in south portion.

North Dakota—Showers tonight; Tuesday partly cloudy.

Familiar.

Philadelphia Ledger: A large touring automobile containing a man and his wife in a narrow road met a hay wagon fully loaded. The woman declared that the farmer must back out, but her husband contended that she was unreasonable.

"But you can't back the automobile so far!" she said. "and I don't intend to move for anybody. He should have seen us."

The husband pointed out that this was impossible, owing to an abrupt turn in the road.

"I don't care," she insisted. "I won't move if we have to stay here all night."

The man in the automobile was starting to argue the matter when the farmer, who had been sitting quietly on the hay, interrupted.

Whither Are We Drifting?

Washington Post: That eminent churchman, Cardinal Logue, is a man of such thoughtfulness and high character that, though a prelate of the Catholic church, his opinions upon whatever subject he may see fit to entertain any are entitled to the respect of men of all sects, and even of those who claim no sect. His recent visit to the United States was of no small importance, and will have considerable influence upon members of his faith in this country, but he left them with a message for the people of whatever religion.

The cardinal was pleased with America and predicted for us the great future which we, as a nation, so confidently expect. But he qualified his prediction to some extent. We are to realize that future, he thinks, if we are true to the ideals of the men who founded the republic. And, like other foreigners who have come to view us without prejudice, he has seen clearly our faults, the shoals upon which we are drifting, and has not hesitated to lay stress upon the importance of our heeding certain danger signals.

It is a striking thing that all our unprejudiced and wisest critics have laid their fingers upon the same spot in our national life and pronounced it a blight. We have forgotten simplicity and are inclining to misuse of our prosperity and power. Out of this turning of our backs upon the simple, fundamental things of our life has come what the cardinal regards as our greatest national evil—divorce. "The greatness of any country," says the eminent prelate, "must be measured by the strength and purity of its home. Divorce disrupts the home."

"But divorce is the result and not the cause of any evils that may have come upon us as consequence of our misuse of prosperity. It is rather the last step than the first. It is the logical outcome of our having already strayed from the natural simplicity of things, which has distinguished every enduring people. When extravagance and showiness and a craving for excitement are cast aside like soiled finery, and clean, simpler ideals are substituted to clothe us instead, we will find no menacing specter of divorce hanging darkly in the sky."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Albert Lea Tribune: We are glad to live in Minnesota these summer days when the sun shines, and when it don't shine, we enjoy the anticipation of its reappearance. Hurrah for Minnesota!

Brainerd Dispatch: In Hennepin county the candidates have to put up their share of the expense money of running the general campaign, or the committee drops them on general principles. The candidates who prefer to carry on an independent campaign will not be recognized as Republican nominees by their party organization.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The taxable value of Hibbing is close to $50,000,000, or about the same value as that of the city of Columbus, the capitol of the state of Ohio. We're a great piece of country up here, and you'll realize it if you stop and think it over carefully.

New Ulm Review: In the coming campaign it may be taken for granted that the Republican forces will keep their Cannon well in the background.

Sauk Center Herald: Congressman C. R. Davis of the Third Minnesota district says congress needs a new speaker, thereby voicing the unspoken thoughts of thousands of good citizens. If Joe hears that he will not be likely to recognize the St. Peter man when congress meets in December.

Princeton Union: Why will people persist in using the expression, "As harmless as a fly?" Those little tormentors of the bald-headed man carry around with them germs of smallpox, tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhoid and every other contagious disease in the category, which they deposit wheresoever they feel inclined. Harmless!

Le Sueur News: General Apathy is still in the saddle in Republican state and national politics.

Walker Pilot: Congress adjourned without even so much as the firing of a Cannon.

Austin Transcript: Some of our recalcitrant congressmen will find that it is much easier to get away from Washington than it is to get back.

Albert Lea Times-Enterprise: The present preliminary to the selection of a party candidate for governor by the Republicans of the state demonstrates better than any academic discussion the necessity of extending the primary system to include the selection of state officers.

Anoka Union: Let's see, how long have the people been promised tariff revision?

Into the ways of human woe
Where the wild storms of sorrow sweep,
Where anxious souls long vigils keep,
Where eyes with weeping ache and burn,
Where longing hearts for daybreak yearn,
Shine with the brightness of thy face,
Gleam with the beauty of thy grace—
"Thy Kingdom Come!"

"Thy Kingdom Come!"
O'er war's red fields rough plowed by gre,
In lives weed-grown with foul desire;
In souls of men ice-hard and cold,
Chilled by the deathlike greed of gold;
Into base lives of lustfulness,
Dry-rotted hearts of selfishness,
Into the pleasures, vain and light,
Into the shame-tracked ways of night,
Shine with the splendor from above,
The pure white light of saving love—

Greatest of All Harvests.

Philadelphia Press: An $8,000,000,000 harvest! That is the size of Uncle Sam's total crops in 1908. At least the officials of the agricultural department put the figures at that unprecedented level.

This is America's ninth great harvest in succession. It is true that one of the country's leading staples—corn, wheat, oats, hay or cotton—may have been below par in some one of these nine years, and another crop may not have reached bumper proportions in another year, but, taking all together, the aggregate of all of them has been huge.

The diversity as well as the quality of American agricultural products is unmatched by any other land on the globe. Our farms are an inexhaustible treasure house, for their output of wealth is growing greater year by year.

When the last federal census was taken, in 1900, the average value of produce raised on each farm in the United States was $828. The average now must be close to $1,000.

No other form of enterprise in any country of this earth equals in value of output the agricultural products of America. Our farming constitutes the world's banner industry.

Now with the greatest of all harvests, in even the richest of lands, just ripening for the reaper, it is an opportune time for everybody to cheer up.

A Confession.

Perhaps it's just affinity,
Perhaps it's something higher,
But I for one am free to say,
I dearly love a Liar.

I love the Liar who declares
He buys my books by dozens
And sends them off as Xmas gifts
To all his country cousins.

I love the Liar who remarks:
"We missed you at the meeting;
No voice like yours to give a toast
Or speak the speech of greeting."

I love the Liar when he swears
He knows a pretty woman
Who wants to meet me very much,
"My pictures look so human."

I love my food, I love my drink,
I love my open fire,
But more than all I dearly love
A dash-binged blooming Liar.

JURY MAKES ITS AWARDS

Passes on the Exhibits of the Minnesota Artists.

Prizes Awarded for the Best Work in Various Lines.

The jury of art experts chosen to pass on the work of the Minnesota exhibitors at the annual exhibition of the Minnesota State Art society, which is now being shown in Duluth, met at the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday evening and the prizes were awarded. Each exhibitor had a ballot to choose the artists from the list available, and the jury consisted of Mrs. Anna L. Stacey of Chicago, Mrs. Pauline Palmer of Chicago, Miss Bessie Bennett of Chicago, Miss Gertrude L. Carey of this city and William M. Hunt, also of Duluth.

The works on exhibition which are not in competition for award are those of the artists and artisans not resident in Minnesota, and exhibiting by special request; also any works by members of the governing board, exhibition committee or the jury of award, works by exhibitors who have twice in succession received the same prize and those designated as not entered in competition.

The first prize, for the best painting, went to D. Ernest Randall, director of the St. Paul school of fine arts. His picture was a "Portrait of a Lady." Honorable mention was given Mrs. Burt Lum of Minneapolis, a former Duluth woman, for a group of Japanese studies which she has on exhibition, and to Miss Margarethe Heisser of Minneapolis for her 'Portrait of Young Italian."

The prize of $20 offered for the best piece of artistic photography was awarded to Miss Gertrude Mann of Minneapolis. She has a group of photographs in the exhibition.

In the department of students' work, a prize of $10 for the best landscape study in oil was given to Nathaniel Ponsette of St. Paul.

Nettie Bryant's jewelry work in the handicraft collection won the first prize of $20, and J. E. Bean was given honorable mention. The prize of $20 for the best work in bookbinding and leather was awarded to Miss Isabel K. Patrick of this city. Honorable mention was made of the work of Nelbert Murphy and Louise Berry, designers and makers. Eleanor Winship Babbidge of the St. Paul school of fine arts was given the first prize of $10 for her work in design. A prize of $20 for the best example of weaving was given to Beatrice Lindberg of Faribault, and the embroidery prize of $20 went to Agnes Benson for an exquisite cushion cover. Hilda Streedt was given honorable mention.

The officers of the state society are pleased at having been able to secure a jury of such wide renown to judge the art work of the state exhibition.

Stenographers Interested.

Mrs. R. J. Rogers, who lectures here this week on the art of cooking, had twenty-five stenographers attend her lectures in Buffalo, N. Y. Sixteen of the girls were to marry this month and five in September and they were all determined to learn how to cook. Mrs. Rogers will deliver her first lecture tomorrow afternoon.

DEAF AND DUMB MAN COULD TALK

Given Jail Sentence for Begging on the Streets.

Harry Collins, who is a beggar, and who claims he is deaf and dumb, was seen talking to a friend on West Superior street, and neither of the two were using the sign language. At least this is the story told the police.

Collins appeared in police court this morning, but could not be prevailed upon to use his voice. Whether his vars were working or not could only be guessed at. With the use of a pencil and paper he managed to make his alleged condition known, and by the same means Judge Windom notified him that he would have to serve ten days in jail because the charge of begging on the streets had been proven against him.

POLES REMOVED.

Electric Company Has Only Three Left on Twelfth Avenue.

According to the officials of the Duluth-Edison Electric company, the information obtained from the board of public works and published Saturday, to the effect that the company is not showing a disposition to comply with the city ordinance, requiring its wires to be placed underground, works an injustice to the electric company. Special mention was made of Twelfth avenue east, where the neglect was said to be most apparent. The electric company, it is claimed, has already removed eleven of its poles on that avenue, leaving but three, besides the poles for the street lights.

The company will take the other three poles down just as soon as possible. In the matter of the street light poles, wires will be run underground from the alleys, so that the overhead wires will be done away with entirely.

MEETING OF TRAVELERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

Milwaukee, June 22.—Between four and five thousand members of the Travelers' Protective association are gathered in Milwaukee to attend the annual convention of that association, which opened a four-days' session this forenoon at the Alhambra theater. The time allotted to the convention will be prettily evenly divided between business and pleasure.

Rev. Paul B. Jenkins, chaplain of the Wisconsin division, opened the first session with prayer, which was followed by Mayor David S. Rose, in a happy speech, extending to the delegates the freedom of the city. W. R. Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn., the national president, made the response. The first session was devoted to routine business.

To Pupils of Public Schools.

I would strongly urge every pupil in our public schools to attend the magnificent art exhibit now being held at the new Y. M. C. A. building every day and evening until July 7.

This collection is sent to our city for us to enjoy, by the Minnesota State Art society, under the auspices of our own Duluth Art association.

It is a very long and unusually fine exhibit and consists of beautiful locations from the best artists and craftsmen in the United States. You will enjoy it and it will be an education to you besides. Urge your parents and friends to go with you, as it is absolutely free to everybody. Go often.

R. E. DENFELD,
Superintendent of Public Schools.

ALLEGED ABDUCTOR

Of Chicago Girl Has Desperate Battle With Police Officers.

Chicago, June 22.—After a desperate battle, Detectives McCann and Farrell arrested John J. Glowacki, president of the Star Cornice works, 4528 Ashland avenue, charged with abduction by the parents of Helen Ratazasak, 18 years old.

Glowacki, the father says, after promising marriage, took the girl to a house in Fifty-first street. Ratazasak says Glowacki then demanded $2,000 for marrying the daughter. He received the money, but the marriage never took place.

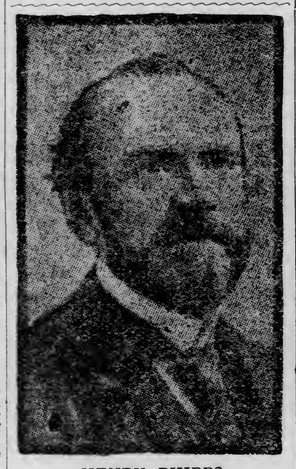

When the police called, Glowacki laughed, called several of his workmen and offered fight. The detectives beat him into submission.

WEATHER BUREAU SAYS THE HOT WAVE IS OVER.

Washington, June 22.—The weather bureau today issued the following bulletin predicting a break in the hot wave throughout the country:

"The warm wave that now covers the country generally east of the Rocky mountains will break over the plains states Tuesday, over the Mississippi valley and the western lake region Wednesday, in the Ohio valley and eastern lake region Wednesday, and in the Atlantic states Thursday. Local rains and thunder storms will attend the advent of the cooler weather in the several sections named. Moderate temperatures will be experienced over the eastern part of the country during the closing days of the week.

SAILORS ARE VACCINATED

Because health department officials discovered that a sailor on the Booth line steamer Easton was suffering from smallpox, the departure of the boat for south shore points was delayed for an hour yesterday, while the members of the crew were vaccinated and the ship fumigated.

The sailor was removed to the Detention hospital as soon as the nature of his disease was discovered, and the remainder of the crew reluctantly submitted to the vaccination process. After the boat had been fumigated, the passengers were admitted and it proceeded on the trip.

THE COLLABORATORS.

At a supper in his beautiful New York house, Clyde Fitch, the playwright, was condemning a comedy that had failed.

"Such a disjointed and incoherent comedy!" said Mr. Fitch. "It reminds me of a conversation between two playwrights of the splendid idle '40s.

"'My one-act drama was returned to me this morning,' said the first playwright, draining his glass.

"'So was mine,' said the second.

"'Splendid!' cried the other. 'I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll turn them both into a two-act play.'"

JOHNSON IS THE CAUSE

Duluth Contractor Holds Up Courthouse Excavation Work.

Was Given Too Much Time to Remove Old Building.

The Barker flats, which have not yet been removed from the courthouse site, have obstructed the excavation work started by Lanquist & Illsley, the general contractors for the new building.

John A. Johnson, a local contractor, who bought the flat building for $1,100, is the cause of the delay in having the structure removed and, up to the present time, seems to have the best of it.

When the buildings were sold, the resolution of the county board, unfortunately, gave the persons buying the buildings sixty days within which to get them off the ground. At that time it was not known just how soon the general contractors would begin the work, and, in fact, the contracts had not been awarded. Had the county officials known more about the methods that were to be followed by the Chicago contractors in pushing the work, they would have shortened the time for the removal of the buildings.

As the matter now stands, Mr. Johnson can hardly be compelled to move his buildings before July 10 or 12, but public convenience may have some influence in inducing him to hurry the job. His delay is causing the county and its citizens a more serious delay in getting the new courthouse, and is keeping from steady employment this summer a large number of men.

It is possible that the Chicago contractors will go ahead with their excavation work around the Barker flats, in which case it will be a difficult matter for Mr. Johnson to get the building away at all if he waits too long.

For any pain, from top to toe, from any cause, apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Pain can't stay where it is used.

Instructive to Girls.

Mrs. R. J. Rogers, the well known lecturer on the art of cooking, says one of the most attentive pupils she ever had was a young newspaper woman in St. Paul. She attended every lecture and was quite an adept at cooking before the course closed. Mrs. Rogers is anxious that the young girls of Duluth attend the lectures this week at 312 West First street.

FOOLISH OLD AGE.

Dr. L. C. Haliburton, the noted English statistician, was discussing in New York the statistics of marriage—marriage statistics are his specialty.

"The last statistics," he said, "show us one pleasant change, one grand improvement. Aged men of wealth are no longer marrying beautiful, mercenary young women as frequently as they used. In fact, these hideous marriages are becoming, in this country, so rare that the newspapers don't hesitate to comment very forcibly upon them. I approve of these cruel comments. They keep such mockeries of marriage down."

Dr. Hilburton smiled grimly.

"In a little town in Herts last month," he said, "a millionaire of 70 years married a young and pretty milliner of 22. The local paper printed the next day this editorial paragraph on the matter:

"'Six months ago, when Mr. Blank's venerable wife died, his children and grandchildren feared that he would go crazy over the sad bereavement. Their fears have now come true.'"

TAXPAYERS ARE HEARD

Not Many Kickers on Taxes Appear During Morning.

The city board of review is meeting at the city council chambers in the city hall today, listening to kicks of taxpayers. Similar boards of the towns and villages of St. Louis county are also in session, to hear complaints that may be made by taxpayers as to their assessments on personal and real property.

Beginning June 25 and continuing until July 6, the assessors' books will be at County Auditor Halden's office and a careful examination made. The county board of equalization will meet July 20 and continue in session for about three weeks. Any one wishing to make complaints to this board relative to the assessments can do so at that time.

The assessments against personal property will stand for only one year, while the assessments against real property will stand for two years without readjustment.

No large propertyholders appeared before the city board to make objections this morning. The members got together shortly after 11 o'clock. About fifteen persons, all told, were lined up outside the railing, waiting for a chance to kick on the amounts they had been asked to pay towards running the city. As these ptople entered the room they were given numbers, the order being "first come first served." When the noon recess was taken there were several people who had not had a chance to tell their troubles. They will be heard this afternoon, in the order of the numbers given them during the morning.

Most of those on hand today were women. Only four or five men were in evidence.

TWO HIT JOHN L. UNAWARES.

New York Sun: "In the Sun's recent story about prize fighters who've stood for impromptu punchings outside the ring, a couple of those things that happened to John L. at the height of his career were left out," said a man who knew all the old time fighters. "John L. told me about these two incidents himself and laughed about them.

"One afternoon, back in his fighting days, he was walking along Grand River avenue in Detroit in company with the manager of the Detroit show house, at which John L. was appearing. The big fellow was on the water wagon at the time and was in fine condition.

"They came to a wholesale fruiterer's, in front of which a great lot of barrels of apples were being headed up by a busy lot of fellows. The apples were big, red and juicy and looked fine to John L.

"In passing by a barrel, filled to the top, on which nobody was working, John L. picked up one of the apples. There didn't appear to be anybody around to whom he could hand any money for the apple, and so with a kiddish grin he sank his teeth into the apple and passed on.

"'Hey, you, put that apple back,' John L. heard somebody back of him say, and he turned around to see a chunky chap in overalls facing him belligerently.

"The big fellow grinned at the chunky chap, who was a man by the name of Frank Cullen.

"'Don't take it to heart, young fellow,' said John L., digging a hand into his change pocket with the idea of producing a coin to pay for the apple.

"Right then John L. got a clip on the point of the jaw that made him see more stars than he ever saw in one of his regular fights. He went flat to the sidewalk, too. He wasn't out, though; and he was, naturally enough, as sore as a butcher as he scrambled to his feet.

"But while the chunky chap was standing over the big fellow, waiting for him to get up, the boss of the store hustled up and said to him, 'You fathead! Run for your life! Can't you see that man is John L. Sullivan?' Cullen took a close look at Sullivan then, recognized him just as the big fellow was getting to his feet, and beat it down the street and then into an alley, as if the devil was after him.

"John L. saw the fun of the situation then and stood and laughed. The proprietor of the store took him in and brushed off his overcoat and sent John L. that afternoon the finest barrel of apples he had in the place. But the fellow who had hit Sullivan didn't return to his job until after the big fellow had got out of Detroit.

"The other occasion when John L. got clouted by a man who didn't recognize him was a laugh pure and simple.

"It happened at a railroad station in Hartford. John L. was leaving that town, where he'd been hitting it up quite a bit. His people had got him on board the train, but John had slipped off the train and hustled back through the exit gate to the station in order to snag out a pint for himself wherewith to console him on the ride to New York.

"He got the pint all right, but when he started to pass back through the gate to make his train, of course he didn't have any ticket. There was a little sawed-off Mulligan on the gate, and he held John L. up with a bawl when the big fellow tried to hustle through without flashing any ticket.'

"'Here, y' big stiff, none o' that stuff!' said the little rough neck, grabbing John L. by the lapel of his overcoat. 'Let's see y'r ticket.'

"'Aw, g'wan,' said John L. 'I showed you my ticket when I went through five minutes ago,' and he tried to force his great bulk through the gate.

"John told me it was a wonder the wallop he got on the left ear then and there didn't make him deaf in that ear for the rest of his life. As a matter of fact he couldn't hear well out of that ear for quite a long spell afterward.

"As in the Detroit case, there was a man handy to put the little gateman wise as to what a dangerous break he'd made. The man at the exit gate leaped over and whispered to the little chap who'd chopped John L. that hot one on the ear that he'd better scoot for all he knew if he didn't want to feel the vengeance of the champion prize fighter of the world.

"'Vengeance, nothing,' put in John L., who overheard the remark. 'The Turk only done what he thought was right,' and he gave his hand to the gateman, who went around for years admiring the hand that had punched John L. and been shaken by John L., all within the space of about sixty seconds."

THE SMITH-JONES AFFAIR.

Thomas L. Masson in Harper's Weekly: According to Smith—"Oh, say! I met Jones. You know Jones, of course. Well, I heard that he had called me a liar the other day in conversation with another man, and so I was just laying for him. I have an idea he suspected something was up, as he began to act sheepish right away. But, of course, I didn't let on at first. I just looked him calmly and coolly in the eye. Then I said, 'Jones, old man, I heard something about you the other day that I couldn't believe.' I said this in a calm, even voice, but Jones must have known that something was up, as I could see him begin to tremble. 'I hope it was something good,' said Jones, with a quaver in his voice. As for me, I was just beginning to enjoy myself. 'Oh, well,' I replied, with a pleasant off-hand smile, 'that depends entirely on the point of view. Now, I may not be good or I may be good.' I smiled genially this time, while Jones turned pale; I could distinctly see him growing pale. 'That, of course, is a matter of opinion, but I wish, Jones'—here I looked him fairly and squarely in the eye—'if you have anything of an intimate and personal nature—' By this time Jones was shaking all over. I just lingered on those words while I faced him down. Oh, it was too rich!—'Why, Jones, old man, just say it to my face, will you?' and with this, in my easiest and most careless manner I left him. You see, it wasn't necessary to do anything to Jones. It was the withering sarcasm of what I said that fetched him. I can tell you it was great fun—simply great! And he won't forget it either. He'll know better next time."

According to Jones—"Do you know Smith? Well, I was very much amused at him the other day. I had called him a liar, and some one must have told him about it. Of course, I only said it in the heat of an argument with another man. I didn't really mean it. But some one must have told him. I assume he was told. He came up to me and started to say something, but he was so nervous I suspected at once that he had heard what I said. Finally he smiled quite a sheepish smile, and said, 'I heard something about you the other day that I couldn't believe.' He kind of gulped the words, and was so embarrassed that actually I felt sorry for him. I felt as if I'd like to help him out. 'Well,' said I, in my most encouraging way, 'I hope it was something good.' As I said this I looked him fairly and squarely in the eye. You ought to have seen him weaken. He shifted from one foot to the other, and murmured, with a faint smile, 'I suppose it depends upon the point of view. I hope I'm good.' Then he went on timidly, 'We've always been good friends, Jones,' said he, 'and I hope our intimate and personal relations will continue,' said he. He was going to call me down, but he just didn't have the nerve. 'Sure,' I said, and with that he walks away perfectly satisfied. Now what do you think of that? I was just hoping he would come right out and say, 'Jones, you called me a liar.' But he wasn't up to it. Of course, I would have apologized—for as I said, I meant him no harm. But that's the way some folks are built. They drop their nerve at the critical moment."

TRIAL BY BREAD AND CHEESE.

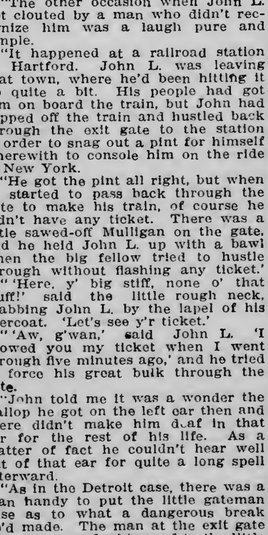

Pearson's Weekly: There were many odd ways in ancient times of detecting criminals. Our ancestors had not lived long enough to lose their faith in the gnawings of conscience, and Divine interference in earthly justice was superstitiously regarded as a daily occurrence. No quaerer example of this could be found than the ancient mode of trying prisoners by bread and cheese. The unfortunate offender was led with a halter round his neck, to the parish church, and there in the presence of all the people the priest cut pieces of cheese and ryo bread in a patten on the altar. These he blessed and then the supposed criminal had to eat them dry before the congregation.

If he managed to swallow them easily he was acquitted, but if he choked he was condemned. Naturally enough scores of innocent folk were thus done to death.

DREAMS AND NIGHTMARES.

Lady's Realm: Many of our commonest dreams are occasioned by bodily conditions or surroundings. Loosened sheets at the foot of the bed on a cold night soon deposit a sleeper's feet in rivers or snow banks, just as a second helping at dinner or a tendency ti lie on one's back in bed readily conjures up whole legions of spooks.

Certain evidence on this point was collected in Dr. G. Stanley Hall's psychological laboratory at Clark University from personal testimony. From this it would appear that children prefer animals for their nightmares, whereas adults incline toward burglars, jailers and the like.

CHASING BEARS through the tall timber gave our forefathers stomachs that could digest anything. The man with his nose on a desk has to "coddle" his stomach. The best "coddler" is "FORCE"

the food that combines the life of the wheat with the soothing, invigorating tonic of barley-malt. Try it for breakfast. You will like the sweet, crisp, malty flakes.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes in one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, dipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

TELEPHONE THE PAPERS

Lincoln Steffens Criticises Police Departments of the Country.

Claims Much News is Suppressed That Should Be Published.

"The first thing that a victim of a robbery should do is to telephone the newspapers—all of them," says Lincoln J. Steffens, one of the best known newspaper men and magazine writers in America today, in a current magazine article. Mr. Steffens has had a good deal of experience with police and crime in various cities of the country.

"The police everywhere warn citizens not to let anybody but the police know of such troubles," continues this famous authority. "They say that if the newspapers get hold of the news they will publish it, this will frighten away the thieves and prevent the police from recovering the stolen property. This is only a police trick to avoid criticism. They give to the press all their successes; they suppress their failures, and thus keep up the appearance of efficient service. As a matter of fact, the first thing that the victim of a robbery should do is to telephone the newspapers—all of them. That would soon show what a small proportion of the reported case a detective bureau like that of New York 'detects' and—it will make the police work on your case."

THIEVES GET $45 FROM SAFE

Break Into Office Only a Block From Police Station.

The sum of $45 was stolen from a safe in the office of the Duluth Iron & Metal company, Michigan street and Third avenue east, some time during last night. It is believed crooks attracted to the city by the circus may have had something to do with it, although the police have no definite means of knowing.

The office of the Duluth Iron & Meetal company is located only a block from the police station. "I am going to take out a saloon license, and then robbers, knowing my place is being closely watched by the police, will keep away," said Mr. Zalk, president of the company, this morning, with a smile.

It is understood the thieves gained entrance to the building by prying open one of the windows. The combination to the safe had not been set, so it was an easy matter for the men to swing open the massive steel door. The money was in one of the inner drawers, which was locked. The robbers pried open the drawer with a piece of metal, and appropriated the cash. Nothing else of value was in the safe for them to take.

There is a watchman about the plant, but the burglars evidently chose a time when they knew he was in the main building, and accomplished their work before he made his rounds again.

The police say there were no other robberies last night or today.

INNOVATION AT DENVER

his lowest tone is more plainly heard than are the strongest efforts of a speaker addressing an audience in a hall constructed in the ordinary way.

It is believed the construction of the convention hall and the admirable acoustic properties will add greatly in expediting the business of the convention. It is planned to have a large number of speakers and the admirable acoustic advantages will probably tempt many to address the convention who under ordinary conditions would despair of ever making themselves heard to 14,000 people.

The lights used in the convention hall are noiseless, being composed of immense "cluster" incandescent electric lamps of sixteen candle power. This will obviate the constant sputtering and blinding glare so annoying where arc lights are employed for illumination.

The telegraph instruments stationed in the auditorium will also be noiseless, messages being sent from the press table immediately in front of the presiding officer's desk. The matting on the aisles of the auditorium and the folding seats with which the place is supplied throughout are selected so that the least noise will result from the movements of the immense crowd that will be present at all the sessions of the convention.

It is believed that fully 100,000 will come to Denver to attend the convention. The number of hotel reservations and the special trains chartered from the various states is the basis for this estimate.

turbed, in the boathouse. Along with them were Genery's two coats, while those of his assistant were found in the lighthouse. Near the landing was a wheelbarrow, which it is supposed Morrison had taken there for use in transporting the groceries to the storeroom. There was also a pint bottle, whose contents of whiskey, bought by Genery at Munising, had been emptied.

It is the supposition that after the men had unloaded the supplies, they started for a point ten miles distant, where they had set nets for fish. Neither man, it appears, wore a coat. The belief now commonly held is that in endeavoring to lift the nets, Genery fell overboard and was drowned, and that Morrison, for some reason unable to get the boat to land, subsequently perished from hunger and exposure. The boat with Morrison's dead body was found washed ashore just east of the Pictured Rocks by a patrol from the Au Sable life saving station. This was the night of Friday, the 12th. Morrison was on his hands and knees, under a seat. His features and head were brulsed somewhat, but no bones were broken. There were no marks of vollence although the face had turned black and this circumstance had aroused suspicion. A hatchet was found in the boat.

Morrison was about 30 years old, and was married. He had served four years in the navy. He was a stranger in the Lake Superior country, having been assigned to the Grand Island station only this season. Genery, aged 50, has a wife and several children in Munising, which had long been his home. He had been at the North light for fifteen years. The station is at present in charge of Alfred Evenson, assistant keeper of the Marquette light.

RATES INCREASED.

Toronto, Ont., June 22.—The supreme council, Independent Order of Foresters, has decided upon an advance in insurance rates of from 40 to 100 per cent. In future, members joining at the age of 20 years will pay 87 cents a thosand per month, compared with 62 cents under the old rate; at 30 years, $1.32, instead of 72 cents; at 40 years, $2.15, instead of 90 cents, and 54 years, $4.31, instead of $3.

HOLD CONVENTION AT TWO HARBORS

Lake County Republicans to Gather Thursday—Other Events.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Republican county convention will be held here Thursday afternoon for the purpose of electing seven delegates and eight alternates to the state convention.

The baseball game Saturday afternoon between the general office force and the storehouse aggregation was won by the former team by a score of 19 to 10.

The following is the record of the Gun club's last shoot: Fuent, 20; Warner, 19; Holmes, 15; Norlen, 14; Gustafson, 14; La Bounty, 13; Coggswell, 13; Wolff, 12; Hegge, 9; Amundson, 9; McQuade, 9; Carlson, 4; Steurwald, 4. Fuent took the prize for the second time. Arrangements are being made for shoots with the Aurora and Virginia Gun clubs.

The West-Henry Stock company will open a week's engagement at the local opera house this evening.

Among those from here who took the degrees of the Mystic Shrine at the ceremonial session of Aad temple, Duluth, Friday evening, were: W. J. Marquis, H. J. Andrews and Rev. W. E. J. Gratz. A large number of local Nobles were in attendance.

The fire protection walls at the local ore docks have been completed, and repairs are being made to dock No. 2.

The favorable weather yesterday brought out an unusually large number for fishing and an outing. The flies, however, are the worst in years, and fly fishing is now excellent.

N. M. Courselle was up from Duluth over Sunday for a visit with his parents.

WAS HIS FIRST JOB.

Earl McConoughey, Killed at Two Harbors, Had Bright Future.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Chicago Tribune printed the following local story of the tragic death here Friday of Earl McConoughey, who was killed by falling seventy feet at the big No. 6 dock, being built here to the concrete bottom, being almost instantly killed:

"Earl McConoughey of Irving Park, a civil engineer who was employed by the American Bridge company, fell yesterday from a bridge which workmen were constructing at Two Harbors, Minn., and was killed.

"He was 28 years old, and was graduated from the University of Illinois last year. He was superintending his first big job when he lost his life.

"A telegraphic search to find his father, Attorney O. H. McConoughey, who is inspecting mining property near Rawhide, Nev., proved futile. Young McConoughey was well known in Irving Park, and his family lived there for years."

EVELETH'S FOURTH PLANS.

Ball Game With Virginia One of Events—Other News Notes.

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fourth of July committee will have a meeting Thursday night to make final plans for the big celebration. The baseball teams of Eveleth and Virginia will play on that day. The morning game will be here and the afternoon game in Virginia.

Miss Lila Stanaway, a local school teacher, will spend six weeks at the summer school at the Duluth normal, after which she will make a trip to the Soo.

Sid Sicotte, who has been making a trip on the Great Lakes and visiting the lower Michigan cities, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. James Prout, who have been visiting at the Fayal with B. C. Prout, left Saturday with the latter for Duluth. Mrs. Prout left for England yesterday. She will be away during the summer months.

A few members of Company F who did not go along with the company, left for Lake City on Saturday, so that they may get a few days' camp at least, before the boys start to come home o nthe 25th.

Chief Kent went out to St. Mary's lake yesterday afternoon after two boys who were in bathing there against the law, as the city secures its supply of water from that source.

An Austrian was yesterday arrested for trying to cut Max Stipetich, a local saloonkeeper, with a knife. The man made a number of threats and was locked up.

LAWYER GIVEN BATH.

Falls Into Lake at Chisholm and Gets Soaking.

Chisholm, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. H. Austin, an attorney, had quite a scare Friday night. He was out in a gasoline launch and wanting to go ashore the boat was run up to the bridge and Mr. Austin took a hold of the bridge rail to climb up. The rail was weak and when he started to pull himself up the rail broke and Mr. Austin was thrown in the lake. Luckily for him it was not far from shore and the water was only about three feet deep. He recovered himself and walked the distance to the landing, from where he went direct to change his clothes.

The Chisholm roller rink is open, after being closed for a month. A. L. Bergeron, the owner, will make many new improvements during the next month or two, so he will be in good shape for the beginning of the fall season.

CHISHOLM RAISING COIN.

Fourth of July Celebration Plans Moving Along Nicely.

Chisholm, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Dandrea, Phil Ploof and Julius Lewis, the Fourth of July committee, have in the last few days collected the sum of $500 and expect to collect an additional $300 before the Fourth. The money will be given over to the Commercial club and it will be up to them to make the program. Chisholm has not missed one Fourth since its beginning. A ball game will be played between the Chisholm team and some other nine for a purse of $50. The Commercial club will hold a meeting next week and appoint the several committees to make the celebration here the best ever held in Chisholm.

VIRGINIA HAD "RINGER."

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local baseball fans and the management of the team are not thinking very well of the Virginia team management in bringing Graham, the pitcher for the Minneapolis American association team, to pitch for them in yesterday's game in Virginia. It was only through his work that Eveleth was defeated, as he knocked a home run, bringing in a man ahead of him, and also pitched fine ball.

There was an agreement between the managers of both teams that neither was to import any players from the American association, and the action of the Virginia team is being criticised. The local men would have been satisfied to be beaten by the regular Virginia team, but as the case now stands, they are not. At that Eveleth was only beaten by a score of 3 to 0. Gebeau for Eveleth pitched fully as good a game as Graham. The teams will play again on the Fourth of July, before which time something to do away with getting outside players will probably be decided upon.

TO WORK NORMAN MINE.

Steel Corporation Sinking Two Steel Shafts.

Virginia, Minn., June 22.—Special to The Herald.)—That the Steel corporation is planning to operate the Norman mine is evidenced by the present operations of the Oliver Mining company, which is sinking two steel head shafts.

Two fine power houses are being installed. Shaft No. 1 is now down to the ore body, and No. 2 has attained a depth of thirty-five feet.

An enormous body of high grade ore has been proved on the Norman and the company intends to work the mine on a very extensive scale. This will mean the employment of many additional men. The Oliver Iron Mining company also has a number of drills employed in proving up the ore body on the Shaw property just east of the Missabe station.

WATCHING HERALD ACCOUNTS

Eveleth Interested in News From State Soldiers' Encampment.

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some friends and relatives of the members of Company F, now camped at Lake City, are receiving letters from the boys telling of their experiences. Two members of the company have already qualified as shapshoooters, while a good percentage of them have become marksmen. The local people are eagerly reading news about the company that is being printed daily in The Herald, as they are much interested in the new company.

RABBI IS THREATENED.

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Rabbi A. Weiner here was thrown into a panic last night when a strange man called and made a sensational threat against the local head of the Jewish synagogue. The man was laboring under more or less excitement, due presumably to drink or a hallucination of some sort, and when Mrs. Weiner opened the door, in response to his rapping, said he wanted to stab the rabbi. The latter and a male companion gave chase, but the would-be assailant fled. The police are looking for him.

HIBBING TO ENTERTAIN.

Plans for Giving Lake Superior Mining Institute Good Time.

Hibbing, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club will have a meeting tonight to arrange for the meeting here, Friday, of the Lake Superior Mining institute. It is expected over 200 will be here for the meeting. There will be a reception noon there will be a ball game between Virginia and Hibbing.

The itinerary of the institute is announced as follows: Informal smoker at the Country club at Duluth, Wednesday evening, June 24. Leave for Ely and Scudan at 1 o'clock a. m., Thursday. Leave Soudan about noon Thursday and arrive at Eveleth at 4 p. m. Leave Eveleth for Virginia at 6:30 p. m. Leave Virginia at 10 o'clock a. m. Friday and arrive at Mountain Iron at 10:45. Leave Mountain Iron at 11:45 and arrive at Monroe-Tener mine at 12:45 noon, and at Hibbing at 2 p. m. Leave Hibbing early Saturday morning and arrive at Coleraine at 6 p. m. Leave Coleraine at noon and arrive at Duluth at 4 o'clock.

MANY EVELETH FINNS ARE COMING HERE TO CELEBRATE

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special The Herald.)—A large number of Finnish people will leave tomorrow for Duluth to attend the annual Midsummer Day, which is the greatest Finn holiday of the year. Four years ago the holiday was celebrated here, and it will no doubt be celebrated here next year, as the other range towns have had the holiday in the past few years. John E. Aho will try to secure the celebration for Eveleth for next year. Special trains will be run from here to accommodate the crowds.

EVELETH DRUIDS HAVE SUCCESSFUL SUNDAY PICNIC

Eveleth, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local lodge of Druids had a very successful picnic at Ely lake all day yesterday. A parade was started from the Reman's hall at 9:30 a. m. and from then on till late in the afternoon buggies and carriages kept going out to the picnic grounds, where there were horse races, sports, boat racing and other games. The tug of war between the Virginia and Eveleth groves attracted much attention.

MARTIN HUGHES AND PARTY TO LEAVE FOR DENVER.

Hibbing, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Hughes, one of the delegates from the Eighth congressional district to the national Democratic convention at Denver, will depart for that city on July 5. He will be accompanied by the whole Democratic contingent of Stuntz township—Bryan O'Rourke, John B. Connors and John Kieffman.

BALL PARK FENCE STANDS.

School District of Virginia So Decides at Election.

Virginia, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fence enclosing Roosevelt athletic park is not only to remain, but the school district electors decided, at the meeting Saturday evening, that the management of the ball team might, if it chooses, build the fence higher all around.

The meeting was called for 7 o'clock, and at the appointed hour the kindergarten room in the Roosevelt building was well filled with enthusiastic baseball fans and a few dissenters. W. H. Eaton was chosen as medorator, and J. H. Harrigan as clerk. A motion was made and carried that the question of whether the fence should be removed or not be decided by viva voce vote. Then a motion was made that the fence remain where it is, and that the management be given permission to make it higher all around. This was carried with a storm of ayes, there being but two "no" votes, the other dissenters remaining quiet. The whole affair was settled in about five minutes, and when the crowd left the building they met many residents on their way to attend the meeting.

MT. IRON CLUB'S NAME.

It Has Been Decided to Call It Mohami.

Mount Iron, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Mohami" is the name adopted for the new clubhouse, erected at Mountain Iron, for the benefit of its employes and citizens generally. The name was suggested by A. M. Wessinger, the architect of the building, and the selection was made by T. F. Cole. The name is made up of the first two letters of three names—the first, "Mountain Iron," the place where the building is located; second, "M. S. Hawkins," the district superintendent, who was largely instrumental in having the building erected; and the third, "mine," the institution that supports the community. The building is a very handsome and substantial one, and the members of the club greatly enjoy its use.

HIS CONDITION PITIABLE.

Tower Man, Afflicted With St. Vitus' Dance, May be Sent Here.

Tower, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Steve Tumionum, otherwise known as Steve Lindquist, was taken in charge by the city officials a few days ago and for a couple of days confined in a cell at the jail, then later removed to the Soudan hospital, where he is now under care of a nurse. The man has a severe attack of St. Vitus dance, which has resulted in deranging his mind. At times he is rational, but generally he cannot be controlled. He realizes his condition at times and pities himself and then without a second's warning a spell comes and it is not safe for any to be very near at any time. It is hoped that his condition will improve at the hospital, if not he will most likely be taken to Duluth. He is a married man, having a young wife, who is distracted at the condition of affairs.

MANY SEE "FATS" PLAY.

Aurora, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty Aurora people drove over to Mesaba yesterday to witness the two games of baseball there between the Aurora "fats" and the Mesaba "fats" and the regular teams of each town. The "fats" played in the morning, the game being a tie, 7 to 7. A ball had been made especially for the game and it was six inches in diameter. The tie will be played off at Aurora on July 5 for a bet of $150. The Aurora first nine beat the Mesabas 22 to 12. Spalding and Beecroft were the battery for Aurora and Groves of Biwabik and Guss acted for Mesaba.

TWO TOWER GAMES.

One With Mesaba Being Decidedly One-Sided Affair.

Tower, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local nine defeated the Adriatic team from Mesaba yesterday afternoon in a seven-inning game, by a score of 25 to 6. The team came upon the 11 o'clock train and in order that they might return on the 3:15 the game was shortened. It was a loosely played game on the part of the visitors, the score at the end of the sixth being 25 to 0 in favor of Tower. In the seventh, however, our boys taking pity on the visitors, allowed them the few runs they made.

The local millmen and railroaders tried conclusions when the other teams finished and a good interesting game resulted in a score of 16 to 15 in favor of the former.

HOME BURNED

Aurora, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The residence of George Davidson was burned to the ground Saturday night at the Meadow location and practically all the furniture destroyed. The fire was started by an overheated stove.

WILL BOOST ELY.

Ely, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Committees composed of business men who have the welfare of the city at heart have been soliciting members in the proposed Commercial club, are meeting with no little success, and the organization will be formed very soon. Like similar organizations, it will work to advance the interests of this section of the Vermilion range.

The Mosque of St. Sophia.

The mosque of St. Sophia, at Constantinople, was built over a thousand years ago, and the mortar was perfumed with musk. The musky odor is still perceptible. The well-known food value of golden grain belt beer makes it a favorite beverage for the home table. It has stood the test of time. Order of your nearest dealer, or be supplied by Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

VERDICT IN "HAT" CASE

The sealed verdict returned Friday, in the case of the Theodore Ascher company of Chicago vs. Mrs. Agnes Lanyon of Hibbing was opened in district court this morning. It reverses the former verdict and gives the plaintiff damages in the amount of $498.18.

The trial, which came to be known as the "hat case," attracted considerable interest in district court last week, on account of the amusing character of some of the evidence. The plaintiff sued Mrs. Lanyon, who is a milliner at Hibbing, for $600, claimed to be the balance due on a consignment of hats. Mrs. Lanyon claimed that there was an agreement, whereby she was to return all hats remaining unsold, and that on account of the hats being old and out of style, she was unable to sell any of them.

The trial was the second, the first verdict being in favor of Mrs. Lanyon. The company carried it to the supreme court, which directed a new trial.

PARADE IS DRENCHED

Terrific Storm Bursts While the Circus Is Passing.

B. E. Wallace Says Circus Business is Good This Year.

"Wait 'Til the Sun Shines, Nellie," shrieked the steam calliope as it passed down Superior street this morning, while women and children scurried for shelter from the terrific rain and wind storm which swept over the city.

The optimist who was working the calliope made a happy selection.

Crowds were gathered along both sides of Superior street to witness the parade and when the storm broke they fled for shelter in the nearest buildings.

It was a badly bedraggled parade that returned to the circus grounds, and some of the spectators did not fare much better.

"The prosperity of any particular section of the country may be judged by the crowds which are attracted to a circus. It is generally admitted that people seek amusement after the necessaries of life have been provided, so when large numbers of people turn out to a circus it indicates that people have money. Further than that the liberality of the people while at the grounds enables the circus management to form a pretty good opinion of the town," said B. E. Wallace, general manager of the Hagenbeck & Wallace Combined Shows, last evening.

"While business has not been up to the standard of previous years I have no reason to complain of the patronage accorded me this spring, especially in the Northwest. Since the Hagenbeck & Wallace show opened its season at Peru, Ind., May 2, we have been greeted with uniformly good business—I might say remarkably good when the weather conditions are taken into consideration.

"I have found the Northwest particularly prosperous. Calumet, Hancock and Ironwood gave us remarkable business, indicating that the Copper country has not felt the effects of the recent depression. Green Bay, Wausau, Ishpening, Ashland, Rhinelander and other towns gave us a good attendance while the two days' engagement at Milwaukee was really remarkable."

Tonight the doors will open at 7 o'clock and the performance will begin at 8. The night performance will be exactly the same as that given this afternoon. Nothing will be cut out. There are no numbered reserved seats so those who go early will get the best.

NEW PUMP ACCEPTED

It Exceeds Guaranteed Efficiency Under Four Test Runs.

Property Owners Advance Funds to Pay for Extensions.

The board of water and light commissioners has accepted the electrical centrifugal pump installed at the Lakewood pumping station, an official test of which was made a few days ago.

The acceptance follows the report of Otto Osthoff of Chicago, the electrical expert employed by the department to make the tests. Mr. Osthoff made four separate test runs to determine the efficiency of the pump, guaranteed by the manufacturers at 70 per cent.

The result of the tests for efficiency were as follows: First, 72.3 per cent; second, 73 per cent; third 73.1 per cent; fourth, 73.1 per cent.

Mr. Osthoff closes his report with the following:

"We wish to state that we believe the test in its entirety was a perfectly satisfactory commercial test and we believe that the manufacturer has complied with his contract."

The proposition of the Dickerman Investment company, Richardson & Day and Fred S. Eaton to defray the expense of laying water and gas mains in Vista street, from Woodland avenue to Sixth street. The property owners mentioned have agreed to advance the money for the improvement, as the funds for extension purposes have already been forestalled. Under the arrangement the department will repay the property owners in their turn, out of the surplus earnings of the department, when available for the purpose.

The usual guaranteed income of 8 per cent on the cost of construction, based on $1.50 a foot, will be required.

The commission has ordered the following water and gas extensions, subject to the approval of the council, the work to be started as soon as funds are available: In West Third street, from the end of the pipe west of Eleventh avenue west to a point 25 feet west of Twelfth avenue west; in Main street, from Sixty-third avenue west to Sixty-fifth avenue west and north on Sixty-fifth avenue to lot six, a distance of 850 feet.

Supt. Peter Johnson of the construction department of the waterworks, who has been seriously ill for about two weeks, has been granted a two weeks' leave of absence. Mr. Johnson will recuperate at Pike Lake. Mr. Johnson has been superintendent of the works under the city's regime ever since the plant was taken over. Previous to that he was foreman for the old water company for many years.

PYTHIANS HONOR THEIR DEAD

Local Lodges Join Superior Lodge in Annual Memorial Service.

A large delegation of the members of North Star, Diamond and Kitchi Gammi lodges, Knights of Pythias, went to Superior yesterday morning to join in the Pythian memorial services with Pokegama lodge of that city. The services were held at the Pilgrim Congregational church, which was well filled for the occasion. The memorial sermon was preached by Rev. E. H. Shepley, a member of the order, who took for his subject, "The Tie That Binds." His text was "He Who Hath Friends Must Show Himself Friendly," and "There is a Friend Who Sticketh Closer Than a Brother." A special musical program was rendered, in which Miss Alice Watson of Winnipeg, a student in the conservatory of music of the Northwestern university, sang two solos.

SEARCH FOR BROTHER.

Samuel Thielbar, Formerly of Dundas, Minn., is Sought.

Spokane, Wash., June 22.—After searching ten years for his brother, Samuel Thielbar, who left his home in Dunbar, Minn., in 1897, F. H. Thielbar of that town has appealed to the police of Spokane to assist him. He said his brother left the parental home without saying anything to anyone and has never since been heard from. He is believed to be wandering throughout the Northwest. The missing man is described as 33 years of age, five feet, eight inches tall, of heavy build, with light complexion, light hair and blue eyes. Mr. Thielbar offers a reward for information leading to the discovery of the whereabouts of his brother.

THE THIRD REGIMENT

Good Progress in Drill and Range Work Nearly Completed.

The Results of the First Annual Field Day Meet.

Camp Lakeview, Lake City, Minn., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The close of the first week of the encampment of the Third has found the regiment far advanced in its work. In drill excellent progress has been made, and at guard mount and dress parade many compliments have been received on the appearance of the companies and execution of the movements. Companies E, F, K, L and M have been especially commended, as these have been organized but a short time, the latter one but little over a month. The newly commissioned officers have taken hold of the work in a way that promises success in their commands. One of the field officers of the regiment, in speaking of the so-called "rookie" companies, said that some of the old organizations would have to look to their laurels or they would find themselves distanced by the newly mustered commands.

Capt. Bell, adjutant of the Third Infantry of the Michigan National Guard, an officer who is on the road eleven months of the year and has traveled extensively all over the United States and is familiar with the militia of the different states, said, in regard to the regiment, on his departure from camp last night:

"I have seen the troops of Washington, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan, and I can pay them no higher compliment than I can give to the Third Minnesota, and furthermore, you can accomplish these results with green men, while in Michigan we are not allowed to take a man to camp that has been in the service less than three months."

Not only are five companies of the Third entirely new, but all the old ones have many recruits with them this year, so it is estimated that 60 per cent of the enlisted men have never been in camp before, which gives double credit to officers and men for the discipline and appearance.

Range Work Nearly Complete.

The weather has been so favorable during the encampment that the range work is practically complete, with the exception of the company team match, which will be held tomorrow. In this competition teams of seven men each are selected from each company. This year a beautiful loving cup has been presented by ex-officers of the regiment to the team winning the match. The members of the team also receive bronze medals. The cup will be competed for annually. The winning team will also represent the regiment in the state company team match this fall, and will meet the successful teams of company team matches from the First and Second regiments.

The field, staff and band will enter a team in the company team match, but will not be entitled to compete for the trophy.

The regiment will use about 50,000 rounds of government ammunition in rifle practice at this year's camp. This ammunition is charged up to the state's allowance at the rate of $32.50 per thousand.

Saturday night, after the review tendered Gen. Bobleter and staff, the officers called upon him officially at the general headquarters building. The general is in command of the First brigade, Minnesota National Guard, which consists of thirty-six companies of infantry, divided into three regiments, and one battalion of artillery, composed of two field batteries and company of engineers.

After greeting the officers personally, Gen. Bobleter welcomed the newly commissioned officers into the Guard and complimented the regiment upon the showing made. The general is very observant and during his visit can be frequently seen on the drill ground and the range and was able to speak of the condition of the command from his own personal knowledge.

Field Day Meet.

The first annual field day meet of the Third was held Saturday afternoon under the direction of Lieut. W. S. Emery, regimental chaplain. Owing to the large number of entries the entire list of events were not finished and meet will be continued Monday afternoon. The following are the winners of the events run:

Running high jump—First place, McCarthy, Co. M, five feet one inch; second, Reidessel, Co. I; third, Nyberg, Co. I.

Hammer throw—First place, Christensen, Co. H, 128 feet, 4 inches; second, Batha, Co. H; third, Husby, Co. I.

Shot put—First place, Archambeault, Co. M, thirty-five feet, six inches; second, Christensen, Co. H; third, Bennett, Co. A.

100 yard dash—First place, Bent, Co. F, time, 10 4-5 seconds; second, Ellsworth, Co. F; third, Geil, Co. H.

220 yard dash—First place, George Healy, Co. M, time 25 seconds; second, Ellsworth, Co. F; third, George Smith, Co. G.

440 yard dash—First place, George Healy, Co. M, time, 57⅗ seconds; second, C. Bent, Co. F; third, William McCloud, Co. M.

In the tug of war, the Third battalion won from the first and second battalions.

An event, not on the program, was pulled off by four ex-regular cavalrymen in the regiment, Lieut. Stiles, Sergeant Fitzlaff, Co. E, Sergeant Wiener, Co. F, and Corporal Prebeleok, a mounted rescue race. Two of the men were mounted at the starting point and the other two stationed two hundred yards distant. At the signal the mounted men raced to their partners in the field who sprang on the horse in rear of its rider and returned to the starting line, carrying both men. Lieut. Stiles and Sergeant Fitzlaff distanced their competitors.

Resche Won Revolver Contest.

While not a part of the regular field day another competition was held in connection with the other events, a revolver contest between Lieut. Col. Resche and Capt. J. E. Ferguson. The wager was the colonel's favorite one. The shoot resulted in a score of 81 to 79 in favor of the senior officer. Twenty shots were fired by each competitor at seventy-five yards.

The remaining events in the field day contests were scheduled for this afternoon. Another competition has been added to the program, which is not the least interesting, a fat captains' race. The regiment boasts of one company commander that, although he tips the scale at 270 pounds, claims he can make any other officer with the double bars, over 200 pounds, hustle to get the prize. There are two other captains being backed by their friends and it is hoped that all who are eligible will enter and be on the line ready for the fray when the starter's gun is fired.

Yesterday drill and rifle practice were suspended. The only duty of the day was the guard, besides kitchen detail and camp policing.

Church call was sounded at 10 o'clock and almost the entire regiment gathered in front of Col. Johnson's tent and listened to the address by Rev. W. S. Emery, regimental chaplain. Although Lieut. Emery has but lately joined the Third in his present capacity, he has already won the esteem and respect of the officers and men with whom he has come in contact and in future is always assured of a congregation when he addresses the regiment.

Qualified With the Pistol.

Adj. Gen. Wood expects to be able to present, before breaking camp, the rifle and revolver decorations to those who won them last season. The contractor who was to furnish the medals has been behind in delivery so that last year's decorations have not yet been awarded.

First Sergeant Fred Wood of Co. C has made a special effort to secure orderlies from his detail of the guard. As the man chosen as orderly is the best appearing one on guard it is a credit to the company that secures the largest number during camp. Of twenty-seven orderlies selected since the beginning of camp, C company has secured thirteen and E company four.

Corporal Roy K. Carpenter, Co. C, was selected as orderly for Brig. Gen. Bobleter Saturday and acted his mounted standard bearer at review that evening. Corporal Paul Schultz of the same company was chosen orderly Saturday night for the general.

Sunday Visitors.

A number of visitors were in camp yesterday. Maj. Lambert and staff of the artillery with their ladies and several officers of the First and Second regiments were present.

From Duluth, Miss King, Miss Elsie Resche, John O. Olson, former lieutenant of Co. C; Herman Oppel and Joseph Carpenter spent the day with the regiment. Mrs. R. M. Cornwell of Eveleth and Mrs. J. McK. Heffner of Mason City, Iowa, arrived to stay with the regiment until it breaks camp.

The uninstructed recruits are sent on the usual number of unsatisfied quests this year as before. At all times of the day and night men appear at headquarters or apply to some of the officers and seriously inquire for the key to the flagstaff, red oil for red night lantern at the hospital, new rope for the guard line, white lamp black or a round square for the quartermaster, and they are generally directed further in their search until they get weary and wonder how the article in question gets passed around so often.

W. A. Remington, Company M, is acting as battalion clerk in the adjutant's office.

Plans for Returning.

Very satisfactory arrangements have been made for the regiment to break camp and allowing the companies to reach home promptly. Company K will leave for Bemidji on the regular train Wednesday morning at 5:25, and will reach home the same evening. A special train carrying the Duluth and range companies will be made up at 8 o'clock and will go through, without stop at St. Paul, arriving at Duluth in time to connect with the afternoon train for Eveleth and Hibbing.

The remainder of the regiment will leave later in the day, but all companies will reach their home station some time Wednesday.

Sergeant Maj. H. A. Bockevek is one of the most popular men in camp. He is regimental postmaster, and just before noon mess, when the mail arrives he is very much sought for. Yesterday on account of a large number of Herald and other mail received, it was necessary to send the ambulance to the Lake City office, as the mail was too large to be carried by a mounted man.

For dinner on Sunday the companies spread themselves. Company A, which may be considered a sample menu, and for yesterday's noon mess, chicken with dumplings, potatoes, creamed peas, strawberry-lemon punch, strawberry shortcake and fruit, besides, bread, crackers, cookies, pickles, etc.

The regiment has progressed so rapidly in company and battalion drill that other formations have been taken up. Saturday Col. Johnson held regimental maneuvers and today's plans include shelter tent drill, including pitching and making camp.

The Jewel nurseries, located on the other side of Lake City, will be visited by the entire regiment today. W. M. Underwood, manager of the nurseries, was instrumental in getting the state camp grounds located at Lake City and has always taken an interest in the guard. The Third as a body has paid several visits to the grounds of the Jewel company and have always been well entertained.

Another Severe Storm.

Another severe electric and rain storm visited camp late Saturday night. Lightning effected a telephone wire crossing came and the sentinel on post under the line was overcome so it was necessary to send him to the hospital for several hours, after which he was able to return to his quarters.

The shock was felt at both the hospital and guardhouse, but no one was injured or damage done to property by the storm, as very little wind accompanied the rain.

The following orderlies were selected at guard mounting: Friday night, Private Robin, Company C, orderly for colonel; Saturday, Private Swensen, Company C, orderly for colonel, and Private Mitchell, Company K, adjutant's orderly; Saturday night, Private Holden, Company L, adjutant's orderly, and Private Sargent, Company C, colonel's orderly; yesterday, Col. Johnson's orderly, Private Behming, Company C, and Private Beatty, Company E, orderly for the adjutant.

Company C is doing everything in up-to-date style, and in line with the spirit of progressiveness the company awakes the men for duty by electricity. They have an electric battery, and while the application is somewhat slow if applied to a whole company, it is very effective and not many have to be "called" twice.

Says Politics is Lively.

State Oil Inspector William McEwen has returned from Grand Forks, where he attended a labor gathering and incidentally took stock of a lively primary fight the residents of North Dakota are waging.

"There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor and one for the Democratic honor," said Mr. McEwen. "There are also four candidates for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

"The Republican party is divided into two factions, the stalwarts and the insurgents, and each faction has two wings. It all reminds one of a race for the Republican nomination for sheriff in St. Louis county."

THE POLICE CAUGHT A TARTAR

Officer Bob Smollett got the police department into a peck of trouble yesterday when he picked up Roy Karon 3 years old, and took him to the station. The little prisoner was found wandering aimlessly around on West Superior street, and was unable to tell where he lived, or who his parents were.

Upon his arrival at Central station he proved to be an "enfant terrible," and threatened the officers with all kinds of terrible things if they persisted in keeping him in the building. There were some fathers in the group at the station, but all their experiences with children proved to be of no avail.

"If you don't let me out I'll break the door," shouted the juvenile prisoner, shaking his fist defiantly at Capt. Fiskett and the other officers who tried to win him over with pennies and pieces of candy. He cried and howled, and kicked the door, and became so altogether uncontrollable that he was locked in the detectives room, and left to his own devices.

It was about six hours before his father, George Karon of 24½ West First street, came to get him at 7 o'clock. Meanwhile the "kid" had thrown everything he could lift into the corners of the room where he was confined, and had nearly worn out a new pair of shoes kicking at the door.

Another lost boy was found by the police late yesterday afternoon, but the officers were able to make friends with him easily, and he was perfectly at ease until his mother, Mrs. Maria Garvin of 114 East Second street, came after him.

CLOSE CALL FOR TRAIN

Dennison Ohio, June 22—Secretary Taft had a narrow escape tonight from being involved in a serious wreck on the Pennsylvania flyer, which was carrying him East. Prompt action of the towerman in a signal station, a third of a mile east of Coshocton and of the engineer of the flyer alone averted what might have been a dreadful wreck. As the train was speeding along at the rate of fifty miles an hour, the piston rod on the left side of the locomotive broke short off. Almost instantly the cylinder of the engine was cracked by the unmanageable rod. The train was just approaching a signal tower east of Coshocton. The operator saw that something serious was wrong and threw down a signal to stop the train. The engineer applied the emergency brakes and the train of six cars came to a stop on a short curve.

The accident occurred at 6:30 o'clock and many of the passengers on the train were at dinner in the dining car. Few of them realized how narrow their escape had been from an awful accident. Secretary Taft and National Committeeman Kellogg entered the dining car and sat down to dinner, even after the accident occurred without thought of anything serious in connection with the stopping of the train. The secretary made no comment on the incident when informed of it. The engineer of the locomotive explained that it was merely good luck that averted a bad accident.

"If the piston rod after it had broke had gone under the train," said he, "we would have gone into the ditch as we were running fifty miles an hour and the derailment would have been a serious matter. Fortunately, the broken rod landed six or eight inches outside of the rail. That saved us."

Immediately the tower man sent a message to Dennison for another locomotive and after a delay of about an hour the flyer proceeded on its way East.

FORMER PREMIER DYING.

Marquis di Rudini, Italian Statesman, Cannot Live Long.

Rome, June 22.—The ranks of the older Italian statesmen are being rapidly thinned. Following closely the recent death of Giulio Prinetti, former minister of foreign affairs, comes the announcement that Marquis di Rudini, the former premier, is suffering from cancer of the liver and cannot long survive.

Marquis di Rudini, like the late Signor Crispi, whom he succeeded as minister of state, is a Sicilian and comes from one of the aristocratic families that were scattered over the Island of Etna by the Spanish domination. At the age af 31 he was prefect of Palmero, and in that year of the revolution, he tried to restore the kingdom of the Two Sicilies to the house of Bourbon. This revolution was ferocious, neither giving nor accepting quarter. The triumphant population committed most abominable excesses. Human butcher shops were opened in the public squares, where the flesh of the Italian carbineer killed at the barricades was sold for next to nothing.

Rudini risked popularity in order to save Italian unity. He directed the suppression of the revolt with a firmness that bordered on cruelty. The revolution was crushed and Italian unity escaped the peril of dismemberment. But for many years the remembrance of this bloody and merciless suppression weighed heavily on Signor Bendini's reputation.

WOULD ELEVATE THE CIRCUS

Ringling Brothers Have Tried to Raise Its Moral Tone.

The most imposing wonder of amusement growth today is the circus. The greatest development of the idea is due to the Ringling Brothers. Today it takes eighty-five cars to transport their enormous enterprise. The tents alone cover twelve acres of ground space. In the menagerie tent are sheltered forty elephants and 105 cages, dens and lairs.

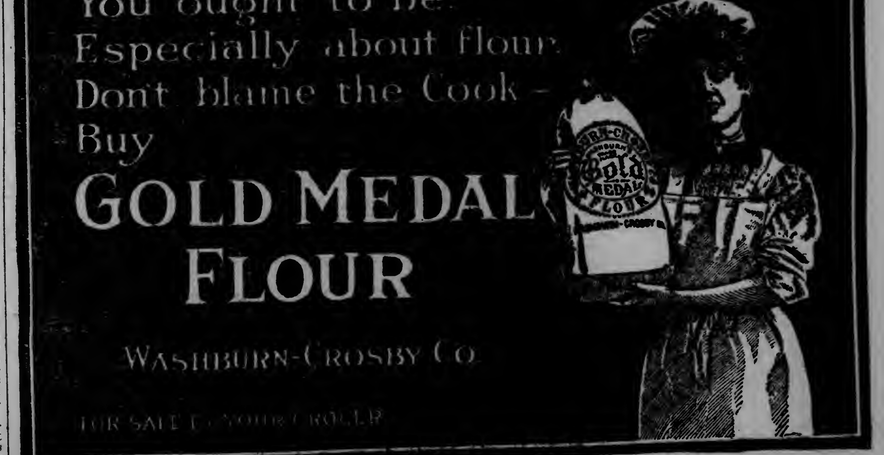

Six hundred and fifty horses are carried, and the men, women and children employed aggregate 1,200. To move this stupendous institution each day without delay or confusion indicates a most wonderful system, a system, in fact, which already attested the attention of the military chiefs at home and abroad, who pronounced the discipline and system of Ringling Brothers' shows absolutely the best they had ever seen.

Moreover, the Ringling Brothers' circus is a singularly imposing and dignified enterprise. For twenty-five years the owners have directed every effort to the complete elimination of the objectionable features which abounded in circus business, and to their determined efforts is due the high moral tone of the circus of today. From a home made tent, one elephant, and two wagons they have progressed until today they employ 4,000 people, and have winter headquarters at Stoke-on-Trent in England, at Bridgeport, Conn., and at Baraboo, Wis.

MINER FATALLY SQUEEZED.

Julio Pezza Dies From Injuries Received in Franklin Mine.

Hancock, Mich., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Julio Pezza is dead of the injuries received in the Franklin mine last Wednesday. Pezza was squeezed between two rocks and so badly hurt that his life was despaired of from the first. The accident happened in No. 5 shaft. Pezza was born in Italy and was 27 years of age. He is survived by a wife and two children. The funeral was held today from St. Joseph's church.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

SOX TAKE FIRST PLACE

Last Two Games Captured From Fargo's Lowly Browns.

Garrison Finish Saturday and Heavy Slugging Bee Sunday.

By pulling Saturday's game out of the fire, and winning, 3 to 2, and slaughtering two Fargo pitchers yesterday, by a score of 15 to 3, the Whitesox made a clean-up of ten out of thirteen games from Fargo and perched their battery on the head of the column. Last night they triumphantly marched off to Canada to defend the position of their standard.

Yesterday's exhibition was a slugfest, pure and simple. Cody Clark, who bamboozled the deadly-mounting Sox Friday and shut them out, went back and, desperately fighting for the pennant the Sox captured his Angora. They smothered him under a bombardment of doubles and triples. Everybody hit the ball, and hit it hard, and the crowd was given a demonstration of how a team that wants the pennant can slug the ball. When Clark was derricked, after the fifth inning, the Sox had secured thirteen hits for twenty-two bases, and were thirsting for more.

Waldorf, who blew in from Notre Dame university yesterday, succeeded Clark in the sixth, and the Sox let him get away for two innings, while they took his measure. Then, to show that Clark's inferior work wasn't responsible for their hitting activity, they opened up on him in the eighth with three singles a double and a triple for five more runs.

The Sox were the pennant winning children, in the field, at bat and in the pitching box. Long hits were their specialty. They scored nineteen safe ones for a total of thirty-one bases. Baker was the long-hit cloutter, with two triples and a double. Ness had a homer, with a man on base, and Williams scored a triple in the first inning. A. Williams had four safe ones, one of them a double, and Ellis had three, one a double.

Jim Haney, who all but shut Fargo out Thursday, did the business on the firing line again. His south wing is still good. He hasn't any steam to speak of, and his curves aren't so bewildering at least from the stands, but the old head is directing the fireworks all the time and gets away with it. Fargo hit him ten times, one of them for a homer, but with the grand batting behind him, he was never in trouble. He had some of the best of the Fargo sluggers on his staff, and they couldn't bunch. Three singles came together in the third for three runs, but for the most part the hits were badly scattered.

With the score against them, Fargo gave the usual dumb exhibition in the field. Every now and then somebody pulled off a fielding stunt that looked good, but when things went along so that the chances fo a victory were hopeless, they made the game drag by dumb work and errors. Jerry Sheehan played the star role in "A Catcher in Name Only," and Thompson at second played like a mushroom, as far as brainwork is concerned. Sturgeon, who just returned to the game yesterday, showed that he hasn't lost the sulks, heaving one at first with nobody in sight in the eighth, and laughing in glee as the men scooted around the bases.

CREWS IN CENTER OF THE STAGE

Events of the Current Week in the Sporting World.

New York, June 22.—Overtopping all else in interest this week in the sporting world will be the inter-collegiate boat races at Poughkeepsie, Saturday, and the annual race between Harvard and Yale crews, at New London, Thursday. It is generally conceded that the crews are so evenly matched this year that the winners will be hard to pick. Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, as on previous years, will row on the historic course on the Hudson.

The big automobile event of the week will be a four-days' carnival, in the Pennsylvania mountain district. Of interest to automobilists will be the meeting of automobiel engineers at Detroit, beginning Thursday.

Skat players from all over the United States have gathered in New York for the eleventh national skat congress, which began yesterday and runs through Tuesday. Valuable prizes have been put up for the contestants. Experts from Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Buffalo will compete.

All the high-class bicyclists in the East, professional and amateur, will take part in the bicycle races, to be held in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight.

The horse racing events of the week will be the Coney Island Jockey club's stakes, the guaranteed cash value of which is $25,000, and the great trial, also for $25,000 purse. Both will be run next Saturday, at Sheepshead Bay.

DAHLGREN HARD HIT.

Brandon, Man., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Maroons retaliated in a measure for their past defeats Saturday by pounding Dahlgren hard and winning by a score of 14 to 1. Giencke held the Angels to three hits and his support was fine, while Dahlgren was backed up poorly in the field. Score: R. H. E.

ALL CREWS ARE STRONG

No Attempts Made to Pick Favorites for Regatta.

Cornell Not as Formidable as in Former Years.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.—The five crews entered for the inter-collegiate regatta to be held on the Hudson river here next Saturday afternoon enter today upon their last week of training with greater uncetainty as to the result of the contest than has been known in many years.

The usually enthusiastic adherents of Cornell are sobered by the fact that the varsity is made up entirely of two beaten crews. Five of the men were in the Cornell crew which Harvard defeated this spring, and three are in the second varsity crew, defeated by Pennsylvania's second varsity at Ithaca, the first time Cornell has been beaten on Cayoga lake. To estimate the crews is practically impossible. Even such experienced observers as Courtney and Willard say that they have never seen a lot of entries that seemed so evenly matched a week before the race. The man is rash indeed who accepts the task of picking a favorite from among Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Wisconsin.

Syracuse is likely to be favorite in the varsity four-oared event. For the freshmen race, Cornell will probably be favorite, with Wisconsin's eight, the heaviest of the freshmen crews, second choice. The following is a comparison of averages of the various crews:

	Age.	Height.	Weight
University eights—
Cornell	22¼	5:11	165
Columbia	21½	6:00	164⅞
Pennsylvania	22½	6:01	174
Syracuse	21½	5:10	172
Wisconsin	22¼	5:11	165½

Columbia	21	6:00¾	173¾
Pennsylvania	21	5:10	159
Syracuse	23	5:11 2-5	165
Freshmen eights—
Cornell	22½	6:00	163
Pennsylvania	19¼	6:00¾	166½
Syracuse	19¼	5:11	163
Wisconsin	19¾	5:11	168

DULUTH BOYS BEAT MILLERS

Chamber of Commerce Team Defeated in Seven Inning Game.

Before a crowd of about 2,300 people, the Duluth Board of Trade baseball team won from the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce nine at Athletic park, Saturday afternoon. The seven-inning game was played before the Duluth-Fargo Northern league game and resulted in a score of 5 to 4.

The game was for the benefit of the Children's Home and, as a result of the activities of the ladies, who directed the sale of tickets, the gathering was a brilliant one. Automobiles and family carriages lined both sides of the field and the grandstand was well filled with members of Duluth society. The Duluth pit traders were provided with megaphones, which they used to good advantage. At times the din of honking automobile horns, electric bells and megaphone enhanced shouts was deafening and added to the general interest in the game.

Murphy's pitching was largely responsible for the victory. He gave the Minneapolis men but three hits and was steady all the way through. In the first two innings, the men in the field were afflicted with stage fright and his support was wobbly, but they settled and after the second inning, the visitors were held safely.

Cook of the Minneapolis men pitched a good game, also, but the Duluth boys found him with men on bases. They went in after Minneapolis had gained a lead of four runs in the first two innings and tied it up in the second and third. There was nothing doing then until the seventh. Murphy singled and was retired at second, when MacAuley laid one down. Sellar singled and MacAuley went to third, scoring a moment later on a wild pitch.

TEAMS LEAVE FOR THE NORTH

Pagles and McMorey Are Released by Manager Williams.

The Fargo and Duluth baseball teams, which held forth at Athletic park for nine games, left last night for the North, Duluth going to Brandon and Fargo to Winnipeg. As a result of the series here and Brandon's trimming of Winnipeg, the Sox are in first place by a narrow margin.

Before leaving last night, Outfielder Pagles and Catcher McMorey were released. Both are good men, but Duluth hasn't any use for them. McMorey is as good a catcher as Pratt, but he cannot hit the ball as well.

The Sox will be joined at Winnipeg by Pitcher Sawyer, who was released by the Maroons. Sawyer is a good man, who got away badly this spring, and it is believed he will be valuable to the Sox. With a pitching staff consisting of Krick, Sawyer, Haney, Murray and Brandt, the team should hold its place at the head of the league, unless there is a slump on the part of the other men in fielding and batting.

TRACK RECORD BROKEN.

Bemidji, June 22.—The local track record of 2:15¼ was broken by two seconds in the free-for-all trot or pace, in races held here yesterday, Little Jim of Hibbing coming under the wire a neck ahead of Bessie Barolite, in the second heat in 2:13¼. Prince Hal, the great pacer, owned here, was the victim of several mishaps, which put him out of the running, and he finished fourth, Pat Ford being third.

In the first and third heats the tire on Hal's sulky broke, and in the second heat Pat Ford's driver fouled and crowded Hal, keeping him from passing on the outside. Bessie Barolite, owned by Thomas Newby of Bemidji, took second place in all three heats. As the mare has a record of only 2:22 her showing was good.

In the 2:28 class, Brownie Mack, owned by T. J. Nary of Park Rapids, was first in three straight heats. Fay Medium was second; Fargo Boy, third; Bemidji Belle, fourth, and King George, fifth.

Time of races—Free-for-all, 2:16¼, 2:13¼, 2:15¼; 2:28 class, 2:39¼, 2:39¼, 2:39¾.

The start was made from Dover on Friday morning, there being seven contestants. The Hamburg, one of the German boats, crossed the finish line in the lead, arriving at 4 p. m. The Cicily, a British yacht, finished second at 4:15, and the Susanne, another of the German representatives, was third, finishing at 4:52.

HYSTERICS CAUSE BLIND MAN TO SEE.

New York, June 22.—J. Cantillon of Marinette, Wis., who was totally blind, regained his sight at Bellevue hospital, yesterday, during a fit of hysterics which followed the surgeon's announcement to him that his case was considered hopeless, and that he would probably remain blind for the remainder of his life. Cantillon, who is a professional baseball player, had had to have his left eye removed as the result of an accident in Chicago several months ago. The sight of the other eye failed from sympathetic affection. Yesterday the surgeons decided that an operation would be useless, and so informed Cantillon, who thereupon became hysterical. Suddenly he cried out that he could see, and tests showed that the sight of the right eye had been almost completely restored. The hospital surgeons say that Cantillon's loss of sight was undoubtedly due to an affection of the nervous system, and that the hysterical attack he underwent is responsible for the restoration.

CARRY THEIR OWN DETECTIVES

Efforts Made to Round Up Crooks Who Follow Circus.

"We carry our own detectives with the show," said Harry D. Farl, advance representative of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which is in Duluth today.

"There is a class of thieves who follow a circus to take advantage of the crowds which gather. Any respectable circus company is always willing and anxious to help the police round up these crooks, I don't know of any crooks with our show. There may be some following it, but we will do all in our power to help the police and to protect our patrons."

The police are on their guard and all the detectives and a number of special plain clothes men are on the lookout for strangers who look as if their proper place might be behind the bars. One band of crooks in particular, said to be ahead of the show that is here today, has caused the department some uneasiness. Every clue and possible refuge of crooks was carefully gone through yesterday and last night, but no trace of possible offenders was discovered, so it was decided they did not strike Duluth yesterday. Careful watch will be made for them today.

Several men suspected of being circus thieves were picked up by the detectives last week, and they were ordered out of town as vagrants, after all the officers had had an opportunity to see what they looked like. If caught in Duluth again this week they will be thrown into jail. Two of the more suspicious characters were given sixty days in jail last week on vagrancy charges, three others were sent to the county jail for begging, and four more were driven from the city, with instructions to stay out or go to jail.

Several plain clothes men besides the detectives will be on the circus grounds today and Friday, and the residence districts will be carefully patroled to prevent house prowling.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

The deep, underlying cause of every old sore is a bad condition of the blood. This vital fluid has become infected with some germ or poison which prevents the place from healing. This infection may be the result of an inactive, sluggish condition of the system leaving the refuse matter in the body to be absorbed into the circulation instead of throwing it off through the usual channels of nature. Another cause is the weakening or polluting of this life-stream from hereditary taints, or from the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system. When the blood is in this condition a sore cannot heal because the impurities with which the circulation is filled are being constantly discharged into the place to irritate and inflame the tissues and further disease the surrounding flesh. The only treatment that can do any good is one that removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It begins at the fountain head of the trouble and drives out all germs, impurities and poisons, and then the place, being supplied with rich, pure blood, heals naturally and permanently. Local applications assist in cleansing the place, but a cure can only be affected through a purification of the blood. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free. Don't Give a Child Any Form of Harsh Physic

That is how harsh physic gets its effect—by causing the bowel fluids to flow.

They act as pepper acts in the eyes or the nostrils. Pepper causes fluids to flow.

But do you think it right to treat membranes in that way—the tender membranes of children?

They are vegetable—gentle and natural. They are as harmless as food.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

Cascarets

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. The month-treatment box 50 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually. 820

WILL HAVE BIG AFFAIR

Over 4,000 Visitors Here Wednesday and Thursday.

Johannes Day Celebration Will Bring Many Excursions.

The first estimates of the crowd that will visit Duluth for the Johannes Day celebration, Wednesday and Thursday this week, will be greatly exceeded, according to the reports that are reaching Chairman Charles Kauppi of the committee in charge of the celebration.

It is expected that instead of 1,500 to 2,000 people there will be at least 4,000 and, possibly, 5,000 visitors here during the two days of the celebration.

The celebration will be participated in by the Finnish people of Northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, and it will be the largest affair of the kind ever attempted among people of that nationality in the Northern country.

The celebration has been well advertised throughout those sections of the three states where there are large Finnish settlements and the letters of inquiry that have come in indicate that big delegations will be sent here from every city, town, village or settlement within a radius of 200 to 250 miles of Duluth.

Special trains will be run on the Missabe and the Iron Range railroads to accommodate the visitors from the range towns and all the settlements tributary to them. The Missabe train will start from Hibbing, and the Iron Range excursion from Ely. The trains will reach Duluth about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, in time for the visitors to participate in the Johannes Day program.

Special rates have been made by the South Shore road from the Copper country and Northern Wisconsin, and it is expected that several hundred visitors will come by that route. A crowd of the Finnish people in the Copper country have chartered a steamer to bring them to Duluth. They will start Tuesday, if the deather is favorable, and will arrive in Duluth Wednesday morning.

In a great many of the towns of St. Louis and adjoining counties the Finns predominate and most of them are planning to come to Duluth.

Delegations will come here from Floodwood, Grand Rapids, Carlton and Cloquet, as well as from other smaller points along the line of the various railroads having Duluth connections.

The program, which has already been published at length by The Herald, will be given Wednesday morning. It will comprise speeches in the English and the Finnish languages by prominent speakers, music by the bands and the celebrated "Suomi Savel" of Calumet Glee club. Following the program will be contests characteristic of Finland and America, boat rides, excursions and a big concert in the Lyceum Wednesday evening. Thursday will be given over to an excursion up the river, rides on the boulevards, picnics, etc., and a dramatic and musical entertainment in the evening.

The excursion trains from the range will not leave Duluth until after midnight Wednesday so that the range visitors will have ample opportunity to stay for the concert.

J. M. GIDDING IN CITY.

Says the Taft Brothers Are Patrons of New Store.

J. M. Gidding arrived in the city today from Chicago, having spent a few days there during the convention while on his way from Cincinnati.

Mr. Gidding says Duluth looks good to him, rain or no rain, and that it is worth a million to be near Lake Superior after the hot weather of the South.

"Cincinnati is naturally very proud of the Republican candidate for president," says Mr. Gidding. "The Taft family is very popular there. I know Charles Taft very well. He visits our store very often and the Hon. William H. Taft has been in on two or three occasions. Business has been very good with us, and our store seems to be as well known there as if we had been established for twenty years."

SAYS THE LAW IS VERY WEAK

Impossible to Get Convictions for Selling Impure Whisky.

"The state law does not forbid the adulteration of whisky so long as no poisonous substance is used in the process," said Harris Bennett, state food inspector, this morning, in speaking of the editorial which appeared in the morning paper regarding the sale of poisonous liquors.

"While it is true that great quantities of adulterated whisky are sold, it is also a fact that they do not contain poisonous substances. The state commissioner has instructed the inspectors to send in no more samples of whisky, because, under the present law, it is impossible to secure a conviction. The rectifier can put any combination together and sell it for whisky, so long as it does not contain any poisonous matter.

"If the editor of the News Tribune knows of any place where poisonous whisky is being sold, I would like to have the information.

"On blackberry brandy and port wine it is different. The law is more strict, and we can get convictions. We make a systematic inspection of the places selling such wines every few weeks.

"The saloonkeepers are, in most cases, not to blame for violations of the law. They buy the goods in good faith and are informed that they are up to grade. Most of the blackberry brandy and port wine sold to saloons in Duluth is manufactured in Chicago and Milwaukee."

IT DID FOLLOW.

"By the way, Mr. Ade," the reporter said in departing, "I understand that you are at work upon a tragedy?"

The humorist smiled.

"A tragedy for Eddie Foy, perhaps?" he said.

"No; seriously, are you not writing a tragedy?"

"Of course not. What is there in me to suggest tragedy writings?"

"But you write."

"I write—hence I can write tragedy, eh? Your logic is like the English butcher's. An English butcher, you know, inserted this advertisement in the Times, Daily Mirror and other leading London sheets:

"Having now secured the services of a university man for our small-goods department, we can supply real Cambridge and Oxford sausages at three pounds for one shilling.'"

BUSY WEEK FOR TAFT

Will Put in Four Days at Yale University.

Expects to Visit President Friday With Luke Wright.

New York, June 22.—Secretary Taft left for New Haven at 11 a. m. He will meet Mrs. Taft in New Haven and will be a guest of W. W. Farham of Yale university during his stay in that city. Mr. Taft said he expected to call on the president at Oyster Bay Friday in company with Gen. Luke E. Wright, his successor as secretary of war.

Mr. Taft expects to be present today at a re-union of his classmates of '78, there being ninety-six survivors, eighty-one of whom will be at Yale for the re-union. On Tuesday night Secretary Taft will attend his class dinner at the New Haven Country club at which time he will deliver an informal address. Wednesday the secretary will attend the alumni dinner, in University hall at 1 p. m., where it is expected he will speak. Secretary Taft has agreed to speak at the dedication of a flagstaff erected on Yale campus by the class of '98 in memory of Lieut. Ledyard, who was killed in the Philippines.

He will attend the ball game on Tuesday and will go to New London to see the Yale-Harvard boat race on Thursday.

In the Taft party going to New Haven was Judge H. C. Hollister of Cincinnati, a classmate of the secretary, and Ralph E. Clark, class of '98, a member of Judge Hollister's law firm. Frank B. Kellogg, national committeeman from Minnesota, came as far as New York with the secretary, where he left the party to take up his duties as chief counsel in the Standard Oil inquiry now going on in New York.

Asked about the political outlook, Secretary Taft said a man must be an optimist to succeed. He spoke with enthusiasm about the demonstration for President Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, saying:

"It was a genuine demonstration, and I tell you it was a great demonstration."

Concerning the vice presidential nominee, Mr. Taft said:

"I have known Mr. Sherman for a long time, and I think very highly of him. However, I do not think this is the time to discuss personalities."

Mr. Taft said he did not expect to return to Cincinnati until the fall and that he will start his campaign for the presidency in that city in September. Asked about his selection of a campaign manager, he said that nothing definite had been decided in that matter.

Mr. Taft declined to discuss Mr. Bryan's comments on the anti-injunction plank at the Chicago convention, nor would he discuss any feature of the Democratic situation. The secretary said he expected to be actively engaged in his campaign right up to election day, and that he would not take any vacation.

"I've got along without any vacation for the last eight years," he said, "and I think I can stand it a little longer."

Taft at New Haven.

Delayed a Second Time.

Philadelphia, June 22.—Secretary Taft, who passed through this city on his way to New Haven, was delayed a second time by a disabled locomotive on his way East. After a slight delay a smaller locomotive was placed in service and brought the train to the West Philadelphia yards forty minutes late.

Secretary Taft was still in his berth when the train passed through here, and he was not aware of the second breakdown.

ABOUT PRECOCIOUS GENIUS.

Youngsters Who Have Startled the World by Their Knowledge.

So many prodigies are appearing that the circus felt obliged to restore its former freaks to glory. Naturally the cheap museums are opposed. Whenever the G. S. on E. comes to the city the dime exhibitions lose money, and it was merely a courtesy to the latter that the former elected to cut out all monstrosities. If the management could exhibit the nature fakers in a side room it would reap a harvest of lucre. If it could parade the financial freaks named by Senator La Follette on the floor of the senate it would make a million a minute. Precocity is a better word than freak. We despise it in children—unless they are our own; we are disgusted with it in young men, when we style it freshness. It is fortunate for the ordinary run of mankind that precocity does not last, says the New York Sun.

The word "precocity" means liberally "ripe before its time." All New York loves Dr. John A. Wyeth, an able author, an eminent surgeon and the best amateur banjoist in the city—when he is in the mood to thrum. Perhaps he has other parlor tricks. Certain it is that he has a 13-year-old son who wrote dramatic criticisms at 11 and has completed, at the solicitation of Ned Sothern, a rime-drama which Sothern will shortly produce. This precocious youngster is not a namby-pamby bighead, but a well-developed athlete. That sounds miraculous. Precocious geniuses usually have protruding foreheads and emaciated forms. The Marion Sims blood courses through young Wyeth's veins.

Walter Damrosch, a genius himself at an early age, has discovered in a 17-year-old girl, Miss Alice Shaw, the coming "greatest pianist of the world." At the age of 3, Miss Shaw composed a waltz, and before her sixteenth birthday had written sixty compositions, some of which have been heard in public. Singularly enough, this precocious genius is possessed of rare beauty. She may become a second Teresa Carreno.

Mozart was a precocious genius. At 3 he could play the piano, and at 4 composed little pieces which were pronounced gems. The common people thought the boy's wonderful power over the piano came from a ring which he wore; but when he took off the ring he played as well as before. Mozart died at 36. He was worked out before this time. Too much genius. But think of the "Marriage of Figaro," the "Magic Flue" and "Don Giovanni," his masterpiece! Enough for one man, surely.

Of Mozart's six children only two were living at the time of his death. Speaking of the last child when an infant, Mozart said proudly: "The boy will be a true Mozart, for he always cries in the very key in which I happen to be playing."

Baratier, a German, at the age of 5, knew Greek, Latin and French, besides his native German. At 9 he knew Hebrew and Chaldaic, and could translate German into Latin. At 13 he could translate Hebrew into French, or French into Hebrew. Heinecken at 1 year old knew the chief events of the Pentateuch, at 13 months knew the history of the Old Testament, at 14 months knew the history of the New Testament, at 2½ years could answer any ordinary question in history or geography, and at 3 years knew French and Latin, as well as German. Ennius Viscont read Greek, Latin and Italian before he was 4 years old. Montchalm knew his letters when a child in arms. At 5 he could translate the most difficult Latin authors. At 6 he could read Greek and Hebrew, and was good at arithmetic, history, geography and metallurgy. At 7 he had read all the chief poets, orators, historians, philosophers, grammarians, etc., but died before he was 8.

Just to prove they were not in the oslerizing class, and that there are aged as well as infant prodigies, two veterans, James White, Sr., and William Imbrie, each 60 years young, allowed Herbert Martin to persuade them to race 100 yards for a Hook Medallion. Our old friend, Patrick O'Brady of Shawmuckry, held the watch. The race was a splendid dash, one that would have made the Traverse Island boys sit up and look. Imbrie won by on yard in 12 seconds. Pretty good for threescore, eh? White and Imbrie declare they are just beginning to grow. Glory to ever green and vigorous old age.

A PATRIOTIC SWINDLE.

"It is not often," said Gen. F. D. Grant, at a dinner in New York, "that a man can perform at the same time a swindle and an act of patriotism. Yet this happened during the war. A New York sharper then conducted a swindle at which even Washington would have smiled approvingly.

"It was at the time when we stood in the greatest need of soldiers. This man inserted in the papers everywhere an advertisement that read as follows:

"'Notice—For $1 I will give any person positive information whereby he may avoid the conscription.'

"Replies came fast. They came at the rate of 600 a day, and dollars accompanied them. Then an enraged dupe, beside himself at having lost a dollar, took the advertiser to court, where the entire transaction was partiotically declared to be quite legal.

"The answer that had been sent out by the sharper was:

"'Enlist.'"

RURAL AUTO SPEED TRAP.

Money Making Device Used in the Country.

The man who drives an automobile has a multitude of things to bother him besides the expense of owning and using it.

For one thing he can never be entirely sure when he gets outside the limits of the city that he isn't running into a speed trap, says the New York Sun.

That is a device used by the country constable for the purpose of timing and gathering in the automobilist, whereby the township's treasury is enriched. Mostly the speed trap exists along some particularly nice stretch of road where the houses are few and far between and the danger to casual pedestrians through fast driving hardly exists.

The speed trap is designed for the money that is in it. Take for instance, one town to the north of New York on a main traveled highway.

The police there had bicycles, but they didn't do any good when it came to catching a man with a fast car. When the bicycle man ranged alongside the automobile to tell the occupants they were under arrest the chauffeur kicked the accelerator, and phit! the bicycle man was left behind.

So the police wanted motorcycles. Good machines cost $400 each, or something like that, and the common council wouldn't appropriate so much money.

The police then asked the common council to authorize the purchase and they wouldn't ask for money.

"How will you pay for them?" the police were asked.

"Oh, never mind, we'll get that out of the people we pinch."

And they did. They held up pretty nearly every one for two months. They made out a case against each prisoner, had him fined, and inside of two months the motorcycles, the uniforms and the police salaries had been paid out of the money collected. Then they let up a bit.

In another town near that one the speed trap was worked with four men. This town was anxious to build a new city hall and the automobilists were relied upon to furnish the working capital.

Every man the trappers could get was brought before a justice and released on $25 bail. Then when the case came up the owner was fined $25—a curious coincidence. That city hall is very near being an accomplished fact, and the automobilists will be able to point to it with civic pride, if with no other emotions.

The complaint the automobilists make is that the speed trap is generally established at some point where running a car a little fast is by no means dangerous. Furthermore, it is only the slower running cars that can be caught.

When a man who has the power in his engine to go fifty miles an hour whizzes through the speed trap he is safe. About all the policemen there can do is to wave their hands and try to get the number, so as to arrest the man some later day when he is caught unawares.

One man was out the other day running through an unsettled country, when he happened to notice a man lying on the grass alongside the road, seemingly asleep. This man, the moment the car passed, jumped up and waved wildly to another who appeared down the road.

The second man had a watch in his hand and he fixed his eye on a mark across the road. When the auto passed he yelled out:

The driver was indelicate enough to apply his fingers to his nose and kept on. A few yards further down the road was a motorcyclist, who put after the car, apparently to make that arrest.

"Well, I hope he likes exercise," said the automobile owner, "for he's going to get all he wants of it now."

The motorcyclist did not have the power to keep it up at the clip the car put on, an item which shows the safeness of the road. For three miles he pursued and the auto kept pulling away. If the road had been thickly settled, or if there had been traffic enough to make fast going dangerous the auto would never have got away. As it was it escaped easily.

The automobile men want to have a law passed that will do away with speed limits. They want a chance to run a car sensibly, so that they may slow when fast running would be dangerous and may go faster than fifteen miles an hour when the coast is clear and there is a long stretch of nice road with no obstructing wagons and few houses alongside it.

"Why, they have the same regulations for drivers who have hundled cars for years as for those who have out a car for the first time," said an automobile man recently. "Now that is absurd."

"A man who knows his car and has driven it for seven years can do almost anything with it, but expertness dosen't count.

"The rules of so-and-so many miles an hour in certain places are all wrong. "A man may drive by a schoolhouse when it is letting out in this city at the legal rate of eight miles an hour and still be driving with criminal carelessness. That stands to reason."

METHOD OF PERSUASION.

Tid-Bits: It becomes evident from the following story, which hails from a North country town, that there are widely varying ideas in existence as to what constitutes voluntary testimony on any subject.

"Did I understand you to say that this boy voluntarily confessed his share in the mischief done to the schoolhouse?" asked the magistrate, addressing the determined looking female parent of a small and dirty boy charged with being concerned in a recent raid upon an unpopular schoolmaster.

"Yes, sir, he did," the woman responded. "I just had to persuade him a little, and then he told me the whole thing voluntarily."

"How did you persuade him?" queries his worship.

"Well, first I gave him a good licking," said the firm parent, "and then I put him to bed without supper, and I took his clothes away and told him he'd stay in bed till he confessed what he'd done, if 'twas the rest of his days, and I should lick him again in the morning. And in less than half an hour he told me the whole story voluntarily!"

PICKPOCKET'S ANCESTRY.

Churches and Theaters Formerly Favorite Places of Operations.

The pickpocket, though he has had many names, has always been a prominent member of the criminal fraternity. In the days of Queen Bess and her Stuart successors, purses were carried at the side, hanging down from the girdle, and the connection being easily cut, they formed tempting booty for the "cutpurses," as they were commonly called.

The skilful rascals who did the trick, says the London Globe, were also known as "foists," or "nips," while the purse was a "bung," and the knife with which it was cut was called a "cuttle." "Cuttle" comes from a Latin word for a knife, from which same root is derived the modern cutlass. The "nip's" knife was short, strong and crooked, and on his thumb the operator wore a horn thimble.

The pickpockets of these times did not lack for impudence. Churches and theaters seem to have been favorite places for the operation of the fraternity. A divine of Charles I's time, in the course of a sermon, took occasion to remark upon the impudence of "those thieves who durst cut purses in prayer time in the King's Chappel, his majesty being present and under the cloth of state." The middle walk of old St. Paul's cathedral was another favorite resort of the pickpockets. Up and down the splendid nave of the fine old church, which perished in the great fire of London, passed a constant stream of people. No regard whatever was paid to the sacred character of the building.

At the theaters, where the accommodations were very rough and the people stood or sat crowded together, the light-fingered fraternity again found a favorable field for business. When one of these gentry was caught in the act, it was customary to tie him to a post on the stage, so that all might see and be familiar with his face. In country towns, pickpockets and petty thieves detected in their villainy were publicly whipped and then driven out of the place.

There was no lack of boldness on the party of English thieves, whether they "worked" in the streets of London or infested the highways—"high lawyers" these were called—in the open country; but few of these rascals equalled in impudence a pickpocket who was caught in the famous fair of St. Germain, at Paris, in 1698.

This gentleman, in all the bravery of the most fashionable attire, came into the fair at night, attended by four lackeys dressed in handsome liveries. But, notwithstanding his sartorial splendor, the knave was detected in the practice of pocket picking; his "lackeys" drew their swords in his defense, but in vain, for thiss early member of the "swell mob" was taken and delivered into the hands of justice, which, says the narrator rather grimly, "is here sudden and no jest."

In the time of Queen Anne and the Georges' the London pickpocket was known as a "diver." The hanging purse had gone out of fashion and could, therefore, no longer be cut. The pickpocket had to resort to the more delicate operation of searching the victim's pocket for the purse or other possible plunder, and this was aptly termed "diving." A light-fingered character in the "Begar's Opera" was called Jimmy Diver. Gay describes the diving process:

And unfelt fingers make thy pocket light;
Where's now thy watch? With all its trinkets, flown;
And thy late snuffbox is no more thy own.

But if the rascal were caught, then he was dragged to the pump and well soused.

The "diver" in later days has been known, with equal appropriateness, as the "dip" or "dipper." Some forty years or so ago the well-known Vance used to sing a once popular song, called "The Chickaleary Bloke," and in this the hero says:

Off to Paris I shall go to show a thing or two
To the dipping blokes wot hangs about the cafes.

Names change, but the pickpocket remains and pursues his business with a skill and dexterity which, if directed into more honorable channels, would assuredly earn an adequate as well as a safe reward.

HE DIDN'T GO HUNGRY.

The man who once was down and out but is no longer was telling the other day of his poverty time devices, says the New York Sun.

He was traveling with another chap just as much down and out as he, and both were hungry. Their capital was insignificant and they didn't intend to spend any of it. But they had a revolver which suggested to the first man a scheme. It worked out something like this:

"I went into a pretty good looking restaurant," said the prosperous one, taking a long draw at his cigar, "and as my clothes looked pretty good I wasn't an object of suspicion. I had an overcoat which belonged to my partner.

"As the overcoat and the revolver were chief characters in the ensuing drama, they have to be mentioned prominently. I got a seat right near the door and hung up my coat so that it was only a step away from the door.

"Then I sat down and ordered a square one, a meal that it would be impossible to describe, it was so good. It was flavored with the sauce of abstinence—from food.

"I ate and ate and ate, and by and by my partner came along. Without his overcoat—and it was a cold day—he didn't look good. He hung around the door for a while, looking like a hobo getting up his nerve to come in and beg.

"Just about the time he made a signal to me that showed he was about to enter I got up to go to the cigar counter to pick out a nice after dinner smoke. In came my partner and slunk up to the desk to ask for a bit of food.

"Nothing doing. He was turned down cold. Then to make the thing work better, he came up to me and asked, 'Say, boss, won't you give me a lift? I'm down and out.' I repulsed him severely, and after looking around he started out.

"I said to the proprietor in a virtuous way, 'I don't believe in helping those bums,' to which he answered with a smug shake of the head, when my partner grabbed my overcoat. I knew what he was doing, but I pretended to be very much interested in the cigar until the proprietor yelled out: 'Hey, he's stealing your coat!'

"I held on to the cigar, wheeled around and started for my partner. He was half out of the door. I yelled. 'Drop that!' and for answer he drew the revolver and flourished it.

"The proprietor dropped behind the counter and the waiters fled into the kitchen. From his place the proprietor called out: 'Look out!' He'll shoot you!' and taking my cue I let him run out.

"Then when the excitement cleared off I raised an awful row about losing the coat and the proprietor finally came up with the money for a new one, say about $30. Well, did that meal pay me? What?"

THE MARKET IS HIGHER

Electrical Storms Create Havoc With the Telegraph Wires.

Flax is Easier at the End of a Quiet Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 22.—Electrical storms played havoc with telegraph wires today, so that the market news from outside centers was very meagre. Much of the usual Monday information, including the world's shipments, the visible supply and other statistics, were not received here during the session, so the local market's range, while wide enough, was not prompted to any great extent by news from the outside.

Generally, the market was stronger, on less favorable crop news from all parts of the United States. Reports of storm and higher cables caused a firm feeling.

Berlin closed ⅝c higher and Budapest ⅜c higher.

The July option closed ⅝c higher in Duluth, a shade lower in Chicago, ⅛c higher in Minneapolis, unchanged in St. Louis, ⅜c higher in Kansas City and ¼c higher in Winnipeg. The closing prices from New York were not received. The September option closed ⅛c higher in Duluth, ⅜c higher in St. Louis. The October option closed ⅜c higher in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅛-¼c higher in Chicago and July oats unchanged there.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—There was an easy tone to the speculative wheat market at the opening, although values were unchanged to ¼d higher. The weakness in the American market on Saturday was offset by the fact of bullish world's shipments for the week and especially from Russia, Danube and the United States. Following the opening and during the remainder of the morning, the market was under pressure to sell owing to the continued fine weather in the United Kingdom and a general lack of speculative interest and values lost ½@¾d. At midday, the market was easy and from ⅜@½d lower than Saturday.

"Corn was easy at the start and unchanged. Later the market declined with continued pressure in July, which declined ¾d in sympathy with the easiness in wheat and more pressure to sell came in the morning session."

Telegraph wire troubles restricted trade in Duluth today, so the session was rather quiet. July wheat opened ⅛c lower at 82½, declined to $1.02¾, rallied to $1.03¼ and closed there, a gain of ⅝c over Saturday. September wheat opened unchanged at 88⅞c, advanced to 90¼c and closed at 89⅜c, a gain of 1c over Saturday.

Durum wheat closed ½c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2c over July for No. 1 northern.

Flax was quiet and closed easier. July flax opened ½c lower at $1.21, declined to $1.20⅜ and closed at $1.20½, a loss of 1c from Saturday. September flax opened late at $1.19, declined to $1.18½ and closed higher at 46¾c, sold up to 46¼c and declined to 46c. Local receipts were 161 cars.

The provision market was quiet and firm, due to strength in the corn market and to a 10c advance in hogs. September pork was up 7½@15c at $14.80@14.87½. Lard was 5c higher at $9.15. Ribs were 5@7½c to 7½@10c higher at $8.35@8.37½.

Close: Wheat—June, 89c; July, 86¼@87¾c; September, 85¾c; December, 86⅞c. Corn—July, 69¾c; September, 70c; December, 69 c; May, 59½c. Oats—July, old, 45¾c; July, 44¾c; September, 29¼@44c; December, 30¾c; May, 41⅞c. Pork—July, $14.50; September, $14.75. Lard—July, $8.92½@8.95; September, $9.12½; October, $8.42½@8.45. Rye—Cash, 77@79c. Barley—Cash, 57@63c. Cash wheat—No. 2 red, 91@92½c; No. 3 red, 90@92c; No. 2 hard, 91@92½c; No. 3 hard, 90c; No. 3 spring, 95@1.01; others, nothing doing. Corn—No. 2, 70½c; No. 3, 70½c.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, June 22.—Closing: Wheat—Spot, quiet; No. 2 red western winter, 7s 6d; No. 1 California, 7s 8d; futures quiet; July, 7s 1½d; September, 6s 10½d; December, 6s 10d. Corn—Spot firm; new American kiln dried, 6s 6d; old American, Mixed, 6s 1d; futures quiet, July, 6s 1⅞d; September, 6s 1d.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Reports of Crop Damage Gives a Bullish Tone to Wheat.

Minneapolis, June 22.—The local market felt the effect of a succession of storms over Sunday which brought in crop damage news from a number of Southern Minnesota points and the tone here was bullish. But the outside markets were rather indifferent and after making a fair early advance the tone became dull. Though showers in the Red river valley were unfavorable, the forecast for Kansas and other winter wheat states where harvest has been delayed was good. The little increase of 15,000 bushels in Minneapolis stocks for one day was lost and for two days there was a 25,000-bushel decrease. Receipts here were 316 cars against 433, and in Duluth 49 against 28. July opened at $1.03⅝; high, $1.03½; low, $1.02¾; close, $1.02⅞; old July closed at $1.03¼. September opened at 88⅝c; high, 89¼c; low, 88¼c; close, 88⅜@88¼c. Old September closed at 89⅝@89¼c.

The cash market was in good condition, millers buying the top grades at 2½@3c over old July for No. 1 northern and 1@1½c over for No. 2. Close: No. 1 northern, $1.05⅝@?; spot, $1.05⅝ to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.02⅝@?c, spot, $1.03⅜ to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.00⅝@1.03.

No. 3 yellow corn, 69¾@70¼c.

No. 3 white oats, 45⅝@48¾c.

No. 2 rye, 69¾@71⅝c.

No. 2 rye, 69¾@?13c.

Barley receipts, 10 cars; there was a good malting and shipping demand. Top quality sold to 59c and all malting barley was 1c higher. Low grades were about even with Saturday in prices. Closed to 50@59c.

Flax lost its premium and although in fair demand was quoted at Duluth July price. There was too much in to maintain the premium, 63 cars being reported. Close, $1.20½.

Bran in bulk is quoted by millers at $18.00. Lower prices are heard outside, but millers say they can sell the output at their figures.

The flour market opened the week with a moderate business in hand and during the day the sales were light. Prices are unchanged from last week. Shipments 47,986 barrels. First patents, $5.30@5.45; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $4.20@4.30; second clears, $3.50@3.60.

TWO TICKETS FOR THE POET.

New York Sun: "I met William Sells, the circus man, who died the other day, once only," said the long haired man, as he stopped writing a sonnet on his frayed cuff, "but I have reason to remember that interview.

"On that day I was particularly broke and had been downtown, taking with me a book in which I had pasted a good many of my poems which had been published. There were a few prose items, too, but the bulk of the book was made up of verse.

"Having no luck in finding any editor who would give me a commission I wended my way back home. Passing Madison Square Garden I saw that Sells' circus was holding out there. An idea struck me, and in I walked.

"I asked to see the press agent. He was out, but Mr. Sells was in, so I marched with all the importance I could command into his private office.

"'What can I do for you?' said Sells.

"'Well,' I stammered, 'I should like two seats for tonight's performance.'

"'Who may you be?' asked the circus man.

"I told him my name, whereat he smiled and said:

"'Oh, yes! I've heard of you. You're a poet, aren't you?'

"I blushed.

"'Well,' he continued, 'but why should I give you two tickets?'

"I said something about the courtesy of the profession, and then added:

"'Of course, you may not believe I am the person I represent myself to be. If you wish for identification I have here a book of my accepted and published poems, which—'

"But Sells started up and shouted out to a man standing by:

"'Here, give this gentleman two seats for tonight!' and then turning to me:

"'I'd sooner give you the whole house than read your poems!'

"But I got the tickets."

And then the bard resumed his sonnet.

AUSTRIA'S DOUBLE COINAGE.

Vienna correspondence Pall Mall Gazette: Every tourist who comes to Vienna complains of the stupid double coinage system which he finds here of "gulden and kronen" and "kreuzers and hellers."

Some eleven years ago the monetary unit was changed from florins (or guldens) (is 8d.) to crowns (10d.), but the adoption of the latter was not made compulsory. The result has been that the two coins have been in use side by side as a monetary standard. Strangers, and residents too for that matter, could not tell whether the prices marked up in shop windows meant florins or crowns, a condition which led to a good deal of petty cheating, especially of the unwary stranger.

It was curious that in Vienna so many shopkeepers preferred to retain the old system, when in places like Carlsbad and Marienbad the crown was universally used and no mention was ever made of florins.

Now the ministry of finance has issued a decree that after July 1 the crown and heller, the hundredth part of a crown, shall be used for all transactions, and anybody attempting to retain the old standard of florins will be liable to prosecution. By this decree the ministry will have earned the gratitude of many thousands of visitors to Vienna and Austria.

BAN ON RICE AND OLD SHOES.

Young folks living along the line of the Chicago & Northwestern railway are convinced that it is a mistake to accuse a corporation of having no soul. At any rate this is the opinion of the tender beings who are contemplating matrimony, says the New York Sun.

In the first place the railroad inaugurated a honeymoon special to California some time ago. That in itself was a great bid for popularity with the brides and bridegrooms to be. But it was nothing in general application to the latest move on the part of the road.

This is nothing more nor less than an order forbidding the throwing of rice, old shoes and other wedding accessories in or about Chicago & Northwestern trains.

"Something simply had to be done," said an official of the road. "Enthusiastic friends of the bridal couples were carrying things to an extreme and a check was necessary.

"Young couples would come down to the train with large satin bows tied on the rear of their carriages, and as they started for the train a terrific storm of rice and old shoes would beak loose. Innocent and inoffensive people who were boarding the same train, but had not been guilty of anything, not even marriage, would get most of the missiles. Hence the new order, which will be enforced in the strictest fashion."

DECLINES IN STOCKS

The Market Started Unchanged, But Declined and Closed Weak.

Prices Dropped to Lowest Level in the Final Hour.

New York, June 22.—Prices of stocks barely stirred from the closing level of Saturday in response to the meager opening dealings. Canadian Pacific advanced ⅝.

Steady selling of the Rock Island stock and bond issues aroused misgivings among holders of other stocks, and there was a general sharp decline. Rock Island preferred sank 2⅜, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred 1¾, Western Union 1½ and Union Pacific, St. Paul, Reading, Great Northern preferred, Erie, New York Central, Amalgamated Copper, Rock Island and the 4 and 5 per cent collateral bonds 1. The market steadied later but receded again. Westinghouse Electric advanced 2 and Allis Chalmers preferred 1.

The market closed weak and dull. Prices gravitated to a still lower level in the final hour. There was a break of 7 points in the Rock Island collateral fives in the final dealings.

HOW MINES MAKE TOWNS.

The history of American mining towns presents many examples of the determining effect of mineral deposits. Butte, Mont., is a city of 62,000 inhabitants supported by copper underlying about one square mile of land surface. The metal forms the sole raison d'etre of this considerable settlement, for in other respects the region is unproductive and unattractive; without the mines the locality would support with difficulty a population of 100 souls.

The mineral deposits of Nevada occur beneath strips of land a few hundred feet in width and in the midst of a hopeless desert, but they have formed plausible pretext, says Harper's Magazine, for adding a state to the Union and two senators to congress. The decline of the lodes has now reduced Virginia City to a population of 2,500, as against 11,000 in 1880, when it was one of the busiest cities in America in the midst of a superlatively "booming" state. In 1900 Nevada was credited with a population of 42,335—a figure somewhat under that of 1870; thus this state, with an area twice that of New England, has less population than Waterbury, Conn.

Through the existence of mineral products in close proximity, Pittsburg has become the emporium for coal, petroleum and iron. Its case differs, however, from the above, for its development was far less artificial, and its destiny could never be that of the regions already mentioned.

Three navigable rivers converge at this point; valleys sunk in a plateau provide natural routes for approaching railways. Natural and unnatural access, it may be added, are contrasted at Pittsburg by the fact that one railroad has recently been forced to expend $35,000,000 to effect an entrance to the city by overcoming a minor geographic obstacle.

A GREAT SMOKER.

A Pittsburgh millionaire said at a dinner:

"I lunched with Sir Thomas Lipton at the Ghezireh Palace in Cario just before he set out for his tea plantation in Ceylon, where the ex-Empress Eugenie was to visit him.

"When the coffee and Tarragone came on, I opened my gold case and offered Sir Thomas a beautiful aromatic cigarette fresh from the factory down the street.

"'No, thank you,' said he. 'I am, with one possible exception, the biggest smoker in the world, but I never smoke cigars nor cigarettes.'

"'What do you smoke?' said I.

"'Bacon,' he answered."

TAFT EASY TO DEFEAT

Believes Governor Johnson of Minnesota Could Easily Defeat Him.

New York, June 22.—William J. Conners of Buffalo, chairman of the state Democratic committee, who was in New York today, said to several newspaper men that he believed Mr. Taft would be an easy candidate for the Democrats to defeat.

"There were several stronger men who might have been nominated," said Mr. Conners, "but none weaker."

"His only qualification for the office is that Roosevelt wanted him."

"Sherman?"

"Oh, well, I'd rather say nothing about Sherman. Everybody knows about him."

"Is the nomination of Bryan as certain as was that of Taft?" Mr. Conners was asked.

"I won't believe it until I see it," he declared. "There are other Democrats who can defeat Taft beyond a doubt."

"Who—Johnson?"

"To a certainty."

"Well, if the New York delegation sees that Bryan's nomination is a certainty will fall into line?"

"Well, wait until we get to the convention."

"Will the platform be radical?"

"Yes, to a certain extent."

"Will it contain a court plank?"

"I'd rather have it contain none than the one that was put into the Republican platform, that means nothing."

"Labor will cut a strong figure in the election, will it not?"

"It always does," said Mr. Connors.

TWO LAND MEN GUILTY; TWO ARE INNOCENT.

Washington, June 22.—A verdict in the Western land conspiracy case was reported by the jury this afternoon. Defendants Hyde and Schneider were found guilty. Not guilty, Benson and Dimond.

WILD DOGS OF THE PLAINS.

More Ferocious and Daring Than Wolves—Their Origin.

Kansas City Star: When James McHenry of the West side talks of his experiences as a plainsman in Colorado, he seldom fails to mention the wild dogs he saw there. These ferocious animals were not known in all parts of the West, but were limited to the district between Denver and Fort Laramie. The wild dogs were feared much more than the wolves. It is said that they would not turn out of their course either for man or beast, and that they would attack any living thing they met.

"Of all the wild animals I saw on the eastern slopes of the Rocky mountains," Mr. McHenry said, "the wild dogs were the most dangerous. These animals, of course, were part wolf. They seemed to have just enough of wolf blood to make them extremely treacherous. The wild dogs were not guided much more than the blood-blooded wolves. They could run faster, they seemed to be stronger, they were larger and more persistent and daring.

"The wild dogs lived on the flesh of cattle, sheep, deer, antelope and rabbits. Sometimes human beings were their victims. The wild dogs were the worst beasts of prey in the true sense of the expression. To their game they used both speed and cunning. They cut the hamstrings of cattle when they chased them. Sometimes the dogs would form in a circle around a herd of deer or antelope, and I heard it said that often a part of the pack would hide in a ravine while the remainder drove the herd of deer into the trap. The wild dogs used the methods of ordinary wolves, but with more intelligence.

"I often saw the wild dogs while I was a cowboy north of Denver, and I had a very unpleasant experience with a pack of them. I was hunting near Lodge Pole creek, a stream that empties into the South Platte river. I had staked out my horse and started across the hills on foot to get a shot at some antelope. From the top of a small hill I noticed that my horse down in the ravine was disturbed and very uneasy. Fearing that something was wrong, I returned to my horse. Presently a pack of these wild dogs appeared at a short distance up the ravine.

"I was afraid I would not have time to untie my horse and put on the bridle, so I fired into the pack when the animals approached within 100 yards. The moment I wounded one of the dogs the rest of the pack attacked it and tore its body to pieces. While they were fighting over the first member of the pack I wounded, I shot several others. While the beasts were making a frantic effort to devour one another I bridled my horse and got away. It was an exhibition of their ferocious natures that I have never forgotten."

An old French trapper of the Rocky mountain region told Mr. McHenry the story of the origin of the wild dogs. This is the tradition:

An Eastern company established a cattle ranch about 100 miles north of Denver in 1850. A strong stockade was built as a protection against the Indians. The ranch was managed by persons ignorant of the way of the West and unfamiliar with the treachery of the Indians.

When the stockade had been completed a small band of Sioux Indians appeared at the ranch. They professed to be friendly and were admitted within the stockade. The Indians were so clever in their actions that the ranchmen accepted them as friends. Larger bands of Indians came and were admitted within the fortifications. One day, when there were five or six visitors to every white man inside the stockade, the Indians made an attack. After all the ranchmen and their wives and children had been killed, the Indians burned the houses and the stockade that had cost so much labor.

About fifteen dogs of different varieties had been taken to the ranch from the East. When the settlement was destroyed the dogs were without food and a home. It is said that the gaunt animals lingered about the ruins of the ranch houses until at last hunger drove them into the hills and onto the plains in search of food. They became friends with the wolves and mingled with them.

In a few years the offspring of these dogs that had known a master's caress became a strange kind of animal, a breed that never had been known in that country.

"Many years passed before these animals continued. "They at no time were very numerous. Generally they went in packs of six or eight, but they were a terror just the same. They were much more difficult to trap than the ordinary wolves."

HOW WALL STREET STARTED.

Harper's Magazine: On the morning of March 31, 1644, a man of clerkly appearance might have been seen standing at the entrance of the dilapidated fortress of New Amsterdam, with a sheft of official papers in his hand. It was not an inviting prospect which confronted the observer that raw spring morning, for the roughly built, wooden houses scattered about the fort looked sadly weatherbeaten, and the straggling, ill-made roads and paths which served as streets were littered with refuse and rubbish of every sort and ankle deep in mud.

The man at the fort did not, however, waste much time in gazing at these discouraging surrondings. They were familiar to him in every dreary detail, for Cornellus Van Tienhoven had been secretary of the council at New Amsterdam for many years, and if he had ever been disturbed by the prevailing wretchedness of the town, it had long since ceased to afford him the slightest concern. Slowly turning his back to the view, he tacked one of his official documents to the wall of the fort, and then swinging about and picking his way across the miry ground to a convenient tree, affixed another paper.

Van Tienhoven's handwriting was easily read. Indeed, good penmanship was the only qualification he had ever displayed for his office, and that virtue had wholly failed to endear him to the populace, who hated the very sight of his clerical fist. The particular notice he had transcribed that morning, however, was singularly free of offense. It merely recited a resolution of the director and council of New Netherland that a barrier be erected at the north of the settlement, sufficiently strong to prevent the straying of cattle and to protect them from the Indians, and warned" all interested persons to appear on "next Monday, the 4th of April, at 7 o'clock," for the prosecution of the work.

It was not long, therefore, before the colonists were hard at work at the projected cattle guard, and within a few days it stood copleted. There is no authoritative information as to how it was constructed, but there is evidence that it consisted mainly of untrimmed trees felled at the edge of the adjoining forest and piled together to form a sort of barricade, and that its northern line, running certainly from the present William street, New York city, to what is now Broadway, and possibly from shore to shore, marked the Earthest limits of New Amsterdam, as it then existed, and practically determined the location of Wall street.

NEARLY MARRIED DAUGHTER.

Baltimore Sun: A curious and romantic story is reported from the town of Appenzell, Switzzerland. In 1887 a Swiss named Joseph Muller, deserted his wife and child, a little girl named Anna, about 6 months old, at Lucerne, and fled to Mexico.

Mme. Muller died soon after, and Anna was adopted by a prosperous butcher of Lucerne, who gave the girl a good education. Eighteen months ago the butcher sold out his business and bought a large hotel at Appenzell, Anna, now a handsome, intelligent girl, managing the establishment.

Last May Joseph Muller, Anna's father, who had made a large fortune in America, arrived at the hotel, but as Anna had taken the name of her foster parents he was not aware of their relationship. A young local doctor of good family and the elderly Joseph Muller became suitors for Anna's hand, and in July last the girl chose the latter.

The marriage was fixed for the end of December, and in the meantime Joseph Muller courted his daughter. The day before the wedding Muller, seeing his fiancee wearing some jewelry which seemed familiar to him, questioned her about it and discovered the truth. Next day he left for Berlin and sent his daughter a letter explaining his conduct and advised her to marry the young doctor; he inclosed a check for $40,000 in the letter.

The other day Anna Muller was married to the doctor, but she has not heard of her father since his flight.

HOW WOMAN WAS MADE.

The poor Hindu was sadly put to it to account for woman, lovely woman, but no more so than many wiser ones since his time. According to the legend, Twashtri, the Vulcan of Hindu mythology, created the world, but when he arrived at the final object which was to be his chef d'oeuvre he found to his annoyance that he had run out of materials. He had not a single chunk of solid matter left.

With a mental execration upon his carelessness he fell into a profound meditation, the result of which was that he took "the roundness of the moon, the unludating curves of the serpent, the graceful twist of the creeping plant, the light shivering of the grass blade and the slenderness of the willow, the velvety softness of the flowers, the lightness of the feather, the gentle gaze of the doe, the frolicsomeness of the sunbeam, the tears of the

M. Marshall and Charles S. Parsons.

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard before this court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in Duluth in said County on Monday the 13th day of July, 1908 at ten o'clock, A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.

ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law, and that a copy of this order be served on the County Treasurer of St. Louis County not less than ten days prior to said day of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., June 19, 1908.
By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.

RAILROADS
TRAINS TO THE COAST

Northern Pacific Will Resume Its Through Service Tuesday.

Telegram States That Main Line is Almost Ready.

Word received at the office of the Northern Pacific this morning states that all trains over that line will be running through to the coast by tomorrow. The North Coast Limited is at the present time running through to Portland by making a detour on the Oregon Short Line. Trains No. 3 and 4 are running from St. Paul to Helena.

The information that was received here was to the effect that all the damage will be repaired by tomorrow, if the present plans are carried out. The regular schedule will be resumed and all the trains that have been taken off during the time the track has been under repair will be replaced.

The North Coast Limited will be run through over the tracks of the Northern Pacific, and trains No. 3 and 4 will be placed in service. All of the branches of the road have not been repaired yet, but according to the information that was received here, the branch lines will be repaired as soon as the main line is opened.

WORK ON TARIFFS.

Rate Clerks Will Begin on New Passenger Schedules.

Rate clerks will be set at work making rates that will meet with the approval of roads interested in Head of the Lakes traffic, at the general office of the Northern Pacific office, St. Paul, tomorrow morning.

At the Duluth meeting of the representatives of various roads, held in this city last Thursday, certain agreements as to traffic arrangements were decided upon. The meeting of the rate clerks will be the result of this meeting, for they will take up the work as was laid out in the Duluth meeting, and will arrange tariffs in accordance with the tariffs agreed upon by the passenger representatives.

The roads interested in the new arrangement are the South Shore, the Canadian Pacific, the Northern Pacific and the St. Paul roads that are handling Eastern business.

ALMOST STOPPED.

Circus Late in Taking Out Permit for a Parade.

The city authorities came very nearly stopping the circus parade this morning, and now the circus people are wishing they had acted before the rain started and made it necessary to call off the affair.

At about the time the parade was due to start, Thomas Dillon of the board of public works learned that the management had failed to secure a license to pass through the streets. He began investigating, found it was true that no permit had been issued, and an order was issued directing that a warrant of arrest be made out. At this critical point an agent of the show entered the city hall and made application for a permit. The permit was granted and the parade proceeded on its damp and gloomy way.

HOUSES ARE RANSACKED

Thieves Steal Provisions From Two Spirit Lake Homes.

Dog is Chloroformed and Entrance is Gained Through Window.

A gang of vandals ransacked the homes of several Spirit Lake residents yesterday, carrying away with them the provisions the owners had laid aside for their Sunday dinners.

The robberies must have taken place after midnight Saturday night, for the members of the families were up until a late hour that evening. The house of Mathew Amundson was entered by a back window, leading into the kitchen, where the thieves helped themselves to six loaves of bread, one can of peaches, four quarts of milk, two dozens eggs, three pounds of meat, and a pineapple. In their search for food, for they took nothing else as far as can be learned, the housebreakers left a string of matches after them through the kitchen and pantry.

From Amundson's they went three blocks south to Albert Swenson's home, where they chloroformed the dog and pried open a rear window. They managed to carry away five pounds of butter, a sack of potatoes and two dozen eggs. After that they tried Thomas McCarthy's home, but were seen by Mr. McCarthy, who was up with the baby, and were frightened away. Mr. McCarthy says there were three in the party, one of whom was tall and slight. He said that they were prowling about the back of his house when he heard them. He threw up the shade and the sudden light scared them away, for they jumped the fence and ran up the track.

The West Duluth police were notified of the affair Sunday and yesterday Sergeant Walsh and Officer Broulette made a thorough search of the neighboring woods, where the gang was supposed to be hiding. They found where they had camped, however, and today have been given further clues. This is believed to be the gang that has been pilaging the farms up the river for several weeks. Several suspicious characters have been noticed from time to time loafing in the woods during the day, and it is thought that these are the men who have been doing the work.

LOST OPPORTUNITIES.

Rev. R. J. Mooney Says Man May Profit by Past Mistakes.

"If I Could Only Live My Life Over Again," was the subject preached upon Sunday night by Rev. Roderick J. Mooney, rector of the Holy Apostle's Episcopal church. His text was taken from Job 29: 2-4, "Oh That I Were as I Was in the Days of my Youth."

"The unused opportunities of the past lie upon eternities bosum as a snow flake upon the river current—a moment there and gone forever," said Rev. Mooney. It is hard to recover one's past, the speaker said, often times memories come back to us and we say as the cry of Evander, described in Virgil "Oh That I was in Days Past." Still the heedless rush on until some day they come to the life of everlasting disgrace. Yet it is the advice of the Spirit of God, to stop and resolve as did Job. If one is wise he will turn and view his past and experience by it. Let the light of past experience show us where lessons can be learned, show what mistakes have been made, what opportunities neglected, and advice unheeded, even the advice of God. And from this learn that the future is full of promise and that great possibilities are opening up to us, and that we must not despair.

"In our past, it has been purely the neglect of God that has proved our failure. By neglect we have become weak, selfish and sinful. But would you know how to get the most possible out of the future? Consider well the mistakes of the past and remember that any plan which failed in the past, will not succeed in the future."

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson of Naples, Me., says, in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years, New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Boston Eats the Best

And for this a great deal of credit is due Mrs. R. J. Rogers, who lectures here this week. She has regularly in attendance at her school over 600 high school girls, whose parents insist on their learning to cook in preference to playing the piano. Mrs. Rogers will deliver her first lecture tomorrow afternoon.

HAVE HONEYMOON AT THE CIRCUS

Young People From Country Ask Sheriff to Marry Them.

Hand-in-hand, chewing peanuts and blissfully ignorant of the interest they aroused, Kaver Deml and Anna Brandl, young people from the country who visited Duluth today to see the circus, appeared at the courthouse this morning to get married.

The bridegroom was unacquainted with the legal methods, although he had been told that it was necessary to go to the courthouse before he could get the knot tied.

The most imposing structure on the courthouse grounds is the county jail, so the couple walked up to the door and asked if Sheriff Bates would perform the ceremony.

While the sheriff would have accommodated the young people, if possible, he could not legally put the matrimonial bracelet on them, so they were directed to the clerk of court, to get a license. The remainder of the formality was carefully explained to the applicants and the honeymoon will be spent at the circus grounds this afternoon.

ADMITS THEFT OF THE OATS

Edward Fitzgerald Will Receive His Sentence Next Friday.

Edward Fitzgerald, a young man 20 years old, who was arrested last week charged with stealing and selling fifty bushels of oats belonging to Nelson & Peterson, a local feed concern, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Ensign this morning. He was released on his own recognizance until Friday when the court will impose sentence. Fitzgerald, it is claimed, called up the feed store by telephone and ordered fifty bushels of oats delivered at a barn in the alley at the rear of the Armory, for Deetz & Co. After the oats were delivered Fitzgerald visited the place with a dray, secured the oats and sold them to various people about the city. He was seen taking the oats and this led to his arrest as soon as an investigation was made.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Reception for Bishop.

Preparations are under way for a large reception to be tendered Bishop Schinner on his return from an extended visit in Europe, during which time he made a tour of the Holy Land and visited the vatican with Father Weber of St. Joseph's parish. Bishop Schinner is expected home July 1 and it is planned to hold services in the Sacred Heart cathedral immediately following his arrival and a reception afterward in the assembly hall. W. P. Crawford has charge of the arrangements.

Police Mean Business.

That the police department means business under the order of the chief to enforce the ordinance relative to requiring bicycle riders to carry lamps is shown by the arrest of seven wheelman Saturday evening. Five of them put up $5 bail and the others left their wheels as a guarantee that they would appear in court.

Damages Hinge on Mail.

Ole Peterson of Lake Nebagamon has sued the Lake Nebagamon Ice company for $5,000 damages for inquiries alleged to have been received while an employe of the concern last February. Peterson claims that he was employed hoisting sawdust into the ice house by means of a pulley, rope and box. He claims that a nail in the box caught in his mitten and that he was hoisted in the air and bumped against the side of the building so hard that two ribs were broken and his hip and arm were injured.

Bids Not Satisfactory.

No awards have been made by the committee of local Masons on the bids for the construction of a new Masonic temple at the corner of Hughitt avenue and Redknap street. There were several proposals submitted but none of them were considered satisfactory. New bids will be called for. The lowest bid is said to have been approximately $37,000. It is planned to build a three story brick and stone structure 90 by 75 feet to cost about $45,000 when completed.

THREE YEARS FOR STEVENS.

Manvel, N. D., Postoffice Robber Gets Off Luckily.

Fargo, N. D., June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Stevens, alias Miller, thinks he got off easily for robbing the postoffice at Manvel, N. D. He said, after receiving sentence, he expected to get ten years, but Judge Reed let him down with only three, in the federal prison at Leavenworth and a fine of $500.

The prisoner made his own plea for clemency, reminding Judge Reed that he had saved the United States a great deal of expense in pleading guilty and also making a lengthy plea on the ground of poor health and because he claimed to have a wife and family living in California.

Patrick Yellow Lodge, charged with introducing liquor onto the Standing Rock Indian reservation, was acquitted by the jury. Yellow Lodge was defended by Attorney Lacy, who was appointed by the court for that purpose. The defendant claimed that the liquor was sold to him after he was on the reservation, and Mr. Lacy worked upon this point to good result.

ROW BOAT RUN DOWN.

Three Girls Have Narrow Escape From Drowning in Mississippi.

Minneapolis, June 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Olga Neseland, aged 19, Emily Neseland, aged 18, and Edna Neseland, aged 21, 725 Seventh avenue south, had a narrow escape from drowning in Lake Harriet Sunday, when their rowboat was run down by a launch.

The gasoline boat struck the smaller craft amidship and the fair occupants were thrown into the water.

Two of the girls were instantly rescued by those in the launch, headed by William McMillan, park commissioner, and Edna was saved just as she was going down for the third time. Her rescuer was a 15-year-old boy, who declined to give his name.

AMBASSADOR'S DAUGHTER MARRIES AN ENGLISHMAN IN PRESENCE OF ROYALTY

London, June 23.—With King Edward and Queen Alexandra smiling approval from their private gallery, Jean Reid, daughter of Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador to England, was married this afternoon, in the chapel royal of St. James palace, to the Hon. John Hubert Ward, brother of the earl of Dudley and equerry in waiting to the king. The ancient chapel, one of the few remains of the old palace of the Tudor, in which Queen Victoria and several of her daughters were married, was prettily decorated with flowers for this, the most fashionable of recent weddings in London.

A great crowd assembled in St. James square to watch the arrival of the bridal party and the king and queen and other members of the royal family, who, by their attendance at the chapel and the subsequent reception at Dorchester House, the city residence of Ambassador Reid, paid a compliment to the American ambassador and his daughter seldom accorded to members of the English nobility. The invitations, which were limited to less than one hundred on account of the small-

PETER WHITE'S WILL MISSING

If He Left Such Document, It Has Not Been Found.

Marquette, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Did the late Hon. Peter White of this city die intestate? Are any public institutions, many of which were recipients of his generosity in his lifetime, to share in his large estate? These are questions, the answers to which are of much interest to Marquette people. To the public in general it seems inconceivable that a man of such important affairs as Peter White left no will formally disposing of his wealth. Yet apparently that is the case. A thorough and systematic search has been fruitless in bringing to light the will, if there is one. The private papers of the deceased have been carefully gone over, safety deposit boxes have been ransacked and inquiries have been made at Detroit and elsewhere where Mr. White had banking and business connections, but so far as known no documents relating to the disposition of the estate have been found. This development is a big surprise to the public in general. Because of the liberality of Mr. White in his lifetime, it had been taken for granted that a fair proportion of the estate would be disbursed in the form of charitable bequests; hence the apparent lack of a will is the occasion of no little disappointment. The search for the missing document—if one has been executed—is still in progress, but it continues with little prospect of success, and with every probability that a special administration of the property will necessarily be undertaken by the probate court. It is not known just how much the estate is worth. However, Mr. White was interested in various banking, mining and other corporations, and it is popularly supposed that his wealth approximated $50,000, possibly more. The only immediate relatives are one daughter, living in the East, and several grandchildren.

JACOBSON HAS A STRONG LEAD

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Both S. P. Snider and M. W. Savage, candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, claim to be the winners in the struggle for the control of Hennepin county's 113 votes in the state convention. Thomas H. Girling, one of Mr. Savage's managers, claims that his candidate will have 300 votes in the convention, or forty more than enough to control, and other Savage partisans claim as high as 375 votes. On the other hand, the Snider managers assert that Girling and his friends have nothing to go on in their claims. They make the claim that Snider will control the convention.

The results indicate that the Savage-Snider contest will not be settled until the county convention meets Thursday. The contest is interesting, mostly because of its bearing on the fight between Young and Jacobson. It had been generally supposed that the faction of Hennepin politics that was back of Snider was friendly to Jacobson, and the Savage faction friendly to Young.

Returns from counties of the state outside of Hennepin indicate that J. F. Jacobson will have a strong lead in the gubernatorial race.

NINE ARE LYNCHED

Were Charged With the Murder of Two White Men.

Houston, Tex., June 23.—During Sunday night, nine negroes met death at the hands of a mob in the vicinity of Hemphill, in Sabin county. Yesterday both races secured arms, and the tension is such that a race clash appears imminent.

The dead: Jerry Evans, aged 22; Will Johnson, aged 24; Mose Spellman, aged 24; Cleveland Williams, aged 27; William Manuel, aged 25; Frank Williams, aged 22; two unknown men; William McCoy.

All the dead are negroes. The lynchings followed the killing of two white men by negroes. Two weeks ago, Hugh Dean and several other white men visited a negro church and schoolhouse, where a dance was in progress, presumably in quest of liquor, it being the custom of some of the negroes to sell whisky during the progress of such affairs. During the evening, Dean was killed and six negroes were held for the killing. At the preliminary examination the evidence tended to show

HEAT KILLS FIVE MORE

Nephew of Potter Palmer Dies From Result of Heat.

Chicago, June 23.—The excessive heat continued today to add to its roll of victims, and before the day was far advanced, had claimed five. Numerous prostrations were reported. One of the first to succumb was Edwin Palmer, a nephew of the late Potter Palmer, and for nineteen years secretary of the Chicago Hotel company. Mr. Palmer died as a result of having been overcome by the heat several days ago. Other deaths reported were:

WILIAM TUNK, 30 years old, a musician, died of heart disease, aggravated by the heat.

GEORGE SHORE, 50 years old, a millwright, overcome yesterday while at work and died today at St. Anthony's hospital.

MRS. ANNA TRAPP, 46 years old, died at her home from heat prostration during the night.

A shower in the early morning promised relief from the torrid temperature of the past two days. The mercury fell 12 degs. within a few minutes, but the break was of short duration, and before noon the temperature at the street level was again in the 90s.

CLUB WOMEN AT BOSTON

Three Thousand Delegates Arrive to Attend Convention.

Boston, June 23.—The streets of Boston were crowded today with visiting clubwomen from all parts of the country, and the arrival of each train added to the number already in the city by hundreds. This great gathering of women, of whom 3,500 are expected as accredited delegates, with possibly twice as many friends, are here for the ninth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs, the opening meeting of which will be held in Symphony hall tonight.

Various arrangement committees met during the day, but, aside from these, there was but one meeting of importance held in connection with the convention. This was the council of presidents, which was held at Chickering hall, at which the duty of the federation toward other national organizations, and vica versa, was discussed, and the biennial report was heard.

REBELLION BREAKS OUT AT SUMATRA.

The Hague, June 23.—A rebellion has broken out at Padang, on the west coast of Sumatra, which has reached alarming proportions. According to telegrams from Batavia, Java, almost the whole native population is reported to have risen under the leadership of fanatical priests. Thirty European settlements, which are spread over a wide area, are threatened, and there are only 2,400 Dutch soldiers available to defend them. Three battles have been fought, resulting in considerable losses on both sides. Preparations are being made to embark all the Dutch women and children from the west coast of Sumatra for places of safety. The dissatisfaction arose over the tax regulations.

GUINEA NATIVES IN OPEN REVOLT

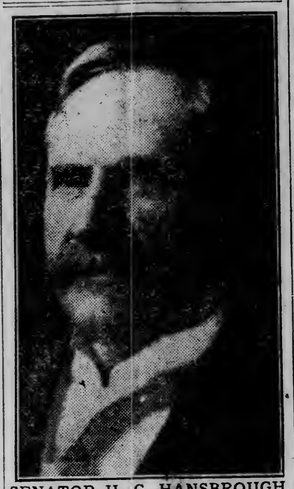

Portuguese Troops Attacked and Europeans Made Prisoners.

Lisbon, June 23.—News has been received here of a serious condition of affairs in Portueguese Guinea. The natives everywhere are reported to be in revolt. Even on the island of Timor, several interior posts have been driven in, settlements have been destroyed and Europeans have been killed or carried off into captivity. The Portuguese troops have taken refuge at Bisseau, where they are surrounded. A French warship has arrived for the protection of French subjects.

The newspapers here attribute the revolt to the cruelties practiced by the troops while collecting the "hut" tax. It is their custom frequently to levy heavy sums and, if payment is refused, to flog the natives, burn the villages and sometimes capture the wives and children of rich chiefs and hold them for ransom. A chief of the Coulage tribe started the revolt by seizing a sergeant and seven Portuguese troopers, decapitating them and displaying their heads on poles.

Anxiety is felt for the Europeans captured, as the natives are cannibals. After a recent engagement, the troops observed the natives devouring one of their own dead.

ALL FOUR CANDIDATES FOR SENATOR IN NORTH DAKOTA CLAIM VICTORY

Marshall, Little and Johnson Fighting for Hansbrough's Place.

Hansbrough's Friends Claim He Will Win in Wednesday's Election.

Grand Forks, N. D. June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—An election campaign which must go down in the political history of North Dakota as the most bitter ever conducted will be closed tonight, and tomorrow the long looked for election, in which party nominees for national and state officers are to be named, will take place. It will be the first primary election under the new state law, which places the power of selection of party candidates in the hands of the people, and the first one in which the name of a candidate for the United States senate, to be selected by the state legislature, will be indorsed. The greatest fight has been for the Republican nominations, the Democrats bending all their efforts towards getting out the requisite number of voters that their party may have a ticket in the general election next fall.

Overshadowing all other party contests, that for the indorsement to the position of United States senator comes to a close with all four candidates claiming victory. Each of the

PRESIDENT IS REFUSED

President Eliot Says They Were Guilty of Dishonorable Conduct.

New York, June 23.—A special dispatch from Boston to the Tribune says: Despite the appeal of President Roosevelt and Assistant Secretary of State Robert Bacon, Fish and Morgan, the two crew men suspended for violating the rule against removing books from the Harvard reference library, will not be permitted to row in the Yale-Harvard boat race. President Roosevelt made a personal appeal to President Eliot by telegraph as soon as he heard of the suspension, but he met with a curt refusal from the Harvard executive to make any change in the ruling.

AN INJUNCTION FOR HITCHCOCK

New York, June 23.—Raymond Hitchcock, whose first appearance on the stage since his recent trial was made at the New Circle theater last night in "The Merry Go Round," was served with an injunction obtained by Henry W. Savage, based on alleged breach of contract, and restraining him from further appearances with the New Circle production. Mr. Savage, Arthur Tams, Karl Schmidt and Marie Klaw claim that Hitchcock is under the contract with them up to 1910. The writ is returnable today before Judge Holt in the United States district court.

JAMES S. SHERMAN, VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, TAKEN ILL AT CLEVELAND

Had Severe Attack of Chills Early Tuesday Morning.

An Operation for Gall Stones May Become Necessary.

Cleveland, June 23.—The illness of Congressman James S. Sherman, Republican nominee for vice president, who has ben ill here at the residence of ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick since Sunday, assumed a serious phase early today, when the patient suffered a severe chill. Mr. Sherman's illness, which at first was diagnosed as a billious attack, now turns out to have been caused by gall stones. Upon the advice of Doctors Allen and Carter, who were called to attend the patient, he was removed to Lakeside hospital. An operation may later be performed, but this step has not yet been fully decided upon. It was stated today that Mr. Sherman suffered no ill effects as a result of his journey from Mr. Herrick's residence to the hospital, which was made in an invalid carriage.

Mr. Herrick, this morning, communicated with Mrs. Sherman over the long distance telephone. She was

CAN FIND NO PRECEDENT

The Possible Inability of Sherman to Run Causes Interest.

Washington, June 23.—So far as is known here no power is vested in the Republican national committee to fill a vacancy on the presidential or vice presidential ticket that might occur between the date of the nominating convention and the first Tuesday in November following, when the people by their votes determine the status of the candidates, either by rejecting them at the polls or by conferring upon them the titles of president and vice president elect. A hasty study of the precedents shows that no emergency has arisen in the history of the Republic such as would result from the death or retirement of one of the candidates before election day.

Of course there can be no statutory law on the subject because, after all, not only the national committees, but the conventions that create them are extra official—they have no standing in law. Therefore, there is nothing to prevent a committee from filling a vacancy on a ticket—that is, no law of prohibition—but, of course, that committee would be answerable to the outraged sense of the great party which it represented. It has been suggested in the past that the committee be authorized to fill a vacancy in the event that one of the persons named as a candidate on the ticket should decline the honor, but that after all would be a clear case of delegated

TO DENVER IN AUTOMOBILES

Chicago, June 23.—Escorted at the start by a squad of mounted police an automobile train, containing twenty guests of National Committeeman Roger C. Sullivan of Illinois, who are going as delegates to the national convention left today for Denver. The train consists of five touring cars incldng the car which recently conveyed the war message from New York to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The party expects to reach Dixon, Ill., this evening where a reception and dinner will be given by the citizens of that city. Tomorrow the tourists will proceed to Cedar Rapids, Ia., and will be met by a delegation headed by Mayor Carmody.

RESULTS OF DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES IN IOWA.

Des Moines Ia., June 23.—The Democrats of Iowa cast almost 60,000 votes in their recent primary. It had been expected that the party vote would be light as there were no Democratic contests either on state or county tickets. The official Claude R. Porter, the only Democratic candidate for United States senator, received 47,877 votes in ninety-six counties and that Fred White, the only Democratic candidate for governor, received 49,075 votes in ninety-seven counties.

JONES TO BE DEAN.

New Haven, Conn., June 23.—In the course of his annual report, submitted today to the governing body of Yale university, President Hadley announces as "an event of the highest importance," the selection of Prof. Frederic Scheetz Jones of the University of Minnesota to succeed Prof. Wright as dean of the college. Prof. Jones will assume his duties at the close of the xent academic year.

TWO MURDERED; BODIES BURNED

Atrocious Killing of Somber, N. D., Postmaster and Young Niece.

St. Paul, June 23.—A special to the Dispatch from Bottineau, N. D., says: Frank Siedel, postmaster at Somber, in the Turtle mountains, an old bachelor and wealthy, and his 16-year-old niece, were murdered in cold blood, and their home, in which they kept a little store, burned over their bodies. The girl's body was charred beyond recognition. Some half-breeds have been prowling through that community for some time, and they are suspected. The authorities are now scouring the mountains searching for them. Robbery was evidently the motive for the crime, as Siedel was supposed to keep his money about him.

HUMAN BODY STOPS A CAR

New York, June 23.—The finding of parts of a human body scattered for miles along the tracks of the Desbrosses street trolley line today, revealed what may be a diabolical addition to New York's crime annals. The hands were found where the line crosses the Williamsburg bridge and the legs at the Desbrosses street ferry in Manhattan, over four miles away, while the mutilated torso was picked up on the bridge over Kent avenue. So disfigured were the face and body that there was no means of identification. The police were in doubt today whether the victim was accidentally struck and cut to pieces by a trolley car on the Williamsburg bridge or was murdered. One theory is that the man was murdered and then placed on the tracks on the Williamsburg bridge so that the body would be mutilated beyond recognition, and thus cover up the crime. The only clue to the identity of the victim is that he had black hair and was of athletic build.

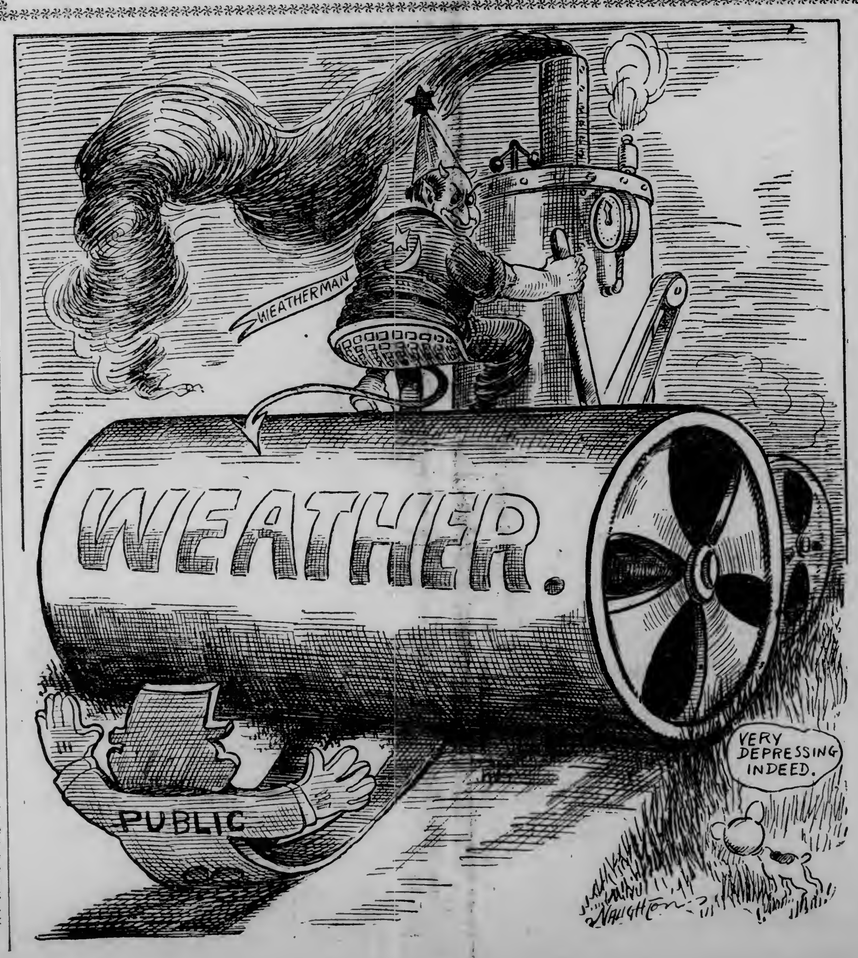

The tragedy was not discovered until a trolley car on the Desbrosses line was stalled at the ferry and inspection revealed that the parts of a human body were wound around the gearing.

TO ENFORCE LAWS.

American Coasting Vessels Cannot Carry Any More Freight to Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., June 23.—American vessels will hereafter be excluded from the coasting trade of Canada on the Pacific. For some years the coasting laws of Canada have been suspended as far as the Pacific coast is concerned, owing to the fact that there was not enough Canadian and British tonnage to fill trade requirements. American boats have done a large and profitable business between Seattle and Nome, carrying between such ports as Vancouver, Victoria and Skagway. It has been decided by the government that there is enough British and Canadian tonnage on the coast to look after the trade, and the same coasting regulation has been put into force for the Pacific coast as applies to the Atlantic. After Aug. 1, Canadian goods cannot be carried in bond from an American port on the Pacific to a Canadian port unless the water carriage is by a Canadian or British registered vessel.

RICH ROAST FOR FISHER

"You are a contemptible, villainous coward. If you had visited the house with intent to burglarize, the offense would not have been one-half so bad. I sentence you to serve sixty days in the county jail."

With these words, Judge Windom, in municipal court this morning, disposed of the case of the city against Alec Fisher, charged with disorderly conduct. Upon his own admission, it was shown that the man visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sanders, Seventh avenue east and Second street, and attempted to make it appear to the husband that Mrs. Sanders, a young and pretty woman, was a person of doubtful reputation. Reputable witnesses assert that Fisher was prompted to do this by a man who, because of being a rejected suitor, is attempting to break up the happy home of the Sanders.

The man and his wife have been in this country only about two years. They are Russian Jews. The story goes that the man who started the slander was in love with the woman in the case, then a mere girl of 16 years, in the old country. She rejected his love for that of Sanders, and the disappointed suitor could not take his defeat gracefully. Evidence introduced in court this morning went to show that he had spread the story that Mrs. Sanders was a woman of loose habits, and that he had incited Fisher to visit the Sanders home at 2 o'clock last Tuesday night, in a half-drunken condition, and demand entrance.

Fisher admits visiting the place last Tuesday, but denied that he paid similar visits the night previous and the night following, although Mrs. Sanders, who is now only about 18 years old, said he was seen on the premises three successive nights, and that he roughly demanded entrance, by pounding on the doors and windows, on each occasion. She was borne out in these statements by two witnesses who live in a neighboring house.

When these witnesses came to the door, attracted by the noise, and when the husband appeared on the scene, Fisher made statements very damaging to the woman's character. The city authorities have carefully investigated the case, and declare that not a word of suspicion has been breathed against Mrs. Sanders, except by the one man in question, who will be arrested for slander. They say her character is irreproachable.

The man seems to have been intent upon breaking up the Sanders family, and one report he is said to have spread almost caused the disruption of another family. It was to the effect that Mrs. Sanders had been living with the husband of another woman. This story was found to be absolutely without foundation.

For the Picnic Person.

Summer camping and picnic lunches are sometimes hard to provide. There are, however, a number of palatable dishes that are always acceptable and easy to provide. Nut-meats, fancy crackers and numerous canned meats are advisable, as well as canned vegetables. If the water supply is doubtful or uncertain, it is wise to include a few bottles of golden grain belt beer—as thirst is sure to overtake the camping or picnic party. This is a pure, nutritious beverage and will prove a refreshing addition to the menu of the tired pleasure-seeker. Duluth branch, Minneapolis Brewing company.

DECISION IMPORTANT

Much interest has been manifested all over the city concerning the decision that Judge Dibell handed down yesterday in the Max Bahr case. The decision is important for the reason that it invalidates the city ordinance of Duluth relative to the violations of liquor traffic. The case will be carried by the city authorities to the supreme court on an appeal by E. J. Kenney, assistant city attorney.

The matter was brought before Judge Dibell, in district court, by habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Bahr who had been fined in municipal court for keeping the St. James hotel bar open after hours. He refused to pay his fine and was arrested in default of payment.

If the district court ruling is affirmed it is likely that an attempt will be made to have a new set of ordinances drawn governing the liquor traffic. Meanwhile prosecutions will have to be taken under the state law, which cover the same ground.

Bahr, through his attorney M. H. McMahon, attacked the validity of the ordinance providing for a fine and imprisonment. The ordinance states that a person convicted of violating its terms may be fined not to exceed $100 and imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed 90 days. It is claimed and held that where both a fine and imprisonment are provided for, a prisoner is entitled to a jury trial.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Reach No Agreement.

No conclusion was reached in the conference at the mayor's office yesterday relative to an agreement on the Third street viaduct, above the bridge an Lamborn avenue. Both matters were discussed at length. The city is anxious to have the viaduct erected and the railroad interests say they will build it if the city will pay its proportion of the cost. On this point the city and the railroad people disagree. The city is willing to pay one-fourth the cost but the railroad company thinks that is not enough.

Council Provides Funds.

The council, last evening, voted to transfer $25,000 from the saloon license fund to the account of the school board, providing funds to be applicable on the construction of the new high school building. The board already has $25,000 on hand which with the $25,000 provided from the license fund will warrant the board in advertising for bids and getting the work started. It is estimated that $75,000 will be sufficient to take care of the work until the 1908 taxes are collected. The council will see that the remaining $25,000 is forthcoming when necessary and the balance of the funds needed will be available in two years, when the building is to be completed.

WANTS TO SEE HER MOTHER

"I am pining my life away for just one kiss from my dear mamma and little brother, and please, chief, find them for me."

This is a portion of a letter received by Chief Troyer from Annie Erland, a 17-year-old girl, who was deserted by her parents in Duluth and was cared for by the Children's home.

In the letter she wrote to the chief, she tells of how her mother, whose husband was a mail carrier, allowed her to be adopted, so that she could marry again. What became of her brother the girl does not know. She states that she was 5 years old when this occurred. Her brother was two years older than she.

The girl pleads for a sight of her mother and brother. She resides now at 2065 Commonwealth avenue, St. Anthony Park, St. Paul. The detectives have traced the parents up to 1897, when Mrs. Erland lived at 293 East Fourth street and Erland lived at 1712 West Third street. They have been working on the case today and will send the girl the first information they can find of her parents and brother.

POWERS' INJURIES FATAL.

Hibbing Switchman, Injured by Cars, Passes Away.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. M. Powers, better known as "Bud" Powers, the young switchman who was run over by the cars at the Hull pit, is dead of his injuries. He died at the Road hospital.

He was about 22 and unmarried. His body is being shipped to Ishpeming, Mich., his home, where his parents still live, for interment. The young man once had a brother living in this locality, but so far as known he was not present when the unfortunate man died.

RAILROADS

NEW ROAD IS BOOMING

Traffic over the new road to Winnipeg has surpassed the expectations of the traffic managers of the Duluth Missabe & Northern and the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg. Through fares are increasing daily, while the sale of tickets for intermediate points has been heavy since the first train was run through to Winnipeg.

The most noticeable change that has been brought about by the completion of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg through to the boundary is the number of people who are daily coming to Duluth from Ashawa, Pelican Lake and the small stations that lie between Virginia and Fort Francis. These people are coming to Duluth to make purchases, and they are the people who will build up the trade between Duluth and the country through which the road passes.

Reports from the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg state that the freight receipts have been materially increased since the opening of the link between Winnipeg and this city. Duluth freight is being sent to the little stations beyond Virginia and, according to the belief of the railroad men, it won't be very long before generous consignments of Duluth freight will be shipped through to Winnipeg.

Several of the Duluth jobbing houses are regularly sending men up into the newer territory and, according to reports received through the railroads, the sale of Duluth goods in the territory beyond Virginia has been very good. The Herald predicted some time ago that the opening of the new road would be the means of opening a territory rich in trade possibilities, and the prediction seems to be borne out by the results already obtained.

BUSINESS LIGHT.

It looks at the present time as if the present month will record even less cars tracked at the Head of the Lakes terminals than was the case last month. In May 23,343 cars were tracked in the Duluth and Superior terminals. It was believed that June would see a general increase in business. But the record made so far this month is behind that of May, according to information given this morning, and unless business shows an improvement from this time on June will be one of the lean months in the freight business.

So small has the business been in the office of the Lake Superior Car Service association that it has been found necessary to lay off one of the clerks. There is not sufficient work to keep the office force busy. Until the grain begins to move there seems little likelihood of a heavy increase in freight business.

THE INVISIBLE DEATH

The Atmosphere is Full of Countless Germs Which Await an Opening to Work Destruction.

Do you realize that the cause of nearly all disease is found right in the air you take into your lungs? If by neglect or wrong living you weaken your system, these germs will instantly take advantage of it.

If you carefully take some of the mucous from the Pharynx of a Diphtheria patient, spread it onto a slide and put it under a microscope to be magnified 1,000 times, you will find millions of Diphtheria Germs in less space than that of a pin's point. These and all other germs live on the blood or other tissues of the patient; multiply very rapidly any secret poison which, if the resistant power of the man is not strong enough, will kill the patient. All germs increase and multiply at a rate unknown to any other form of life—one or two having found a weak spot in your system, a few hours will find countless billions, each occupied in tearing down your tissues faster than the body can build them up.

Some germs are extrtmely slow in the poisoning effect, but in their course of long living, are just as dangerous to wreck the health and life of men. Of the quickly killing germs, are those of Diphtheria, Pneumonia, Smallpox, Lockjaw and cholera. Those of the lowly killing type are the germs of Consumption, Blood Poison, Syphilis, Gonorrhea and Gleet. These are most horrible in their consequences if the cure is neglected. In Consumption the lungs are eaten up, in Syphilis, in the first stage, the disease heals apparently, but in its second stage ulcers break out on the legs or any part of the body, a man takes a few treatments and the sores heal up and he is under the impression that he is cured, but the most horrible of all diseases appear. In the third stage locomotor ataxia, where he cannot live nor die. Death comes to all, but to most of us a little scientific knowledge would postpone the day by many a year; it is this lack of knowledge and careless neglect that sweeps away thousands every year. A little cold is not much, but it is weakening your system and laying it open to the attack of the deadly germs of Consumption. A great many people think that Gonorrhea will "cure itself" if one is in a healthy condition; no greater mistake was ever made, the germs cause decay of the tissues and stricture follows in later years or the disease goes into the blood and causes rheumatism, bladder disease, kidney trouble, heart and skin disease. Often a man never had any disease to his knowledge and thinks he can never get sick. He forgets that the human body, by wrong living, needs repairs as well as anything else, and if this is neglected, he will die many a year before his time is up. There is just one place where you can get a cure in Duluth, and that is by the Progressive Medical Specialists. If you have any chronic diseases, they are the people to cure you, because they have spent their life and labor getting the knowledge for the cure of these diseases of men. They extend their cordial invitation to you sick men to consult them free of charge. Come from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1. No. 1 West Superior Street.

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"The Undertow."

"THE UNDERTOW."

Strong Political Play Well Presented by Stock Company.

Frenzied politics and a hero with ideals held sway at the Lyceum last evening when the Mack-Leone stock company appeared in a strong political play of modern life, "The Undertow," by Eugene Walter.

That the ideal is a strong factor in the emotional part of everybody's nature is proven at any play when the hero with ideals is arrayed against wealth, and power and influence for when he comes out triumphant with the aid of the misjaid paper, it is amid thunderous applause from the gallery, family circle, dress circle and parquet.

"The Undertow" is a virile political play on the lines of "The Man of the Hour" and Duluth's stock company is presenting it with force. Considering that last evening's performance was a first night the smoothness of the performance is remarkable. Mr. Mack as Richard Wells, chairman of the committee of seventy and the hero with ideals gives a splendid performance. Aside from a rather proilfic use of "damns" there is little to find fault with in his work.

Mr. Mack was ably supported by his fine company. Miss Helen Holmes although she has a small part, was as gracious and charming as usual and brought to the character the repose and sweet dignity which has marked her work in the city. As the reporter in the first act, for whom the managing editor had time, just before the last of the paper had gone to press on election night, to stop and place a chair, and to listen to her chatter prettily about the returns, she supplied an understandable reason for the devotion of Mr. Wells. Miss Holmes does many things well. Among them is making an exit. She goes to a door and walks through, just as people do in real life without that foolish and absolutely inane backward languishing look which is so often a never omitted part of a stage departure.

The roles of the mayor and political bosses and reporters and editors and presidents and capitalists were well taken by the supporting company. And who do you suppose the office boy was who picked up the wrong paper at the right time? Why the same youth who between acts just coaxes you to have some "Chalkilts, bon-bons, chewing gum or candy."

To find fault at all, however, is like chewing pills—an unnecessary trouble. The play is one of absorbing interest and is well given.

HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE.

The threatening weather did not spell small audiences for the Bijou last evening, and those present enjoyed one of the best bills the popular vaudeville theater has volunteered for inspection in many weeks. The acts are sufficiently diversified to give almost everyone something to enthuse over, and taken as a whole, the program is a very strong one.

"In Capt. Barnacle's Courtship," Alf James and Kate Pryor have a lively comedy sketch, replete with witty dialogue and clever stage business. They were the recipients of a large measure of the applause last night.

Alice Robinson is possessed of a pleasing personality and a more pleasing voice, and her number, which she gives alone, is one of the hits of the evening. Isadore Silver, also, is heard in a new song, which is accompanied by some remarkably clear colored pictures.

The Pantzer trio offer a clever gymnastic turn that is bound to please.

They introduce some comic novelties in their act, which furnishes about fifteen minutes of amusement.

"The Good Ship Nancy Lee" is the title of the musical sketch by Gilroy, Haynes & Montgomery. The sketch was offered in Duluth last year and left a splendid impression at that time. It has been brought up-to-date, new songs having been introduced. It is one of the best musical sketches on the vaudeville stage at the present time, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audiences last evening.

Jules Garrison has been doing travesties for many years and there is no branch of the art that he does not have at his finger tips. This season he is assisted by Miss Mamie Evans, and they give Garrison's skit, "A Modern Roman," very well.

Don & Thompson have a good singing and talking act, in which they spring a number of new jokes, and the moving pictures are most interesting.

No Need of Suffering From Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

Sturdy Children

If we want sturdy and strong children we must feed them on healthy food, and eliminate the elements of disease from their dietary.

WHEAT FLAKE CELERY
FOOD

is the one food upon which every cell of the body can be built up, so if the children are allowed to eat it we may rightly hope that they will have sturdy, strong and healthy bodies. Dr. Price's Food is prepared so as to retain all the nutritive value of wheat—palatable, easily digested and assimilated. 224

CONCERNING WOMAN.

The most important series of lectures which have been presented to Duluth club women in many years will be the series which will be given by Dr. Nathanial Rubenkan of Chicago before the members of the Twentieth Century club of this city. The executive board of the club has arranged for a series of twelve lectures, to be given during the month of October, in three courses of four lectures each. The morning lectures will be given Wednesday mornings of that month, the dates to be Oct. 7, 14, 21 and 28. The subjects to be discussed at these meetings will be "Peer Gynt," "The Doll's House," and "Rosmersholm," all three by Ibsen, and upon the last morning Hauptmann's "The Sunken Bell" will be discussed by Dr. Rubenham.

Friday afternoons, Oct. 2, 9, 16 and 23 will be devoted to discussion of "Brand," by Ibsen, and "The Pillars of Society," by the same author. "Widowers' Houses" and "Man and Superman," both by George Bernard Shaw, will be the subject of the last two of the Friday afternoon talks.

A course of Monday evening lectures will be given Oct. 5, a comparison of the characters of John the Baptist of the Bible, Sudermann's "Johannes," and the Wilde-Strauss "Salome," will be given by the noted scholar. The following Monday evening a comparison of George Bernard Shaw's "Anthony and Cleopatra," and Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," and "Anthony and Cleopatra" will be given. "Walt Whitman," the poet of America, will be the subject of the third Monday evening's talk, and the concluding lecture of this series will be "The Dramatists of the Nineteenth Century."

Although there may be some slight changes in this selected list, the courses will be in great part as given.

Afternoon Tea.

Miss Elsie Prudden will entertain Thursday afternoon at her home, 16 West Third street, in honor of her guest, Miss Ruth Hermann, of Minneapolis, and of Miss Margaret Wallace of Superior, who will be a bride of next month.

Morning Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Katherine Fiebiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fiebiger of 1412 East Second street, to Dr. Joseph Kuth, will take place tomorrow morning at St. Anthony's Catholic church. The solemn high mass will be celebrated at 8:30 o'clock, and the marriage service will be read by Father Limmer. The bride will have as her only attendant her sister, Miss Rose Fiebiger, and the groomsman will be G. Kuth of St. Paul.

On Wedding Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edward Ober are in the city on their wedding trip, the guests of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Ober of Lester Park. Their wedding took place Saturday at Dellwood, White Bear Lake. Before her marriage the bride was Miss Helen Coffin, and she is known in Duluth, where she taught school a few years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Ober will go later to Butte, Mont., where they will be at home.

The Sewing School.

The members of the West End Sewing school, which meets in St. Luke's Episcopal church, at Nineteenth avenue west and First street, will be given an ice cream treat Wednesday, at 3:30 p. m. All of the pupils in the morning and afternoon classes are invited.

The summer sessions of the school are being held Wednesday, instead of Saturday. The morning class meets at 10:30 o'clock, and is open to all children from 4 to 8 years. The teachers desire that the mothers of the West end will send their younger children, as well as the older ones, for instruction.

Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the Missionary societies of the First Methodist church, which was to have been held Friday afternoon of this week with Mrs. Watson S. Moore of East First street, has been indefinitely postponed.

Surprise Party.

Miss Lillian Monaghan entertained at a surprise party last evening at her home 218 Twelfth avenue east, in honor of Miss Alice Burgher. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by the following guests:

THE JUNE BRIDE.

The Happiest Human Being in the Cosmos.

The law of compensation is eternal, inevitable and invariable. One man's gain is ever some other man's loss. That the pirate plutocrat may eat cold storage wild ducks and die of ptomaine poisoning, the lowly literary man must subsist upon the atmospheric gases and perish of nutritional insufficiency. That there may be proud, heaven-kissing Democrats, there must be a horde of misguided Republicans. That going to heaven may be difficult enough to make it attractive there must be a numerous population in the other place. The boy who can spell the hardest words is usually cursed with thin legs, translucent ears and congenital asthma. The man with a tame liver is often insolvent, says the Baltimore Sun.

All of these philosophic thoughts are suggested by the case of the June bride. She is by immense odds the happiest human being in the illimitable cosmos. As the first notes of Mendelssohn's Wedding March strike her enchanted ears and she turns from the altar to march in triumph down the Aisle of Sighs—her snared and frightened Clarence on her arm and the nervous glances of her friends focussed upon her—she is as proud as thrice 10,000 conquerors. Her smile is ecstatic; her eyes glitter with gorgeous joy. Otherwhere and in otherwise human happiness never scaled such stupendous pinnacles. Compared to a June bride, the man who has just drawn four aces in a poker game seems like a melancholiac on the verge of self-destruction. Beside her subdued but hearty chuckle the loudest laugh of Frank C. Wachter sounds like the shrill shriek of a lost soul.

But there must be suffering to make up for all this virulent felicity. The law of compensation must take its grisly toll. There must be a tear for every snicker, a groan for every grin. And in accordance with the cruel jurisprudence which nature enforces the account is balanced, not by the June bride herself, but by others. In after years her husband may hold her down to four hats a year, and she may have to fight staggering battles with refractory cooks, but all of these pains and burdens will weigh but lightly against her one moment of infinite joy. The account must be squared by others.

Who are these others? The answer is simple. They are all the human beings whose orbits cross hers—her parents and blood kin to the fourth degree, her friends and acquaintances, her bridesmaids, her dressmakers and, last and least, the uncomplaining martyr she has married—innocent bystanders all. They must suffer that she may have her triumphal progress down the Hymeneal boulevard. They must all groan and grovel in their agonies that she may exult and smile.

Consider, for instance, the poor bridegroom. As he turns from the altar and begins that harrowing march, his face is as white as chalk. He shakes at the knees; his hands tremble; his eyes are dull and fishy. He is clad in hot, uncomfortable clothes; he is shaved so close that his face stings; his gloves are too tight; he is thinking of the enormous expenses that await him upon his wedding trip. Thus he suffers diabolically that the darling of his heart may be glad.

And behold the wedding guests in the pews, who stare and twist their necks! Are they happy? Not at all, gentle brethren! They are thinking of the wedding gifts they have been forced to buy and of the agreeable things they might have bought with the money if there had been no wedding. The fair ones among them are meditating upon the gross injustice which permits such a shallow, waspish person as the bride to be married in state, while they themselves, ten times more meritorious, must groan in single unblessedness. The bridesmaids, walking behind the bride, pierce her with glares of envy, and even their fine chance to flirt with the ushers seems hollow and a mocking. The bride's father, perspiring on the mourner's bench, ponders upon dollars and cents, creditors, duns and referees in bankruptcy. By the time he has paid for the wedding he will be 125 years old and dead many years. The bride's mother, elate and relieved because her long campaign is over and the victory won, is tortured by the conventional need to make a show of weeping. As she gazes upon the bridegroom her natural impulse is to jump up and huzzah, but etiquette condemns her to turn her eyes from the thrilling spectacle and bury her face in her handkerchief. Even the minister is far from happy. He has not yet received his honorarium; he is obsessed by the fear that it may be only $4, and he would rather be out at the baseball game, anyhow.

Thus the world suffers that the June bride may ascend into the seventh heaven. Thus the human race pays the freight upon ther surpassing joy.

On Feeding Cats.

As soon as kittens have learned to lap milk they can be taken from the mother. The early feeding of a kitten is very important. Many half-grown cats are troubled with fits. Because of this, some people say that they cannot raise a cat, and it is a prevalent notion that fits are caused by raw meat. They are much more often caused by overfeeding and wrong foods. Raw food—particularly meat—is the natural diet of the cat tribe. Do not give a cat three heavy meals a day, advises Country Life in America. A young kitten should be fed a little warm milk every few hours, and as it grows bigger and eats more at a time, the intervals between the feedings should be lengthened. When the kitten is eating about four times a day, begin to introduce solids into its diet at the night feeding. An animal always sleeps after a heavy meal, so that night is the time to give this meal, and then the cat is livelier during the day. Begin with cereals or cooked vegetables. Cats like such vegetables as sweet corn, asparagus, cold potatoes, squash and spinach. Then gradually lead up to raw fish and meat.

A full-grown cat should have as much milk in the morning as it wants, and no other food until night, when it should be fed all the raw fish or meat that it will eat, and before being put into its bed it should be given a drink of milk. A kitten brought up on this diet should make a fine, healthy cat, with a luxuriant coat. Some cats are very fond of liver, lobster, shellfish, canned salmon and sardines, though the two latter should be given sparingly, as they are very rich. Some cats cannot eat shellfish, as it produces nausea, and also sometimes causes an eruption around the head and neck akin to manage.

Some cats are never known to touch water, while others require it constantly. In very hot weather if you find your cat lying under a bush in the yard, panting like a dog, with his tongue dripping, he is not mad; but he is simply sweating and will probably be very glad of a drink of water.

A cat's milk dish should be kept clean and sweet, and he should not be expected to drink milk that has stood a long time in his dish. Some cats will go hungry rather than drink sour milk. Then, too, care must be taken to prevent your cat from eating tainted meat. For a few cents any butcher will send with the daily order, scraps of fresh meat for your cat. Keep catnip on hand and give a cat a little once or twice a week. When one cannot procure fresh catnip, packages especially for cats are kept at bird stores.

Household Hints.

To purify water drop a little charcoal into it.

Clean a chocolate grater by grating a bit of stale bread, not by washing.

In poaching eggs, stir the water till it is whirling rapidly. Then drop your eggs in quickly and the edges will be round and smooth.

A useful kitchen salt-shaker may be made of a can with holes made in the lid. The holes may be made with small nails, tacks or darning needles.

To wash dishcloths, use water containing a little ammonia. Also put a small amount of ammonia into the water with which you scrub linoleum.

A mixture of kerosene and ammonia cleans porcelain bath tubs and sinks instantly, and does not injure them, as gritty or acid substances do.

Boil grimy, old pans and utensils in soft water with plenty of soap in it. Let them remain in the hot water a half hour. Then wash and dry thoroughly.

If the clock needs cleaning, put a piece of cotton saturated with kerosene on the floor of it, and the fumes arising will loosen the dirt and give the wheels a new lease on life.

To remove a stopper from a bottle, hold it in the hinge of a door, slowly move the door until it takes hold of the stopper; then turn the bottle. This will loosen a glass stopper without breaking it.

CLASSMATE OF SHERMAN'S.

Fergus Falls Man Fellow Student of Vice Presidential Candidate.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 23—James S. Sherman, the Republican candidate for vice president, was a college classmate of W. L. Parsons, an attorney of this city, the two men graduating from the law department of Hamilton college at the same time. Elihu Root's father and brother were professors of mathematics at Hamilton, and Secretary Root has always been one of Sherman's staunchest friends, and has assisted him materially in his political career. Mr. Parsons describes Mr. Sherman as hard headed, well balanced and opposed to shams. He does not consider him much of a refermer, but says he was always regarded as a man with an unusually large fund of common sense.

CIRCUS HAD HARD LUCK

Hagenbeck-Wallace Show a Bedraggled Aggregation When It Left.

Performance Created Favorable Impression Despite Conditions.

The Hagenbeck & Wallace circus has gone.

After a very strenuous day yesterday, the show people succeeded in loading all their stuff early this morning and took themselves off to Superior, where they are exhibiting today, under much more favorable weather auspices than they enjoyed in Duluth.

Getting away from the lot last night was a task which taxed the strength of the famous Wallace gray horses and the patience of the employes. The heavy wagons sank deep into the mud on the fair grounds or were buried to their axles in some slimy street, on the way to the trains, which waited in the yards at Fifth avenue west.

Arriving Sunday morning, looking spick and span, the circus had a very bedraggled appearance when it pulled out last night. Sunday the weather was nice and the circus managers glowed with pleasure at the prospect of two gigantic audiences on the following day. The circus would have had them, too, if the weather had been better.

In spite of the collapse of the big tent in the afternoon and the muddy condition of the ground, a large number of Duluthians ventured forth to the performance given last evening under the murky clouds.

After the "big top" collapsed at the opening of the afternoon performance yesterday, the seats were readjusted, the sidewalls put up and a performance given. It started about 4 o'clock and all those who were in the tent before the crash, and some who were not, were admitted without question by the circus management. Anyone who said they had been in before, was admitted at the front door.

The top of the big tent was not put up again after the blowdown. The afternoon and evening performances were given in the open air.

It was a large good natured crowd which attended the evening performance. The sky was threatening and the mud was deep, but the enthusiasm of the audience could not be drowned.

Men and women scrambled through mud puddles and splashed through pools of water to the circus seats and took in every bit of the performance, which was very meritorious considering the difficulties which beset the circus folk.

At about the middle of the evening performance, however, a long, forbidding black cloud could be plainly seen sweeping over from the west and it was the cue for about half the audience to hike for the street cars and carriages which waited at the entrance of the show grounds.

The circus people yelled to the crowds that the performance was not yet half over; that many of the best acts were yet to come, and reminded the people that they should stay and hear the concert, but many of the auditors could not be held, and rushed pell-mell for out of doors.

It happened that the black cloud did not bring forth a down-pour, so those who remained saw the rest of the show without getting wet. With the black sky for a "big top," the polar bears wrestled and drank beer; the tigers jumped through flaming hoops to the backs of prancing horses, and the clowns cracked jokes and swatted each other with slapsticks as if everything was as usual. It could be plainly seen that, with conditions more fit, the Hagenbeck-Wallace people could have given a splendid circus performance. Their acts were novel and wonderful, many of them, and the entire show seemed to be carried on a high plane of excellence.

There were many funny sights on the grounds last night. To get to the street cars everybody waded miniature lakes, climbed fences, and some (men) swore under their breaths. One woman stepped off a small embankment into a deep mud hole and had to be extricated by her friends. Her dress, when she fell in, was white.

Another woman got stuck in the deep mud and was obliged to leave one of her low shoes there. She was anxious to catch a car, and she did not let the stalled Oxford detain her.

After the collapse of the big tent in the afternoon, the circus men picked up a basket or two of umbrellas, handkerchiefs, coats, rubbers, one or two discarded skirts and numerous other articles which the people left behind in their wild desire to get out from under the drooping canvas.

"It was a most fortunate thing that the tent did not collapse a few moments later than it did, for the introductory pageant would have been in progress and some of the animals might have stampeded, causing considerable loss of life," said C. E. Corey, manager of the circus. "When the tent began to sway we gave orders to the waiting drivers ot dismount, and the parade was held up.

"We lost several thousand dollars yesterday, but it is a great satisfaction for us to know that no one was hurt and that everyone got safely out of the tent. Accidents like the blowing down of a tent are things which happen now and then, but they seldom have very disastrous results."

LIVED BY STEALING

Two Members of Spirit Lake Gang Captured by Officers.

One of Men Attacks Sergeant Wilcox, But is Overcome.

Two men, supposed to be members of a gang of five picturesque bandits, who have been camping in the hills beyond West Duluth and burglarizing the homes of farmers of the Spirit Lake district for the past five weeks, were arrested at an early hour this morning by Sergeant Wilcox and Patrolman Ex of the West Duluth police. The men gave their names as H. A. Harvey and Abe Larnce, and said that there were three more in their party, one of whom is Edward Williams.

The capture of the men and the stories of the life they have been leading since they came from Chicago read like penny-dreadful literature.

Three farmers, Albert Swenson, Matt Amundson and Tom McCater, lost nearly all their provisions Sunday. Christ Mortenson, Charles Lindquist and M. Jacoby, have all been victims of the gang. In each case the thieves only took eatables. At Swenson's home they chloroformed the dog so that they could break into the house without being disturbed.

The two officers went to the place where they had been notified that the gang were camping at 3 o'clock this morning. They located the place by the smoke that curled above the trees, between Ironton and West Duluth not far from the Thompson road. They surprised Harvey and Larnce, who were lying with a large revolver on the ground between them. Sergeant Wilcox pointed a revolver at them and they surrendered without resistance. But while the officers were putting on the handcuffs, Larnce on some plea, freed himself and leaped at Sergeant Wilcox. Wilcox was on his guard, and grasped the bandit about the waist. They fell together and rolled down the hillside into the brush. After the officer had struck Larnce a couple of times in the face, the bad man cried for quarter and Wilcox lead him peacefully to the awaiting wagon.

At the camp was food of all descriptions, butter, eggs, bread, bacon, jelly, pickles and sugar. The gang had cached it in the woods, where they could find it as they needed it.

Wilcox and Ek had been searching the woods for the thieves all day Sunday, until early Monday morning. When they came in this morning with the two captives, they were wet from head to foot, from crawling through the woods and lying in ambush for the gang.

The two men at the station said they came from Chicago about five weeks ago and had been hanging around up the river ever since. "You know how it is," said Larnce this morning. "We had to eat, and now we're up against it." He wouldn't tell the names of the other members of the party.

BARTENDER IS ON TRIAL

Boy Said to Have Stabbed Companion While Drunk.

The trial of Oscar Raubala, a bartender in a saloon at Floodwood, for selling liquor to Axel Makinen, a minor, March 1 last, was started in Judge Ensign's court this morning. Raubala is defended by Victor A. Gran.

Raubala's prosecution is the result of a peculiar chain of circumstances.

Makinen was arrested on the charge of stabbing a companion at Floodwood during a drunken brawl. The matter was brought to the attention of the grand jury, which body, after finding out where the boy is said to have procured liquor, indicted the bartender selling it and released Makinen, who is now the state's principal witness in the liquor case.

For the state, Makinen testified that he bought beer of Raubala, and his testimony was corroborated by other witnesses.

After the state had presented its case ,Mr. Gran moved for a dismissal on technical grounds, but was denied.

Raubala claims that he had seen Makinen drinking, but that he did not sell the boy any liquor.

There are several other cases against Floodwood saloon men, charged with selling liquor illegally.

FALSEHOOD, SAYS DUNN

Regarding Plot to Throw Jacobson and Nominate Dunn.

Jacobson in the Lead as Result of the Primaries.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the primaries Saturday gossips have been busy with a story to the effect that there was a game on foot which had for its object the throwing of Jacobson at the last moment and giving the gubernatorial nomination to R. C. Dunn. Friends, late yesterday, reached Mr. Dunn at Princeton by long distance telephone and acquainted him with the story, which he branded as a deliberate falsehood and without foundation. He gave it out that from reports received by him that Jacobson would win on the first ballot, and there would not be any chance for a dark horse.

"I have espoused the cause of Mr. Jacobson and I and my people will stick by him to the finish," said Mr. Dunn.

The story regarding treachery on my part is a deliberate falsehood, started simply to make trouble, but I will beat them at their own game. I am not a candidate, and will not be. Jacobson is nominated now, and that settles it. His enemies cannot beat him out of the nomination."

Dunn did have aspirations early in the game, and his repudiation of them, when he came out in his famous harmony speech in St. Paul, and advocated the nomination of Jacobson surprised those who knew of his ambitions. Several then took him to task for his change of heart, but he would not give in.

Answering the attack, he said he was vain enough to believe that if he went into the race he could win, but he had come to the conclusion that Jacobson had the call, and though always friendly with the Lac qui Parle man and his people, his contest with him for the nomination might bring about a strained situation that would not be to the credit of the party. Party success had first place in his desires, and he was willing to subordinate his own ambition to those of a man whom he knew the people wanted, and who could win.

Though Jacobson is admittedly in the lead, and fairly strong at that, it will take the county conventions, which will be held Thursday, to determine the exact status of the several candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. Returns are coming in so slowly from the primaries held throughout the state Saturday and last night, that no conclusion as to figures can be reached.

Of thirty counties heard from friends of the Lac qui Parle man give him fifteen in which he is the favorite, and two in which he is named as second choice. As a first choice proposition in these thirty counties, he would have 218 delegates. Adding those counties in which he is favored, the total would be about 278.

The Young sentiment is not manifest in respect to instructed delegates, except in a few counties. His chances lie mostly in delegates named whose convictions at this date are unknown.

STUDENTS GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Eighth Grade Boys Graduate at Cathedral High School.

Students of the Cathedral school held their commencement exercises at the Cathedral autditorium last evening, when they gave quite an elaborate dramatic entertainment, "The Hidden Gem," by Cardinal Wiseman.

The play was in two acts and was well presented by the boys of the graduating class. There were several changes of scene, all of which were cleverly given. The young actors delivered their lines clearly.

Flaaten's orchestra played an overture and several selections and the choir sang. After the distribution of diplomas and the awarding of medals, had taken place, Bishop McGolrick delivered a strong address, which contained some good advice for the boys.

The auditorium was filled with the friends and relatives of the graduates and was prettily decorated with flowers and class colors.

IN PROBATE COURT.

Several claims were allowed in the probate court yesterday in the matter of the A. S. Porter estate. Three or four claims have been contested and these will be heard June 30.

The court has made an order extending the time for hearing claims in the matter of the Singer estate until July 1. Next Monday afternoon there will be a hearing with reference to a disclosure by E. T. Singer concerning property of his brother which Mrs. Evelyn Singer, one of the heirs, claims was concealed.

MARINE NEWS

TO DREDGE THE BASIN

Zenith Dredge Company Submits Lowest Bids on the Work.

Shoals in East Gate Basin to be Removed Immediately.

Bids were opened this morning for the dredging of the east gate basin for the removal of shoals, which have run in there in recent years. Maj. Fitch is not in the city today, and will not be able to compare the bids until tomorrow, when, it is expected, the contract will be let and papers signed, so that the work may begin immediately.

The bids were: Duluth-Superior Dredging company, 12½ cents per cubic yard, scow measurement; Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company, 12½ cents per cubic yard, scow measurement; Northern Dredge & Dock company, 13 cents per cubic yard, scow measurement; Zenith Dredge company, 12 cents per cubic yard, scow measurement.

On the face of the bids the Zenith Dredge company is the lowest bidder and will probably receive the contract. The representatives of the company said this morning that they will agree to have a dredge at work tomorrow noon, if the contract is awarded to them tomorrow morning, and will rush the work through to completion.

It is planned to dredge about 100,000 cubic yards out of the east gate basin, so as to provide a basin acreage of about ninety acres. The basin was dredged some years ago by private parties, but since then shoals have come in, and the government finds the work necessary again, so that ships may have space for maneuvering before going through the interstate bridge. Maj. Fitch has authority to sign the contract with the company, which, in his judgment, submits the best bid, and he will probably give the Zenith company the work.

OILER WAS FIRED.

Claims Engineer Discharged Him Because He Was Union Man.

Claiming that W. A. Marshall, chief engineer of the steamer Queen City of the Pittsburg Steamship company's fleet, discharged him because he refused to give up his union card, Ole C. Nelson said this morning that he will report to the union that union men are being discriminated against on the boats.

Nelson was let out here by the engineer of the Queen City, but whether it was for the reason he gives or for some other is not known. He says he was told to give up his union card or quit, and he quit. Fred Thibideau, another oiler, accompanied him. Both men were employed on the boat from May 17 to June 22.

FLEET IS SMALLER.

Arrivals for ore fell off somewhat during the last twenty-four hours and today, there were but three or four boats waiting for cargoes at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern docks. A big fleet, which went down with cargoes last week, is headed for Duluth again, however, and the activity of the past week will be repeated this week.

Coal cargoes were more numerous yesterday than for some days. The big coal docks around the harbor are all unloading boats today and advices from the lower lakes are that coal charters are more numerous and a big fleet will come up the lakes this week. Return cargoes are no more numerous and the depression of the early spring has not been entirely dispelled.

BIG FLEET IN PORT.

Cleveland, June 23.—No more ore has turned up and all outside vessels are on the market for coal. The offerings of tonnage for Lake Michigan ports are liberal and there is a big fleet at the docks. There were more carriers in port at this end of the route yesterday than at any other time this season. The rates are holding steady all around. There is no trouble on the docks and the boats are being loaded and sent out in pretty fair time.

HOODOO FOLLOWS BOAT.

Hoover & Mason Collides With Shaw at Sault Ste. Marie.

Cleveland, June 23.—The steamers Hoover & Mason and Shaw were in a collision at Sault Ste. Marie last Sunday. The Hoover & Mason was only slightly damaged and was delayed twenty-four hours making repairs to her machinery. The Shaw was at the pier when the Hoover & Mason struck her nearly hed on between the first and second hatches on the port side. The anchor of the Tomlinson boat also broke through two stern plates on the Shaw and damaged them clear down to the bilge. The Shaw is leaking slightly in the bilge but has no water in the cargo hold.

Coal Charters.

Buffalo, June 23.—Coal charters reported today were the Fleetwood to Superior at 30 cents; the Barlum to Milwaukee at 40 cents, and the Dunham and Western Star to Chicago at 40 cents. The market continues active. Five big carriers were chartered yesterday for upper lake ports. They were the Bulgaria and Spalding for Chicago at 40 cents; the Goodyear, Whitney and Gilchrist for Duluth at 30 cents.

Canal Bank Caves.

Ogdensburg, June 23.—About 150 feet of the Corwall canal bank at the lower pier of the New York and Ottawa railroad bridge has been washed out. It will cause serious delays in the St. Lawrence river traffic to Montreal.

Boland Released.

Port Huron, June 23.—After lightering 2,700 tons of ore, the steamer Boland was released last night by the wrecking tug Favorite without damage.

Marine Notes.

The Northern Steamship company's passenger steamer North West, will arrive in port tonight at 8 o'clock and leaves again at 11:30 on her first regular trip of the season.

The Tionesta of the Anchor line and the Northern Navigation company's steamer Huronic were in port together yesterday, and left last night for the lower lakes with passengers and merchandise.

The steamer J. E. Upson, constructed during the past winter for the Wilson Transportation company, arrived in port yesterday on her first trip. She took a cargo of coal to the Northwestern dock No. 1 at Superior. The Upson is sailed by Capt. J. S. Wood, who was on the Capt. Thomas Wilson last season.

The fog over the harbor was thick this morning, and the smaller craft had to make their way about cautiously to avoid collisions.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 23.—After two months of idleness the plant of the Algoma Steel company, one of the Lake Superior corporation's industries, reopened Monday and is said to have business enough in sight to keep turning out rails for two years. It gives work to 1,500 men.

TRACK-WALKER SAVES TRAIN FROM BAD WRECK.

St. Peter, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—But for the vigilance of an Omaha railroad track walker, a disastrous wreck might have occurred a mile and one-half west of here Sunday night. About fifty feet of earth gave away, leaving a bridge over a small stream in a decidedly weakened condition and the track undermined for a considerable distance. Had a train attempted to pass over the bridge and track at this point a wreck could not have been avoided.

CORPSE IN PORTAGE LAKE.

Houghton, Mich., June 23.—The body of an unidentified floater was found in Portage lake, near the county bridge, Monday. The corpse is so badly decomposed it is not likely to be identified. It was fully clad in overcoat and apparently good clothing, and is believed to have been in the water since winter.

Lake Crystal, Minn., June 23.—The storm of Saturday afternoon was severe here. Loaded box cars were blown from the track trees uprooted, barns demolished and crops badly damaged.

TO BEGIN IN NOVEMBER.

Wheels Will be Revolving Then in New State Prison.

Stillwater, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Wolfer, warden of the state prison here, says that the wheels will be revolving at the new state prison at Oak Park early in November.

Binder twine will be the first industry to be started at the new prison. A couple of years ago the warden secured about ten cars of binder twine machinery which has since been stored. Added to this will be enough machinery since ordered to make 120 spindles to be installed in the new factory.

The new plant, in addition to the old one that will be continued in operation, will greatly add to the twine output for next year and the future. The output of the plant in the old prison this year will be about 14,500,000 pounds. This is larger than any previous season by about 1,500,000 pounds. There is a greater demand than the supply this season. With the addition there is a prospect that the farmers of the state will by next year be supplied.

The erection of factory buildings on the new site is making good progress. The foundation for one is complete and the superstructure is being built. The foundation for a second one is well under way and a third one will be constructed later.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—If there are any who are laboring under the impression that lumbering is dead in Wisconsin they should go down to Kelley's ice house on Half Moon lake and note the operations of Dorchester & Huey under Supt. Frank Smith. They are taking eighteen cars of logs a day out of the lake and forwarding the same by rail to Belleview, Iowa, to be sawed into lumber. They have 16,000,000 feet to load this summer, all from Yellow river. Mr. Smith says that his people have enough timber in Wisconsin to run their mills for years.

OVERTAKEN BY CLOUDBURST.

Two South Dakotans Lose Lives in Indian Creek.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 23.—A. V. Decker, a contractor of Bowdle, and Conrad Beckert of Mobridge, were drowned in Indian creek, a few miles from Mobridge. They had started to drive from Mobridge to Evarts, but were overtaken by a cloudburst. The men's dead team and overturned wagon were found on the banks of the creek, and it was believed both bodies were carried by the swollen stream into the Missouri river.

MORE VICTIMS OF WATER.

Boy of 16 and 19-Months Baby Lose Lives.

Menominee, Mich., June 23.—Fred Suhr, aged 16 years, was drowned in the Menominee river Sunday afternoon while swimming. His body was recovered.

Wells, Minn., June 23.—The 19-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hober, who live four miles southwest of this city, fell into a water tank and was drowned.

We are showing many styles.

GREEN FIBER, RUSTIC HICKORY, RATTAN, MAPLE, BENT WOODS, PAINTED PIECES.

Our prices on summer furniture, as on the rest of our goods, are as low as or lower than those quoted elsewhere on items of similar character.

The Bohn Refrigerator

Will Last Half a Lifetime

A home uses but few Refrigerators in a life-time. Say a Bohn lasts only twenty years. Don't you see how trifling is your annual price saving in selecting a cheap box instead of the slightly higher priced Bohn Refrigerator?

A Bohn, too, saves its cost almost every year in provisions that it keeps from spoiling, as well as in the strict economy of ice.

A cheap refrigerator generally "eats its head off" in foods wasted and in ice consumed, so that the first difference in favor of the ordinary refrigerator is a genuine extravagance instead of saving.

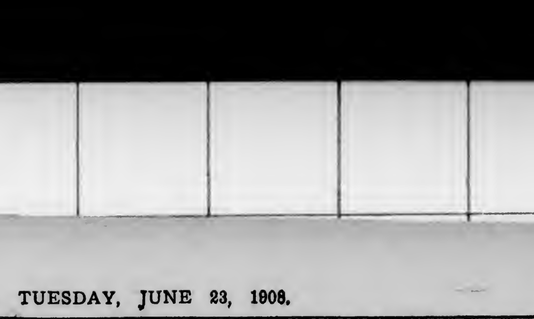

THINK OF THE SATISFACTION the beautiful and wonderful Bohn gives its user. Milk and cream ever sweet; vegetables crisp; fruit firm and full flavored; meats choice and eatable; summer drinks delightfully cold; enamel or opalite linings cleansed perfectly by wiping with a moist cloth; doors rightly closed and the box itself a thing of beauty.

FULLY WARRANTED—All American railroads use it after severest tests by refrigeration experts. Why shouldn't you own one? Price them and examine them in our refrigerator section. Inspection welcome. Booklet mailed free to our out-of-town customers.

"A REASONABLE PROFIT."

It is very discomforting to those who fear that the republican party may remain in power another four years, and who would therefore like to feel confidence in the good faith of its promises of tariff revision, to contemplate the new form of its declaration of the doctrine of protection.

Several months ago The Herald called attention to the fact that in the Ohio platform of the Republican party, in addition to the old form of declaring for protection "that will meet the difference in cost of production at home and abroad," these new words appeared: "with the addition of a reasonable profit for the manufacturer." The Iowa Republican state convention used the same words, and now they have been put in the national platform, where they appear for the first time in the history of the party.

What do they mean, and what bearing have they upon the probable action of the party when it takes up, as promised, the work of tariff revision?

Getting down to fundamentals, the tariff, aside from its revenue feature, is a tax upon all of the people for the benefit of certain special interests—those engaged in the production of the articles protected by tariff schedules. The policy was taken up in the interests of "infant industries." The argument was that the people could afford to pay this tax in the form of higher prices for the product, because the result would be to build up an American industry, giving employment to American labro, which would ultimately mean lower prices for the domestic product than for the imported foreign product.

Now if there were an "infant industry" which could be built up by the extension of this tax to provide a bounty for its encouragement, and which promised to amount to enough to make it pay, this doctrine had plausibility; unquestionably the American people were committed to it, as they showed by their votes on many occasions.

That was theory. In practice, the doctrine of protection has been strained to provide a tariff wall behind which the most flourishing industries were enabled by the shutting out of foreign competition to stifle domestic competition. The promised lower prices never came, but instead prices continued to rise. The promised benefits to labor never materialized, because though labor's wages were increased to some extent, the advance in prices gave the higher wages less purchasing power than the lower wages had had. There are practically no infant industries that need to be encouraged by bounties secured from the people through the tariff tax. There are few or no industries which are in danger from the competition of goods made by cheaper labor in other countries; indeed, in practically all cases American labor, by virtue of American inventive genius, is far more productive and more valuable to its employers than any foreign labor, so that American manufacturers, still enjoying protection, have killed competition at home, maintained high prices here, and yet are underselling foreign manufacturers in their own territory.

The doctrine of "reasonable profit" is infamous in itself, because it means taxing the American people for the profit of a few; and in the hands of the Aldriches, Cannons, Dalzells and Paynes that hold the places of power in the Republican party, what construction is to be placed upon the term? What hope have the people if these serfs of monopoly are to judge what constitutes a "reasonable profit?"

RACING AND BETTING.

The recent passage by the New York legislature of a law prohibiting racetrack gambling has brought up again the old question whether or not the institution of racing depends for its prosperity upon betting.

The track man says that it does; that without the incentive of betting attendance will fall off, purses will dwindle, the quality of racing stock will deteriorate, and that the "sport of kings" will fall into neglect and insipidity. And, add these defenders of racetrack gambling, if racing goes out, the breeding of horses will decline, and the country will be the loser thereby.

Whether or not these arguments are sound, racetrack gambling is bound to go. It has recently been abolished in New York and in the District of Columbia, where the Bennings track has been cleared of its bookmakers by act of congress. The fight against it, already effective in many states, is spreading rapidly, and it seems to be only a question of time when the bookmaker will be completely put out of business.

When that happens, it will be easy enough to tell whether racing does depend upon betting. It is very doubtful, however, if it does depend upon gambling, and if there is not zest and excitement enough in the race itself to maintain it, even after the additional interest of the gambling element has been cut out. In racing itself there is good sport and no harm; the harm from racing has all come from the betting. Only those who live in racetrack towns can realize how wide is the influence of the gambling spirit that has always accompanied the races. During the racing season, practically all the people in such places, men, women and children, are "trying a flyer" on the races. Like all other gambling games, this is a very profitable one—to those that run the game. The percentage is largely in favor of the house. Even those who think they base their bets on a knowledge of horse flesh find their calculations shattered by the crooked methods that often prevail, whereby jockeys throw races, owners deliberately lose heats in order to win the public's money, and good horses are made to lose by being "doped." There is no sport in creation about which so much trickery exists as there is about racing, and every bit of it comes from the betting factor.

As to the effect upon the breed of horses of the destruction of racing, assuming that racing is in danger of destruction, that is absurd. Horses bred for racing are very fine animals, trim, shapely and elegant, but they are mainly good for racing. Meanwhile, without any regard whatever to the racetrack or the betting ring, horses are being bred for more useful purposes, and they will continue to be bred for those purposes no matter what happens to the racetrack.

If racing does not contain within itself sufficient interest to maintain it without the fictitious stimulation of the betting ring, it will not be missed. If it does contain enough interest purely as a sport, the argument that the destruction of the betting ring means the destruction of races falls to the ground. And that is about where it belongs.

"VERY COARSE POLITICS."

With a campaign for the governorship near at hand, and the situation loudly calling for some means of awakening public interest in the desire of the Republican machine to return to the political pie counter, from which its misdeeds have barred it for four hungry years, it becomes incumbent upon the partisan Republican press to find something connected with the state administration to clamor about, and the state board of control has been selected.

If there is a department of the state government that ought to be kept free of political entanglement it is the state board of control. Its functions are vitally important, and a burden of great responsibility rests upon it. It is a business body, and its duty is to conduct the state's business entrusted to its care upon business lines. Therefore, unless these Republican newspapers have some good reason for their attacks, they are doing an infamous wrong to drag this board into the slime of nasty politics.

This morning the News Tribune, faintly echoing the recent attacks of the Twin City Republican newspapers, labored painfully to create the impression that Governor Johnson's appointees had "dragged the board into politics." There are three members of the board. Two, Messrs. Rosing and Ringdahl, were appointed by Governor Johnson, and are Democrats. One, Mr. Leavett, is supposed to be a Republican. During his entire service on the board there has been little but strife and dissension. With the help of the Twin City Republican papers, it has apparently been his determination to put the Democratic members in the wrong at any cost. This has made him an obstructionist and a mischief-maker. In order that business might be done in a businesslike way, and to prevent cumbering the records with repeated political demonstrations, the majority of the board recently adopted a resolution to the effect that unseconded motions shall not be recorded except by a majority vote.

It is upon this action that the Republican newspapers, which are seeking to create political capital at any cost, and to destroy the people's confidence in the administration if it can be done at any expense of trickery and falsehood, have founded their latest broadside. The News Tribune says of Messrs. Rosing and Ringdahl: "Their conduct has been a scandal. They have brought the board of control into disrepute. They have made true the one argument against it, that it would not be kept out of politics. It has been a free reign of extravagance, of demagogy and nest-feathering."

All this because the majority of the board has tried to reduce public business to a business basis and to eliminate political obstructionist tactics. Not one instance of extravagance, of demagogy or of "nest-feathering" is related. It cannot be claimed that a dollar of the state's money has been misspent. The charge of "nest-feathering" can mean nothing but a charge of corruption, and it is not accompanied by a single item of detail. It is merely a wholesale casting of mud in the hope that some of it will stick.

It is cowardly to make such charges without substantiating them. It savors of the war methods of the gutter tough, and it is the most contemptible piece of political blackguardism perpetrated in this state in many years. But it is characteristic of the organ of selfish interests, of backwoods methods and of alley billingsgate that makes it.

THE PLUNGER'S FATE.

A year ago Wall street provided a new human curio—a "bear" operator whose reckless plunging on the "short" side of the market was bringing him sudden riches in prodigious profusion.

In the spring, it will be remembered, there was a sharp break in stocks, a hint of what was to come later in the fall. This man—his name is John Brandt Walker—was in on it. He noticed, he declared in frequent interviews, that there was a falling off in the demand for bonds. He believed that indicated the approach of a slump in stocks, and he acted accordingly. Whether his sequence is logical or not, his "hunch on the market" was good; he won. His plunging methods—or lack of methods as some operators called it—attracted the attention of veteran speculators who had seen scores of men tempt fortune by bold or bizarre campaigns. Walker's campaign went farther in boldness than most others had dared; furthermore, it was successful—for the time being. A million dollars a month for ninety days was the measure of his winnings at the close of his big bear campaign in December last. His office desk had six telephones, connecting with various brokerage houses, and at his country residence he kept tickers, blackboards, clerks, telegraph operators and secretaries to carry on his audacious fight for fortune.

And the other day a deputy sheriff, armed with a writ of attachment, served papers upon him in a suit for $23,500 brought by a broker who claimed a balance due on a series of wheat and stock deals. That Walker did not find it convenient to settle a bill so comparatively trivial was taken by "the street" to mean that he had struck the bottom of the financial chute, where so many others had bumped before him.

Apparently it was the old story: he hung on too long. Every man who has gambled in stocks or grain knows what that means. When Walker profited by the slump in stocks, he profited at the expense of plungers who had "held on too long" to the long side of the market. When they were cleaned out Walker got rich, and automobiles, country houses, high-bred trotters, and all the other adornments of sudden riches, flowed in upon him. When the tide went out these luxuries went out with it, selling for prices far lower than he had paid for them last year.

Few "plungers" ever end differently. Whether they are bulls or bears, long or short, holding for a rise or selling for a slump, fickle fortune smiles upon them but for a moment, and then dances on with a taunting laugh. Up today and down tomorrow; envied of all one moment and pitied by all the next; "one day it's milk and honey, next day looking 'round for money:" such is the life of the gambling man.

It is a fine butterfly life, this gambling game, and there is much singeing of wings in it.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

According to a St. Paul man, who is well informed on state politics, and who was in Duluth recently, M. W. Savage is likely to make a spectacular play for the Republican nomination for governor, and in support of his campaign for the office of state executive will open up a "barrel" that will put to shame the campaign efforts of any of the other candidates.

The St. Paul man stated that Mr. Savage would go right after the Republican nomination and that at the present time it looked as if he would have the support of Hennepin county. According to the St. Paul man, Mr. Savage will employ the same spectacular methods that made stock food such a widely known article, and is likely to have some surprises in store for the other candidates.

Two mud-bedabbled men swung off a West Third street car yesterday afternoon and beat it for the Lenox hotel. They were literally covered with rich yellow mud from the soles of their shoes to well above the knees. Their water line was clearly visible.

"Been out to the circus," was the explanation one of the men gave as they trouped into the lobby. "Been out to see the animals and other sights, but believe us the animals were the least of the sights that we saw. The human show had the dumb creatures faded.

We were in the big tent when it blew down. Jim got tangled up with a stout lady and I was pinned under the canvas until some of the attendants pulled us out. Three people stepped over my face in trying to get out of the tent. My face was the only place they could see to put their feet. They sure did put their foot in it, though.

"We were sitting right next to a very stout woman—women don't like to be called fat—when the tent began to rock. All the women began to scream and the shriller voices of the children added to the excitement. Then the large lady grabbed Jim by the arm and asked him to assist her in getting the children out of the jam, which was considerable around where we were.

"Jim is a bachelor and just naturally shy around women and children. He drew back with a startled look in his eyes, for he didn't relish the job of being caretaker in general to a troup of squealing and frightened kids.

"The screaming of the kids riled the fat woman. She noticed Jim didn't reciprocate on the watch the children proposition, so she crouched into a fighting position. Jim has a bubble of a violent nature, so he covered up and stalled for time. Whether it was the violent movement of the large lady, aided by the movment in unison of the numerous kids, who evidently expected some fun, that caused the seats to fall, I can't say for sure, but anyway they fell.

"Down went the large lady and Jim into the sea of mud behind the seats. The numerous kids did a leap-frog acrobatic stunt, while Jim struggled with the despair of a shy and reserved bachelor to escape from the smothering grasp of the fat—I mean, stout lady.

"There I lay pinioned under about all the canvas in our section of the tent, but two tons of cheese piled on top of me wouldn't have prevented me from roaring at the frantic efforts of Jim to extricate himself from the panic stricken stout lady. In her fear she had forgotten the animosity she held toward Jim and clung to him with that wild endearment that danger sometimes brings.

"Finally some Georgia negro came along and pulled my head first from under the canvas and several tent poles. Just as I got to my feet Jim, in one last desperate wriggle, wrenched himself free from the vice-like clasp of the lady. Dodging the children, who had watched the titanic struggle with gleeful faces, Jim made straight for the door of the tent. I didn't see him until I had threaded my way through the crowd. There he stood leaning against a refreshment booth with a large glass of red lemonade in his shaking hand.

"His face was blanched and drawn. But when he saw me the color quickly came and went. His hands shook and his breath came in gasps. Vainly I attempted to soothe him. His nerves were badly shaken by the affair with the stout lady, and he begged pitiously for me to come with him to some quiet spot.

"So Jim is up in his room now, drinking a hot toddy and seeking rest for his nerves. Jim was kind of shining around a girl down in Moline, Ill., and his friends thought that he had overcome his shyness of the feminine sex. But after the episode of this afternoon you can mark that match of Jim's in the also ran class. Jim's matrimonial entry has been scratched. His experience this afternoon will make him gun shy of women. I feel sorry for that girl in Moline, for Jim is a good sort."

Might Have Been Worse.

New York Sun, (Ind.): "Jim" Sherman, the nominee for the vice presidency, has been identified long and profitably with those elements of indecency and corruption which have brought the Republican party in this state to its present deplorable pass. It can be said, at best, that the convention made a stupid choice. It might have taken Odell!

All the same Sherman will get a good large vote in his state. He has the, for him, inestimable advantage of being little known.

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday was a very unsettled day, with a very alarming lot of clouds and weather conditions that did not result in much after all. Last night more appallingly black and low flying clouds swept over the city, but brought nothing but a fresh breeze that dissipated the breathless sultriness of previous moments. In the night more rain fell, this morning it was cloudy and foggy, and later it partially cleared away. The weather man looks for showers or thunderstorms tonight, followed by fair weather tomorrow. Last night's lowest temperature was 54 degs. and yesterday's highest was 72 degs.

A year ago today it was sultry and damp, with the thermometer up to 80 degs.

The sun rose this morning at 4:13 and sets tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 54 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr Richardson of conditions: "Very warm weather prevails in the Southern Lake region, Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and Atlantic and Gulf states as a result of continued low pressure over Eastern Nebraska and the Southwest, and high pressures over East Gulf states and the Rocky Mountains. Southerly winds are the rule in the above mentioned districts and temperatures of 90 degs. or higher occurred in those sections Monday. Light to heavy showers or thunderstorms occurred Monday or last night in districts north of the 46th parallel. Indications favorable or showers in this section this afternoon or tonight followed by generally fair Wednesday."

Following were yesterday's highest temperatures:

Abilene	92	Memphis	92
Asheville	86	Miles City	63
Atlanta	90	Milwaukee	88
Battleford	64	Minnedosa	74
Bismarck	76	Modena	70
Boston	82	Montgomery	94
Buffalo	82	Moorhead	74
Cairo	92	New Orleans	90
Calgary	64	New York	86
Charleston	88	Norfolk	86
Cincinnati	94	North Platte	89

Department of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Duluth, June 23.—Local forecast for twenty-four ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday: Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesabi and Vermilion iron ranges: Possibly showers or thunderstorms this afternoon or tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy; moderate temperature; fresh and brisk winds, northeast shifting to westerly late tonight.

H. W. RICHARDSON,
Local Forecaster.

Chicago, June 23.—Forecasts until 7 p. m. Wednesday: Upper Michigan—Threatening, with showers and thunder storms tonight and probably in east portion Wednesday; cooler.

Wisconsin—Showers and thunder storms this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight; Wednesday fair, with cooler in east and central portions.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in west and south portions tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in east portion tonight.

Upper Lakes—Fresh and brisk winds, mostly southerly on Michigan and Huron and easterly on Superior, shifting to westerly Wednesday; showers and severe thunder squalls, followed by fair weather.

POINTED PLEASANTRIES.

Philadelphia Press: "He seems to be strongly attached to his new motor car."

"He wasn't the last time I saw him on the road. He was about twenty feet above it."

Baltimore American: "Why did you name your paper 'Young Blood'?"

"Because I wanted it to have a good circulation."

Chicago Record-Herald: "My father was the champion shot putter of his class.

"I suppose he often boasts about it."

"No, he never mentions it, but mother always does when he pays 75 cents to have the lawn mowed."

Puck: Motorby (sternly)—I hear you're getting rake-offs from both the repair man and the tire dealer?

New Chauffeur (in surprise)—But, sir, didn't you advertise for an experienced chauffeur, who thoroughly understood his business?

Chicago Tribune: "We don't expect to get our man nominated, of course, but we're going to put up the best fight we can for him, to save his face."

"To save his face? Such a face as his? Great Scott, man! You've begun forty years too late!"

Washington Star: "Ah! pretty lady!" exclaimed the fortune-teller, "you have come to find your future husband?"

"Not much!" replied the pretty lady, "I've come to learn where my present husband is when he's absent."

Chicago Tribune: "Paw, what do they feed the Republican elephant?"

"Hay, my son; they are making it at the hotels."

Baltimore American: "How are they going, do you think, to make the planks of the Democratic platform?"

"They ought to make them out of chestnut lumber."

Philadelphia Press: "Good gracious! These fat men will be the ruin of me," exclaimed the automatic scales. "That last one simply put me on the bum."

"Well," replied the chewing gum machine, "now you can lie in weight for the next one."

Why Is This?

Macon Telegraph: The prosperity-making and all-wise Republican party has been in power twelve years, and yet during that time social unrest and Socialism have made tremendous strides. Why is this? One reason is that the G. O. P. "makes" prosperity only for certain favored interests. Another reason is that socialistic paternalism is a leading principle of the party so long in power.

When Children Were Made to Smoke.

London Chronicle: It may seem strange that there was a period in English history when juvenile smoking was enforced officially, but it is nevertheless true. The diarist Hearne, in writing of the plague of London, says: "Even children were obliged to smoak. And I remember that I heard formerly Tom Rogers, who was yeoman beadle, say that when he was a schoolboy at Eton that year when the plague raged all the boys of that school were obliged to smoak in the school every morning, and that he was never whipped so much in his life as he was one morning for not smoaking."

The Issue.

What's to be the issue in the campaign just beginning?
The virtue of one party and the other's constant sinning?
The old gags, the gray gags, the gags our fathers knew,
The gags that wore out long ago, will these still have to do?
Or will each party try in some new way to claim an inning?

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

•••N. W. Harris & Co. of Chicago, who yesterday bought the issue of county bonds, have also bought nearly all the city bonds issued for improvement. Mr. Harris stated last night that these bonds were good enough for him at $1.043, and that he could soon sell them for $1.10.

•••It is stated that one of the largest contracting firms in the city has given notice of an intended reduction of laborers' wages to $1.25 per day.

•••The Republican convention at Chicago is still balloting on a presidential candidate. Two ballots were taken this morning, the last being: Sherman, 215; Harrison, 213; Alger, 148; Allison, 98; Gresham, 87; Blaine, 47; McKinley, 14. William McKinley announced that he could not, consistently and with honorable fidelity to John Sherman, permit his name to be used as a candidate, and he demanded that no delegate vote for him. The ballots show a heavy gain for Harrison. It is now conceded that neither Sherman nor Gresham can be nominated, and talk of McKinley as a dark horse is general.

•••Charles Black and Miss Mary M. Pollard will be united in marriage at the residence of Prof. J. N. Richey, 5 West Fourth street, on Wednesday evening, July 4.

•••Joseph W. Fair of Duluth and Miss Alice M. Foobes of Chicago were married in the latter city a few days ago.

•••Mrs. E. C. Holliday is entertaining her mother and sister, Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. C. S. Doolittle of Minneapolis.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

New Ulm Review: Is there an ambitious politician in Minnesota bold enough to come out on a platform declaring in unmistaken terms for the taxation of all property equally? We doubt it.

Sauk Center Herald: Bob Dunn is putting in a lot of hard licks for Jake, but the Madison man does not yet appear to be a winner. Young has opened headquarters publicly, and possibly a barrel on the quiet. Savage is getting a lot of Dan Patch advertising and Snider doesn't like it. Meantime Joe Heatwole is sawing wood and appears to be gaining ground daily. The rank and file are getting ready to vote for whom they please regardless of what any men or set of men may dictate. The candidate who wants to win must hew to the line. How many such are there posing for the nomination?

Walker Pilot: The fact that Uncle Joe Cannon actually imagined that he was popular enough to be president, would lead one to believe that the venerable congressman has been smoking the same brand of cigars so long that they have affected his mind.

McIntosh Times: Tariff revision is receiving more attention from congressmen now that congress has adjourned than it did when congress was in session. Possibly Uncle Joe Cannon can tell us why.

Royalton Banner: Senator Knute Nelson has been in the upper house so long that he wants a change. At least he voted against the bill that provided for the election of senators by popular vote. Savors a little of Cannonism, doesn't it?

Ogilvie Sentinel: The passage of the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill just on this afternoon or congress, the eve of the adjournment of congress, will not prove to be, we believe, "a feather in the hat" of the Republican congress. Upon the face of things, it appears to be a measure that was passed in the interests of the Eastern monied men and the national banks, than any other one thing.

Fairmont Sentinel: The Sentinel presents its compliments to the Hon. Robert G. Dunn and compliments him upon the skill and wisdom he has displayed as manager of the campaign of Hon. Jacob F. Jacobson. We cannot recall having seen a prettier and smoother job of wire pulling in Minnesota politics.

Madison Independent Press: The Prohibitionists having put a state ticket in the field, the question naturally arises how does that party stand on local option by counties? Prohibition is not local option in any form. It looks like a divided house in the cold water crowd.

St. Peter Herald: In the next campaign Minnesota Democracy can do better than elect the head of the state ticket. There are other offices fully as important as the governorship, and not the least of these are the positions on the state railroad and warehouse commission. If the Republicans permit the railroads to control their convention, then Judge Ira B. Mills will be a candidate to succeed himself. Mills has done nothing to deserve the support of the voters, and his nomination will give the Democrats an opportunity to name two good men, secure a majority of the commission and inaugurate reforms that are badly needed.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: It is better to be an ugly duckling than a silly goose.

Many so-called hair tonics raise a lot more hope than hair.

But put off until tomorrow the clothes you do not need tonight.

Dramas of Mystery on the Great Lakes.

Detroit Free Press: In the news of the Great Lakes on a recent date, one was given a weird picture of a launch carrying a dead man which rushed in the darkness of night over miles of water without guidance until its engine ceased to throb and the craft stranded with its corpse on Green Island in Mackinac straits.

How did this man meet his death? Those who found the craft after lapse of time evolved a plausible explanation to account for the natural wonder of it, but after all it remains one of the mysteries of the lakes.

The bare outlines of another calamitous story is an uncommon setting comes from a stretch of water further north. Those who have written it give us a glimpse of the interior of a lonely lighthouse on a rocky shore of Lake Superior, miles from any human habitation and of an attack made there on the lightkeeper and his assistant by desperate men, outcasts of society turned pirates for a day. There were no witnesses of the struggle. What happened is indicated only by surmise, but that night the lighthouse flashed no warning of the dangerous coast. The slain watchers of the safety of those afloat were thrown each into a boat, and turned adrift, one to be bufeeted to the shore, bringing the evidence of tragedy.

When this melodrama presented a stranger, more startling story than this story of real life and death, picked out by investigators from the known facts surrounding a sorrowful discovery?

It has the elements of a mystery in motive and deed of violence worthy of scrutiny by those who are attracted by the unusual and mysterious.

TALKING ABOUT TAFT.

Kansas City Times (Rep.): Never before has any party in this country named for the presidency a man more admirably prepared for office by training and experience or more strongly backed by accomplishments than is Secretary Taft. He is a great judge. He is a great diplomat. He is a great executive. He understands business and business conditions. He has done great things, and he has done them easily, expeditiously and without friction.

Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.): Upon a platform of imposture, largely constructed out of timbers stolen from Mr. Bryan's backyard, the Republican party has set a man of straw—a very portly and pleasing man of straw—and has said to the voters, "Behold in William Howard Taft the counterfeit presentment of Theodore Roosevelt." The answer which the voters are likely to make in November may be found in the first chapter of the Horn-Book of Common Sense, which, translated from the original Vulgate into modern English, reads, "The voice is Roosevelt's, but the hands are the hands of Rockefeller." At length the Republican party has had to disguise itself as a Populist, and to join in the cry of "Stop thief," in order to escape the consequences of its own acts.

Boston Transcript (Rep.): His nomination carries with it a wide latitude of interpretation of policies and programs, and while he is not of the impracticably stubborn disposition, he is not one likely to be hurried from mature consideration by "a popular noise." Neither is he apt to confound "a popular noise" with a justifiable popular demand. Elected president, we are confident that he will prove himself a most acceptable executive, respectful of the Constitution and of the great precedents of American action.

Washington Herald (Ind.): Neither party can tell with certainty what is going to happen in November. It is to be a hard-fought campaign, this great national struggle now at hand, and it will be fraught with doubt to the very end. To the extent that in choosing for its leadership a broad-minded man of character, capacity and achievements, the Republican party safeguards the future, it is entitled to all praise and commendation.

Cleveland Plain Dealer (Ind.): The platform as it stands is indicative of many compromises, not to speak of the planks dealing with the courts, labor and railroads. There is verbal approval of the president's policies, but little explicit and categorical assurance that they will be continued to their logical conclusion. There are many pledges which, if given a friendly and liberal interpretation, will probably satisfy the liberals; but most of them are vague and general enough to lose much of their effectiveness. Obviously the platform has been shaped by the conservatives. The president will probably count on Taft rather than on the platform for the carrying out of his policies.

Buffalo Enquirer (Dem.): Secretary Taft is the nominee, not through any characteristic fitness of his own, but as a means of perpetuating, if possible, the Roosevelt dynasty. Although popular in a social way, Secretary Taft is not strong with the people, many of his acts as a member of the cabinet being of a character to antagonize rather than placate. His strongest asset in a political way is the administration influence.

St. Louis Times (Ind.): "Taft the Builder" is a good Republican, but he is first of all a good American, trained statesman, tried and true executive, optimist extraordinary.

Boston Globe (Dem.): But it is one thing to hand a friend a nomination, another to hand him the office itself. The Taft pathway to the White House is not without obstacles. Will the Roosevelt who overcame all obstacles to the nomination of his favorite be able to overcome these too? Will the Brownsville affair bother him any? Will Taft's judicial decisions alienate the labor vote? Will any Republicans scratch his name on account of his Memorial day speech on Grant? Has he offended any one by his visit to the czar?

Hearst's New York American: In nominating Mr. Taft the Republican party has mightily pleased the plunderbund gentlemen who have so bitterly denounced Mr. Roosevelt. The "interests" which accused the president of inciting riot and panic, of throttling business, of crushing trade beneath a brutal and despotic heel, attended the convention in force and voted and cheered for Taft. And Mr. Roosevelt, in forcing his friend and appointee upon his party, has made a complete and sufficient apology to all the practical men whose prehensile fingers he has been rapping for the last four years.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Of the candidate whom the party has advanced to the leadership a high personal appreciation can be truly made. It has in the canvass been held as a political factor that certain points in Mr. Taft's public services, chargeable more to circumstances than his personal choice, might constitute handicaps in the contest before the people. The exact weight of these considerations must now be left for the event to determine. But in the judgment of sober and thoughtful citizenship there is little doubt that they will be outweighed by his high abilities, unimpeachable character and faithful public services.

DULUTH BUSINESS MEN WELCOME AMBASSADOR

James Bryce is Guest of Honor at Banquet.

Commends the Friendly Feeling Between the Anglo Saxon Race.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE.

"Wilcuma to Duluth."

With a reference to the old Anglo Saxon word of welcome, T. W. Hugo, toastmaster of the dinner that was given last night at the Commercial club in honor of James Bryce, ambassador to the United States, epitomized in one word the sentiment that greeted the great Englishman.

Welcome to Duluth. With this greeting the 125 guests rose to their feet and with prolonged burst of applause gave hearty welcome to the visitor. It is doubtful if a visitor to Duluth has ever received a more spontaneous welcome that the one given to the British ambassador.

Many of the representative business men of the city were present at the dinner last night. It was a gathering of men anxious to hear what message the ambassador of a great nation had to give; and anxious to welcome a man who has done much to engender a better understanding not only between England and the United States, but this country and its northern neighbor, Canada.

Mr. Hugo As Toastmaster.

T. W. Hugo, toastmaster for the occasion and chairman of the public affairs committee, under the direction of which the entertainment for the ambassador had been prepared, welcomed Mr. Bryce in a few well chosen words. He pointed out the great bond of sympathy and love that would always remain between the two great representatives of the Anglo Saxon race, which mistakes of the past nor misunderstandings of the future could not obliterate.

"We laugh at Johnny Bull, and Johnny Bull ridicules Brother Jonathan," he said. "We laugh at their ponderous humor, then nominate for president the most ponderous person we could find. We laugh at each other, ridicule the customs of each other's country; we pretend to be different; yet under this veneer of laughter, of ridicule, there is a deep and abiding love between the two countries." This statement was greeted with loud and long applause.

Then Mr. Hugo gave to the representative of that other branch of the Anglo Saxon race the old Anglo Saxon word, wilcuma, and the men present rose to their feet to greet the visitor.

Mr. Bryce's Talk.

"The word is the same in both countries," began Ambassador Bryce. "I have heard it in the cottage of the Norwegians, I have heard it in the cottages of England, and I have no doubt that you have heard it among the men who come and settled the forests and prairies of Minnesota and Wisconsin. It is a word that is dear to both countries; I give thanks in the name of England.

"I feel deeply the very great kindness that I have experienced since I have been in your city. It is an experience that I shall never forget. It is something that I shall remember as long as I live. I thank you for your hospitality.

"I have long waited to pay your city a visit. One of the reasons is that Duluth is near Canada. Canada and the United States should be the best of friends. There are many bonds of sympathy between the two countries. You have received many settlers from that country, and I believe they have made excellent citizens. In turn, Canada has received many immigrants from this country and I am proud to say they have made equally good citizens.

"You should be the best of friends. My position is to remove all cause of misunderstanding between the two countries. In this object I have received the greatest aid from those two great Americans—Theodore Roosevelt and Secretary Root." Long applause greeted the mention of the name of the president, and Mr. Bryce stood smiling while the cheers and hand clapping continued.

"They have done everything that could possibly be done to bring about close relations between the two countries.

"They are great Americans. I couldn't respect them more than I do. Your president is honored and esteemed in England as he is here, and so is Secretary Root. They have added me in every way in bringing the two countries in a more through understanding and appreciation of each other. My task has been made easier by their efforts.

Four Treaties Made.

"Within the past four months four treaties have been consummated between the United States and Canada. There has been a general treaty, covering many rights; a treaty of reciprocity; and the appointment of an international commission to regulate the fisheries of the Great Lakes. After eating one of your splendid white fish I began to realize what an important part the fisheries of the Great Lakes play. Then there is a treaty for the determination of the international boundary line.

"The boundary line stretches for 3,000 miles between the two countries. Some day every mile of this will be settled. It is so that no disputes shall arise that the treaty for the determination of the boundary line was made. It is a proof of the close relations that exist between the two countries.

Mr. Chairman, you have done a rather rash thing in permitting me to come here and choose any subject. I have seen so much of your institutions within the past few days, and have been so impressed with what I have seen that my head is filled with many thoughts that are crying for expression. I might get started upon a subject and take up all your time. I am ready to bring forth the names of the great men I have met within the past few days. I assure you, Mr. Chairman, that I would deal with them in an entirely impartial manner. You have a wealth of great men; men eminently qualified to inherit the great wealth of your nation.

Interested in Duluth.

"I have always been curious to come to Duluth. It is the center of a great producing country. It is the center of a great region that has a character of its own. It will develop until it is one of the most important regions in the whole country. It has surprised me beyond expectations. I am impressed beyond words.

"Your city, with its wonderful and expansive harbor, reminds me of the city of Lisbon, with its sweeping water front; your streets, with their cragged outlines and towering and majestic beauty, recall to me the memory of Genoa; your hills, swept with the pure, keen air, remind me of the hills of Norway; the cragged beauty of your towering outlines and majestic beauty of your hills remind me of the hills of my own native Scotland.

"You are the source of a mighty trade that reaches Buffalo, the center of the railroads, and extends to the salt water of Montreal. I can find no parallel in the world. The great volume of traffic of which you are the source astounds me by its magnitude.

"You began with the lumber trade. It is not what it was, I am informed. I am glad to see that your country is adopting the policy of conserving your forces. I think you owe a debt of gratitude to the president for this act. It is equally important to both the United States and Canada, and I hope that Canada will follow the example of your country in these wise acts of legislation.

"Wheat and minerals—those are the great sources of your wealth. I was simply astounded by the statistics of the water trade. I was struck with the immense trade significance of the big ships, when I was at Cleveland last year. I realized then that I must visit the source of this great supply. Tomorrow I am to have the pleasure I have long looked forward to. I am going to make a trip to your great ranges.

Solid Foundation.

"Science is changing the aspect of the whole world. It is changing everything. When old forces are exhausted there will be means of providing others. But you will always have prosperity. Your prosperity rests on two solid pillars—wheat and iron. Men will always come to the great Northwest for wheat, and the world will always need your iron. I am told that over 31,000,000 tons of iron passed through the Soo last year. At the present time the volume of trade is five times what it was in 1890. It is uncheckable prosperity.

"This great waterway, of which you are the head, is world-wide in its vast stretch. Its possibilities are unbounded and its volume is a guaranty of your prosperity.

"As the chairman stated, there was but two families here in 1865. He was delicate about estimating the population of your city. I am going to be more bold. I am going to place the population of your city at 120,000. In another ten years you will have a population of 200,000. Your prosperity rests upon wheat and iron. I see before you a long course of prosperity in which your population will greatly increase. You are at the head of inland navigation; you are the great port of the North.

"There are six great ports in the United States. On the east we have New York and Boston; on the west, San Francisco and Seattle; on the south, New Orleans, and in the north the great inland port of Duluth. Your harbor is capable of great enlargement. It is capable of being made to hold the great fleets that growing commerce will develop. It is ample for all the needs of growing commerce.

Don't Forget Beauty.

"Let me make a most respectful suggestion. Have you thought, in the great hurry of developing wealth and commerce, of the future beauty of your city. Before it is too late, let me warn you to begin to make those preparations that will insure the future greatness of your city. Before the value of land advances to a high figure, lay aside sites for public parks and squares. Make preparations for the beautifying of your streets, your parks and your beautiful hills.

"With your incomparable hills, that naturally terrace to the water front, what an opportunity you have of making one of the most beautiful cities in the world. You are all men of large views, you are animated by the most loyal considerations for your city, and you should lay out plans that will make your city as beautiful as it is prosperous. You should group your public buildings. I am most glad to be informed that you have taken a step in this direction.

"In many American cities they are taking up the plan of beautifying their streets and grouping their public buildings. Chicago and Cleveland are both doing this. In many ways you have many natural advantages over both of these cities. When your great wealth is achieved you will want to enjoy it. You could do nothing better in this direction than to beautify your city. Beauty and dignity in a city are the crown of its prosperity.

"We in the old world see many things in this country that we envy. We see many things that we like to suggest. But, believe me, any envy or any criticism is inspired only by love and sympathy. It is with the utmost sympathy and pride that we watch the progress of this country. The same Anglo-Saxon love inspires both of us, and the same mother love binds us to one another."

Cheers that must have touched a responsive chord in the heart of the great Englishman greeted the termination of the speech. The note of friendliness that was struck by the speaker, his respect to the greatness of President Roosevelt, and his appreciation of the greatness of Duluth endeared the speaker to the hearts of his auditors and won him a hearty and spontaneous round of applause.

Mr. Washburn's Speech.

J. L. Washburn preceded Mr. Bryce, being the only Duluth man on the program with the exception of the toastmaster.

Mr. Washburn spoke as follows:

"Mr. Toastmaster, Your Excellency, Gentlemen: By reason of the stronger personality of the gentlemen who preside tonight, notwithstanding my protests, I am forced to occupy a position of unusual embarrassmen to me, destructive of my own pleasure and peace of mind, without any corresponding benefit to you.

"I suppose, though, I am put up here at this time to help to quiet you and to fill in the time while you become adjusted to that which you have eaten and get settled down ready to listen to something that is worth while.

"We gather here tonight as representatives of the great body of American citizens to show our respect for a great nation, and to do honor to the distinguished statesman and diplomat who represents that nation at the seat of our government.

"He is not a stranger to our country, our people or our institutions, and many of us have read his books and have been wont to refer to them to find out about ourselves. We are rejoiced by the opportunity to meet him, have converse with him and to hear him speak, and trust that his brief stay in this strenuous little city will not fatigue or be a burden to him.

"There are things in the lives of all individuals which are best forgotten, due to the frailty of mankind, and events in the history of any nation to be regretted, but the history of a nation is not written alone in the coronation of its kings, or in the election of its presidents, or for the enumeration of its battles, but it is written in the progress of the people in the development of civilization, in the establishment of justice, in the growth of culture, in the conservation of their vitality, in securing the equitable distribution of the opportunities for the pursuits of happiness, and the comforts and rewards of honest living.

History That Is Worth While.

"The history that is worth while to study, that furnishes any guide to subsequent generations, is a history of the people. The conscience of a people may be smothered for a time by official control of affairss, avarice may dull its acuteness, and war may suspend its warnings, but it is as unperishable as the grass, and with recurring strength will guide the intellect of a people so that 'forward' may be both their watchword and their record in the struggle toward righteousness.

"In the upward struggle for a development of an enlightened citizenship and the promotion of human liberty, the English and American people have never parried company. Sir William R. Kennedy of the high court of England, at a lawyers' banquet in St. Louis a few years ago, at which I had the good fortune to be present, in speaking of the people of his country and ours, said, in substance:

"'We have a common inheritance of blood, a common inheritance of language and of religion, and a common inheritance in the common law.'

"We may add that with so much of common inheritance, so long as the Anglo-Saxon blood shall predominate in our people, the character of these two people cannot widely differ as we pursue the same upward course toward a common destiny.

"We are situated here almost on the border of the great Dominion, which, although a mighty nation of itself, is yet but one of the multitude of parts of the British empire.

"We are at the head, the farthest point inland, of the chain of great fresh water seas, through the middle of which runs, unseen and unheeded, our international boundary.

"This city is the point at which is gathered and received and again distributed, by rail and water, the products of forest, of field, of factory and of mine, being the initial or destination port of a commerce which outmeasures, as it passes the Soo, that of any other port in our nation.

"We are but just getting into direct communication with the vast and unmeasured grain fields of Western Canada, developed largely by American, who seem to have become good British subjects in a very short time. But this is no more than compensation for the multitude of Canadians who have long since become prominent in American affairs.

"We are not calling for political union with our mother, or with our sister, but we are desirous of speeding the day when there will be more free interchange of commerce. We hope, sir, that you may be spared to see the time when, by the improvement of waterways, you may come here direct from your country in a luxurious steamship, and behold, as you enter our harbor, vessels flying the flags of every commercial nation of the earth, and that your own national emblem may greet you on every hand and that we may come to your ports and behold with joy our ships sailing proudly under our flag, and that under the ship's name we may behold inscribed thereon the words we love to see, 'Of Duluth.'

Break Down Barriers.

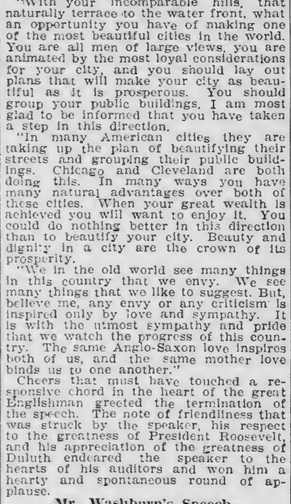

"We, here, hope to see the time not far away when the barriers of commerce will be broken down and when we may all cease to find any reason to tax each other for the privilege of trade, except in the interests of moderate revenue.

"I believe in the race to which our people belong, in the strength that has been added from other virile peoples, and in the strength that has been sustained by the exclusion of still others.

"Let us proceed under separate governments as we are, but moved by the same principles, the products of the same civilization, we should stand together for the establishment on the whole earth of peace and enlightened living—peace by example, peace persuaded, and if necessary, peace enforced.

"I do not wish to take any time that the distinguished guest of the evening can be induced to occupy, so I suggest, gentlemen, if you have anything in your glasses, not, get something—and join in this sentiment:

"Here's to the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes! May they continue to float under the heavens and over the seas, a guaranty of the security of peace, and maintenance of justice, and the perpetuity of human liberty!"

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

MILLION FROM MINNESOTA.

Latest Estimate on Amount Swindler Secured in This State.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports received by state officers in the last few days have led them to believe that the total amount of Minnesota investments in the stock of the Central Life Securities company is more rather than less than $1,000,000.

Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, has received a telegram from a man in Baugette, who asks Mr. Schmahl to cancel his note for $500 given to pay for shares of stock in the Central Life Securities company. Mr. Schmahl has no power to cancel the note, which presumably has been negotiated before this time.

NEW ULM TO CELEBRATE.

Re-union to Commemorate Forty-Sixth Anniversary of Indian Attack.

New Ulm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are being made by the people of New Ulm, Fairfax and Redwood Falls, suitably to commemorate the memorable attack on Fort Ridgely by the Indians on Aug. 22, 1862. It is proposed to make the Forty-sixth anniversary of the battle a re-union of old settlers and survivors of that historic struggle. The Indians at that time laid siege to the fort, but were repulsed by the valiant defenders. The fort was set on fire by the Indians several times and the defenders, under a rain of shot and shell extinguished the blaze in each instance.

THE SAFEST OF HOTELS

COMFORT COMBINED WITH SAFETY

In no class of buildings are provisions for preventing or extinguishing fires more necessary than in the lofty modern hotels. Realizing this, builders have made special efforts to render such structures fireproof. In New York city many of the great hotels built in recent years claim to be so perfectly constructed that fire is out of the question, but none offers such absolute safety in this direction as the St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street.

The builders of this magnificent hotel were not satisfied with simply complying with the stringent municipal building laws, and went far beyond in providing against fire. Steel, marble, concrete, bronze and wire glass were the principal materials used, and all wood, was treated by the most approved fireproofing process To add to the safety of this great hotel the best-known fire-fighting apparatus is supplied, and employes are put through regular fire drills at frequent intervals.

The St. Regis is therefore one of the safest hotels in the world, and, as safety is a great contributor to one's comfort, a most comfortable place in which to live. In addition to absolute safety, the St. Regis offers an exceptional cuisine, perfect ventilation, quiet, refined service and surroundings.

In view of these features and the fact that moderate restaurant prices prevail and that a good room with outside view may be had for $4 a day, or the same with private bath, for $5 a day ($6 for two people), or a parlor, bedroom and bath for $12, it is little wonder that the St. Regis has become the most popular of New York hotels.

DULUTH BOY SAVES LIFE

Eight-Year-Old Edward Shephard Rescues Child at Frazee.

Pulls Tot Off Track in Front of Approaching Train.

Frazee, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Write the name of Edward Shepard, a Duluth boy, in the list of youthful heroes, for he certainly has acquitted himself in a manner entitling him to all the recognition the world bestows upon one who risks his life for another. Eddie is only 8 years old, but what he did clearly entitles him to a Carnegie medal, and it is expected an effort will be made to secure one of those coveted badges of heroism for the Duluth youth.

Young Shephard is in the city with his mother visiting at the home of James Dunn, a local blacksmith.

A few days ago Eddie was playing in the rear of Mr. Dunn's blacksmith shop, near the railroad track, when he happened to see Mr. Gebo's youngest child, a boy about a year old, laying on the rail between the trucks of a freight car, and at the same time he saw that an engine was coming down the track pushing a string of cars ahead of it and would soon bump into the car that the boy was lying under. Edward at once realized the danger that the little one was in and at the same time he realized his own danger, but he hurriedly got a hold of the boy by the shoulders and succeeded in pulling him out from the perilous position just in time, as he had no more than done so when the train struck the car under which the boy had been lying, and which surely would have cut him in two. Edward says that it was all he could do to pull the little fellow out.

ENDS HIS LIFE AFTER QUARREL

Old Man and Young Wife Disagree—He Drowns Himself.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 23.—The body of B. Mikkelson was found on the bank of Red river at Jackson's landing, ten miles below Grand Forks, yesterday. He had committed suicide. His wife told the police of his disappearance on Thursday, but cautioned them to say nothing of his going, for she feared he would be angry if there was anything told about it in the newspapers. She is 25 years old and the dead man was 70.

On Monday Mikkelson returned from Northland, where he had gone to look after his farm. He complained to his wife concerning the way the work had been done on the farm, and acted so threateningly that she was alarmed. She feared he would harm her and she spent the night with relatives. The next morning they had a quarrel, and she said she would go to her home in Norway if he would give her money enough. He said he guessed he would go home too. That was the last she saw of him.

ST. PAUL BOYS' NARROW ESCAPE

Driving Through East Seventh Street Tunnel, They Nearly Drown.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Johnson, 17 years old, and Phillip Anderson, 15 years old, narrowly escaped drowning here yesterday afternoon when they attempted to drive a delivery wagon through the East Seventh street tunnel. Water from Phalen creek was flowing through the tunnel, but the boys boldly drove in, thinking their horse could wade through. Near the center of the tunnel the horse and wagon sank into quick sand, and soon the water was over the wagon box. The boys stood on the seat, but the water crept about their knees. The horse, by swimming, managed to keep its head above the water.

The boys screamed for help and Patrolman Rowan, swimming into the tunnel, tied a rope about the body of the horse and the wheels. Forty men at the end of the tunnel then seized the rope and pulled horse, wagon and boys to safety.

LOGGING IN SUMMER.

Chicago Company Operates Successfully in Michigan Swamps.

Marquette, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Logging in cedar swamps in summer time, something which in the old days was considered well nigh impossible, is being carried on successfully by the C. H. Worcester company of Chicago, which is operating on an extensive scale at and near Cusino, in Schoolcraft county. In former years the work of getting our cedar was undertaken only in the winter season, when the swamps are frozen. The Worcester company's operations, however, continue throughout the year without cessation. This is accomplished by means of a logging railroad, branches of which are extended into the timber and over the tracks of which small locomotives are run. Each train is supplied with a steam loader equipped with hundreds of feet of steel cable. The loaders are powerful machines, and once a tree is felled and a cable is attached to it, the huge log is hauled to the cars in short order. With the lengthy cables in use it is possible to strip the swamps of their timber for a distance of 600 or 800 feet on either side of the track, and in territory in which it is impossible for horses to do the hauling.

MISS MAY CHRISTIANSON, Valedictorian of the 1908 Class in the Cass Lake High School, Daughter of Dr. Christianson of Cass Lake and a Girl of Exceptional Ability.

BYSTANDER IS STABBED.

Calumet, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michael Been, a Tamarack young man, is lying in the Tamarack hospital suffering from a severe gash in his right thigh. Been was in a saloon on Portland street last Saturday evening when a fight was started by two Austrians amongst themselves. Things looked dangerous for a time and the young man made an effort to get out of the affray. He stepped outside and was standing near the door when the combatants themselves came out. As one of the Austrians passed Been he made a lunge at the latter with a long knife. Been was struck in the right thigh and a wound four inches long was inflicted. Nightwatchman Glasson was in that vicinity and he quickly came to the scene and arrested the Austrian whose name could not be learned. The man threw away the knife when arrested, but it was later recovered. He is now in the village jail. He was in a beastly state of intoxication and it was impossible to learn his name.

PREFERRED TO STAND.

Two "Tenderfeet" Found North Dakota Horses Too Tough Proposition.

Fargo, N. D., June 23.—Two young college men from Boston, James Atwood and Charles Ferris, who are guests of County Auditor Lewis, have had an experience in the wild and woolly West that they are not likely to forget for some time.

Emulating Teddy, they secured horses and, for the first time in their lives, essayed a horseback ride. The horses were rather spirited, and the boys had not had the mount long before they lost all control and were soon tearing about the streets, keeping their seats with difficulty, and only able to guide the animals with the greatest effort. They were almost worn out with the struggle when the horses decided to take a turn on the business streets, and a policeman, who saw them coming, managed to stop them, and the young men were placed under arrest on the charge of exceeding the speed limit.

It was two very sorrowful looking young men who hobbled into Judge Ryan's office. They came up to the desk and the judge invited them to be seated. "If it please your honor, that would be exceedingly painful and, if it is possible, we would much prefer to remain standing.," said Mr. Atwood, in excellent Bostonese. The judge smiled broadly when the young men explained why they could not sit down and, after hearing the testimony of several witnesses, he decided that the boys were not altogether to blame for exceeding the speed limit and they were discharged.

HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Duluth Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home indorsement, the public expression of Duluth people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Duluth reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Capt. M. McLean, marine captain, living at 4824 Gilliat street, Duluth, Minn., says: "Lapse of time has only strengthened my appreciation of Doan's Kidney Pills. I gave this remedy my hearty indorsement in the summer of 1898, because of the good results I obtained from the use of it. It promptly and effectually rid me of a dull, heavy aching just over the kidneys, banished the restlessness that broke my sleep at night, and brought about a healthy and natural action of the kidneys. Since that time there has been no return of the trouble, which fact convinces me that Doan's Kidney Pills cured me permanently."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

YEGGMEN AT MINOT.

Blow Safe at Ice Cream Factory, Getting $200.

Minot, N. D., June 23.—Yeggmen entered White Bros.' ice cream factory, on the north side, early Saturday, and, blowing the safe to pieces with nitroglycerin, secured about $200 in notes and city and county warrants.

That the robbers were of the boldest and most desperate kind is evident from the fact that they probably took plenty of time to do their work, for, while securing nothing but the notes and warrants, they leisurely inspected the entire store and then moved the heavy desk and table away from the safe, so that they might go at their work in a more systematic manner.

Chief Hagen has several suspects under surveillance and is working hard to round up the bandits, who may be the same men who broke into the Greek candy kitchen and the Excelsior laundry recently.

NORTH DAKOTA'S FAIR.

Will be Held at Fargo This Year and Will be Large.

Fargo, N. D., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota state fair, which will be held here the week beginning July 20, promises to easily surpass former undertakings of the kind in this state. Thousands of dollars have been expended at the fair grounds since the last state exposition, until at present it is the most up-to-date in the way of buildings and arrangements in the entire Northwest.

Since the last fair the Merchants' pavilion has been built, which in itself is a sight worth seeing, being the most extensive structure of its kind in this section of the country. It covers a space of 90,000 square feet, being 300 feet square, or just the size of a full city block. Here the merchants of the city will make the displays of their goods in a most attractive manner, and in the center of the structure is a large court, which will be a sea of flowers.

There has been several hundred feet of cement sidewalk constructed on the grounds, and as all buildings and stands are pure white, the grounds present the appearance of a "white city."

The exhibits this year will far surpass anything in the history of the state, and a fine program of races has been arranged, and the amusements will be of the highest order. One of the features will be the great airship, which will make daily flights from the grounds.

NORTH DAKOTA CROPS IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crops are looking the best for many years, according to a traveling man who came in last evening, and who has been as far west as Williston. He figured that wheat would head out in a couple of weeks.

ARE AT SOLON SPRINGS.

Solon Springs, Wis., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. W. Sheridan and daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Jessie Sheridan of Duluth, have moved into their summer home at this place.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—The jury in the Schuler and Joinson case, the lads who were charged with breaking into the Guarantee Clothing House, returned a verdict of guilty Saturday. The defendants were at once brought before Judge Watts and he sentenced them to the reformatory.

Deer River—Mrs. Will Taylor, who has not been well since the birth of a child several weeks ago, has been taken to Duluth, for examination. She is still at the hospital, and it is believed she will have to undergo an operation.

Moorhead—Three applicants, two from Felton and one from Rollag, appeared and took the civil service examination for positions as mail carriers on rural free delivery routes.

Little Falls—The lower rear drive under Ed Lavole reached tthe city Saturday morning. The crew was laid off when they returned, until after the Fourth. The river was quite high throughout this trip. The trip took seventeen days, the high water aiding the river men considerably. The water has fallen very noticeable during the past week and has now nearly resumed its normal height.

Badger—A number of the farmers of Barnett have started a movement for establishing a ditch through that town to drain the surplus water into Two Rivers and to that end have called a mass meeting to be held at Burke's hall, Badger, at 11 o'clock July 23.

Pine City—Rudolph Bazil, son of Tom Bazil, residing just east of the town, met with a severe accident recently. He was about to cut some hay with a scythe and in attempting to leap over a fence his foot caught an he fell. He landed with his right foot upon the sharp edge of the scythe and the member was nearly severed.

Floodwood—Mr. O'Hearn, the deputy state bank examiner, was in Floodwood last week and started the First State bank at this place on its legal corse.

Marshall—The Marshall Racing association has about completed arrangements for the big meeting at the fair grounds the second week in July. The circuit in which this association has membership has a splendid bunch of horses in all the classes, and the race promie to be the best ever.

Motley—Dick Wilson of the Wilson Bros. of Park Rapids has been in town finishing the arrangements for putting in the saw mill at this place. They have bought the engine and machinery in the old Curtis & Lawerence mill on the Long Prairie river and will begin moving at once to the grounds, which they have leased on the Crow Wing river.

Middle River—Middle River had a live market day Friday at which R. D. V. Carr, editor of the Middle River Pioneer, was the leading light. The market day was attended from far into the eastern interior where the homesetaders have been longing for some time for a live trip to town. Reports indicate that there were about fifteen hundred people present.

Minneapolis—Thomas Atherton, a laborer formerly employed by the "Soo" road, was arrested late Saturday night by Detectives Hayes and Crummy accused of passing forged "Soo" pay checks. According to the police, Atherton passed three of these checks and is wanted in other cities.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oshkosh—Through the skidding of a wheel on the new Stoddard-Dayton touring car of E. C. Fahrney, Friday evening, three men were injured, and the car was completely wrecked. The accident occurred about a mile south of the White City, and it was of such a spectacular character it is considered a miracle that no one was killed.

Waupun—Bruises on the head of James Glendenning, who was drowned in Fox lake last Tuesday, coupled with the discovery that $65 which the dead man carried at the time of the supposed accident, was missing, has led the police of the city of Waupun to start an investigation. Glendenning and a companion were rowing across Fox lake, and when in the center, the boat capsized.

Milwaukee—Less than a year after his marriage to 16-year-old May Donnelly, Carlisle Roth, 21 years of age, committed suicide at his home Sunday by taking carbolic acid. The night before he had attempted to take some of the acid, but had been restrained by his mother-in-law. He had lost his position as switchman with the Milwaukee road and was despondent.

Sparta—Henry Lange, 16 years old, son of a farmer residing in the town of Angelo, drowned while bathing in a mill pond in this city Sunday. The body was recovered.

Wausau—Mrs. August Schlagenhaft of near Stratford was accidentally shot and killed by her son Karl, who was trying to extricate some shells from an old revolver.

Eau Claire—Frank Baker of Wabasha was rushed hurriedly to Montgomery's hospital, suffering from an attack of appendicitis and strangulated hernia. The double operation was performed by Dr. Lincoln and Drs. Alex and William Montgomery. The patient is resting nicely since the operation.

Ashland—B. L. Westkemper, who has been in charge of the local recruiting office of the United States army for several months, has departed for Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to hold a position under the direction of the infantry and cavalry school. He will be succeeded by W. A. Brown, who has been conducting the recruiting office in Ironwood and Hurley.

Lake Nebagamon—Lake Nebagamon will celebrate the "glorious Fourth" and has made arrangements for several ball games, races, outdoor sports, fireworks at night, dancing and music. Several prominent speakers will be in attendance.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Fargo will be made general headquarters for the North Dakota Independent Telephone company, and the office here will be increased by the addition of the auditor's office. The office rooms of the company in the rear of the Huntington block are being remodeled and a vault put in.

Marmarth, N. D.—George Kasper, a blacksmith at Marmarth, was found dead in his shop. He went to his shop after 9 a. m., before going to his lodging place, and his shop not being open the next day, friends investigated and found him dead on the floor.

Towner, N. D.—Rain put a sudden end to the big doings here and the old settlers day had to be postponed. The old settlers, however, a majority of whom are farmers, were satisfied as rain was the trying need of the vicinity.

Fargo, N. D.—Alfred L. Stevens, for many years a liverymann in Fargo, recently died in Phoenix, Ariz. He was formerly a partner of Ed L. Sears in the firm of Stevens & Sears. They had a barn on Northern Pacific avenue in the old days. This was burned and they built the livery building so long used by Frank Marsh on the site of the new Hotel Gardner.

Bismarck, N. D.—Property in North Dakota can be deeded by actions or representations as well as by word or written contract, is the decision of the state supreme court in the famous Kenmare square case. The decision for this reason is one of the most important that the supreme court has made in years.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Grand Forks Commercial club was held Saturday. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, E. J. Lander; first vice president, William Spriggs; second vice president, Dr. H. W. Wheeler; secretary, M. C. Bachneller; treasurer, S. Torgerson.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—The Copper country delegation to the annual reunion of the Upper Peninsula Pythian league and third rank contest tournament, which is to be held at Escanaba this week, left Sunday afternoon from Houghton in a special car. The delegation from the Copper country numbered 100, including a number of ladies.

Negaunee—Negaunee lodge B. P. O. E., will initiate quite a large class Wednesday evening, the number including some passed upon previously, but who were unable to be present for initiation when the local lodge was formally instituted a few weeks ago.

Escanaba—Robert S. Oliver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Oliver of Escanaba, and manager of the Utah-Apex Mining company with headquarters at Bingham, Utah, was married Thursday to Miss Hattie Pike of Salt Lake City at the Episcopal cathedral of Salt Lake City.

Lake Linden—Mrs. John Nichols, reports that the recent show which was given under the auspices of her Sunday school class, assisted by others of the church, netted the organization $90. This was considered exceptionally good.

Calumet—The Calumet & Hecla band will give another of its popular concert promenades at the Calumet Light Guard armory Friday evening. The promenade, about two weeks ago, was well attended, many coming from Hancock and Houghton and other Portage lake towns and from Lake Linden and Hubbell.

Negaunee—A letter has been received by Abram Boulson from his son-in-law, Leonard Binne, stating that he and his wife had arrived safely at Helsingfors, Finland.

Michigamme—Arrangements are completed for a lively Fourth of July celebration here. The program will include a big street parade, athletic and other contests with money prizes for place winners, and a naval parade in the evening. The Light Guard band of Ishpeming will lead the street parade in the forenoon.

Ishpeming—Will Gleason, who has been in Mexico the past year or so, arrived in the city Saturday, on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gleason of Division street.

Marquette—Mrs. Felix O'Hegan died at St. Mary's hospital Sunday afternoon, after a brief illness. She was 60 and is survived by her husband, A brother, Dr. James Mcmillan, lives at West Superior. Mrs. O'Hegan was an old and well known resident of Marquette.

Pelkie—George Anderson of Pelkie, in Laird township, was found dead, seated in a chair in his cabin. A rifle held between the knees and with the muzzle in the mouth told the story of the man's tragic end. One of his shoes was off, and the inference is that Anderson had pulled the trigger of the gun with one of his toes A portion of the top of his head was blown off.

Laurium—Among the horse owners who will have entries in the races to be held at the Laurium park on the Fourth of July are Dr. Otto Kohlhaas, Mike Kemp, C. J. Wickstrom, J. MacClure and Phil Niemark.

Calumet—Efforts are on foot to establish two new labor unions here. Those interested are the teamsters and the clerks. It is stated that the organizations may extend to other Copper country towns.

SERVICES NOT WANTED

Mines Will Not Employ Montenegrin Labor This Year.

Several Hundred Men Without Jobs Are Facing Starvation.

In the mining district, particularly in the vicinity of Chisholm, there are said to be several hundred Montenegrins who are out of work and, what is worse, there is little or no prospect of their getting work this summer.

Mining interests have, to use a common expression, "soured" on Montenegrin labor in the mines. The Montenegrins seem to have congregated at Chisholm, more than at any other of the range mining towns. Their services are now being shunned in favor of other nationalities.

Condition Serious.

While the range people are not advertising the matter, especially, it is understood that they realize the seriousness of the situation with the large number of unemployed Montenegrins on their hands.

A few days ago there was quite a demonstration at one range town, where many Montenegrins were formerly employed, but who have been without work for a long time. About 150 of these men approached one of the town officials and demanded that they be given work. They represented to the officials that they cannot get anything to eat, and the other nationalities employed in the mining districts on the range will have nothing to do with them.

The official explained to the men as best he could, through an interpreter, that neither he or the town had authority to set them at work, nor could the town provide a bread line.

Live in Filthy Shacks.

Persons who have visited and inspected the Montenegrin camps on the range declare that the conditions beggar description. There are said to be old shacks with mud and filth several inches deep on the floor, in which a large number of the Montenegrins have herded together, eating, cooking and sleeping without regard to the sanitary conditions.

It is claimed that there is no other class of people who live so cheaply; that in order to do this they will buy the cheapest sort of foods, going without the substantial things that go to build up muscular tissue in men who are exposed to the hard work of the mine.

Men who are engaged in the mining business, and who have had occasion to employ Montenegrins claim that one of the reasons the Montenegrins, as a class, are unable to perform any hard work is probably the fact that they do not eat enough, and that they live in an insanitary way.

There are said to be some exceptions to the rule, but people from the ranges claim that the Montenegrins who really did any labor to speak of, and who got a little money ahead, used it to return to their own country this past winter, leaving behind the poorer class of workmen who are without money and without the prospect of a job.

When the Montenegrins work, it is alleged that they send the greater part of their wages back to the old country.

A range man is authority for the statement that on the day following a pay day it is almost impossible to get near the money order window in the postoffice because of the big rush of the men to send their money home. While most of the men of other nationalities who send money to the old country hold out enough to take care of themselves to the next pay day, the Montenegrins are said to send practically all their money away, reserving a very small sum with which to buy the necessaries of life. It is claimed that when the wages have been raised the conditions were no better, that the Montenegrins seemed to strive to see how cheaply they could live, and how much more money they could send away.

It is related of one big Montenegrin that during the strike, last summer, he held down two jobs, working in a mine in one location on the day shift, and at another location on the night shift. He is said to have kept this up for some weeks before his system was discovered. By that time he had accumulated quite a sum of money, and he started for the old country with the remark that he would be regarded as a rich man when he got home.

Range people who have been watching the developments say that as soon as a report reaches the old country as to the present conditions, there is likely to be a falling off in the emigration of Montenegrins to Northern Minnesota.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood, Ind., "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

Presented With Suit and Joined in the Revelry.

Harvey Clapp returned yesterday from the western part of the state, where he witnessed one of the Indians' big annual war dances at the White Earth reservation. At the conclusion of the dance, which lasted for nearly four days, one of the big chiefs presented Mr. Clapp with his entire war dance finery, except the head dress.

Mr. Clapp says that it is the custom of the Indians to give away all their dance outfit at the close of the affair. The squaws work all the year preparing the dress, which is very elaborate, and it is worn only at the dance. The suit that Mr. Clapp has is a gorgeous one, consisting of trousers and a pair of broad bands that go over the shoulders, all marvelously decorated with bead work, the design in the most part being of flowers.

The dance was a big one, and was attended by many Chippewa and Sioux Indians from all over the state. They started dancing each afternoon at about 4 o'clock and danced far into the morning. Along side of the dancers were huge cauldrons of boiled meat, from which they helped themselves when they grew hungry.

On being presented with the suit, Mr. Clapp was invited by the chief to don the Indian habit and join the dance, which, out of courtesy, he was forced to do for a short time. Mr. Clapp says that such a dance acts like an intoxicating drink on the Indians. The longer the dance the more enthusiastic they become.

Flying Machine That Flies.

In the early part of this year a very successful test was made with a large aeroplane over a circuitous route. It rose, dipped and turned just at the operator's will, but, notwithstanding this degree of perfection, this mode of travel still seems a long way off. Many successful tests have been made with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past fifty-four years in cases of stomach, liver and bowel disorders. In fact, it has cured so often after other remedies had failed that it is looked upon by prominent physicians as a very superior medicine. It cures and prevents sick headache, belching, heartburn, poor appetite, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, biliousness, kidney ills and malaria, fever and ague. Don't hesitate about trying it, because we guarantee every bottle to be absolutely pure.

COREYS IN THE TITLED WORLD

Paris, June 23.—William Ellis Corey and his beautiful wife, who was formerly Mabelle Gilman, have forced the doors of aristocratic society and dined with princes and royal dukes.

Mr. Corey is prouder of this victory than of any of his triumphs in finance, divorce or matrimony, though it is less his victory than that of his brilliant wife.

It began at the golf links at La Boulle, near Versailles, while Mrs. Corey was casually introduced to Grand Duke Cyril of Russia. This seemed a slight thing at the time, but has led on to a social conquest which the Coreys dared not dream a few months ago. Indeed, instead of a long slow stage with a great expenditure of money, humility and patience which they thought would be necessary, Mrs. Corey's dashing campaign has resulted in the sudden surrender of the social fortress before a shot was fired.

Mrs. Corey merely smiled and waved a lace handkerchief and society in the person of the Grand Duke Cyril, and his amiable grand duchess opened its doors.

The full introduction of the Coreys to the titled world took place last week at a dinner given by Jeane and Madame de Reszke at their house in Rue de la Fasandrie, in honor of the Grand Duke Cyril. There were 13 present at the table, including the hosts. Others present were Reynaldos Hahn, the composer; Arthur Meyer and Madame Meyer, who is an authentic princess; the Duc de Morny, whose sister danced at the Moulin Rouge with great success, and the Duchess de Morny; Prince Louis Murat, his highness the Duke of Leichtenberg.

Later in the week Mrs. Corey was toasted with grand ducal enthusiasm and broken wine glasses as the prettiest woman in Paris.

This royal scene took place in a fashionable night restaurant where the Grand Duke Cyril drank her health in champagne and then broke the glass on the edge of the table. On this occasion, of course, the Coreys were not present.

MAIL POUCH FOUND; MONEY IS MISSING.

Kansas City, June 23.—The registered mail pouch which contained $50,000 in money and $100,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry, stolen from a mail car at the union depot here on the night of June 16, was found yesterday afternoon by a switching crew in the railroad yards of the Rock Island in Kansas City, Kansas. The pouch still contained a number of articles of jewelry, but four empty envelopes which had contained the $50,000 in currency were missing.

Gain of Fifty-Six Votes Practically Gives Him the Election.

Des Moines, Ia., June 23.—J. A. T. Hull's victory over Judge Prouty in the congressional primary election in this district is practically assured by a gain of fifty-six votes given to Hull yesterday in the recount of the ballots of the Third precinct of the Second ward. Hull's majority in the entire district is now fifty and the Prouty men about concede his election.

The National Dish

Van Camp's Beans may be called now the national dish. Thousands of new users begin every day, and nobody ever stops. Perhaps you will find, in half the homes of your city, that the people are eating Van Camp's.

Here is a curious fact:

Your demand for Van Camp's has raised the price of the best Michigan beans 25% in three months.

Common beans cost about what they did cost. The advance has been in those hand-picked beans—those white, plump, full-grown beans—which we demand for Van Camp's.

Never before did so many people want such a grade of beans. Yet, with all this advance, we've not raised the price to you.

There is a reason when a dish like this springs into such demand. And that reason applies to you.

We are now baking more beans—by several times over—than any other concern in the world.

That is solely because we are baking the best beans, and millions of people know it.

A short time ago, a large part of the people were baking their beans at home.

They knew baked beans as a homely dish, mushy and broken. The top beans were crisped—the middle beans less than half baked.

That was because you baked in dry heat, and did not have heat enough. The beans were heavy and hard to digest. They would ferment on the stomach, and fermentation formed gas.

You did not eat such beans often.

Now, we have shown you how different beans are, when they are baked with all our facilities.

We bake in live steam, so that all beans are baked alike. No beans are crisped, none are broken. They are baked until they are mealy, yet they are nutty because they are whole.

We have shown you that beans are digestible when baked as we bake them. Our ovens are heated to 245 degrees. The particles of the beans are so separated by heat that the digestive juices can get to them.

The result is, Van Camp's are light and digestible. They do not form gas because they do not ferment. They digest.

We have shown you, too, a delicious blend—secured by baking the pork, the tomato sauce and the beans all together.

Thus we have given to millions of people a new idea of beans.

Van Camp's PORK AND BEANS BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE

Summer is the time of all times for eating Van Camp's Beans. Let us do the cooking, for one meal a day, while you sit out in the breeze. You'll find that our meal is the best meal of the day.

We bake these beans at less cost to you than if you baked them yourself.

But that isn't all the saving.

We are baking such beans that you eat them more often—eat them in place of meat.

And beans are Nature's choicest food. They are 84% nutriment.

They give you more food value than meat, pound for pound, and they cost but a fraction as much.

And there is nothing that people like better than beans, when baked in the Van Camp way.

But be careful to get Van Camp's.

Poor beans are plentiful now and cheap. But the finest beans are scarce. There is very little profit now in putting up good beans. There is a great deal of profit on low grades.

These are times to be careful.

When somebody says, "My beans are as good as Van Camp's," he is serving his interest, not yours.

Now that you know how good beans can be, don't accept the old-time beans.

BAD FIRE AT THREE RIVERS

Quebec Town Suffers a Loss of Over $1,000,000.

Three Rivers, Que., June 23.—Fanned by a high wind, a fire which broke out shortly before noon yesterday in a stable was not checked until the greater portion of the lower town, containing the business section of the city, had been consumed. Then with the assistance of firemen summoned by special trains from Montreal, Sheboygan and Grand Mere, it was held in check. Almost every building of any consequence in that section of the city was destroyed, including the postoffice, the city hall, every hotel worthy of the name with one exception, the fine building of the Hochelega bank and nearly all the leading stores. Over three hundred buildings were burned.

Among the buildings burned, besides those mentioned above, are the St. James Angelical church, the German Catholic church, Drolet, La Dominion and Richelieu hotels, telegraph office and the Bell telephone exchange.

The loss will be considerably over a million dollars. So far no loss of life has been reported.

MITCHELL WILL NOT MIX IN POLITICS.

Chicago, June 23.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, last night gave out a letter declining to become a candidate for political office and indicating that he will become instead head of the trade agreement department of the national civic federation. The letter was addressed to John C. Harding, secretary of the political action committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and was called out by an endorsement by that body of Mr. Mitchell's tentative candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Illinois.

"Does this apply to the vice presidential nomination as well as to the governorship of Illinois?" Mr. Mitchell was asked.

"I cannot well decline what has not been offered to me," he replied. "But my idea in the letter was to express a decision not to mix in politics in any form."

ANOTHER PRINCE FOR SPAIN.

Madrid, June 23.—A son was born to Queen Victoria of Spain last night. Queen Victoria, formerly Princess Ena of Battenberg and King Alfonso were married at Madrid on May 31, 1906. Their first son was born on May 10, 1907.

FOUR YEARS IN COOK.

Death Claims Wilson Denton, Resident of Northern County.

Grand Marais, Minn., June 21.—(Special Correspondence.)—The funeral was held here today of Wilson Denton, aged 77, who passed away after a lingering illness. He was a native of Glen Falls, N. Y., and was married in Michigan in 1889, coming to Cook county with his family March 23, 1904, and taking up a homestead in the town of Maple Hill, which he still held at the time of his death.

Deceased had been ailing for some time and the end did not come as a surprise. He leaves a wife and two children, Ethel M., 18 years old, and Ivan H. Denton, 14 years old; besides, out of fourteen brothers and sister, four are still living, one in St. Paul and three in Glen Falls.

TO BOOST FOR TEAM

Fargo Is Casting About for Successor to McNeil.

To arouse interest in the baseball team and get the support for the club it should have from the fans, a meeting of the Duluth followers of the game has been called to meet in the Commercial club rooms Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock and an effort will be made to get a large number of the fans together. Pennant prospects will be talked over, a report given on the financial condition of the team and new officers will probably be elected.

Unless there should be a decided slump, the team will remain practically as it is for the remainder of the season. Wagner, an outfielder, with substitute catching ability, will join the team here on its return from Canada and either Ellis or Carroll will be let out. Koepping will also join the team here on the return, but just what disposition will be made of Albert Williams is not known. He is a valuable man, but with Koepping in the game, he cannot be used in the infield. Should Sawyer make good, one of the pitchers will be let out also, but what one will depend on the showing made on the trip.

Fargo is casting about for a playing manager and the job has been offered to "Butch" Kennelley, who is running the Eveleth club in the open events on the Mesabe range. "Butch" is a good player himself, knows baseball and would make Fargo a valuable manager. McNeil can get the men, but doesn't know how to handle them and therein lies the failure of the Fargo club to date.

Outfielder Piper and Pitcher Theobald have arrived in Winnipeg from the Pacific coast and the management of the Maroons have again conjured up pennant visions. With Crum, Chesty Cox and Piper in the outfield, Winnipeg is more dangerous than ever and the possibility that Herr will win the rag hasn't vanished.

HAS GOOD RECORD.

Successful Trial of Airship is Made by French Aeroplanist.

Milwaukee, June 23.—Leon de Lagrange, the French aeroplanist, yesterday afternoon surpassed all previous records by flying for sixteen minutes and thirty seconds. During that time his machine was ten to eighteen feet above the ground. Mr. de Lagrange made nine rounds of a measured course in a military field at a velocity of about thirty miles an hour, traversing, in all, a little more than eleven miles.

Clymer Buys Goodwin.

Milwaukee, June 23.—Manager Clymer of the Columbus baseball club of the American association yesterday purchased the release of Pitcher Clyde Goodwin from the Kansas City team.

"League Leaders," applied to their home team is enchanting music to the fans. It means that their favorites have broken to the front in the field of pennant chasers and have the call on the rag. It means that the other teams are under a handicap and must do just as much better than the leaders as there is difference between them in the percentage column, in order to gain the place coveted by all ball teams.

The Sox have reached the top by good consistent effort. When Dave Williams took the team, it was next to the bottom with four games won and eight lost. Now it is at the top with eighteen games won and thirteen lost. While Williams has been in charge, the boys have won fourteen games and lost but five, a remarkable record while the new manager has been whipping the men into shape.

The fans, who study the Sox, cannot help but support them. They are as clean, able and gentlemanly a crowd of ball players as has ever represented Duluth. There is not a rowdy on the team. There is no lying down on unfortunate pitchers or horse play in games that are lost. There is ball playing every minute of the time, grasping of opportunities playing everything for what it is worth and an overwhelming desire to bring home the pennant.

Few teams will play as well on the road as at home and it is possible the Sox will meet with reverses. They may fall back in the percentage column, but the fans will be satisfied that they are playing the best they know how. Duluth baseball followers have seen them work and know what they can do. There will be no excuse for knocking if they lose. The team is strong enough to compete with any in the league and, with a fair break in the luck, will come out to the good on the trip. They have gone as league leaders. Fond hopes are entertained that they will return as league leaders and the manners should be stowed away now for all time.

Young Miller, with the assistance of an astute manager, is taking the position of a champion with a record of a beginner. When he is given a chance to meet the man, who has the one best claim to the title of world's welterweight champion wrestler, he throws on a front like the Tommy Burns of the mat and demands a guarantee that he will come out all right in a financial way.

Miller hasn't any right to ask guarantees. He is a coming wrestler. For a year, he has been meeting all comers around St. Paul at meal ticket prices. The match with Sutter here was the first really big match he had—not in a financial way but in the line of championship class. Miller is a good wrestler. It is possible that he will some day be welterweight champion. But he will not be until he meets and defeats Sutter and when he is given a chance to renew the match, which resulted in a draw here, he puts up a guarantee barrier, which shuts him out.

Duluth wrestling enthusiasts would like to see the boys get together again. Both are clever, willing wrestlers, who are not tainted with the suspicion of that murder of the wrestling game—faking. If Miller does the right thing, he will waive guarantees, take on the match and get on with Sutter and then, let the best man win.

Just now the college baseball players are sprouting out over the country, changing their names and earning vacation money by playing professional ball. Next spring, they will appear again on their college teams as stars, scandals will come up when a few of them are discovered and thrown out and the old discussion on the purity of college athletics will come up again.

Amateur athletics, as far as collegiate summer baseball is concerned, is a joke. One writer aptly remarks that the college eligibility rules make amateur liars instead of amateur athletes. There are at least four men on the Fargo team, who are not using their right names. There are three or four men on the Duluth team, it is believed, who are college baseball players. All over the country, it is the same way and next spring, they will sign statements to the effect that they have never received money on account of athletic ability. Joke.

WINNIPEG WINS.

Maroons Shut Out Fargo in First Game of Series.

Cutlers Defeated..

The Fedjis defeated the Cutlers by a score of 11 to 8 Sunday at Thirty-second avenue west and Superior street. The batteries were Crozier and Mork for the Fedjis, and Grimstead and Tims for the Cutlers.

Viking Was Second.

Official reports on the second pennant race at the Duluth Yacht club last Saturday afternoon declare C. L. Brewer's Viking second, instead of Elmer Whyte's Merry Widow. The Scud finished first, with the Viking following one and one-half minutes later. The Merry Widow finished eighth in a field of nine.

TORNADO AT OSAKIS.

Douglas County Town Feels Effect of Very High Wind.

Osakis, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A tornado struck this place yesterday morning, coming across Lake Osakis from the north. The tornado produced a wave greater than ever before known on the lake. Launch houses, docks and boats were destroyed.

BASEBALL ON MESABA

Professional Teams Preparing to Fight for Range Honors.

Virginia Has Oscar Graham for Remainder of Season.

Now that the Hibbing baseball team has returned home, after a triumphant trip through the state, the real fight for range honors will begin. Virginia, Eveleth, Hibbing and Coleraine are the real contenders for the championship, and once they get started, money will be no object, and glory everything.

Virginia has sprung a coup in the acquisition of Oscar Graham of the Minneapolis American association club, who pitched his first game there Sunday, and will remain for the remainder of the season. Being on the outs with Mike Cantillon, Graham has jumped, and will take down some of the wad Virginia sports are prepared to drop into the yawning chasm of baseball. Graham is a fine pitcher, a good hitter and a man worth having, and the other range clubs will find him a hard proposition to beat.

M. O. "Kid" Taylor, who was at Virginia last year, and who was with the Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league this year, will also be back in Virginia within a few days. The lineup will then be: Catcher, Billings; pitchers, Currie and Graham; first base, O'Hayer; second base, Walters; third base, Olmstead; shortstop, Taylor; outfielders, Ryan, Anthony and MakDonald. Every man is a ball player, and the other range clubs may well fear them.

The Hibbing team is the same old, reliable outfit that Brady has sent in to win championships for five years past. It is better this year than ever.

Butch Kinnelley has a strong outfit at Eveleth, with money at hand to strengthen, if he needs it. He has men who have played professional ball for years, and they will figure strongly in the real race.

The Coleraine team is something of an unknown quantity, as it has not yet tackled any other of the range clubs, although it had an easy time with some of the smaller amateur teams. Coleraine has secured the entire infield of the St. Thomas college team, and has filled out the field with good semi-pros. The infield has the advantage of having worked together, and if the pitchers hold out, John Greenway's town will not be behind.

Range fans are due for some good baseball. Real sports are putting up the money, and it will certainly fly when greater strength is wanted to win at the end of the season.

KELLEYS VS. FITWELLS.

Amateurs to Meet at Athletic Park Next Sunday.

Next Sunday afternoon the amateurs will again hold forth at Athletic park, when the Kelleys and Fitwells, old-time rivals, will meet in what should be one of the snappiest amateur games of the year.

The Kelleys and Fitwells are old-time rivals. They are the strongest amateurs sent out from Duluth to do battle with the teams in the surrounding country, and thus far this year they have not met. Jacobs and Ziegler both have unbounded confidence in the ability of his team to walltop the other, and the boys have become imbued with the enthusiasm of their managers.

Earl Cummings, who has proved successful against range clubs, will pitch for the Fitwells, and Ziegler's men will probably be headed by Larson. Both teams have been playing good ball all season, and they should give a good exhibition.

EIGHT DEATHS IN CHICAGO

Intense Heat Brings Suffering to People of Windy City.

Chicago, June 23.—The hottest day of the year brought death and suffering to Chicago on Monday.

Eight deaths were reported to the coroner's office, and heat prostrations were numerous.

In addition a mad dog scare spread through the city, and the chief of police ordered his men to shoot all unmuzzled dogs.

Those who died from the heat yesterday were: Frank Cass, 35 years of age, overcome while working in his garden at La Grange, a suburb; Samuel Douglas, 23 years of age, negro, made dizzy by heat and fell off a yacht into Jackson Park lagoon, drowning before aid could reach him; John Golden, 21 years, drowned in Des Plaines river while seeking relief from heat; William Hobson, 55 years old, dropped dead of heart disease, superinduced by heat; Baby Bunther, 2 weeks old, died at county hospital of heat prostration; Sarah Oskumah, 9 years old, died at Presbyterian hospital from heat prostration; Estelle Wylie, 13 days old, died at county hospital of heat prostration; William Dettling, 55 years of age, negro, crazed by heat, committed suicide by drinking paris green.

The number of prostrations reported to the police totalled several score.

Hot in New York.

New York, June 23.—A severe heat wave, that has enveloped the Eastern states for three days, prostrated over a score of persons in and about New York yesterday. No relief is promised for two days by the weather bureau, and hospitals are preparing to handle any number of heat cases. There was little reduction in the temperature, which reached a maximum of 86 degrees at 10 o'clock yesterday. Should the heat continue, the public parks will be thrown open to all who wish to sleep on the lawns.

Two Deaths at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 23.—The excessive heat here yesterday contributed to the death of two persons. The record high temperature for the year at the government weather bureau was 91 degrees and was registered at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This is said to have been the hottest point registered, with but two exceptions, on any June 22 since the bureau was established.

Three Deaths at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., June 23.—Three deaths occurred in Detroit yesterday as the result of the excessive heat. The official maximum temperature was 90 degrees.

WADE ELLIS ON THE PLATFORM

Columbus, June 23.—Attorney General Wade Ellis of Ohio, who was a member of the committee on resolutions of the Republican national convention and chief author of the platform adopted, in a statement last night, replies to criticisms of the platform made by William J. Bryan, and denies emphatically that the draft of the platform, as published prior to the convention, was changed, "with the intention to displease or disappoint the president or Secretary Taft."

The attorney general's statement in part follows:

"Of the seven omissions he (Mr. Bryan) refers to, six are in no sense issues before the people at this time, nor has there been any attempt to make them such by the administration, nor by any other influential element in the party. The seventh concerns injunctions. Upon this subject Mr. Bryan's criticism exhibits his usual recklessness of statement and readiness to assume that his own lack of information must be the prevailing condition. The charge that the Republican declaration, with respect to the use of writ of injunction, was designed to 'deceive the laboring man,' is unworthy of a candidate for president, and the further charge that this plank merely declares the existing law and will give no relief in those cases in which there has been an abuse of discretion, or the apprehension of it, is unworthy of any lawyer who has examined this question. The anti-injunction resolution is a frank, clear statement of the Republican party's position on a question on which others have been attempting to deceive labor.

As to Injunctions.

"The sole basis of any rational complaint as to the issuance of injunctions in labor cases has been the use of the writ without notice and the long delay in some instances which have intervened before a hearing of the case. The present statue does not require any notice at all before the granting of a temporary order, and it is entirely within the discretion of the court to postpone as the judge may see fit the hearing on the question of an injunction. The plank simply declares that notice shall always be given unless an irreparable injury would result from delay and in that case, there shall be a speedy hearing provided. In other words, the platform declaration is designed to give assurances that what is now the general practice in the federal courts shall be made universal by statute in order that hereafter no cause of complaint or misapprehension shall remain. This may not satisfy the extremists on either hand, but it was not expected to do that. It will meet the approval of every right thinking man, whether an employer or an employe. No party can lose by bravely taking a stand for what is right, whoever complains, just as none can profit by taking a stand for what is wrong, whoever applauds.

Subject for Democrats.

"Mr. Bryan objects further to the phrase in the injunction plank which proclaims confidence in the probity of the courts. It is true, perhaps, that the convention which is yet to meet at Denver, rather than that which has just adjourned at Chicago, should express faith in the integrity of the courts, but in view of the Democratic attack in 1896, and the fact that the same forces which then controlled the party are once again in supreme command, it would seem entirely appropriate for the Republican party not only to remove any possible cause of complaint in the use of the writ of injunction, but to make it clear that it could resent again, as it did in 1896, any atempt to assail the judiciary.

"All that any one wants is that power of the federal courts with respect to the use of injunction shall be accurately defined by statute, to the end that all occasions for complaint in labor cases which happily have been rare in the past, should disappear altogether in the future. The Republican plank points to a single and straight forward way of achieving this purpose."

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Narcoosee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—Ennis Bros. PROMINENT EASTERN MEN ENTERTAINED IN BISMARCK

Bismarck, N. D., June 23.—A distinguished party of railroad and telephone men representing the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the Delaware & Lackawanna road were in the city Sunday, and were entertained by members of the Commercial club several hours. In the party were President Vail of the telephone company, with wife and daughter; Vice President Hall, Vice President Loomis of the Deleware & Lackawanna, Manager Yost of the Northwest Telephone at Omaha, and Manager Wahlman of Minnesota. The party was returning from a trip in the West, and left for the East.

GET UNFAIR TREATMENT

Aldermen Claim They Are Misrepresented by Prohibitionist Faction.

Adopt Resolution Explaining Their Attitude on Saloon Licenses.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Adopted resolution denouncing the lid forces in the council as fanatical, and complaining that the anti-liddists had not been treated fairly by the newspapers.

Duluth Telephone company reported that $50,000 would be spent removing overhead wires.

City attorney reported that an appeal would be taken from the decision of the district court declaring the city liquor ordinance invalid as regards the trial in municipal court of saloon cases.

Committee was appointed to draft a bill to be presented to the next session of the legislature granting the city permission to erect and maintain a municipal lighting plant.

George Bloedel took seat that has been occupied by Alderman Cromwell, the former having been declared elected.

Put garbage ordinance over for one week.

William Nisius denied saloon license renewal.

Protesting that they were not being given a fair deal by being represented as "anti-lid" aldermen, and claiming that they stood for law enforcement when it was not fanatical in its nature, Alderman Shartel and Tessman presented a resolution at the council last evening, which was adopted after a rather warm discussion.

The only aldermen who voted against the resolution were Aldermen Moore, Moe and Kennedy. Alderman McKnight voted for its adoption, although his vote was not necessary to its passage. He claimed he was willing to have the motion passed as it could do no harm.

Mr. Tessman and Mr. Shartel, in speaking for the resolution, claimed that they had been consistently misrepresented, that they stood for a rigid enforcement of the law, but that they did not believe in prosecuting a man who had already been legally prosecuted in the courts, or in taking away his license for one offense and robbing him of his means of livelihood. They called attention to the fact that where flagrant violations have been proven they had voted to revoke the license of the offender.

"There are at least half a dozen cases which came before the council where I learned the violations were only technical and I did not think it was fair to revoke the license," said Alderman Moore. "I refused to push them. There are many more cases that I have refused to push after they had been convicted than you have voted for revocation. Now, who is the fanatic?"

Alderman Shartel insisted that he stood for law enforcement, and because he did not vote for revocation of saloon licenses the papers and statements by the lid aldermen gave out the impression that he favored violations of the law. Alderman Tessman supported Mr. Shartel in all these statements.

"The people are going to judge you by what you do, and not by what you say," declared Alderman McKnight. "You can resolve and resolve, but they will look at your work and then give a verdict. If it is going to lift any weight from your shoulders or ease the conscience of any alderman, I'll vote for the resolution."

Mr. Shartel said that it was not to get votes or obtain sympathy that he had introduced the resolution, but only to show the people that his faction was not getting fair play.

Alderman Moore moved to have the measure laid on the table as too ridiculous to pass, but the motion was declared lost. The vote on the resolution showed the following ayes: Shartel, Tessman, Fillatrault, Hogan, Jordan, McKnight, Mueller, Olson, Ribenack, Trevillion and Getchell. Those who voted against it were: Moore, Moe and Kennedy.

Following is the resolution itself:

"Whereas, by erroneous or misleading statements of certain members of the council and newspaper reports and headlines, the impression has been promulgated that there exists in this council a certain faction which is in favor of law enforcement, and another faction which is opposed to law enforcement.

"Whereas, there has been nothing done or said in this council, which justifies such impression, but the council has merely exercised its right and duty to hear and consider the facts and circumstances in all cases of violations of liquor laws reported to it, and to vote on the question as to whether the offense committed has been serious enough to merit the revocation of license in question.

"Whereas, this council is still of the opinion that the enforcement of the law rests with the executive department of the city and not with the legislative body, and that the power to revoke licenses is vested in the council by law in order to reach extreme cases or persistent offenders; therefore be it

Resolved, that this council deprecates the persistent efforts to brand as opposed to the enforcement of the law such aldermen as consider it to be their duty to thoroughly consider the facts and circumstances in all cases of conviction reported to this council, and who vote in accordance with the finding in each particular case, and who do not shut their eyes and fanatically vote for the revocation of every license where there is a conviction, it being considered by this council especially necessary that the circumstances be gone into on account of the uniform practice of the legal department of bringing all proceedings under the city ordinance, rather than the state law by which procedure the accused is deprived of the right of a jury trial, and the decision is the judgment of one man only, namely, the judge of the municipal court.

"Resolved further, that while we do not in any way desire to reflect upon his judgment we do not think it should be substituted for the judgment of the council, and this resolution is submitted in the hope that intelligent and fair-minded people of the city may upon consideration of the true facts in the case, form their own opinion as to the action of the aldermen and not be misled by distorted and falsified reports."

A good deal of argument was expended over the P. F. Carpenter saloon license at 3721 Oneota street. An attempt is made every year to knock out this license. Bert N. Wheeler led the fight against the opposition. He declared the people in the community did not want the saloon there, and a large delegation backed him up in his statements.

Mr. Carpenter, on the other hand, said the people did want the saloon there, and had a number of backers to prove it.

A license was granted to A. Kellor of Virginia to run the bar at the St. James hotel. J. D. Campbell, who was closed up on the expiration of his license, because of a violation of law, claims to have turned the property over to Keller.

The application of William Nisius for a renewal of his license at 605 East Third street was denied. A communication protesting against it was presented by Secretary Boyle of the Y. M. C. A. declaring the place to be objectionable in view of the proximity of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A.

Alderman George Bloedel, declared elected by the supreme court, appeared in the council chamber and Alderman Cromwell relinquished his seat in favor of Bloedel, though both men remained inside the railing. Mr. Bloedel has not yet qualified, and therefore did not vote, and Mr. Cromwell asked that he also be excused from voting.

The garbage ordinance and amendemnts were laid over for one week.

Representing the property owners along St. Croix and lower Lake avenues, Attorney Bert Fesler entered a protest against the condemnation of property for a 26-foot alley between the two avenues for distances of one block, from the end of St. Croix alley. He declared certain interests wanted to open up the alley so as to make a cheap way for the Northern Pacific to build a spur track. It cut off a large portion of some of the lots and it was pointed out that the alley would run within two feet of the Finnish church in that district, and destroy the church for services if the railroad company carried out its plan to run a track along the alley. The matter was put over for one week.

Special Assistant City Attorney Kenney notified the council that the city would appeal from the decision of the district court in the Max Bahr saloon license case, which was decided against the city yesterday by Judge Dibell. The case has to do with the question of whether saloon cases of this kind should be tried in municipal or district court, it being contended that the ordinance providing for trial in municipal court is unconstitutional. Mr. Kenney said the decision affected nearly thirty city ordinances, and the re-enactment would entail a great deal of trouble and heavy expense to the city. The legal department has decided to appeal and secure a decision from the supreme court.

Sixty-two licenses were issued for the sale of fireworks.

According to an estimate submitted by City Engineer McGilvray, it will cost $18,827 to grade and pave with tar macadam Sixth street from Twenty-eighth avenue east to Vista street.

The Duluth Telephone company notified the council that within a few days it will undertake the wholesale removal of telephone poles, and place the wires in underground conduits. The change, according to officials of the company, will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

The dog ordinance was amended so as to allow dogs to be placed in pounds if found running at large without license tags. If the animals are not claimed within a specified time, they will be killed. If they are claimed, the owner must get a license and also pay a small fine.

A committee composed of Aldermen McKnight, Kennedy and President Getchell was appointed to act in conjunction with Mayor Haven and the city attorney, to prepare a bill for the legislature, with a view to getting permission for the city to erect and maintain a municipal electric lighting plant.

TAWNEY SURE OF PLACE.

Washington, June 23.—It is regarded here as certain that Representative Tawney of Minnesota will manage the Republican congressional campaign. The only doubt seems to be in Tawney's disinclination to undertake the work.

Washington men in the confidence of congressional leaders have heard from Chicago that Tawney has been requested to go right at it, without waiting for the meeting of the congressional committee to appoint him as successor to Representative Sherman, who practically retired from the chairmanship of the congressional campaign committee on being nominated for the vice presidency. Sherman thinks Tawney should be given the reins.

Sherman, being a member of the all-powerful committee on rules of the house, interest is keen as to his successor there.

BABY TORTURED FOR 6 MONTHS

By Terrible Itching Eczema—Face and Head a Solid Sore—Spread to His Hand and Legs—Would Scratch Until He Bled—Tiny Sufferer Immediately Relieved and

"When my son Walter was three weeks old, eczema appeared on his face. We did not know what it was so went to a doctor who treated him for three months. Then he was so bad that his face and head were nothing but one sore and his ears looked as if they were going to fall off, so we tried another doctor. He said he could cure him and we doctored there four months, the baby never getting any better. His hand and legs then had big sores on them and as for his sleeping, we could not think of it, the poor little fellow suffered so terribly. First I tied his hands to the crib to keep him from scratching, but when it got so bad I tied him in a shawl or he would scratch himself all bloody. When he was seven months old we tried a set of the Cuticura Remedies. The first application of Cuticura let him sleep and rest well, in one week the sores were gone but it stayed red and sometimes it would itch so we used Cuticura for two months, then he had a clear and white face. Now he is two years and seven months old and has never had eczema again. I hope this letter will help some who are suffering from skin disease. Every mother who has a baby suffering with skin disease should just try Cuticura; there is nothing better. Mrs. Louis Beck, R. F. D. 3, San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 15, '07."

A single set of Cuticura Remedies is often sufficient to cure torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, from infancy to age, when all other remedies fail.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor consists of Cuticura Soap, (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment, (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (60c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. BAD STORM ON MONDAY

Clark's Grove and Ellendale Sustained Very Widespread Injury.

Owatonna, Minn., June 23.—Reports just received from Clark's Grove and Ellendale, in the southern part of this county, are to the effect that a second storm, which struck early yesterday, did great damage in both villages.

At Clark's Grove it is reported that an elevator is in ruins. Twenty-seven barns were destroyed in the village, panes of glass were broken in every house and roofs were blown off from several houses. It is estimated that the damage to property will exceed $100,000.

Many head of cattle and several horses were killed. A few persons were struck by flying timbers, but there were no fatalities.

At Ellendale, scarcely a frame building escaped without damage of some sort. Hardly a pane of glass remains on the west side of the houses, and the total loss is reported to be $50,000.

Cars were blown from Rock Island tracks. In the south part of the county much damage has been done. Barns were blown down and carried several rods. Hardly a silo remains standing in the entire southern portion of the county. Crops of all sort are damaged beyond reparation. The loss in this respect cannot be estimated, some placing it as high as $150,000.

The storm which struck here yesterday was more severe than that which passed through Saturday. The wind is estimated to have blown over fifty miles an hour, and for two hours it was feared that much destruction would be wrought in Owatonna. The electrical storm which followed was the most severe ever seen in this section. Heavy, threatening clouds still overhang the sky, and another storm is likely to strike here tonight.

In Aurora township, in the east part of the county, the damage is reported as being very great. All rural telephone lines are blown down and in many cases telephone poles were destroyed and corn is flattened in practically every field.

Blooming Prairie was hit and much damage done. Poles were strewn along the street, signs blown down and window fronts shattered.

North of the village much damage was done to barns and residences. The path of the storm seems to have been in this county.

Albert Lea, Minn., June 23.—As the reports from the big storm of Saturday come in, the damage is much greater than was at first supposed. Stock was killed, but thus far no person is reported injured. It is believed that as many as twenty barns were destroyed, many of them blown into kindling wood, while windmills proved an easy prey to the maddened elements. All residences seemed to have escaped, although several are reported as moved from foundations.

Hayward, Oakland and Ellendale weer hit. New Richmond was hail and wind-stricken, and the surrounding country lost heavily. In this city the damage was confined to the breaking down of trees.

The storm did not seem to be tornadic in character, but was more the nature of a hurricane, as it moved over a wide area, extending as far west as Delavan, Faribault county, and as far east as Austin and Grand Meadows, in Mower county.

FREIGHT CARS IN DEMAND.

Thirty Thousand Idle Cars Are Put Back in Service.

Chicago, June 23.—That the tide has turned is indicated by the decrease in the number of idle cars. The report yesterday shows, according to the estimates, a decrease in the number of idle cars of 30,000, leaving the total of surplus cars 351,000.

In the two weeks from May 13 to 27 there were 22,505 freight cars of railroads in the United States and Canada placed in service, reducing the total of idle equipment to the smallest figure in more than a month.

The fortnightly bulletin of the American Railway association showed that the number of idle cars on May 27 had been lowered to 381,905, but that the reduction from May 13 was almost wholly in coal cars. Idle box cars continued to increase during the period by 1,000.

MISSING VETERAN'S BODY FOUND AFTER TWO YEARS.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., June 23.—The body of Charles Buckston, aged 70 years, an old soldier who mysteriously disappeared from his home at Waukon Junction two years ago, has been found in a dense woods two miles from his home, where it is believed he fell over a high cliff. The skeleton was covered with his weatherbeaten clothing, in a pocket of which were $4.50 in money and a note for $20, all that was left to identify him.

WEST END

IMPORTANT GATHERING.

Epworth League of Norwegian-Danish Church to Elect Officers.

The most important meeting of the year for the Epworth League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will be held this evening in the church parlors.

The last literary program of the season will be given and officers to serve the organization during the ensuing twelve months will be elected.

During the fall, winter and spring the league conducts literary meetings at regular intervals and during the season some very good efforts are brought out by the members. This evening some of the biggest hits of the past season's course will be repeated. After this evening the literary gatherings will be done away with until the cold weather comes again.

The election of the league officers promises to be a lively affair. There is a lot of good natured rivalry. For each of the important officers there are a number of candidates, whose friends will point out their merits and urge their election tonight.

The annual reports of the retiring officers are expected to show good gains over the previous year. Since the last annual meeting the society has given a number of entertainments and has turned some neat sums into the church building fund. Good gains in membership have been made.

After the literary and business sessions the young ladies of the league will serve refreshments.

Kept Doors Locked.

Timid West End housewives kept their doors locked yesterday for fear that some of the sneak thieves which are usually prevalent on circus days would ply their trade. However, as far as was learned, no robberies occurred.

West End Shortrails.

Rev. F. O. Kling and Fred W. Ericson are expected home today from Moline, Ill., where they have been attending the annual convention of the Swedish Mission Church in America. The sessions of the body concluded Sunday. Both were delegates to the conference from the Swedish Mission church of the West end.

Mrs. N. Larson and son, Herbert, of Twenty-first avenue west, left yesterday afternoon for Minneapolis. They will visit friends and relatives there and in Red Wing before returning.

Miss Ruth Carlson leaves today for Portland, Or., where she will visit relatives this summer.

Dr. Braden has returned from the East, where he has been since the medical convention in Chicago.

Ed Bush of Alborn spent yesterday with friends in the West end.

Charles Ahl has gone to Minneapolis, whe, it is understood, he is to be married. The bride-elect is a Minneapolis girl, who visited in the West end last summer.

We would like to fill your prescriptions. "Lion drug store."

Rev. H. K. Madsen, pastor of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, left yesterday for the Bitter Root valley, in company with H. B. Knudsen. He is considering the investment of some money in lands there.

The new Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, at Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, is fast nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy in another month.

Rev. A. Edstam, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, has returned from Minneapolis, where he attended the annual convention of the Swedish Baptist church. He says it was the most successful gathering ever held, as it marked the golden jubilee of the Swedish Baptists in Minnesota, and was attended by several hundred visitors, in addition to the large number of clerical and lay delegates. The convention decided to add another building to Bethel academy, at St. Anthony park.

"Lion Cough Cure" stops that cough. Sold at "Lion drug store."

The summer school at the First Swedish M. E. church opened yesterday, under the direction of Rudolph Ericson, a student in the theological department of the Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill. The school is conducted for the purpose of teaching the boys and girls of the congregation the Swedish language and Swedish history. In addition to teaching the school, Mr. Erlson will have charge of the Swedish M. E. church in West Duluth during the summer.

The remains of Mrs. Peter E. Bergh of South Twenty-seventh avenue west were taken yesterday to Garfield, Minn., for interment.

Mis Amanda Freeburg of West Third street has gone to St. Paul, where she will visit relatives for two weeks.

John F. Fossum of Chippewa Falls, Wis., has returned to his home after a visit with relatives in the West end.

Get your hat for the Fourth now. The dashiest hat in town; expert workmanship; small prices. "Parson's" two stores, 1814 Piedmont avenue and 1319 West Superior street.

APPLETON BUILDINGS ARE WRECKED BY TORNADO.

Appleton, Wis., June 23.—A tornado struck this town at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The roof was blown off the Patten paper mill and two school houses were partially wrecked. A number of small buildings are in ruins.

Will Cure Consumption.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." You never hear of any one using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied. Sold by all druggists.

WAR ON SILK PETTICOATS.

Woman Declares Rustle of Garment Has Pernicious Influence.

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—"The swish of a silk petticoat around the heels has led more girls to destruction than anything else," said Mrs. Dan Kneffler, president of the Woman's Trade Union league of St. Louis, last night. "It is not the appearance they care for, it is the pleasure they take in hearing the rustle."

As a result of Mrs. Kneffler's views, the league will wage a campaign to do away with the silk petticoat.

WILL RUN INDEPENDENT.

Democratic Candidate for Governor in Washington Repudiates Platform

Spokane, Wash., June 23.—Patrick S. Byrne of Spokane, in announcing his platform for the gubernatorial contest at the coming primaries, declares he will oppose prohibition, which was favored by the state Democratic party at its recent convention, and will cut loose from William Jennings Bryan. He will not stump the state in the interests of the national ticket, but will conduct his campaign upon state issues and a platform of his own make. He said:

"I do not intend to be bound by the platform adopted by the Democratic state convention, and I believe under the direct primary law the time is past when candidates will be compelled to make campaigns on objectionable issues foisted upon them by party leaders. While it is probable that Bryan will get the Democratic nomination for president, I am positive that he will not carry the state of Washington. I intend to make my campaign on state issues alone and not enter into national questions.

CLAIMANT TO SERVIA'S THRONE LOSES HIS SON.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MORE MEN WILL WORK AT FAYAL

Two Engines Come From Hibbing to Start Additional Work.

Eveleth, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Engines No. 118 and 119 were sent over here from Hibbing yesterday and are only waiting for the shovels before they will commence work in the Fayal stripping.

By July the shipping will go on pretty lively. The putting in of the two engines here will necessitate the employment of a number of additional men. Considerable was done on Sunday, as that was the only time that such work could be done.

VIRGINIA PUPILS ARE MAKING GOOD

Virginia, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Returns from the state high school board examinations have been received by Supt. L. Bliss of the Virginia schools, and the results for the year's work are very satisfactory, both to the faculty and pupils of the schools.

Five hundred and forty-eight certificates were won in the following subjects. Arithmetic, English grammar, United States history, geography, Latin grammar, Caesar, Cicero, Virgil, elementary algebra, higher algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, English literature I and II, physics, chemistry, physiography, physiology, civics, botany, ancient history, modern history, commercial geography, commercial law, bookkeeping, English composition, German, senior common branches, geology, political economy, freehand drawing and mechanical drawing.

Among the subjects pursued in the school for which the state as yet furnishes no tests are manual training, domestic science and typewriting. The Virginia schools are forging to the front in scholarship, and in all intellectual lines. Graduates from the high school are making good in five institutions of higher learning, not to mention normal schools. The school holds the state championship in debate for the year 1908. The graduating class for this year numbered fifteen, seven boys and eight girls, fully prepared with sixteen full credits, all of whom will take higher work. The class entering the high school from the eighth grade numbered fifty-six, all of whom have state certificates in the common branches. "The Mesabi," the school annual, will soon be published setting forth the achievements of the students on the athletic field, on the stage, as well as in the class rooms.

PROMPTED BY REVENGE

Eveleth, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ben Gordon was arraigned in municipal court yesterday charged with having made threats against Rabbi Weiner Saturday night, but the case was continued. It is reported the proceedings will be dropped. Gordon is quoted as saying that a difference between the two over some goods prompted hi mto seek revenge in the manner alleged wnn he is said to hav threatened to stick a knife into the rabbi.

HIBBING WELCOMES THEM.

Returning Baseball Players Met by Band and Given Spread.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The returning Hibbing baseball club got a warm reception here last night. The boys who come back with the scalps of several clubs dangling at their belts were met at the depot upon the arrival of the Missabe train by an enthusiastic party and a band and taken in automobiles for a parade of the city. Later they were guests at a spread at a local cafe. A reception and dance followed at Close's hall.

LOSES HIS LEG.

Young Switchman at Hull Pit Sustains Injury.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Bud" Powers employed as a switchman at the Hull pit slipped under a moving train yesterday afternoon and had a leg and one arm crushed. The leg had to be amputated and the arm may also have to be taken off. Powers belongs to a local ball club and is quite popular around town.

MONEY SCATTERED.

Wittman Made Good—Big Free Show Tonight.

Wittman made good, as he advertised, and promptly at 12:30 the parade left his show grounds, at Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street, and strains of music was enjoyed by the thousands that turned out to see this unique parade. The band was seated in a large tally ho, drawn by six superb horses, followed by the performers on horseback and in carriages, giving flowers to the ladies. What is all that excitement? remarked a man, as it seemed like a thousand boys were yelling and fighting like mad. It was soon explained, for there was Wittman with a keg of shining silver coins and a scoop, slinging money on all sides to the howling mob who, each in their anxiety to get their share, were scrambling like a pack of wolves. It was great fun for the bystanders, some of whom forgot their years and engaged in the free-for-all scramble. Tonight many more surprises are in store for the amusement-loving public. The band concert and free vaudeville will begin at 8 o'clock at Twenty-third and Superior street west. Wittman will cure the deaf, paralyzed and rheumatics.

HIBBING HOSPITALITY.

Lake Superior Mining Institute Will be Royally Entertained.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A committee of 100 well-known business men is being decided upon today to welcome the Lake Superior Mining Institute here Friday. They will act under the leadership of Frank L. Coventry. Each member of the committee will wear a badge reading, "What Can I Do For You?" The committee will meet the visitors at the Monroe-Tenner Friday morning and accompany them on a tour of inspection of other big properties. The party will return to Hibbing about 2 p. m. At 4 p. m. a game of baseball will be played between the Hibbing and Virginia teams. For the occasion the Virginia team will have the services of Oscar Graham of Minneapolis, a pitcher of the American Association league. After the baseball game there will be a business session at Close's hall. In the evening the guests will be entertained at Powers' theater. They will leave on the night train for Coleraine. It is expected that there will be fully 300 people in the party.

STUDYING LABOR SITUATION.

Hibbing, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chairman James B. Reynolds of the committee appointed by President Roosevelt to look into the labor sicuation in this section, and Representative Needham, also of the committee, are here looking over the big properties and securing the required data. The committee is interviewing the mining company, labor officials and others from whom they would be liable to gain the information desired. Two or three days will probably be spent here before visiting other range points.

EVELETH IN BRIEF.

Eveleth, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)— C. B. Hoel, cashier of the Miners' bank, accompanied by his brother, Alfred, left yesterday on his vacation, which will include a short stay on his claim up north, and a visit to his old home at MacIntosh, Minn.

CHISHOLM IN BRIEF.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It has just become known that Miss Delia Pocket and Fred Fritzhauser were quietly married at the home of the bride Tuesday, June 16. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Pocket, and the bridegroom is employed at one of the mines around Chisholm. They will make their home on the lake shore.

The Modern Woodmen of America recently initiated fifteen members. A brass band is being organized by the members, and they will practice every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The camp in Chisholm is one of the largest in the Northwest.

An ice cream social was given Saturday night in the Holmberg building for the benefit of the Swedish Lutheran church. A very large crowd attended.

A dance was given for the benefit of St. Joseph's Catholic church in the city hall last night. Heinle's orchestra furnished the music. A lunch was served by the ladies of the church.

Although the village well did not give a sufficient amount of water to supply the town, there is a larger amount being pumped than ever before. The water is of a good quality.

The Royal Neighbors gave a card party in the K. P. hall last night. A dance took place after the card party. A lunch was served by the ladies.

EVELETH MAN BURIED.

Eveleth, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Ignace Sterflock was held this morning from the Holy Family church. He died Saturday night of bowel trouble. He was about 30 years old and is survived by a number of brothers here. The society of which he belonged took part in the funeral. The interment was at Virginia.

INSTITUTE AT VIRGINIA.

Meeting of Mining Men Will be Held in Roosevelt School.

Virginia, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Virginia as well as other range towns is preparing for the meeting this week of the Lake Superior Mining institute. On Thursday evening a session will be held here in the Roosevelt high school auditorium. It is expected there will be about 200 in the party of visitors who are expected to arrive on two special trains. The session Thursday evening will be opened by songs by the Roosevelt high school glee club. Prominent among the speakers are members of the faculty from the Michigan School of Mines, and the dean of the Minnesota School of Mines. The general public who may be interested in the discussion of mining questions are invited to attend the session at the auditorim Thursday evening. Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, who is president of the institute, will preside at all the meetings.

TWO HARBORS WOMAN DIES OF STOMACH TROUBLE

Two Harbors, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Theolinda Pitterson, who has been ill for some weeks with stomach trouble, died yesterday morning at her home on Sixth avenue. She was one of Two Harbors' old and highly respected residents, and for some years has owned and conducted a boarding house where she lived. Some months ago she underwent an operation at the Mayo hospital, Rochester, Minn., for her trouble, but seemed to get no relief. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Swedish Lutheran church.

DULUTH BREWERY IS AFTER AURORA TRADE.

Aurora, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two representatives of the Independent Brewing Company of Duluth were in Aurora yesterday interviewing the village officials and saloon men in regard to furnishing them with beer, providing they sign the blind-pig agreement as passed by the council. The matter was talked over, and it is very probable that the new brewing company will begin shipping their product to this village by July 1.

JUDGE PRINCE VERY BUSY; MANY SUNDAY ARRESTS.

Eveleth, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many Sunday cases took up the attention of Judge Prince yesterday in the municipal court. William Abrass was fined $5 and costs for peddling without a license. Charles Nelson was fined the same amount for being drnk. Vasso Kovarich who was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct was fined $5. Louis and Andrew Berzalick who smashed a buggy belonging to Fuller & Shea while driving from Sparta Saturday night, had to pay $5 costs and $25 for the damage done to the buggy. A third man was also arrested with them, but was discharged on testimony of the brothers. Thomas Rebrovich was fined $25 and costs for carrying concealed weapons. John Jackila was fined $5 for being drunk. Emil Kokinar and Charles Randa, the two young fellows who were arrested for bathing in St. Mary's lake, were sent to Duluth for thirty days each on their failure to pay their fine of $10. Joseph Ries was found guilty of being a vagrant and was fined $20. Matt Prebovich was found guilty of keeping a disorderly house and was fined $25.

RANGE RAILROAD NOTES.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two Iron Range gravel trains are now hauling about 110 cars of gravel per day for the tracks in the local ore yards.

An engine and crew was sent to Ely today to work hauling ore between Ely and Tower Junction for the season.

The Finnish residents of the ranges will run special trains from Ely and Eveleth to Duluth Wednesday to their convention there, returning Friday morning.

THREATENED HIS BOSS.

Aurora, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Geager was arrested yesterday on a charge of threatening the life of Lewis Novach and fined $5 and costs. Novach is shift boss at the Miller mine and had discharged Geager. Geager met Novach several times during the day and threatened to "fix" him, when Novah at last pulled his gun and fired three times, driving Geager away.

THEODORE, JR., IS TO LEARN MINING

President's Son Will Receive Instructions at Coleraine.

New York, June 23.—The Tribune says: Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., it is understood, will have his first experience of actual work this summer as distinguished from the labor involved in study, and will get the experience as an employe of the United States Steel corporation.

Young Mr. Roosevelt, who is a member of the junior class at Harvard, in the academic department, visited the ore holdings of the Steel corporation last year. John C. Greenway, who was in the Rough Rider regiment in the Spanish war, and for whom the president holds a hearty friendship, is the superintendent of the Western Mesaba department of the Steel corporation's ore property, and it is under his direction that the younger Roosevelt will be employed.

During the month of July Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, while en route to Yellowstone National Park, will probably make a visit to Coleraine.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Mrs. Louisa Thompson, 40 years old, a resident of Zion City, the north shore town founded by the late John Alexander Dowie, died early Monday of starvation after a forty day fast. She is said to have undertaken the ordeal in the belief that it would cure her of cancer with which she was afflicted.

A general holiday for the day when William H. Taft will be formally notified of his nomination as Republican candidate for the presidency is planned by Cincinnati organizations, the celebration to be entirely non-partisan in character.

A fire in Fort Chester, N. Y., Monday destroyed a block of buildings occupied by business firms, rendered forty families homeless and entailed a loss of $500,000.

Two destructive forest fires are raging west of Buffalo in the western part of Jefferson county, Colo., and the extreme northern part of Park county. The value of the timber already destroyed is estimated at $125,000.

The recount of the mayoralty election of 1905 Monday showed a gain of 106 votes for Hearst. So far Hearst has gained 588 votes. Mayor McClellan's original plurality was 3,834.

Justice Bischoff, in the supreme court adjourned until Thursday the test case of Melville Collins, arrested at Sheepshead Bay race track last week for making a bet.

A long trestle on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad over a dry run near Florence, a suburb of Omaha, burned Monday night, putting that portion of the road out of business for the present. The fire occurred during a severe wind storm about 9 o'clock, just after a passenger train had passed over the trestle. The fire's cause is not known.

W. R. Ward of Ivorsburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven, without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." WELL DIGGER KILLED.

Tracy, Minn., Man Blown Into Eternity by Explosion of Dynamite.

Tracy, Minn., June 23.—This community was startled day before yesterday by an explosion which took place in the southwest portion of the city. The explosion came from where H. A. Rogers, an old well digger, had his shop. Upon investigation no shop was found, but pieces of boards were scattered all over the ciclnity.

About ten feet from where the explosion took place, indicated by a hole in the ground, the dismembered and mangled remains of Mr. Rogers were found.

There is no clue as to how the explosion took place, but it is presumed that in some way dynamite, which he used in his calling, was accidentally set off. Mr. Rogers leaves a widow and several children.

ness of the church, set the time of arrival at 2:45 p. m., and by that hour all the guests had found their seats. While the guests were assembling, Dr. Alcock, the composer, and the organist played a fugue by Bach, the nuptial march by Alexander Guilmant, the entr'acte and bridal march from "The Birds of Aristophanes," by Sir H. H. Barry; an Adantino by Guilmant, and the prelude to Act III of "Lohengrin."

A few minutes before 3 o'clock, King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by their suites, drove up from Buckingham Palace and proceeded at once to the royal gallery, where the prince and princess of Wales, the duke and duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia already had arrived. As is customary in the Church of England service, the officiating clergymen, accompanied by a surpliced choir, met the bridal procession at the door and proceeded to the chapel, the choir singing "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us."

The Rev. Edgar Sheppard, canon of St. George's chapel, Windsor, where the king and queen attend service when in residence at Windsor castle, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. William Grosvenor, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, New York, a church of which Mr. and Mrs. Reid have been members for many years, and the Rev. Hiers Claughton, rector of Hutton-Brentwood, a cousin of the groom.

The bride's dress was of soft white satin, trimmed with old rose point lace, given her by her grandmother. The fronts of the skirt and waist were practically covered with this beautiful lace, which was caught up with tiny white rosebuds and orange blossoms. The court train was of the same material as the dress and, like it, was trimmed with rose point lace. The veil, too, had a lace center and edging and was held by a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride wore but a few dainty jewels and looked charmingly beautiful as she walked up the aisle of the historical old chapel on the arm of her father.

Miss Jennie Crocker of San Francisco attended her cousin and on account of the smallness of the chapel, which even with all the precautions taken, was rather overcrowded, was the only bridesmaid. She wore a dainty costume of white embroidered muslin with blue sash and a large picture hat trimmed with flowers. There were also in attendance five little children, two boys and three girls, all in quaint costumes of blue and white, taken from one of Reynolds' famous child pictures. They made as pretty a little group as has ever followed a bride to the altar.

Maj. George L. Holford, equerry-in-waiting, to the king, through whom the bride and groom first met, supported Mr. Ward, and the ushers were Messrs. Cyril, Robert and Gerald Ward, brothers of the groom, Ogden Reid, Craig Wadsworth, Grant Smith and E. Sheldon Whitehouse.

Seldom has a bride been the recipient of a greater or more beautiful lot of wedding presents. There were many handsome and costly pieces of jewelry, bric-a-brac and hundreds of other articles, besides the presents f the immediate relatives of the couple, the nature of which remains their secret, but the hobby of both Mr. and Mrs. Ward of collecting old silver must have been known to their friends for the presents of silver form a very fine collection.

The prince and princess of Wales were among those who gratified the couple's love of old silver. Their present consisted of a splendid set of old silver sauce dishes recently secured at a sale of an historical collection. The earl and countess of Dudley sent a set of silver dishes, the dowager Lady Dudley, a set of silver flower bowls, while Mr. Ward's brothers and his only sister, Lady Wolverton added other handsome pieces all of the period of George III.

Notable amongst a great collection were: A necklase of carved emeralds and sapphires, a copy of an ancient Oriental necklace from J. P. Morgan; diamond comb, Mrs. W. D. Sloane of New York; diamond hair ornament, Mrs. Twombley, New York; silver tray, Mrs. Hay, Washington; diamond and emerald corsage piece, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills; diamond drop, Mrs. Russell Sage; amethyst and diamond brooch, Lord Roseberry; gold tea caddies of the period of George I, Lord and Lady Mount Stephen; silver breakfast set, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander; silver tea and coffee set, Mrs. Boardman of Washington; diamond and pearl pin, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Astor; sapphire and diamond pin, Mrs. J. J. Astor; gold cups, Lady Barrymore; Heley china cups, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root; pearl and diamond ring, Miss Jennie Crocker; fitted traveling bag, Templeton Crocker; silver gilt tea set, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grant; fitted traveling bag, Sir John and Lady Lister Kaye; gold purse studdend with sapphires, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

Saturday last, Aaron M. Johnson, a prominent farmer, was assassinated while seated at the dining table with his wife and child, the bullet being fired through the window. For this crime, Perry Price, a negro, was arrested and, it is stated, confessed, implicating Robert Wright, a relative of one of the negroes held for Dean's murder. Price declared he was offered $5 to kill Johnson.

Then followed the forming of the mob, the overpowering of the jailer at Hemphill and the lynching of the six negroes held for the murder of Dean. Five were hanged to the same tree, while another attempted to escape and was shot to death. Later in the night, William McCoy, another negro, was shot and killed while standing at the gate of the Johnson home, and this morning the bodies of two more negroes were found in the creek bottom. Wright, the negro who confessed to the killing of Johnson, and the man he implicated were taken to Beaumont for safe keeping, under guard of a military company.

Sabin county is situated in the most remote eastern section of the state, with a lack of railroad and telegraph facilities, and is thickly timbered.

Is it not possible and would it not be more fitting and just to substitute another punishment for Fish and Morgan if, as stated, they merely took away a book which they were permitted to use in the library. It seems to us, and we feel sure, that it is unfair and unnecessary to make others suffer for an offense of this kind for which some other punishment might surely be found.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
"ROBERT BACON."

President Eliot's reply was as follows:

"To President Roosevelt, White House, Washington: Each man did a dishonorable thing. One violated in his private interest and in a crooked way a rule made in the common interest, while the other gave a false name and did not take subsequent opportunity to give his own. The least possible punishment was putting them on probation, but that drops them from the crews. A keen and sure sense of honor being the finest result of college life, I think the college and graduates should condemn effectively dishonorable conduct. The college should also teach that one must never do scurvy things in the supposed interest, or for the pleasure of others.

candidates for this high office is optimistic as to the outlook, all declaring that they are certain of the number of votes necessary to be placed before the legislature as the candidate of the people. Senator H. C. Hansbrough, for eighteen years a member of the United States senate, has been made the butt of one of the bitterest election campaigns ever promulgated.

All Fighting Hansbrough.

All three opposing candidates, Thomas F. Marshall, C. B. Little and M. N. Johnson, have been fighting the senior senator, tooth and nail, but even this fierce onslaught seems to have been withstood and, though predictions seem impossible, many in touch with conditions throughout the state believe that Senator Hansbrough will be the leading candidate when the votes are counted. The Marshall forces are equally confident of winning as are the Hansbrough forces.

Congressman Marshall has been backed in the campaign by the indorsement of an insurgent convention, held in Grand Forks last November, the center of his work lying at Lisbon, where a Marshall headquarters have been maintained. During the past couple of weeks there have been big gains in the ranks of the Marshall men, but to what extent they have devcloped can only be told after the returns are in, which will probably be several days after election.

C. B. Little's campaign has been conducted from Bismarck with a great deal of flourish, and if newspaper space has any effect, some portions of the state will give him a good vote. M. N. Johnson has conducted his campaign from his home in Petersburg, and will poll a large Scandinavian vote. M. N. Johnson and Thomas Marshall are insurgent candidates; C. B. Little is stalwart and H. C. Hansbrough independent.

The fight against Senator Hansbrough has been based on alleged affiliations with corporate interests, which have been strongly denied by

Nerves Wrong, Everything Wrong

Sleeplessness.
Sick headaches.
Nervous indigestion.
Tendency to worry and anxiety.
Sensitiveness to light and sound.
Weakness of bodily organs.
Neuralgic and sciatic pains.
Nervousness and irritability.
Discouragement, despondency, and dread of the future.

These tell of exhausted nerves and point to the approach of prostration, paralysis or locomotor ataxia. It is so easy to neglect diseases of the nerves, but they never right themselves. The system must be strengthened, built up and revitalized by such treatment as Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, the greatest of nerve restoratives.

Portrait and signature of the famous Receipt Book author, A. W. Chase, M. D., on every box. 50 cents, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. J. H. Kuch, 671 Michigan Ave., Detroit, Mich., states:

"I suffered intensely from nervousness. It seemed as though the nervous system was entirely shattered, could not rest or sleep, no strength or energy. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills did wonders for me. I rest well, appetite is good, no more headaches, am gaining in flesh and my nerves are strong and steady."

him. In fact, open charges that the International Harvester company has been engaged in the campaign to defeat Hansbrough have been made by the senior senator, and it is also claimed that officers of the concern have admitted their purpose. Corporation influence has been the big talk of the entire campaign from the time it was launched. The American Federation of Labor has indorsed the candidacy of Senator Hansbrough.

The Congressional Contest.

In the race for the Republican congressional nomination there are nine candidates, with two positions to be filled. The stalwart faction of the Republican party is supporting A. J. Gronne and L. B. Hanna, while the insurgents are supporting George M. Young and H. T. Helgeson. The independent candidates in this race are P. J. McClory, H. N. Midtbo, J. E. Robinson, E. R. Kinkler and E. A. Williams. The greatest fight has been waged between the stalwart and the insurgent candidates, the independent candidates making their campaign irrespective of party faction affiliations. The American Federation of Labor has indorsed Hanna and Gronna, and the labor unions of the state are engaged in working for their election.

Another fight that is attracting a great deal of interest is that between C. A. Johnson of Ward and Treadwell Twichel of Cass county for the position of governor. Johnson is the stalwart candidate, while Twichell poses as the insurgent candidate. Both have been on the stump during the past four months and the result is looked forward to with interest, both candidates claiming to have the nomination cinched.

greatly agitated upon hearing the condition of her husband, and declared her intention of coming at once to Cleveland. An effort to persuade her not to come at the present time failed, and she and her son, Richard U. Sherman, an instructor in Hamilton college at Clinton, N. Y., started for this city.

Conressman Sherman suffered a similar attack in New York city, two years ago, while serving as chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee. He was then seriously ill, but no operation was performed.

At Lakeside hospital it is said Mr. Sherman is resting quite comfortably. During the early hours of the morning the temperature of the patient rose to 102, subsequently, however, his physicians announced that it had again become normal. Congressman Sherman came here from Cincinnati last Sunday and at once went to the home of Mr. Herrick. There he was forced to his bed yesterday.

The illness, caused by gall stones, is generally more painful than dangerous. The stones form in the gall bladder and, if not dissolved by medication, increase in size until they are too large to pass through the gall duct. Then it is often necessary to perform an operation, and frequently the gall bladder is removed entirely. Then operation itself is not necessarily dangerous. There is a large percentage of recoveries, though, according to physicians, there is always danger of complications.

Utica, N. Y., June 23.—Word was sent to the family of James S. Sherman in this city early today that the vice presidential candidate had been compelled to go to a hospital in Cleveland, Ohio, and that Dr. Finney of Baltimore, who attended Mr. Sherman during an attack of the same trouble in Washington last year, had been summoned. Mrs. Sherman and one of her sons have gone to Cleveland.

The news received here is very disquieting and it is said that Mr. Sherman is in a serious condition. Extensive arrangements had been made to give him a great reception on his return this evening, and special trains from all sections of Central and Northern New York had been arranged for to bring people to the city.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better, and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

power and very different from such a contingency that might arise through the inability of Mr. Sherman to accept the nomination.

Could Fill Vacancy.

Chicago, June 23.—When apprised of the illness of Representative Sherman S. Sherman, the Republican vice presidential nominee, Harry S. New, chairman of the national committee, expressed great regret.

While the friends of Mr. Sherman are taking a hopeful view of his case, the question naturally arises regarding the course of procedure in case of his demise. Mr. New was clearly of the opinion that in such event the national committee would have full power to name a vice presidential candidate. They are, he said, vested with similar power in regard to the presidential candidate, but said that where there was sufficient time before election to do so, the committee would reassemble the convention and have a nomination made in the regular way. While there is no precedent to guide the national committee in filling a vacancy, there seems to be no doubt that the committee has authority to name a candidate for vice president in the event of the death of Mr. Sherman. This is the opinion of a number of the members of the national Republican committee, it being stated that the representative of the state on the national committee stands in the place of the state delegation to the national convention, and therefore has authority to act for the delegation in the event of a vacancy on the national ticket.

The same view regarding action in the event of a vacancy is held by the Democrats, since at the St. Louis convention, four years ago, as Mr. Davis, the nominee for vice president, was 80 years old, a resolution was passed by the committee authorizing the national Democratic committee to fill a vacancy in case of necessity.

While every one hopes that there will be no occasion to select another candidate for vice president by the Republicans, there is no doubt that the national committee has authority to fill a vacancy in an emergency.

DRIVES HORSE ON BET; ITALIAN IS ARRESTED.

Ishpeming, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—An Italian who was speeding his horse between this city and Negaunee Saturday afternoon was arrested in the latter city and brought back here by Deputy Marshal Trevarrow. He was brought into court and fined. When he left the court room he stated that he was driving the horse on a bet of $5.

WILL WORK FOR TAFT

Senator La Follette Says He Will Help in Campaign.

The Platform Will Do, Although Not Wholly Satisfactory.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, looking fresh and vigorous after his strenuous campaign in the cause of reform, reached Superior this morning from Houghton, Mich.

Senator La Follette, in a talk with a Herald reporter, declared, among other things, that he would be in the national campaign this fall to do whatever he could to help the Republican cause.

"I am feeling fine," began the senator. "I am twenty pounds lighter than I was last winter and feel better than I have for some time. My plans are made for some time ahead. I have lecture engagements that will keep me busy until the first of September, when I shall turn in and help to elect William H. Taft.

"The message I sent to Taft upon his nomination expresses my true sentiment. While I cannot pretend that the Republican platform is satisfactory in all its details, I think the party has continued to advance, and see no reasons why we should not continue to advance more rapidly in the future.

"I don't think that any true Republican will desert the standard of the party. I believe that within the ranks of the Republican party are the elements of great progress. I believe that the party can accomplish great reforms, reforms that will be true and lasting and will reflect to the credit of the party.

"Some of us are in favor of more rapid reforms than the party is making, but that is no reason why we should not continue to remain loyal to the Republican party and exert every influence in its behalf."

Senator La Follette will come to Duluth late this afternoon to deliver his lecture in the Star lecture course. He was entertained in Superior by friends.

VISITORS ARE COMING

Finnish People of Northwest Will Celebrate in Duluth.

All that is needed to make the Johannes day celebration or Midsummer festival, in this city tomorrow and Thursday a success is good weather, and the weather man has promised that.

Charles Kauppi, chairman of the committee on arrangements of the big Finnish celebration, stated today that everything has been arranged to give the visitors a splendid time, providing the weather does not cause any hitches in the entertainment.

The two days' celebration will begin tomorrow morning with a program at Lincoln park where speeches will be made by Mayor Haven and prominent Finnish and American citizens from the county and state. There will also be numerous musical and literary selections to vary the program and the whole will be followed by contests and sports characteristic of the Finnish people.

The special trains from the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges over the Missabe and Iron Range roads are expected to arrive at the union depot at 10 o'clock. If the trains arrive about the same time it is probable that there will be a parade from the depot to Eighth avenue west when the visitors will avail themselves of the street cars to go to the park. Assurances have been had from the street railway company that plenty of cars will be on hand to give frequent service to and from the park during the day.

The Copper country crowd is expected to arrive by chartered steamer about 8 o'clock this evening. Among them will be the celebrated Calumet Glee club comprised of Finnish singers.

The big event of Wednesday evening will be the concert at the Lyceum, for which the seat sale opened today. The program consists of selections by the Calumet Glee club and a number of local people and people from the range towns will assist. The concert is open not only to the Finnish people participating in the celebration but to everybody regardless of nationality and a fine entertainment is promised.

While many of the range visitors will probably return to their homes on the special trains tomorrow night it is expected that the attendance at the Thursday celebration will be quite large. An excursion up he river with a picnic at Fond du Lac will be the program of the day. Thursday evening there will be another concert and show at Flaaten's hall.

The special trains will be accompanied by hands from Hibbing and Ely.

Excursion to Cleveland.

COMPANY IS WILLING

Possible Obstacle to Municipal Lighting Plant Removed.

The Great Northern Power company stands ready and willing to furnish Duluth with necessary power for a municipal electric lighting plant, according to a communication received by the council at the meeting last night. No rates were quoted, the company explaining that rates could not be given until it was learned how much power would be needed, when it would be needed, etc. Further details were asked, so the company might have a basis upon which to prepare its figures.

It is now believed there is no serious obstacle in the way of Duluth securing and maintaining her own electric lighting plant. With the promise of the power company, about all that is needed to clear the path for the acquirement of such a plant is legislation from the state, and it is believed no difficulty will be experienced in getting this at the session next winter. At the meeting of the council last night, a committee was appointed, as reported in another column, to prepare legislation of the kind desired.

It was feared for a time that the Great Northern Power company might object to furnishing the city with electric power, but last night's communication on this point sets all such doubts aside. Later on a written agreement will be entered into, whereby the company promises to furnish Duluth with all the power required at specified prices.

A thorough investigation will be made into the matter of necessary legislation in time for a comprehensive and effective bill to be drawn up, and its points explained to the legislators from this district, before the next session of the legislature.

Had Plenty of Cars.
To handle the large crowd expected at the circus yesterday afternoon the street railway company inaugurated a two-and-one-half-minute car service on the West Third street and the West Duluth lines and kept a large number of cars and men in reserve at the barns all the afternoon to be called out in case of emergency. The threatening weather together with the rainfall in the morning kept many people away, however, and a number of the cars ran almost empty. The additional service was maintained last evening, when more people were carried than during the day. The company expects to maintain a similar service for the Ringling circus Friday.

Mattson Is Convicted.
Emil Mattson was tried and convicted in the district court of assault in the third degree, the jury remaining out only ten minutes. Mattson was accused of assault in the second degree. It was claimed that he stabbed John Nelson March 13 last on Lake avenue south. Mattson was defended by J. J. Robinson.

Dismisses the Case.
On motion of the county attorney against Mrs. Annie Erovich, indicted for running a blind pig, was dismissed. The evidence against the woman was the same as that given against her husband, John Erovich, who was acquitted on the same charge a few days ago.

Petre Flats Sold.

The forcful reduction set forth in Gliding's add will prove to be of interest to hundreds of shrewd women buyers.

Court at Grand Marais.
Judge Homer B. Dibell and George H. Stillman, court reporter, will leave tomorrow on a North shore boat for Grand Marais, Minn., where Judge Dibell will preside at the June term of the district court of Cook county, which will open Thursday morning. One term of the district court is held each year in Cook county, beginning the last week in June. It is understood that there are a number of civil cases that have accumulated for trial during the past several months, and the grand jury will probably report some criminal cases for trial.

Are Under Treatment.
Mrs. Marsh, a resident of this city, who was taken into custody a few days ago, pending examination for insanity, may be released shortly if she continues to improve in condition. Her friends have been making quite an effort to secure her release and her condition is claimed to be due to excessive use of intoxicants rather than to any physical cause. This afternoon the probate court was to examine a woman brought to the local hospital recently from the Whiteface river district. She has been undergoing treatment for some days past and it is thought that an operation in the near future may remove the cause of her infirmity.

Dockstader Is Coming.
Lew Dockstader, the famous minstrel, will arrive in Duluth next Sunday morning. He will appear at the Lyceum Monday night, June 29, and is figuring on closing his season in time to attend the big national Shriners' convention at St. Paul during the week of July 12. Mr. Dockstader is one of the big Shriners of the United States, and through his prominence in a public way and his ready minstrel wit, is always welcome at these big gatherings, and delights to attend them. Mr. Dockstader will be entertained in Duluth by the members of Aad Temple Shriners of this city.

"Carry" In Again.
Carry Halvorsan was in police court this morning for being drunk. She was given a sentence of ten days in the county jail. She is an old offender, and is the same woman who burst into tears the other day when told by the judge that death was the only thing that would stop her drinking.

WHEAT HAS EASY TONE

American Markets Show Fractional Losses at the Close.

Flax Is Fairly Active and Firm in Duluth Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 23.—Wheat was rather quiet during the session of the American markets today and closed easier. As yesterday, wire trouble made communication with the outside markets difficult in Duluth and much of the usual information could not be obtained on the local exchange.

During the day the wheat sold within a half point here and the losses from yesterday at the close were fractional. Liverpool closed ¼d lower to ⅛d higher, Berlin ⅝c lower and Budapest 1¾c higher.

The July option closed unchanged in Duluth, ⅝-¾c lower in Chicago, ⅛c higher in Minneapolis, ⅛c lower in New York and ⅝c lower in Winnipeg. The closing prices of wheat not received from the Southwest. The September option closed ⅛c lower in Duluth and Chicago, ⅛-⅝c lower in Minneapolis, ⅛c higher in New York and ⅛c lower in Winnipeg for the October option.

July corn closed ⅝c lower in Chicago and ¾d to ½d lower in Liverpool. July oats closed ⅞c lower in Chicago.

Primary receipts of wheat were 594,000 bus., last year 711,000 bus. Shipments 340,000 bus., last year 368,000 bus. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 249,000 bus.

Bradstreet's reports a decrease of 7,085,000 bus., in the world's visible supply of wheat. In the United States and Canada there was a decrease of 1,985,000 bus., and in Europe and afloat, a decrease of 5,100,000 bus.

Primary receipts of corn were 755,000 bus., last year 1,116,000 bus. Shipments 492,000 bus., last year 725,000 bus.

Wheat was quiet in the Duluth market. July wheat opened ⅛c higher at $1.03⅜, declined to $1.03, rallied to $1.03¼ and closed there, unchanged from yesterday. September wheat opened ⅛c lower at 89¾c, advanced to 90c, declined to 89⅝c, rallied to 89¾c, declined to 89¼c, reacted to 89⅝c and went off by the close to 89⅜c, a loss of ⅛c from yesterday.

Durum and cash spring wheat was unchanged.

Flax was active and closed unchanged. July flax opened unchanged at $1.20½, declined to $1.18¾, rallied to $1.20¼ and closed there, unchanged from yesterday. September flax opened ½c lower at $1.18, advanced to $1.18¾, declined to $1.18, rallied to $1.19½ and closed unchanged from yesterday at $1.18½. October flax opened ½c lower at $1.17½, declined to $1.17¼, rallied to $1.18¾ and closed unchanged from yesterday at $1.17⅝.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, June 23.—Free selling of wheat by several leading commission houses induced by good weather for harvesting in the local exchange today nearly 1 cent from the previous closing quotations. July opened 1⅜@1⅝c lower to a shade higher at 86⅝@87c and sold off to 85¾c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 277 cars against 286 cars last week and 482 cars one year ago.

Sentiment continued bearish throughout the session and the market closed weak with July ⅝@⅞c lower, at 85¾c. The corn market was weak early on lower cables and the break in wheat. The volume of trading was small. July opened unchanged to ¼c lower, at 69⅝@69¾c and sold off to 69¼c. Local receipts were 440 cars with 40 of contract grade.

The oats market was affected by the weakness in other grains and ruled dull and easy. July opened ⅜c lower at 43¾c and sold off to 45⅝c. Local receipts were 217 cars.

Provisions were steady, a 5c advance in hogs offsetting the effect of the slump in grain prices. September pork was up 5c at $14.80; lard was 2½c higher at $9.15. Ribs were up 2½c at $8.40.

Close: Wheat—July, 85¾c; September, 85¼c; December, 90¾c. Corn—July, 69¼c; September, 69⅝@69¾c; December, 58¾c; May, 58⅝c. Oats—July, old, 45@45⅛c; July, 43¾c; September, 33¾c; December, 29½c. Pork—July, $14.55; September, $14.80; December, $14.60. Lard—July, $8.92½; September, $9.12½; October, $9.20. Ribs—July, $8.15; September, 8.37½@8.40; October, 8.47½. Rye—Cash, 78c. Barley—Cash, 58@63c. Cash wheat—No. 2 red, 86@86c; No. 3 red, 85@86c; No. 2 hard, 90@91c; No. 3 hard, 85@89c; No. 1 northern, $1.06; No. 3 spring, 95@$1.00.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Varying Conditions in Wheat Prevent Any Advance of Consequence.

Minneapolis, June 23.—The wheat pit was too dull for any advances of consequence. The rain reports were unfavorable from spring wheat country, but from the winter wheat states there was nothing new that was unfavorable. Local elevator stocks decreased 15,000 bushels for three days and receipts today were 179 cars against 286, Duluth getting 84 against 120. There was hesitation and light trades in the pit and orders fro moutside were scarce. At times the market was very dull. Before the close there was selling of September. July opened $1.02⅞, high $1.03⅜, low $1.02⅞, close $1.03. Old July, closed $1.04. September opened 88⅜c, high 88⅜c, low 87⅝@87½c, close 87⅝@87¾c. Old September, closed 88⅞c.

Cash premiums were based on new July and were 3@3½c over for No. 1 northern and 1@1½c over for No. 2. There was a fair general demand though millers bought rather sparingly. Close: No. 1 northern, $1.05¾, spot $1.05¾, to arrive, No. 2 northern, $1.03¾ spot; $1.03¾ to arrive. No. 3 wheat, 99¾c@$1.02¾.

No. 3 yellow corn, 68¼@68¾c; No. 3 white oats, 49⅝@50c.

No. 2 rye, 69¾@71¾c.

Barley was a cent higher for fine milling quality and steady for medium grades. Two cars of South Dakota, 51 pound barley, sold at 60c, and there was demand for more of that grade. Receipts, 8 cars. Close, 50@60c.

Flax steady at Duluth July price. Good demand but plenty on sale and no premium obtainable. Receipts, 28 cars. Close, $1.20¼.

The flour market showed no change either in prices or in the situation. Demand is moderate, shipments light and the trade seems inclined to hold off and wait, buying meantime for immediate requirements only. Shipments 37,980 barrels. First patents, $5.30@5.45; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $4.20@4.30; second clears, $3.50@3.60.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Little Changes in Final Hour and Close Was Easy.

New York, June 23.—Opening dealings in stocks brought mixed results in the price movement. The dealings were small and changes generally were narrow. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred declined 1½, the first preferred 1 and Colorado & Southern first preferred, ¾. Westinghouse Electric advanced 1¼ and Canadian Pacific and Chicago Great Western, ⅝.

The movement of prices during the first hour was erratic, advances and reactions occurring frequently but neither the high nor the low level was far from yesterday's closing. Reading, St. Paul and Union Pacific were the most active and fluctuated most widely. Prices were rising in spots at 11 o'clock.

Pressure continued notwithstanding the lapse into dullness. A rally in the Rock Island collateral bonds from yesterday's break was the feature of the bond market. The geenral tone in that division was irregular.

Pressure against the copper stocks eventually spread to the railroad list and earlier gains there were surrendered. Illinois Central declined 2⅝, Chesapeake & Ohio and Anaconda 1¾ and Amalgamated Copper 1.

When the selling movement had spent its force, prices rallied. Union Pacific recovered to 143 again and other active stocks a large fraction. Louisville & Nashville gained a point.

The market closed easy and dull. The market in the final hour drifted almost idly with no changes of importance in the price level. There were small gains, ruling in the late transactions, and Chesapeake & Ohio got 2¼ below last night, Westinghouse Electric 1¾ and American Linseed preferred 1½.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED BEYOND

Paris, June 23.—W. B. Leeds, an American financier, died suddenly at the Ritz hotel in this city at half past 10 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Leeds was with him. He has been ill for some years. It is said here that Mr. Leeds, who was at one time president of the Rock Island railroad, leaves a fortune larger than generally was supposed. Intimate friends in Paris today estimated his wealth at $35,000,000.

Newark, N. J., June 23.—Everett Mills, in his day one of the best known ball players in the country, died yesterday at his home here. Mills made his baseball reputation as first baseman with the Eurekas and the Red Stockings in the '70's.

INSTITUTE WILL MEET

About 225 Mining Men Will Visit Duluth and Ranges.

About 225 members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute are expected to arrive in the city tonight and tomorrow morning, and elaborate preparations are being made to entertain them while they are here and on the ranges.

The following is the intinerary to the iron ranges, telling of headquarters, departures and arrivals of excursions:

The headquarters of the institute and bureau of information will be at the Spalding hotel. On arrival, members and their guests will register at headquarters, receive assignments of accommodations for trip to ranges, etc. On account of both state and interstate laws regulating railroad transportation, it will be necessary for all those participating in this trip to pay the regular railway fare of 2 cents per mile, excepting such as have, under the law, free transportation on these Minnesota roads. Eight meals will be served in dining cars en route, and for these tickets will be provided, to be bought by members and guests at about cost per meal. Such tickets should be secured prior to departure from Duluth.

No special program has been arranged for Wednesday. For the accommodation of such members as may be in Duluth in time to take advantage of it, the privilege of the various clubs of the city has been offered. These include the Kitchi Gamini, Commercial, Northland Country, Duluth Boat and Duluth Yacht clubs. All these clubs have safes. The golf links are in the Northland Country club, and sail boats or launches may be engaged at the Boat or Yacht club. Tickets to the various clubs may had on application.

During Wednesday and Saturday, time not otherwise occupied may be profitably spent in an inspection of various industries in and near the city.

There will be an informal smoker and reception for members of the Institute and their guests at the club house of the Northland Country club at 8 o'clock p. m. The club may be reached by Lakeside cars that pass the Spalding hotel going east, at 7:40, 8:00 and 8:20 p. m. Returning cars will pass the club at an hour that will be announced.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Will be Held at Minneapolis Aug. 15—Primaries Aug. 12.

St. Paul, June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democratic state central committee held a meeting here this afternoon and decided to hold the state primaries Aug. 12 and the state nominating convention Aug 15. The convention will be held in Minneapolis.

IRONWOOD BOY'S BODY CRUSHED

Ironwood, Mich., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nicholas Drazrski, a Polish boy, son of a miner working in the Aurora mine here, was practically cut in two by a train near the mine yesterday. The boy was picking up chips along the track and was crawling underneath some cars, near the Aurora mine, pulling a partly filled bag of chips behind him, when an approaching engine and cars, which he did not see struck the cars under which he was crawling, causing them to move upon his body just as he was passing over the rails. The wheels caught him in the breast, crushing out his life. The horrified cries of other children attracted the attention of the train crew, but too late to save the boy.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon, the coroner's jury finding that death was due to an accident, and exonerating the train crew. The boy's home was in the Aurora location, just across the street from the scene of the accident. The boy was 10 years old.

LE TOURNEAU IS CANDIDATE

"In spite of the statements that have been made to the contrary," said J. J. Le Tourneau today, "I am a candidate to succeed myself as a member of the school board. If my friends wish me to serve another term on the board I shall do so."

Mr. Le Tourneau is one of the oldest members of the board in point of service, and for several years past has acted as treasurer of the board.

Whist Club Scores.

The eighth and last game of the handicap tournament took place last night at the rooms of the Duluth Whist club. Sixteen players, forming four tables, were present. Score:

NORTH-SOUTH.

Brown-Wachtel	180 + 9¼
Bradley-Becher	171 + ¼
Kennedy-Lardner	169 — 1¾
Cleveland-R. D. Bradley	163 — 7¾
Total	683
Average	170¾

EAST-WEST.

Armstead-Ogilvie	146 + 4¾
Mather-Edson	144 + 2¾
Logan-Sherwin	139 — 2¼
Kerr-Reitan	136 — 5¼
Average	141¼

One of the rules governing pair contests is that two-thirds of all games must be played, or a standing cannot be had. Several pairs in this contest played five games, but as it required six to make the necessary two-thirds of the games, their standing is not given. Those playing in sufficient games to give them a standing and who finished with plus scores are here given.

	Games Played.	Average Plus.
Kennedy-Lardner	6	7.28
Brown-Wachtel	7	5.28
Logan-McCreary	7	4.10
Kerr-Reitan	8	1.70

Next Monday night the third tournament for pairs will begin. It will be an eight-game contest. Players are requested to be on hand so that play may begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Delegates to County Convention Will be Chosen in Duluth.

The Republican county primaries will be held this evening from 7 until 8 o'clock. The caucuses will be held in the regular polling places and will be for the purpose of electing delegates to the Republican county convention, held in this city Thursday, June 25. The county convention will elect a delegation to represent the county in the Republican State convention to be held in St. Paul July 1.

There are no contests in any of the precincts, as far as is known, and there promises to be no feature to the primaries. The fact that the county delegation will probably go to St. Paul uninstructed as to the state ticket and the fact that there is no candidate from St. Louis county for the state ticket has robbed the primaries and county convention of any decided feature.

SQUARE HEAPED WITH CORPSES

Berlin, June 23.—News has just been received here that the troops of the shah of Persia have stormed and captured the parliament buildings in Teheran.

The city is now being bombarded by artillery.

The square in front of the parliament buildings is said to be heaped with corpses.

POLK COUNTY PRIMARIES.

Crookston, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston primaries last night resulted in thirteen Jacobson and Young delegates and five for Savage. The country precincts seemed to favor Jacobson, and the city delegation will support Jacobson or Young at the county convention, as desired by its rural districts, to secure harmony.

ASHLAND'S LID RAISED.

Ashland, Wis., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ashland had its first wet Sunday, June 21, in a long time, the new ordinance repealing all former ordinances having gone into effect Friday, thereby permitting saloons to be open daily and Sunday between 6 a. m. and 1 a. m. of the following day. Under the new ordinance the accused saloonmen will be given a trial by jury and friends of the measure claim it will be hard to find a jury that will acquit excepting in extreme cases. The Civic league proposes, however, to go ahead, make arrests for violations of the state law and prosecute.

BIG MONEY
The largest fortunes in the United States have been made in oil. There is no limit to the demand. The United States naval board of construction has decided to equip the 10 destroyers ordered by the last congress with engines capable of using oil as a fuel. This improvement has already been adopted in the British navy. The Southwestern Oil Company has one of the most promising oil properties now on the market, consisting of 2,520 acres of the richest oil bearing lands in New Mexico. Stock in this company can now be had in blocks of 100 shares at 25c per share, cash or one-fourth down and one-fourth per month.

While the large interests are temporarily quiet they have the greatest confidence in the future, placing large reliance on the expectation of the largest crops in the history of the country. All seem to be firm in the belief that Mr. Taft will be the next president. The situation abroad is quite encouraging. London bankers report increased inquiries from their clients as well as continued demand for new issues. Money is particularly a drug on the market and the London banking interests are again discussing the advisability of a further reduction in bank rates. Hundreds of thousands of investors throughout the country have been waiting for a break in prices with the hope of making purchases at a lower level. Nothing outside of a national calamity can happen to force security prices to anywhere near the panic low price of the past winter.

In the listed coppers the market continues dull but strong. There is little or no change in the metal situation. North Butte during he past year has reduced its cost of production over 33 per cent. Net earnings for the 12 months ending June 1 was equivalent to $2.75 per share. These results were derived in a period of chaotic conditions in the copper market and when the mine was run nearly as much on development work as on actual production. North Butte is undoubtedly one of the best purchases in the Boston listed stocks.

On the local curb there was heavy trading in Butte & Superior, Butte & Ballaklava, Black Mountain, Greene-Cananea and Calumet & Montana. These issues leading in a volume of business.

In Butte-Ballaklava there was a good inquiry from the outside. What little selling pressure there was came from the old-time bear crowd, who have for the past week been putting forth every effort to break the price of this stock that they might cover some of their short sales at a lower price. Do not be fooled into parting with your Butte-Ballaklava. If you are afraid of the market going lower come in and accept the proposition of our client who is willing to put up a bond on 1,000 shares guaranteeing against loss in consideration of half the profits. This is an absolute cinch proposition for those who are afraid of the market.

We have another client who offers tonight $7.50 per share for 2,000 shares of this stock on a three-point margin. If you need a little money and are afraid of the market, why not accept this proposition, as you are getting the extreme top of the market and are absolutely safe.

We have a customer for 500 shares of Brayton Bros.' Self Threading Needle company stock, also $15,000 some 7 per cent bonds.

To the People of Duluth and Iron Range

Last year in the columns of this paper, I pledged my reputation as a Mine Manager and Engineer, in stating that

ARIZONA & EASTERN CONSOLIDATED MINING CO.

Would make good. The prediction has been fulfilled.

Our two compartment shaft, now down 200 feet, is in 24 per cent copper ore. The vein is widening out and the ground of a nature where ore will live in quantity.

We are now installing a $30,000 camp and equipment, and have but $9,000 more to pay on it. The plant will be running in sixty days.

There will be absolutely no further general stock sold. I have secured from the company a block, and the last that will be sold, which I am apportioning among a development club ON TERMS AND AT A PRICE THAT WILL MAKE IT ATTRACTIVE to any man who can scare up a few dollars. The club will be limited and fif

STREET CARS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.

The fare for a continuous ride in one direction between any two points on either one of these lines is 5c.

The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.

This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation, between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of foreseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines, nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and, therefore, cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

MONTANA HORSE THIEVES.

Alleged Rustlers Taken in North Dakota With Lot of Horses.

Minot, N. D., June 23.—Two of the alleged notorious horse thieves in the West were caught by Sheriff S. C. Small of Glasgow, Mont., in the hills near Crosby. The men were caught with thirty-five head of horses.

Sheriff Small came to Minot with the alleged thieves Saturday and took them West on No. 3. The horses will be returned to Montana.

It is thought that the men have been operating in the Northwest for years. The sheriffs of various counties in Montana have been on the lookout for them for a long time, and the capture is one of the most important in recent years.

REPORT OF EXAMINER

Floodwood School District Financial Affairs Are Investigated.

One Small Bill Was Paid Illegally by Officials.

J. N. Gaynor, a deputy examiner connected with the office of the public examiner of Minnesota, filed his report with the county auditor yesterday afternoon, covering his investigation into the books and accounts of school district No. 19 of Floodwood. The examination was ordered by the county board on the petition of a number of the taxpayers.

According to Mr. Gaynor there should have been $3,458.38 on hand of school funds May 13, 1908, bt there was only $3,411.60 in the various banks and in the district treasurer's hands.

The examiner found only two forms of bills in use in the district and these were not verified when drawn. The clerk's book of minutes was also missing from Sept. 20, 1892, the date of the organization of the district, to May 24, 1902.

The only bill which the examiner found to have been paid illegally was that of Mr. Rutherford for $5 for taking the teachers to school in a livery rig.

The borrowing of $3,000 from the building fund to place in the general fund is claimed to be an illegal procedure and the examiner says the money should be transferred to the building fund.

Mr. Gaynor says a defective receipt was given by John E. Gothberg to N. M. Triplett the former treasurer when district No. 19 was divided and $1,490.33 was paid over to district No. 65, of which Mr. Gothberg was treasurer. The latter signed the receipt with his name but did not state his official capacity.

Mr Gaynor reviews the history of the petition for the bond issue to cover the expense of a new school building, and the fight made against the same. He says the decision of the courts upholds the school board.

The examiner found that the charges made that Miss Pearl Heath is not a qualified teacher are untrue. He looked up the records and found that she has the proper certificate.

KILLED IN MONTANA.

Little Falls Man Loses His Life Braking on Train.

Little Falls, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Colville, who lost his life in Eastern Montana last week, and whos body was brought here for interment by his uncle, William Raymond, was killed while head brakeman on a Northern Pacific freight train running into Glendive, Mont., Several miles out of Glendive, and while the train was in full motion. Colville noticed that one of the cars had a hot box and went forward to the engine for a pail of water with which to extinguish the blaze in the box. As he began to climb down the side of the car with the water, it is said that one of the steps of the ladder gave way, swinging the young man between the cars and onto the track below. Both legs were crushed below the knees. The train passed on and his absence was not noticed.

He called loudly for help and two ranchmen, living near by, heard the cries and went to his aid. Another freight soon came along, was flagged, and Colville taken to the hospital at Glendive. The accident happened at 1 o'clock in the morning. He reached the hospital at 3 and passed away at 8:30.

DEATH CLAIMS FORMER PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

SOCIALISM IS DENOUNCED BY THE FINNISH ORATORS

Patriotism is Keynote of Big Johannes Day Gathering.

Fine Weather Brings Out Enormous Crowd for Celebration.

Late Trains Spoil Effect of the Big Street Parade.

"No words are too strong to express my feelings in denunciation of the virus of Socialism, which has made itself felt of late among our numbers. I can only express the deepest regret that this is the case, and that some who might otherwise be counted among our number here today are not present because of this."

These were the forceful words used by Representative John Saari, one of the principal speakers at the Finnish celebration of Johannes day, the great Finnish midsummer festival, at Lincoln park this afternoon.

The exercises were opened by the singing of America, the Ely Finnish band accompanying the crowd, and the Finnish national hymn was sung immediately afterward. The two songs struck the keynote of the celebration. Patriotism for America, the land of the adoption, came first, but a loving regard for the Fatherland, not inconsistent with this, was the appeal from each of the speakers.

Meaning of the Day.

Johannes, or St. John's day, has a double significance to the Finns of Northern Minnesota. It is a festival brought down from the days of the Finnish mythology, marking a general thanksgiving for the blessings of midsummer, and this is its original significance. When its celebration here was first commenced, however, four years ago, the meeting was to express condolence for the Fatherland, in that Finland's self-government rights had been taken from them. Since that time, in 1905, these rights have been restored to Finland, and rejoicing over this fact has marked an important part of the celebration.

The parade, which was planned for the morning, was not a marked success. About 1,200 people gathered at the union depot at 10 o'clock, as planned, for the parade, and to welcome the visitors who were expected on trains from the ranges. All the specials, except that from Hibbing, arrived on time. That was seriously delayed and, after waiting an hour, the crowd became so impatient that Chairman Kauppi of the arrangements committee decided that they could wait no longer. Unfortunately, a number of drays happened to block Fifth avenue just before the parade started, and the patriotic Finns were forced to take to the sidewalk. This spoiled the effect of the march to some degree, but they

MOTHER RISKS LIFE FOR CHILD

Jumps Into Well After Offspring, But Death Had Resulted.

Akeley, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. W. Byers of Badoura, south of Akeley, plunged into a twenty-two-feet well in an attempt to save her little boy, Theodore, from drowning. The little fellow was playing near an unprotected well, containing about six feet of water, when his mother missed him. She ran to the well and jumped in. Sinking to the bottom, she felt for the child and rose to the surface, crying for help. She clung to a board a few inches above the water. Clinging to the board, she endeavored to bring the child back to consciousness and worked vigorously to resuscitate her little one. Evidently the boy had fallen into the well head foremost and was killed. The mother was rescued after some difficulty from the well, with the dead child in her arms. She held tenaciously to the little one while they lifted her to the top of the well. It seems almost miraculous how Mrs. Byers escaped entirely unhurt. A large number of friends attended the funeral of the child in the Congregational church, and at Akeley cemetery.

REPORTED CARNEGIE HAS PURCHASED PLANT AT SOO.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—The News prints a report from Sault Ste Marie, Mich., that Francis H. Clergue, representing English capital and Andrew Carnegie, has purchased the Algona steel mills, a subsidiary concern of the Lake Superior corporation. It was recently reported and afterward denied that the United States Steel corporation had purchased these mills. Mr. Clergue promoted the original Lake Superior corporation and built up the plant.

SHAH OF PERSIA,
Who Is Face to Face With Civil War.

Attack on Cossacks Believed to be But the Beginning.

The Shah is Apparently Master for the Time Being.

Casts His Lot With Reactionaries and Sword Must Decide.

Teheran, June 24.—It has been generally confirmed that the first shot in yesterday's firing in this city was fired by members of the anjumans, or political clubs. Soldiers early in the morning had surrounded the parliament house and demanded that a number of persons whose arrest the shah had ordered be handed over to them forthwith. This demand parliament refused to comply with and shots were fired at the troops. Artillery was then brought up and bombarded the parliament buildings, the halls of which were eventually cleared.

The firing between the anjumans and the Cossacks was kept up until reinforcements of troops arrived, whereupon the Nationalists fled. The latter had occupied sheltered positions on the roofs of the buildings and, although nothing certain is known as to their

DOCTOR BLIND PIGGER.

Norman County Physician Must Serve Time for Offense.

Ada, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. B. F. Budworth of Shelly, this county, must spend sixty days in jail and pays a fine of $50 and the costs for selling liquor without a license.

Budworth was found guilty last fall and appealed to the supreme court, where he again lost. At the May term of court here he asked for a stay of sentence pending arguments for a new trial. These arguments were heard Monday by Judge Grindeland who denied the motion and passed sentence.

CONDITIONS FAVORABLE

Eminent Physicians Hold a Consultation at Bedside.

Cleveland, June 24.—James Schoolcraft Sherman, Republican candidate for the vice presidency, passed a comparatively restless night at Lakeside hospital. Both pulse and temperature fluctuated, temperture going as high as 102 8-10 during the early hours. At times the heart action became greatly increased. The early morning found the patient as near normal as at any time since his arrival at the hospital. His respiration remained steadfast at 28 during the entire night. He was very restless early in the evening and complained of headache and backache, but expressed a desire for more nourishment. After midnight the congressman dozed off at intervals and remained in a restful state until dawn, when he again became a little restless.

Upon the advice of the attending physician, Dr. E. P. Carter, all persons were excluded from the congressman's room. Among the early callers were ex-Governor Herrick and others, none of whom were admitted to the sick chamber.

Mrs. Sherman and son retired early to their apartments, to seek a much-needed rest after their long and anxious journey.

Early in the evening Mrs. Sherman

SNIDER LEADS IN HENNEPIN COUNTY

The Returns Indicate His Friends Will Control Convention.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. P. Snider appears to have the better of it in the Hennepin fight and the returns from the delayed precincts which came in yesterday gave him a small but safe lead over M. W. Savage, his opponent in the county. The lead is not so decisive, however, that the Savage people concede defeat and the victory will not be of official record until the county convention is held tomorrow.

There are still some returns to come in from the country districts in Hennepin, but a fair forecast of these gives each candidate an even break. It is also true that some of the delegates will go to the convention uninstructed, but in any event it is difficult to see how Capt. Snider's forces can be weakened sufficiently to make it anything but a "Snider" convention. In addition to these his forces will be augmented by most of the uninstructed delegations.

The Savage supporters are not willing to concede complete defeat and hope to swing the convention, but have no authentic figures upon which to base their hopes. In the Fifth ward Snider carried every precinct but one, the sixteenth. In other wards where Savage was expected to have things his own way, Snider showed surprising strength.

FORMER PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND.

GREASED BOOTS WITH AMBERGRIS

Sailors Unknowingly Use Up a Fortune on Shipboard.

San Francisco, June 24.—Greasing masts, sea boots and oilskins with ambergris, valued at approximately $400 a pound, sailors on the British bark Antlope wasted about $20,000 worth of the stuff unaware of its value. It was not until yesterday that John Mathieson, master of the vessel, learned that he had let a fortune slip through his fingers. A small part of the "grease" had been saved, and this was identified by an Oakland druggist as ambergris. The Antlope reached here from Newcastle, Australia, a few days ago. On the way up, in lat. 20 degs. south, by Judge Grindeland who denied the motion and passed sentence, a large quantity of "grease" was seen floating on the surface of the ocean, and a calm prevailing, the men managed to scoop up several bucketfuls of the stuff. The "grease" was found excellent, and it was used for slushing down the masts, the balance being used by the men on their oilskins and boots. The captain says much more of the material could have been collected, but thought the amount picked up by the men was enough.

ALASKAN POLITICS ARE COMPLICATED.

Fairbanks, Alaska, June 24.—The political situation in Alaska was made extremely complex yesterday by the statement which Judge James Vickersham issued, announcing he would be a candidate to succeed Thomas Cale as delegate to congress. The fact that Mr. Cale and Judge Vickersham are warm political and social friends adds to the oddity of the campaign. Roman, the Democratic, and Corson, Governor Hoggatt's candidate, were former supporters of Mr. Cale. Maj. Clum, who inaugurated his own campaign yesterday, was also a Cale supporter. In the face of all this, reports, which come from the Second division, indicate that Cale has got strength there as well as in the Tanana.

CHINKS ARE SNEAKED IN

Wealthy Ring Smuggles Coolies Over the Mexican Border.

Immigration Department Sends Agents to Investigate.

Los Angeles, June 24.—In Los Angeles, according to information gathered by the immigration authorities, there is a ring actively employed in smuggling Chinese coolies over the Mexican border into the United States. The gang in Southern California is believed to have agents throughout California and the Southwest, and the inability of the regular force to cope with the situation has caused the department of commerce and labor to send a special agent from Washington to make an independent investigation. The agent will soon be on the scene.

Immigration Commissioner Hart H. North does not believe that the country is menaced with an invasion of coolies. He says that smuggling over the border has materially decreased in recent years, particularly since the government stationed line riders along the Mexican boundary five years ago. The depatment officials, however, apparently take a more alarming view of the situation. From an examination of Chinese recently caught sneaking into the United States it developed that the smuggling of coolies into this country is a matter of considerable expense and that the traffic is financed and managed by a well-organized ring. Commissioner North expects, when the inquiry from Washington gains headway, that new light may be thrown on the smuggling ring, but at the same time he is positive that whatever smuggling may take place, the operations are confined within a limited area and involve only a few Chinese at most.

TRAVELERS DISCUSS RAILROAD MATTERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—The Travelers' Protective association convention, this forenoon, listened to the annual report of F. W. Crandall, chairman of the national railroad committee of the association. The report gives an analysis of the Sulzer bill, and makes a recommendation against endorsing the bill. A form of mileage, to consist of a scrip book of large denomination, sold at a discount, to be used at its face value in the purchase of transportation at the local rate, is suggested instead, it being considered that in this way a uniform reduction would be made from the local rate, the local rate in itself, by conforming to the local conditions, doing away with the advantage of a uniform rate for all sections.

As to the steel car bill, which was pending during the last session of congress, the report says that it seems appropriate to the association that the railroads should at least spare no expense to minimize the effect of accidents which they cannot avoid.

It is suggested that from the workings of the present Hepburn bill there is necessity that power should be lodged somewhere in the executive branch of the government to correct abuses.

END COMES SUDDENLY

Succumbs to Attack of Heart Failure at Princeton Home.

Was the Only Living Ex-President of the United States.

News of Death Causes Great Sorrow Throughout Country.

Princeton, N. J., June 24.—Grover Cleveland, former president of the United States, died suddenly at his home at Westland here at 8:40 o'clock this morning. Death was due to heart failure complicated with other diseases. The passing away of Mr. Cleveland was not immediately announced, but was delayed until an official statement had been prepared by the physicians who had been attending him in the various periods of his illness.

The following statement, signed by Drs. Joseph D. Bryant, George R. Lockwood and J. M. Carnochan, was given out:

"Mr. Cleveland for many years had suffered from repeated attacks, of gastro-intestinal origin. Also he had long standing organic disease of the heart and kidneys. Heart failure complicated with pulmonary thrombosis and oedema were the immediate cause of his death."

While Mr. Cleveland had been seriously ill from time to time, the announcement of his death came like a thunderbolt to those who had been watching his illness.

Last night there was a slight flurry among the friends of the Clevelands that something was seriously wrong with the ex-president. This was occasioned by a visit of Dr. Bryant of New York, Mr. Cleveland's physician for many years. Mrs. Cleveland later in the evening, in discussing Dr. Bryant's visit, said that there was no occasion for alarm and that Mr. Cleveland was getting along nicely.

This assurance totally unprepared their friends for the announcement of his death.

Mrs. Cleveland was at home when her distinguished husband passed away.

The children are at the Cleveland summer home at Tamworth, N. H., in charge of Mrs. Perrine. Mrs. Cleveland's mother. The Clevelands came here from Lakewood, where the former president lay sick for many weeks, on June 1 and intended to go to their summer home as soon as Mr. Cleveland had gained sufficient strength to travel.

Mrs. Cleveland at Bedside.

The former president died in bed in the second story front room. Those at the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Cleveland and the three physicians. The only other persons in the house at the time were a number of servants.

Doctors Bryant and Lockwood, who came here from New York early yesterday evening, remained at the Cleveland home all night, as was their custom when they visited Princeton. While Mrs. Cleveland did not wish to alarm her friends last night by telling them that her distinguished husband was again quite ill, and in fact assured them that he was doing well, it became known yesterday that he took a slight turn for the worse during the afternoon. There was nothing alarming in his condition, it was thought by the physicians, and the former president passed a fairly good night, notwithstanding the oppressive heat.

When Doctors Bryant and Lockwood visited their patient this morning they found him "indisposed," as one of them termed it. Dr. Carnochan,

CLUBWOMEN BEGIN WORK IN EARNEST

Many Committees of the Federation Present Annual Report.

Boston, June 24.—Representative club women of the nation, in their capacity as delegates to the ninth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs, today held the second meeting of the convention and began in earnest the work of participating in its deliberations. The day was unpleasant outside, a light rain falling at times and the dampness even invaded Symphony hall, where the meeting was held, but this did not prevent a full consideration of all the opening business which was placed before the convention.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Sarah P. Decker presiding. The many committees of the general body presented their annual reports, which, with the reports of the general officers, consumed most of the time at the forenoon session.

The great number of club women gathered here for the convention made it impossible for all to participate in the morning meeting, and in order to accommodate these left out a meeting had been arranged in the afternoon to go over in duplicate the business considered at the formal session. This plan has also been adopted for the sessions on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

HAIRE IS OPTIMISTIC

Michigan Copper Magnate Says Outlook is Very Good.

All the Big Mines in Copper Country Are Working.

Judge Norman W. Haire, general manager of the Tamarack, Osceola and Ahmeek copper mines of Houghton, is of the opinion that the copper industry has passed through the worst of the slump and that from now on will continue to improve.

"Every mine in the Copper country is going at full blast at the present time," said Judge Haire. "Not all of the big mines are making a great deal of money, but most of the mines are making some. They are all selling copper, but at twelve and a fraction cents you can't expect to make much on your sales.

"We know that they are taking our products off the wharfs, which is more than they were doing last fall. I believe that there is more rock going to the smelters right at the present time than ever in the history of the copper mining in the Copper country.

"The trade was so overstocked with copper that for a long time it quit buying and simply used the accumulation. Of course we are not making the money we were when copper was quoted at 26 cents, but for every old dollar expended we are at least receiving a new dollar in exchange.

"The trade may not be so very heavy this year, but the outlook for the copper busines is very bright. The trade is using copper once more, and from now on I believe that the demand will be greater. There is not a mine in the Copper country that is not in operation. The business is under full swing and we have but to wait for the business to gradually show a great improvement."

COPPER STOCKS ARE UNCHANGED

Market Closes on About Same Level as Previous Day.

Copper stocks were about unchanged from yesterday at the close of the session today. The market was rather quiet. North Butte opened at $66, declined to $65.50 and closed at $65.50 bid and $66 asked. Amalgamated opened at $65.37½, advanced to $66 and closed at $65.50 bid.

Greene-Cananea opened at $10.12½, declined to $10 and closed at $10 bid and $10.12½ asked. Butte Coalition opened at $22, declined to $21.75 and closed at $21.87½ bid and $22.12½ asked. Calumet & Arizona opened at $107 and closed at $107 bid and $107.75 asked. Anaconda opened at $41.75 and closed at $41.75 bid.

Superior & Pittsburg sold at $12.37½, declined to $12.12½ and closed at $12.12½ bid and $12.25 asked. Dann-Arizona sold at $2.75 and closed at $2.62½ bid and $2.75 asked; Calumet & Sonora at $7 and closed at $6.87½ bid and $7.12½ asked; Butte & Superior at $1.12½ and closed at $1 bid and $1.12½ asked, and Red Warrior at $1.50 and closed at $1.37½ bid and $1.50 asked.

Mowitza was inactive and closed at 80c bid and 95c asked, Copper Queen of Idaho at 90c bid and $1 asked and Butte-Ballaklava at $6.50 bid and $6.75 asked.

Black Mountain sold at $3.37½ and $3.25 and closed at $3.25 bid and $3.37½ asked.

A DISGUSTING EXHIBITION

Two Men Make Themselves Obnoxious in the West End.

With women in nearby back yards hanging out their washing and a half dozen or more little girls of from 8 to 14 years old, playing on the corner, two unknown men, both fairly well dressed, made themselves so obnoxious on the corner of Twenty-seventh avenue west and Michigan street yesterday afternoon that police had to be called.

One of the men stood in a vacant lot on the corner, while the other sat on some steps across the street. They both wore black hats and black suits, and appeared to be well along in years, one having gray hair.

"They did not act as if they were drunk, for they didn't stagger at all," said Mrs. A. H. Smart of 110 South Twenty-seventh avenue west. "I think they must have been crazy, for I never saw such disgraceful proceedings before in my life. The gray haired man who stood in the lot offered the little girls, who were playing near by, money if they would go away with him."

Mrs. Smart claims that she telephoned the police at 12:30 and no one arrived until 3 o'clock, nearly an hour after the men had gone away. She says that there were no men in the neighborhood or she would have called upon them.

The men hung about the corner for nearly an hour making indecent remarks, and then made their way to a store on Twenty-second avenue west. "It is a shame we have such poor police protection at this end of town," said Mrs. Smart this afternoon. "If anything happens here that we need the police, we have to telephone to police headquarters and then it takes them nearly an hour to get an officer out here."

Chief Troyer has long urged the need of more patrolmen for the West end.

ARE AFTER EVIDENCE

Judge S. F. White is Appointed Acting Prosecuting Attorney.

With the prospect of an insanity defense in the Wilson murder case in view, County Attorney John Norton and A. T. Park, Wilson's attorney, left today for Saginaw, Mich., Wilson's former home, in order to secure depositions from Wilson's acquaintances there in regard to his sanity before coming to West Duluth.

During the absence of Mr. Norton, Judge S. F. White will conduct the criminal cases. This afternoon the trial of Mik Vugetich, charged with second degree grand larceny, will come up. Vugetich, it is alleged, stole $56 in money and a $30 gold watch from John Zabukowic at Stuntz, Minn. Austin Lathers will represent Vugetich.

Dissolution of Partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership hitherto existing between O. N. Lundberg and E. M. Stone has been dissolved by mutual consent. All accounts due the firm must be paid to E. M. Charged Too Much.

Arthur Tellier tried to charge $1 for carrying a passenger from the steamship Northwest to the Spalding hotel last night. The regular fare is not to exceed 50 cents. The passenger kicked, a policeman came along, and the driver was arrested. He paid a fine of $5 and costs in police court this morning. There have been several complaints lately of exorbitant charges by hackmen. Tellier was employed by the Lyceum livery.

Gets Sixty Days.

Gust Mack, charged with his wife of drunkenness and non-support, drew a jail sentence of sixty days in police court this morning. He has been arrested on the same charge several times before. The case today came up before Judge Cutting. Testimony showed that the woman has supported the family for some time past, and that Mack got drunk even when his little daughter was ill in the hospital.

Box Car Lodgers.

Twenty box car lodgers were arraigned in police court this morning, charged with trespass. Sixteen were in court yesterday on the same charge. Suspended sentences were given, except in cases where it was a second offense. The men for the most part seem to be decent laborers, who are without money and no other place to sleep.

Interpreters Scarce.

Because the district court was unable to secure the services of a Finnish interpreter, on account of the Johannes day celebration, the trial of the Floodwood saloon men indicted for selling liquor to a minor was postponed this morning. The men indicted are Finlanders and practically all the witnesses in the case are of that nationality. The persons usually employed by the court as interpreters would rather attend the celebration than work in court. So the court had to wait.

Will Be Candidate.

Probate Judge David H. Lawrence of Two Harbors, Lake county, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination as member of legislature from the Fifty-first district to succeed C. B. Miller, whose term expires this year. Judge Lawrence was mentioned earlier in the season as a possible candidate but at that time he declined to enter the race. Since, however, urged by his friends in Two Harbors and Duluth, Judge awrence has decided to become a candidate and he will file his affidavit of nomination some time this week.

Case is Dismissed.

The civil case of E. G. Barnes against E. G. Chapman was dismissed in Judge Dibells' room in the district court today, on the motion of the defendent, represented by Reynolds & McClearn.

New Company Formed.

Articles of incorporation of the Jones Step-Process company were filed this morning with the register of deeds. The company is capitalized at $10,000 and the incorporators are George A. St. Clair, J. N. St. Clair and John G. Williams, all of Duluth.

Threatened Family.

A warrant has been sworn out for the arrest of Tom White. Mrs. White says he threatened the lives of herself and children, and asks that he be placed under bonds to keep the peace. He will have a hearing in municipal court June 25.

On Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Horton of Minneapolis, who were married the day before yesterday, are spending their honeymoon in Duluth. Mr. Horton and his wife are registered at the Lenox hotel. Both of the young people are well known to a number of Duluth friends. It is probable that Mr. and Mrs. Horton will spend the week here.

Rev. M. S. Rice,

Pastor of the First M. E. church, will lecture this evening at the First Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. His subject will be "The Live Dog versus the Dead Lyon."

Surprise Party.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Lester Park M. E. church pleasantly surprised Mrs. James A. Greer at her home, 5415 East Superior street, last evening.

Get Jail Sentences.

Abe Lawrence and Harry Harvey, the two men who were captured in the hills back of Smithville early yesterday morning by Sergeant Wilcox and Officer Ek of the West Duluth police force, after they had searched the woods for them for nearly two days, were this afternoon arraigned in the municipal court. They pleaded guilty. Lawrence was given a jail sentence of ninety days and Harvey got thirty days.

DECISION REVERSED

Union Match Company Wins Suit Against Match Trust.

Court of Appeals Reverses Decision of Lower Court.

The mandate of the United States circuit court of appeals, reversing the decision of the United States circuit court in the case of the Diamond Match company vs. the Union Match company, was received by the clerk of the United States court here today. The mandate reverses the decision of the lower court, with costs, giving the Union Match company the right to collect $650.75 in costs from the Diamond Match company.

The case involved the right to letters patent No. 538,535, issued to the Diamond Match company as assignee of Charles H. Palmer, John W. Demmead and Joseph A. Baughman April 30, 1895, for an improvement in a box filling machine.

In the original decision, handed down April 20, 1907, Judge Page Morris held that the Union Match company had infringed on the patent of the Diamond Match company and Arcadius L. Agatin was appointed master to determine the amount of the profits made by the Union Match company through the use of the infringement, which could be collected by the Diamond Match company. A permanent injunction was also issued restraining the Union Match company from further using the infringements, which were specified in the complaint.

The appeal of the Union Match company was heard by the court of appeals in session at St Louis last December and the mandate reversing the decision with costs has just been received. The decision not only gives the Union Match company costs and exempts it from the payment of damages to the Diamond Match company, but also dissolves cause for suit and directs that the suit be dismissed.

SPREAD HIS DEBTS AROUND

Lewis J. Cole Owed 131 People When He Failed.

Lewis J. Cole, who conducted a general merchandise store at Brainerd, and against whom an involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed, believed in spreading his debts around. The unsecured claims against him total $34,778.82, and they are distributed among 131 people all over the country. They are mosty for merchandise purchased in small amounts, and $2,000 is about the greatest amount due any one person.

Cole's liabilities are $42,018.71, and his assets $72,138.55, of which $30,666 in property is claimed exempt. Of the liabilities, $2,472.49 is due in taxes, $3,767.40 in secured claims, $34,778.82 in unsecured claims and $1,000 on notes. Cole filed his schedule of debts and assets in the United States court today, his creditors having started action to declare him a bankrupt. He owns considerable property at Brainerd and in other parts of Northern Minnesota. The property on which his store is located is claimed exempt as a homestead.

AN ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

Duluthian's May Witness the Phenomenon Next Sunday.

A partial eclipse of the sun is scheduled for next Sunday morning, if the astronomers' figures are correct. The eclipse will be visible at 8:23 Sunday morning in this portion of the country. It is an annular eclipse. The eclipse will last, according to the figures of the star students, until 10:52 a. m.

It will be visible all over the United States, Canada, Mexico, Central America, and the northern portion of South America. The path of the eclipse passes over, or very near Mexico City, Tampa, Fla., and the Bermuda islands. It then crosses the Atlantic ocean and terminates in the northern part of Africa.

APPLES FOR SLEEPLESSNESS.

London Globe: The apple is such a common fruit, says a medical writer, that very few persons are familiar with its remarkably efficacious medicinal properties. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing they can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night.

Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of the fruit are liable to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of the ripe and juicy apple before going to bed.

The apple is excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruit. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. This is not all; the apple prevents indigestion and throat diseases.

DEATH ROLL IN THE ALPS.

Official statistics for last year's accidents in the Alps are now about complete, and they show that seventy-five persons lost their lives in the French, Swiss, Italian and Austrian mountains. The Germans take the lead in the mortality record, the English come second and Italians third. The greatest cause of mishap, fatal and otherwise, was, as usual, the insane practice of undertaking dangerous ascents without a guide. The deadliest regions are the Bernese Obreland, the Grisons, the Pennine Chain and Monts Blanc and Rosa, says the New York Sun.

Fourteen persons were killed picking wild flowers in risky places. Several of these were women, and not young women either in six cases.

The number of serious injuries recorded which did not result in death is 150; probably the number of all who were hurt in going through the mountains came near to 1,000, but no figures are kept unless bones are broken or the victim is confined to bed for one or more days.

A proposal which has been discussed in former years is now being agitated again for uniform legislation by the governments in whose territories the Alps are distributed to reduce the number of mishaps. The idea is to make it an offense, punishable by fine and imprisonment, to undertake any trip classified as dangerous without the aid of licensed guides. Each locality would be required to prepare a list of the dangerous peaks and passes and keep tourists posted regarding them. The mountains lie partly in France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria, and at present there is no law to prevent the rawest schoolboy from taking risks that the hardiest mountaineers shrink from, as witness the case of a young German student who not long ago attempted to ascend the Jungfrau by himself, and was swept away by an avalanche.

A DISTINCTION.

Judge's Library: There had been an explosion at the quarry. The reporter rushed to the hospital and was shown to the room wherein Pat McQueer lay groaning. The scribe pulled out note book and pencil.

"Pat," he began, "they tell me that you were calm and collected."

"I was ca-am," answered Pat, "but poor old Dennis was collicted."

who lives in Princeton, was asked to step over to the house. This was before 8 o'clock. Shortly after that hour Mr. Cleveland seemed to fail. The physicians recognized instantly the symptoms. Immediately arrangements were made to combat the attack.

With every resource at hand, the physicians worked over their patient. Finally he lapsed into unconsciousness and the end came at 8:40 o'clock.

Heat Contributed to Death.

It is believed that the terrific heat of the last few days contributed, in a great degree, to the sudden death of Mr. Cleveland.

The scene in the bedroom immediately before and after the death of the distinguished patient cannot here be recorded, as the three physicians refuse to refer to the subject.

As soon as the widow could recover herself, she summoned a servant and asked that Prof. Andrew F. West of Princeton university, a close, intimate friend and neighbor, and Prof. John D. Hibbin, also of Princeton and a neighbor, be sent for. They came instantly and rendered whatever assistance they could. Telegrams were prepared to Mrs. Perrine and the children at Tamforth and about a dozen other relatives, who are scattered all over the country. Up to this time no one outside the Cleveland, West and Hibbin families knew of what had occurred. Mrs. Cleveland then requested Prof. West to inform the Associated Press of the death of her husband, and a messenger was sent for to take the telegrams to the telegraph office.

In the meantime, the undertaker, John A. Stead of Princeton, was sent for, and the first the other neighbors knew that their distinguished neighbor had passed away was when the undertaker's wagon rattled rapidly down Bayard avenue to the Cleveland residence. Mr. Stead, as he stepped on the porch, hung the customary knot of crepe beside the door and then entered the house.

Mrs. Cleveland is prostrated, and only a few of the sympathetic neighbors have been able to see her. When the nearby friends heard of the ex-president's death, many of them hurried to Westland to render whatever assistance they could, but Professors West and Hibbin and the physicians had matters well in hand.

Funeral arrangements were to be made this afternoon. It may be that no definite plans will be arranged until after Mrs. Cleveland has consulted with Mrs. Perrine and other near relatives.

Among the telegrams sent by Mrs. Cleveland to relatives and friends was one to President Roosevelt and one to Secretary Taft.

Citizens Shocked.

The death of Mr. Cleveland came as a shock to the people of Princeton, who were proud of their fellow-citizen. They have always had a warm spot for both the ex-president and Mrs. Cleveland because they selected Princeton as their home after they left the White House.

His death to them was not in the least expected, and many at first refused to believe the news.

Flags all over Princeton are at half staff.

From another, but trustworthy source, it is learned that Mr. Cleveland became quite ill yesterday and that his condition was serious during the night, though the physicians did not consider him so ill as to expect death so soon.

There seems to have been an effort on the part of the physicians to keep the seriousness of the ex-president's condition from the public. When Mrs. Cleveland was seen last night by a reporter for the Associated Press, she chatted pleasantly. She manifested no alarm over her husband's illness, and when the visit of the physicians was referred to as appearing significant, she said there was no occasion for alarm.

The following bulletin was issued to the Associated Press today:

"The funeral of Former President Cleveland will be held on Friday, June 26, at 'Westland,' Mr. Cleveland's residence on Bayard lane, Princeton, and will be strictly private."

WINTERED AT LAKEWOOD.

Severe Attack of Digestive Trouble Developed There.

New York, June 24.—Mr. Cleveland was 71 years old on March 18 last. During the past winter, Mr. Cleveland kept close to his home in Princeton, until the approach of his birthday, when he went to Lakewood with his family. He was a trustee of the Equitable Life Assurance society of this city, and up to the time of his going to Lakewood had attended to correspondence in connection with his duties for that society.

After he went to Lakewood, however, he discontinued that work, and it soon developed that Mr. Cleveland was suffering from an attack of digestive trouble which he had experienced many times before.

Mr. Cleveland was attended by Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of this city, and Dr. C. Rowe Lockwood, a specialist in lung disorders, was called in for consultation. Dr. Bryant made frequent visits to the distinguished patient at Lakewood. Mr. Cleveland occupied a suite of rooms on the second floor of the Lakewood hotel at Lakewood and was constantly attended by Dr. Gaudenler, the physician attached to the house, in addition to the visits of Dr. Bryant.

Condition Regarded as Serious.

The fact that Mr. Cleveland remained at the hotel after it had long been closed to all other guests, and that for many weeks no attempt was made to take the former president to his home in Princeton, only a short distance away, early made it evident that Mr. Cleveland's condition was regarded as very serious.

On May 1 a report became current, which was said to have come from one of the officers of the Equitable Life Insurance society, that Mr. Cleveland was suffering from cancer of the stomach. This was promptly denied by Mr. Parker, the secretary of the trustees of the society, who afterward acted for Mrs. Cleveland in issuing statements of the condition of the former president. Mr. Parker said that Mr. Cleveland was suffering from one of his periodical attacks of stomach trouble and that that was all.

Mr. Cleveland remained at Lakewood for several weeks thereafter, and constant reports of improvement in his condition were issued from the hotel. About a month ago he had sufficiently recovered to be taken to his home in Princeton, making the journey in an automobile.

Yesterday it was reported again that Dr. Bryant had been called to Mr. Cleveland's home in Princeton. Inquiries made as to the reason for this visit brought reassuring answers, and it was not publicly known until the announcement of his death today that Mr. Cleveland's illness had again assumed a critical phase.

The news of his death, therefore, came with great unexpectedness to the public, and it is believed, also to many of the friends and admirers of the ex-president.

Secretary of State Richard Olney; secretaries of the treasury, John G. Carlisle and Charles S. Fairchild; secretaries of the interior, D. R. Francis, Hoke Smith and W. F. Vilas; attorney general, Judson Harmon; postmaster general, Don M. Dickinson.

Reid Places Flag at Half Mast.

London, une 24.—The flags over Dorchester house and the American embassy were placed at half mast today on receipt of the news of the death of Mr. Cleveland.

Mr. Reid said: "I had a high personal appreciation of Mr. Cleveland, and my cordial relations with him, which began when he was mayor of Buffalo never were broken. I believe Mr. Cleveland has grown steadily in the respect and appreciation of the American people since his retirement from office."

Governor Johnson's Tribute.

Ottawa, Kan., June 24.—Governor Johnson of Minnesota, who is here today, when told of the death of ex-President Cleveland, said:

"I am deeply shocked to hear of Mr. Cleveland's death. I regard him as one of the country's greatest men, and I predict that when his history is properly written, he will be rated as one of the half dozen greatest presidents."

Flags Ordered at Half Mast.

Washington, June 24.—Unofficial notification of the death of Former President Cleveland was flashed immediately to Oyster Bay, for the information of President Roosevelt. The White House received from the Associated Press its first news of the death. Secretary Cortelyou who, as the senior cabinet officer in Washington at present, is now the acting head of the administration.

The first word that came to Secretary Cortelyou from Oyster Bay was an instruction, which the secretary at once promulgated to all executive departments, to place their national flags at half mast. It is probable that they will thus remain for thirty days.

Taft Greatly Shocked.

New Haven, June 24.—Secretary Taft was greatly shocked when he was informed of the death of Former President Grover Cleveland. He was in the commencement procession with the Yale university officials when the news was conveyed to him by the Associated Press.

"I am very sorry, indeed," said he, "to hear of Mr. Cleveland's death. He was one of the really great men of the country, and his passing away is a distinct loss to the American people."

Tribute From Colman.

St. Louis, June 24.—Upon being apprised of the death of Former President Cleveland, Norman J. Colman, who was secretary of agriculture during President Cleveland's first administration, said:

"I am deeply grieved and inexpressibly shocked at the sad intelligence. I cannot speak in terms strong enough in commendation of his most excellent qualities of both heart and head. He was a most patriotic man and most devoted to duty. He had but one ambition, and that was to serve the people of the United States in the best and most faithful manner. He was rather slow about forming friendships, but when once the bond of friendship was formed it was a bond that was true and firm. President Cleveland was a most excellent man in every respect, and his passing away is a crushing blow to the country. My deepest sympathies go out to his stricken family. I will endeavor, if possible, to attend the funeral."

Mother-in-Law Hears News.

Tamworth, N. H., June 24.—Mrs. Perrine, the mother of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, received the news of the former president's death by long distance telephone today. The three Cleveland children are with Mrs. Perrine at the Cleveland summer home here. While no definite arrangements have been made yet, it is believed that Mrs. Perrine and the children will leave for Princeton immediately.

Ex-Secretaries Out of Town.

Washington, June 24.—Former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle and Former Secretary of the Navy Hilary, both of whom served in President Cleveland's cabinet, are away from the city. Mr. Carlisle left at 8 o'clock this morning on the Pennsylvania railroad for New York on business, forty minutes before the death occurred. Mr. Herbert, who is at Port Carlin, Ont., has been telegraphed to and is expected to leave immediately for Princeton. Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, who served as confidential stenographer to President Cleveland, expressed himself as greatly shocked. Following precedents, President Roosevelt will, by proclamation, formally announce Mr. Cleveland's death.

Sudden News Shocks.

Greenwich, Conn., June 24.—F. C. Benedict, who was one of Mr. Cleveland's most intimate friends, said that the news was so sudden that he had had hardly time enough to compose his thoughts to give expression of the loss he felt. His relations with the former president, he said, had been close and delightful.

Dickinson Not Informed.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—Don M. Dickinson, former postmaster general in President Cleveland's cabinet, is ill in a sanitarium at Flint, Mich., suffering from nervous breakdown. James H. Cullen, one of Mr. Dickinson's law partners, said that, while Mr. Dickinson is improving, his condition is still such that he did not believe his physician would permit him to be informed of Mr. Cleveland's death. It will be impossible for Mr. Dickinson to attend the funeral.

Will Not Attend Races.

Oyster Bay, June 24.—President Roosevelt will not attend the Yale-Harvard boat races at New London tomorrow, owing to the death of Former President Grover Cleveland.

President Roosevelt sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Cleveland and expressed his intention of attending the funeral if it takes place on any other day than Saturday, when he will have an important conference.

Olney Expresses Regret.

Falmouth, Mass., June 24.—Richard Olney, secretary of state in Cleveland's cabinet, was informed by telephone, at his summer home, of the death of Mr. Cleveland. He expressed deep regret at the news, but requested that he be not urged to say anything further at the moment.

CLEVELAND'S LIFE HISTORY.

Grover Cleveland now belongs to history. He was the tweny-second and also the twenty-fourth president of the United States. He was sheriff of Erie county, New York, mayor of Buffalo, governor of New York and president of the United States. To accept the governorship he resigned the mayoralty. To accept the presidency he resigned the governorship. He was made governor because he was a good mayor. He was made president because he was a good governor. Just after he had cast his own vote on election day, 1882, when he was the Democratic candidate for governor of New York and knew that the returns would show his triumph, he wrote a letter to his brother, the Rev. William Cleveland, in which he said: "I will tell you first of all others the policy I intend to adopt, and that is to make the matter a business engagement between the people and myself, in which the obligation on my side is to perform the duties assigned to me with an eye single to the interest of my employers. I shall have no idea of re-election or of any high political preferment in my head, but be very thankful and happy if I serve one term as the people's governor."

Mr. Cleveland was not permitted to serve all of one term as the people's governor. That was because he made the matter a business engagement between the people and himself. He found it necessary to act and get something higher. For four years he had a business engagement with the people of the United States. At the end of the four years the people decided that their notions of business and Mr. Cleveland's were at variance. Accordingly another man was put in his place, though Cleveland wanted to hold his job. But when the next quadrennial election rolled around there was an insistent demand for "four more years of Grover," and the business services of Mr. Cleveland were engaged for another elective term.

Born in New Jersey.

Grover Cleveland was born in Caldwell, Essex county, N. J., on March 18, 1837, and was of English origin on the paternal side. Moses Cleveland, emigrated from Ipswick, county of Suffolk, England, in 1635 and settled at Woburn, Mass., where he died in 1701. His grandson was Aaron, whose son, Aaron, was great-great-grandfather of Grover. The second Aaron's grandson, William, was a silversmith and watchmaker at Norwich, Conn. His son, Richard Falley Cleveland, was graduated at Yale in 1824, was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry in 1829, and in that year married Anne Neal, daughter of a Baltimore merchant of Irish birth. These two were the parents of Grover Cleveland. The Presbyterian parsonage at Caldwell, where Mr. Cleveland was born, was first occupied by the Rev. Stephen Grover, in whose honor the boy was named; but the first name was early dropped, and he was always known as Grover Cleveland. That is the signature to all state papers which passed through the Cleveland hands for eight years and is the name now passed into history.

Country pastors move about considerably. The Rev. Richard F. Cleveland was no exception. He held pastorates in several towns of New York state during Grover's boyhood and died when the boy was in his sixteenth year, leaving the widow, whose maiden name was Ann Neal, with several fine children and little more. The family home then was at Holland Patent, N. Y. Grover attended the village school and clerked in a local store. When he was 16 he went down to New York and became a clerk and later a teacher in the Institute for the Blind, where his elder brother, William, held a responsible position. A year or so later the youth struck out for himself, thus early displaying that independent spirit which characterized his entire career. He had read more or less about the city of Cleveland, Ohio. This name attracted him because of his own name. Accordingly Grover proposed to settle in Cleveland and grow up in what then was almost the Far West to a New Yorker. On his journey Clevelandward the young man stopped at Buffalo to visit an uncle. This uncle was a practical man. He could see no very solid reason why Grover Cleveland should go to Cleveland, Ohio, particularly as he needed the services of a young man of Grover's attainments, for Grover could write a very legible hand, was fairly educated in the common schools and had been a teacher. The uncle was a literary person. He was compiler of the American Herd Book. The editing of a cattle catalogue, to be sure, is not the highest form of literary work, but it is a job requiring a realist as opposed to an idealist. Grover Cleveland was a realist always, so he was engaged to help get out the Herd Book. He worked faithfully on several issues of the production, and the preface to the fifth volume, issued in 1861, acknowledges his services.

Mayor of Buffalo.

In the meantime Cleveland studied law, and in 1855 he became a clerk in the law offices of Rogers, Bowen & Rogers at Buffalo. He was 22 years of age when he began the practice of his profession. He practiced law in Buffalo twenty-two years, three years of which were spent as assistant district attorney of Erie county, to which office he was appointed in 1863. Perhaps the three years from 1870 to 1873 inclusive, when he was sheriff of the county, should be substracted from his period of law practice.

Eight years after his retirement from the sheriff's office the Buffalo Democracy "dug up" the old bachelor and nominated him for mayor. He was elected handsomely, the first Democratic mayor Buffalo had had for so many years that the memory of man could not recall the last one.

Mayor Cleveland had been in office but a few months when his name got to going outside of Erie county on the press wires. Being "one of the boys," it had been supposed that he would stand in with the gang, but he didn't. He stood out against the gang. It had been easy in Buffalo, as in other cities, to engineer an exorbitant appropriation for an unnecessary improvement whenever a favored firm of contractors felt like receiving a big bunch of unearned money. The trick was attempted during Mayor Cleveland's regime many times, but only in the earlier part of his term. He vetoed appropriation bills by the bucketful, saving the city at least a million dollars which otherwise would have been expended in silly and sinful wastefulness. It was Cleveland's stand against such conventional jobs that put his name on the wires. People began to hear of "Grover Cleveland, the veto mayor." By vetoing extravagant appropriations he saved the City of Buffalo nearly $1,000,000 in the first six months of his administration.

Elected Governor.

The Democracy of New York state heard of him and presently reached the conclusion that he would be a mighty good man to put up for the governorship. The party managers were not particularly enamored of Cleveland for his honesty. They knew that the people wanted an honest man, and the leaders wanted to get a representative of their party in power. Cleveland was nominated on Sept. 22, 1882, and put in the field against the celebrated Charles J. Folger, President Arthur's secretary of the treasury and an unusually strong Republican candidate. But there was a widespread disaffection in the Republican ranks, and what were called the "half-breeds" largely stayed away from the polls. The result was that in a total vote of 918,994 Cleveland received a plurality of 192,854 over Folger, and a majority over all the candidates, including Greenback and Prohibition, of 151,742.

In the governor's chair at Albany Mr. Cleveland continued his veto campaign. Whenever a bill came before him which did not meet his judgment as being for the good of the people or as being the right and proper thing he stamped his veto upon it forthwith. So the veto mayor became the veto governor.

President of the United States.

The Democratic national convention met at Chicago on July 8, 1884. On the evening of July 10 a vote on president was taken, in which out of 820 votes, Grover Cleveland received 392. A two-thirds vote, 557, was necessary to nomination. On the following morning, in the first ballot, Cleveland received 683 votes and then the nomination was made unanimous. On the ticket with Cleveland was placed, as the vice presidential candidate, Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, who for several years had been a strong presidential possibility and had run on the Tilden ticket in 1876. The Republican ticket was headed by James G. Blaine of Maine, and on the same ticket was Gen. John A. Logan, "Black Jack" Logan of Illinois, sure to catch the old soldier vote. Blaine for many years had been a dominant figure in national politics. At Cincinnati in 1876 Robert J. Ingersoll had named Blaine "the plumed knight," and he was hailed as a winner. Blaine was the antithesis of Cleveland. He was magnetic, eloquent and a born politician. Cleveland was about the poorest proposition as a politician that ever broke into the political arena. He was a prosy speaker. As a man he never had what may be termed a personal following. Nevertheless he carried New York state and with it the preponderance of the electoral college, beating Blaine by thirty-seven votes. He also got a small plurality of the popular vote, which was divided as follows: Cleveland, 4,874,986; Blaine, 4,851,981; Benjamin F. Butler, 175,370; John P. St. John, 150,369; blank defective and scattering, 14,904.

When the New York legislature assembled on Jan. 6, 1885, Mr. Cleveland resigned the governorship of the state, but he continued his residence at Albany until he went to Washington with Col. Daniel S. Lamont, his private secretary, and was inaugurated as president.

Cleveland cut out entirely his own personality as president. "A public office is a public trust," he said, and that meant with him that it was not a private snap for persons who had happened to be good friends of his when he was "Grove" Cleveland of Buffalo. Two days before his inauguration a noble band of about 300 Buffalonians arrived into Washington in 700 Buffalonians arrived in Washington in a big and boisterous bunch. They marched to Odd Fellows' hall and took up quarters. They proclaimed with violent vociferations that they had arrived to "whoop it up for Grove." And they whooped it up until most of them got the whooping cough. But they got nothing else. The entire crowd had gone thither mainly in the hope of getting offices under Cleveland. Some of them wanted to be ambassadors, and others wanted to be janitors. But not a Buffalo crony of Cleveland made the slightest killing in that line. The crowd remained in Washington for a full week, but Cleveland was busy, and finally the band returned home to remain in Buffalo. Not one of them received an appointment during either of Cleveland's terms.

Vetoed Many Bills.

In the presidency, as before in the governorship of New York, Mr. Cleveland exercised the veto power beyond all precedent. Of 987 bills that passed both houses in the session that ended on Aug. 5, 1886, 115 were vetoed.

When Cleveland first became president the Democrats were so office hungry that the White House ought to have been enlarged then, instead of waiting twenty years. Serried ranks of importunate job hunters lined the corriders and overflowed into the grounds. Cleveland at first expressed a determination to resist the hungry horde and create vacancies only for the good of the government service, but in time he wearied of resistance and modified his policy to the extent of removing Republicans for "offensive partisanship." This modification was so construed as to let in myriads of Democrats. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the postoffice subordinate who wellded the ax of decapitation in the cases of many thousands of insignificant postmasters, was rewarded by nomination for the vice presidency when Cleveland was named for the higher office the third time in succession, in 1892.

It was Mr. Cleveland's famous message to congress recommending a "tariff for revenue only" which worked most largely toward his defeat by Benjamin Harrison in 1888. This message came right on the eve of the presidential nominations and was promulgated against the advice of party leaders.

Elected a Second Time.

Harrison and high tariff, the McKinley act of 1890, the consequent high prices for the poor man's necessaries of life, brought about a demand for another Cleveland term, and the man who had flung his banner of tariff reduction in the face of an amazed constituency in 1887 was triumphantly elected on that very issue in the main after having spend four years in New York City practicing law and in rural regions shooting ducks and hooking fish. When he took office the second time he was the most popular American of his generation. The Democracy doted on him. Before the close of that term the whirligig had whirled for, and Grover Cleveland's name was hissed by the majority of his former supporters. He had cut loose from the powers that made him and was going it alone.

In the stupendous struggle for the maintenance of the gold standard as against bimetallism Cleveland took a firm stand for the yellow metal. The majority of his party went the other way, thus making a line of cleavage that yawned like a chasm. The president called an extra session of congress in the summer of 1893 and pushed through the repeal of the Sherman act of 1890, which required the fovernment to purchase large quantities of silver bullion.

Mr. Cleveland's marriage during his first presidential term to Miss Frances Folsom, a beautiful and gracious young woman, was a notable event in the White House. The president became a devoted family man. When he returned to the White House in 1893 there was a baby, little Ruth, whose death some years later was deeply deplored. In time two more girls and two boys came to the Clevelands.

Ponderous State Papers.

It cannot be truthfully said that Cleveland was a brilliant man. Emphatically he was not a literary artist nor an orator nor a 5 o'clock tea favorite. His state papers, most of which he wrote out laboriously in his own handwriting, are ponderous affairs. His articles on fishing and duck hunting, which ambitious magazine editors induced him to indite during his retirement, assuredly should relate only to the biggest and heaviest fish and the most montrous of ducks. Nevertheless, Grover Cleveland as president of the United States coined some few phrases which will live in world history, also got a small number of one message to congress which was so clear, so concise, so convincing that all of Europe read it without the aid of a lexicon. That was the message relating to the Venesuelan boundary dispute, in which President Cleveland gave notice to European monarchies and to Great Britian in particular that the Monroe doctrine promulgated by Secretary of State John Quincy Adams and President Monroe in the year 1823 still was a sacred and inviolable section of American policy in the year 1895. That message put a kink in the British lion's tail and did more toward establishing the United States in the eyes of the nations as a world power than the building of many battleships can do.

expressed a desire that a specialist be sent from New York. The congressman's secretary made an effort to communicate with Dr. Bull. An hour later Attending Physician E. P. Carter communicated with Johns Hopkins university of Maryland in an effort to locate Dr. Morrison, but it was explained that he had departed for Europe. This activity in seeking allen advice was explained to be only a precautionary measure, in case a change should take place.

No word has been received from Dr. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., to whom a message was sent.

A New York dispatch stated that Dr. G. W. Boskowitz, personal physician, left for this city at 5:40 p. m. yesterday. Upon his arrival, this morning, it is arranged to hold a consultation with Doctors Cartre and Allen.

Necessity for an operation is still denied by attending and consulting physicians.

The anxiety plainly visible at the hospital in the early hours of the night vanished, and the most hopeful attitude now is assumed.

Mr. Sherman awoke at 4:30 a. m., after a short sleep, feeling greatly refreshed but with a temperature of 102 4-5.

Mr. Sherman awakened after nearly two hours of refreshing sleep. Dr. Stone, the house physician, who was at the bedside of the patient, said that while Mr. Sherman had been restless during the greater part of the night, there was a marked improvement this morning. His temperature, the physician said, was slowly approaching normal and that on the whole the condition of Mr. Sherman was entirely satisfactory.

Following a night of intense heat, a cool breeze sprang up this morning, and this added greatly to the comfort of the patient.

Following a consultation attended by Drs. Carter, Allen and Stone at Lakeside hospital, at 10:30 this morning, the statement was authorized that the condition of Mr. Sherman continued so favorable that there was no present possibility of an operation being necessary.

At the hour named the temperature of the patient was 100, pulse, 80, and respiration, 28. It was said that the physicians would not hold another consultation today, unless Mr. Sherman's condition should change for the worse.

GOVERNOR ATTENDING REUNION.

Chippewa Falls, Wis, June 23.—Governor Rollin Woodruff of Connecticut is here, attending the reunion of the Woodruff family. About thirty representatives from different parts of the country are present. Members of the family moved to Chippewa county from Connecticut in 1857. This is the first reunion in twenty years.

MILLINERY AT HALF!

Thursday, Friday and Saturday!

The first announcement of this extreme price reduction should interest many hat buyers commencing tomorrow. Two entire sale tables will be loaded with hats from which one may choose and pay just half the regular price. It has been many seasons since we had such a choice selection of millinery, practically the most beautiful effects ever shown in this section. Early selection is highly advisable. $2.50 for $5.00 hats, $3.00 for $6.00 hats, $3.75 for $7.50 hats and so on.

White Summer Skirts at 1/2

(SEE SPECIAL WINDOW DISPLAY.)

500 shapely Summer Skirts arrived here Monday; they will be ready for their first showing tomorrow morning. These Skirts are made from heavy shrunken materials, and are cut in a full pleated model that will be found the equal of any at two or three times the price askt. Buy a summer supply tomorrow; there is no skirt hereabouts that will approach these in value.

White Serge and Linen Suits at $10.00

Another exceptional buying opportunity is offered for tomorrow's shopping. A special line of White Summer Serge Suits, full pleated skirt, coat taffeta lined; also a number of smart models in all Linen Suits, neatly trimmed with lace. These lines comprise values selling up to $35; choose tomorrow, at $10.00.

Tailored Suits at $10 and $15

The entire accumulation of broken lines in Tailor-made Suits selling from $30.00 to $45.00, will be offered for tomorrow at these extra close figures. Insistent suit selling has decimated many of our best selling lines; these will all be added to the lots offered at these prices tomorrow.

25 Dozen Summer Waists Choice $1.00

Waists that usually bring $1.50 and $1.75. Of course, there is a reason for this unusual price, and it is this: We are handling the entire line of two of America's foremost waist makers. The continued cool weather has retarded the sale of popular price lines, hence the accumulation of many lots priced from $1.25 to $2.00. Tomorrow we offer a choice from 25 dozen waists, at $1.00.

CHASING BEARS through the tall timber gave our forefathers stomachs that could digest anything. The man with his nose on a desk has to "coddle" his stomach. The best "coddler" is "FORCE"

the food that combines the life of the wheat with the soothing, invigorating tonic of barley-malt. Try it for breakfast. You will like the sweet, crisp, malty flakes.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes in one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, dipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

MAN DROWNS IN THE LAKE

Was Unloading Car at the Third Avenue East Dock.

While engaged in unloading a flat car with iron at the plant of the Duluth Iron & Metal Co., at Third avenue east and Michigan street, this morning, Julius Zalk was hit by a rail, knocked into the water and drowned before assistance could reach him.

It is believed that Mr. Zalk was unconscious when he fell into the water. His fellow workmen saw the blow, but they could not save him. He was unable to aid himself and drowned. The police were notified immediately and they recovered the body within half an hour, but it was too late.

The dead man was a brother of Max Zalk, owner of the plant, and boarded at 30 South Seventeenth avenue east.

He was about 25 years old, and was unmarried.

Alexander Cohen, S. Cohen, also fell into the water when Zalk did, but he was not injured by the fall and managed to get hold of the dock and pull himself out. Both were struck by the same rail, but Zalk fell farther from the dock than did his companion. If he had not been unconscious his rescue would have been easily accomplished.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of 435 Houston street, New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications, while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. 50c.

RED FLAGS IN STREET PARADE

Finnish Socialists Are Also Holding Celebration in Duluth.

Carrying red flags and wearing red badges, about 240 members of the Finnish Socialist societies of the Northwest paraded through the streets this morning, and took the steamer Mascotte to Smithville, where they will hold a picnic this afternoon.

The Socialists are a distinct organization from the other Finnish societies, which are meeting in Duluth today. They chose Duluth for their meeting place and took advantage of the special excursions which were run for the other societies.

Their red flags and red badges led many Duluthians to believe that all of the Finnish people gathering in Duluth today were Socialists, but such is not the case, and the Socialists form a very small percentage of the total number.

The other societies have blue and white as their colors.

losses, they must have been small. Bombs were thrown, and the Cossacks had fifteen men killed and three superior officers and twenty men wounded. They also lost eighteen horses. The losses sustained by the infantry is not known. When the soldiers entered the city they began looting and robbing the people in the streets and completely sacked the parliament building. Many houses in the vicinity were partially pillaged. The assembly rooms of the political parties were demolished by artillery.

Many Placed in Chains.

Say Yid Abdullah, the president of the parliament; Say Yid Muhammed, and many popular leaders and members of the anjumans, as well as several newspaper editors, were arrested and thirty of them placed in chains last night. Takizadeh, leader of the opposition and editor of Habdul Matin, together with nine other editors, took refuge in the British legation.

The British and Russian representatives here have requested the shah to take immediate steps to restore order, and have reminded him that their governments would hold him responsible for any unfortunate incident that might occur. The shah, in reply, has given full assurances that everything possible will be done to prevent further disturbances.

State in Control.

London, June 24.—Private dispatches received here from Teheran say that only a small number of persons were killed during the fighting in that city yesterday and that the firing was confined to the neighborhood of the national assembly. One dispatch says, "The shah apparently is the master of the situation at Teheran, but the attitude of the provinces is uncertain. Foreigners are in no danger."

Official messages from Teheran, received at the foreign office today, confirm the previous dispatches of the occurrences of yesterday. The tenor of the official information is that the situation is not so bad as the more sensational newspapers have represented it. The British legation estimates the killed at about forty.

The Associated Press has been informed that neither Great Britain nor Russia has any intention of interfering in the internal affairs of Persia, unless the situation becomes much worse.

Fighting Has Ceased.

St. Petersburg, June 24.—The foreign office here this morning received dispatches, sent from Teheran at nightfall, yesterday, stating that the fighting around the national assembly building had ceased; that the town was quiet, and confirming generally the news already received here by way of London and Berlin. The dispatches contained no additional details, and the number of dead and wounded was not given, the writer adding that it was difficult even to approximate the casualties.

The liberal press of St. Petersburg, which throughout the Persian troubles has sympathized with the Persian parliament, regards the attack on the Cossacks as the initiation of a pure coup d'etat, and it is convinced that it will be followed by the dissolution of the national assembly and the revocation of the constitution.

Says Civil War Has Begun.

The Slovo declares that a civil war, accompanied by all its horrors, has gun in Persia. The shah, for the moment, the paper says, has been successful, but the final outcome is doubtful, as the shah's handful of troops may be defeated when the armed forces of the revolutionists arrive from the north. The Slovo sees no reason for international intervention in Persia, as long as the lives of foreigners are safe, and it warns the government of the danger of any dealings whatever with the reactionary circles in Teheran, which might alienate the sympathy of the masses of the people and destroy Russian prestige in Persia.

The Bourse Gazette says the firing in Teheran yesterday was the beginning of the end. The shah has burned his bridges and definitely cast in his lot with the reactionaries. The sword must now decide whether the idea of popular representation is firmly rooted in Persia or not.

GEORGIA DELEGATES ARE OPPOSED TO BRYAN.

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—Georgia will send an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic convention at Denver. The Democratic state convention met here yesterday, selected delegates-at-large and from the different congressional districts to the Denver convention, formally ratified the nomination of the state ticket, headed by Joseph M. Brown for governor, adopted a platform and adjourned.

Clark Howell of Atlanta was chosen as the Georgia member of the national committee.

At a meeting of the delegates, it was decided to apply the unit rule to the delegation. It became apparent at the meeting that practically the entire delegation was opposed to the candidacy of Bryan, and Georgia's vote would be cast for some other candidate.

ARTIST LOSES LIFE AS HE IS TAKING PICTURE.

Hastings, Minn., June 24.—Cary Sieberman, son of Andrew Sieberman, living at 796 West Wolpan avenue, Chicago, was drowned in the Vermilion river here, yesterday. He was a transitna artist and was about to take a picture of the falls, when he fell from a tree into the water, a distance of forty-seven feet. He was 23 and had a wife and daughter in Chicago.

TO BE ARRESTED FOR LETTING WIFE STARVE.

Chicago, June 23.—A warrant was issued today by the authorities of Zion City for the arrest of Adam Thompson, whose wife died yesterday from the effects of a prolonged fast undertaken for the cure of cancer, in accordance with the teachings of a cult of which they were members. The warrant was secured by Chief of Police Walker of Zion City, and charged Thompson with manslaughter for the part he is alleged to have taken in the carrying out of the fatal fast.

TWISTER IS SEEN THERE

Funnel-Shaped Cloud Got Busy, But Did Little Harm.

Crookston, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most peculiar cyclones that ever visited this section of the country swept a strip of country beginning two miles west of Euclid Tuesday afternoon, taking a course southeast from that point for a distance of five miles. The funnel-shaped cloud appeared about 5 o'clock and the people of Euclid were terrorized for a time, but the devastator did not get closer than a mile to Euclid and in its course did not strike any inhabited dwellings. One of a set of unoccupied buildings was literally smashed to pieces and thus far no trace of the house, a one story structure, has been found.

The most peculiar freak however, was the complete disappearance of a last year's haystack belonging to Peter Stuhr, a merchant of Euclid. The stack was well weighted and settled, but the entire stack was picked up bodily and no trace of it has been found. It was about a twenty-ton stack and no one in this region ever heard of a similar occurrence even by a cyclone. After traveling about five miles the funnel-shaped cloud raised and no further damage was done.

NEW RICHMOND BADLY SCARED

New Richmond, Wis., June 24.—Inhabitants of this city were greatly frightened Monday morning by the appearance of what was feared would be a repetition of the storm that practically destroyed this place on June 12, 1899. People rushed to shelter, fearing that the devastating wind would reap another harvest of deaths, as it did nine years ago, when 125 people were killed and over 1,000 injured, but the ferocity of the blow developed only into a heavy rain. An inch and a half of water fell in a few minutes. A counter wind came from the opposite direction, and the two blasts met over the city. The wind soon subsided and rain fell in torrents. The storm strewed the streets with electric lights, trees and poles and telephone wires. A few buildings were unroofed and the large chimney of the Catholic church was blown down, while the heaviest damage done was to plate glass windows. No one was injured.

FIREMEH WILL HAVE CONTESTS

Annual Tournament at Thief River Falls During Next Week.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual firemen's tournament for Northern Minnesota will open in this city next Monday morning for a four days' period of friendly contest. The local fire department has spared neither expense nor labor to make this the most largely attended and entertaining tournament ever held in this section. Replies have been received by Secretary Emil Zeh from some thirty towns that they will send competting teams. From Bemidji to the Red river and from Fergus Falls to the Canadian line teams will come to Thief River to take an active part in the various events. That great good will accrue as the result of the training necessary to compete in these events and from the contests goes without saying. Nearly all the towns that send teams pay the expenses of the men who attend. Thief River will pay all their expenses while they are in this city with the exception of their meals. Even their apparatus will be hauled to and from trains and cared for free of expense while they are here. The following program will be carried out:

Tuesday, 9 p. m.—Address of welcome by Mayor Hamre; band music, responses and addresses by citizens; 10 a. m., grand parade of all companies: first prize to company having most men in uniform in line, $25; second, $10. For best appearing company: First, $25; second, $10. (Thief River Falls men barred from competing in this contest). 1:30 p. m.—Association hose race: First, banner, valued at $75 with cash prize of $50; second, $35; third, $20. Ladder climb: First, $15; second, $10; third, $5. Coupling contest: First, $20; second, $15; third, $10.

Wednesday, 9 a. m.—Association hook and ladder race: First, $40; second, $20. 100 yard dash: First, $15; second, $10; third, $5. 1:30 p. m.—Flag race: First, $20; second, $15. Hub and hub race: First, $60; second, $35; third, $20. Evening—Grand ball at opera hall.

Thursday, 9 a. m.—Combination hook and ladder and hose race: First, $75; second, $45; third, $25. Service wet test: First, Silver water set, valued at $40, and cash, $60; second, $35; third, $20.

On Tuesday and Wednesday there will be baseball games also between the fastest teams in the Northwest, for which $200 is set aside. Horse races will also be held the last two days. There will be band concerts evenings and the four steamboats and gasoline launches will run excursions during the tournament.

The distinctive coined name, "CascaRoyal-Pills," is the new name adopted for Blackburn's Castor-Oil-Pills, the 10c remedy that made Mr. Blackburn wealthy.

LOYAL TO WOMAN.

Willoughby Pleaded Guilty Rather Than Disclose Her Name.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—The belief is growing that George Willoughby, the well-known business man who pleaded guilty to killing his wife, in the municipal court Monday, and calmly received a life sentence, took this unexpected move through a spirit of loyalty to the woman, whose attachment for him is alleged to have led up to the tragedy of March 22 last, when Willoughby deliberately killed his better half.

In reply to the usual question from the court respectinig his plea, Willoughby said: "Your honor, the plea I have just made is not in accordance with my heartfelt, conscientious belief in this matter, nor that of my friends, but they and I feel that perhaps it is for the best. I believe that the inner working of the human mind cannot be fathomed by medical science, the uncontrollable and unquestionable impulses under which a person sometimes acts, I know, and my friends believe sincerely, that I am not willfully responsible for that tragedy, an act which was diametrically opposed to every attribute of my nature. No matter what degree of responsibility I may feel, however, I know I committed the deed, and I have pleaded guilty."

But the astonishing move made by Willoughby in pleading guilty and thus avoiding trial perhaps suggested to each person present and acquainted with his case the man's loyalty to the woman in the case, who is said to have caused the murderer's marital unhappiness, and whose name will now never be revealed in all probability. Had he demanded a trial, no matter what the line of defense would have been, the district attorney would have demanded her name from the police, and her connection with Willoughby would have been aired in the course of the trial.

APPEALS TO GOVERNOR.

Wisconsin Priest Says Local Officers Do Not Enforce Laws.

Marinette, Wis., June 24.—The Rev. Father Piette, pastor of the Catholic church in Florence, who is leading a fight for the better enforcement of the saloon laws, has appealed to Governor Davidson and Attorney General Gilbert. He claims that he has neither the sympathy or the co-operation of the town and county officers. Governor Davidson has promised to take vigorous action if proof of the negligence of officials is filed with him. Father Piette has the assistance of the Rev. Mr. Sherwin, a Protestant pastor of the town. He has already sworn out warrants against a number of the saloonkeepers, but claims conviction can not be secured because of no proper prosecution.

STEENERSON OPTIMISTIC.

Ninth District Congressman Predicts Taft's Election.

Crookston, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman and Mrs Halvor Steenerson have returned from French Lick, Ind., benefited by their sojourn at that resort. Mr. Steenerson is busy looking after his law practice and says he is glad to be at home again. He is pleased with the result of the Chicago convention and optimistic over the election of Taft and Sherman.

"I am entirely satisfied with the ticket and believe it is a winner," he said. "Of course every one is satisfied with Taft and he will make a great campaign. Not as much is known about Congressman Sherman, but in my opinion he will add strength to the ticket. With congressmen he is very popular and I believe that the convention made no mistake in selecting him for vice president. I believe the convention also selected a specially strong platform."

MINING CAPTAIN DIES.

Calumet, Mich., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mining men in the Copper country and on the Mesaba iron range in Minnesota will be interested in the news from Camborne, Cornwell, England, of the death of Capt. Alexander Trezona.

The deceased was born in Cornwall in 1842, and came to this country when 19 years of age. He worked as second mining captain for some time under the late Capt. Josiah Hall, at the old Pewabic mine, and timbered the first 100 feet of No. 3 shaft of the C. & H. After a visit to Cornwall, Capt. Trezona again came to this country, and worked on the Mesaba range. He returned to England about two years ago to spend the remainder of his life in his native country. He is survived by three daughters and three sons. The daughters are all residents of Calumet. They are Mrs. Sutherley of Pine street, Mrs. Downs of Red Jacket and Mrs. William Jayne of Tamarack. The sons are Thomas, Alexander and James.

TAFT LAUDS MINNESOTA.

Brother of Candidate Speaks at St. Paul Publicity Club.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor John A. Johnson, Henry W. Taft, brother of William H. Taft, and Mayor D. W. Lawler were the principal speakers at a banquet given Monday evening at the Hotel Aberdeen by the St. Paul Consolidated Publicity club. Over 200 business men were present, and a sum of $6,500 was raised to be added to the $15,000 already subscribed toward defraying the expense of an advertising campaign for St. Paul.

Governor Johnson praised the aims of the Publicity club, and in his address, Mr. Taft paid tribute to the people of Minnesota, mentioning in particular James J. Hill, Archbishop Ireland, F. B. Kellogg and Thomas Lowry, adding that "It did New York good to come into contact with these men."

Mr. Taft was at the Aberdeen with his family, where he spent the day between trains. Of course he believes that "Brother Bill" will be elected, and asserted that James Sherman's nomination for vice president will bring New York into line to vote for the Republican nominee. Mrs. Taft and Miss Louise Taft spent the day at the hotel, while William H. Taft, Jr., the namesake of the Republican nominee, and a senior at Yale, and Jackson Dykman of Brooklyn, his companion, took a stroll around the city.

MINNESOTA WOMAN FINDS HER LONG LOST SON.

Janesville, Wis., June 24.—After a search which lasted for two years and a half, Mrs. James Pierce of Rochester, Minn., found her long missing son on the streets here. He was working in the car barns here and his mother had passed him on the streets, failing to recognize him, when he spoke to her.

PLAINTIFF WANTS MORE.

Not Satisfied With Judgment Secured Against Railway Company.

Moorhead, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Peterson, for the plaintiff in the case of Joseph Seradski against the Great Northern railroad, who secured a judgment for $3,875 in a suit for $20,000 for personal injuries, has asked for a new trial, on the ground that the judgment was insufficient in due of the claim of the plaintiff as to his injury.

Several months ago the plaintiff was driving a team for his employer across the tracks at Baker, Clay county, when he was run down by the Oriental Limited train, which was late. The team was killed and Seradski sustained personal injuries, one an alleged permanent one to his knee.

MISSING HOUGHTON MAN IS IN MONTANA HOSPITAL

Houghton, Mich., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ernest J. Dube, the Houghton real estate man, who has been missing for the past two weeks, has been located, advices received here being to the effect that Mr. Dube is confined in a hospital at Missoula, Mont., suffering with rheumatism, a malady he has long been afflicted with. It was thought by many that something of this nature prevented or prompted Mr. Dube from communicating with his wife and friends.

COUPLE'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Horse, Frightened by Automobile, Runs Away Throwing Them Out.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrown from the buggy and up against a barb wire fence in a runaway accident north of the city, Edwin Olson and Miss Jane Bent of Sauk Rapids narrowly escaped serious injury. The young people were out driving and met the Fisher and Holiter automobiles near Sauk Rapids about four miles north of the city. The spirited horse became frightened and got away from the driver. Running off the road it went through two barb wire fences. The occupants of the carriage succeeded in hanging on until the second fence was reached. Here the buggy was turned over and both people were thrown violently against the barb wire.

Miss Bent was thrown through the fence and struck the ground with great force. She was quite badly cut and received bruises about the head. She was unconscious when picked up. Olson was quite badly cut about the limbs.

SCARED BY LIGHTNING; BOY BREAKS HIS ARM.

Crookston, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Little Harry Schmidt, 9 years old, living with his parents, fell and broke his arm Sunday afternoon, the indirect cause, being a bolt of lightning. He became frightened at the flash and the heavy clash of thunder and fell over a baby carriage.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—The county drainage board will eet in a body at Page, N. D., June 30, and will go over the entire route of the proposed new drain that has been petitioned for in the towns of Cornell, Lake, and Rochester. There has been a remonstrance filed against the building of this drain.

Finley, N. D.—H. C. Hendrickson, pharmacist at the Finley drug store, has accepted a position as traveling representative for the Meredith Drug company of Fargo, and will make his headquarters at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D.—By the receipt of a handsomely engraved invitation in the French language, it is learned that Eugene Toussaint of this city, who lately left for Europe, has been wed to Mademoiselle Bertha Dothen. Mr. Toussaint is well known in this city.

Fargo, N. D.—Raymond N. Putnam, the 7-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Putnam, sustained a broken arm by falling from the front porch at the residence Sunday. The boy was playing on the porch railing when he became overbalanced and fell to the ground, a distance of several feet, and his right arm was fractured near the elbow.

Grand Forks, N. D.—W. R. Lasham, who during the past twenty-six years has been engaged in the jewelry business in Grand Forks, announced that as soon as the stock on hand is disposed of, he will retire. Twenty-six years ago he opened a store with C. P. Trepanier in what is now the Widlund pharmacy. Nine years later he removed to his present location and has been there ever since.

Park River, N. D.—Arrangements are being completed for the annual convention of the Grand Forks district Epworth leagues to be held at Park River, commencing on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 30, and continuing over Wednesday and Thursday, July 1 and 2.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Murphy were called to St. Cloud, Minn., Saturday evening by the death of Mrs. Murphy's brother-in-law, Thomas Barrett, a well known contractor of that city. Mr. Barrett was ill only a short time, a severe case of bronchitis which developed into pneumonia being the cause of his death.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—The merchants are greatly elated over the success attending the first market day. Almost every business house in the city reports an increased business Saturday and all are delighted with the very evident satisfactory feeling that the farmers who came to the city had in regard to their entertainment.

Beaver Bay—Forty carloads of logs are now being shipped daily from this place to the big mills of the Alger-Smith company at West Duluth.

Menahga—George Chase, rural route inspector, was in the village last week and went out on the route of the proposed route on tour of inspection. Mr. Chase said the road was not the best, but passed all the other requirements. Calvin Spangler, one ofthe candidates for letter carier, accompanied him.

Crookston—Monday afternoon, without any formal ceremonies, the corner stone was laid in the handsome white enamelled brick block being erected on Second street next to the postoffice by Thomas Morris.

Brainerd—A subscription was taken up at the shops Saturday to aid in defraying expenses of the Fourth of July celebration in this city. About $125 was contributed by the men and turned over to the committee.

Little Falls—Miss Clara Wright left Monday for an extended vacation. She went to Duluth to visit Miss Grace Staples for a couple of weeks and then will make a lake trip to Toronto and other Canadian points probably returning by railroad by way of Chicago.

St. Cloud—The reorganization of the St. Cloud Water Power & Mill company was effected by Mr. Whitney and his associates at a meeting Saturday evening. The following are the new directors: A. G. Whitney, R. L. Gale, E. E. Clarke, J. E. West and G. W. Stewart. The officers are: A. G. Whitney, president; G. W. Stewart, vice president; E. E. Clark, secretary, R. L. Gale, treasurer.

New Ulm—Mayor Bobleter and Mrs. Ida Schoregge of this city were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Behenke, Monday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. E. Wheeler.

Breckenridge—Twice during last week the fire department put out fires at the Great Northern freight depot. The first occurred Monday and resulted in little damage. The other was on Saturday and might have proved disastrous.

St. Paul—The mad dog question is getting serious in St. Paul and six new cases of persons bitten were reported to the health department Monday. Arrangements have been made with the police department to co-operate with the health department to exterminate all dogs running loose after Wednesday.

Minneapolis—William H. Mackey, 49 years of age, 84 South Thirteenth street, an insurance man of Minneapolis, and a highly respected citizen, died at his residence Monday afternoon, as a result of an attack of heart failure brought on in part, it is thought, by the excessive heat of the last few days.

St. Paul—Ole Haagsen, a farmer of Murray county, Minnesota, lost $40 late Monday afternoon as the result of too much confidence in a man he met just as the train on which he was coming to Minneapolis pulled into the St. Paul depot.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houhton—Dr. E. T. Abrams of Hancock, Dr. Whitten of Baltic and Dr. R. B. Harkness of Houghton left Sunday for Grand Rapids, where they will attend the convention of the state anti-tuberculosis society. They will also attend the convention of the Michigan Medical society at Manistee on Wednesday and Thursday.

Ontonogan—With honors and with the event fittingly celebrated, the class of 1908 has finished its work in the Ontonogan school. It is composed of eight young women and one young man.

Hancock—A stray shot, presumed to be from a rifle bullet, entered the side of the house occupied by the family of Martin Wills, in West Hancock, Sunday narrowly missing Mrs. Wills, who was engaged in the kitchen at the time.

FIGHT STILL IN PROGRESS

Berlin, June 24.—The Tageblatt publishes a dispatch from Teheran saying that the firing of small arms and artillery was still going on today.

The buildings of parliament were quite demolished by the bombardment of yesterday. Corpses of men and bodies of horses cover the main square of Teheran. It is impossible to give the exact number of casualties, but the Cossacks alone lost seventy men killed. The palace of the Prince Zill-Es-Sultan, an uncle of the shah, and the buildings adjacent to it, have been pillaged by the soldiery. According to news from the provinces, Zill-Es-Sultan, who is friendly to Great Britain, has taken up the leadership of the movement in the south.

The night passed quietly, but the outbreak of firing, this morning, leads to the belief that there may be further collisions. The government has declared a state of siege. The bazars throughout the country have been closed.

SAYS JOHNSON IS FAVORITE

Col. Aberle Finds Strong Sentiment for Him in East.

Col. Dan Aberle of St. Paul, president of the park commission, who is in Duluth today, says that all through the East, there is strong Johnson sentiment, and the opinion is freely expressed that Minnesota's governor could be elected president if nominated.

"In the East there is great hope entertained that Johnson will get the nomination," said Mr. Aberle. "Prominent easterners say he could be elected if placed at the head of the tickets by the Democrats.

"I have been East for the past six weeks, and while gone, visited New York, Boston, Buffalo, Albany, Detroit and numerous other places. I was surprised to find how strong was the sentiment that Johnson should have the nomination."

The colonel is an alternate delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention in Denver next month. This is his first trip to Duluth since 1904. He expresses surprise and pleasure at the big advancement made by the Zenith City during the last four years.

JOHNSON NOT CANDIDATE FOR THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

Ottawa, Kan., June 24.—Governor Johnson of Minnesota, who is in the city today, said that he is not a candidate for the vice presidential nomination, but that his name would be presented to the national convention for the presidential nomination.

CROOKS IN ITS TRAIL

West Duluth Merchant Stung by Forged Certified Check.

The usual escort of crooks, who accompany a large circus, left their traces in West Duluth to the extent of a forged certified check for $25 and a number of counterfeit dollars.

The checks was passed on a West Duluth merchant a few days before the circus by a man who was accompanied by a woman, supposedly his wife, and a baby. The check was on the First National Bank of Elgin, Ill., and was certified to by the cashier, and was signed Homer Baker, whom the crook represented himself to be, showing a life insurance policy bearing that name to prove it. The storekeeper was completely taken in.

Yesterday the check was returned from the Elgin bank, with a statement that the certification was a forgery and that no man by the name of Homer Baker had an account in that bank. The police have been notified and they are on the lookout for the man, though it is feared that he has left the city. It is said that a man by the name of Homer Baker is also wanted at Winnipeg for some similar work.

Cashier L. B. Clark of the Western State bank this morning came across a counterfeit dollar that had been left by a depositor. Several others have had bogus money passed on them lately.

THREE MORE ARRESTS.

Police Trying to Stop Dangerous Practice in West Duluth.

The West Duluth police continued the crusade against the boys who persist in the dangerous practice of stealing rides on the freight trains that pass through the western part of the city by making three more arrests last night.

Officer Ek captured three of a party of five boys, who were riding on a Northern Pacific freight train at about 8:30 last night between the West Duluth station and the West Duluth junction. Two of the boys made their escape. The ones that were taken gave their names as Peter Lutzka, Barth Walker and Wilfred Debon and were taken to headquarters. None of the boys were over 13 years old.

Veteran Dies.

Joseph Stickney, 75 years old, a veteran of the Civil war, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Gibson of 119 North Fifty-first avenue west. Old age was the cause of his death. He was well-known here, having been a resident of West Duluth for many years. He is survived by six children. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence, and from the Asbury Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock. The interment will be at Oneota cemetery. The funeral will be in charge of the G. A. R., of which he was a member. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church will officiate.

SPENCER'S.

IS GOOD TO NEW STATE

Congress Donated $180,000,000 of Taxable Property to Oklahoma.

By Ralph M. Whiteside.

Washington, June 24.—Congress was pretty good to Oklahoma. The donation of $180,000,000 of taxable property to a new state, just started with distinguished purpose, is not to be overlooked.

This donation was made by process of removing the restrictions on alienation of Indian lands. For many years the lands of five tribes of Indians have been held under the condition that the Indian allotees might not sell them without the permission of the department of the interior. It was very hard to get such permission.

While the lands were held under such restriction they could not be taxed. This was a serious matter to the new state, which had a place for all the money rightly due it. The question of removing the restriction was, therefore, of paramount importance.

The Indians have long had every right of citizenship, with the exception of the privilege of selling their lands. Now that Indian ownership of these lands in Oklahoma has been established and confirmed absolutely, the lands may be placed on the market. Thus the new state will benefit to the extent of their value for taxation purposes.

When Representative J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania introduced a bill imposing a heavy penalty upon any District of Columbia laundryman who uses acids or heavy machinery in his business, many of his colleagues knew immediately that he had reason for demanding such a law. They were patient and their expectations were justified, for Mr. Moore, after informing the house that the steam laundry has the heathen Chinese "beat to a frazzle" when it comes to destroying linen, told of a personal experience.

"The question of the wholesale destruction of laundry is one of the most important of the hour," he said. "When I came here last December, I bought two brand new shirts for a dollar each. I liked those shirts and you can imagine my feelings when I tell you that this week is the last time I can wear them. The laundryman has done well. I maintain that I have a right to destroy my shirts if I want to, but I have a right to feed them to the goa direct, without the agency of a laundryman."

Chairman Jenkins of the committee on judiciary took his stand against the bill on the ground that a man who wears linen shirts when it is possible to buy celluloid fronts deserves to suffer loss.

When Postmaster General Meyer announced a reduction in the postal rates between the United States and Great Britain and Ireland, there were many in the postal department who predicted that a 2-cents-an-ounce rate would not pay the government, consequently would, in a short time, require that the rates be raised.

Under rules established by the Universal Postal Union, which governs the international postal transactions of the civilized nations, a rate of 5 cents for the first ounce and 3 cents for every ounce added was established on Oct. 1, 1907. This rate has been further reduced to the flat rate of 2 cents an ounce, the same to take effect on Oct. 1.

Postmaster General Meyer announced that he expected an increase in receipts as a result of the decrease in rates. It has always been found that a reduction causes a more general use of the mails, consequent the business is much greater. Mr. Meyer also places much importance on to the fact that a lower postage will lead to freer commercial intercourse. Merchants depend more and more on the mails for the conduct of their business, and the saving in postage means much to them. Then there is the boon to adopted English-speaking citizens, and their connection here, particularly those of limited means, who will correspond with relations and friends more regularly now that the rate to England is the same as the domestic rate.

Government officials and distillers are now satisfied by the decision of the court of appeals in the District of Columbia, establishing tha whiskey and neutral spirits are not "like substances." This question has been in dispute for a long time and the distillers carried it to the attention of President Roosevelt and Attorney General Bonaparte before it finally went to the court of appeals.

The court also decided that Bourbon whisky can be made in one state only —Kentucky. It also must be made from a certain kind of sour mash, the principal ingredient of which is corn. This settles an old controversy which has been an institution in the state of Kentucky ever since Bourbon whisky was discovered. A Kentuckian maintains that Bourbon cannot be manufactured in any other state. It was more pride than an established knowledge of the subject that caused this contention, but the result, by the recent decision, is the same.

Referring to the cause of the high price of meat, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says he does not look for a return of low prices and points out that the country is tending in a direction that will make it more and more difficult for the poor to eat meat. The soil, he says, is being wasted and, in time, the effect will be that poor families in this country will not have meat any more than do the poor families in Europe.

"The problem of the cost of living is intimately connected with the problem of the conservatism of the productive ability of the soil," says Mr. Wilson. "The present high prices of meat have been brought about by the fact that the production of meat animals is not keeping pace with the growth of the population that is engaged in other pursuits than that of raising live stock."

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Duluth District Will Hold Three-Day Session Here.

Excursion Planned for Visiting Delegates on Saturday Afternoon.

Commencing tomorrow evening at 9 o'clock, when the spring examinations will be held, the Duluth District conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet in Duluth. The meetings will be held in the First Methodist church.

The examinations are expected to take up most of the day tomorrow, but in the evening a platform meeting will be held, the topic under discussion being "The Prayer Meeting From a Layman's Point of View." Thomas Owens, R. R. Forward and F. J. Clemans will be the speakers for the evening.

The Friday session will be opened by prayer at 8:40. A paper on the first two chapters of Hebrews, by H. R. Scott, a discussion by J. F. Pickard, a talk on deaconness work by J. A. Roberts, a paper on "The Resurrection," by H. H. Osterhout, and a talk on "Aggressive Evangelism," by Rev. M. S. Rice, compose the program for the morning.

The afternoon session is scheduled to begin at 1:45. A paper on Hebrews, chapters three to nine, by M. O. Stockland, and a paper on Socialism by J. R. Davies, will make up the program for the afternoon.

The Saturday morning session will include a paper on Hebrews, chapter ten to thirteen, by C. H. Blake, a discussion led by J. D. Manley and an address to preachers by Dr. Cooper. The business session, with a report from the general conference by W. E. J. Gratz, will also be held before the conference adjourns at noon.

Saturday afternoon the conference will cease its labors and the visiting delegates and local members will be entertained by an excursion around the harbor and up the river to Fond du Lac.

Saturday evening, Judge Ensign will address the conference on the work being done here by the juvenile court.

Sunday morning, Dr. E. C. Clemans will preside at a communion and love feast at 9:30, and there will be a sermon by Dr. F. B. Cowgill at 10:30. The afternoon will be taken up by a platform meeting, the topic under consideration being "Methodism on the Iron Range." F. W. Hill, C. W. Ramshaw, F. G. Clark, Rev. Charles Shoenhelder, Jr., and J. A. Geer will speak.

The conference will be brought to a close by an evangelistic service at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, at which Dr. Clemans will preside.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates while here have been made by Secretary J. R. Davies and Rev. James A. Geer.

JURY CONVICTS TWO BARTENDERS

They Sold Liquor to Axel Makinen, a Minor.

Two Floodwod bartenders were convicted in district court yesterday afternoon of selling liquor to a minor. They were indicted for selling beer to Axel Makinen, a 17-year-old boy, March 1 last.

Oscar Raubala was tried first, and the jury required about five minutes to reach an agreement as to his guilt. Peter Koski was convicted about as quickly.

It is claimed that Makinen became intoxicated and cut a companion in a fight. Instead of accusing the boy of the cutting scrape, the grand jury indicted the men who sold him the liquor.

There are two or three other saloon men of Floodwood under indictment.

SIX RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS

St. Jean Baptiste Parochial School Holds Its Commencement.

Members of the graduating class of St. Jean Baptiste parochial school, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, received their diplomas in the Cathedral auditorium last evening, when a program of commencement exercises was given before a large audience of interested friends and relatives.

The exercises also marked the closing of the second year of the school in the parish. Six pupils were given diplomas. They were Ernest La France, Armand Pare Palma Castonquay, Anna Archambault, Marie Hubert and Marjorie Almquist.

The valedictorians were Armand Pare and Miss Anna Archambault, and E. Anderson delivered the response to their addresses. Bishop McGolrick accompanied the distribution of the diplomas with a helpful address to the students.

A number of the children sang a cantata, and J. W. Wheeler gave a vocal solo, "Sleep, My Southern Babe." A comedy playlet, "The Excitement at Duluth," created considerable amusement and was well given. The program concluded with another sketch, "Princess Manquees." The Cathedral school will hold exercises in the auditorium this evening.

YOUNG MAN LOSES LIFE SUDDENLY

Is Hit by Piece of Machinery and Instantly Killed.

Aneta, N. D., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A terrible accident occurred on the Albert Wells farm southwest of here which resulted in the instant death of George Brown, a young man who was working on the place. Just how the accident occurred is not known, but it is probable that the young man was caught in the moving machinery of the gasoline engine which he had just started a moment before. Henry Kerr, who was in the engine room at the time, had been talking to him a moment before and was in the act of turning on the feed chopper when a thud attracted his attention and on looking over his shoulder he saw his friend lying in a heap at the side of the engine with blood streaming from a wound in his face. He ran to his assistance and was horrified to find that life was extinct. A more thorough examination later on revealed the fact that the neck was broken, as was also the collar bone, besides other awful bruises about the face and body. The case is especially sad, the young man having only recently come to the United States from Ontario, where he left in high hopes of a successful year in the west.

WALK TO PIKE LAKE.

Novel Weekly Outing for Members of Boys' Department.

The regular weekly outing for members of the boys' department this week will be a night trip to Pike lake. The following notice on the bulletin board at the boys' department explains to the members what the trip will be:

"The overnight camping party to Pike lake will take place Friday, June 26, the members leaving the boys' building at 2:— p. m., taking the car up the incline and walking to the lake. Boys wishing to come will meet at the boys' building Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to make the arrangements. Each camper must carry his own spoon, cup, plate, and a portion of the provisions and in addition bring a heavy blanket and something of rubber to spread over the ground to sleep on."

The first of the swimming lessons will be held at Park Point Thursday afternoon, leaving the boys' building at 2:30. All members are invited.

Good Roads in India.

India possesses many fine highways, though this fact is not generally known. These roads were built before the days of the railroad, to serve as military highways. The native princes take pride in keeping them in repair. Another fact not generally known is that a good malt tonic, such as golden grain belt beer, will aid your digestion, steady your nerves and build you up physically. Serve this delicious beverage with your meals and put health and strength into your system. Duluth branch, Minneapolis Brewing company.

NORTHERN PACIFIC FINANCES

Comptroller Gray Tells of Cost of Road and Its Dividends.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—The financial condition of the Northern Pacific railway was explaintd in detail by H. A. Gray, comptroller of the road, in the rate hearing before Special Master Otis yesterday.

A statement of the outstanding stocks and bonds of the road on April 30, 1908, showed that on that date, 1,550,000 shares of common stock had been issued, the par value being $100. Sixty-two and one-half per cent had been paid on 929,210, 1-5 shares or $60,539,6364.99.

Of the bonds issued and assumed, the money value was $190,256,757.66. The total cost of construction of the road was given at $309,656,426.35. The total cost of equipment $59,596,-329.38 and the cost per mile $58,-670.76. The amount of stock outstanding in 1880 was given at $52,-412,645.12. This had increased to $155,000,000 in 1897, and it remained at this figure. The average amount of stock out during the 28 5-6 years was $114,169,010. The average dividend paid during this time was said to be 2,966 per cent.

The averagt rate of dividends paid during the last eleven and two-thirds years was 4.94 per cent and the average rate of interest and dividends was given at 4.29 per cent.

Comptroller Gray in his testimony told of the tragic side of the promoters of great railways. He said that Josiah Perham, who as the first president of the Northern Pacific, depended on the land grants to finance the undertaking, died of a broken heart. Perham believed that the land grants would net the company an average of $10 an acre, while as a matter of fact, said Mr. Gray, the company has not realized more than $2.50 an acre from the lands. President Perham believed that the land would build the road and asked for no other financial assistance. Not until the matter was taken up with Jay Cooke after the first failure was provision made to issue bonds.

NORTHERN WISCONSIN HAS SEVERE STORM.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—Reports received here indicate that a severe storm raged over the northern part of Wisconsin Monday night. Marinette reports that crops suffered considerable damage, vessels in the bay were driven ashore. Several buildings were demolished at Wauwaukee, the grand stand of the ball park was wrecked and the main streets were made impassable by fallen trees.

At Oshkosh the storm was one of the most severe and dangerous ever experienced there. Two children narrowly escaped death from bricks from a falling chimney, which was struck by lightning. The rain fell in torrents, clogging the sewers. Several buildings were demolished by the lightning. Various small fires also were caused by the lightning.

WISCONSIN BAPTISTS MEET.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 24.—The annual Baptist conference opened here Tuesday afternoon, twenty-two Northern Wisconsin towns being represented. Rev. John Moore of Boston, national head of the Young People's Forward Movement delivered the annual sermon last night.

ASHLAND MAN'S ILL-LUCK.

Injured by Train Near Carlton, Wanders Abont in Woods.

Carlton, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. M. Hansman of Ashland has certainly had the limit of hard luck while trying to reach Wrenshall in search of employment. He got off a freight car of the Great Northern, on which he had been riding, four miles east of here when he was hit by another train passing on the adjoining track. One arm was cut off near the elbow and he may have sustained serious injuries. The unfortunate man, dazed by his awful experience, was found wandering in the woods near Wrenshal many hours after he says he was hurt, nearly dead from the shock and loss of blood.

He was hurried here and is being treated in a hospital with chances of surviving his terrible ordeal.

PULPWOOD RATE HEARING.

Bemidji, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railroad and warehouse commission has issued notice of a meeting of the commission in this city Tuesday, July 7.

The hearing will be on the application of the Minnesota & International Railway company to increase its rates on pulpwood to the basis of its cordwood rates.

TRAINS ARE DELAYED.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Because of serious washouts, resulting from storms early Monday night, both trains due here yesterday from the Southwest over the Omaha road were delayed indefinitely, the Chicago Great Western train from Osage, Iowa, was annulled and the Great Western train from Kansas City was four hours late.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

In the death of Stephen Grover Cleveland the United States lost its last living ex-president, and one of the last landmarks of the old Democracy of pre-Bryan days disappears. Before 1896 he was Democracy's chief figure, standing erect and steadfast as the representative of ideas that he never abandoned. He did not leave his party; his party left him. His party changed, but with the shattered remnants of the old guard about him, he stood by the deserted banners until the last.

The United States has had many more brilliant statesmen than Grover Cleveland, but it never had a firmer, stauncher or more honest figure. It has had many statesmen who were more popular because they stooped to seek popularity, but it has never had one who stood by his guns more steadfastly. It is but twelve years since his last administration ended, and perhaps its memories are too recent to be clearly and fairly judged, but this is beyond question: history will not merge this man into the mass of mediocre and nondescript presidents. He will have a place all his own, from which his stalwart figure will stand forth distinctly among the few presidents of whom this is true. He will be reckoned with as a strong man who, in the faith of conviction and an unalterable determination to do what his sound judgment told him was right, served the country in a great emergency. He had a strong will and a rock-ribbed integrity. It will never be claimed for him that he was brilliant, but he had a well-balanced judgment and a fixity of principle that was far better than brilliancy. Not being brilliant, his conclusions came from long study of all sides of the problems that confronted him, and when they were formed they were immovable. No president has had stronger admirers, and certainly none has had bitterer enemies. He knew nothing of tact, cared nothing for it, and permitted the graces of time-serving diplomacy to have no place in his being. He was equally indifferent to popular applause and popular censure, both of which he weighed accurately, and neither of which swayed his judgment once it was formed. That judgment might have been wrong, but it was honest, and it was therefore respected even by those who differed from it. He rose to his highest pitch of greatness in the perilous times of his last administration, when he stood like a rock for his conception of what was necessary to preserve the nation's credit, and let the storms of abuse beat against him as the ineffectual seas dash against a rocky headland. It was an act of sustained courage and firmness for which history must commend him.

A notable fact about his career was that he never changed his position upon public questions. Once arrived at a conclusion after the careful study which was his habit, nothing could stir him. Public attention was first attracted to him by his veto of certain extravagant appropriations as mayor of Buffalo. The act aroused vast indignation among those interested in the expenditures checked by him, but their storm of anger passed over him as a gentle summer zephyr might pass over the eternal hills. As governor of New York and as president of the United States he met opposition and the rise and fall of popularity in the same way. When he became president in 1884 he recommended a suspension of silver coinage, and that position he never deserted. The avalanche of free silver sentiment that swept away his party did not stir him an inch from the position he had taken. He believed it to be right, and right to him was ever greater than party.

He never did anything for the mere sake of winning votes; he never did anything for sensational effect; he was firm for principle and for the right as he saw it. He made Great Britain respect the Monroe doctrine, and he sent a British ambassador home for interfering in Cleveland's behalf in our domestic politics. He refused to sign a tariff bill "tainted with perfidy and dishonor. To him "public office was a public trust," and history will record that he guarded his trust faithfully. If this be not greatness, it is something very like it.

M'KINLEY AND THE TRUSTS.

It will be startling news to many to learn from Secretary Cortelyou, who tells it in an article in Pearson's magazine, that at the time of his death President McKinley was studying the trust question, that he realized that something would have to be done, and that he was preparing to do it.

Beyond any question, the problems that are so vexing today and the evils that have grown so great and have permeated the body politic so deeply that a very serious operation is involved in their removal, had their greatest growth during the McKinley administration. The Republican party, as the guardian of business, and the McKinley administration, as the special protector of big business under the leadership of Mark Hanna, had a great deal to do with this process. Before McKinley's martyrdom it had become evident to many that the thing was going too far, and that unless something were done about it soon tremendous trouble would result.

Few people would have suspected that President McKinley was one of these. Splendid man that he was, his character and associations were not such as to lead to a hope that he would ever break away to the extent that Roosevelt has done. Such an act required firmness, aggressiveness and courage of a high order, and President McKinley, much as the people loved him for his fineness of character and gentleness of nature, could scarcely be said to have had those qualities in the degree necessary.

Yet Mr. Cortelyou says: "Mr. McKinley saw the great onrush of prosperity, with evils inseparable from the new conditions. He spoke of them plainly and often to those who were nearest to him. But to deal with them effectively, without shattering the interwoven and delicate fabric of the forces that were co-operating for the welfare of the country—that was the question. The president talked of it, he worried over it, he slept on it. Let no man believe that, realizing as he did the necessity for action lest abundance should lead us to ruin, any thought of temporizing with the evils found lodgment in his mind. While at such times he was slow in reaching a conclusion, once his mind was cleared of doubts he was absolutely resolute."

One thing in McKinley's closing days that gives support to the statements of Mr. Cortelyou was his changing attitude on the tariff.

More clearly than Roosevelt, more clearly even than Bryan, he seems to have seen that the best way to strike at the trusts was through the tariff. His last tariff speech, delivered just before he was murdered at Buffalo, should be circulated freely among the leaders of the Republican party. It is true that that party promises tariff revision, but there is in its platform absolutely no recognition that the tariff has had anything to do with trust abuses, and no promise that the proposed revision will do anything to remedy these abuses. The fight is not finished, therefore, until the Republican leaders are forced to provide a revision that will curb the trusts, or are forced to give away to leaders of another party that will provide revision of that character. The later tariff attitude of McKinley tends, reasoning thus, to support Mr. Cortelyou's very interesting statement.

"TRUST-BUSTING."

Last week twenty-four companies manufacturing manila wrapping paper pleaded guilty to maintaining a combination in restraint of trade—in other words, to constituting a "trust"—and Monday they were fined $2,000 each, or $48,000 altogether, in the United States circuit court in New York.

The case against the companies was instituted through the instrumentality of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, for which John Norris of New York is agent. This association has also been active against the print paper manufacturers, who make the paper upon which newspapers are printed. Some of the manufacturers caught in the manila paper case are also manufacturers of print paper. While they admitted the existence of a manila paper combination, they have denied the existence of a print paper trust, though practically the same conditions have existed in the making and sale of both manila and print paper. However, one difference is that the manila paper manufacturers have been brought into court, and the print paper manufacturers have not—yet.

There is always more or less doubt about the efficacy of this style of prosecution. At the bottom of it is a growing doubt whether, after all, progress is being facilitated by opposing the principle of business combinations when it has become so apparent that competition is as dead as race slavery. Combination reduces wasteful frictions, eliminates useless expense, and tends, therefore, to the betterment of conditions. The chief reason for public opposition to the principle is that the benefits have always gone to the few men interested, and have never been shared with the public. Assuming that combination is productive of benefits, it would seem probable that public efforts might be more effectively directed toward such regulation of these combinations as will insure public participation in these benefits.

It helps little to dissolve a trust, and to find that by some insidious gentlemen's agreement the oppressive conditions that made the trust hated still continue. That has been the case with the print paper trust formed in the West some years ago. It was proceeded against by the government, convicted, and dissolved by judicial decree. Yet the price of paper kept right on going up. It does little good, either, when a corporation is convicted of oppressing the people, to fine it for its offense. The corporation is pretty certain to find some way to make the public pay that fine, which means more oppression than ever.

If the policy of dissolving such combinations is to continue, and the people are not yet ready to substitute for it a policy of regulation that will give the public its due share of the benefits arising from the abolition of wasteful competition, the only way to go about it is by criminal prosecutions that will result in jail sentences for the guilty officers and directors. The corporation simply can't be punished. It has no conscience to disturb, no patriotism to arouse, no feelings to hurt. More powerful than any individual, it is more ruthless because it is insensate and conscienceless. Solemnly hauling up a corporation before the court and imposing sentence upon it is absurdly ineffective. The only effective way, if we must "bust trusts," is to "bust" them by sending to jail the officers that are responsible for their acts of oppression.

JOHANNES DAY.

Duluth is more than glad today to be entertaining the Finns of the Northwest for their annual celebration of Johannes day or "midsummer day," a pleasing custom brought by them from their home in Northern Europe. It is to be hoped that the visitors will enjoy every moment of the two days set apart for their festivities, that nothing may happen to mar the perfect pleasure of the occasion, and that the celebration may end with Duluth in possession of a better understanding of the Finns, and they of a better understanding of Duluth.

"Midsummer day" has no political significance, as many appear to imagine. In the far north of Europe this day is the height of summer, and the glories of nature are at their most perfect stage. It is a time for rejoicing, therefore, and in their native land the Finns gather from far and near in good fellowship for merry-making, in which contests of strength, skill and gracefulness are prominent features. A few years ago the Finns of the Northwest began to revive in this country the celebration of this pleasant occasion, and this year it is Duluth's good fortune to entertain the visitors, who come from the iron ranges, from the Copper country and from other points in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The Finns are a far more enlightened people than many give them credit for being. They have a splendid literature, their educational institutions are among the best in the world, and the forces that work for temperance, industry and clean living are particularly strong among them. Therefore it is peculiarly a pleasure to have them make Duluth the scene of this year's merrymaking and comradeship, and here's hoping that they will repeat the experiment soon and often.

"Let your wife talk," says Dr. Parkhurst. Lots of advice is not so easy to follow as that.

Candidate Taft has no front porch, as he does not own a home, so he will use his brother's for the campaign.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

James A. Vorpagel, at the St. Louis hotel, states that the people of San Francisco have entirely recovered the confidence that has been wanting for so long, and at the present time they are sanguine that San Francisco will soon regain the magnificence that made it the Queen City of the coast before the days of the disastrous earthquake and fire.

"I have never seen such courage and splendid energy displayed," said Mr. Vorpagel, in speaking of the way the citizens of San Francisco have rebuilt the city.

"In the face of conditions that one would think would discourage the bravest, the people of the coast metropolis have never faltered. I mean not only the fire and earthquake, but also the graft that honeycombed the city.

"The fight against graft was a thing that would make most people lose faith in the future of their city. Yet, though they were beset on all sides, the people of San Francisco never lost faith in the future and never for a moment have they lost sight of the idea that the new San Francisco must be greater than the old city.

"If you should journey out to San Francisco today you would hardly believe that a trifle more than two years ago that city had passed through the worst catastrophe in the history of America. You will find the people gay and happy; you will find that they have the utmost confidence in the future of their city. You will discover that new and fine buildings have risen on the ruins that marked the spot of desolation two years ago. You will find the streets of the city clean and well kept. You will find, aside from the places in the city that have not been rebuilt, that the city today is as it was before it was visited by the earthquake and fire.

"The degree of happiness and confidence seemed to be in inverse proportion to the loss. If a man had lost his all in the fire he seemed more happy and more confident in the future of the city than the man who had escaped with a slight loss. People who were absolutely ruined in the fire worked with a will and assumed a confident and even happy front. Some western optimism seem to buoy the people up and give them the strength and confidence to face a crisis without parallel in the history of the country.

"Today you will find that conditions in San Francisco have changed in every way for the better. They have destroyed the very thing that was the most threatening menace to the future greatness of San Francisco. They have wiped out the graft, and with the help of the men who are at the head of the city government at the present time, San Francisco bids fair to attain a prosperity and greatness that will surpass the greatness of the old city.

"Labor troubles, the street car strike, the graft that struck at the very heart of the city—these were only a few of the difficulties that confronted a people struggling to rebuild a city that had been stripped of its finest buildings, yet in the face of these manifold difficulties the work of rebuilding has gone on unchecked. In observing the great work that has been accomplished in the rebuilding of San Francisco you are struck with admiration at the courage these people have shown.

"You have to go to San Francisco to properly realize these things. Vaguely we read about what the people have passed through. We have heard of the refuge camp and the suffering of some of the poorer people. But not one hundredth part of the story of suffering and heorto struggle has been told. When you observe the conditions that are apparent, then you will begin to admire the work of a people who have proved that they are Americans with the most supreme courage.

"If a man it not a loyal citizen, if he has not confidence in his city, or if he does not believe in the courage and loyalty of the American people, it would be an object lesson for him to visit San Francisco. I have learned a lesson from my trip there; a lesson that has made a most profound impression on me; a lesson that I shall never forget and a lesson that has increased my respect for the people of the coast.

"The American people should be proud of the object lesson that has been given to them by the reconstruction of San Francisco. We can only guess at the misery and despair; can only vaguely imagine the sacrifice and heroic acts—we all know. But a person going to San Francisco can learn many things and can see many things that will make him proud that he is an American.

Champion Authors.

London Saturday Review: The champion writer today really is indisputably a champion. When a man has made a record in anything he has to write a book on the subject. Take cricket, golf, billiards, boating, football, motoring, shooting, travel, for example. No sooner has a man made two centuries in first-class cricket in one match, or gone round some difficult links in sixty-three, than, clearly, he is in for a book. He is the champion author, or one of the champion authors. If he does not actually write a book he is expected to hold forth in so many papers and magazines at the same time that the result in bulk is superior to a volume—to several volumes sometimes.

Let's Try It.

Brockport (N. Y.) Republic: Take a chicken, either a hen or a rooster, force its back down to the floor, and then while the bird is in that position, draw a chalk line from the end of its beak, extending forward some two feet or more, and the chicken, so the poultry experts tell us, will remain in its position, under the impression that the chalk mark is a string by which its head is tied to the floor. Take a human animal, a man or boy, not a woman or girl, set him down on the grassy bank of a stream one of these bright, warm spring days, put a fishing rod and line in his hands, and he will sit there indefinitely under the impression that he is going to catch a fish.

THE WEATHER.

After another dubious day of cloudiness with a little rain, the clouds disappeared in the night, and this morning it was absolutely clear, the air was fresh and clean, and the sun was warm. Furthermore, the weather man looks for fine weather in this vicinity tonight and tomorrow, which leads to a hope that the long-expected settled weather is at hand. Last night's lowest temperature was 54 degs. and yesterday's highest was 75 degs.

A year ago today it was cool, cloudy and damp.

The sun rose this morning at 4:13 and sets tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 54 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Somewhat cooler temperature prevailes this morning over Mississippi and Lower Missouri valley states, attending a strong high pressure area central over Nebraska and Wyoming. Clear weather prevails in the Middle West and Northwest. Temperatures remain high in Atlantic, Gulf and Ohio Valley states. The low pressure central Tuesday morning over Western Iowa and Eastern Nebraska has moved to the northeastward of Lake Superior. During the past twenty-four hours this disturbance caused light rains in the Lake region, Mississippi valley, New England states and Canada. Rains also fell over Oklahoma and Texas due to the Southwestern low pressure. Pleasant weather is indicated for this locality tonight and Thursday."

WHITTLED TO A POINT.

Chicago Tribune: The Doctor—She is a good manicure, but I don't see anything of the goddess about her.

The Professor—You don't? Isn't she the divinity that shapes our ends?

Baltimore American: The last of a long line of recurring plumbers stood at the pumpless well of a suburban residence.

"This well has been badly tinkered with," he announced, as others had done before him. "Half the pumping apparatus seems to be gone. Is there a sucker anywhere about the place?"

"Oh, yes," replied the chastened owner, "here I am."

Philadelphia Press: "Were you much touched by the sermon on foreign missions?"

"Well, I might have been, but it happened that I had only a little loose change with me."

Washington Star: "Did you find that prohibition benefited business in your community?"

"Yes, sir," answered Col. Stillwell. "There is no way of estimating the extent to which it boomed the manufacture and sale of vinegar jugs and kerosene cans."

Atlanta Constitution: "If I were you," said the old bachelor to the benedict, "I'd either rule or know why."

"Well," was the reply, "as I already know why, I suppose that's half the battle!"

Baltimore American: "I don't see why you want to marry a girl who is an embroidery expert."

"What has her business to do with it?"

"Why, she is such a designing young person."

Catholic Standard and Times: "What are you looking so glum about?"

"O, my fiancee has changed her mind."

"Still worrying over that? It was fully a month ago since you told me she had broken off the engagement."

"O, it's been on and off again twice since then."

Philadelphia Ledger: "You must give the prisoner the benefit of the doubt," explained the court.

"If your honor has reference to the doubt that seems to be in the mind of his attorney, we'll have to acquit without leaving the box," explained the foreman.

Washington Star: "Some white folks," said Uncle Eben, "kin tell you how to manage de intire finances of de United States, an' at de same time can't keep a grocery book straight to save der lives!"

Wanted—a Chauffeur.

"Wanted—a chauffeur, both sober and neat
And able to clean and repair,
And when he's not driving to wait on the door,
And manage the pony with care.
He must sleep in the stable and take his meals out,
The chickens and pigs he must feed,
And keep all the lawn and the grass borders mowed,
And the garden he also must weed

"He must work every Sunday, and clean all the boots,
He must milk and attend to the cow,
And put up the clothesline and beat out the rugs,
And to polish the windows know how,
For duties like these the munificent sum
Of $10 a week he will get—"
The woman or man who inserted this ad.
Is in want of a chauffeur as yet.

Playgrounds and Crime.

Scranton Tribune: The best argument in favor of playgrounds for children is that it will minimize juvenile crime. Of course, such an argument harks back to a very old and not always triumphant theory of human nature, viz: that crime increase in just the proportion that bad economic conditions crowd the people into abnormal living. Children in normal circumstances do not tend to crime. And normal circumstances mean conditions in which they have enough leisure time for play and plenty of room to play in. But because we cannot do it all at once is no reason why we should not do what we can. The testimony wherever the experiment has been tried is that playgrounds have a marked effect in diminishing the criminal tendencies in the poorer children of the great cities. The crowded alleys and courts and the narrow confines of city streets tend inevitably to degeneracy. If only for one hour a day children in such circumstances are given access to the open spaces and allowed to romp and play in the sunshine they respond to the improving condition of childhood, and any and every approach to the normal has its own share in bettering human life.

TALKING ABOUT TAFT.

New York World (Ind. Dem.): William H. Taft is the next precident of the United States—provided the Democratic national convention nominates William J. Bryan. It is an office for which Mr. Taft has conspicuous qualifications. But best of all, his nomination means the end of Roosevelt and Rooseveltism. It means the end of personal government, of autocratic regime, of militarism, of jingoism, of bluff-riderism, of administration by shouting and clamor, tumult and denunciation. It means the end of the Roosevelt reign of terror and the restoration of the presidency to its historical dignity under the Constitution.

New York Herald (Ind.): Whatever may be the concessions to union labor by the Democrats at Denver, this difference between employers and employed bids fair, we repeat, to be the hottest issue in the approaching campaign. With possible differences on labor point the platforms promise to be very much alike and the contest will be mainly one not of platforms, but of men. The principles, record and temperament of the candidates will be the determining factor in the campaign.

New York Sun (Ind.): It is a great relief to find that nothing has been put in the platform which precludes the possibility of Mr. Taft's election. He is not committed by it to any well-defined form of sacrilege in respect of the Constitution or of the courts. It contains no mandamus to continue the work of destruction so auspiciously pursued by his predecessor. In fact we discern in it no insuperable obstacle to Mr. Taft's conducting a constructive and beneficent administration.

New York Evening Post (Ind.): The chief task now laid upon Secretary Taft is to emerge. For two years his personality has been lost in another's. In 1906 he said in an important speech in Maine: "Speaking, not for the administration, but for myself." Since then he has not spoken for himself. He has had no voice or wish which was not the administration's. The big, resolute, forceful man has let himself be led like a child by Theodore Roosevelt. . . . There will be especial reason this year for such a virile display of the personality of the candidate. The outlook is confused. Party lines are badly broken. Labels and names are going to count for less than ever, leadership for more. The platform will go for little compared with the man who stands upon it and interprets it. Who can read the balanced commonplaces, the calculated non-committal of the Chicago platform, and not feel that it requires to be supplemented by the vigorous declarations of the nominee?

Buffalo News (Rep.): He seems to be quite a man, even if he has "played second fiddle" to the chief of the administration of which he is a part. And what other fiddle would he be expected to play, in such a relation?

Brooklyn Eagle (Ind. Dem.): A partisan in adherence, not an idealist in the air above or between parties, he has in office been an exemplar of what right men would have a public servant do and seek to have others do. He has voted and argued for better Republicanism, but he has adjudicated and administered for mankind.

New York Globe (Rep.): Taft and Sherman! Already the combination has an agreeable sound. It's not a red fire ticket, nor one to tickle the hysterical, but it appeals powerfully to the good sense and sober judgment of the country. No skittish and anxiety-arousing high steppers these, but a steady, nerve-quieting team, competent to pull along a big load of business without snortings or fuss. After March 4 next, with Taft and Sherman in office, no need to sit on the edge of the seat to be ready to make a quick jump.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sentinel (Dem.): The presidential nominee, Secretary Taft, is an engaging personality. He has filled exalted positions and has occupied a large place in the public eye. But he assumes the part of a dwarf by the side of his political maker, Theodore Roosevelt. With the election of the nominee, the hand of the predecessor would still direct. It is "my policies" which must be carried out and vindicated. Mr. Taft would be a mere puppet in office, overshadowed by the towering genius that made his nomination and election possible.

Lincoln, Neb., State Journal (Rep.): Secretary Taft is the choice of President Roosevelt, but he is more than a mere promise that the Roosevelt policies will be carried out. He is a statesman in his own right. Trained in many branches of the public service, a clear thinker, a prodigious worker, a proved executive, he completely fills the exacting requirements of the presidential office. He will not only make a progressive president but a safe administrator of the institutions most sacred to the American people.

Syracuse Post-Standard (Rep.): Of all the great Americans who in the past half century have stood before the American voters as candidates for the presidency, none, not even the solitary Lincoln himself, has been more perfectly fitted to his occasion that the present Republican nominee is to his.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

•••It has been decided by the new management of the Duluth theater to change its name to the People's theater.

•••Bids were opened yesterday for the lumber required by the city during the current year, and the contract was awarded to Bradley & Hanford at $11.20 per thousand feet, $1 extra for dressing. Contracts for wooden sidewalks ranged from 39 to 41 cents per foot.

•••A committee, headed by Fred White, has been appointed to raise funds for building an Episcopal church at the West end. Rev. J. E. Simpson of Faribault will conduct the Episcopal mission services in the future.

•••Judge Stearns has made a decision in the city hall injunction case, denying the requested injunction.

•••Ex-Conductor Sovereign of the Port Huron & Northwestern railway has joined forces with F. H. Petty, and the two are doing a fine business with the American Building & Loan association.

•••Ole Hanson, who has been engaged in the fruit and confectionery business at 419 West Superior street, is among the missing.

•••A good story is related regarding one of the Duluth delegates to the recent Knights of Pythias convention. Upon his return trip he stopped in Chicago a day or two, and when he reached Duluth was very enthusiastic in praise of the Windy City. "Why," said he, "you fellows are bragging about Duluth. You ought to see Chicago. It is three times as big as Duluth."

•••The judiciary committee of the senate, it is expected, will take action tomorrow on the nomination of Melville W. Fuller to the chief justiceship of the supreme bench, in order that the senate can either confirm or reject the appointment without further delay. The charges which have been filed against him are regarded as trivial.

•••Levine Bros. have started a saloon in the La Perl hotel.

•••Alfred F. Lindbloom, formerly leader of the Grand opera house orchestra at Stillwater, and E. W. Holcombe of the same city have concluded to locate in Duluth, and both have become members of Walker's milltary band. Mr. Walker now has twenty people in his band. An orchestra is now to be established, with Mr. Lindbloom as first violinist and Mr. Walker as cornetist.

•••E. T. Bennett of Bay City, Mich., has purchased a large interest in the Minneapolis Star and will assume the business management of the paper next month.

•••Robert J. Jeffrey, the hardware man, is back again from a long visit to St. Paul.

"JOHNSON OF MINNESOTA."

Stillwater Gazette: The decision of Governor Johnson to not be a candidate for governor again, not believing in the third term as applied to such an important office as the governor of Minnesota, again shows the good judgment with which our friend John is endowed. He has attained a national prominence during the past four years by the excellent judgment shown in the administration of the affairs of his office: he has made no serious mistakes or blunders, but has guided the ship of state through the dangerous shoals that infest the course, landing safely. In other words he has made good. The good judgment, pleasant smile, warm handshake and charming personality of John A. Johnson has carried him to success, fame and honor and the people of Minnesota, irrespective of politics, are proud of him.

Thief River Falls Press: Governor Johnson has given out that he will refuse a renomination. This will be a distinct loss for the governor has conferred more honor on the state than has anyone who has held the office during the past decade. Furthermore, there is not as good timber in sight in either party.

Sauk Center Herald: The action of a small coterie of Mr. Bryan's supporters forced Governor Johnson to be an aggressive presidential candidate; otherwise Minnesota's delegation would have given him a complimentary vote at Denver and then swung into line for the Nebraskan. Mr. Bryan will be nominated in July and defeated in November. Mr. Johnson will receive the advertising and will be a formidable candidate four years hence. Mr. Johnson is a "comer." He has not "arrived" but will not be long in doing so. He has adopted the wisest policy in declining to stand for a third term. Four years more will do much for him. He is likely to sit in the White House yet.

Perham Enterprise: Governor Johnson says he does not want another term as governor. "President Johnson" would sound better.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel-Free Press: Governor Johnson declares he will not be a candidate for governor again this year. This is good news to the Barkises who have been waiting for him to say it.

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: Governor Johnson's decision not to accept a nomination for a third term as governor shows good judgment and self control. He could have the nomination on a gold platter, and he could have the election on almost as complimentary terms, but he takes the ground that two terms are enough. The governor's decision will not be popular among those who have been lifted into lucrative office by his elevation to power, but even the office holders cannot in their inmost souls fail to applaud him for his wisdom. A third term could add nothing to the governor's laurels. He had had whatever glory there is in the office, has done admirable work for the interests of the state, and has impressed his personality on the people of this country as few governors have done.

Isanti News: Governor Johnson announced last week that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for or accept a third nomination for governor of Minnesota. The governor realizes that he has nothing to gain in seeking a third term, and says he is opposed to a governor serving more than four years. He will go on the lecture platform, and the unsuccessful contest which he has made against Bryan for the Democratic nomination for president has added to the demand for his services as a lecturer. The governor has a happy faculty of pleasing an audience and should make good in his new profession.

A Saving of Coal Means a Saving of Money

There is no use trying to save on your coal bill if you continue to use a stove that consumes more coal than is absolutely necessary. We know for an absolute certainty that the Monarch Malleable Range will burn less coal and give better results than any other range made.

Take Your Own Range for Instance

Do you wonder why your old range burns so much coal? Why it will bake well—at times? Why as it gets older it consumes more coal with poorer results than before? Why the lids warp and crack? We'll tell you why these faults appear. Cast steel ranges are put together with bolts where they should be riveted. The tops and frames, ash door and draft are made of cast iron, while the body of the range is of steel. There is only one way to make a joint between these two materials. As the cast iron will not stand the necessary hammering for riveting, they must be bolted together, then calked with stove putty. These joints open up as the range gets older, admitting outside air, which is only supposed to come in when the draft is open. You can readily see the effect of this in the consumption of fuel. Then the lids and paltes crack and warp. This is the beginning of the end of your range.

Why The Monarch MALLEABLE "The Stay Satisfactory" Range Is The Best

The MONARCH is the best range in the world. Other malleable ranges are good, but the MONARCH is admittedly superior to them all. It consumes less fuel than any other. It burns more evenly than any other. It bakes more reliably than any other. It has more special, exclusive, labor-saving devices than any other. The reason for these facts is PERFECT CONSTRUCTION. That the above statements are so is proven by the fact that the Monarch Malleable Ranges were awarded the First Prize Gold Medal at the Lewis & Clark Fair in competition with all others. Remember there is none "Just As Good." The MONARCH is the best.

WOMAN TRACED TO PORTLAND

Annie Erland May Soon Communicate With Mother.

Chief Troyer believes he will be able to put Annie Erland, the 17-year-old St. Paul girl who appealed to him for aid, in communication with her mother, whom she has not seen for years. Miss Erland was left in the Children's Home when only 5 years old, and now she wants to see her mother and brother.

The chief says Mrs. Erland went to Portland, Or., from Duluth, in company with a man who formerly was a local policeman, and who is now said to be on the Portland force. Mrs. Erland obtained a divorce from Peter Erland, a mail carrier, in 1895. The husband did not appear to contest the divorce, and it is claimed he was forced to leave the city because of some trouble he had been mixed up in. It was two years after this that the mother placed Annie in the Children's home. The girl now resides with her adopted parents at 2065 Commonwealth avenue, St. Paul.

A CONGRESS OF NATIONS.

Twenty-Two Races Are Represented Among Ringling Circus Employes.

Just 1,280 people are on the Ringling Brothers' circus payroll. They come from twenty-two different parts of the world and range in color through the whites, blacks, browns and yellows. There are 16 Japanese, 40 French, 10 Swiss, 30 Italians, 5 Portuguese, 4 Bohemians, 10 Austrians, 50 Russians, 65 Germans, 8 Belgians, 10 Scotch, 8 Spaniards, 10 Polish, 4 Egyptians, 2 Singalese, 6 Cossacks, 12 Hungarians, 4 Burmese, 6 Welsh, 390 Americans, 460 English and a hundred or more others from all parts of the world. The circus colony on the road is a Tower of Babel for tongues, a congress of religions, a gathering of clans and families—in short, a census taker's paradise. And it has six pay-days a week. Every day in the week is a pay-day for some class of employe. The performers have one, the canvasmen one, the railroad men another and so on down the line. This plan makes the handling of so many pay envelopes an easy task. The lowest salary is $50 a month. The canvasmen and grooms and billposters draw this amount. The best riders are paid from $100 to $200, according to their ability and reputation.

The majority of the circus people have members of their families with them. You will find men and their wives, sons, daughters, cousins, uncles, aunts, nephews and nieces with Ringling Brothers' circus. The circus travels in special trains, all the cars belonging to the management. The railroads only furnish the motive power. One section is composed of twenty-six sleeping cars. The circus carries a doctor, chaplain, veterinary surgeon, postmaster, detective, barbers, blacksmiths, storekeeper and about everything that goes with a well-regulated village.

It costs $7,400 a day to run Ringling Brothers' circus. How are they going to get that amount back? How make a profit? There are 119 cities in the United States with populations of 30,000 to 200,000. Sixty-five of the first of these are west of New York, in California, Colorado, Utah and Washington, and in other states too far away to be reached by a big show. Many of them are in the South and the rest are in the Eastern states. When a show goes West and South its traveling tour is restricted to about fifty cities of 30,000 or more persons, and the show is compelled to take in 150 small towns in its traveling season of 200 days.

FRIENDLY SUIT BEGUN

Taxpayer Would Test Legality of Courthouse Certificates.

Judge Cant Sustains Demurrer and Case is Appealed.

A suit to test the constitutionality of the act of the legislature providing that certain counties of the state may issue certificates of indebtnedness to raise funds to build courthouses has been started by Whitney Wall, a taxpayer of St. Louis county.

The papers in the case were served on the county officials yesterday. Mr. Wall attacking the constitutionality of the act, claiming that it is special legislation. The county, through Assistant County Attorney W. J. Stevenson, entered a general demurrer to the complaint and Judge Cant this morning sustained the demurrer. Mr. Wall gave notice immediately of an appeal from the ruling to the state supreme court and the clerk of the district court is making returns to that judicial body today. Stipulations have been signed by both parties to have the case set on the present term calendar of the supreme court, and Assistant County Attorney Stevenson will leave for St. Paul this evening to have the case set for argument within the next week or ten days, if possible.

M. Douglas represents Mr. Wall in the matter.

The action is directed against the County of St. Louis, County Auditor Halden and Chairman E. M. Patterson of the county board. Mr. Wall seeks to restrain these officials from executing to Thomas Bolger and Company the $900,000 worth of county bonds to be issued to provide funds to complete the new courthouse.

The portion of the act attacked as unconstitutional is known as Chapter 130 of the General Laws of 1907.

Is a Test Case.

When the bonds were purchased by the Chicago bond company several days ago it was the understanding that a test case would follow to test the constitutionality of the act providing for the issue of certificates of indebtedness.

It is understood that Mr. Wall's suit is not an unfriendly one, but that he is merely exercising his right as a taxpayer to have determined the constitutionality of the act under which the bonds were issued. There is no desire on Mr. Wall's part to cause any delay in the building of the new courthouse. He wishes to have it determined whether the bond issue is a legal one. If it is not, then steps can be taken right away to have the proposition of a bond issue submitted to the people at the coming November election, or at a special election.

In any event, it is claimed, there will be no delay in the building operations, as arrangements have been made to finance the undertaking up to the time the money is available on the bonds that have been issued, or those that may be issued under the vote of the people. County warrants will be issued whenever necessary to raise the funds to take care of the estimates on the contracts in the courts of performance and these, it is said, can be placed readily at no higher rate of interest than that fixed in the bond issue.

The recent sale of the $900,000 worth of county courthouse bonds to the Bolger company of Chicago at a premium of $9,870 was made contingent on a ruling of the supreme court on the constitutionality of the law providing for the issuing of certificates of indebtedness.

It is expected that the legal proceedings to secure a supreme court ruling will be expedited as much as possible.

The county is going into the legal contest under favorable conditions. Yesterday afternoon County Auditor Halden received word that Storey, Thorndyke, Palmer & Thayer, one of the most prominent firms of bond attorneys in this country, had approved of the form of the certificates of indebtedness and the regularity of all the legal proceedings in connection with their issue. The attorneys were employed by Thomas Bolger & Co., who bought the bonds.

The premiums paid for the bonds, amounting to approximately $10,000, will, it is said, warrant the county holding a special election on the bond issue, should the supreme court hold the law unconstitutional. It is said that a special election would not cost more than about half of the prendum paid by the bond company.

STREET CAR CUTS OFF GIRL'S LEG

Little Julia McKay Meets With Accident While Playing.

Julia McKay, the 5-year-old daughter of William McKay, one of Uncle Sam's life savers, fell underneath a street car on lower Lake avenue at 8 o'clock last night and her right leg was cut off below the knee.

The little girl was playing tag with several companions. Looking over her shoulder at the child who was following her, she slipped and fell under the side of the car. One leg was crushed by the revolving wheels. Julia never lost consciousness, but dragged herself away from the car and attempted to stand up. Passengers on the car and other witnesses turned their eyes momentarily from the pitiful sight.

The girl was carried to 360 St. Croix avenue, where she was later called for by an ambulance and taken to St. Mary's hospital. Dr. D. D. Murray cared for the injury.

Neither the motorman nor the conductor of the car saw the accident. It is said they were in no wise to blame. The car was in charge of Motorman O. O. Kalstad and Conductor Fred Anderson.

IN DANGER ON WRECKED BOAT

Squall Hits the Bay and Craft is Stranded.

Two young women and two young men clung to a stalled sail boat and were almost drowned in the waves which dashed over the stranded craft, before they were rescued from their precarious position at 11 o'clock last night.

A squall struck the bay about 10 o'clock last night and during it, the boat's keel struck on some object under the water and all efforts of the members of the party to release it were unavailing. In the meantime, the violence of the storm increased and the waves were breaking over the boat every minute.

When they saw that they could not loosen the boat and there was danger of perishing, the young men in the party, Claus Puck and Henry Murphy, cried for help. Their cries were heard on shore, but the waves were running so high that it was a hard matter to launch a row boat. Finally, Robert Burns, one of the aerial bridge operators, went out in a skiff and took the chilled young women and the shivering men from the wreck. The names of the girls were not learned. Aside from being very wet and cold, the members of the party were uninjured.

Last night's squall sent several craft scurrying to cover. A small boat overturned near Oatka Beach, but the occupants, two boys, had no difficulty in swimming ashore.

STANDPATTER IN THE SADDLE

Bryan Concludes His Denunciation of the Republican Platform.

Lincoln, Neb., June 24.—Denouncing the Republican platform as a silent repudiation of almost every Rooseveltian principle, William J. Bryan has completed a summary of the work of the Chicago convention. Mr. Bryan says:

"The contest in the Republican party between the reformer and standpatter is for the present at an end with the standpatter in the saddle. The platform is a silent repudiation of nearly every promise of reform that the president and his followers have given to the country. It begins with an eulogy of the president. 'In no other period since the days of Lincoln' according to the platform, 'had there been such mighty progress in those ideals of government which makes for justice, equality and fair dealing among men.'

"'Their most exalted servant represents the best aims and worthiest purposes of all his countrymen. American manhood has been lifted to noble sense of duty and obligation.'

"Without asking why the Republican party has held office and divided the official salary among its partisans so long without giving us a president who represented 'the best aims and worthiest purposes of the people,' without asking why no other Republican president in recent days 'has lifted American manhood to a noble sense of duty and obligation,' we may ask why it is that the Republican convention spends so much time in extolling the president and gives so little attention to the specific indorsement of the things he has advocated. But the president must feel that he is the only Republican deserving of praise. The recent congresses, according to the platform, have been full of patriots and the Republican legislatures have been keeping 'step in the forward march to better government.' What does the president think of being bracketted with Republican senators of congress in this indiscriminate praise?

"Nothing is said of the conspiracy formed among the Republican leaders of the senate to defeat the president's railroad rate bill, no intimation is here given that he sent several messags to congress in a vain endeavor to get the lower house to take up the reforms which he was urging. The president must resent the fact that the platform expresses no gratitude to the Democratic members and senators for supporting him when the Republicans deserted him. Not only does the platform fail to give the Democrats credit for helping the president in every effort to lift up American manhood to 'noble sense of duty and obligation,' but it actually condemns the filibuster which the Democratic minority instituted and carried on for the express purpose of compelling Republicans to carry out the president's recommendations."

LEAVES VENEZUELA.

The United States Has No Diplomatic Representative There.

Washington, June 24.—The state department has been officially notified of the departure of Secretary Jacob Sleeper of the American legation at Caracas, Venezuela, aboard the Marietta, leaving the United States without a diplomatic representative in that country. A state of expectancy exists and is the result of the inability of this country to secure any satisfaction from President Castro through Minister Russell.

Washington, June 24.—The state department has received official notification of the departure of Mr. Sleeper of the American legation at Caracas, Venezuela. Mr. Sleeper's departure leaves the United States without diplomatic representation in the South American republic. The affairs of the legation will be looked after by a representative of the Brazilian legation. For the past three years since questions between the United States and Venezuela first arose, Minister Russell has been unable to get any satisfaction from the Venezuelan government. While the fact that the United States has no diplomatic representative in that country may result in the withdrawal of the Venezuelan attache here, no advices had been received at the Venezuelan legation.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

In the United States court Tuesday the Toledo Ice & Coal company pleaded guilty to three counts charging it with receiving rebates from the Ann Arbor railroad company. Judge Taylor assessed the fine to $1,200 in each count. The remaining 152 counts in the indictment were dismissed. The indictments were brought under the Hepburn law.

Mrs. Mary Cassidy, a widow 35 years old, was shot and killed at her home near Woodhaven, L. I., Tuesday by Victor Henry, who then turned the revolver on himself, dying instantly. The widow's rejection of Henry's marriage proposal is believed to have caused the tragedy.

The new scout cruiser Salem, built by the Forest River Shipbilding company of Quincy, Mass., established a new record in her standardization on the Rockland course Tuesday, when she covered the measured mile course at the rate of 26.895 knots an hour. The average of her five highest runs was 25.95.

Vincenzo Attillo, a fruit peddler of New Rochelle, N. Y., Tuesday stabbed his wife in the neck, killing her instantly, and then attacked Felix Gulcizi, a boarder, whom he found in his wife's apartment, stabbing him fifteen times. Gulcizi, it is said, cannot live. Attillo fled.

It has been decidedly definitely that the former McKinley home shall be a Catholic hospital. Official statement was made that Felix M. Bopp, administrator of the Cleveland diocese, has ordered the remodeling of the building.

Old Nordahl, convicted last Sunday at Lewiston, Mont., of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Bertha Schoulter in January last, and who was also found guilty of slaying the other four members of the family, was sentenced by Judge Choadle to life imprisonment.

Many well known New York residents journeyed to Tuxedo Tuesday to witness the marriage of Miss Ursula Juliet Morgan, daughter of Mrs. John K. Morgan of New York and niece of J. P. Morgan, to the Rev. William Fitzsimon rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Tuxedo park.

UNION PICNIC.

Three Episcopal Sunday Schools Will Unite in Big Outing.

The Sunday school picnic season is about due.

St. Paul's, St. Luke's and Holy Apostles' Episcopal churches have united to give their Sunday schools a picnic on July 8 at Fond du Lac. The party will leave at 9 o'clock in the morning on the steamer Mascotte, from the Lake avenue dock. The boat will also stop at the Fifth avenue and Twenty-first avenue west docks to pick up parties who might find it more convenient to leave at those places than at Lake avenue.

"We expect from 30 to 400 children on our picnic," said Rev. Roderick J. Mooney this morning, "and we want the parents and friends to come along to bear some of the responsibility of taking care of them. It is almost impossible for a committee of a few to watch so many young people."

The party will spend the day up the river and return by the Mascotte in the evening.

FRIGHTEN BURGLARS.

Four Telephone Girls Frighten Bad Man From Building.

Four girls in the employ of the Duluth Telephone company early yesterday morning drove two burglars out of the building, and saved the company $16 in cash by doing so. Two men, thought to be amateurs at the business, were found by the girls in the act of breaking open a telephone cash box in the hallway. The burglars saw the girls coming and darted out of the door.

Meantime a passerby, who had seen the men at work from the street, had notified the police, and Patrolman Connors was sent to the scene. The burglars had fled before his arrival there. The box on which the pair had been working with a hatchet was almost smashed to pieces, and if it had not been for the interruption of the girls, the money would have been secured before the arrival of the police.

FORMER ALDERMAN IS TO PLEAD GUILTY.

New York, June 23.—William Clifford, a former alderman of this city, announced to Justice Goff in court today that he intends tomorrow to plead guilty to the charge of bribery. He was accused of receiving $9,000 for distribution among aldermen elected by the municipal ownership leage, to secure the election of Judge Cowing as recorder.

Henry Clay Peters, a former alderman, was put on trial today on a charge of perjury alleged to have been committed in the Clifford case. Peters testified at that hearing that there was no agreement among the municipal ownership aldermen to elect Cowing.

"The Prevention of Tuberculosis in the lungs depends, says a prominent Medical Journal in part, upon food thoroughly munched before it is swallowed, and upon the avoidance of constipation, not by taking physic, but by eating sufficient vegetables, fruit and other food containing cellular waste, also thoroughly munched, to maintain the muscular tone of the stomach and intestines: for the beginning of consumption often follows indigestion and constipation."

It is well known that if "good digestion waits on appetite" all the forces of the body are better able to ward off disease.

Grape-Nuts

by restoring digestive power and rebuilding nerve tissue, is ideal as a basis of food for strengthening the individual with a "tendency toward tuberculosis,"

With cream, it is delicious, appetizing, easily absorbed and highly nourishing.

BLOOD KILLS GERMS
Good Blood Made by Good Food.

If one can surely turn food into good red blood it will combat any and every disease known and conquer completely more times than the disease will win.

Any physician will tell you that good, rich blood and plenty of it is the best germicide known and surely and safely cures disease when medicines fail; the effort of the doctor is to give food that digests and quickly makes blood.

No food ever discovered will do this as certainly as Grape-Nuts, which is predigested at the pure food factories where it is made.

One of the many illustrations is that of tuberculosis, which refuses to yield to medicine but must give way to good blood. A man from Phila. writes:

"I have been fighting tuberculosis for some years and, with a weak stomach, was losing ground slowly every year.

"I had tried all kinds of food and finally got so far along with the disease that my stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, and lungs were affected. My stomach got to a point where it would retain no food but peptonized milk and I was down to 90 lbs. in weight.

"The doctors said about two years ago that I had but a month or two more to live. About that time I was put on Grape-Nuts and cream. It never showed the first sign of coming up, but agreed from the start and in a few days I began to feel increased strength, so I kept on, with the result that the healthy blood has driven the disease from every organ of my body except the lungs and is slowly driving it from them.

"I have gained greatly in vitality and strength and added 29 lbs. to my weight. If I can keep on as I have been, it seems clear that I will get entirely well, thanks to old Dame Nature, whose work was made possible by Grape-Nuts food which I could digest." "There's a Reason."

Mayor Welcomes Them.

Shortly after arriving there the exercises were commenced. Charles Kauppi introduced Mayor R. D. Haven, who gave the address of welcome. He welcomed the visitors to the city, and urged upon them the fullest enjoyment of the benefits nature had provided in the way of a beautiful park and an ideal day. He expressed his pleasure at the introduction here of the beautiful midsummer festival, and closed by expressing his wishes that it should be unusually enjoyable one this year.

Rev. M. Lehtonen of Virginia then recited a patriotic poem in Finnish, and J. W. Lahde, editor of the Finnish paper at New York Mills, Minn., spoke on the significance of the festival which they were enjoying.

"What America Offers to the Finns" was the topic chosen by Representative

JOHN SAARI,
Who Denounced Socialism.

B. Miller for his talk, which was one of the features of the program. He outlined the opportunities offered in an industrial way. He pointed out the advantages offered to the common laborer, to the mechanic and to those interested in mercantile pursuits.

Mr. Miller dwelt especially upon farming. He told of the liberality of America's homestead laws, and the advantages of agricultural pursuits here. "You must study farming here, however," said he, "since conditions are so different from elsewhere. It is because of this need of our foreign population, as well as for other reasons, that I am decidedly in favor of the establishment of an agricultural school in this part of the state."

Mr. Miller closed by an eloquent appeal for patriotism on the part of the American Finns.

He said:

"The presence of these blessings is due to the character of our government. Their continuation depends upon the preservation of that government. The preservation of that government depends upon the loyal support of its citizens and upon that alone.

"I therefore you would enjoy these blessings, and your children, and your children's children, make this nation's cause your own, love her institutions as your dearest treasures here on earth and let their protection and preservation be the object of your constant thought.

"Enter, then, into the enjoyment of these blessings. Love the land you thus make your own, be true to the government whose protection you enjoy and yild to no other citizens, free-born or native in your loyalty to the Stars and Stripes."

Mr. Saari's Speech.

Representative Saari spoke on "The Finn as an American Citizen." Besides expressing his sincere regret that Socialism should be attracting some of their number, he maintained that the Finns made a most worthy addition to the citizenship of the country. He told of the rough, rugged country where their ancestors and they had been bred, and said that this accounted for their rugged, vigorous characteristics. He said that though loyal to the land of their adoption the Finns should not forget their fatherland. "I question the citizenship of any country, of the man who forgets and ignores the land of his birth," said Mr. Saari.

He spoke of the sad occasion of the first festival four years ago, and contrasted it with the present day celebration of today. He outlined the accomplishments of the Finns in America, and, taking President Roosevelt's definition of an American citizen as a base, showed how well his countrymen lived up to that ideal.

The Ely Finnish band, and the Calumet Glee club rendered selections during the afternoon.

From the time the crowd arrived until late in the afternoon punch was served in the big auditorium close to the park, which was handsomely decorated in the Finnish colors. The waitresses were attired in quaint old country clothes of blue and white, the national colors. They will be the guests of the Finns tonight at the big concert in the Lyceum.

Over 2,000 people were in the park during the afternoon and heard the speeches from the pavilion. Between 150 and 200 came up last night on the lake from the Copper country, and the range trains were crowded. Finnish people at the Head of the Lakes turned out en masse.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Although there are no formal club meetings being held during the summer months, many of the program committees are busily arranging the outline of work for the various clubs to be pursued during the year.

The first of these programs to be completed is that for the Cecilian society. The club, which is limited to thirty active members, will study symphonies during the year. In most cases, two afternoons will be devoted to each symphony, the first day being given to a thematic study of the work and the second afternoon to the playing of the symphony. The songs to be presented will be those of contemporary writers.

The chairman of the plan of work committee is Miss Josephine Carey, and the outline is as follows:

October: Study of Haydn symphony; leader, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren. Songs of Bach, Handel and Haydn; leader, Mrs. Percy Gough.

November: Thematic study of Beethoven's symphony No. 7; leader, Mrs. L. M. Beckwith. Songs of Beethoven and Schubert; leader, Mrs. G. H. Jones.

December: Symphony No. 7, Beethoven in piano duo form; leader, Mrs. L. M. Beckwith. Songs of Schumann and Mendelssohn; leader, Mrs. Gustav Flaaten.

January: Thematic study of symphony, D major, Op 73: Brahms; leader, Miss Josephine Carey. Songs of Brahms and Franz; leader, Miss Swan.

February: Symphony D major, Op 73 in piano duo form; leader, Miss Josephine Carey. Songs of Brahms and Grieg; leader, Miss Hyland.

March: Thematic study of symphony No. 6, B minor, Op 75, Tschaikowsky; leader, Mrs. A. M. Gow. Songs of Tschaikowsky and Hugo Wolff; leader, Miss Schoeffel.

April: Tschaikowsky symphony in piano duo form; leader, Mrs. A. M. Gow. Songs of Hugo Kaun and Richard Strauss; leader Miss Swan.

May: Study of symphonies to be played at May festival; leader, Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker. Songs of MacDowell, Foote and Mrs. H. H. A. Beech; leader, Mrs. Leo Ball.

ARTS AND CRAFTS.

Value of the Work is Subject of Address.

The interest in the art exhibit shown in Duluth by the Minnesota State Art society is continuing unabated, and there is evident a widespread appreciation of the splendid showing of pictures and handicrafts which has been brought to Duluth. The reception at the rooms yesterday afternoon was one of the delightful events of the summer. Several hundred guests called, and the Duluth Art association, which is the host for the exhibit, had as assisting hostesses throughout the rooms, Mrs. W. B. Silvey, Mrs. G. A. Tomlinson, Mrs. William Prindle, Mrs. James E. Granger, Mrs. T. F. Cole and Mrs. R. P. Dowse.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour of this city, who has been actively interested in the exhibit this year and who is working for the development of the art industrial work throughout the sate. With the large element of foreign settlers in Minnesota, there is in many cases a beginning of a craft work which might be made of great art and commercial value to the people themselves and to the state.

"The art industrial movement is the most vital thing in education today," said Mrs. Seymour, in her talk yesterday. "It is not a fad developed in this country and limited to a few enthusiasts, but it is world-wide. It is found in the work of the peoples of India, Japan, Hungary, Italy, France, Ireland, Canada, on the Indian reservations, in institutional work at homes for the blind and the feeble minded; it is allied with agriculture and intensive farming, and in all these places it has become the main factor in lifting the lives of the people.

"One idea of patriotism which has been developed through history is that of fighting for one's country and one's fireside. Side by side with this ideal has been fostered another ideal of patriotism—that of putting more power and ability and joy in everyday living; of carrying higher ideals into the lives of one's own people. To bring to them all of experience and knowledge and beauty and wisdom, possible to help them enrich their lives. Such was the patriotism of Moses and of Jesus. Throughout the Bible there is that same feeling for humanity and that desire to enlarge its vision.

"This patriotism is the basic principle of the arts and crafts movement."

Mrs. Seymour drew the attention of the audience to the exhibits of the various crafts which are shown. The weaving of the pupils at Berea college, an institution for the education and help of the poor whites of the South. This college has developed an industry in rug weaving that is doing much to lift the people, and the returns from the work is making the education of others possible. The exhibit from the Massachusetts institute for the blind is one of the most interesting to be seen. The beautiful work is done by the students who are totally blind, and in some cases the design itself is a part of their work. The weaving of the habitant women of Canada stands as an evidence of what may be accomplished when the proper stimulus is provided.

That the movement may be a tremendous commercial value to a country is shown by the fact that the income from the art industries of France equals the income from the wheat crop of America. These almost unbelievable figures will go far to prove that the art industrial movement is not a vision of the few, but that it may do unlimited good in enriching the lives of the people and also provide a commercial value, that is essential.

The next of the regular receptions will be held tomorrow evening at the rooms. The speaker will be Bishop James McGolrick, who will talk on "The Art Interests of Duluth." The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. A. M. Miller, Jr., Mrs. H. F. Williamson, Mrs. William Dalrymple and Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr.

MORNING WEDDING.

Miss Katherine Fiebiger Becomes Bride of Dr. Kuth.

At the solemn high mass, said this morning at St. Anthony's Catholic church, at the corner of Third avenue east and Second street, Miss Katherine Fiebiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fiebiger, became the bride of Dr. Joseph Kuth. The altar was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns, and a large number of friends assembled for the mass. The marriage service was read by Father Limmer.

The bride wore a simple gown of white mull over silk and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. She wore a tulle veil. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Rose Fiebiger, and the groomsman was G. Kuth of Minneapolis. The bridesmaid also wore a white frock with a white picture hat and carried pink roses. The nuptial music was played by a sister of the bride. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 1412 East Second street. During the afternoon Dr. Kuth and his bride left for a wedding trip. The bride's going away gown was of blue cloth. After Aug. 1 Dr. and Mrs. Kuth will be at home at 704 East Fourth street.

TWO BROTHERS DROWN.

Crystal Falls, Mich., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A report from Wakefield, Gogebic iron range, says that while Joseph and Battista Guilidono, brothers, were attempting to cross Sunday lake, their boat capsized and both men were drowned. The men were 33 and 27 years old respectively, the elder, Joseph, leaving a wife and family in Italy.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Peaches, 50 cents a basket.

Green peas, 80 cents a peck.

Ground, green onions, 3 bunches for 5 cents.

Cauliflower, 10 cents a head.

Head lettuce, 10 cents a head.

Cantaloupes, 10 to 20 cents each.

Bacon, 30 cents a pound.

The green onions that are now in the market are the finest kind that are ever shown. They are not the sort that grow straight out in a stringling manner from the green shoots, but they have little, round, firm, white heads that are crisp and tasty. Cut up in a salad they are one of the real joys of the summer season.

The cantaloupes and watermelons and peaches and tomatoes and other fruits in the market are in their prime. They are cheap and ripe and luscious and the real feasting of the glad summer time is due.

TRIBESMEN MURDER SIX

Two Americans and Four Filipinos Killed in Philippines.

Manila, June 24.—A message received here today from the island of Negros tells of the murder of H. D. Everett, a government forester T. R. Wakeley, a school teacher, and four Filipinos by hill tribesmen.

The party had started across the island of Negros which is one of the least civilized of the extreme southern groups of islands and had been missing for six weeks.

No details of the murders have been received here.

Jamestown, N. D., June 24.—Gordon Carter, 12 years of age, residing near Medina, was perhaps fatally shot by a companion while shooting gophers. The boys were using a 22-caliber repeating target rifle. Carter was in advance of the other boy, who stumbled in a gopher hole and discharged the gun. The bullet entered the boy's body just under the shoulder blade and made a horrible wound.

MUMPS CLOSE COLLEGE.

President Proposes to Take No Chances on an Epidemic.

St. Paul, June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of a threatened epidemic of mumps, Concordia college, a Lutheran institution here, was closed abruptly last Thursday, a week before the scheduled end of the academic year.

Early last week several of the students were taken down with mumps and by Thursday night were confined to their beds. Rather than face the risk of the disease spreading, the heads of the institution decided to hold hurried commencement exercises and permit the 150 students to disperse to their homes.

President Buenger said today that all of the sick students except two had recovered sufficiently to be able to leave the institution for their homes.

LIQUOR MEN ADDRESSED

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Talks to National Convention.

Gives Words of Advice Regarding Conduct of Business.

Boston, Mass., June 24.—In his address of welcome at the recent national convention of liquor dealers here, Mayor John F. Fitzgerald said:

I can assure you that when the committee of arrangements invited me to extend to you the welcome of the city of Boston, I cheerfully accepted.

I am pleased to welcome you to the Bigger Better Boston, and I also note with satisfaction that you have brought your wives with you, and as strangers within our gates, we want you to be impressed with the fact that Boston stands first as the cradle of liberty in government, and its historic associations, which should indeed endear it in the hearts of every loyal American citizen.

I welcome you as an organization, because I believe that the liquor business needs organization. I know in the city of Boston we have men of worth and ability engaged in that business, men whom I esteem highly and whom I class as among our best citizens, and this will apply equally as well in other parts of the country as in Boston.

Yet there exists a prejudice against your business, and this is a fact that I do not think the members of your trade fully realize.

I know that when a member of the senate of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, it was with difficulty that we could secure enough men of ability to fill the committee on license of that body. All seemed to be afraid to act on it. It seemed hard to convince intelligent men on that committee to approve of laws that would be fair and just to those engaged in your business. But, I am thankful to say, that better judgment prevailed, and we have today fair laws upon our statute books regulating the liquor trade in this state.

I think that the liquor trade not only as a body, but as individuals, should appreciate any effort made in their behalf, and whenever the opportunity presents intself, should return the favor by helping those who helped you in their willingness to stand up for your rights and to extend to you simply "fair play," and thereby incur the animosity of those who are prejudiced against your business.

I remember that when I was in congress the question of prohibition in the Philippines was agitated, also the abolishing of the canteen at the army posts, and I am proud to say that I was the only one out of 378 congressmen who dared to openly oppose the measure. I could not bring myself to feel that strong hardy men, who were willing to face the hardships of war, who cheerfully left their homes to serve their country, whether it be in the wilds of Arizona, or in danger of their lives in the jungles of the Philippines, all for $15 a month, should be deprived of the enjoyment of a glass of pure, healthful beer at the army canteen. Yet this cruel act was passed by congress, composed of the brightest and most sensible men of our country.

Had the liquor interests been properly and effectually organized this would never have happened. The temperance forces were very much in evidence, the members of the W. C. T. U. and other prohibition organizations were in full force at the national capitol during this time, and there was not a senator or congressman that was not literally besieged by them to vote for the abolishment of the canteen, and now when it is almost too late they realize that this fanatical legislation has well nigh ruined our magnificent army.

The liquor trade in order to effect a perfect organization must cast aside all the petty jealousies that now exist, and the brewer, the distiller, the wholesaler, as well as the larger army of retailers, must join hands as one united, true temperance organization.

We all believe in temperance. "Temperance in all things." No self-respecting liquor dealer will willfully sell liquor to a child or a confirmed drunkard. You have children of your own, and we all despise a common drunkard—that class of business is bad—it brings discredit not only on the dishonest liquor dealer, but upon the trade at large. Your organization should join in the prosecution of all such wilful violators. The jealousy in the past has so far prevented the thorough organization of the trade; throw this aside and your power at the city hall, at the state house and at the capitol at Washington will be felt. Show them that the liquor interests remember their friends and their foes at the polls and will do justice to each when the occasion arises.

I hope that my words will not fall on deaf ears, that you will take them home with you and spread them to the four winds, and let your friends and colleagues take heed and forget them not.

I heard of a case out in Maine where the interesting daughter of one of its foremost citizens lay sick unto death, and the physician ordered wine. Nowhere in that city that night could wine be found. At last a commercial traveler was aroused, and fortunately in his grip he had the required stimulant. The child's life was saved. Had that child died, I would have dreaded the results had that bereaved father have met the author of that prohibition law in Maine, and all loving fathers would say that he would have been perfectly justified.

I say to you that in addition to thorough organization you require to educate the people who have been for so long lured to sleep by the false statements of the Prohibitionists. They have taught the people that all crime, all disease and all poverty comes from the legitimate sale of liquor. True, so long as man exists there will be crime. The recent results in the South have been brought about by this heresy. This whirlwind of prohibition must be stopped for the welfare of this great country is at stake. It must not be allowed to spread. It is your duty to spread the gospel of truth that these erroneous statements may be contradicted. You must take this curse off your business by the discrimination of literature and through the columns of our press.

Interested as I am in the welfare of not only my city of Boston, but of this country, I feel it my duty to give you this advice and to ask for all simply fair play. My experience in the legislature, in congress and as the administrative head of this city, I feel only right and proper to give you my experience and tender you my advice.

I extend to you a cordial welcome to Boston, the birthplace of the revolution of good fellowship and of good government.

The address was received with much applause.

POLES ARE FAST GOING

Duluth Telephone Company Will Expend $50,000 Removing Them.

The Other Local Companies Are Rapidly Following Lead.

If present indications count for anything, the business and much of the residential section of Duluth will be bare of telegraph, telephone and electric light poles within the next two or three years. All the companies with such supports for their wires are showing a disposition to do away with them, in favor of underground conduits and apparently are making good progress in obeying the instructions of the city council in regard to certain streets that have been ordered clear of the obstructions.

The Duluth Telephone company has stated that it intends to expend $50,000 in removing poles in Duluth this year, and building underground conduits, and the Zenith Telephone company and Duluth-Edison Electric company reported to the board of public works that they had practically completed their work of removing poles on Twelfth avenue east, and had other such work in sight.

The Duluth Telephone company promises to remove poles on Superior street from Second avenue east to Ninth avenue east; on First street from First avenue east to Ninth avenue east; on Second street from First avenue east to Thirteenth avenue east; on Twelfth avenue east from Superior street to Fourth street.

This work will practically remove all of this company's wires from the streets in the section bounded by First avenue east, Third street, Superior street and Twelfth avenue east, with the exception of Superior street from Ninth avenue east to Twelfth avenue east. The work will require the placing of underground conduits in First alley from Third avenue east to Eighth avenue east, thence along Eighth avenue east to First street; along First street to Twelfth avenue east and on Twelfth avenue east from First to Third alleys. It will also be necessary to set poles in First alley to distribute from the underground conduits and to set poles in Second, Third and Fourth alleys where it is impossible to make use of the electric light company's conduits.

TRIAL EXPENSIVE, BUT RESULTS BIG.

Washington, June 23.—In a statement issued today in regard to the land conspiracy case, which resulted yesterday in the conviction of Frederick A. Hyde and Joost H. Schenider, and the acquittal of John A. Benson and Henry C. Dimond, Assistant Attorney General A. B. Pugh declares that while the trial of those four men has cost the government $48,360, the beneficial results to the land department in the future administration of the public land laws are beyond calculation. The net results, he said, will be the restoration to the government of more than 100,000 acres of public lands, valued at $1,000,000.

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson of Naples, Me., says, in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years, New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CONCRETE MUCH USED LOCALLY

Building Inspector Will Post Himself on Its Uses.

Feeling that concrete will figure largely in building construction in Duluth hereafter, Building Inspector S. M. Kielley has asked the council for permission to take a ten days' trip to Chicago, with expenses paid, to visit the laboratory of the board of underwriters, where investigations in concrete are constantly being carried on.

Opinions of architects and contractors disagree as to the use and abuse of concrete as a building material, and Mr. Kielley believes that holding the position he does he should be well posted on matters affecting this particular kind of building material, which is coming into more general use every day.

SIX THOUSAND IN ATTENDANCE

Travelers' Protective Association Convention Attracts Big Crowd.

Milwaukee, June 23.—Incoming trains today brought several hundred additional visitors to the convention of the Travelers' Protective association convention, the total number of visitors being now estimated at 6,000. This forenoon's session was devoted to the receiving of annual reports.

The chairman of the national board of directors reported that the claims for death and disability during the year amounted to $229,161, as compared with $209,51 a year ago. During the past year, thirteen full death claims amounted to $65,000, as against fifteen death claims a year ago, amounting to $75,000. Indemnities on average membership for the year is placed at $6.23 per capita, as against $6.49 a year ago. Claims numbering 1,837 were paid this year, as against 15,471 a year ago. Lapses were considerable in excess of a year ago ,amounting to 4,614, as against 3,466 a year ago.

The per capita tax expense is $1.09 4-5, as compared to $1.94 a year ago.

The reserve fund is $117,588, being an increase of $9,869 over last year's report.

TOOK TO THEIR CELLARS.

Frightened Eau Claire People Would Escape Baby Cyclone.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—At noon yesterday a whirlwind struck the north side hill, tearing limbs from trees and scattering the lumber in the Northwestern lumber company yard all over. It is stated that several of the people on the north side hill fled for their cellars.

This is considered a somewhat peculiar phenomenon—a baby cyclone as it were. Similar incidents occurred Saturday. The wind Saturday afternoon blew down a good sized tree at the residence of F. E. Hall on Grand avenue. A shade tree in the Third ward was blown down.

In each of the two latter cases the force of the wind seemed confined to a very small area. The phenomenon on the north side was more extensive but affected no other part of the city.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga. writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half a 25 cent box won the day for me by effecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at all drug stores.

DOES BLUDSOE STUNT.

Engineer Sticks to Post Till Sinking Boat is Beached.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a hole as big as a tub in its side, as the result of a ramming given by the express boat Hopkins, Sunday evening, the Twin City Rapid Transit company's Minnetonka express boat Plymouth, lies at the company's Excelsior docks, her bow within a few feet of the shore line, up to her roof dack in water.

The collision occurred as the Plymenth, driving towards the docks, was met, nearly 100 yards from the shore, by the stern of the Hopkins as she backed out of the docks for her Big Island trip. The pilot of neither boat appears to have been aware of the peril of his position until the boats had collided. Neither boat showed lights, although there was little daylight, and no whistles were sounded. The crash was heard for a great distance, and was followed by the frantic words of the Plymouth's engineer, who cried, "We are sinking, we are sinking," but who, with presence of mind, stayed at his engine and drove the rapidly filling and sinking boat onto the shore. Fortunately there were no passengers on board either boat.

SERIOUS CHARGE

Butte, Mont., June 24.—Mr. and Mrs. John K. Welch are under arrest in Anaconda, charged with dynamiting the home of W. C. Wicklund. Welch is general foreman of all the Amalgamated quarries about Anaconda, and stands high in the community. Wicklund, serving under him, is foreman of what is known as the Blue Quarry. Two months ago Wicklund's home was dynamited, the house being completely wrecked, while Wicklund was not seriously hurt. His wife and baby were thrown through the house, but he escaped serious injury. The crime at the time was generally attributed to anarchists.

Several Austrians were suspected, as a number of Austrian workmen had been laid off. Wicklund repeatedly had received threatening letters. These were put into the hands of the sheriff and the arrest of Welch and his wife followed. Welch and Wicklund are known to have quarreled. Welch declares his innocence. With his wife he was brought before a justice in Anconda and placed under $5,000 bail each.

MOTHER KILLS SON.

Red Oak, Iowa, June 24.—Mrs. Milo Wilcox, who lives northeast of Red Oak, went violently insane Sunday night. Securing a butcher knife, she stabbed her 6-year-old son, attacked her 11-year-old daughter, wounding her severely, and then turned the knife upon herself, inflicting dangerous cuts. The boy died at 2 o'clock Monday and the daughter and mother are still unconscious.

SALOON MEN HARD HIT

Range Dealers Complain of Lid on Slot Machines.

May Put a Number of Saloons Out of Business.

The order that turned the face of the slot machines to the walls in the range towns and cities is claimed to have put a quietus on a business estimated to represent $100,000 invested in pharaphernalia to coax the nickels, dimes and quarters away from the itching fingers of a gambling-inclined class of patrons of the places where the machines existed.

It is rumored, also, that the shutting down of the slot machine business is likely to put a large percentage of the county saloons out of business, for the reason that in some places the saloon men depended largely on their 50 per cent of the receipts of the slot machines to keep their saloons going.

The edict set forth by the county attorney several days ago to the range officials that the slot machines must be put out of business or there would be some prosecutions for malfeasance in office has, it is claimed, been followed out to the letter, and from every part of the range there is said to be a strong "holler" on the part of the men whose business has been cut off by the order.

The county attorney, in notifying the range officials to put the lid on the slot machines, is said to be following out special instructions received from the attorney general of Minnesota, who based his instructions on the last grand jury reports, which was sent him by direction of the grand jury. The report called attention to the alleged violation of the laws in the maintenance of the slot machines, and the attorney general has given the county authorities to understand that he will, through them, hold the city, town and village authorities to account if the practice is continued.

While the figures on the slot machine business are not available, as the people behind the enterprise do not care to make them public, it is generally understood that the receipts from the business, taken as a whole, are enormous, and that the people of the county would be fairly astounded were they to know how much revenue the machines are paying the lessees and the saloonkeepers. It is claimed that in some saloons on the range towns the slot machines net the saloonkeeper $50 a day as his share, while in some of the larger places the revenue is said to exceed by far the bar receipts.

PRESIDENT TO WITNESS YALE-HARVARD RACE.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 23.—With pleasant anticipation President Roosevelt is looking forward to the Yale-Harvard boat races on the river Tames at New London, Conn., which he will witness from the deck of the Mayflower. He will take with him Mrs. Roosevelt and the rest of his family who are now here.

No visitors will be received by the president at Sagamore Hill until Saturday. At noon on that day Secretary of War Taft and his successor, General Luke E. Wright, will arrive. Affairs connected with the war department, especially regarding its future policy under General Wright, probably will be discussed.

COUNTRY CONTROLLED BY GROUP OF TWELVE MEN

Senator La Follette Says People No Longer Govern Themselves.

A Few Capitalists Dominate Every Form of Industry.

Probably the most severe arraignment of the moneyed interests ever listened to by a Duluth audience was delivered by Senator Robert M. La Follette at the First Methodist Episcopal church last night.

Tracing the development of America from its birth, when the thirteen colonies constituted the country, Senator La Follette brought his review down through the four stages of national development, telling, without mincing of words, of the corruption and evils which had robbed representative government of everything but mere form.

Beginning his subject, Senator La Follette stated that he was going to talk on "Representative Government," a subject which he informed the audience was an immortal theme; one upon which he could talk as long as his strength continued. It is his message to the American people.

"Our fathers intended this to be a thoroughly representative government," began Senator La Follette. "The territory was too great to give each individual a direct voice in the government, but through representatives each man in the country was given a voice. The senators were elected to represent the people, not wealth or special interests.

"Let the representatives of the people fail in their duty to the people and the whole fabric of representative government crumbles to the ground. Government must be thoroughly representative or it must be chaos.

"I ask you whether we have a representative form of government at the present time. Is your local government thoroughly representative? If it is, I want to congratulate you, for it is something unusual. If it is not, give your best efforts to redeem it and make it a government in the interest of the people.

"There are three branches of our government; the executive, the legislative and the judicial. The excutive is at the mercy of the legislative and it is through this branch of our government that corruption generally seeks to gain a foothold. It is the legislative branch of our government that we must guard. The legislative branch is the weakest part of our government.

"Sixty years after the signing of the declaration of independence a great student of government came to our country. After a thorough study of our form of government in all its details, he stated that he had never heard of a man trying to corrupt the people. That was Alexis de Toqueville, the great French student, who I believe has written the greatest work extant on government.

What Bryce Said.

Fifty years after the visit of de Toqueville to this country, another great student of the representative form of government came to the United States. He made a thorough study of our government in all its branches—legislative, national and municipal. I refer to his work, 'The American Comomnwealth,' in which he says, the great corporations are the bane of state legislatures. They taint and corrupt. Congress, he stated, was lobby ridden, and many of its members were personally interested in legislation and lobbied for themselves.

"Do you think that the conditions have improved since that visit of James Bryce, the man to whom I refer?

More Subtle Now.

"Conditions have grown rapidly worse. At the present time there is not so much bribery; the work of corruption is not so coarse. It is not so open in national and state legislature. But in municipal centers graft and bribery are rampant. At the present time there is another form of subverting government. The powerful interests elect their own representatives to state legislatures and congress. They don't directly bribe them; they give them a business relation to their interests. This means of corruption is more harmful and dangerous, because the public is less sensitive to its working.

"I want to leave this bad government and trace the business changes of the country. These business changes are responsible for the corruption in our government.

"The first century of our national business life, business was conducted by the individual. Then as we traversed the Alleghanies, reached the Rockies and crossed them and rushed forward to the Pacific coast, there was a demand for more capital than the individual could supply. Then partnerships were formed. Soon a new device made its appearance. Three men could form a business organization in which the capital was unlimited. This brings us down to the second period in our national life. Until then three men could furnish enough money for business transactions.

The Corporation.

"The private corporation was the greatest stride that the business world has ever seen. It proved a revolution in mining, transportation, banking and every industrial form of business. Every industry except agriculture was affected by its organization.

"The American people never saw so much progress. There was no advantage in the competition for free trade. Everything was in the open. The second period in our national business life was the most prosperous in the history of our country. The people got their products upon a fair and equal basis.

"In a most unfortunate hour the idea was conceived of organizing the different corporations into combinations, each to take stock in the other; each to vote stock in the board of directors of the other corporations. Was the object to get larger capital together? No; the capitalization of the private corporation was unlimited. A hundred million dollars could be incorporated without hindrance of law. The object was to abolish natural lines of trade, to abrogate natural lines of commerce, and to set aside the laws of supply and demand.

The Combinations.

"A combination of corporations with a single board of directors determined what product should be put on the market, the amount of that product and its price. The combination of corporations revolutionized business.

"Every product on the surface of the earth and below the surface of the earth was controlled by these conbinations. They control wheat and meat; they control iron, copper and coal. The price of every pound of meat is fixed by these combinations. The packers' trust dominates the meat trade of the country. The coal fields are controlled by four railroads, that carry every pound of coal from the fields of Pennsylvania. The iron trade is controlled by the United States Steel corporation, which works in collusion with four other companies. There is not a bushel of wheat in the United States that is sold in an open competitive market. There is not a pound of meat that goes into the home but what the price is determined by the meat trust.

"There are terminal elevators in Chicago that are related to the line elevators on the trunk lines of the country. These roads are interested in the elevators and many of the officers on the boards of the railroads hold positions on the boards of the elevator companies.

"Eighty per cent of the iron ore of this country is in the control of the United States Steel corporation. The United States Steel corporation controls much property outside the Lake Superior region and is constantly adding to its holdings.

Wages Do Not Keep Pace.

"Wages have not kept pace with the advance in prices. The cost of living has advanced 47 per cent within the past decade, while the advance in wages is less than 17 per cent. We have not felt this centralization of capital as yet. The time will come when it will crowd labor to the very wall. The time will come when labor will be jostled until it has not sufficient elbow room. This problem must be settled by the American people.

"I believe is will be solved without bloodshed. But only a proper realization of the dangers that menace the country will prevent serious trouble.

"Passing from the third point in our business development—the organization of the combination of corporations—we come to the present time, the fourth period in our national development.

Adulterated Foods.

"Have you noticed the adulteration of foods? The adulteration of foods and the inferior quality of goods is a development of the conbinations. They don't have to sell goods on their merits. You have to take their goods. You have no choice or appeal. The products of the combinations are not sold in competition.

"The combinations knew they were violating state ang federal statutes. They knew they must answer when the people awaken to the true meaning of things. To fortify themselves they formed another combination. They got together and formed a combination to resist the government. They formed a gigantic combination of combinations to protect their own interests and to defy the federal power.

"At the present time there is a welded and interwoven mass of combinations; there is a combination of corporations under a very limited ownership. When I stated in the United States Senate that the business of this country was controlled by 100 men I was assailed by the press of the country. I state now that there are less than 100 men in control of the business interests of this country.

Twelve Men Control.

"There are less than 100 men in control; there are less than fifty men in control—about twelve men control the business of this country and these twelve men stand in deadly terror of the power of Standard Oil and J. P. Morgan. These men are at the head of trust and banking companies; are on the boards of railroads and franchise companies. They are in absolute control of the business interests of the country.

"Standard Oil and Morgan were formerly antagonistic to each other. This is no longer true. If you are admitted to the inner rooms of the Standard Oil office you will find the picture of J. Pierpont Morgan adorning the inner sanctum of 26 Broadway.

"The press of Morgan and Standard Oil do not dare to contradict this statement. It was silent when the press of the country was assailing me. They know I have the facts; they know I have reached the bedrock of facts.

"Eight men control nine billions of the fifteen billions of railroad capital. They are on the list of twelve men I have named. New York is the financial center of this country. The operations of these men are not confined to New York; they reach out like teacles to every financial center of this country. You will find Morgan and Standard Oil in every important financial center of this country. I fought the Aldrich bill with all the strength that was in me because I believed it was a piece of legislation in the interests of Morgan and Standard Oil. They seek to control the banking industry of this country.

"My friends, I can't attempt to cover this field in one evening. I took eighteen hours against the currency question, so you see I am in despair when I attempt to cover the business field in one evening."

"At a meeting of the Minnesota State Bankers' association, in 1904, you were warned o fthe dangers of the centralization in the hands of speculative interests. Thomas Woodlock spoke at that meeting and warned the bankers present that the control of the banking industry was rapidly passing into the control of two or three groups of bankers, who were using capital for speculative interests and who were inflating the value of securities.

"The whole character of banking is changing. The group of banks are financing great corporations with the depositors. There are twenty-three directors on the board of the National City Bank of New York. This is a Standard Oil bank. William Rockefeller is the first director. He is a director on thirty other boards. George W. Perkins, the partner of J. P. Morgan, is the second director and the member of 10 other boards of directors. Jacob Schiff, the head of the greatest banking company in this country, is also a director. Harriman—does that name make you shiver?—is also a member, as well as a member of forty-eight other boards of directors. Valentine of Armour & Co., is also there. You can find every interest represented on this board. Cyrus H. McCormick of the harvester trust is there, too. But why need I go on?

"Twenty-three directors control over 350 banks and are the most powerful money organization in the world. This is the Standard oil group. The Morgan group is equally powerful, and remember that they are no longer antagonistic. The business of the people has passed from their hands into the hands of a few men. There has been an increase of 55 per cent in the centralization of money and the money in the control of the groups of banks has grown immensely. It means industrial slavery and the end of industrial liberty. It means that you are forced to take what six men dictate and are denied the right of a free and open market. There is no free government until capital can invest freely; not a government of equality until individual effort can have its just reward. The opportunities of this country are not as they were, today the employe is simply a cog in the machine.

The Remedy.

"You ask the remedy. It is simple. Send honest men to represent the government. Send men with the fear of God in their hearts. We should not falter. Our fathers intended that we should have a representative form of government. Our government won't change its form, but it is rapidly passing from the representative form into the hands of the interests. The only remedy is to send honest men to represent the interests of the country, the interests of the people. Until this is done you have government that is representative in form only."

HAS NOT ASKED FOR PASSPORTS

Venezuelan Charge Has Heard Nothing From Caracas.

Washington, une 24.—Mr. Voloz, the Venezuelan charge, has not yet been advised by his government of the withdrawal of Mr. Sleeper, the American charge at Caracas. Consequently he will not apply for his passports unless he is ordered to do so, and does not expect such an order. Diplomatic relations with this qualification are consequently understood to be completely severed with America and Venezuela. Charge Sleeper has not yet reported his departure to the state department, his last cablegram from Caracas relating to the plague situation.

Acting Secretary Adee is to confer with Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Bacon and will then probably make public the last diplomatic correspondence relating to the Venezuelan troubles.

MUST CUT DOWN SPEED

Package Freighters Move Around the Harbor Too Swiftly.

Verbal Warning Unavailing and Prosecutions May be Made.

War to the knife on package freighters has been declared by Maj. Fitch of the United States engineers office and the harbor inspectors on account of the utter disregard of the harbor speed rules by some of the craft. Some masters of package freights have token to doing just as they please in the harbor without regard for speed rules and they will be brought up with a jerk.

"Repeated verbal warnings have done no good and I propose now to take more stringent measures," said Majj. Fitch this morning. "The masters of some package freighters seem to think that harbor rules were made for everybody excepting themselves and it will be nessary for me to disillusion them. I have given warnings enough now and propose to prosecute future infractions of the rules."

Rule 1 prescribes that vessels shall not be restricted to speed in passing through the entrance piers, but that vessels of 200 net tons burden and greater shall reduce their speed while passing through the harbor basins at either entrance to eight miles an hour and the same speed shall be maintained in all dredged channels of the harbor. While passing through bridges under ordinary weather conditions, they may run at no greater speed than six miles an hour, excepting the Lambourne avenue, where a speed of twelve miles an hour is permissable. A greater speed will be allowed when running light in a wind.

Paragraph 6 provides that vessels shall slow down when passing a dredge or other equipment at work on construction or the repairing of harbor works or cables and when passing within from 300 to 600 feet of such works, the speed shall not exceed six miles an hour.

THE NORTH WEST ARRIVES.

Big Passenger Boat Reaches Duluth on First Trip of Season.

The steamer North West arrived in Duluth at 9:30 last evening, on its first trip of the season and when it left again at 11:30, for Buffalo, the passenger list included the names of James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, Mrs. Bryce, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and a number of other well known people.

The steamer was late in arriving, the delays on the trip up the lakes being caused by stormy weather. However, the passengers suffered no great inconvenience and most of them said the trip was most enjoyable. There were 212 passengers on the trip up, of whom 120 were Finnish people from Houghton and the surrounding towns, who came to Duluth to attend the festival today. All the other passengers were from lower lake points.

Passed Mackinaw.

Mackinaw City, June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up: Rutland, 3 Wednesday morning; Spalding, 3:30; Sacramento and consort, 6:30. Down: Oscoda and consorts, 9:30 Tuesday night; Tempest and consort, 9:40; Rogers, 11; Minneapolis, 1:10; Panay, 3:30; Starke, 4:30; Stephenson, Robert Mills, 6:30. Wind west, strong, cloudy.

STRIKE TALK ON INCREASE

Trouble Said to be Brewing in Ranks of Marine Unions.

The dismissal of two oilers by Engineer Marshal of the Pittsburg Steamship company's steamer Queen City at the Missabe ore docks yesterday because, they claimed; they refused to throw their union cards in the bay, is causing considerable discussion in local marine circles. It is the first incident of the kind in the Duluth harbor this season, the first of the "open shop" policy on the lakes, but stories have come here from lower lake ports of similar incidents.

The officials of the Pittsburg Steamship company here says they have no knowledge of the affair and, is the engineer discharged when he was only exercising his right to hire and fire whom he pleases. The men did not take their grievances to the company's office and the story that they were discharged because they would not throw their union cards away is not given much credence. The chief engineer has full discretion in handling his men and there is no disposition to believe that he was acting under orders.

The impression is growing in the lower lake ports that the big strike, which has been brewing on the lakes for some time will start within a week. Last Saturday and Sunday, forty-two men were docked in Lake Erie ports and left for their homes. The rumor is about that steamboat lines are asking the men to give up their union books or get on the dock. One line is said have made a proposition to the wheelmen promising them berths as mates next season if they will give up their union books and sign affidavits. James Scanlon, Detroit agent of the Seamen's Union is quoted as saying that a strike is inminent and it will involve all marine unions alike.

The strike agitators, who have been busy all spring, believe the time is ripe for the men to go out. Most of the union men did not like the "open shop" idea from the first, but accepted it of necessity. The rumor that they would repudiate their individual contracts and walk out when the general movement was fairly on has been persistent and has now reached a stage where it is likely to materialize.

The Lake Carriers' profess no apprehension. They say there are plenty of men to take vacant places if the union men walk out and they will be able to handle all the cargoes they care to move this season. Marine interests of all kinds are waiting and watching and a week may bring out something.

TO REPAIR BRIDGE.

Damage Done to Interstate Bridge to be Remedied.

Major Fitch of the United States engineer's office this morning issued the following caution to mariners:

At the interstate bridge the repairing will be begun in a few days of the damage to the east end of the protection pier, which was slightly damaged by the steamer Wilpen, June 12.

While this work is in progress, the south opening of the draw will be partially obstructed by a pile driver, which will project about sixty feet into the channel and by another scow, which will lie alongside ofthe pier and occupy abouthirty side of the pier and occupy about thirty feet of the channel. Vessel masters ing them.

Marine Notes.

E. O. Jenkins, chief engineer of the Tomlinson fleet, is in Duluth today conferring with G. A. Tomlinson.

Maj. Fitch of the United States engineers' office today awarded the contract for dredging the shoals from the East Gate basin to the Zenith. Dredge company, which will put a dredge at work immediately on the contract. About 100,000 cubic yards of earth will be removed at a contract price of 12 cents per cubic yard, scow measurement.

The Gopher, the training ship of the Minnesota Naval Reserves, which has been lying in N. P. slip No. 5, was moved to the harbor basin yesterday and lies there at anchorage.

The steamer J. F. Durston left yesterday with a cargo of ore on her maiden trip.

There are only a few boats at the Missabe docks, and the ore movement will be light for a few days. The boats have become bunched somewhat on account of the large number sent down last week, and a big fleet will probably be in about Friday to renew activity.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

WHITE SOX COME CLOSE

Ellis Cut Off at Plate in Ninth and Duluth Loses.

Brandon Bunches on Krick and Wins First Game 3 to 2.

Brandon, Man., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a well-played game, filled with sensational plays, as befits teams playing for the first position in the percentage column, the Brandon Angels defeated Duluth yesterday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2.

It was a beautiful game all the way through, with a spectacular finish that hasn't been equalled here this year. The Sox came up strongly in the last two innings and threatened to tie the score in the ninth. With the count 3 to 2 against them, and two down, Ellis walked and stole second. Murray was sent in to bat for Krick and he hit one into center field, Ellis racing for the plate. A beautiful throw by McGraw cut off the runner and saved the day for Brandon.

Krick and Dahlgren both pitched fine ball, but the Brandon man had a little the better of it. The Sox couldn't get to him successfully with men on bases, while Brandon bunched just enough on Krick to win.

Brandon opened in the first inning, when Menelee, McGraw and Leighty singled in succession, scoring one, and in the third, Livingston, Menelee and Wagner bunched singles for another. Wagner's three-base hit and Livingston's outfield sacrifice brought in the third score.

Dahlgren's wildness was responsible for both of Duluth's runs. Baker walked in the first and Pratt and O'Brien singled, driving him across. The performance was repeated in the eighth. Baker again walking and scoring on singles by D. Williams and O'Brien. Score:

Tigers Humble Sox.

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—Chicago could do nothing with Donovan and played a listless game on the field. Two singles by Detroit, one in the first and one in the sixth, counted for five runs, being mixed with bases on balls, errors and two steals by Cobb. One hand catches by F. Jones and Kiefer, were the fielding features. Walsh retired in the sixth inning. Score:

Boston Wins in Eleventh.

Boston, June 24—Boston died the score in the eighth by timely batting and won out in the eleventh inning in yesterday's game with Washington by a score of 3 to 2. In the eleventh, with two on bases, Gates purposely passed Gessler and LaPorte lined the ball to the left field fence, scoring Thoney. Score: R. H. E.

Pittsburg, June 24.—Pittsburg and Cincinnati divided the double header yesterday, the home team shutting out the visitors in the first contest by a score of 3 to 0, while the latter team took the second game by a score of 7 to 3. Doves Get Even Break.

New York, June 24.—Boston and New York broke even in yesterday's double header. Matthewson saved the first by relieving McGinnity in the ninth inning, but he was not so successful in the second contest. Kelley and Dahlen incurred the displeasure of the umpire and both were dismissed from the grounds. The scores:

Even Break for Millers.

Minneapolis, June 24.—Minneapolis and Louisville broke even in a double header yesterday, the Colonels taking the first, 2 to 1, and the home team the second, 2 to 0. Patterson had all the better of a pitcher's battle in the first until he hit Sullivan in the seventh; two singles following, and a sacrifice, netting two runs. Wilson held Louisville to three hits, one a bad scratch, in the second game and easily scored a shut-out, while Poole was hit hard in the fourth. Scores:

PRIZES FOR TRAP SHOOTERS

Northwestern Gun Club Divides Members Into Three Squads.

Prizes have been secured for the first trophy shoot of the Northwestern Gun club, the organization which sprang into existence this year. The shoot is to be 200 birds, and will conclude the second Sunday in August. Some good scores have already been made by the enthusiastic members, and by the time the shoot is several weeks on, keen rivalry will be developed.

For the shoot the members have been divided into three classes, according to their shooting ability, as shown thus far this year. In that way, everybody will have a chance, and the events will be much more interesting.

Following are the prizes in the different classes:

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

When the blood is pure and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth, and free from all blemishes and eruptions; but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation, its presence is quickly manifested by some form of skin disease. The skin receives its necessary nourishment and strength from the blood. When, however, this vital fluid becomes a humor-laden stream, it can no longer preserve the healthy, natural appearance of the skin, but by its acrid, impure nature continually irritates and inflames the delicate tissues and fibres and keeps the cuticle in a diseased and disfigured condition. External applications cannot reach the blood, and therefore are beneficial only for their ability to reduce inflammation, and assist in keeping the parts clean. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be purified of the humors that are causing the trouble. S. S. S. drives out the humors from the blood so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a healthy, cooling stream. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impure matter, all acids and humors, and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby curing every form of skin disease or affection. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

FIRST GAME TO MAROONS

Metzger's Triple Scores Cox With Victory in Ninth.

Winnipeg, Man., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though Winnipeg scored only three hits to Fargo's seven, and made three errors to Fargo's one, the Maroons won again yesterday by hitting at the right time and scoring a ninth inning victory by a score of 2 to 1.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Cook and Theobald, the latter the man Piper brought from the Pacific Coast league. Theobald had the better of it, in that the Brownies could not hit him with men on bases. Fargo hit him hard enough, and his three passes helped them to grand opportunities, but they fell down in the pinches and eleven men left on bases bear testimony to the cause of their defeat.

Each team scored one in the first inning, and for the remainder of the game it was nip and tuck. Fargo had the advantage, with men on the bases in nearly every inning, but the anxious fans saw Fargo sluggers strike out repeatedly when any kind of a hit would have spelled victory. In pinches, Theobald was backed up strongly, and sensational plays kept the fans on edge. In the ninth inning, Cox drew a base on balls and Metzger followed him with a three-base drive for the winning score. Score:

TAFT GIVEN BIG OVATION

New Haven, June 24.—As wild a scene of jubilation and as picturesque a mass of humanity as ever had a setting on a baseball diamond, was that which the alumni of Yale university presented as a greeting to Secretary Taft yesterday afternoon as he sat with his class of '78 in the grandstand on Yale field to see the annual game between the blue and the crimson. His cup of happiness was filled to overflowing, for Yale whipped her rival by the score of 3 to 0.

As an omen of good luck, Secretary Taft marched with Judge Hollister in the front rank of his class twice around the ball field, in full view of more than 34,000 wildly cheering men and women. The secretary was loyal to his class and disdained to leave it when finally it was ushered into one of the stands. Secretary Taft and his class made their appearance on the ball field at 3 o'clock. As the familiar figure of the secretary came around one of the stands, thousands of people rose to their feet. A tremendous roar went up, punctuated with the thrilling yells with nine Tafts on it. The class of '78, with Mr. Taft at its head, swung onto the field and then began the procession which for than thirty minutes was one great moving band of color and action.

As the column wound around for the second time, Mr. Taft and his party halted at their particular stand and reviewed a part of the classes and then they took their seats. Secretary Taft's tribute to the team and its captain came in the first inning when Tad Jones stepped to the bat. Up rose the secretary and the class with him, and the band in front played "For God, for Country and for Yale," and once more a wave of cheering swept round and round the field.

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Boston, Mass., June 24.—Attorneys for five creditors, representing $400,000, have filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court at Portland, against the Bingham Consolidated Mine & Smelting company, a Maine corporation, with offices in Boston and copper mines in Utah. The proceedings were instituted as a result of a New York bank attaching property of the corporation.

LAMB WILL TAKE HAND

Differences in Ranks of Fargo Team to Be Straightened Out.

Winnipeg Invalids Recover and Team is Stronger Than Ever.

Winnipeg, Man., June 24.—Special to The Herald.)—President Lamb of the Northern league and Manager McNeil and the owners of the Fargo team have gotten together, and in a few days there will be a complete overhauling of the tail-enders. All season, trouble has been brewing in the ranks of the Fargo team. Petty differences, jealousies and disagreements with the management has completely disorganized the team, and now it has reached a stage where the league must take a hand.

The strengthening of the Winnipeg team has been completed and the fans are now perfectly satisfied with their aggregation. The hospital list has been heavy during the past few weeks, and that has largely been responsible for the defeats sustained at the hands of Brandon. Now, however, all of the men are back in the game and a resultant improvement is expected.

Luderus is back at first base, after his session in the hospital, and Ulrich has also returned, after ten days' absence. Their presence puts the men back in the normal positions and the team is now stronger than ever. Cox, Piper and Crum form a great outfield; the infield, composed of Luderus, King, Sensenbach and Metzger, is perfectly satisfactory; Ulrich is a good man behind the bat, and the pitching staff of Glencke, Terry, Bond and Theobald cannot be equalled in the league.

Winnipeg is out for another pennant this year and will gain it if a lavish expenditure of money can avail. It is believed that the team as it is constituted at present can go through the season and win a majority of its games, but if further strengthening is necessary, it will be undertaken as soon as the need becomes evident.

The decision of President Lamb to take a hand in the affairs of the Fargo club and try to get it straightened away in the pennant race may bring good results. The league executive can find plenty of work to do in settling the personal differences of the members of the Fargo team and, if he goes at it in the right way, can give Fargo a good ball team.

The first need of Fargo is headwork from the manager. If McNeil is a good baseball manager, he didn't show it here, and the nine games gave plenty of opportunity to study him and his methods. There's no disposition to "knock," but there's something wrong with his ball team and that something wrong is the lack of teamwork in the field, headwork on the bases and general all-around discipline.

McNeil is evidently too easy with his men. Jerry Sheehan needs a word or two whispered in his ear to curb his Hibernian temper. Jerry would be a pretty good catcher, if he had on a gag and a kicking strap. Toot Thompson needs disciplining and Sturgeon and Cook might take a few gentle hints in the shape of discrepancies in their pay envelopes. Those methods would bring that Fargo team around faster than anything that could possibly happen, and Lamb's baseball knowledge will soon tell him so.

The league cannot afford to have the Fargo team in the rut and that is the reason for President Lamb's activity in the matter. Duluth, Winnipeg and Brandon are all running closely and they will give an interesting race. With Fargo in the hole, however, much of the interest is taken away from games in which it participates, and every good fan would like to see the team brace up and wallop the others a few times. Only by getting the team working together can that come about and the sooner it does, the better for Fargo, for the league and for all concerned.

To be kicked out of the top position in the first game is pretty tough, but there's consolation in the fact that the game was close and the cutting off of a man at the plate prevented the Sox from tying it up and possibly winning later.

While the team plays ball like that it will not get far behind. Those one score victories are likely to go either way. While they are being pulled off the fans can rest assured there will be no runaway race. The Sox will take care of themselves very well, if they keep up that gait, and the fans will welcome them home triumphantly when they return for the Fourth of July series here.

Al Kuehnow received a message this morning from Otto Koepping announcing his readiness to join the team again. He was instructed to proceed immediately to Winnipeg, and he will be in the game in a few days. Albert Williams is a good infielder, but he hasn't Koepping's ability either in the field or at bat. The fans will be glad to see the little fellow back in the game, for he means strength in the field and in the hitting department.

It is said that Curley Ulrich is in Superior, but he hasn't yet put in an appearance and efforts to find him have been unavailing. Curley isn't usually around the Head of the Lakes very long without breaking into print. He has been clamoring for matches and he will get them. There are three or four fighters around Duluth anxious to get Curley's bacon, and as soon as he shows his wavy locks on this side of the bay he will be besieged with requests to sign up. Curley is one of the busiest swatters in Northern Minnesota, and if he is around he will probably get an opportunity to do some swatting before he gets away again.

SKAT CONGRESS ENDS.

Most Successful Affair in History of League at New York.

New York, June 24.—With a "commers," the German equivalent for "smoker," at Terrace Garden last night, the North American Skat league closed its eleventh annual congress here. The tournaments are declared to have been the most successful in the league's history.

The list was led by Franz Hilberlin, a school teacher of this city, who had won twenty-three games, with a total of 890 points. Louis Grotze of Philadelphia made the best gross score of 2,420 points.

To be Effective You Don't Need to be Harsh

Nature is never violent.

When any bodily function goes wrong, she corrects it in gentle ways.

Please do as Nature does.

Don't seek to aid her with violent physic—with salts, castor oil or pill cathartics.

They ruin the stomach

Then the bowels cease to supply their own laxative. That's chronic constipation.

You can aid the bowels just as effectively in a gentle way.

That way is Cascarets.

They act without pain, without irritation. They are just as harmless as food.

If the bowels are calloused, you may need one Cascaret twice a day for a time. But you'll need them less and less.

For Cascarets restore the natural functions. Soon you won't need them at all.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

Cascarets — THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents.
The month-treatment box 50 cents.

COMMISSION MAKES RULING

Rule Laid Down for Major League Clubs Releasing Player.

Cincinnata, June 24.—In rejecting the claim of player Jerry F. Donovan for salary alleged to be due him from the Philadelphia National league club, the baseball commission yesterday made a new rule in cases where players make claim for salary provided for in their major league contracts when they are released to minor league clubs.

The new rule provides that no major league club has a right to release a player at any time unless they give him ten days notice of such release. If this notice is given ten days before the season commences the major league clubs having title to the player need not pay him any salary. If the ten days notice covers any part of the playing season then the major league club releasing the player unconditionally may pay him for the number of days such notice covers of the playing season and if the player is released by a major league club to a minor league club by sale or otherwise, the major league club will in such case be required to pay the player the difunder his major league contract and the amount of salary the player could have earned dring the time, had he reported promptly to the club securing his service.

Donovan contended that he signed a contract with Philadelphia for 1908 calling for $300 per month and that at the commencement of the season he was released to the Johnstown club of the Tri-State league and that the latter club offered him a contract calling for only $200, which contract was unsatisfactory to him and therefore he did not report to the Johnstown club. He requested that the Philadelphia club be required to pay him the salary or else give him his unconditional release. The player's claim was rejected because the commission only had his statement that he signed a contract while the Philadelphia club stated positively that he did not sign a contract, nor was one received by President Pulliam of the National league.

CANCELS STATE EVENTS.

Anti-Betting Law Knocks Out Big Purses at Brighton Beach.

New York, June 24.—The Brighton Beach Racing association, it was stated last night, has decided to cancel all of its stake events for this year. The purses in these events amounted to nearly $200,000. This action was made necessary, it is said, by the great decline in the daily attendance at the race tracks since the anti-betting laws went into effect.

MONDAY'S STORM WROUGHT HAVOC

Southern Minnesota Sustained Heavy Damages in Many Portions.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Later advices give more details of the havoc wrought by the severe wind, rain and electrical storm that prevailed in Minnesota Monday night.

Following a terrific wind storm at Owatonna Monday morning, the hardest electrical storm ever known there struck the town at 10 o'clock that night and continued until daylight yesterday.

Straight River rose four feet during the night. Adjoining fields and pastures are inundated and it is reported that scores of cattle have been drowned in the northern part of Steele county. Beaver lake, near Geneva lake, has swollen to twice its normal size. At Summit, five miles south of Owatonna, several barns were destroyed. Crops have been greatly damaged. In the southern part of Steele county roads are impassable and rural telephones are out of commission.

At Faribault many buildings were struck by the lightning. Wind mills and telephone poles in Rice county were blown down and trees were torn out by the roots. Barns were moved from their foundations. At Mantorville seven inches of water fell between 9 p. m. and 3 a. m., the Zumbrota river is out of its banks.

A cloudburst occurred at Austin Monday night and part of the town is now under water. Three bridges have been swept away, as also has a cement factory. The lower floor of Senator Campbell's flour mill is under water.

An attempt was made to dynamite two dams at Austin, but it was impossible o get to them, as they were submerged ten or twelve feet. The water and light plant was flooded and now the town is dependent on private wells for water.

At Rochester the water entered the first floor of many houses and the damage to furniture was large. The Great Western track was washed out at Rochester and it may be two or three days before trains can go south from there. In the Great Western stock yards, 200 hogs were drowned. William Cole of Rochester, his wife and three small children sought safety from the flood, which had flooded their home, in the branches of a tree, where after four hours they were rescued. Two passenger trains on the Northwestern line were stalled at Springfield.

A big landslide near Minneopa covered the Omaha tracks four feet deep for a distance of 150 feet. A bridge on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, two miles south of Rapidan, was carried away and southbound traffic was tied up at 8 o'clock last night. No trains reached Mankato on the Omaha line between 4:30 Monday afternoon and yesterday.

TAFT THE CENTER OF YALE COMMENCEMENT.

New Haven, Conn., June 24.—This has been a glorious day for "Old Ell," a glorious day for Secretary William H. Taft. "Big Bill," as he is affectionately termed by all old Yale men, was the center yesterday of all the enthusiasm surrounding the Yale commencement festivities. The quiet of Monday gave place to the most enthusiastic demonstrations of affectionate regard for one of Yale's most distinguished sons. Throngs of graduates, students and citizens of New Haven followed the big war secretary's every move.

From the moment he appeared yesterday morning in a big automobile at Woodbridge hall, where he attended an important meeting of the Yale Corporation, until last night, when he left the Edwards House—the headquarters of his class of '78—for the New Haven Country club, to attend his class dinner, thousands of people constantly were about him. They manifested their affectionate regard for him in every conceivable way.

THREE BEARS KILLED.

Animals Are Put Out of Way by Nervy Hunter at Cotton.

Cotton, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Theodore Pearson of this place has added more glory to his hunter as a killer of bears. Monday three large specimens of the bear family put in appearance near here and Mr. Pearson went after them with his rifle. The brutes put up a fight, but he killed them with a few shots.

ON THE IRON RANGES

OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED SITE

Virginia Council Will Seek Other Locations for Federal Building.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much of the time of the city council meeting last evening was taken up in discussing proposed sites for the new federal building. Attorney Osborn spoke at length on the merits of the block opposite the Roosevelt school and stated that options on eighteen of the twenty-six lots desired had been secured at an average of about $400 per lot. Considerable opposition to this site cropped out and the council committee was finally instructed to obtain options on several other sites and report at the next meeting—one, the Jefford corner opposite the primary school, another opposite the Central school, a third opposite the Fay hotel on Chestnut street.

E. G. Hillard of Duluth was awarded the contract to furnish the city with 1,000 feet of Roman brand fire hose at 90 cents per foot.

A sewer warrant in the sum of $459.50 was awarded to C. C. Butler in payment for constructing sewer in sewer district No. 3E.

On motion of Alderman Trezona it was ordered that the baseball fence be allowed to remain where it is until the school board expresses a desire to use the ground for sidewalk purposes.

Plans and specifications prepared by the city engineer for a new pesthouse on the Mud lake road in the Park forty were accepted.

George V. Trimble and H. J. George were granted plumbers' licenses.

The city clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for construction of a lateral sewer in blocks Nos. 88 and 101.

The ordinance governing the riding of bicycles was passed and the city attorney was instructed to prepare a new ordinance regulating the speed of automobiles and other vehicles.

USED GASOLINE TO START FIRE

Virginia Domestic Makes Mistake That Nearly Costs Her Life.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In attempting to kindle a fire in the basement of the home of J. D. Lamont with gasoline, which she mistook for kerosene, a domestic employed by the family had a very narrow escape from being burned to death. Fortunately she had sufficient presence of mind to go out doors and roll in the grass, thus smothering the flames. Although she was considerably burned about the ankles her injuries are not very severe and she is resting comfortably.

The fire department was called out and soon extinguished the fire in the basement with the hand chemicals. Washing had been in progress and a considerable amount of the clothing was destroyed, while the woodwork of the room was blistered.

BICYCLE NOT LIGHTED.

Rider Collides With Horse and Some Injuries Result.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Lee, who resides with her parents in Mount Iron and is employed in a local dry goods store, was returning from a visit to her home Sunday evening about 10 o'clock when the livery horse she was driving was run into by an Italian riding a bicycle. The horse became frightened and started to run, dragging the Italian under the wheels a considerable distance before he became freed. Mrs. Lees jumped from the rig and as she did so one foot became entangled in a wheel of the buggy and her leg was broken and she was otherwise badly bruised. The horse continued running until he crashed into a rig being driven by some people from Eveleth and badly damaged that vehicle, throwing out the occupants. Fortunately they escaped without injury. Mrs. Lees was taken to her home in Mount Iron and is resting comfortably. The Italian, who unwittingly caused the trouble, paid $10 toward repairing the Eveleth rig. The accident was a result of the habit of riding bicycles without a light attached in the night time. An ordinance is now before the Virginia council providing for the punishment of such offense.

Clyde Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dunlap of this city, while out riding yesterday morning, was thrown from his horse and sustained severe injuries to his head. He has been partially unconscious since, but the physician hopes for his recovery.

TRAP SHOOTING PRIZES PART OF CELEBRATION.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The committee arranging the Fourth of July celebration has decided to offer prizes amounting to $50 for trap shooting contests on the local club grounds. The contest will be open to all but professionals and it is expected that the event will draw a large number of trap shooters from the range towns and Duluth. There will be three prizes, the first $25, the second $15 and the third $10. The contest will be for the best score out of a possible twenty-five birds.

WANTS SPOUSE STOPPED BEFORE LEAVING STATE.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—On complaint of Mrs. James Woods the local authorities telegraphed to Duluth to hold her husband, James Woods, whom she claims left yesterday morning leaving her without any money at all. She says that he is bound for Detroit and is dissatisfied here.

George Nabela, a homesteader, was yesterday given sixty days for failure to pay a fine of $50 for indecent exposure.

MORE SHOVELS ARE WORKING AT CHISHOLM.

Chisholm, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Drake & Stratton, contractors, have completed their work at Eveleth and shipped the shovels employed there to Chisholm. This will employ a couple extra crews both day and night and make five shovels running in one pit.

VIRGINIA DRUIDS' WORK IS GIVEN COMPLIMENT.

Virginia, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The good work done by representatives of the local grave of the order of Druids at the recent session of the grand grove in St. Paul is shown in the fact that this is the third time in 53 years that the grand grove voted voted to permit the next session to be held outside the twin cities, while it is the first time in the same period that the office of deputy grand arch, secured by J. P. Chalmers of this city, was permitted to go outside of St. Paul or Minneapolis.

At the recent session a very meritorious act was performed in voting $1,000 to the widow of the late Peter Healy of Hibbing, although the order was under no legal obligation to do so. Shortly before Mr. Healy was drowned he applied for admission to the order, but his death occurred before he had been formally admitted. Therefore the act of the grand grove was entirely voluntary and reveals the broad spirit of benevolence that pervades the membership of the order.

BIG VIRGINIA CONTRACT.

Duluth Concern Starts Laying the Water Mains.

Virginia, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pastoret & Lunz, the Duluth contractors, have been given the contract to lay nearly two miles of water mains for the Virginia Light & Water company. The work was started Tuesday afternoon with P. G. Pastoret in charge.

The lakes in this city are soon to afford opportunity for Virginians to enjoy rowing, and possibly sailing, if the plans of some of the young men materialize. They are putting much enery and spirit into the sport. The old bridge has been made into a temporary boathouse and now shelters four first-class row boats. Plans are already being made for an attractive clubhouse for boats and canoes.

A considerable addition is being built at the rear of the Polish Catholic church in order to accommodate the constantly increasing attendance at services. The addition will furnish room for a more elaborate altar and other extensive improvements, which will be made.

COUNTY ROAD MEETING.

Gathering to be Held at Eveleth Saturday, July 11.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Business Mens' association last night appointed a reception and program committee for the meeting of the commercial bodies of St. Louis county to be held here Saturday, July 11 to discuss county roads and kindred subjects.

The reception committee composed of Mayor Smith, Supt. Hearding, Secretary Solomon Sax, Dr. C. W. More, Dr. W. E. Harwood, J. A. Robb, G. H. Dormer, Neil McInnis, and G. A. Perhan will see that the visiting delegates are properly received and entertained, while the program committee composed of Alex McDonald, Dr. Fred Barrett, P. E. Dowling, J. J. Gleason, M. E. Nichols, G. A. Whitman, George Mesberg, Dr. Medley will have charge of the affairs that relate to the convention proper. A lunch will be served after the convention.

Three baseball games have been arranged between the local team and Hibbing for July 10, 11, and 12, for the benefit of the visitors. The convention is bound to be a success from the way the local men are going at the thing.

EVELETH TO ENTERTAIN LIBRARIANS' ASSOCIATION.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Business Men's association last night appointed a committee of twenty-five to help entertain the members of the American Librarians' association, who will visit here Sunday. Through the efforts of Supt. Hearding they have been able to come up here and will be shown the underground, through the open pit of the Adams and around the Fayal mine. This is the only town on the range that will be favored in this manner. The delegates to the convention of the Librarians' association will come up here direct from their meeting at Lake Minnetonka and will be here on Sunday from about 10:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. They will have a special train from Duluth. About 160 members of the association are expected.

VIRGINIA IN BRIEF.

Virginia, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Grace Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, who graduated this year from the high school, has gone to Duluth to take a course as trained nurse at St. Luke's hospital.

Upon his return from attendance at the meeting of the grand grove, U. A. O. D., J. P. Chalmers was accompanied home by D. J. McNamara of Minneapolis, who will visit him for a few days.

E. G. Bush left Sunday for St. Paul to join his wife and remain with her while she is operated on at one of the hospitals there.

W. H. Cole, of the Cole & McDonald Exploration company, is up from Duluth.

Mrs. C. M. Golden left Monday for Minneapolis for a visit with her mother.

Mrs. Harry George expects to depart tomorrow for a visit with relations at Sandstone, Minn.

F. A. Dees of Allegan, Mich., is visiting his brother, William Dees of the Lincoln mine.

Mrs. H. J. Nathanson will entertain about fifty ladies at bridge and flinch tomorrow afternoon.

GORDON DENIES THREAT.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The stories printed in Duluth papers relative to Ben Gordon having been arraigned charged with threatening Mr. Weiner with a knife are said to be without foundation. From all that can be learned of the incident at the Weiner residence that started the stories two men called to ask Mr. Weiner to attend a meeting. He declined to go and during a lively discussion Mrs. Weiner for some unknown reason is said to have called a policeman.

EVELETH CAUCUS TAME.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—P. E. Dowling, Neil McInnis and Will Davey have been selected as delegates to the Republican county convention at Duluth. Very few people knew that last night was to be caucus night and no regular caucus was held. From the general opinions around town Solomon Sax, P. E. Dowling and John Saari the present member, will be in the field for legislative positions.

CHISHOLM DANCE SUCCESS.

Chisholm, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dance given by the women of the Catholic church was a great success. Many attended and danced till midnight, when a lunch was served. A substantial sum was realized on the dance and also on the ice cream social given earlier in the evening.

NEW BREWERY AGENT.

Chisholm, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Turk has accepted the position as local manager for Hamms' Brewing company in the place of Frank Klink, who resigned. Mr. Turk arrived from Eveleth the fore part of the week, and will live on Birch street. He was formerly in the liquor business here and removed to Eveleth two years ago, where he has been on the police force since.

WOMAN WIELDS RAZOR.

Man Alleges She Enticed Him to Her Room, Then Cut Him.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. M. Aiella was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of T. Carrero, who alleges that the woman attacked him as the result of a conspiracy between Mr. and Mrs. Aiella, to entice Carrero into a room in their house. The complainant says that when left alone with the woman, she took out a razor from under the bed, and cut him so badly that he was taken to the hospital, where he is now slowly getting better. The examination of the woman will come up today. J. C. McGilvery acting for her, and Assistant County Attorney Porter for the prosecution.

HIBBING COUNCIL MEETS.

Several Matters of Importance Are Disposed of.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council last night disposed of considerable business. The insurance on the electric light plant was increased $5,000 in order to secure a lower rate.

C. A. Remington asked permission to materially change his present building.

J. J. Cox asked permission to move a building and erect in its place on Pine street a two-story brick structure. Both requests were referred.

Twenty-five dollars was appropriated for the Fourth of July celebration.

City Treasurer A. D. Smith reported the receipts for the month of May were $8,902.41 and disbursements $6,131.77, leaving a balance on hand May 31, of $2,830.64.

PAYS IT WITH BLOOD.

Hibbing Man's Novel Way of Settling for Board Account.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Madvadich, who runs a boarding house at the Leetonia mine, about five miles west of here, is being treated in a local hospital for a knife thrust in the abdomen he is said to have sustained at the hands of one of his two brothers, John or Joe; which one it is not known, as both have fled. Matt is said to have demanded pay for board, having received nothing in a year, when one of them is said to have stabbed him, saying: "I am your brother; my knife is your brother." Then the two brothers fled, leaving their wounded brother writhing on the floor from a desperate wound. Officers are looking for the accused.

RANGE EDITORS MEETING AT HIBBING THIS WEEK.

Hibbing, Minn., June 24.—The second meeting of the Iron Range Press association will be held in Hibbing Friday and Saturday, when the members of the association will be entertained by the Mesaba Ore and the Hibbing Tribune. A ball game in the afternoon with a trip to the mines, and an athletic entertainment in the evening will constitute the program for Friday, while a business session will be held Saturday at 1 o'clock.

MRS. GALLAGHER DIES AT HOME OF HER SON.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Bridget Gallagher, mother-in-law of Henry Masterson, foreman at the Adams mine, died Tuesday afternoon at his home. She had just been here six days, after being brought here by Mr. Masterson from Avoca, Minn. Death was caused by old age. The deceased is survived by two daughters and a son; Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald of Avoca, Minn., Mrs. Henry Masterson of Eveleth, and William Gallagher of Oakes, N. D. She was 70 years old, having lived in Minnesota for the past forty years. Since her husband's death some twelve years ago she has been living with her two daughters. The body will be shipped to Fountain, Minn., where services will be held in the Catholic church. Mrs. Gallagher will be buried by the side of her husband.

EVELETH PLAYERS RELEASED.

Eveleth, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Molander, short stop and Metcalf, left fielder, have been given their releases and will return to their homes. Both have been anxious to return for some time an dthey were accommodated. The local management has some good players in sight to fill the positions and have already telegraphed for two to come at once for the Saturday and Sunday games.

LUND IS EXTRADITED.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—Oscar Lund, formerly of Minneapolis and arrested here last week, must go to De Kalb county Illinois, to answer a charge of forgery. In spite of an attempt to hold him in Minnesota on a complaint alleging that he had passed a worthless check on Herman Mikolas, a prominent Minneapolis saloonkeeper.

Governor Johnson has ordered the extradition from Governor Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, in which it is charged that Lund passed a forged note of $1,500 on a young woman named Stark in Sycamore, De Kalb county.

DELEGATES ARE CHOSEN

Republican Primaries Arouse Little Interest in the City.

County Convention Will be Held in City Hall Thursday.

There were no contests in any of the wards at the Republican primaries held last evening to elect delegates to the county convention at the city hall tomorrow afternoon, and the convention was a very quiet affair. The tickets were practically all made up beforehand and the delegates elected without opposition and unistructed.

It is not expected that the delegates to the state convention will be instructed, as the Republicans of the county have shown no inclination to center their efforts for any particular candidate for state office. There is a probability, it is claimed, that the vote of the St. Louis county delegation will be given in support of Jacobson for governor unless some other candidate more acceptable appears in the race for the nomination.

Following is the full list of delegates to the county convention tomorrow:

First Ward—James Wharton, First precinct; A. G. McKnight, Second precinct; A. J. Kinney and George Schulenberg, Third precinct; William F. McKay and Fred Sills, Fourth precinct; Simon Clark, Fifth precinct.

MINING EXPERTS ARE ASSEMBLED IN DULUTH

Will Inspect Power Plant and Visit the Range.

Mining men from all over the United States are in Duluth today to attend the thirteenth annual meeting of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, which will be held in this city and on the Minnesota iron ranges during the rest of the week.

While the membership of the institute is composed for the most part of the mining engineers and other experts connected with the iron ore properties of Minnesota and Michigan and the copper mines of the last named state, there are quite a few who live much farther and whose labors are devoted to other fields, but who never fail to attend the session.

So there are about 300 men, representing the mining industry of the entire Lake Superior district, here for the meetings and they were to be seen this morning in every nook and corner of the Spalding, which is the headquarters of the institute while the members are in the city. Knots of the delegates and their friends, wearing the bronze and red badges of the organization, were here, there and everywhere, greeting old friends, discussing the possibilities of the range trip or exhausting some mining topic.

Go to Thomson.

Most of the institute members are examining the plant of the Great Northern Power company at Thomson this afternoon. A special train bearing the excursionists left the Union depot at 1:30, bound for the power plant.

This evening the delegates will be entertained at a smoker and reception at the Northland Country club, after which they will board their special train for the ranges, where they will inspect mines and "talk shop" until Saturday, which is the last day of the convention.

The delegates began arriving yesterday. A. J. Yungbluth of Ishpeming, Mich., secretary of the institute, was one of the first to get here, and ever since that time he has been the busiest man in the Spalding hotel.

The institute headquarters were at once set up in Parlor X and the secretary has been on the job ever since. Bright and early today he was at his desk, his coat off and his fingers ink-stained. From the first he was besieged by a crowd of mining men, anxious to get the task of registering over with and to secure their badges.

Every time there was a little lull and Mr. Yungbluth figured that an opportunity to tarry a minute for smoking purposes, would present itself, more trains bringing more mining men would arrive and he would be buried in work once more.

By noon today it was figured that nearly 300 of the 400 or so members of the institute were here—and the secretary was still busy doling out badges and taking in the money. Many of the members took occasion to pay their dues when they registered and secured their paraphernalia, and about noon the secretary was harboring a roll of currency that would have made "Push" Miller's "three dollars worth of lettuce" collection look small.

"I never saw people so anxious to get rid of money in my life," said Mr. Yungbluth, as he tucked a handful of illustrated money into his pocket.

After Tickets.

Next to Mr. Yungbluth, C. W. Kieswetter of the Messaba road was the busiest man at headquarters. He, too, was surrounded, like an unpopular umpire after the ninth inning, only the crowd did not want the railroad man's scalp—merely tickets for the range trip.

The mining men spent the morning in registering and chatting with friends and renewing old acquaintances at headquarters. Some of the big mining men of the country were to be seen around the hotel.

Walter Fitch, general superintendent of the Calumet & Hecla mine, is here to attend the sessions. Mr. Fitch says he is looking forward to the range trip with a great deal of interest, as he has not visited either the Mesaba or Vermilion since 1904.

"I used to be familiar with both the Minnesota ranges," said Mr. Fitch. "At one time, I had my office in the Lyceum theater building right across the street."

Mr. Fitch said he did not care to give out an interview on the copper situation at this time.

Prof. McNair Here.

Prof. F. W. McNair of the Michigan School of Mines at Houghton expects to greet a large number of his former students during the several days of the institute sessions.

"A large number of the graduates of our school are working on the Minnesota ranges," said Prof. McNair, "so that the opportunity to see them affords me additional interest in the trip.

"The past year has been a very successful one at our school. Every year the enrollment increases. A large building is now being added to our group.

H. H. Stock, editor of Mines & Minerals, published at Scranton, Pa., is in attendance at the institute. This morning, in company with a number of other delegates, he went to Superior to inspect the coal docks over there.

The special train carrying the mining men will leave for Ely at 1 a. m. tomorrow and will arrive at the last named station at 5:30 a. m. The big mines there will be visited and the party will be taken underground at the Pioneer.

The train will leave Ely about 11 o'clock for Soudan, which place will be reached about noon. At 3:40 the party will reach Biwabik; Eveleth at 3:45, and Virginia at 7:15 p. m. Tomorrow evening there will be a business session of the institute in the high school at Virginia.

Friday will be spent at Mountain Iron, Hibbing and Saturday at Coleraine. There will be a business session Friday night at Hibbing. The party will get back to Duluth about 4 p. m. Saturday.

The Program.

The following papers will be among those presented during the sessions:

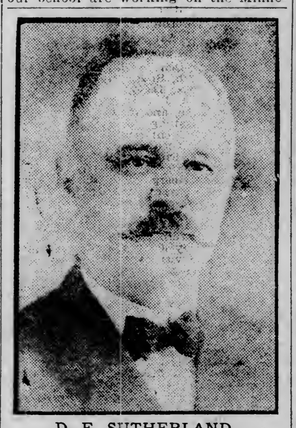

"Sampling of Iron Ores," Prof. L. S. Austin, Houghton, Mich.; "Biographical Sketches," John H. Hearding, Eveleth, Minn.; "Oliver Iron Mining Company's Stock House," A. M. Gow, Duluth, Minn.; "Automatic Throttle Closing Device for Hoisting Machinery," Spencer S. Another Balloon Ascension in Mining Stocks.

Is it possible that there is to be another spectacular ascension in mining stock, similar to one that we witnessed a year ago last fall, when Denn Development stock was sent to the 100 mark by misrepresentation and deceit? Have the people forgotten that some of the brokers that are now making a frenzied attempt to boom the stock of a certain mining company far above its intrinsic value either now or in the future, namely, the Butte-Ballaklava, were numbered among those that intentionally or otherwise sent the Denn stock up like a skyrocket scarcely eighteen months ago? Have they, the people, forgotten that then they were told to buy all that they could take on and hold it for higher prices? This was the cry all the way up the ladder and it is now being repeated again.

The Mining World is a reliable journal and weekly publishes the news from nearly every mining camp on the continent, and in their last issue, in the last column on page 1007, they publish the following news item from the Butte camp:

"The Butte-Ballaklava Co. is carrying on development work on its six acres of ground on the Anaconda hill. The shaft is now down 700 feet and crosscuts are being run north and south on the 500 and 700 levels. Some ore is being taken out in the course of development work and there are about 30 tons of good ore on the dump. It will necessarily be a long time, even under the most favorable conditions and progress, before the company can become a regular producer."

The writer assumes that the above is a simple statement of facts. Let us consider what this means. It means that those who bought this stock at par bought an interest in the Ballaklava holdings at the rate of $500,000.00 per acre. Those who are now buying this stock are paying at the rate of $700,000.00 per acre. Is it worth it? Remember six acres of ground does not mean six acres of ore, and under the most favorable circumstances, one acre of ore or vein matter in six acres is all that the management of this or any other company could hope for.

The public has recently been told through a broker's ad. that the price of B. & B. stock as now quoted will double twice inside of a year. If by any possible chance this should prove true, in a year from now, one would have to pay $28.00 per share and would then be paying for an interest in a six-acre tract of mining land at the rate of $2,800,000.00 per acre. It is a simple fact that there is not a copper property in the world that is now or ever will be worth any where near this enormous amount per acre.

The Butte-Ballaklava is a promising little prospect. Nothing more. Those who read this article and consider it in any sense as knocking are advised to pass it by and continue to purchase inflated stocks and hold them until the bubble breaks.

The writer holds himself responsible for anything contained herein.

VERDICT AGAINST RAILROAD.

Husband is Given $5,000 for Loss of His Wife.

Crookston, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In district court, yesterday afternoon, the jury in the damage case of Fred Hageau of Minneapolis, administrator of the estate of his deceased wife, Clara Hageau, against the Great Northern railroad, returned a verdict of $5,000 for the plaintiff. It was alleged that Mrs. Hageau died as the result of injuries received while coming from Minneapolis to Crookston, on a passenger train that was wrecked near Barnesville, the claim being that blood-poisoning set in several months later as a result of the bruises received.

As soon as this suit was disposed of, the case of Charles Carlson, an employe of the Great Northern transfer at Redlands, was taken up. He sues for $5,000 for injuries received by being hit by a switch engine, the claim being that one leg is permanently crippled.

WHALEBOAT RACE A CLOSE ONE

Second Division Crew of Naval Militia Carries off Honors.

To the second division of the Minnesota naval reserve belongs the honor of having the champion whaleboat crew.

In a race of one and one-half miles in the harbor last evening the second division crew established its supremacy by defeating the first division crew by several boat lengths. It was not a walk-away, however, for the race was hotly contested to almost the finishing line, when the winning crew cinched the race by a spurt that gave them a substantial lead over the line.

Ariel, Commander George H. Scully started the race and Capt. McLennan, Lieut. S. S. Williamson and Lieut. C. W. Kelley were the judges. The winning crew is comprised of Carhart, coxswain; Oestriech, stroke; C. Brian, Nelson, Morrison and Carston.

The losing crew was comprised of Hargest, coxswain; Walt, stroke; Sullivan, Dembick, Graham and McGrath.

IN TENT AT PEST HOUSE

Tent Near Detention Hospital Only Place Open to Him.

"Tenting tonight on the pest house grounds" is probably the refrain that is running through the mind of John Mattson.

Mattson is afflicted with both scarlet fever and diptheria. There is no place in the city open to him, and as he is not afflicted with smallpox he cannot go to the detention hospital. He was taken to the grounds, however, and a tent has been pitched there for his use, and there he will have to remain until health comes again.

The man's pitiful condition emphasizes the urgent need of a city contagious ward in Duluth. He was first taken to St. Mary's hospital, suffering with diphtheria, but after he had been there awhile he also became afflicted with scarlet fever. The hospital does not handle scarlet fever cases, and there was no other place in Duluth where Mattson could be taken care of. The pest house seemed to be the only alternative, but that was barred because the man's list of ailments did not include smallpox. So a tent was pitched on the pest house grounds, and Mattson was told that that would have to be his home for the time being.

His situation is not as bad as might appear at first glance, for the nights are warm enough now to make sleeping out of doors fairly comfortable, if one has blankets enough, and as the tent is a good one it is water proof. If any more cases develop a tented city may spring up in the vicinity of the pest house.

The city hopes to have a contagious hospital of its own before many weeks have passed. As has been reported, the authorities are working hard on the proposition to secure such an institution, and a site is now in view, which in all probability will be purchased in the very near future.

IDENTITY DISCLOSED.

Editor Finds Himself in California Under Another Name.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—Bereft of memory by a blow on the head, so that he did not remember his wife and children or his own name, George Blair Harrison, a newspaper man of Topeka, Kan., spent several months as an employe on a chicken ranch near San Diego before his identity was disclosed by a strange combination of circumstances, and he was convinced that he has a family and home. He left yesterday for Topeka, bewildered and still partly doubting the story of his identity as told to him by L. Chamberlain of this city, formerly of Topeka, Kan.

BURGLARS GET FIFTY CENTS FOR TROUBLE.

Brainerd, Minn., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The office of the warehouse of J. C. Hessell was entered by burglars Monday night. Entrance was made through the rear door, and an attempt made to open the safe. It was on the day combination, and in attempting to open it they turned on the full combination and were unable to get into it. The safe contained notes valued at over $5,000. The only thing of value was 50 cents in stamps.

CALUMET PIONEER DIES.

Calumet, Mich., June 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duncan MacDonald died of heart failure at midnight, Monday, at the age of 82 years. He was one of the pioneers of this section of the country.

He was one of the founders of the Calumet Congregational church and worked for the Calumet & Hecla Mining company for forty-two years, ever since operations were started on the first shaft. He was also a charter member of Montrose commandery, Knights Templar.

Mr. MacDonald is survived by a wife, six sons and one daughter, the latter being Mrs. Paul P. Roehm of Laurium. The sons are Donald W. of Lowell, Ariz; Charles A. of Victor, Colo.; Archie E. of Oliver, Mich.; James E. and John T. of Laurium, and Albert B. of the Calumet & Hecla location.

RAILROADS

Embargo Lifted.

The Northern Pacific lifted the embargo on throgh freight to the Pacific coast this morning. Since the floods in Montana, freight has not been shipped over the line of the Northern Pacific for points beyond Helena.

It was announced today at the local office of the Northern Pacific that all damage to the road had been repaired and that, commencing today, all passenger trains will resume their regular schedule.

A VAST CROWD

Witnessed Remarkable Cures Performed by Wittman.

An Interesting Impressive Speaker and a Great Show.

Before an audience of several thousand people last night at Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street Wittman held his audience spellbound and performed some things never witnessed by the people of Duluth before. After the free band concert and vaudeville, which was the best ever seen here before, Wittman sold his "Compound," the great stomach, kidney and rheumatic remedy for $1, and, much to the surprise of those that bought, he gave back every dollar and one of his own to boot. He called for all those suffering from deafness, paralysis or rheumatism to come up and be cured.

The first case that responded to the call to come upon the stage was Mr. Zaiser, who works for Marshall-Wells Supply company. He had been a victim of deafness for six years, and after a thorough examination made by Dr. Wittman was told that his case was catarrhal deafness of long standing, and with a loud crash of the band Wittman was applying his cure for deafness, and in a few minutes time Mr. Zaiser could hear a conversation that was going on seventy feet from him. The next test that was made by Wittman was a slight clap of the hand about twenty yards from the platform, and was distinctly heard by the gentleman to the amazement of the great gathering that was gathered around the platform and the great applause that was given to Wittman in praise of his work. The next case that was called attention to was Mr. G. Seymour, who resides at 2308 West First street. He was given the same cure for deafness and brought the same results, to the surprise of every person that saw the way the Wittman treatment for deafness wrought good work.

Another case of the same standing, Mr. Andrew Thompson, 30 First avenue west, was cured with the same treatment. This gentleman had been deaf from infancy and the most remarkable thing was that after the treatment was applied the gentleman could hear the tick of a watch, something that he had not heard in three years until last night. And after a few more words were spoken to the people by Dr. Wittman, the last of the vaudeville program was put on.

Tonight a band concert and a complete program at 8 o'clock, sharp.

WHEAT HAS FIRM TONE

Market Enjoys Good Bulge on More Bullish Crop News.

Flax is Well Bought and Closes Higher in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 24.—Wheat was stronger at the close in the American markets today. There was a steady demand for the wheat from the opening and the end of the session saw prices on the top level of the day.

Reports from the Northwestern fields are not as favorable as they were, and this bullish talk caused much of the strength in today's market.

Liverpool closed ¾d to 7-8d higher, Paris and Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ⅝c lower and Budapest 2¼c lower.

The primary option closed ⅝c higher in Duluth ⅜c higher in Chicago, ⅝c higher in Minneapolis, New York and Kansas City, ¼@½c higher in St. Louis and 2¾c higher in Winnipeg. The September option closed ⅜c higher in Duluth and Chicago, ⅝c in New York, ⅜-½c higher in St. Louis, ⅜-⅝c higher in Kansas City and ¾c higher for the October option in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ¼c lower in Chicago and ¾d lower in Liverpool. July oats closed ⅜c higher in Chicago.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat as a result of the lower American markets yesterday, offerings here were larger and values 1d to ¼d lower. Following the opening, the distant months were well supported in which shorts covered and values gained ¾d to ⅞d on the less favorable American government weather bulleting. July was unchanged after the opening and extremely dull. At mid-day the market was dull and from ¼d to ½d lower.

"Corn was quiet at the start and unchanged. September lost ¼d during the morning in sympathy with the weaker American cables, and lower cargo offerings."

Car receipts at Duluth were 23 against 32 last year, and at Minneapolis 180 against 236 last year. Chicago received 7 against 29 last year. Winnipeg received 47 against 267 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 319,000 bushels; last year, 423,000 bushels. Shipments, 276,000 bushels; last year, 250,000 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 82,000 bushels.

Primary receipts of corn were 598,000 bushels; last year, 1,111,000 bushels. Shipments, 396,000 bushels; last year, 918,000 bushels. Clearances of corn were 50 bushels.

Wheat was quiet during the session of the Duluth market. July wheat opened unchanged at $1.03¾, advanced to $1.03⅞, and closed there, a gain of ⅛c over yesterday. September wheat opened ⅛c lower at 89¼c, advanced to 90¼c and closed there, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅜c higher and cash spring wheat was unchanged.

Flax was well bought and closed stronger. July flax opened ¼c higher at $1.20¾, declined to $1.20¼, rallied to $1.22 and closed there, a gain of 1½c over yesterday. September flax opened at $1.18¾, went to $1.20 and closed late at $1.19¾, a gain of 1½c over yesterday. October flax advanced from $1.17¾ to $1.18¾ and closed there, a gain of 1½c over yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1, on track, $1.05⅜; to arrive, No. 1 northern, $1.05⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.01⅜; on track, No. 1 northern, $1.05⅜; No. 2, $1.01⅜; July, $1.03⅜; September, 90¼c; durum on track, No. 1, 86⅝c; No. 2, 85⅝c; July durum, 85⅝c; September durum, 87½c. Flax to arrive, $1.22; flax on track, $1.22; July, $1.22; September, $1.20; October, $1.18½; November, $1.18¼; December, $1.16¾. Oats on track, 48½c. Rye, 66@70c. Barley, 45@55c.

Cars inspected—Wheat, 23; last year, 32; oats, 6; flax, 2, last year, 12.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Easier Cables and Fair Weather Causes Free Liquidation in Wheat.

Chicago, June 24.—Wheat was barely steady at the start today, easier cables and favorable weather for the crop and for harvesting causing free liquidation in the July delivery. The offerings were readily taken however, and early price changes were small. July opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 85¾c to 86c and sold at 86⅛c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 210 cars against 176 cars last week and 297 cars a year ago.

The selling pressure became more pronounced later under the leadership of elevator interests and July sold off to 84¾c. A rally occurred in the last half hour of trading, influenced by a good demand for cash wheat and improvement in the export requirements. On this bulge July reacted to 85¾c. The close was firm, with July up ⅛c at 86c.

Corn was dull and the market was easy on generally favorable weather in the corn belt and lower cables. July opened ¼@⅜c lower at 65¾c to 66c and sold at 65¾c. Local receipts were 196 cars with 22 of contract grade.

The low point touched by the July option was 65¾c. The market became firm later with the advance in wheat and closed steady with July ¼c lower at 65¾c.

Oats were easy and trading was of small volume. July opened ⅛@¼c lower, at 44⅞c and sold at 44¾c. Local receipts were 116 cars.

Provisions started firm on a 5c to 10c advance in live hogs. The market was dull and featureless. September pork was up 7½c at $14.87½; lard was unchanged at $8.12½; ribs were a shade to 2½@5c higher at $8.40@8.42½.

Close: Wheat—July, 86c; September, 86¾c; December, 87⅝c. Corn—July, 65¾c; September, 63¾c; December, 58⅞c. Oats—July, old, 45¾c; July, 44c; September, 39¼@39½c; December, 40¼c; May, 42¾c. Pork—July, $14.60; September, $14.85; October, $14.95. Lard—July, $8.55; September, $8.12½. October, $9.20. Ribs—July, $8.12½@8.15; September, $8.37½; October, $8.45. Rye—Cash, 71c. Barley—Cash, 56@61c. Cash wheat—No. 2 red, 86@91c; No. 3 red, 85@89c; No. 2 hard, 89@91c; No. 3 hard, 88@89c; No. 3 spring, 95c@$1.01. Corn—No. 3, 65@70½c.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Late Advances in Cables Have a Strengthening Effect on Wheat.

Minneapolis, June 24.—Liverpool cables opened ¼d to ½d lower but as the second advices were higher, and as Broomhall reported the firmness due to less favorable American crop advices it had a strengthening effect here. Locally the stocks decreased 40,000 bushels for four days and receipts today were 180 cars against 236, Duluth getting 23 against 32. The weather map did not look good for the winter wheat harvest and precipitation of half an inch at Moorhead, Minn., though not heavy, was not needed as the Red River valley is already a little too wet. Selling of July wheat became a feature and the falling off of Chicago July below September affected sentiment here and caused buying of September against July sales. July opened $1.03¾; high $1.03⅞, low $1.03¾, close, $1.03⅞. Old July closed $1.04½; September opened 87⅝c; high, 88⅜c; low, 87¼c; close, 80⅝c. Old September closed 89⅝@9¼c.

The cash market was in satisfactory condition with 3@3½c over new July the prices quoted for No. 1 northern, although it had to be choice No. 1 to bring 3½c over. No. 2 northern brough 1@1½c over new July.

Cash close—No. 1 northern, $1.06⅛ spot, $1.06⅛ to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.04⅛ spot, $1.04⅛ to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.00⅛ @1.02⅝; No. 3 yellow corn, 69¼@69¾c; No. 3 white oats, 49½c; No. 2 rye, 69¾@71¾c.

Barley opened fairly steady but when Chicago and Milwaukee were reported weaker prices here declined 1@2c for high grade malting and 2@3c for the low grades. Receipts, 3 cars; closed 50@60c.

Flax receipts, 39 cars. The market was steady at the Duluth July price for No. 1 seed. Crushers were fair buyers. Close, $1.21¾.

Mill stuffs were advanced 50c per ton by millers, who quoted bran $18.50 because of a lighter output, but brokers and outsiders said this was too high and were quoting it $18.00.

The flour market showed no new feature except a falling off in shipments. Demand is very light and mostly for prompt shipment and for small lots. Shipments, 28,782 barrels. First patents, $5.30@5.45; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $2.20@4.30; second clears, $3.50@3.65.

TOOTH THE KEYNOTE.

From It Expert Anatomist Can Reconstruct Animal.

London Answers: Teeth are not bones, as most people imagine them to be. Though they are attached to the skeleton they are not a part of it. They develop from the dermis or skin, and are as a rule made up of three substances—dentine, cement and enamel.

Enamel is the hardest of all animal substances. It actually contains more than ninety-six parts in 100 of mineral matter—mainly phosphate of lime—while bone contains only 60 per cent. This accounts for the fact that teeth are more indestructible than any other part of the animal frame.

What is more wonderful still is that the tooth is the keynote of the frame. An expert anatomist needs only to be shown a tooth or two in order to reconstruct from them the animal from whose jaw they originally came—and this although the animal itself has been dead 10,000,000 years and its kind extinct for almost as long. Not only do the teeth show what their owner looked like, whether it was animal, lizard, fish or bird—some extinct birds used to possess teeth—but a study of a set of these useful organs will show what the creature used to feed on, and incidentally tell a great deal about its life and habits.

Teeth vary in form and number more than any other animal organs. An elephant, for instance, has usually only four teeth in use besides his tusks. But they are big enough to make up in size what they lack in number. The teeth of the elephant tribe are so different from those of other animals that when a fossil is dug up the geologists can at once be certain to what race of creatures it belonged, and is able to reconstruct the gigantic mastodon or hairy mammoth in whose jaw it originally grew.

At the other end of the scale, in point of number of teeth, comes the snail. The common garden snail is the happy possessor of 19 rows, each of 105 teeth, or a matter of 14,175 teeth in all.

The teeth of fish vary more greatly than those of any other known creatures. Their teeth are not divided into incisors, canines and molars, as in animals, but almost every different kind of fish has differently shaped teeth. Sharks, for instance, have several rows of teeth, all extremely sharp pointed. The front row stands up erect, but those behind are more or less recumbent. There is never any difficulty in identifying a shark's tooth.

Most fish have a great number of teeth. The dolphin, for instance, possesses 200, but there are others—like the sturgeon—which have no teeth at all. Almost all fish—sharks especially—shed their teeth frequently and grow new ones to replace them.

Snake's teeth—the poison fangs, that is have also some peculiarity. There are always fresh ones in reserve to take the place of those which get broken. A rattlesnake may have as many as ten of these reserve teeth. Snakes' fangs are very sharp, very elastic, and, contrary to common belief, never hollow, but provided with a grove, along which the poison flies.

The sharp tusks of the crocodile and all flesh eating lizards need only to be seen once to be easily identified afterwards. Some reptiles are toothless. These are the tortoises, turtles and toads. A frog may easily be distinguished from a toad from the fact that the latter has no teeth, while the former has teeth in the upper jaw but none in the lower.

HOW WALLS BREATHE.

Baltimore Sun: Looking up at the ceiling of a room which is white finished or kalsomined dark streaks can frequently be detected which, at first glance, seem to correspond with the shape of the lath overhead. These streaks are so faint oftentimes that they cannot be detected unless against a light background. Instead of revealing the shape of the lath, as people would at first suppose, the streak outlines the space between the laths, and this is the explanation—walls breathe. Through a newly plastered wall, without decoration or covering of any kind, pass eight cubic feet of air for each square yard of wall surface per hour. This naturally creates a slight suction, and the air, in passing between the lath, draws with it fine particles of dust, which are responsible for the dark stripes across the ceiling. The same breathing goes on through the side walls, but these dark strips are not noticed there for the reason that the greatest suction seems always to be upward.

Health Commissioner Evans of Chicago, recently said: "More people died last year in Chicago of pneumonia than from any other single cause, and pneumonia can be largely traced to bad ventilation. Bad air is the bane of human life."

More and more each year the intelligent American is giving thought to the question of health in his home, and so much disease has been traced to improper wall treatment that special interest has been awakened in that particular phase of the subject.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Trading in Final Hour Was Almost at a Standstill.

Little Movement in Prices and Close Was About Steady.

New York, June 24.—There were very scanty transactions in stocks when the market opened. Prices as a rule were slightly higher than last night, but none of the prominent issues showed changes of any importance. Amongst the less active issues there was a gain of 2 points in Westinghouse Electric.

After a slight advance in Union Pacific and Reading the market became heavy, but the decline stopped after prices had fallen slightly below yesterday's closing.

A recession of 1⅜ in Rock Island preferred was without perceptible effect on the general list, which showed little life. Bonds were irregular.

Favorite stocks ruling a large fraction above yesterday's closing.

Speculation was of a normal character and fluctuations were unimportant.

Wabash preferred advanced a point.

The market closed about steady and very dull. Trading in the final hour was almost at a standstill, but prices receded slightly in sympathy with a decline of 1 in Missouri Pacific.

THE DES MOINES RIVER STILL RISING.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 24.—The Des Moines river stood at 15.8 feet this morning and is still rising.

Hundreds of families left their homes yesterday and last night, and are today camped upon the highlands.

In Southeast Des Moines dozens of residences are marooned by waters, and the dikes alone prevent a complete inundation of the lower portion of the city.

A REMARKABLE STRIKE.

Tid Bits: One of the most extraordinary strikes of modern times was that of the reporters of the parliamentary debates in the German reichstag. While one of the deputies, Herr Grober, was speaking he made a declaration which caused the members of the press gallery to exclaim: "Oh! Oh!" This led the deputy to call them a "herd of swine."

The reporters demanded an apology, which the deputy refused to give so they left the press gallery in a body. They also stated that they would not report another word until they received an adequate apology. This apology has now been given and accepted.

While the action of the reporters could not prevent parliament from meeting, it had a most serious effect, inasmuch as it prevented the members obtaining their usual "world audience." More than this, it had the effect of preventing the imperial chancellor from delivering an important speech reviewing Germany's foreign relations. As a matter of fact, the strike had the effect of disorganizing the parliamentary machine of the great German empire.

That is not the first strike of its kind. Thus the pressmen of Sydney caused considerable trouble and annoyance to the members of the New South Wales parliament. The reporters were very severely criticised owing to the manner in which they reported the speeches of a number of the members, it being stated that they took liberties with the speeches.

The relations between the reporters and the members became so strained that the pressmen went a remarkable little war. The war took the form of reporting the members' speeches exactly as they were delivered—not the slightest embellishment being given and no alterations being made. Accordingly the speech of one of the members reads as follows:

"Press gallerymen—the reporters—ought not to—the reporters ought not to be the ones to judge of what is important—not to say what should be left out—but—the member can only judge of what is important as I—as my speeches—as the reporters—as what I say is reported sometimes, no one—nobody can understand from the reports—what it is—what I mean. Eo—it strikes me—it has struck me certain matters—things that appear of importance—are sometimes left out—omitted. The reporters—the papers—points are reported I mean—to make a brief statement—what the paper thinks of interest—is reported."

As may be imagined, the trouble was very soon settled, the journalists gaining a magnificent victory, and the members being glad to revert to the old state of affairs.

MEXICAN COOK'S METHOD.

San Antonio Express: A good Mexican cook relieves the mistress of the house of worry and responsibility in a manner that is almost unknown in the United States.

The cook is given so much a day, and with this amount she will purchase each morning all the provisions for the day, including even the staples that are usually bought in large quantities in other countries. On $1 a day a cook will provide a very good table for a family of three or four and get enough beans and tortillas and chile to set the servants' table besides.

They can really do better than their mistresses, because they can usually drive sharper bargains with the marketmen of their own class, and they have more patience to haggle over the last penny.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT.—
State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis. —ss.
In Probate Court.
In the matter of the estate of Joseph E. Mayhew, Jr., Decedent.
THE PETITION OF George H. Mayhew, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bond.
IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday, the 20th day of July, 1908, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted.
ORDERED FURTHER, That this order be served by publication in The Duluth Evening Herald, according to law.
Dated at Duluth, Minn., June 23, 1908.
By the Court,
J. B. MIDDLECOFF,
Judge of Probate.
(Seal, Probate Court, St. Louis County, Minn.)

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION ---OF--- JONES STEP-PROCESS COMPANY

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together and agree upon the following Articles of Incorporation, under the provisions of Chapter 58, "Revised Laws 1905" of the State of Minnesota, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, and do hereby adopt the following Articles:
ARTICLE I.
The name of this corporation shall be JONES STEP-PROCESS COMPANY.
ARTICLE II.
The general nature of the business of this corporation shall be:
To apply for, obtain, register, purchase, lease, or otherwise to acquire, and to hold, use, own, operate and introduce, and to sell, assign, or otherwise to dispose of, any trade marks, trade names, patents, inventions, improvements, devices, and processes used in connection with, or secured under, Letters Patent, or other grants or franchises of the United States, or other state, country or authority, or otherwise, and to use, exercise, develop, grant licenses in respect of, or otherwise to turn to account, any such trade marks, patents, grants, franchises, licenses, processes and the like, or any such property or rights.
To purchase, or otherwise acquire, hold for investment, or otherwise to use, own, sell, assign, transfer, mortgage, pledge, or otherwise dispose of, stocks, bonds, debentures, or other obligations created or issued by any corporation or corporations, and to aid in any manner any corporation whose stocks, bonds or other obligations are held, or in any manner guaranteed, by the Company, and to do any other acts or things for the preservation, protection, improvement or enhancement of the value of any such stocks, bonds or other obligations, or to do any acts or things designed for any such purpose; and while the owner of any such stocks, bonds or other obligations, to exercise all the rights, powers and privileges of ownership thereof, including the right to vote thereon, to the same extent, and with like effect, as a natural person might or could do.
Any of said business may be carried on in the State of Minnesota or elsewhere.
The principal place of transacting the business of the corporation shall be in the City of Duluth, Minnesota, but the corporation may have offices in such other states and territories of the United States or foreign countries, as its Board of Directors may from time to time in writing designate.
ARTICLE III.
The period of the duration of this corporation shall be thirty (30) years.
ARTICLE IV.

MARRIAGE ILLEGAL

Applicant for Divorce Admits She Has Married Another.

Asks Court to Declare Second Marriage a Legal One.

Admitting by her sworn affidavit that she has committed an act classed as criminal under the state laws, Mrs. Mary C. Prenevost, also known as Mrs. C. H. Norgard, has started an action in the district court for a divorce from Dennis Prenevost, whom she claims deserted her about three years ago.
Mrs. Prenevost admits in her complaint, filed in the district court this morning, that without knowing whether Prenevost is alive or dead and without procuring a divorce, she also contracted marriage with C. H. Norgard of this city and has lived with him as his wife.
It is alleged that the Prenevosts were married in Sandstone, Minn., Jan. 22, 1896, two children resulting from the union.
Mrs. Prenevost claims that she is 28 and her husband is 32. She claims that after he deserted her she had to support herself and the two children for three years, when she went through the marriage ceremony with Norgard, May 16, 1906.
Besides asking for an absolute divorce from Prenevost, she asks the court to declare valid her marriage to Norgard. S. C. Scott, an attorney from Sandstone, is attorney for Mrs. Prenevost. With the papers filed is an affidavit, stating that diligent search has been made for Prenevost, but that he cannot be found.

WILL ATTEND THE SESSIONS

Prominent New Mexican Mining Engineer Will Go to Range.

Among the interested attendants at the sessions of the Lake Superior Mining Institute will be Harold E. Spence of Steeple Rock, New Mexico, who has been in the city several weeks.
For twenty years Mr. Spence has been interested in copper and gold mining, but has never seen iron mining on an extensive scale. Mr. Spence is the representative of the Rothschild interests in Steeple Rock, and came to Duluth on his way to Paris. A number of Duluth men are interested in the Steeple Rock properties, however, and before going to Paris Mr. Spence will return to Steeple Rock with a party of Duluth men.
Mr. Spence is planning to consolidate all the Steeple Rock mines and erect a large cyanide plant there.

SLAUGHTER OF CANINES

New Ordinance Will Put Stray Dogs Out of Way.

Poundmaster Given Full Power to Dispose of Animals.

Beginning next week, there will be a slaughter of dogs in Duluth, unless the owners get busy and procure license tags for the canines.
It is expected that the amendment to the dog ordinance will be adopted at the next meeting of the council, and steps will be taken to make it effective at once.
There are said to be about 1,000 dogs in the city at the present time that are not adorned with a brass tag signifying that they are licensed. When the ordinance amendment becomes effective, these animals will be rounded up as fast as they show up, and unless their owners pay a license fee and an additional fine for the trouble they have caused by delaying, the dogs will be shot or otherwise disposed of.
In the past the ordinance has been such that the pound masters had nothing to do with dogs. The only way to get at the owners was to arrest them and impose a fine. Under the amendment the pound masters will have the same power with dogs as they do with cows and horses, and will be permitted to lock them up in the pound. If they are not called for

Out of 150 Persons on Board, Only Sixty-Five Saved.

Boat Came from Cadiz and Was Bound to Murros.

Corunna, Spain, June 25.—It has been ascertained that the number of passengers and crew of La Rache totalled 150. Sixty-five persons are known to have been saved, but the fate of the other eighty-five is not known, and it is feared that most of them perished.

Paris, June 25.—A special dispatch received here from Corunna, Spain, says that the Spanish steamer La Rache went on the rocks in a fog near Muros, where the cruiser Cardinal Cisneros was wrecked in 1905. La Rache sank rapidly and a panic followed. There were ninety-seven passengers and fifty-four of the crew aboard. These took to the boats, but, up to the filing of the dispatch, only forty-seven had landed. Defective communications make it impossible to obtain complete details.

It is impossible to obtain complete details, but the latest report since is that seventeen women were drowned. It is known that forty-seven survivors were landed at Muros, but that two of them have since died. Fifteen others were landed at Lon. According to official lists, La Rache carried ninety-eight in crew, including stewards, waiters, etc., and ninety-seven passengers. La Rache came from Cadiz, where SULTAN OF MOROCCO, Whose Assassination Has Been Rumored, but Not Credited.

HANSBROUGH IS DEFEATED

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—Returns thus far received on the state primaries indicate that Senator H. C. Hansbrough, M. N. Johnson, C. B. Little and T. F. Marshall are running close in the race for the Republican nomination for United States senator, and that the result will be in doubt until the returns are all in. No candidate will have the required 40 per cent of the vote necessary for a nomination, and the names of two leading candidates will go on the ballot for the November election. Returns indicate the defeat of Senator Hansbrough, and that Little, Stalwart, and Marshall, Insurgent, will be the two high men. Returns from 139 precincts in different parts of the state give Hansbrough 2,494; Johnson, 2,363; Little, 2,759, and Marshall, 2,687.

C. A. Johnson, Stalwart, has defeated Treadwell Twitchell for governor. Indications are that the entire state Stalwart ticket has been nominated, except Burleigh F. Spalding, who has possibly been dpefeated by Edward H. Wright, for justice of the supreme court, and Walter L. Stockwell, who has possibly been defeated by Fred Smith, for superintendent of public instruction. Asle J. Gronna and L. B. Hanna have been nominated for congress. Both are Stalwarts, Gronna is now a member of congress.

ST. PAUL WANTS THE NEXT EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

Cleveland, June 25.—Though delegates to the National Educational association convention have only begun to arrive, there is plenty of convention politics in evidence. President Thompson of Ohio State university is talked of as next president of the association. Several cities are in the race to attract the 1909 convention. Denver, with its new Coliseum, seating 10,000, has a strong position. St. Paul, Atlantic City and Asbury Park will be contestants.

President E. G. Cooley is not expected to return from Europe in time to preside at the sessions of the convention next week. In his place, First Vice President Shaefer of Pennsylvania will officiate.

A school boys' chorus of 500 voices is to be heard for the first time during the convention. It will be led by J. Powell Jones, musical supervisor.

TWEEDMOUTH MAY RESIGN.

Rumors That He and Lord Loreburn Will Retire From Cabinet.

London, June 25.—There was a rumor in the lobby of the house of commons last night that the resignation of Lord Tweedmouth, president of the council, and Lord Loreburn, lord high chancellor, were imminent, and that Mr. Haldane, secretary for war, and Winston Spencer Churchill, president of the board of trade, would be appointed lord chancellor and secretary for war, respectively.

ADOPT A NEW BELT.

Washington, June 25.—A white web belt, with plate, has been adopted by the war department for the use of enlisted men on duty at the general recruiting stations. The white belt will be worn with white uniforms.

FUNERAL OF CLEVELAND

Will be Very Simple and Conducted With Supreme Privacy.

Will Occur at Princeton Home at 5 o'Clock, Friday.

Princeton, N. J., June 25.—Arrangements for the funeral of Grover Cleveland were practically completed today, and before the sun sets tomorrow evening the body of Princeton's distinguished citizen will have been lowered into the grave in the family plot in old Princeton's cemetery, where lies the body of Ruth, the first born of the Cleveland children.

Mrs. Cleveland is bearing her grief with the utmost fortitude and is directing the details of the funeral. With her in the Cleveland home at "Westland" during the night were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Watson Gilder of New York; John Finley, president of the College of the City of New York, intimate friends of the family, and Cleveland F. Bacon, a nephew of the former president.

Mrs. Cleveland did not retire until late last night, but arose at an early hour today and spent some time in the open air, alone, on the veranda.

Esther, the elder daughter, and Richard, the elder son, are expected to arrive today from Tamworth, N. H., in charge of Mrs. Finley, wife of President Finley. Neither Marion nor Francis Grover will attend their father's funeral.

Relatives Expected.

Among other relatives expected to arrive today are two of Mr. Cleveland's

"TRASH AND NONSENSE."

Head of Missouri Music Teachers Denounces Grand Opera.

St. Louis, June 25.—Intellectualists in music, who have smiled indulgently at their uninitiated neighbors when the latter yawned through grand opera and applauded only the love scenes, will not be allowed to rest on their superior erudition, if the ideas and opinions expressed by Capt. Oscar Hatch Hawley of Macon, president of the Missouri State Music Teachers' association receive approval.

Capt. Hawley, in an address yesterday on "Absolute Music, the Music of the Future," before the convention of teachers, denounced grand opera as "trash" and "atrocious nonsense." He predicts that in the next decade this form of music will disappear. He declares the operas of Wagner, or any operas, are neither ideal, real or poetic.

"Opera," he says, "has no basis in real life. It is purely artificial. The drama is art; opera is nothing. It is neither drama nor music. It tends to a lowering of the moral standards."

JAP SAYS AMERICA HAS HANDSOME WOMEN.

New York, June 25.—Among those who sailed on the Mauretania for Liverpool was a member of the Japanese royalty, Marquis Nakahiro Ikeda, who can boast of an ancestry running back more than 1,000 years. He is the son of Prince Keiki Tokugawa, the last of Shoguns, under whom Japan enjoyed uninterrupted peace for three centuries up till forty years ago, when the present emperor ascended the throne.

Marquis Ikeda is 30 years old, and is making a round-the-world trip for his health.

The marquis was much impressed by the interest this government is taking in balloon experiments.

"I think Japan is behind other nations in taking up aeronautics," he said. "Our government is deeply interested, and I believe from now on the Japanese government will do much along this line."

Commenting on this country, Marquis Ikeda said: "Your country has the handsomest women, the tallest buildings, and the greatest activity of any country I ever visited."

CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

Sherman Passes Comfortable Night and Condition is Better.

Should Have Operation as Soon as He Recovers Strength.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 25.—The condition of Representative James S. Sherman continues to improve. He spent a very comfortable night at Lakeside hospital, where he was taken Tuesday morning, suffering severely from an acute attack of gall stones. He enjoyed a peaceful slumber for four continuous hours. He did not become restless until 1:30 a. m., from which time his sleep was intermittent. The patient did not suffer from the heat as he did last night, as the entire night was cool and refreshing. The possibility of an immediate operation has passed. The only thing which caused the attending physicians any uneasiness was the constant irregularity of the pulse. Thus far no alarming conditions have resulted. Dr. Edward P. Carter, the attending physician, said today:

"If Mr. Sherman continues to improve as he has during the past ten hours, he may be able to leave the hospital in a week's time, but it depends on general developments."

The doctors still adhere to the opinion that the congressman should undergo an operation for gall stones as soon as he regains his strength, as the only means to effect an absolute cure.

A bulletin issued by the physicians attending Congressman Sherman at Lakeside hospital at 8 o'clock this morning said the patient felt greatly refreshed as a result of the good sleep he had enjoyed during the night.

At the hour named Mr. Sherman's temperature was 100, pulse 80, respiration 24.

POLITICS CAUSE MURDER OF MAN

Capt. Ellis Harper, Old Ex-Confederate, is Killed.

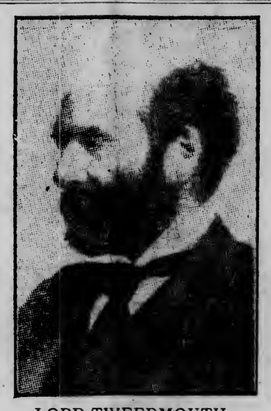

Lebanon, Tenn., June 25.—Capt. Ellis Harper was shot and instantly killed here today by William Suit. Harper, it is said, attacked Suit with a stick. Suit, who is a supporter of one faction in politics, it is alleged, wrote an article for a Nashville paper to which Harper took offense.

Capt. Harper was a picturesque figure during the Civil war and was a noted Confederate raider.

WOULD PREVENT DRINKING.

Baton Rouge, La., June 25.—A bill to prevent the drinking of intoxicating liquors on passenger trains in Louisiana was passed by the house last night, 61 to 11. The bill had previously passed the senate.

MOTHER AND FOUR GIRLS LOSE LIVES IN FIRE WHICH BURNS BOARDING HOUSE

LORD TWEEDMOUTH, President of the British Council, Who It Is Said Will Resign.

Explosion of Chemical Plant in Chicago Causes Disaster.

Victims Were Hemmed in and Suffocated on Third Floor.

Flames Spread Rapidly Owing to Nature of Chemicals.

Chicago, June 25.—Five are known to be dead and more than a score of persons were injured, several of them seriously, as the result of an explosion, followed by fire, in a five-story building, the upper floors of which were used as a boarding house, at 178 Huron street, today. The explosion occurred in the plant of the Pabst Chemical company, on the ground floor. The dead are all members of the same family, and include the mother and four children. They were found by firemen in the rear of the third floor. Other occupants of the boarding house found their exit by the stairways cut off by the flames and descended the fire escapes. Several were overcome by the smoke and heat and were rescued by police and firemen, while others jumped from the windows.

The dead are Mrs. Mary Nolan, janitress of the building, and her four daughters, Mary, Jennie, Emma and Helen. They seemingly had been hemmed in by the flames and suffocated before help reached them. The explosion wrecked the front of the building and the fire spread rapidly, owing to the inflammable nature of the chemicals stored in the basement. The employes of the Pabst Chemical company escaped, though several were injured by flying glass and debris. They were nearly all girls. The building was almost a total wreck.

UNLOADING HIS STOCK

Stuyvesant Fish is Disposing of Illinois Central Holdings.

Will Soon Discontinue All Interest in the Road.

Chicago, June 25.—The Inter-Ocean today says: Within the last few weeks, Stuyvesant Fish, formerly president of the Illinois Central railroad, is said to have sold approximately 10,000 shares of his Illinois Central holdings. With the liquidation of the balance of his holdings—a matter of 2,500 shares—which, it is presumed, will soon take place, he will discontinue his interest in the road he began to build thirty years ago and over whose destinies for twenty years he presided as president.

The Fish connection with Illinois Central affairs, now believed to be drawing to a close, covers a remarkable period in the history of the country, and in that period no figure was more conspicuous than Stuyvesant Fish. The picturesque and long-drawn-out fight waged against him by Edward H. Harriman for the control of the Illinois Central, defeat in which is apparently acknowledged with the sale of stock, was only a type of the battles he fought through three decades.

TO TRY THE DEMOCRATS.

Immigration League to Submit Recommendations for Platform Planks.

New York, June 25.—The National Liberal Immigration league has announced that it has instructed its representatives in Denver to submit to the committee on resolutions of the Democratic national convention the three recommendations which it submitted to the Republican national convention with the request that they be incorporated in the platform. These are for the maintenance of the present immigration laws; for a law providing for free transportation of immigrants and native Americans of the laboring class who go from congested districts to the unpopulated regions of the country to settle there, and for a law providing for the deportation of alien residents who have been convicted of felony.

HONORS EASY BETWEEN YALE AND HARVARD IN FORENOON BOAT RACES

MRS. FRANK GOULD, Who Has Sued Her Husband for an Absolute Divorce.

Yale Wins in the Four Oared Event and Harvard the Eight.

Time of the Freshman Race the Best on Record.

Thousands of People Watch Contests From River Banks.

New London, June 25.—Honors were easy in the forenoon races between Yale and Harvard, the former winning the four-oared race and the latter the eight-oared freshman race.

Four-Oared Race Called.

The four-oared race was called first. The observation trains pulled out of the station at 10:20 and were on the way up river just as the launches John Harvard and Elihu Yale were taking their crews aboard. There was no delay. The river was pretty good to look at, although the breeze had freshened to six miles. At 10:40 the oarsmen were at the navy yard and, under the lee of the launches, the members of the fours took their seats in the shells. The jump of the waves seemed to spill a little spray into the frail craft, but it was not enough to cause worry.

The crowd on the west bank cheered and the Yale adherents broke into the "Eoola" song, to band accompaniment, the echo crashing back and forth and dying away as the starter held up his hand to indicate to the crew captains that the pistol was ready.

At 10:52 the crack of the revolver started the fours, Harvard breaking water first and shooting the shell a little into the lead.

It seemed a high stroke for the Crimson, while Yale's longer reach, but cleaner cleavage, seemed to be slow in comparison, Harvard's counting about 35 and the Blues just under 30. Harvard rowed hard in that first quarter-mile, and when the half-mile stake went by, the Crimson shell was a good length to the good. Harvard was on the westerly side.

The water got a little rougher, as the current is strong below the navy yard,

QUIET AGAIN IN TEHERAN

Troops Seem to Have the Situation Well in Hand.

The Fighting Wednesday Caused by Throwing of a Bomb.

Teheran, Persia, June 25.—The city is quiet today. All the bazars have been reopened. The people and troops are more orderly and the situation seems to be well in hand. Many arrests were made yesterday.

Paris, June 25.—A special dispatch says that the fighting yesterday in Teheran resulted from the throwing of a bomb into the camp of the troops, killing six soldiers. The man who threw the bomb confessed that he came from the house of Zahir-Ed-Dowleh and the troops sent a shell into the house, which later they plundered.

The shah has assured the foreign ministers that he has no intention of abolishing the constitution and that he has commissioned influential officials to arrange for the holding of a new election.

Thirty members of the Nationalist party have taken refuge in the British legation and Cossacks are drawn up outside the building, although it is not known whether they are simply there as a guard or to prevent other refugees from entering.

HULL'S FRIENDS ARE CONFIDENT

That He Will be Nominee on Straight Republican Ticket.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 25.—Friends of Capt. J. A. T. Hull today declared that there is no doubt that he will be the Republican nominee for congress on a straight ticket next fall. Their claim followed notice given today by Judge Prouty withdrawing his demand for a recount of the votes in Bloomfield township. While his petition to throw out the entire vote in that precinct because the polls were kept open after the legal closing hour is still pending, it is not expected that the board will grant his plea and the contest in Polk county is apparently ended by today's action.

EWERT FILES FOR SEAT IN CONGRESS.

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—Paul A. Ewert, assistant United States attorney, filed an affidavit with the secretary of state yesterday, declaring himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman in the Second Minnesota district.

This is the first entry in the Second district race, which will again be an absorbingly interesting contest. Former Congressman J. T. McCleary will try again, and Gilbert Guttersen, who opposed him in the primaries two years ago, will be a candidate, but Ewert, the new entry, is the first to file.

TO DECLARE FOR STRICT RAILWAY REGULATIONS.

Lincoln, Neb., June 25.—The Denver platform probably will declare for strict railway regulation. Friends of William J. Bryan predict that no government ownership plank will be inserted. Six months ago Mr. Bryan issued a statement declaring that government ownership would not be an issue in the campaign. Norman Mack and other close friends of Mr. Bryan do not believe that government ownership will be discussed in the Denver convention.

BEEF WAREHOUSE BURNS.

Philadelphia, June 25.—The large abattoir and an adjoining beef warehouse owned by D. E. Martin & Co., in the southwestern section of the city, were destroyed by fire today. Loss, $150,000.

MRS. FRANK GOULD WANTS DIVORCE

Brings Suit in New York for an Absolute Separation.

New York, June 25.—Papers have been served upon Frank J. Gould in a suit for absolute divorce, brought by his wife, who was Miss Helen M. Kelly. When service was made at Mr. Gould's office yesterday, he declined to say whether he would defend the suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould were married in 1901. The first rumors of trouble came in 1906, when it was said a separation suit was under way. A reconciliation was effected, but rumors of dissension continued until the actual parting last April, Mrs. Gould remaining at their Fifth avenue home with her two children, Helen, aged 5, and Dorothy, aged 3.

Mrs. Gould has twenty days in which to file her bill of complaint, and her husband a like period in which to file an answer.

"ROOTER" MAY DIE

As Result of Cheering Roosevelt at Chicago Convention.

Cincinnati, June 25.—Joseph C. Butler, a Cincinnati millionaire, is at the point of death in a hospital at Durango, Colo., a victim of congestion of the brain, superinduced by cheering for Roosevelt and other excitement incident to the recent Republican national convention and the efforts to stampede it for Roosevelt. During the convention Butler was a Roosevelt "rooter," and he cheered for forty minutes when the stampede was attempted. Butler is 45 years old. He is owner of the Commercial-Tribune building, the Butler Power building and many other valuable pieces of realty in Cincinnati.

AMERICAN DIPLOMATS ARRIVE AT WILLEMSTAD.

Willemstad, Curacao, June 25.—The American gunboat Marietta came into port early this morning from Porto Cabello. She has on board, Jacob Sleeper, secretary of the American legation in Venezuela, and Lieut. Francis A. Ruggles, the military attache, and Mrs. Ruggles.

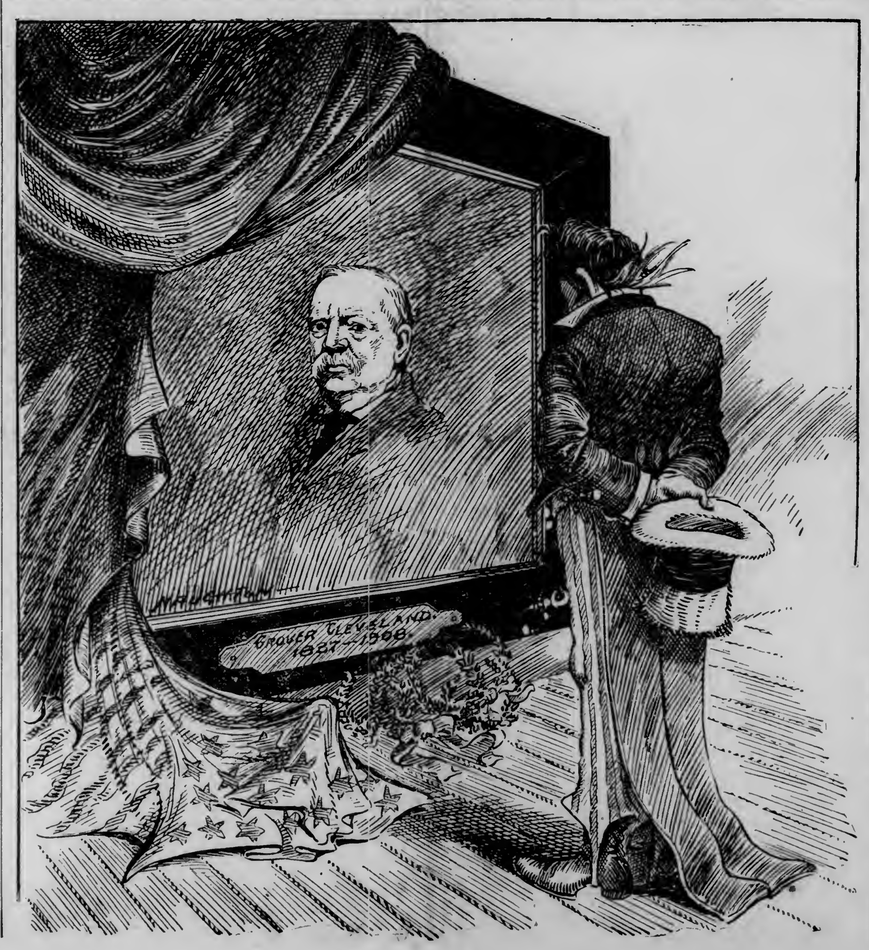

Mr. Sleeper has been acting as charge at Caracas since the departure of Minister Russell, early in May. He and Lieut. Ruggles withdrew from the legation at Caracas, placing the interests of the United States in charge of the Brazilian legation at Caracas.

IOWA DEMOCRATS HOLD CONVENTION.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 25.—The first Democratic state convention under the new primary law of Iowa is being held here today. The business of the convention is the adoption of a platform, the nomination of two candidates for judges of the supreme court and the ratification of the election by the district delegations of the members of the state central committee.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION IN SESSION

The Republican county convention is in session in the city hall this afternoon.

About 112 deelgates are in attendance from the different precincts of the county.

Judge James A. Hanks called the convention to order shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. Neil McInnis was elected chairman of the convention and Charles E. Adams was named as secretary.

There are no contests on credentials and little or no time was lost in seating the delegates.

The delegation to St. Paul was instructed to vote as a unit, but was not instructed for any candidate for governor. The delegates will caucus after their arrival in St. Paul, and the candidate selected by the majority will be endorsed by the entire delegation.

Resolutions were drawn up indorsing William H. Taft for president, and approving of the platform adopted by the party there.

Odin Halden was selected to head the delegation to St. Paul, and given power to fill any vacancies that may occur in the list of delegates. Following is the list:

Odin Halden, chairman; W. E. Culkin, Charles S. Mitchell, W. F. McKay, James A. Hanks, Edward Erickson, W. E. Richardson, B. G. Segog, Edward Whalen, H. E. Emerson, T. M. Pugh, Gust Berquist; George Huseby, Peter Grignon, W. A. Anderson, Charles E. Johnson, J. Roman, A. Miles, R. L. Haven, Sigvert Rahl, S. W. Gilpin, P. J. Ryan, Robert Stratton, A. E. Pfremmer, W. J. Shane, J. H. McNiven, Neil McInnis, P. E. Bowling, S. Sax, John Saari, Peter Schaffer, E. Morcom, F. S. Colvin, B. E. Stevens, W. B. Henderson, C. E. Adams, H. C. Kendall, F. H. Eckman, P. Fredin.

FARGO'S NEW PAPER.

Twin City Man Will be Managing Editor of the Daily News.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. C. Reinecke, formerly manager of the Press at Grand Forks will have the same position on the Fargo Daily News, the new Democratic paper to be started here July 1, and Ralph H. Mitchell, until recently with Twin City papers, will be managing editor. The News is backed by a recently incorporated stock company and will be another attempt at a Democratic daily publication with more promises of success than former publications.

SILVER IN POCKETS NEARLY DROWNED HIM.

Springfield, Ohio, June 25.—Two burglars blew the safe at Phillip Schmidt's grocery early today and secured $180 and checks and notes valued at $2,000. Several policemen gave chase and as the men were about to be taken one of the robbers jumped into the river. His pockets were so weighted down by silver that he would have drowned if Patrolman Harry Roswell had not jumped in and pulled him out.

GOOD CROP PROSPECTS INDICATED BY BUSINESS.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farm implement business in North Dakota is on the boom as a result of the liberal rains and fine growing conditions that have prevailed. This city is the recognized headquarters of the state for implement business and stands third in the United States in amount of agricultural machinery handled. The promised large yield has started a lively trade. The rainfall has not been excessive except in a few low places in the Red River valley. About the only danger to fear is destructive storms.

NORTH DAKOTA BANKS.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are 561 banks in North Dakota as compared with 530 a year ago, according to the annual report of Secretary Macfadden. One hundred and twenty-eight are nationals. Nearly 400 belong to the state association. Secretary Mastadden reports a great decrease in bank robberies, there being only four during the last twelve months. The arrests and conviction of several yeggmen has had a beneficial effect on the robbers.

NORTH DAKOTA MASONS.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo will entertain the grand lodge Masonic bodies of the state next week. This will also include the ladies of the Eastern Star. The meetings will bring several hundred visitors here from all over the state. Many of them will remain over to celebrate the Fourth here on circus day and will also go to the lakes Sunday.

STILLWATER GIRL BURIED.

Stillwater, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral was held here this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Michael's church of Miss Margaret Doyle who died in Minneapolis Tuesday. Interment was in South Stillwater cemetery.

The deceased was 26 years of age. She resided here for a few years with her brother Daniel but during the past four years has occupied a responsible position in the dressmaking parlors of Donaldson at Minneapolis. The only relative surviving, besides her brother here, is a sister in Boston.

SISTER WILL NOT ATTEND.

Omaha, Neb., June 25.—Mrs. Mary Cleveland Hoy, sister of Grover Cleveland, who is now living in Omaha, and who is reported as being expected in Princeton, N. J., at the funeral of her brother has decided not to attend the services but will remain in Omaha at the home of her son with whom she lives.

GOPHER CLUB ELECTS.

East Grand Forks, Minn., June 25.—At a meeting of the Gopher club of this city, the social organization of youngg men, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Pdesident, Loouis Ryan; vice president, Andrew Bently; treasurer, Studman Harrison; secretary, Edward Supernault. The club has done a good work since organization last winter and has held several notable social events.

GOES TO PHILIPPINES.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. W. Goforth of Maddock, N. D., who has a number of friends in Grand Forks left today for the Philippine Islands, where he has accepted an appointment in the civil service bureau. His friends will wish him great success in his new location.

ARE YOU IN DANGER

Men, Don't Delay, Every Day Will Count Against You.

If you are suffering the pangs of some dread disease what do you gain by ignoring it? You are only piling up future great agony that must eventually be laid before your physician. You will make the task harder for him—the cost to yourself much greater.

Remember, you alone cannot subdue disease—while you hesitate it goes on in its frightful ravages, tearing down your health, racking you with its pains to eventually leave you an object of loathing to yourself and all mankind. We treat and cure completely all private diseases of men. We want you to come and see us. Perhaps you are trying to deceive yourself and others into thinking that "everything is all right."

Perhaps you are living a life of mockery, a smiling face to the world and suffering when you are alone—you have kept hidden your disease so long that you fear to reveal yourself now to even a specialist. Do not hesitate. What ailments you have contracted through indiscretion or past excesses are no secret to us. We know your troubles from long experience and know that the most important appeal to you is to not delay, as you do not know the dangers that confront you.

RIGHT YEAR TO TRAVEL

Porter J. Neff Says Tourist Business is Light This Year.

Hotel Proprietors More Considerate of Their Patrons' Welfare.

"This is the year to travel in Europe," said Porter J. Neff this morning. Mr. Neff has just returned from a six months' tour of Europe, in company with Mrs. Neff and his sister-in-law, Miss Mealey of Minneapolis.

"The money panic in this country cut down the number of American tourists this year. They are also eexperiencing hard times in Europe, and the tourist trade is very small compared with other years. The result is that the European hotel proprietors are glad to see you, and they are willing to give you the best they have at reasonable rates.

"If anybody is planning a trip to Europe, this is certainly the year to take it."

Mr. Neff's party visited the Azores, Algiers, Gibraltar, Italy, Austria, Germany, Holland, Switzerland, England and France. They took their time, visited many out-of-the-way places and report a most enjoyable trip.

"Many Duluth people will remember Emil Hartman," said Mr. Neff. "I saw him in Goettingen. It is a delightful little college town. He has settled down there and is apparently doing well and enjoying the best of health.

"I also saw a number of other Duluth people, meeting Arthur Krieger at Paris, and again at Rome; Mr. Flsaer in Paris, and Mrs. Stocker and her daughter in Paris."

PLAN IS NOT FAVORED HERE

Bankers Will Not Take Bertillion Measurements of Clerks.

Local bankers are somewhat amused at the plan of the Pittsburg bankers to establish the Bertillion system among the banks of that city for the purpose of keeping records of their employes.

The Pittsburg bankers concluded to try the scheme because of numerous defalcations on the part of their employes. They have figured out in Pittsburg that during the past three years, $7,000,000 has been lost by the banks through dishonest employes.

Pittsburg bank clerks are much incensed over the scheme. They say the operation of the Bertillion system would make them feel like criminals and that it is a primary assumption that they are dishonest. On the other hand, the bankers declare that if the men are honest, they should not object to having their photographs and measurements placed on file.

"The idea of taking Bertillion measurements of bank clerks is pure drivel," said a Duluth banker when asked his opinion of the wisdom of the Pittsburgers. "What good would it do? Would it make a man honest who is constitutionally dishonest? Do you suppose any bank keeps a man in its employ whose honesty and integrity it questions? If you were at the head of a business, wouldn't it be your duty to keep your hand on the pulse and know whether your men were doing their duty?

"Do you suppose the Pittsburg bankers would have lost any money through defalcations if they had taken proper care of their business, if they had investigated the conduct of, and kept in touch with their employes? No, sir. There is no use taking pictures of your men and preserving their pictures."

Was Not a Partner.

In a decision filed yesterday afternoon in the civil action brought by Cosmos D. Hone against J. Alfred Mellin, Judge Ensign holds that the parties to the action were co-partners in Merrill, Wis., from Aug. 21, 1899, under the name of Mellin & Hone, but that this partnership was dissolved Jan. 29, 1904. From the latter date the court decides that Mellin was the employer and Hone the employe. In his complaint Hone claimed to be a member of the firm of Mellin & Co., tailors, and asked the court to dissolve the co-partnership and divide the assets and profits.

Wants New Trial.

Maurice Harley, against whom the Milwaukee-Waukesha Brewing company secured judgment in a suit brought for money due on purchases of beer, has filed notice of a motion for a new trial. He claimed that the beer, for which payment was demanded, was no good and consequently he refused to pay for it.

Jury Acquits Vugetich.

Nick Vugetich, who was indicted for grand larceny in the second degree by the last grand jury, was acquitted in the district court yesterday afternoon. Vugetich was charged with stealing about $50 in money and a $20 watch from John Zabukowic, in the town of Stuntz, April 20 last. Austin Lathers defended Vugetich and Judge S. F. White appeared for the state during the absence from the city of County Attorney Norton.

Will Have Good Service.

Ample arrangements have been made by the street railway company to handle the circus crowds tomorrow which are expected to be record breakers in case the weather is good. The service will be better even than on Monday when the Wallace-Hagenback circus was in the city. Tomorrow morning the company will inaugurate a five-minute service on the West Third and West Duluth lines up to 11 o'clock a. m. when a one minute service will be maintained on the West Third street and a two and a half minute service on the West Duluth line. This service means that the street cars will be run just as close together as it is possible to have them consistent with convenience and safety.

Automobilist Fined.

S. P. Morterud was fined $5 in municipal court yesterday afternoon for exceeding the speed limit in driving his automobile.

Skirts at $1.50.

Owing to a typographical error in yesterday's Evening Herald, while summer skirts were priced la the Silberstein & Bondy company's ad at half. This should have read one dollar and a half. See corrections in today's issue.

Board Still in Session.

The board of review, listening to kicks from taxpayers who believe they have been assessed too high, is still in session at the city hall. Its work may not be completed before next week.

Must Keep the Peace.

Thomas White in municipal court this morning was put under bonds of $150 to keep the peace for a period of one year. He was arrested by his wife, who claims he threatened herself and two children with great bodily harm.

Adamich Case Dismissed.

The damage case instituted by Joseph Adamich against the Oliver Iron Mining company, Sherin Bates and the Employers' Detective agency has been dismissed from the district court on stipulation of the parties. The suit grew out of injuries Adamich claims to have received at the time of the strike on the range last summer. He claims he was shot in the chin by the guard at one of the mines.

Carmody-Carney Wedding.

In the presence of a few intimate friends Miss Mary Carmody and Peter Carney were united in marriage at the Cathedral Wednesday morning by Rev. Father Corbett. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hay on Seventy-seventh avenue west. The bride has been employed by Glidding & Co., for about two years past and the groom has been in the employ of the United States Express company for several years. Mr. and Mrs. Carney will reside at Fourth avenue east and First street.

PERSONAL

Michael F. Dumphy of 321 Sixth avenue west has returned from Omaha, Neb., where he has been attending the Creighton university. He is home to spend his vacation and will return again to resume his studies in September.

C. W. Wilson, who has been away on a business trip through the Southwest for several weeks past, is expected home Sunday.

W. R. Stevenson, traveling freight agent of the Lehigh Valley road, was in Duluth today on business. Mr. Stevenson stated that some improvement was being shown on west-bound freight business, but that east-bound business is rather light.

First Lieut. W. L. Redles of St. Paul, who has had charge of the recruiting of marines from the district of Minnesota since Forrner Lieut. H. D. Smith was promoted to the station of captain, will make this first official trip to Duluth this afternoon to swear in new recruits for the marines from Duluth.

Miss Anna Sjosell is returned on the Tionesta from the East, where she has been studying vocal music in New York city for the past year.

SAVAGE FORCES ARE SHUT OUT

Don't Get Look-in at Polk County Republican Convention.

Crookston, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was a bitter fight in the Polk county Republican convention here today over the selection of delegates to the state convention, the result being nine delegates for Jacobson and eight for Young. The Savage forces were lost in the shuffle, being completely snowed under. There was nothing of importance in the resolutions.

JACOBSON INDORSED

For Governor by the Ramsey County Republican Convention.

St. Paul, June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Republican conventions are being held today in every county in Minnesota to name delegates to the state nominating convention, which will be held here July 1. The Ramsey county convention at St. Paul adopted resolutions indorsing the action of the national Republican convention in nominating Taft and Sherman, and recommended Jacob F. Jacobson of Lac Qui Parle county as the Republican nominee for governor of Minnesota. The Roosevelt administration was also emphatically indorsed.

"Correct Dress for Women"

A SUMMARY —OF— Summer Wearables!

L-I-N-E-N spells summer comfort, and here are linens in splendid array.

Snappy Linen Skirts

Multi-gored styles, ranging from seven to fifteen gores; some with rows of lace inserts, some with folds and some buttoned directly down the front with pearl buttons of liberal size. The pretty plaited models are also much in evidence. Prices, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 to $15.00.

Crisp Linen Suits

It's almost harder to find "style" in linen than in cloth, for there are no stiffening or linings to depend upon and the least deviation in the "lines" makes or mars the whole effect It's in the "cut" that these excel. Linen, Repp, Pique and Auto Cloth, $12.50 to $50.00.

Linen Coats

The "Princesse Prim" in natural linen at $12.50 makes about as pretty a traveling or auto coat as you'll see. Then there are the "Dressy" linen coats in white or colors, with lace insertions and other trimming touches which add so materially to one's "appearance." The prices range from $15.00 to $35.00.

Tub Dresses and Jumpers

The handsome "Artiste" Dresses in odd colored linens, with the habit back, big buttons down the front, shirt collar and silk tie are simply "stunning." Gingham and Linen Jumpers in two-piece or Princesse effect are so "perfectly pretty" as to cause the wearer to rejoice in their cool and stylish comfort. Prices are $4.75, $6.50, $7.50, $8.75, $10.00 to $35.00.

Lacy Lingerie Frocks

The daintiest and most lovely little styles conceivable. Mulls, Baptistes and Lawns, handsomely trimmed with German, French and Platte Vals, Filet and Cluny laces or embroidery. Prices, $7.50, $12.50, $15.00 to $125.00.

DEATH HALTS JOURNEY.

Daughter of Couple Going Out West Suddenly Stricken.

Crookston, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pearl N. Albertson, the 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Albertson of Marshall county, died suddenly here at a local hotel. The child had been ill with measles, but she was thought to have entirely recovered and the parents started on a journey to the Far West, where they were to take up some land. The family reached this city, when the child showed evidences of illness, and before her condition was realized she passed away.

LIGHTNING TEARS SHOE.

Wisconsin Man Feels Electric Bolt and Still Lives.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most remarkable escapes from death after having been struck by lightning is that of George Jaquish of the town of Brunswick. As it was, he received burns and injuries that may be followed by serious effects.

Thursday night while sitting in the house chatting with his family a bolt of lightning struck the building and coming down touched his left side. His trousers and stockings were scorched, while his shoe was literally ripped to pieces. It was brought to the city and exhibited.

TAFT ATTENDS TO BUSINESS.

New Haven, Conn., June 25.—Secretary Taft today embraced the opportunity to attend to some pressing personal and official business. He arose comparatively early and immediately after breakfast drove in an automobile to the office of Secretary Stokes of Yale, where he disposed of some correspondence. Secretary Taft prepared to witness the Yale-Harvard boat race at New London this afternoon.

WISCONSIN BAR WILL MEET IN MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—The Wisconsin State Bar association will meet in Milwaukee on June 30. Mayor David S. Rose will deliver the address of welcome in the Hotel Pfister on the evening of that day. The annual address by President Burr W. Jones and the reports of committees will follow.

On Wednesday morning, July 1, Judge Chester A. Bowler of Portage will deliver an address on the life of Chief Justice Luther S. Dixon. Further reports, the business meeting and the annual election of officers will follow.

DEFENDER OF STOCKADE AGAINST SIOUX, DEAD.

Hutchinson, Minn., June 25.—Holmes B. Higgins, a resident of Hutchinson since 1857, and one of the defenders of the stockade, against the attack by the Sioux in 1862 is dead. He was born in Stark, Me., in 1830, and served in the First Minnesota heavy artillery in the Civil war. He leaves a wife and one brother, W. T. Higgins.

MILWAUKEE TRAIN WRECKED.

Aberdeen, S. D., June 25.—A westbound passenger train on the Milwaukee road was wrecked near Bristol, S. D., Wednesday. The engineer had an eye gouged out and his arm broken. An express messenger was also severely injured. No injury is reported to any of the passengers on board.

RAILROADS

FUTURE IS BRIGHTER

Wisconsin Central Reports Improvement in Railroad Business.

Good Progress Made on Extension of Road to Duluth.

H. C. Starr, vice president of the Wisconsin Central railroad; W. Kalk, chief engineer; Fred E. Signer, general freight agent; E. F. Potter, general superintendent, and J. C. Pond, general passenger agent, all of the same road, were in Duluth today, inspecting the work on the extension that is being built to this city.

Mr. Starr told The Herald that he was most optimistic in regard to Duluth as a passenger and freight center. "I have always held a good opinion of your city as a railroad center," said he, "and I am of the opinion that the future of Duluth as a railroad center holds great possibilities.

"The work on the new extension is going along in a very satisfactory manner. We want to give the people of Duluth the very best we can. We want to give the best possible service and the best equipment. We are making efforts to assure the Duluth traveling public and the Duluth shippers of the best possible service."

When asked as to the outlook in the railroad situation, Mr. Starr stated that the outlook was better than it had been for some time.

"It is not so much what business there is at the present time," said he, "as the promise of much improved business in the future. Prospects are bright for a great improvement in general conditions. The development may be slow, but we have faith in the improvement of business and a consequent revival in the railroad situation."

Mr. Kalk stated that the work on the tunnel and excavating was going on as rapidly as could be expected under the adverse weather conditions. He stated that as soon as the work on the excavation was completed, the work on the new station would be started.

He said that there were as many men employed on the work as could possibly be employed, and that every detail of the work on the excavation was being pushed as rapidly as possible. Mr. Kalk was unable to state any definite time for the beginning of the work on the new depot, but said that it would depend entirely upon the weather conditions.

Mr. Pond, like Vice President Starr, is optimistic in his views of the railroad outlook. Mr. Pond says he can see a rift in the clouds, and that passenger and freight business has shown an improvement over the conditions that were prevalent two months ago.

"The people are spending more money right now than they were two months ago," said Mr. Pond. "Take the Chicago convention, for example. The railroads hauled people there by the train load. It is the same in other places. Two months ago the people felt as if they could not afford to travel for pleasure. Now they are taking trips and are spending money that they wouldn't have thought of spending two or three months ago. The signs all point to a healthy revival in both passenger and freight business."

Mr. Starr and Mr. Signer were the guests of W. W. Walker this morning. They were taken for a trip of inspection of the tunnel work, and later for a ride around the boulevard. Lunch was taken at the Northland club.

Mr. Starr, Mr. Signer, Mr. Potter and Chief Engineer Kalk came up from Chicago over the Wisconsin Central as far as Solon Springs, and from there they came to Duluth over the Northwestern. The party will return to Chicago this afternoon.

AMUSING INCIDENTS

Passengers on Trains Held Up by Floods, Enjoyed Themselves.

Jean C. Havez, a theatrical man, who reached Duluth from the West today, has some funny experiences to tell of the ludicrous and exasperating situations that grew out of the train delays that were caused by the washouts in the Montana flooded district.

All along the way of the Northern Pacific, according to Mr. Havez, grocery stores were bought out, so that the famished passengers might secure sufficient supplies to last them until the next station was reached. As the time of reaching a station was very uncertain, the passengers bought the store outright, leaving only the building as a monument to a sudden rise in the provision market.

Mr. Havez states that the storekeepers accepted the situation as the time in which to unload antiquated canned goods on the travelers. Canned stuff that had been reposing on musty shelves for years, was brought out and found a ready sale to the hungry passengers. The provisions of the dining cars had been exhausted after a few days of the uncertain progress—hence the crying demand for canned goods and other antedeluvian specimens of food.

To show how slow the progress of some of the trains were, Mr. Havez says that it required three days for the North Coast limited to go from Spokane to Butte. It ordinarily requires but seven hours for the trip. The train had to be detoured by way of Pocatello, Idaho, and the passengers nearly starved after the dining car provisions had been exhausted.

When the train would approach a bridge the conductor would tell the passengers that the structure might be unsafe. He would inform them they could get out and walk if they desired. Some of the passengers nearly had nervous convulsions whenever the train crossed a bridge.

Hand cars and other primitive modes of travel were employed to reach stations, after it was found impossible to send the train ahead. Some of the passengers got out and walked from one station to the next.

There were sixteen trains stalled at Livingston, Mont. The train carrying the May Robson company was one of them. The manager of the company, with a keen eye for business, immediately summoned the local billposters to his aid and posted up the town as it had seldom been billed before. He advertised that the May Robson company would play in Livingston that evening. The company was not originally booked for Livingston, but that little detail did not interfere with the plans of the manager.

Mr. Havez says that it played to a record-breaking house. All of the passengers in the stalled trains took in the show. They were overjoyed at the opportunity of relieving the monotony of traveling at a snail's pace.

Every store in Billings, Mont.—which is a large town, by the way—was literally bought out of every article of food. The passengers made a race for the various stores when the train struck Billings and stripped the stores of every vestige of food.

Baseball teams were organized to while away the time, and concerts were given in the food-denuded car. Everybody entered into the spirit of the fun, and the passengers, says Mr. Havez, generally managed to have a good time.

There were some pathetic features to the delays, too. People who had started with barely enough money to tide them over the trip were penniless in a few days, being obliged to spend their money for food. One woman and three small children, who was on the same train as was Mr. Havez, was absolutely without a cent. The passengers took up a collection for her.

Mr. Havez says that not only were the tracks washed away, but in some places the whole right-of-way was destroyed. In some places, he says, the sides of the mountains would be as bare as a billiard table. He says it will require weeks to repair some sections of the destroyed road.

Mr. Havez is in Duluth, preparing for the visit of Dockstader's minstrels.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

"I love art," said the girl with wings in her hat.

"So do I," said the one with cerise bow adorning her headgear. "I'm just crazy about it."

"I think china painting and drawing are just lovely. And I perfectly adore water colors," said the girl with wings in her hat.

"I think portraits are nice," said the one with the cerise bow.

"They are aristocratic," said she of the wings. "What a lovely looking lady this one is. She looks as though she might have been the heroine of three——."

"Wh-at?" gasped the cerise bow.

"Interesting love affairs," said the wings.

"Oh," sighed the cerise bow.

"What did you think I was going to say?" asked the discerning one.

"Oh nothing!" said the other. "She's got an awful scrawny neck, don't you think?"

"Well most people have," said the girl with the wings in her hat. "What did you think I was going to say and how did you know anything about the thing you thought I was thinking about?"

"Oh do be quiet," advised the other. "And please don't pucker your face up in that silly way to squint at the pictures."

"You can see much better that way," said she who was pushing her face awry.

"Maybe you can, but it will take you half the night to massage the wrinkles away and anyhow it gets on my nerves. Let some of the inharmonious details protrude themselves and you keep on looking just as beautiful as you know how."

"Well all right," said the other amiably. "Do you like that little girl with the funny look in her eyes? I don't."

"It is considered one of the very good things," said she of the cerise bow in her hat.

"Well I don't care whether it is or not," said she of the wing. "I may not know——."

"Don't you say it," threatened the other.

"—art," continued the person of taste, "but I——"

"Please," groaned her friends, "don't say it."

"—I know what I like," said the one who didn't like the weird little girl.

"You've done it," said the one with cerise bow. "I swore to myself—"

"Well, I don't think it's very ladylike to swear even that way," said the winged person.

"That I would not look at this exhibit with a person who said they might not know what art was, but they knew what they liked. Presently I suppose you'll add that you're not educated up to Japanese prints, and the color in that sunset are unbelievable and—"

"Look at this poor woman in the corner," interrupted the other, who had not heard a word, "Why didn't she wait until she felt better before she had her picture painted."

"Say," called the cerise bow, "Here's poor old Anthony being tempted once more."

"No, it isn't," said the one with wings, consulting the catalogue, "that's 'The Blue Ridge at Sunset.'"

"O, you must have the wrong number! No matter what weird sunsets they have I don't believe that—"

"Look at that hat over there. Did you ever see anything like it?"

"It is stunning, isn't it?" said she of the cerise bow.

"Stunning!" "Yes, maybe it is, but it's rather ridiculous, too, don't you think?" said she with high wings, and she ducked slightly to get under the door. Let's go and have a lime freeze. I love art, but it does make you thirsty, don't you think?"

"Yes. Perhaps that's why all the artists drink beer, maybe," said she of the cerise bow.

CHURCH WEDDING.

Pretty Event Takes Place at Norwegian Church.

A pretty church wedding took place last evening at the First Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church, when Miss Alfreida Ryning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ryning of Lakeside, became the bride of Walter Williams of this city. The church was prettily decorated in palms and ferns and white flowers, and at 8 o'clock the wedding music was played by Miss Anna Frost and the wedding party entered the church. The ushers, James Magie, Earl Baker and Arthur Gearing, entered first and were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Celia M. Ryan of Superior and Miss Edna Ryning. The maid of honor, Miss Cora Ryning, entered next and was followed by the bride, with her father. Mr. Williams and his groomsman, Walter J. Cox, awaited them at the altar, and the service was read by Rev. Stenberg.

The bride wore a dainty gown of white batiste over silk, with a long tulle veil, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a pale lavender gown and carried a bouquet of white peonies, and the bridesmaids were gowned in white and carried bouquets of pink peonies.

While the guests assembled, Charles O. Applehagen sang "Oh, Promise Me."

Following the ceremony, a large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 5029 Dodge street. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home after July 15 at 1522 East Fourth street.

Informal Afternoon.

Miss Elsie Prudden entertained this afternoon at her home, 16 West Third steet, in honor of Miss Ruth Hermann of Minneapolis, and Miss Wallace of Superior, who will be one of next month's brides. The rooms were prettily decorated in red and white peonies and hearts. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Jack Foreman and Miss Edith Scovell. Twenty guests were entertained.

Spend Summer Here.

Mrs. M. L. Geist and daughter, Miss Katchen Geist, have arrived in the city, to spend the summer as guests of friends here. Miss Geist has continued her musical study in New York during the past winter and her friends here will be interested in again hearing her. She sang yesterday morning at the wedding of Miss Katherine Fiebiger and Dr. Joseph Kuth.

WILL OBSERVE THE HOLIDAY

Duluth Merchants Will Close Their Stores on July 4.

It is generally understood that all the big merchants of the city will observe Independence day by closing their places of business for the entire day on the Fourth.

On Decoration day most of them stayed open on account of the two national holidays coming this year on a Saturday, and as they did not feel that they could afford to lose the trade of two Saturdays, many of them agreed that they would observe only one, and that the Fourth of July.

At the Columbia Clothing store it was stated this afternoon that they took it for granted that all the big houses were planning on closign. At Panton & White's it was stated that it is the understanding that the stores will not keep open. I. Freimuth & Co. stated that all stores at present are planning to close on that day. Silberstein & Bondy stated positively that they would observe the Fourth, and several others said that their intention is to cease business on the holiday.

RECEIVER DISCHARGED.

E. P. Towne Acts Only as Assignee of Amusement Company.

A petition and order discharging E. P. Towne as receiver of the Duluth Amusement company, was filed in district court this afternoon. The suit, which occasioned Mr. Towne's appointment as receiver, was brought against the company by Jens Flaaten, who claimed $1,000 for services rendered by his band at the White City.

Mr. Towne states, in his petition, that he incurred expenses of about $60, which he asks the court to allow. He says that no money or property has been turned over to him as receiver, the directors of the company meeting shortly after his appointment and deciding to assign for the benefit of their creditors, the assignment being made to him. He says, as assignee, he has possession of the property of the company.

Won Team Shoot.

Company A of the Third Regiment will have possession for one year of the silver cup offered as a prize for the annual team shoot at the Lake City encampment.

The Company A team won first place with a score of 810. Company B of Anoka was second with 800, and Company C of Duluth was third, with 791.

MARSHALL IN THE LEAD.

His Big Vote Was a Surprise to the Stalwarts.

Fargo, N. D., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications at noon, according to a statement from National Committeeman James Kennedy, are that C. A. Johnson, Republican candidate for governor, was nominated at the primaries yesterday, and that he has carried the whole of the state ticket with him by majorities ranging from 10,000 to 12,000. L. B. Hanna and Asle J. Gronna are nominated for congress. For United States senator, Congressman F. B. Marshall is probably high man, and the other candidate will be either C. B. Little or M. N. Johnson. Senator Hansbrough is low man of the four; neither one will get the 40 per cent to ensure an exclusive nomination. Marshall's big vote in the valley and slope country was a surprise to the stalwarts. For supreme court judge, B. F. Spalding has the lead.

MISSING HORSEMAN'S BODY HAS BEEN FOUND.

ON THE IRON RANGES

AURORA COUNCIL MEETS BREWERS

Agreement Reached That Makes It Hard for Blind Pigs.

Aurora, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The blind pig evil received a deadly jolt this week when the village council at its session Monday reached an agreement with the brewers and saloonkeepers that is expected to put the former out of business here as nearly thing. It refused to grant licenses to to those saloonkeepers whose applications for renewal had been laid on the table for some time. Some time ago the council decided to wipe out the blind pig evil, and right or wrong, had agreed that the brewers were to blame for the whole thing. It refused to grant licenses to saloonkeepers unless they could bring written proof that the brewers of whom they would buy their beer would not sell to any but licensed places. The brewers objected, saying that this would be a combination in restraint of trade, but they offered to assist in eliminating the blind pig evil and proposed to refuse all sales to parties which the police would point out as being under suspicion of selling without a license.

The council, however, mistrusted this offer and things came to a deadlock lasting for a couple of months. In the meantime, these brewers who catered to the blind pig trade kept on supplying the blind pigs for they could not be reached by the council's method of punishment, while the legitimate saloon was being closed.

But more moderate views prevailed last Monday when a compromise was effected to the extent that the offer of some of the brewerlss was accepted, but such acceptance was reinforced by a guarantee by the saloonkeepers that they would not handle the beer of any brewer who would offer or sell his beer to the blind pig.

Those brewers who have had the controversy with the council say that they are glad of the settlement and they guarantee that their product, will not be sold to the unlicensed dealers of Aurora.

MINING MEN AT ELY AND SOUDAN

They Look Over Properties There, Then Visit Mesaba Range.

Ely, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The special trains on the Iron Range railroad bearing the members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute that left Duluth shortly after midnight reached here early this morning, and visits were paid to the Pioneer, Chandler and other mines. The party left here before noon for Soudan to inspect the Minnesota mine. This afternoon the party will proceed to Biwabik, on the Mesaba range, visit the Biwabik mine, and proceed to Eveleth reaching that point about 3:45 p. m. The Fayal, Adams and Spruce mines will be looked over and at 5:30 p. m. the trains will depart for Virginia, which will be reached at 7:30, where a meeting will be held in the Roosevelt school. The itinerary for tomorrow follows:

A portion of the morning will be spent in visiting the Oliver, Ohio, Lincoln, Franklin and other mines.

Leave Virginia .....10:00 a. m.
Arrive Mount Iron .....10:45 a. m.
Visit the Mount Iron mine.
Leave Mount Iron .....11:45 a. m.
Arrive Monroe-Tenner mines... 1:30 p. m.
Arrive Hibbing .....2:00 p. m.

The remainder of the day will be passed in visits to the various mines of the district.

There will be a business session of the institute at the Close hall at 8:15 p. m.

Chisholm, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mining institute will arrive in Chisholm Friday at 1 p. m., at the Monroe mine, where they will be met by several Chisholm business and mining men. They will have special cars, and the entire crowd will take a journey around the several mines, finishing at the Hartley, from where they will leave for Hibbing.

SPARTANS GOING TO LEAVE TOWN

Many Planning to Locate in New Addition to Gilbert.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Property owners in Sparta are planning to build in the new addition to Gilbert. The Steel corporation, through their representative, D. M. Mouser, has been securing options on the Sparta property for a limited time, and deals are being made right along. The Sparta people will secure cash for their property in almost all cases, and there will therefore be no moving of the town of Sparta. The Steel company will start soon to tear down the buildings that are now standing on valuable iron ore. A number of the people are not over enthusiastic about moving their business and homes to the town of Gilbert, as there are no water pipes yet placed there, nor will they have such a lake as Cedar Island lake.

At Gilbert things are moving at a steady pace in the building line. Sidewalks have been ordered to be put in by the property owners, otherwise the work will be done by the council and charged to the property. Some of the business men have their sidewalks in already.

EVELETH CIVIC LEAGUE.

Mass Meeting Sunday Evening to Fight Law Violations.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A mass meeting will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday by the Civic League of Eveleth, which has been recently organized among the church and temperance societies of Eveleth, with a charter membership of 700. This league is auxiliary to the Anti-Saloon league of the state, its object being to secure the enforcement of all the laws relating to the control of the liquor traffic and to regulate public morals. The law enforcement question will be taken up at the mass meeting. The following officers have been elected: President, Frank Mattson; first vice president, Rev. J. E. Rankin; second vice president, Charles Penrod; third vice president, Rev. R. J. Taylor; fourth vice president, Ephraim Johnson; secretary, F. Ellsworth; treasurer, C. F. Klane.

Each one of the vice presidents will be chairman of the various department committees. The league expects to take a hand in what is going on in the town.

FOURTH AT CHISHOLM.

Races, Ball Games and Other Events to be Pulled Off.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chisholm will celebrate the Fourth the same as in earlier days. There will be races of all kinds, including foot races, sack races and log rolling contests, pie eating, baseball games, jumping, bicycle races and everything that a person wants to see. The committee on the program have it completed and large posters will be put out to advertise the celebration to be held here. Everybody in places where there will not be a celebration will be welcome at Chisholm.

FOURTH AT HIBBING.

Range Town Will Celebrate Big Day in Usual Style.

Hibbing, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing's celebration of the Fourth of July will be in keeping with affairs of that kind here. About $1,500 has been raised to defray the expenses, the council has donated $250, while the township will also probably give something. J. J. Cox is chairman of the committee on arrangements, the other members being J. B. Connors, P. J. Ryan, C. M. Atkinson, Frank Dear and Mayor Welrick. Subcommittees will be appointed to take charge of the parade, street sports and children games, which are always held at the ball park and in which about $200 in cash is usually distributed among the children, speaking, fireworks, etc.

SPARTA SCHOOLS CLOSE.

The School Year Was Ended With the Usual Exercises.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools at Sparta have closed, with fitting exercises. The various teachers have already left for their homes. Superintendent and Mrs. A. V. Jones left Saturday for Minneapolis, where the former will take advantage of the University summer school. Miss Walker has gone to her home at Moorhead; Miss Kellog to Burlington, Iowa; Miss Newlander to Grafton, N. D.; Miss Lindquist to Fergus Falls; Miss Anderson to Hibbing, and Miss Davnie to her home in the northwestern part of the state.

The following is the list of teachers that have been engaged for the following year in School district 18: Miss Estelle Crosby, Madella, eighth grade and high school; Miss Bermingham, sixth and seventh; Miss Boase, fourth and fifth; Miss Marie Stapleton, Cavalier, N. D., third; Miss Mayme Linnihan, Red Lake Falls, Minn., second; Miss Kellogg, first; Miss Evelyn McGrath, Winona, kindergarten; Miss Lindquist, supervisor of music and drawing; F. Leroy Smith, Alden, Minn., St. Louis River school.

MESABA K. OF P. MEET.

All Lodges on Range to Gather in Eveleth During Next Month.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Knights of Pythias will hold a district convention here some time this summer, probably July 13. The district includes all the towns on the Mesaba range. The Biwabik and Hibbing lodges lent their support in influencing the grand chancellor to give Eveleth the convention.

Will L. Scism, past supreme representative, visited the local lodge last Monday night. He is special correspondent for the Pythian Advocate.

EVELETH FINNS HAVE A BIG CELEBRATION.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local Finns had an appropriate program last night in Wahlon Labde hall in honor of Johannes day, their national holiday. A number of prominent Finns went to Duluth yesterday, among whom was John Saari, who delivered a speech against Socialism. A special train was run on the Iron Range yesterday morning for the benefit of the range Finns.

FULL WORKING FORCES ON AT HULL AND BURT.

Hibbing, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four crews and four shovels have been added to the working force at the Hull and the Burt mines, night and day shifts are working and the output from those properties is expected from now on to equal that of last season.

These are two of the best mines on the range and the news of the return to normal conditions is very gratifying. Last year the monthly pay roll of the Hull mine was $60,000 and with the increased force beginning this morning the pay roll will be the same this year. Practically all of the shipping is being done from these pits at present.

WOMAN MAY BE HELD.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of Mrs. M. Alella, alleged to have cut a man did not come up yesterday on account of the non-arrival of Assistant County Attorney Poirier. The case will come up this afternoon. The charge is a serious one and it is expected the woman will be bound over the grand jury.

BURY DROWNING VICTIM.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Walter Barkkonen, the victim of the Longyear lake drowning Sunday, took place Tuesday from the M. E. church. He was buried at Hibbing. The deceased was 15 years old and was living with his parents at the Myers' location. He was a Finn.

SAYS JUDGE IS DRUNK.

Insolent Witness Given Sentence in Jail for Contempt.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Topping, a Bovey policeman, who was a witness in the district court here in the trial of Thomas Ulola of Bovoy, tried on the charge of stabbing a comrade, made a disgraceful exhibition of himself in court and was sentenced to forty-eight hours in jail for contempt of court. When Topping was walking to the stand he stumbled, and the court asked him if he was intoxicated.

"No; you're drunk," was his contemptuous remark, for which the court promptly sentenced him to forty-eight hours in jail.

The trial of Ulola resulted in the latter's conviction, and he was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail.

VIRGINIA BOY HURT.

Virginia, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clyde Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Dunlap, while riding horseback last evening, was thrown and quite seriously hurt. One ear was also torn from his head, while his head was more or less bruised, although the doctor thinks his skull was not fractured.

GRAND RAPIDS IS ONE OF WINNERS

Park Rapids, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a large crowd in the village for the first day of the firemens' tournament. The first race on the program was hub and hub which resulted as follows: Grand Rapids, first, time 23 2-5 seconds; Park Rapids, second, 24 seconds; Cass Lake, third, 27 2-5 seconds; Akeley, fourth, 28 seconds. The hook and ladder service test resulted as follows: Park Rapids, first, time 35 seconds; Cass Lake, second, 38 2-5 seconds; Akeley, third, 41 seconds. Grand Rapids started in the race but the ladder fell off the truck and they did not finish. No time was taken. This afternoon the novelty hose race is on with a baseball game between Park Rapids and Cass Lake. Park Rapids has importted Marsh, the pitcher for Long Prairie, and several other players. There will also be horse races.

CONVICT SAFE ROBBERS.

Monroe Brothers Get Five Years for Nashwauk Crime.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury that heard the evidence County Attorney Thwing produced against John and David Monroe, brothers, indicted for burglary in the third degree in robbing a safe at Nashwauk returned a verdict of guilty and the court sentenced the pair to five years in the state penitentiary.

According to the evidence the Monroe brothers broke into the station of the Great Northern at Nashwauk last winter and carried the safe to a speeder on which they had ridden to Nashwauk from the Stevenson mine, twelve miles distant. They carried the safe on the speeder for more than six miles before they blew it open and took the contents.

A fresh snow was on the ground and the course of the robbers was easily followed as they were compelled by its weight to rest the safe on the snow every few steps.

MANY CAME TO DULUTH.

Chisholm, Minn., June 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A large number of Finnish people from Chisholm left Tuesday and Wednesday for Duluth, where the Finns held their large festival and midsummer day.

FUNERAL MARCH KILLS HORSE.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A horse belonging to Richard Rudd of Iron Junction, became frightened by a band that was playing for a funeral, Tuesday afternoon and ran away. After running a few hundred yards the horse dropped dead.

Kodol is the best known preparation that is offered to the people today for dyspepsia or indigestion or any stomach trouble. Sold here by all druggists.

CIRCUS MAN IS TWICE HURT

Train Wreck at St. Paul Follows Bad Accident at Superior.

After receiving two badly smashed legs while the circus was loading in Duluth Monday and nearly dying in Superior because the circus people left him on the train unattended during Tuesday, Earl Williams left with the circus despite painful hurts and now lies at the point of death in St. Paul, as a result of further injuries received in the wrecking of one of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show trains in St. Paul at an early hour this morning.

Dispatches from St. Paul state that a Milwaukee freight train ran into the middle of the first section of the Hagenbeck-Wallace train and that eight workmen employed by the circus were seriously injured. Williams, unluckily was one of the eight.

The injured men are now at the city hospital in St. Paul. After the wreck this morning, Williams is too badly hurt to travel farther with the show and he will be left behind until he recovers, if he has the strength and endurance to survive his experiences of the past few days.

When the circus left Superior Tuesday night, Williams was hardly in shape to travel, but he pleaded with the hospital authorities and the circus managers to be allowed to go, and consent was finally given.

Williams' first bit of hard luck came while the circus was loading in the Omaha yards at Fifth avenue west, Monday night. His feet got caught in some manner and both his legs were badly crushed. He was put aboard the circus train and taken to Superior.

Most of Tuesday, Williams tossed on a bed of pain in the circus car. His fellow workmen and the department boss had forgotten about him and some stranger heard his moans from outside. The Superior city physician was notified and he had the injured man removed to St. Mary's hospital, where the wounds were treated.

When the circus managers were notified, they were much astonished that Williams had not been cared for before and they promptly paid his doctor and hospital bills. Then at his own urgent request, Williams was allowed to leave with the circus.

Yesterday, the circus exhibited at New Richmond, Wis., and the first section of the trains was en route to Mankato, Minn., when the second accident happened.

FAMILY OF FIVE

All Drank Coffee From Infancy.

It is a common thing in this country to see whole families growing up with nervous systems weakened by coffee drinking.

That is because many parents do not realize that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which causes the trouble.

"There are five children in my family," writes an Iowa mother, "all of whom drank coffee from infancy up to two years ago.

"My husband and I had heart trouble and were advised to quit coffee. We did so and began to use Postum. We now are doing without medicine and are entirely relieved of heart trouble.

(Caffeine causes heart trouble when continually used as in coffee drinking).

"Our 11-year-old boy had a weak digestion from birth, and yet always craved, and was given, coffee. When we changed to Postum he liked it and we gave him all he wanted. He has been restored to health by Postum and still likes it.

"Long live the discoverer of Postum!"

FRIDAY WILL BE "CIRCUS DAY" FOR DULUTH PEOPLE

Tomorrow will be circus day again, but there are strong indications for fine weather, and better still, the day will bring Ringling Bros.' "world's greatest show," which is beyond doubt the largest amusement institution of its kind in the world. But rain or shine, the Ringling Bros.' vast tents are so constructed as to shut out water completely, being doubly water-proofed.

The "flying squadron," by which term the first section of the five show trains is known, will arrive here shortly after midnight. It will carry the kitchen and dining tents, equipment and helpers, and by the time the four following trains are unloaded a steaming hot breakfast will be ready for the several hundred hard working people. In order to have a fresh supply of wholesome food for the small army of attaches, an agent was here yesterday contracting with grocers, bakers, dairymen, butchers and others for the immense quantities of food to be delivered at the show grounds early in the morning.

Small Army to Serve.

Ninety gallons of fresh milk, twenty gallons of evaporated milk, 1,000 pounds of bread, 300 pounds of steak, Westphalia ham, young lamb chops and young veal cutlets, 90 pounds of butter, 45 bushels of potatoes, 18 bushels of spinach and young beets, 250 dozen eggs, 35 pounds of American cheese, 100 pounds of rice pudding, 200 pies of four varieties and 185 quarts of coffee and 65 gallons of tea are consumed each day. Nine cooks working under one chef prepare this food.

There are 1,200 people, 650 horses, 40 elephants and 108 cages of wild animals, say the governing factors. It takes 12 acres of ground to spread the 20 pavilions that constitute the circus settlement, and the performance tent will comfortably seat 12,000 people. There are 400 performers and 200 ring horses in a program of 100 numbers.

Ringling Brothers are this year observing their twenty-fifth anniversary in the amusement world, and they have made special arrangements for adding new features to the big bill in celebration of the event. Of the 400 performers featured in the jubilee program, 200 are announced as newcomers in America. In addition to the customary ring features, trained animal performances and other feats, the following imported offerings are included in the program: Marnello-Martinitz, the upside-down bell ringers, four in number; Marguerita and Hanley in a wire and strong act; a young Cuban in a marvelous wire act; Patty Brothers, head-walkers and balancers; Clarksonians, high aerial artists; the Bakers, comedy cyclists; the Jackson family, bicyclists; the eight Carnellas, wonderful gymnasts and tumblers; the aerial Shaws, Wards and Milletts, each with new specialties.

Ride in Somersaulting Auto.

Then, too, there is the menagerie with its fifty cages of curiosities, including "Darwin," the missing link, an unexplainable freak, and other features of interest. There will be the usual side show and other incidental features which go to make up a big show. The "thriller" is put on by LaBelle Roache, who comes down an incline in an automobile, which turns a double somesault over a gap and continues on its journey along the incline. The free street parade, which is scheduled to take place at 9:30 in the morning over the principal streets, is regarded as one of the distinct features of the organization and on a much higher plane than that of the average tented attraction.

Ringling Brothers are credited with a higher fame than that which comes from owning the largest circus in the world. There has always been a spirit of consideration for their patrons and an atmosphere of refinement in the order and control of things generally, which made friends and engendered fame. Its organization has been studied and admired by governmental officials at home and abroad, for, to build and tear down each day, without delay, a town with the population and appointments of Ringlingsville, and provide food and bed for the travelers, is a big task in itself.

and this made both crews drop their stroke a little to get more power. Yale was coming well, and inch by inch she cut down the seeming advantage of her opponent, scant as it was.

Harvard's Boat Yawed.

Yale's coxswain was laying his course true, while there was a trifle yawing of the Harvard boat, or else it was the effect of the waves. Coming into the water just below the mile, the Blue hit up the stroke a notch or two and the shells came on about equal terms. Yale then looked a bit better for the finish, and this proved true. The mile mark was soon astern, and the crews, on equal terms, settled down to work. Harvard tried to get a lead, the little spurt being responded to by Yale, who then was just getting her gait. Whatever lead Harvard had faded away and, with only half a mile to the draw-bridge, Yale drove the nose of her shell in front. Her men stretched their backs and raised their stoke and, to the thousands on the draw-bridge, the result was evident almost two minutes before the finish. The Yale crowd yelled, "Yale wins," and the victory was declared before either shell was within an eighth of the finish line. Harvard's stroke wavered and her men seemed to have lost their freshness, while the Blues, with smiles on their faces, gave impetus to these closing strokes, which sent the Yale boat over the line, three-quarters of a length in the lead.

Eight-Oared Race.

Harvard won the eight-oared freshmen's race with Yale by a length and a half. The distance was two miles, and the official time, 9 minutes, 38 2-5 seconds.

Harvard was off first. Both crews spurted at once, and for the first few strokes, splashed wildly. After the first quarter of a mile the crews settled down to a long, even swing of about thirty to the minute. On nearing the half-mile, Harvard led by half a length.

Harvard reached the half-mile in 1:52; Yale, 1:54. After passing the half-mile, both crews struck a little rough water, but the oar work was so good that there was very little splashing. The pace slackened between the half-mile and mile and Yale pulled up nearly on even terms.

Just before reaching the mile, Yale spurted and obtained a slight advantage. The race, however, at this point was a pretty one.

At the mile, Harvard had led by half a length, passing in 4 minutes, 33 seconds, Yale about two second later.

Rowed on Even Terms.

After passing the mile the crew was rowed on even terms, both hitting up a long steady stroke. Passing the mile and a half mark Harvard led by a half length. Time at the mile and a half, Harvard 7:14.

After passing the mile and a half mark Harvard hit up a faster stroke and forged ahead slightly. The form of the crews was poor and on the last half mile there was considerable splashing.

A quarter of a mile from the finish Harvard was leading by a length. Nearing the finish Yale splashed badly.

The Yale men finished in excellent form. Unofficial time, 9 minutes, 38 2-5 seconds.

Just before reaching the finish both crews spurted, Yale started the sprint and endeavored to win out on the spurt. Harvard quickened the stroke and the Crimson boat drew away from its Blue rival and crossed the finish line a length and a half ahead.

After the race, Yale men appeared much stronger than the members of the victorious crew.

Time in the freshmen race is the best on record since this event has been rowed, starting in 1900.

The best previous time was in 1903, when Yale won in 9.43, with Harvard nine seconds slower. In the four-oared race the time in 1904 was better by about 18 seconds than in this event today.

sisters, Miss Rose Cleveland of New York, who was mistress of the White House before President Cleveland's marriage, and Mrs. M. B. Bacon, wife of an architect of Toledo, Ohio. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Cleveland Hoyt, is expected from Omaha, Neb.

The hour for the funeral has been fixed at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to give those who live at a distance, and who are expected to attend, an opportunity to reach here. Services will be simple and unostentatious, and will be conducted with extreme privacy, if the wishes of Mrs. Cleveland are carried out.

Historic Princeton, in common with the state and nation, is mourning the death of her distinguished citizen. Flags are at half mast and emblems of mourning throughout the college town bear mute testimony of the nation's loss. Regret is expressed that Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university, and a cherished friend of Mr. Cleveland, will be unable to attend the funeral, as he sailed for Europe only a few days ago.

Mr. Cleveland's body will be buried in a heavy oaken casket, with silver handle bars, a silver plate, bearing this simple inscription:

"Grover Cleveland, March 18, 1837—June 24, 1908."

TO TEST BALLOON.

New York, June 25.—Capt. T. A. Baldwin, announces that the trial trips of his new dirigible balloon, the first to be built for the government, will be made at Fort Myer, Washington, about July 15. The balloon will make several trips during the test, under direction of Brig. Gen. James Allen, the chief signal officer.

STEAMER SINKS

she had landed part of her passengers. She was on her way to Muros, when, on account of the fog, she headed for Corunna. She suddenly ran up a rocket, but the captain, who knew the coast well, got his vessel off. Immediately she ran upon another rock, which was uncharted. The steamer, according to a survivor of the crew, sank within a few minutes. The heavy sea was running at the time the life boats were manned.

May Prove Very Serious.

London, June 25.—Special dispatches received here from Corunna indicate that the sinking of the steamer La Rache may prove a very serious disaster. The reports received are very conflicting, but apparently there were nearly 100 passengers aboard the steamer, in addition to a large crew. The vessel was wrecked near Muros, and sank within eight minutes. There was a terrible panic and the rough seas made the launching of the boats an exceedingly difficult task. Some of them were smashed against the side of the sinking vessel.

Fishermen's boats in the vicinity went to the rescue and succeeded in landing forty-seven at Muros and fifteen at other places near by. As far as known, no others were rescued.

A special dispatch to the news agency here, which is very brief, says it is reported that the crew, numbering fifty-three, and fifty-four of the passengers are safe.

Steamer a Death Trap.

Corunna, Spain, June 25.—Most of the passengers on La Rache were residents of the Argentine republic. La Rache was little more than an old tub, and she proved a veritable death trap when she struck the rocks near Muros. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling in the water. The small boats on La Rache were either smashed or capsized. There was a fleet of fishing boats in the neighborhood, and these rushed to the rescue, but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interfered with their work.

The fishermen succeeded in rescuing sixty-one persons. In addition to the captain, the ship's doctor and the first officer were drowned. The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning, and most of those who were saved are without clothing. It is feared that all of the eighty-five were drowned.

Excursion to Cleveland.

FORGER HAS NEW TRICK

Tells Jeweler and Florist He is to be Married.

Eischen Bros. and Reinhart Both Cash His Checks.

All the world loves a lover.

When a man signing himself Eugene W. Russell appeared at a local florists, and also at a jewelry store, and presented large checks in payment for flowers and jewelry supposed to be purchased on the strength of his coming marriage, the checks were cashed without question. Both of them are forgeries, it is claimed, and now the police are looking for Russell.

Eischen Bros., florists, and Reinhart, jeweler, were the victims. The man got $29 out of the two of them, on checks drawn on the First National bank. The flowers and jewelry were not delivered, so the victims are only out the cash.

Russell, a nice-appearing young fellow, first appeared at Eischen Bros. yesterday. He said he was going to be married tonight, and that he wanted a quantity of flowers delivered at the residence of his bride-to-be. The clerk did not know the man, but he looked all right, and the story he told sounded reasonable enough, so when he presented a check for $40 in payment for $26 worth of flowers, it was accepted without question, and he was given the difference in cash. When the Eischens tried to cash the check they learned it was a forgery.

Russell told much the same story at the jewelry store. He said he was going to be married, and asked that jewelry ordered be delivered at the home of the girl in the case. But first he wanted it engraved. He ordered $135 worth of things, gave the initial he wanted engraved on them, and presented a $150 check in payment. The worthless piece of paper was accepted, and $15 cash given in return. An attempt to cash the check at the bank proved it, like the other, to be a forgery.

Whether Russell carried his operations any further than this is not known, but these two forgeries are the only ones thus far reported to the police. A good description of the man has been secured, and it is hoped that his capture will be accomplished.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better, and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

HE WILL HAVE A JURY TRIAL

J. L. Travers Says He Did Not Violate Liquor Law.

James L. Travers, proprietor of a saloon at 1 East Superior street, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with having sold liquor after hours. The warrant was sworn out three or four weeks ago, but was not served at the time, as the city attorney's department desired to wait the decision of the district court relative to the validity of the city ordinance before pressing the case. In the Travers case the state is made complainant and he will be given a jury trial. He entered a plea of not guilty, and will be tried in municipal court July 7.

CASES SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Personal Injury Suits Aggregating $100,000 Are Dismissed.

Stipulations for the dismissal of eight personal injury cases against the Oliver Iron Mining company, based on settlements of claims, were filed in the district court yesterday. The suits involved an aggregate claim for damages of $100,000. The plaintiffs in all the cases were represented by Heino & Hollister. The plaintiffs were: Andrew Pannala, John Pirila, Frank Niemi, John Kauppila, George Devocle and George Reshofsky.

FESTIVAL IS SUCCESS

Finnish Visitors Enjoy a Concert at the Lyceum.

Celebration Will End With Excursion, Picnic and Concert.

The first day of the Midsummer Festival, by the Finnish societies of the Northwest, was brought to a close last evening with a grand concert at the Lyceum, where a fine musical and literary entertainment was given before a large audience.

Speeches were made by J. W. Lahde of New York Mills, Minn., publisher of a Finnish paper; Miss Alma Hinkkanen of Finland, organizer of Finnish temperance societies throughout this country; J. H. Jasberg, and Ivan Ahonen. The musical part of the program comprised selections by the Calumet Glee club, bands and mixed choruses from the range towns. The music was, in the main, of Finnish composition, including patriotic and classical songs. The concert closed with the chorus, "America."

Following the concert the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John Saari, Sparta; secretary, Rev. Wargenline, Eveleth; treasurer, William Talkari, Eveleth.

Prizes in the musical contests at Lincoln park, yesterday afternoon, were awarded as follows: Eveleth band, first prize; Ely band, second prize; Calumet mixed choir, first prize; Hibbing mixed choir, second prize; Chisholm mixed choir, third prize. The Calumet Glee club received first prize for its performances, and an extra prize was voted to the Calumet Ladies' club.

Today the visitors are having an excursion up the St. Louis river and a picnic at Fond du Lac.

The celebration will close this evening with another concert at Flaaten's hall, in which the Calumet Glee club and a number of local and range people will participate.

PENNSYLVANIA FOR JOHNSON

Col. Guffey Insists That the Unit Rule be Applied.

Chicago, June 25.—Governor John A. Johnson's champions for the presidential nomination denied yesterday that they had conceded the victory at Denver to Bryan, and indicated that some surprises may develop. Secretary Knappen of the Johnson headquarters received information from Pennsylvania that Col. James M. Guffey, Democratic boss of the Keystone State, had insisted that the unit rule be applied in the convention. In that event, the Johnson men declare Pennsylvania will cast its sixty-eight votes for Johnson, providing the nomination is not assured for Bryan on the first ballot. The Johnson men insist that, under the unit rule, the whole delegation will be chalked up in the Johnson column. It develops that then Bryan would not have the necessary two-thirds majority on the first ballot. They still have hopes that he will not have the required number of votes, and figure that of instructed delegates, Bryan will fall short by twenty-six or thirty, counting the thirty from Pennsylvania.

Anti-Bryan men in the East are relying upon the expression by the delegates from the Eastern and Southern states of their real opposition to Bryan and hope to be able to get enough votes to prevent him from getting the necessary two-thirds. These Democrats apparently have Governor Johnson in mind, as the most of them who are delegates are quoted as being for Johnson, as against Gray or any other man mentioned for nomination besides Bryan. According to their figures, twelve of the sixteen delegates from Maryland are really for Johnson, and several delegates from Southern states will be found voting for the Minnesotan on the first ballot.

The Tammany organization in New York is against Bryan and may be able to swing that delegation in line for Johnson, it is said. Reports from New York are to the effect that Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, is going to Denver several days ahead of the delegation to take charge of the organization of the anti-Bryan forces and to aid Johnson men to swing the delegates opposed to Bryan into line for Johnson. A Tammany man, interviewed in New York yesterday, stated that, at most, Bryan will go into the convention with not more than 600 votes pledged to him, which gives them hope of defeating him.

BUYS VAN DYCK PAINTING.

Masterpiece May Become Property of Citizens of Philadelphia.

London, June 25.—P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia has just concluded negotiations by which America becomes the owner of what many experts consider Van Dyck's greatest painting. This is a portrait of a woman with a negro page holding her train, which is universally recognized to be the gem of the famous Battanco collection. With two other of Van Dyck's works in the same collection, it has ben purchased by Mr. Widener and may ultimately become the property of the citizens of Philadelphia. The price paid for one picture alone was not far short of $500,000.

PREMATURE CELEBRATION OF FOURTH PROVES DISASTROUS.

Kelliher, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ernest Sanders, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders, was severely burned about the face and hands while playing with fireworks.

He and several companions started in to celebrate the Fourth, having purchased a quanity of fire-crackers and other explosives, and were setting them off around the town.

Ernest placed several Roman candles in front of his waist, and had lighted another which he held in his hand, when in some way a spark ignited, the balls, as they shot from the candles, striking him on the side of the face. The entire right side of his face was horribly burned, and his hands were also burned. The boy suffered greatly throughout the night. His injuries are probably not serious.

TALENTED ARTIST DEAD.

Miss Margarethe Heisser of Minneapolis Called at Grand Forks.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Margarethe Heisser of Minneapolis died Tuesday evening in Grand Forks, N. D., after a brief illness. Miss Heisser was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Heisser.

The most promising of the younger artists in the city, Miss Heisser's work had attracted unusual attention both in Minneapolis and abroad and much was expected of her. She left a week ago to finish some portraits in Fargo and Grand Forks before beginning on a large and ambitious work. She had been given a commission to paint twelve portraits of North Dakota Indians and had planned to spend the summer on three of the North Dakota reservations and in the fall expected to sail for Europe.

Among the portraits she painted is one of Governor John Burke of North Dakota, which is now in the North Dakota state capitol. She also painted portraits of Judge Amidon and Judge Young, as well as many other Dakota politicians. She spent last summer on a North Dakota Indian reservation, making the studies of the Indian in his own environment, which won her the flattering commission for which she was so well fitted.

SENATOR STEPHENSON IS CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—United States Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, who was elected by the last legislature to fill the unexpired term of Senator John C. Spooner, who resigned, has issued a statement in which he announces himself a candidate for re-election. Mr. Stephenson says he endorses all the Roosevelt policies and will work for the election of Secretary Taft. He also approves all the laws passed by the last Wisconsin legislature.

NORTHERN PACIFIC ALSO HAD HIGH FINANCING.

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—T. D. O'Brien, special council for the state in the railroad cases in which testimony is being taken before Judge Otis, special master in chancery in his cross-examination of H. A. Gray, controller of the Northern Pacific road, brought out that $40,000,000 of the orginal stock of the company was issued to holders who paid nothing for it, receiving it as a bonus for services rendered in promoting and organizing the company.

RELATIVE OF BIG CHIEF.

Odanah, Wis., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ed Buffalo of Odanah died Friday of tubercular peritonitis and was buried Monday. Ed Buffalo was an immediate relative of the great chief, Buffalo, of the Chippewa Indians. He was 27 years of age and leaves a wife and numerous relatives. The flags were flying at half mast here Monday.

MILITIA HOME FROM LAKE CITY

Made Very Good Showing, Especially in the Shooting.

Militia companies A, C, and E returned last evening from Lake City, where they have been camping with other companies of the Third regiment for the past ten days. They broke camp yesterday morning, and arrived in Duluth at 7 o'clock last evening. Their outing was a very pleasant one in every way, although it was not entirely pleasure, for the boys were put through some regular army maneuvers.

Both the officers and men say the encampment was a success, and all are delighted over the honors won on the field by the local organizations. Thirty men qualified as sharp shooters, and seven men, from Companies A and C were included in the list, besides members of the field staff and board. Col. F. E. Resche of Duluth made high score, with 270 points.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure."

STANDING ARMY OF 250,000 IS PLANNED.

Pine Camp, N. Y., une 25.—Acting Secretary of War Robert Shaw Oliver has made public President Roosevelt's plan for a standing army of 250,000 men, divided into eight great army corps, which is to be ready in two years or less for any emergency.

Secretary Oliver intimated that the scheme had been worked out so thoroughly that the personnel of the war department, no matter what changes may come about, will not affect the success of the undertaking, which has engaged the keen interest for several years. Recent legislation affecting the state militia had been directed toward the purpose which the president desires to accomplish.

The standing army of 250,000 is to be made up, according to Secretary Oliver, of the regular establishment, slightly increased from its present strength and volunteers from every state, the latter to be trained so thoroughly in the eight great instruction camps that their efficiency will be hardly less than that of the regulars. To bring this about it is proposed to school 40,000 or 50,000 volunteer troops at a time, annually, in each of the big camps of instructions.

TWO ARE DROWNED IN ONTONAGON RIVER.

Ontonagon, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ontonagon was the scene of two drowning accidents Sunday and Monday, the victims being Oscar Wester, aged 19 years, who was caught in a whirlpool while swimming in the Ontonagon river Sunday afternoon and drawn to his death, and David P. Russ, aged 33, a member of a search party seeking Wester's body, who, like the other victim, was overcome by the powerful whirlpool rapids and drowned before assistance could reach him.

TO SUCCEED FUNSTON.

San Francisco, June 25.—The Examiner today says: Col. Marion P. Maus, commanding the Twentieth infantry, which is stationed at the Presidio at Monterey, was designated by the war department yesterday as temporary successor of Brig.-Gen. Frederick Funston as commander of the department of California, when the latter shall be transferred to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Aug. 10.

WILL CANCEL ALL PASSES

Railroads May Not Issue Passes to Steamship Officials.

Chicago, June 25.—In pursuance of the interstate commerce commission's ruling, the Western railroads have decided to cancel all passes issued to officials and representatives of steamship companies. This means that all interchange of the courtesy of free transportation will cease between the steamship companies and the Western roads. It is thought that the example of the Western roads will be followed by all other lines.

At the conference which was held to consider the question, the weight of opinion was that the commission had exceeded its authority in ordering the railroads to cease giving passes to representatives of steamship lines, but that it would not be worth while to contest the matter in the courts.

Surprise was expressed that the commission should on the one hand assume jurisdiction over steamship companies as common carriers, whenever the latter, in connection with a railroad company, made an interstate shipment, but, on the other hand, should rule that the railroads could not exchange transportation with them.

The ruling affects many railroad organizations. All of the general passenger agents of the steamship lines are members of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, and attend their annual conventions. In fact, it has been the steamship passenger men who have kept the association alive. They are also members of the Central Passenger association, and have an equal voice with the railroads. In connection with the railroads they form through lines of passenger and freight transportation and many of the steamship companies are owned by the railroads themselves as subsidiary companies. Owing to the assumption by the commission of jurisdiction over the steamship lines in case of through interstate shipments in connection with a railroad, the steamship men have in the majority of cases complied with the pass provision of the Hepburn act.

STILLWATER'S PRINCIPAL.

Miss Fuller, Formerly of Mankato, Has Been Engaged.

Stillwater, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education has elected Miss Caroline Fuller principal of the high school. She was formerly at Mankato in a similar position for nine years and is highly recommended. Miss Kathleen McDonald, who has recently been in Chicago, but was formerly at Grand Forks, N. D., has been chosen to teach shorthand, type writing and other features of the commercial course. S. T. Freer of Austin was chosen as teacher of science.

There remains a vacancy in the high school corps and Supt. W. H. Hollands was authorized to select one that the board has in mind.

The resignation of Miss Helen Clark as a grade teacher was accepted. She is going West. There remain a few grade positions to be filled.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS TO MEET AT ASHLAND.

Menomonie, Wis., June 24.—The state Christian Endeavor union will hold its annual convention at Ashland, July 9-12. The Rev. Lathrop C. Grant, pastor of the First Congregational church of Menomonie, is its president and will make an address. One thousand delegates are expected.

STEPHEN BANK ROBBER SUSPECTS INDICTED.

Warren, Minn., June 25.—District court is in session here with Judge A. Grindeland presiding. E. F. Whitney, a druggist of this city, arrested on a charge of criminal assault, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years at Stillwater.

The Stephen bank robber suspects were indicted and trial set for July 7. The state seems confident of conviction.

OLD HOWARD LAKE MAN IS KILLED BY A BULL.

THE DEMOCRATIC FILIBUSTER.

The Republican party was disingenuous and unusually maladroit when it sought, in its platform, to lay the blame for the failure of congress to meet the expectations of the people upon the Democratic minority in the lower branch.

It had better by far have refrained from mentioning congress at all than to have called attention to the weakest point in the defenses of the party by this transparent device. A comparison of the original draft of the platform with the finished product as it was turned out by the resolutions committee shows some faint appreciation of this fact. The original draft flatly ascribed the failure of congress to enact needed legislation to the "indefensible filibustering of the Democratic minority." The completed platform seeks to convey the same impression, but does it more cautiously by stating that such legislation as did result came "notwithstanding" the "indefensible filibustering."

In the first place, that filibustering was designed to call the attention of the people to the determination of the Republican majority not to enact any more legislation than it could help, and in this it was successful.

In the second place, no amount of filibustering, even if it had been deliberately intended to obstruct legislation—which this clearly was not because there was no intention on the part of the Republican majority to pass any legislation, and it was not trying to pass any—could excuse the failure of congress to enact necessary legislation. This was not the short session, whose life ended at a fixed and early date; it was the "long session," which has no limit at all, and which has several times been prolonged as late as October. There is no legal reason why it could not have been prolonged until the time came in December for the beginning of the short session. If the Republican majority had been bent upon enacting useful legislation, which is rather a ludicrous and far-fetched assumption, and the Democratic minority had been bent upon defeating that legislation, which is also absurd because the Republican majority offered no legislation to be defeated and permitted none to get upon the floor, the session would have been prolonged until the Democrats were tired out and the Republicans won, if it took until Christmas to do it.

During the session Republican Leader Payne, forcasting the attempt to be made during the campaign, accused the minority of simply "carping and criticising." Minority Leader Williams, who was in charge of the filibuster but who had just permitted the passage of the child labor law without obstruction, and who promised to do the same for any other progressive legislation that might be permitted to come upon the floor, replied by calling upon the Republican floor manager to use his all-powerful leadership at once to pass a bill securing publicity for campaign contributions and also an anti-injunction bill.

"My leadership is powerless," said Williams. "Here stand I, who have no power to do anything save to criticize, save to suggest, save to nag, save to try to arouse a public opinion that will force others to act."

That was the aim of the filibuster, and that was its effect. It called attention to the failure of the majority to act, and reference to it in the Republican platform only emphasizes that failure.

A DISGRACEFUL CONDITION.

Yesterday a man suffering from diphtheria and scarlet fever was removed from a local hospital and placed in a tent on the pesthouse grounds.

This is another concrete evidence of how desperately this community is in need of a city hospital for contagious diseases, and if any further impulse is necessary, it should add speed to the processes of the city authorities who are now endeavoring to arrange for the building of one.

It is perhaps the fault of nobody in particular that Duluth still lacks this necessary institution, and is probably more due to that law of their being which makes public bodies move slowly even in case of immediate need. But just the same it is a shameful thing that in a city of this size it is necessary to put a patient suffering from a dangerous disease into a tent in the open air. The season is warm, and probably the experience will involve no harm to the patient, but the same necessity is constantly arising in seasons when this device is absolutely impracticable. There is no place in the city where a scarlet fever patient may be placed so that the danger of contagion to others will be eliminated and the patient given suitable care.

When the situation is so desperate that it is necessary to put patients in tents, it should require very serious obstacles indeed to induce the city authorities having the projected city hospital in charge to pause a single moment in their work.

THE FATAL FOURTH.

The glorious Fourth of July approaches, and thoughts of the mighty significance that attaches to the day, of the splendid memories it revives, and of the lofty principles of freedom that it celebrates are drowned in mental shudders of apprehension about the number of young lives that will be offered up as sacrifices to the fashion of observance that we have come to give this day.

In five national birthdays, from 1903 to 1907 inclusive, Fourth of July accidents killed 1,153 people and injured 22,250 more!

Of the injured, 80 suffered total blindness and 389 partial blindness; 380 persons lost arms, legs or hands, and 1,670 lost one or more fingers. A pretty penny this, to pay for celebrations of an anniversary so holy.

Nor do these figures begin to express the cost. Think of the suffering, both physical and mental, which figures cannot express! Think of the weeks and often months of anguish for the injured, the worry and grief—not to speak of the expense—occasioned parents, friends and relatives. Think of the horrors of being doomed to blindness for the rest of one's life, of the saddened families in which the places of loved ones are made vacant, of the poverty and want that may now be resulting from the removal of the supports of families.

Noise isn't patriotism, though it has often been mistaken for it. That is a curious thing, too, because there isn't necessarily the slightest resemblance. Yet these lost lives and these shattered limbs were sacrificed in the interests of a noisy Fourth, when a quiet, thoughtful Fourth would be far more in keeping with the spirit of the day.

What can be done about it? Not a great deal, but something. For one thing, those who believe that the cost of noisy celebrations is too great can do much to bring public sentiment to that belief if they will keep on talking about it. It takes a lot of talk to change public sentiment, but talk is cheap, everybody has lots of it, and it couldn't be laid out in a more worthy cause than this.

For another thing, laws may be passed that will curb, in some measure, the dangers of the day. For instance, this state has a law, passed at the last session of the legislature, which makes it a misdemeanor to make, use, sell or keep for sale certain dangerous weapons of celebration, as follows: Blank cartridge pistols, blank cartridge revolvers or other blank cartridge firearms, blank cartridges, caps containing dynamite, and firecrackers exceeding three inches in length and one-half inch in diameter.

This helps some; a great deal, in fact. There will be many who will contend that the law should go even farther, and forbid the use of any sort of explosives whatever. There would be real and serious objection to this from the small boy, and perhaps from larger people whose tastes have not developed beyond the small boy stage; but no harm to the Fourth of July as an institution, no disrespect to the memories of the patriot fathers, no failure of patriotism whatever, would result u law and public opinion made the Fourth as quiet and as orderly as a New England Sunday.

BURYING THE WIRES.

An article in The Herald last evening regarding the manner in which the electric light and telephone companies are getting rid of their poles and putting their wires underground offered great encouragement to those who like to let their imaginations dwell upon that coming time when the old-fashioned forest of poles and tangle of wires shall have disappeared forever.

It can't be done all at once, of course, but the apparent disposition of the local public utility corporations to get about the work as speedily as may be is very encouraging, and it promises that the time when it will be completed will not be very far in the future.

It cannot come too quickly for the convenience, the safety and the comfort of the city. At the very best, these overhead wires, with their unsightly poles, form a blot upon the beauty of picturesque Duluth. They are not only awkward and unpleasant to look at, but they contain many elements of danger. Wires of high voltage very often run upon the same poles as those of low voltage with which any citizen is likely to come in contact. The possibilities of what might happen if by any accident the dangerous wires become crossed with the safe ones are fearful to contemplate.

Ultimately, of course, there will not be a wire or a pole in sight in any progressive city in the country. It involves much trouble and expense to do away with the poles and bury the wires, but it is going to be done. Public sentiment and public necessity require it, and while the authorities will probably not be unduly oppressive in urging along the process, the faster it goes the better it will be for everybody.

A SMALLER LABOR SUPPLY.

One thing to be reckoned with when the tide of returning business and industrial activity, which is already on its way, reaches anything like the height of a year ago, is the fact that there are a good many less laborers in the country than there were then.

When prosperity was at its height, before it felt the chill that blew from Wall street, there was no over-supply of labor. Indeed, in most parts there was a labor shortage. It is true that in the large cities, where surplus labor always tends to congest, there were idle and hungry men at the very moment that employers all over the country were complaining of a scarcity of labor, but that is always the case. Speaking generally, there was no more labor than the country needed.

Then came the fall freeze-up of business, which continued during the winter and brought on a wide scarcity of employment in place of the previous scarcity of labor.

The immediate result was that thousands of immigrant laborers went home, and they have been going home ever since. During the first five months of this year 300,000 more steerage passengers left the United States in steamers bound for Europe than went away in the same period of 1907. Agents of various lines catering to this business report that emigration is increasing. They say that May's record of 75,000 bids fair to be passed this month.

A few days ago when a ship bound for Europe sailed from New York, it carried its full steerage capacity of 2,000 souls, and it left behind 1,000 more who had tickets for that boat, bought mostly in the interior, and who had to get along as best they might until the next boat of that line departed. It was a good deal of a problem for many who had little more than enough money to pay their way on an immediate passage, and it was necessary to allow many of them to sleep in the parks.

At the same time, there has been going on a sharp falling off in the immigration figures, so that when industry resumes its full swing it will be some little time, in all probability, before it is supplied with laborers enough to meet its demands.

So far, there is nothing but good in this situation. The departure of several hundred thousands of laborers from this country will relieve the situation here tremendously. Idle labor is a very embarrassing problem always, and one not to be solved by the hazardous and doubtful remedy of charity. It could hardly be solved in a better way than by the exportation of the surplus, which has been going on ever since the panic.

Up to June 1 only 166,000 immigrants had been received this year against a total of 600,000 in the same period of 1907. The net loss up to that date was about 232,000 for the year, without considering the loss of the earlier winter months.

When business is resumed to such an extent as to require more labor, the tide of immigration will turn again, and thus demand and supply will tend to keep fairly level.

If the weather man keeps this weather up till after circus day, the small boy will forgive him much.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

William H. McClean, who was at the Spalding hotel yesterday, hails from the South. Mr. McClean was perhaps the most surprised man in Duluth yesterday when he beheld the Finnish parade. He did not know that in the Northern states there was such a large settlement of foreigners. That the people of an alien race could make such a demonstration on one of their national holidays came as an eye-opener to the gentleman from the South.

Mr. McClean was equally surprised at the display of red flags in the procession. That such a demonstration would be tolerated by the police was a thing that Mr. McClean was at a loss to account for.

"Down South—aside, of course, from the colored race—we have no large number of foreigners gathered in our industrial centers," said Mr. McClean. "Of late years the laborers of foreign birth have been coming to the South in larger numbers. But as yet we have no such numbers as you have in the North, if I may take this large representation as typical of other industrial centers of the North.

"Another thing that surprises me is that you should tolerate the carrying of red flags. When I saw the first red flag in the parade I did not understand its significance. I asked someone standing near me what was the meaning of the red flag, and he informed me of its socialistic significance.

"I believe that the South is less affected by socialism than are other sections of the country. The reason is, I believe, because we have fewer laborers of foreign birth. But I don't believe that the carrying of a red flag in a public parade would be tolerated in the South.

"The industrial conditions of the South are improving and the promise for better business conditions is very bright. Many of the mills that were forced to shut down during the money stringency have resumed operations. General business has improved, and I believe that in every business conditions are better at the present time than they were two months ago."

The St. Louis was crowded to the soft yesterday, as a result of the visit of the Finnish societies. The Spalding was crowded also, the headquarters of the mining convention being there. Both the Lenox and the McKay showed full registers as a result of the many out-of-town visitors who were attracted here.

It is seldom that a finer-looking body of men are gathered together than those composing the Lake Superior Mining institute. A group effect was made yesterday in the lobby of the Spalding, just before the visitors started on the trip of inspection of the Northern power plant. There were Eastern men, Western men, and men from the Southwest. They all bore the stamp of accomplishment and had the appearance of men who are making industrial history in the great mining sections of the country.

Capt. O. H. Dockery of the United States army was telling at the Lenox hotel of the pride among the army officers over the nomination of Secretary Taft as a candidate for president.

"You can say for me," said the captain, "that the army is thoroughly pleased over the selection of Taft as the Republican candidate for president. We of the army know that he is a big man. We know that he has never failed in the tasks that have been placed before him. Those of us who have been in the Philippines realize what a huge task was set before Mr. Taft. Those of us who were there know how well he completed the arduous duties that he found waiting him.

"Secretary Taft is the biggest man that was ever at the head of the war department. He has done more for the department than any other department chief. He has instituted reforms that will be lasting in their effects, and he was greatly responsible for the increase in the pay of the soldiers and officers of the army.

"Those of us who have had an opportunity to meet the secretary and have had an opportunity to learn some of the inner details of his work in connection with the army, have the most profound respect for his ability. Personally, I believe that Secretary Taft is one of the best trained men that could possibly be selected for the office of president.

"Taft is a jovial, pleasant, lovable kind of a man. His good nature is amazing. But he is at the same time one of the most firm men I have ever seen. I was in the Philippines when he was governor of the islands, and know that his firmness and executive ability are not rendered less firm by his jovial good nature.

"You can be sure that Mr. Taft has the backing of the army, and that the men of the army are heartily pleased over the nomination of a man who has accomplished so much for it."

THE WEATHER.

It would be hard to beat this weather. With other cities sweltering in temperatures in the high 80s and 90s, Duluth's highest yesterday was 71 degs. and last night it got down to the comfortable temperature of 51 degs. giving everybody a night's rest. This morning it was clear, bright and brilliant, with a promise of rather warmer weather tonight and tomorrow.

A year ago today it was clear, warm and charming.

The sun rose this morning at 4:14 and sets tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 53 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Temperatures continue high east and south from the Ohio valley, but the warmth has moderated somewhat over the latter district due to the advancing high pressure in Middle Western states. Slight barometric depressions overlie New England coast states. Arizona and Alberta. These disturbances caused light showers over scattered areas of Manitoba, Ontario, the Western Lake region, Atlantic and Gulf states during the past twenty-four hours. Temperatures are rising again in Western districts. A continuance of fine weather is indicated for this locality tonight and Friday."

North Dakota—Fair tonight and probably Friday; warmer tonight.

Upper Lakes—Light variable winds tonight and Friday. Fair weather.

SUNNY GEMS.

Chicago Tribune: Confidential Friend—But look at the possibilities of the vice presidential position.

Eminent Statesman—Possibilities! Look at Taft! Did you ever see a man as aggressively healthy as he is?

Baltimore American: She—(eyeing the refreshment booth)—Dearest, while we are waiting for the train, don't you think it would be a good idea to take something?

He—Yes, darling; and since it is such a beautiful night, let's take a walk.

Washington Star: "People says that you are a tool of the trusts."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "you've got to take your choice between being called that or a demagogue."

Catholic Standard and Times: "Ah! my love," sighed the ardent lover, "if you only knew how beautiful you are!"

"You mustn't speak of it," protested the modest girl; "I don't want to know."

"Why not?"

"Because," she said, "it would make me too conceited."

Chicago Tribune: Tommy—Paw, what is "Roosevelt luck?"

Mr. Tucker—Roosevelt luck, my son, is the rare faculty of knowing how to make things come your way.

Washington Star: "Suppose women should vote. What would be the result?"

"Oh, I don't know," answered Mr. Sirius Barker, petulantly. "Perhaps we'd have hand-painted ballots."

Yonkers Statesman: Mrs. Bacon—Thts paper says that a man's hair turns gray about five years earlier than a woman's.

Mr. Bacon—That is because a man wears his hair all the time.

Chicago Tribune: Reporter—The burglar got $45 in cash and $100 worth of jewelry, did he? I suppose, of course, he missed a whole lot more by not going into the next room?

Victim—You bet he did! If he'd gone into the next room and waked the baby I'd have given him the worst thrashing he ever had in his life.

Louisville Courier-Journal: "I don't know her, but I mean to know her before the day is over."

"Beware. You are on thin ice."

"Then it will be all the easier to break it."

Baltimore American: "I never met such a dyed-in-the-wool pessimist as Bangs."

"Is he so bad as all that?"

"Why, he is worrying over the forestry question because he is afraid that the depletion of our woods will leave us in the near future without available presidential timber or lumber for good platform planks."

Philadelphia Press: May—O! yes, she's crazy about the men; she's a girl of single idea.

Jack—Of course; every single girl has a single idea and that is to remain single no longer than is absolutely necessary.

Song of a Lazy Man.

When the sun's as hot as blazes,
That's the time a poor man lazes
In the shade;
When he simply will not worry
And you couldn't make him hurry,
I'm afraid.

And he lounges there a-dreaming,
Just too blooming tired for scheming
Plans that irk.
While his little mate is singing,
Glad of heart is blithely singing
At her work.

Can you frame a situation
That can beat this combination—
Slothful ease
And the liberty of doing
With no thought of trouble brewing,
As you please?

Oh, I think I could be happy,
Never cross and never scrappy
With a wife
Who would be a willing worker
And would let me play the shirker
All my life!

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Shortly after noon today, Benjamin Harrison of Indiana was nominated for president by the Republican national convention at Chicago. The nomination was made on the eighth ballot, which resulted: Harrison, 544; Alger, 100; Sherman, 118; Blaine, 5; McKinley, 4; Gresham, 59. Levi P. Morton of New York will probably be nominated for vice president.

St. Jean Baptiste society had its gala day today, in honor of the saint from whom it is named. The members to the number of about 100 marched to the hall, headed by the fine French cornet band. It was intended to hold a picnic at Spirit lake, but because of the log jam in the river that was given up.

The new press for the Paragrapher has arrived, and Bede will soon get out a daily edition of his amusing Democratic, Prohibition, West end paper.

John Brandt, who formerly lived in Duluth, and who helped to build the old Clark house, together with Alfred Barkdohl, Mr. and Mrs. Nils Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bergstrom and Miss Johnson, all of Minneapolis, are guests of Dr. Pearson and Mrs. J. F. Erickson.

The Normanalaget is the name of the new Norwegian benefit society and social club, which was finally organized last night, with headquarters at Thomas Culbentson's new hall, at the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The officers are: Ole Stenson, president; R. Mola, secretary; S. A. Siverts, treasurer; T. N. Erickson, toastmaster; Prof. G. Tonning and Messrs. Culbentson and Tufte, trustees.

Farmer Swapp of Hermantown has had hard luck. He took out about $100 worth of provisions to his farm just before the floods came and, having stored them in the house, returned to town to bring his family. When he reached the farm again, he found his whole premises under water and all his supplies destroyed.

Thomas Vigars of this city has opened a real estate office in Port Arthur, to be in time for the promised boom in the Canadian town.

The contract for George H. Claypool's fine residence in Myers' Park division was let to B. F. Shanley. The house will cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

Work on the Michigan street contract, which was let to Wolf & Truax for $167,000, will be begun next week. The contract price is very low, being $15,000 below the estimates of the city engineer.

Carl Thiel and Herman Heinze have returned from the annual session of the state Turner societies at New Ulm. There were fully 1,500 Turners and their wives present. It was decided to hold the next session of the Turnfest in Duluth in June, 1890, when it is expected there will be between 2,000 and 2,500 Turners in the city.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Wheelock's Weekly: We invite the attention of the Democratic party of Minnesota to the life, the work and the abilities of T. J. Knox of Jackson, if the party is looking for a candidate for governor who will fully fill the place which Governor Johnson will vacate next January.

Ortonville Herald Star: A bank deposit guarantee law is coming, and it will be worth more to the people than a county option law.

Two Harbors Iron Trade Journal: The thousands who have gathered at the Chicago convention this week are not more enthusiastic than the thousands that will gather at Denver next month.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: Running for the legislature is no snap this summer. If a man buys a round of drinks he has the wrath of the Anti-Saloon league on his head. If he doesn't buy, the rest of them will call him a cheap skate. Now, what is a poor candidate to do?

Hendrum Review: Clover, only a few years ago regarded as too tender a plant for the climate here, is now one of the regular crops on fully one-fourth of all the farms in the Red River valley. Alfalfa is being successfully grown here and we expect to see it as popular as clover in another five years. Lands in other states that grow good crops of clover and alfalfa are worth up to $200 per acre.

Fairmont Sentinel: There is a vast difference between Jacobson, the roaring lion of the old days, and Jacobson, the silent clam of the present day.—Perham Enterprise.

Very true; but in this campaign Jake is being "managed" and the wise guys in politics say his managers are strictly on to their job. Hats off to Bobby Dunn!

Walker Pilot: We will get an idea of what the state thinks of county option when the Republican convention grapples with Joel Heatwole's candidacy on July 1.

Isanti News: Some of the members of congress have suddenly abandoned the idea that "nothing should be done before election" and are doing some hustling in an effort to hold their jobs.

Warroad Plaindealer: If there was less "party" talk, and more "people" talk, there would be more listeners and more attention. The people are sick and tired of hearing of nothing but "the party," and "the party" has come to mean to them merely a few fellows who want office and the chance for graft incident to public position. The appeal to "stand by the party" has lost its effect with the voters. The people don't care a cuss for the party; what they want is results; and when they find "the party" following Joe Cannon down the Aldrich-Morgan lane they are liable to hike right by on the main pike.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A very dishonest thing about a woman who is married for her money is not to have it.

One of the most satisfactory things about having a big family is that it isn't any bigger.

A woman can love a man because some other one does when she could hate him under ordinary circumstances.

When a man tells the exact truth about what time it is when he comes home late it makes his wife suspicious of where he was.

About as mean a trick as your poor relatives that you have looked down on can play is to make money and then do it to you.

The Editor Enjoyed It.

Baltimore Sun: As every one knows, the manufacture of a mint julep is even more difficult than the cultivation of the mint. The art, indeed, seems to require a certain natural aptitude or genius, without which the most laborious study goes for naught. There are cases on record of men who have spent years in practice and experiment and then given up to despair. Not a few, overwhelmed by mortification and disappointment, have attempted self-destruction. Even the ingestion, or drinking of a mint julep cannot be properly achieved without thought and training. The novice pours the ethereal juices into his system in a hasty and vulgar manner, and so loses nearly all of the flavor. He grows intoxicated and disorderly, and brings disgrace upon a difficult art. The true connoisseur approached the operation in a more dignified and gentlemanly way. The green heart's blood of the fragrant mint, coursing upward through the golden straw, leaps softly upon his palate and makes it vibrate like an aeolian harp. A few playful drops leaking upon his mustache and goatee there glitter and gleam in the sunshine like priceless emeralds. Flashes of rising pink chase themselves across his enraptured face. His lips curve into a smile of delight. His eyes beam with ecstacy. He is happy.

A NEW SITE IS DESIRED

School Board Would Not Build on the Mann Grounds.

Alderman Olson Makes Plea for Retention of Old Lots.

Despite protestations from Alderman Peter Olson of the Seventh ward, who declared he spoke for a majority of the residents of the district, the board of education, at a special meeting held late yesterday afternoon, decided that the new Horace Mann school should be located south and east of the present frame structure which the West end hillside residents are so anxious to see replaced by a new brick affair.

The board's decision in the matter found expression in the joint report presented by the committee on the maintenance of buildings and grounds and the committee on schools and teachers. The report was adopted after a little discussion.

The question of whether the city can afford to build a new schoolhouse in the Mann district, and where it should be located, has been perplexing the school directors and worrying the residents of the district in question for some time past. It was primarily to provide time for a thorough investigation of the question that the matter was held off so long.

A majority of the school directors do not deem it wise to build the new schoolhouse on the site of the present one. The joint committee report brought this out, and instructed the committee on buildings and grounds to look around at once for a more suitable site. It was also taken as the sense of the meeting that the buildings and grounds and schools and teachers' committees get together between now and the time for the next regular meeting, which will be held on the first Friday in July, and prepare plans for an eight-room building, to be presented at the July meeting.

Alderman Olson was the only resident of the Horace Mann district to appear before the board yesterday, but he had no hesitancy in giving the members his views, and in telling them what he believed the wishes of his neighbors were. He declared that if yesterday's meeting had been held in the evening instead of the afternoon, the board room would have been packed with West enders anxious to impress the board with their desire to have a new school, and their anxiety to retain the present location, Twenty-third avenue west and Tenth street.

The alderman from the Seventh grew quite eloquent a she talked to the board. He strongly urged them to build in the Horace Mann district; to do it at once, and to use the present grounds. He intimated that if the board members did not do this, they were allowing themselves to be "bossed" by one member.

President Codding asked Mr. Olson where he lived and when the alderman replied his residence was located across the street from the present Mann building, he added that he was fighting for the old site because he believed it was the best one that could be secured.

Director Moe, who as a member of the committee on schools, signed the report recommending a new location, admitted at the same time that he thought the wishes of the residents of the district should be given due consideraion. He also urged that every possible effort be made to have the new building erected at once, wherever it was located. Director Stevens also said that work should be rushed as much as possible.

The buildings and grounds committee presented a report embodying bids which had been secured for repairs on the different schools during the vacation months. There were several bidders for every job and almost without exception, they were awarded to the lowest bidder. Most of the work is painting and tinting, and while in the aggregate means the expenditure of a large sum is necessary, it is work that is always carried on where needed during the summer, when school is not in session.

P. A. Falstad was given the contract for the erection of the new coal house at the Endion school and Alder & Duplaise will make the alterations at the Irving building in West Duluth, to permit an enlargement of the manual training department. Mr. Falstad's bid was $945 and Alder & Duplaise will do the work at the Irving building for $938.

Bishop McGolrick and B. Silberstein were present at the session as representatives of the park board. They said they wanted the co-operation of the board of education in the public playgrounds movement and suggested that the board appoint a committee of three to act with the other committees which have the playground movement in hand. President Codding assured them of the co-operation of the board. He said, however, that at this time, practically the only thing the board could do was to appoint the committee. The committeemen were not named yesterday, however.

A Lively Selling of Shoes.

A thorough practical demonstration of the enterprizing methods of merchandising, typical of "The Glass Block Store," was shown on this, the first day of a three-day stock-clearing, room-making sale.

Here the workman, grimy with the honest sweat of toil, rubbed elbows with the bustling man of business, and the man of leisure. There, the mother, with her brood of husky little shoe-spoilers, and "Milady," in her dainty summery costume—a thorough cosmopolitan crowd, all bent toward the one object, the purchase of dependable footwear at money-saving prices.

Everywhere was bustle and activity, everywhere the evidence of appreciation shown by the people for the values offered.

The sale itself is a stock-clearing one. All shoes, of which there are not full sizes; all broken lots; all styles, in all leathers, are being cleared out, to make room for shipments of new midsummer styes. Immense values are offered in men's women's and children' seasonable shoes, at prices one-half and less than regular! Two days more. Friday and Saturday, and if the business keeps up for the last two days, as begun today, the "room-making" will be an accomplished fact.

BUILDING NEW MACHINE SHOP

Barnett & Record have started work on their contract to build an $8,000 machine shop for the Consolidated Elevator company, close beside Elevator C.

The structure is to be strictly fireproof, with hollow tile roof, metallic window casing, concrete floors, etc. The building will be a pumpinghouse as well as a machine shop, and in case of fire in any of the structures near at hand, will be of valuable assistance. Even though there is fire all around, the engineer will be able to stick to his post and keep the fire pumps working.

Trying a Hook.

There is not perhaps anything more trying to the average angler's peace of mind than to find, after hooking and holding his fish, that his prize has been lost to him owing to the drawing of the hook. There is surely nothing more trying to the average sportsman than to find at lunch time that he is far from the water supply. If he has wisely provided a few bottles of golden grain belt beer for the expedition, this inconvenience need not be felt. Don't forget to include a few bottles with your supplies. Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

Floodwood Liquor Cases Will be Tried in September.

Oscar Raubala and Peter Koski of Floodwood, bartenders, who were indicted and convicted for selling liquor to Axel Makineh, a minor, March 1 last, appeared before Judge Ensign for sentence this morning.

The court sentenced each defendant to pay a fine of $50, with imprisonment in the county jail for a period of thirty days. The jail sentence was then suspended by Judge Ensign. It is understood that the young men will pay their fine. Neither one of the defendants are now engaged in the saloon business. They quit tending bar shortly after the occurrence in which their indictments were based. This fact is understood to have had some influence with the court is suspending the jail sentence.

It was expected that the case of the state against Oscar Tingren and Mat Hohall, proprietors of the saloon in which Makineh is said to have purchased his liquor, would be tried today, but when an attempt was made to secure a jury it was found that twenty-four of the thirty jurors left on the panel have already sat in the cases against Raubala and Koski, the bartenders from Floodwood, and have formed and expressed an opinion as to the age of Makineh. Under the circumstances, it was thought to be an injustice to compel the defense to go to trial with a jury whose minds were already made up, so the court continued over the term this case and all the remaining cases against Floodwood saloon men. There are about six other cases against Floodwood liquor dealers for violating the state liquor laws.

Tingren and Hohall were represented by Victor A. Gran and W. E. Whipple.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood, Ind., "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

IS WRESTLER DEAD?

London, June 25.—An unconfirmed report is in circulation here that George Hackenschmidt, the ex-champion wrestler, is dead. Hackenschmidt has been in a hospital at Aix la Chappelle, where an operation was performed on one of his knees.

TO ATTEND THE FUNERAL

Oyster Bay, L. I., June 25.—President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt will leave Oyster Bay at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on a special train for Princeton, N. J., to attend the funeral of Grover Cleveland.

The president remained quietly at home this morning, receiving no one except Secretary Loeb, who drove up from the executive offices at 11 a. m., taking with him only such business as required the president's immediate attention. No callers were expected today by Mr. Roosevelt.

Princeton, N. J.—The death mask of the former president was taken yesterday. Soon as death occurred, Mrs. Cleveland sent for Edwin Wilson, a sculptor connected with Princeton university, and requested him to take the mask. Mr. Wilson is working on it today.

While no list of pallbearers has been given out, it is said that the following persons have been asked to serve:

Paul Morton, Commodore E. C. Benedict, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Prof. John G. Hibbins, Prof. Andrew F. West and Dr. John F. Finley.

It is understood that the Rev. Dr. Richards of New York, a Presbyterian minister and friend of the family, has been invited to conduct the services tomorrow. If he is unable to come to Princeton, one of the local Presbyterian ministers is likely to have charge of the services.

Excursion to Cleveland.

South Shore railroad will sell excursion tickets to Cleveland, June 24 and 26, account N. E. A. convention. Round trip, $17.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MORE MONEY FOR DITCHES

State Auditor Favors Considerable Increase in Amount Expended.

Says $100,000 Should be Spent in Northern Minnesota.

Crookston, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—State Auditor Samuel Iverson and his clerk, Theo Nelson, returned last evening from Warren and Hallock, where they have been for the past few days conducting state land sales, and left this morning for Roseau, where another sale will be held. The north line sales were very good, many people wanting more Valley soil. In speaking of conditions, Mr. Iverson said:

"The state has previously spent $25,000 on drainage projects in Northern Minnesota and $50,000 more is being expended on the Roseau river and other ditch projects now under construction.

"However, I have been convinced during the present trip that at least $100,000 should be appropriated by the state for drainage work in Northern Minnesota, and if this is done, as I believe it will be, at least 400,000 acres of land belonging to the state will be reclaimed and make as fine land for agriculture as can be found within the confines of the entire state.

"There has been a vast amount of drainage work done in the past few years in this part of the state, but more is needed, and every dollar invested in drainage ditches is well spent and will bring forth a return of a hundred fold."

LYCEUM THEATER SOLD.

Well-Known Minneapolis Playhouse Has Changed Hands.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lae Stafford sold the Lyceum theater yesterday to W. W. Wittig, the well-known theatrical man. The consideration was $128,000. Mr. Wittig will entirely remodel the interior of the building, rearrange the seating plan and virtually make a new theater. When reopened it will be christened the Lyric theater.

The sale carries with it not only the entire Lyceum property, but two pieces of land in the rear which will provide a large area and connection fourteen feet wide to First avenue north. The deal also includes the leasehold of a barn adjoining on the south side, which is to be removed at the first opportunity, to provide for more exits.

There will be two emergency exits in the rear and two on the south, which, with the three on the north, will make the house one of the safest in the country.

CIRCUS EMPLOYES HURT.

Their Train Collides With Freight in St. Paul—Several Hurt.

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—A freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road ran into the first section of Hagenbeck & Wallace circus trains in the Chestnut street yards shortly after midnight Wednesday seriously injuring eight circus employes and bruising about twenty. The eight most seriously injured are now in the city hospital. The seriously injured are:

Earl Williams, F. S. Sutton, John McKenzie, George Davis, Charles Young, Thomas Dunn and C. F. Layfield.

The train was coming in on the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road and was passing through the local yards when it was struck by the freight train, which was going down grade.

The circus train was hit square in the middle. Flat cars in the front part of the train were crushed and also one coach in which 160 men slept. All were workmen about the circus, no performers being in the car. The circus was en route from New Richmond, Wis., to Mankato, Minn.

PUT BOUNTY ON CROWS.

Red Lake County Offers Ten Cents Per Head for Them.

Thief River Falls, June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners of Red Lake county have adopted a novel and, apparently, successful method of ridding the farms in the county of the great number of crows that infest this territory. They have placed a bounty of 10 cents per head on the birds, and every shotgun in the section is doing execution with the crows. As many as fifty have been killed by a good shot in one day, and strings of twenty to thirty are very common. This bounty will continue until the nesting season is over, which will be about the 1st to the 10th of July. It is claimed that these birds are the greatest enemy that the prairie chicken has, as it robs the nests of eggs, which has been proven by the large number of egg shells that many of the hunters find under the crow's nests.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Duluth.

Most Duluth people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Duluth cures prove it.

W. W. Scott, operator on the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, and living at 126 Sixty-sixth Ave., west, Duluth, Minn., says: "I have already recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. I told in the statement made in 1898 how I had suffered with dull aching pains through the loins and kidneys. From the constant sitting position required in my work my back became so lame and sore that I could scarcely straighten. The kidney secretions were irregular and annoying. At times severe headaches would strike me and I was feeling worse than ever when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice. I began using them, and as I have stated, in my previous testimonial, they so thoroughly regulated the kidneys, removed the backaches, headaches, pains and weakness that I have felt like a different man. I have never had a return of any of these symptoms and have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills again and again."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THREATEN HIM WITH LYNCHING

Tenstrike Man Accused of Dastardly Assault Upon Young Girl.

Tenstrike, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with having assaulted Hazel Kruger, a 9-year-old girl of this village, Justin Stoddard is confined in the village jail here, with an angry populace threatening to lynch him.

Stoddard is said to have accosted the young girl as she was returning to her home, near Gull lake, from a trip to the postoffice, about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, and attacked her.

Carl Holuptzok, who was passing the place where the girl lay at about 8 o'clock, heard a faint cry and found the girl in an unconscious condition, with her face terribly bruised and her clothes badly torn. Holuptzok took the girl to her home and came to the village and told of the assault of the girl. A crowd of men was organized, and all suspicious parties were arrested.

Between 9:30 and 10 o'clock Tuesday night, Stoddard, who poses as a detective, was chased to his home, at Spur 106, and arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fred Wilson and Ed Leonard. He was brought to the village and lodged in the jail, where he is held to await identification by the girl. She has not yet sufficiently recovered to pronounce judgment of Stoddard.

It is said that Stoddard was seen running from the place where the girl was found Tuesday night, and that when he arrived home he changed his clothes.

CO-EDUCATION TO REMAIN.

Norwegian Lutherans Decide to Continue Custom at St. Olaf.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Co-education will be continued at St. Olaf college in both the college and academic departments. This decision was reached by the United Norwegian Lutheran church convention, after a heated debate.

This action by the convention settles a question that has been puzzling the members of the United church for over ten years. Arguments for and against the admittance of women students at St. Olaf have been taken up by Scandinavian newspapers and this, coupled with the present agitation against the new $60,000 women's hall, finally brought things to such a pass that a crisis was inevitable. This came after President Kildahl of St. Olaf college, in a forceful debate, addressed the delegates for over an hour on the convention floor.

HURT BEATING HIS WAY.

Young Man Riding in Box Car Gets Severe Shaking.

Moorhead, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Hacken, 19 years of age, who was beating his way on Northern Pacific freight No. 51, from Minneapolis to Carrington, N. D., was caught in a small wreck at Muskado and injured. He was brought to the Darrow hospital Monday evening. He claims that he cannot stand upon his feet, but the attending physician does not believe that he is severely injured.

Hacken was put off the train at Hawley, but got into a box car loaded with ties, and proceeded on his way. But when the train reached Muskoda the car left the track and tipped over, and a number of ties fell upon Hacken. The real extent of his injuries will develop later.

DROWNS IN RED RIVER.

Five-Year-Old Moorhead Boy Swept Away While Fishing.

Moorhead, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edgard Swanson, the 5-year-old son of Christ Swenson, a carpenter living here, was drowned in the Red river, Tuesday afternoon. The boy, with a young son of Thomas Nygaard, was fishing on the bank of the river, in the rear of of the waterworks. In some manner he lost his balance, fell in and was swept away by the strong current.

The little Nygaard boy quickly gave the alarm and the word flying through the city, crowds quickly gathered along the river in the hope of finding the body. E. E. Flaten went out in his launch in an endeavor to find the body.

GOOD CROP PROSPECTS.

Outlook in Hubbard County Could Not be Any Better.

Akeley, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The crop prospect in this vicinity is remarkably good notwithstanding the recent storms and the backward season. Farmers near here will have a big hay crop, and clover has been extensively sown for fodder and for seeds. More land was sown to corn and less to wheat, and some barley and oats were also sown. A large amount of new ground has been broken up by some recent farm arrivals from Iowa and Illinois. Never before have so many acres been cultivated. Another experiment is the large unimproved lands being cleared by flocks of sheep. The sheep have proved excellently good financially and very prolific.

Corn is doing splendidly while the wheat is excellent, but not so high at present.

Diversified farming is the rule in this county this year and it is expected will give better results for the farmers.

AKELEY PLAYING MANKATO CHESS GAME BY MAIL.

Akeley, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Akeley chess players are having an interesting playing contest by mail with Mankato. So keen has been the play that only eleven moves have been made since May 11 and the game continues. Neither side seem to have any idea when the game will finish or who will win. At the present rate it will take at least two years to conclude the game, which was opened with the Roy Lopez opening.

Col. F. Butler, Dr. Bugbee, Orin Ramsdell and others are Akeley's champions. They feel confident of winning the game.

PEA CANNING FACTORY.

New Industry to be Started in Upper Peninsula.

Ewen, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A pea canning manufactory is a new industry in store for Upper Michigan. It will be established at Ewen or elsewhere in the Ontonagon valley district, in the western portion of the peninsula. Manitowoc, Wis., men already engaged in the business on an important scale are interested in the venture. A considerable acreage has been acquired, buildings are in course of erection and some of the land is now being cleared preliminary to the sowing of a big crop next spring. Except in Chippewa county, at the eastern end of the peninsula, where big seed houses procure much of their supplies, little attention has heretofore been devoted to the cultivation of peas in Upper Michigan.

DEER EAT BRIDGE PILING.

Weakening Structure So It Was Rendered Dangerous.

Ashland, Wis., June 25.—When the superintendent of bridges of the Omaha road, with headquarters in this city, received a dispatch from Danby that one of the pilings holding up a bridge near that village had been eaten away by deer, he thought it was a joke.

But a personal visit to the spot showed the report to be true. One of the heavy pillars under a small railroad bridge had been eaten or licked asunder by deer.

Investigation of the matter showed that the deer had discovered the pillar to have a salt lick. Last winter a barrel of water, such as is found along all culverts and smaller railroad bridges, had been salted to prevent the water from freezing. The barrel had leaked and the water had dripped down the pilling, forming the salt lick, which the deer so well liked.

ITALIAN CELEBRATION.

Will be Held at South Range on Next Saturday.

Houghton, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Saturday will witness in South Range one of the largest gatherings of Italian residents ever known in the county. For many weeks preparations have been in progress for the big gathering on June 27, and with the celebration four days distant practically all details have been completed. Upwards of 3,000 Italian residents from all parts of the county are expected to be in attendance and the celebration will be a most auspicious one.

Bands will be in attendance from Calumet, Red Jacket, South Range, and other points and there will be plenty of music provided during the entire day. There will be a monster parade in the morning, in which every Italian in South Range on that day will participate. In the afternoon there will be the customary exercises, including addresses by prominent Italians and others.

UNKNOWN MAN KILLED.

Lying on Track Beside Whisky Bottle and Cut to Pieces.

Houghton, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man, whose identity is a mystery, was run over and killed by the St. Paul train over the Copper Range which arrived in Houghton at 12:45 Tuesday. The accident happened about a mile and a half the other side of Ricedale and was caused by the inability of Engineer Morgan to stop the train in time after he had seen the body lying across the track in front of the engine's wheels. The train was in charge of Conductor Van Oss.

The body was badly mutilated, the engine and four cars passing over it before the train was brought to a standstill. The man was evidently a working man, his clothes lending to that belief. His trousers were turned up in the woodsmen's style and the remainder of his clothing was coarse and well worn.

A broken whisky bottle found by his side told the probable cause of his prostrate position across the rails.

STOCK CARIBOU ISLAND.

Six Animals of That Species Are Brought From Newfoundland.

Munising, Mich., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Island, the big game preserve of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, is not the only island in Lake Superior that has now been stocked with caribou. Caribou island, so named because it formerly was noted as a home for the animals, again shelters a head of this species of the deer family. Six of the animals have recently been taken to the island, now the possession of a sportsman's club, and it is expected they will thrive there and will largely increase in number. The caribou were procured in Newfoundland. The herd on Grand island, the original members of which also came from the Canadian wilds, is attaining considerable proportions. There are no hunters to molest it nor wolves to prey upon it.

KELLIHER HAS LID.

Kelliher, June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the first time in the history of Kelliher, the lid is on tight, and apparently is on to stay.

The order came after a stormy session of the village council and was a surprise to all the citizens of the village, there having been no intimation that the closing of the town was even considered by the mayor and council, and there being no demand on the part of the citizens for the enforcement of the state law. Mayor Flund stated that the lid was on to stay, and that there would be no leaks whatever; that failure to comply with the order will result in prosecution.

NORTH DAKOTA BOY RUN OVER AND KILLED.

Walcott, N. D., June 25.—Helmer, the 15-year-old son of Hans Erickson of Colfax township, met instant death while driving out of Colfax to his home, four miles south from Colfax. Helmer, with two boy companions, had just left Colfax with a team and wagon, when one of the lines slipped from his hand, and in his effort to secure the same lost his balance, falling under the wagon and both wheels passing over his head.

TRAINS ABANDONED.

La Crosse, Wis., June 25.—As a result in the steady rise of the Root river, all trains on the Southern Minnesota division of the Milwaukee railroad between this city and Isinours, Minn., will be abandoned for a week. The river is a raging torrent and is rising hourly. Seventeen washouts are reported on the road between Mount Prairie and Wellsboro.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Brainerd—Dr. L. J. Sykora, who graduated in dentistry in Chicago in May, went to Duluth Wednesday and will enter on the practise of his profession with Dr. von Sus Milch, one of the leading dentists of that city.

Wahkon—An independent telephone company has been organized to build from Olmstead to McGrath in the east Mille Lacs country. They may later build to Eastwood and the intention is to connect with the Minnesota Telephone company.

Aitkin—The local aerie of Eagles took the second prize of $20 at the state convention held in Brainerd last week for numbers represented. The members of the local aerie who attended were Oliver Chatelle, delegate; Wm. Steele, Geo. Rice, Fred Heft, Oliver Welton and Geo. Singleton.

Moorhead—Jorgen P. Schnoor, a well known Sabin farmer, who three years ago moved to Detroit, died Monday of cancer of the stomach, from which he had been suffering acutely during the past six months. Mr. Schnoor resided on Long lake, in Detroit township, three miles north of Detroit.

Little Falls—There is a great demand for suitable houses in Little Falls. One lady from Minneapolis, who was a resident of this city at one time, while searching for a good house offered the owner of a certain house in the city the sum of $25 per month if he would vacate.

St. Cloud—A woman who gave her name as Mrs. LaBelle of Minneapolis arrived Tuesday and asked the aid of the police in looking up her 15-year-old daughter, who ran away from her home Monday and who is believed to be in this city.

Anoka—Theodore Uhr of Constance has inherited a fortune from a relative in Norway. He returned last week from an extended trip to the old country, where he went some two months ago to prove his claim to the property.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—An act of sacrilege was committed in the Calumet M. E. church some time Monday night or early Tuesday morning, the church being burglarized and the valuable solid silver communion service, consisting of five pieces, stolen from one of the vestry rooms in the church. No clue to the burglar or burglars has been discovered.

Laurium—Deputy Game Warden Gipp of Laurium arrested John Anderson and John Orva of Centennial Heights, charging them with having used nets of an illegal sized mesh while fishing for herring and other fish at the Lake Shore. They were brought before Justice Fisher and fined $10 and costs each.

Lake Linden—The wedding of William J. Carah of Lake Linden and Miss Elizabeth A. Warn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Warn of Allouez, will take place Tuesday evening, June 30, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the parents of the bride-to-be.

Houghton—A 3-year-old son and a 6-year old daughter of William Fisher of Chassell, employed by the Worcester Lumber company, died within a few hours of each other Sunday and were buried Monday. The double death gave rise to rumors about Houghton that two children had been killed at Chassell.

Calumet—David Lewis of the Calumet & Hecla location has left for Cardiff, Wales, and Frank Taylor and James Nicholls for Cornwall, England.

Houghton—James E. Fisher, secretary of Montrose commandery received a telegram Monday afternoon from Ypsilanti informing him of the death there of William W. Stephens, an old mining captain, who was known here twenty years ago. The remains will be buried here.

Hancock—The death is reported at Butte, Mont., of Henry Schwanekamp, aged 50 years, from asthma. The deceden was formerly a resident of Hancock and subsequently of Hurontown, moving West several years ago.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The nominating petitions which are being circlated by some of the candidates for congress do not show the precinct in which the signers reside. Such petitions do not comply with the law and will not be accepted by the secretary of state.

Ashland—Mrs. Frank Shopinski, the proprietor of a local hotel, will leave shortly for Germany where she will visit her old home at Koenigsburg, seeing her parents after an absence of twenty-five years.

Milwaukee—In a court room practically deserted, Fred Helden, Jr. former inspector of the house of correction, was Tuesday sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or serve one year in the institution of which he was once head. Sentence was pronounced by Judge Ludwig. It followed Helden's recent conviction of having received a bribe of $250 from the Jones Lumber company.

Manitowoc—In the presence of more than 300 invited guests including Mayor Busse, Fire Marshal Horan and other city officials of Chicago, the new steel fire boat Joseph Medill, constructed for the city of Chicago by the Manitowoc Dry Dock company was launched Tuesday afternoon.

Janesville—Lieutenants of Congressman Cooper stated Friday that if Senator Stephenson did not announce himself as a candidate for re-election, Mr. Cooper would enter the senatorial race. With Stephenson not a candidate it is said he would be the choice of the Rock county Republicans.

Eau Claire—Black gnats have taken this city by storm. Old settlers say they never saw the beat while they scratch and paw and strike at the miserable pests. It is thought that the peculiar atmospheric conditions have brought the pest.

Spooner—Edward Bergeron, arrested on a charge of kidnaping 16-year-old Myrtle Myers, was bound over to the circuit court by Judge Sage. Mrs. Thomas McAllister accused of aiding Bergeron, also was bound over, bail being fixed at $600, which was furnished for her. Bergeron was remanded to the care of Sheriff Sullivan, not being able to furnish bonds.

MAKE GOOD; GET RANCH

F. E. House Buys Fruit Ranch in Washington for Sons.

Will Increase Holdings If Boys Make Profitable Showing.

According to the reports from the North Yakima valley in the state of Washington, quite a colony of Duluth and St. Louis county people is being established there, attracted by the wonderful possibilities which the district is said to offer in the way of fruit raising.

Among those who have bought fruit ranches at or near North Yakima are F. E. House, president and general manager of the Duluth & Iron Range road, William H. Shea, Jr., former city attorney at Virginia and J. O. Shadbolt, formerly a dry goods merchant at Virginia.

Mr. Shea bought a forty-acre tract last September, paying $15,000 for it. He spent about $3,000 in improvements and was, the other day, offered $37,000 for the ranch.

Mr. Shadbolt bought a forty-acre tract two years ago, paying $16,000, and last year his net profit from the ranch was $20,000, or $500 per acre.

Mr. House appears to be very much taken up with the North Yakima country. He bought a fine property there and turned it over to his sons. If they "make good" as farmers, he will increase his holdings.

The Yakima Daily Republic of June 16 says, concerning his visit there:

"'Without doubt the Yakima valley is the greatest place on earth for a young man to get a permanent start in life. I have traveled over every part of the United States and Europe and I have yet to find a more desirable place for the young man who is willing to work than North Yakima and the Yakima valley. The commercial and industrial growth of North Yakima is almost beyond comprehension.'

"So says F. E. House, president of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad. Mr. House, with his family, arrived early this morning in his private car. He had come from the East on a visit to his two sons who are fruit ranchers of Nob Hill. With his family Mr. House visited the Yakima valley last January and at that time was so impressed with the country that the Nob Hill property was purchased.

His Sons Are Farmers.

"Wishing his sons to become Yakima fruit raisers and to have a part in the prosperity of the Western people, Mr. House turned the ranch over to the boys, who have since lived on the holding and improved it. They are proving to be excellent fruit growers and will, in all probability, make a success of their undertaking. Mr. House and family will remain in North Yakima for some little time and thoroughly inspect the Yakima valley with a view to making a larger purchase.

"'I have put the boys on the ranch as an experiment,' continued Mr. House. 'If they make good, and they appear to be doing just that thing, I may make another purchase. I can not now see how I could miss it if I were to buy the whole Yakima valley, which I know, of course, is an impossibility. With the huge government projects a part of which are now under way and more to follow, there is absolutely no cause for any man, no matter what his position in life may be, to hesitate to plant himself in the Yakima valley.

A Safe Chance.

"'I say these things because I know them to be a fact. I have seen some Western life myself; I have lived in some tall sagebrush, too, and I have been over enough other country to enable me to make an intelligent comparison of the two kinds of farm country, non-irrigated and irrigated. The latter appeals to a man's reason once he understands the system; the former may be good and it may not be. Give me a long stretch of dry land, covered with tall greasewood and sagebrush, with the government behind it all, and I'll take a chance.'

"Mr. House says financial conditions still are somewhat doubtful in the Middle West and East. For that reason he believes the immigration to the Yakima valley will be even greater than it would have been otherwise, 'because,' as he says, 'it is natural for people to go where the money is, and it is so well known back there that you people of the Yakima valley have got it, that there is little hesitancy on the part of the homeseekers in making this community their destination when moving time comes.'"

Arthur House, the eldest son, about 24 years of age, is a graduate of Columbia university, New York. For about a year past he has been in Bisbee, the geological engineer for the Superior & Pittsburg mine. Allen House, the younger son, is about 20 years old. He has been attending the Phillips-Andover academy at Andover, Mass.

TWO TONS OF CHINESE HAIR

Are Brought to America to Make "Rats" for Women.

New York, June 25.—Two tons of human hair, taken from the heads of beheaded Chinese bandits and from the heads of celestials in the cemeteries of the Oriental kingdom, arrived here on two steamships from the Far East. The hair of the bandits came on the British steamship Wray Castle. It was bought and paid for by the exporters, the "graft" going to the executioners, who, in China, have everything to say regarding the disposal of the remains of the victims of the Chinese law. That on the steamship Seneca came from the heads of regularly buried Chinese, and was secured at great personal risk by American prospectors, who invaded the cemeteries, according to Capt. Grimes of the Seneca, and sheared the heads of the Chinamen of their pigtails. Chinese, when they are interred in oriental burial grounds, are placed upright in their graves, with the heads sticking out. The heads are closely shaved, except for the queus, which are left because it is a Chinese belief that the Great Joss comes around at night and carries the souls of good Orientals to heaven by means of the pigtails.

The Chinese hair, according to the captain, will be made up into "rats" for the American pompadour girl. The Chinese have not as yet, according to Capt. Grimes, "caught on" to the work of the vandals in their cemeteries, and when they do grasp the true situation, Captain Grimes believes that the first American hair gatherer who is caught will pay for his enterprise with his life. Thus far the earnest belief in the nightly visits of the Joss has held the Chinese from inquiring too closely as to how the pigtails have so persistently disappeared.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

TRIBUTES ARE PAID

To the Memory of the Late President Grover Cleveland.

Extolled as Pure Hearted Patriot and a Great Man.

New York, June 25.—Francis Lynde Stetson, who was associated with Former President Cleveland in the practice of law, said:

"Were I to select one quality which, more conspicuously than the many others, entitled him to the love and regard of his countrymen, I should say that Grover Cleveland was the purest hearted patriot I have ever known. In his consideration and decision of public affairs without exception he was guided and controlled by what he believed to be the best interests of his country. Neither the wishes of his friends nor even his own personal desires were permitted to determine his decisions. This essential quality was clearly seen by the poet's vision, and finely phrased by the poet's pen when Mr. Lowell described him as the pilot who held his rudder true."

Mr. Stetson then pointed out that the room in which he was sitting was once Mr. Cleveland's office.

"It was in this room," he said, "that one of the most characteristic instances in Mr. Cleveland's career took place. The day before the big anti-free silver meeting in Cooper Union—I forget the date—a gentleman of great influence who now lives in this city, came to him to discuss the situation. Both were strongly opposed to the free silver movement and the talk naturally turned in that direction.

"Mr. Cleveland had an engagement to speak at the meeting but for some reason could not go. 'Are you going to send a letter?' asked the gentleman. 'What do you think about it?' asked Mr. Cleveland. 'I should not,' said the gentleman in reply. 'I regard such a step as needless. Your position is well known. Nothing you can say at this time will put you more definitely upon record and I think it might cause needless embarrassment to your friends if you were to take any part in the meeting either by presence or letter.'

"Mr. Cleveland said nothing in reply for a time. Then taking off his big glasses he turned round and looked this gentleman straight in the eyes. 'I am a citizen of the United States,' Mr. Cleveland said to him. 'I am a citizen of the state of New York and of the city of New York. Naturally I ought to take the part of a citizen in the affairs of the city and especially upon a matter of so great importance as this, of more importance than personal matters. It is said that I ought not to go there, nor to write a letter of any sort upon this matter of supreme importance because it might embarrass my nomination. I am going to write a letter to be read at that meeting—and the presidency can go to hell.'

"Sir. Cleveland did write—his letter is history. In outspoken and burning words he stated his position upon the silver movement. He said then, as he has believed since, that free coinage of silver was wrong and dangerous. Nobody has forgotten it."

Sorrow at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 25.—When the death of Former President Cleveland became publicly known flags were flouted at half mast upon scores of the business buildings as a mark of respect. Former President Cleveland visited St. Louis on two occasions, remaining several days each time. The first was on Oct. 2, 1887, during his first administration when he attended the St. Louis exposition, fair and the veiled prophets' ball. On the second occasion in 1903, he and President Roosevelt were guests of David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase exposition, and participated in the dedication of the exposition grounds.

Fine American Type.

Washington, June 25.—Secretary Cortelyou made this statement regarding Mr. Cleveland:

"Although not entirely unexpected at this time by those who knew Mr. Cleveland's real condition, his death is none the less a keen sorrow. He was a fine American type, arising from obscurity to the highest office in the people's gift through sheer force of character—a character so rugged, so loyal, and so sincere as to excite not only the respect and affection of those who were privileged to be his friends, but of those who were opposed to him for political or other reasons. I know of no man in our history more unflinching in the performance of what he believed to be his duty. No man realized more fully the ideal of an incorruptible public servant. His example has been most wholesome in these years of social and economic unrest, and the influence of his calm, reasonable and hopeful spirit has made for a better understanding of the needs and responsibilities of our citizenship. His death is a very great loss to the country."

A Great Father of the Republic.

Washington, June 25.—Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor said: "Another of the great fathers of the republic has gone to his eternal home. His fame and service belong to the country and will be handed down to a grateful posterity as an inspiration, and as an example of unswerving devotion to the country's welfare. Our greatest presidents, Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, each rendered the services to the country which in their time it stood most need of. Cleveland was one of these—a mighty giant of political righteousness."

Tribute by Lawler.

St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—Mayor Lawler, who was assistant Federal district attorney during the late ex-President Cleveland's administration, and has always been an admirer of the unswerving honor and remarkable intellectual power of Mr. Cleveland, expressed the keenest regret on learning of the death of the nation's latest Democratic chief executive. He immediately issued an order that the courthouse flag be lowered to half-mast.

A Great and Good Man.

Boston, June 25.—Charles S. Fairchild, secretary of the treasury in Cleveland's first administration, said:

"Just say for me, please, that Grover Cleveland was a great and good man."

Gray Deeply Grieved.

Wilmington, Del., June 24.—Judge George Gray, when told of the death of Grover Cleveland, said:

"I am deeply grieved at the announcement of Mr. Cleveland's death. I had hoped that his useful life might have been prolonged for many years, with comfort to himself and for the benefit of his country. The wisdom, conservatism and courage which characterized his two administrations have made his place secure in American history."

Devoted to the Public.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 25.—Vice President Fairbanks said he would probably attend the funeral of Mr. Cleveland. He said:

"Grover Cleveland was one of the best and most patriotic statesmen the country has produced. He devoted himself to the public service with singleness of purpose, and stood by his convictions on important public questions with a sturdy courage that commanded admiration among the great body of the people."

Truly a Great Man.

St. Louis, June 25.—Former Governor D. R. Francis, who was secretary of the interior during the second administration of President Cleveland, expressed profound regret when told of the death of the former president. He said:

"Mr. Cleveland was a truly great man and a patriot of the highest type. The service he rendered the public has never been fully appreciated, but will be held in higher and higher estimate as the years roll by."

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

A Remarkable Man.

New York, June 25.—Paul Morton said: "Grover Cleveland was a most remarkable man—deliberate in thought, sound in conclusions and always careful in action. He was as simple as a child in his tastes and as resolute as a giant in his integrity.

"He was the highest type of public servant, and it is to be regretted we have so few men of his sturdy character in public life.

"He was a patriot rather than a partisan, and his moral courage to do what he thought was best for the country regardless of his party, was the beginning of the independent thought throughout the United States which is now such a factor in our national affairs."

As to Mr. Cleveland's successor as a trustee of the Equitable stock, the deed of trust provides that vacancies among the trustees may be filled by the surviving members.

Tribute by Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., June 25.—The following tribute to Former President Grover Cleveland was made last evening by W. J. Bryan:

"The death of ex-President Grover Cleveland brings to a sudden end the phenomenal career of one of the strongest charaters known to the political world during the present generation. Like every commanding figure he had zealous supporters and earnest opponents, but those who differed from him were as ready as his warmest friends to concede to him the possession of elements of leadership to an extraordinary degree. He was deliberate in action, firm in conviction and ever ready to accept responsibility for what he did. Few men have exerted a more positive influence upon those associated with them. We are not far enough from the period in which his work was done to measure accurately his place in history but the qualities which made him great are a part of the nation's heritage and universal sorrow is felt at his death."

Sentiments of regret were expressed by Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, who was visiting with Mr. Bryan, and who knew Mr. Cleveland well when he lived at Buffalo. He pronounced him a leading citizen and said his death was a shock to the nation.

IS AT VARIANCE WITH THE TRUTH

Alderman Shartel Comments on Editoral in News Tribune.

To the Editor of The Herald

I am not fond of newspaper notoriety, but a recent editorial in the News Tribune, entitled "That Resolution," contains certain innuendoes, perhaps unintentional, that work injustice to myself and certain of my associates in the common council.

I desire it distinctly understood that we are in no sense anti-lid aldermen. But we are weary, and so must be the public, of keeping the council in a constant state of agitation over the discussion of questions that properly pertain to a co-ordinate branch of the city government.

Personally, I have never yet refrained from considering and determining upon its merits every saloon case that was properly before us, but have always been averse to the aldermen's encroaching upon the duties of the executive and police force in such matters, and to that end favored the following resolution, which was adopted by the council:

"Resolved, that this report of conviction be referred to the committee on police and license for investigation of the circumstances of the case, and if, after such investigation and conference with the mayor and chief of police, said committee finds that the offense committed is an aggravated one, to submit to this council a resolution citing said party to appear and show cause why his license to sell intoxicating liquors should not be revoked, and that hereafter all reports of conviction take the same course."

The so-called "lid aldermen" did not support the resolution, but favored a continuance of the useless discussion in the council, as evidenced by their support of the following substitute for the resolution, which, however, did not prevail:

"Resolved, that this report of conviction, and all reports hereafter received, be referred to the committee on police and license for investigation and report to this council."

The editorial in question says that "the law-enforcement aldermen, in response to the public's weariness of itself, decided to stop the weekly saloon gabfest, and referred all license revocations and law violations to a committee for investigation. There was danger this action might be effective and deprive the antis of their most valuable weapon."

The distinguishing characteristic of the argument of that editorial is its being at utter variance with the truth. It is hard to believe the error was unintentional on the part of the News Tribune writer, but we will charitably give him the benefit of the doubt.

Unique Cure for Kidney Disease

Backache.
Deposit in the urine.
Headache and aching limbs.
Scanty, highly colored urine.
Pain and smarting when passing water.
Harsh, dry skin and continued loss of flesh and weight.

To their unique action on both the liver and kidneys is due the enormous success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills as a cure for diseases of the kidneys.

So intimate is the relation of the liver and kidneys that one is rarely affected without the other. Hence the failure of mere kidney medicines and the success of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Portrait and signature of the famous Receipt Book author, A. W. Chase, M. D., on every box.

Mr. John W. Todd, Otsego St., Ilion, N. Y., states:

"For 25 years I suffered severely from kidney disease. Different doctors told me I could never be cured—such severe pains through the back and kidneys, retention of urine, with frequent calls at night. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills helped me at once. Their action on the kidneys is direct and I found the effect all that could be desired—a cure."

ACTIVITY IN IRON AND STEEL

Considerable Buying by Railroads is Expected Shortly.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 25.—The Iron Trade Review says: Continued activity in iron and steel bars, a part of the demand coming from railroad interests, has been an encouraging feature of the week, and indications are not lacking tha tconsiderable buying for repairs of equipment, and for maintenance of way by railroads will not long be delayed. Several Western trunk lines have given orders for the immediate repair of track and rolling stock, and already specifications for a largo tonnage of iron and steel and other equipment have been received. There is a larg demand for agricultural machinery, and some manufacturers are working day and night. There has also been some improvement in the demand for merchant pipe, but in plates, shapes, sheets and other finished lines, the volume of business is very small.

Sales of iron at the reduced prices are being made at a moderate rate. Many more vessels are in commission on the lakes, but independent interests are having difficulty in obtaining cargoes. The labor situation is still unsettled.

The pig iron market has been very quiet throughout the country, and no notable sales have been made in the Central West. Prices have been firm, but in the East, and to some extent in the South, there is a tendency towards weakness. Although nealy all Southern sellers are unwilling to dispose of their iron for less than $12 Birmingham for No. 2, two or three companies are understood to have sold at from $11.50 to $11.70.

Persistent rumors of low quotations on steel bars have attracted much attention, and are attributed to the fact that bars rolled from old rails, in the Chicago territory, have been sold as low as $1.20 per hundred pounds at the makers' mills. There is no evidence of shading of the recently established price of soft steel bars, which are rolled from new material, and the price of old rails has advanced, so that the re-rolled product cannot be sold so low as it has been recently.

Flying Machine That Flies.

In the early part of this year a very successful test was made with a large aeroplane over a circuitous route. It rose, dipped and turned just at the operator's will, but, notwithstanding this degree of perfection, this mode of travel still seems a long way off. Many successful tests have been made with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past fifty-four years in cases of stomach, liver and bowel disorders. In fact, it has cured so often as per other remedies had failed that it is looked upon by prominent physicians as a very superior medicine. It cures and prevents sick headache, belching, heartburn, poor appetite, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, biliousness, kidney ills and malaria, fever and ague. Don't hesitate about trying it, because we guarantee every bottle to be absolutely pure.

CONTESTS FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Lively Fight in Two Districts for Republican Nomination.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The legislative district, comprising the counties of Red Lake, Clearwater and Beltrami, are in the throes of a lively contest for the nomination on the Republican ticket in the approaching primaries for representative. Three candidates, Attorney Funkley and Representative Opsahl of Bemidji and Editor Harry Ives of the village of St. Hilaire, in Red Lake county, are conducting a lively gum shoe campaign for this position. Two more candidates are to be brought out when the proper time arrives, and there is a possibility of even a third candidate joining with the two mentioned.

In the district just north of this one, and comprising the counties of Kittson, Marshall and Roseau, the situation is almost as badly complicated. The old representatives, Dan Robertson and A. Anderson of Marshall county, are seeking indorsement, while County Superintendent of Schools A. T. Mattson of Roseau and Former Representative O. B. Eckman of the same county, are seeking political honors. Mr. Eckman served in the lower house for four years, but in the last election was defeated. Kittson will probably support a home man for this place, though this county now has the senator for the district.

BRANDT HAS BAD INNING

Brandon Scores Two in Seventh and Wins From Duluth.

Nelson Holds Sox in Check and They Are Blanked.

Brandon, Man., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Brandon sluggers bunched all of their three hits off Brandt in the seventh inning yesterday, scoring two runs and winning the second game from the White Sox, by a score of 2 to 0.

The game was the prettiest and fastest seen in the Brandon lot this season. It was a battle between Brandt and Nelson, with both teams working well on the field and talking down at the bat. Three men in an inning was the general rule and the game played in one hour and fourteen minutes.

Nelson held the Sox in check all the way through. They had one chance, but Baker was caught trying to make third from first on O'Brien's hit. McGraw made a pretty throw from the field and the Duluth man was caught far from the bag.

The fielding of the Sox was better than that of Brandon, with not a skip in the infield, but the Duluth men could not hit Nelson with men on bases, and lost every chance to score. Custer was back in the game for Brandon, playing right field. Score:

CREWS IN PRACTICE.

Hot Day Causes Coaches to Give Light Work Out.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—The hottest forenoon of the season and smooth water were the conditions that faced the crews yesterday. The water was tempting to the coaches, but in view of the heat, they deemed it prudent to have light practice. The Cornell and Syracuse contingents did not go out at all. Neither did the Pennsylvania varsity, but Ellis Ward had his freshmen eight and two fours row down the river four miles and return without racing. The two Wisconsin eights were both out also rowing down the river and return. The Columbia crews took easy practice on the upper end of the course.

After several days of uncertainty, the various managers arranged last night to hold a race for gentlemen fours on Friday afternoon, about 4 o'clock. The course will be one mile and a half, the participants being fours composed of substitutes of Cornell, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Wisconsin. Syracuse will not take part.

ZIEHR BEATS WILLE.

Chicago Man Loses to Cornish Wrestler at Calumet.

Calumet, Mich., June 25.—Joe Ziehr o fCalumet last night maintained his claims to Cornish wrestling championship, throwing John Willie of Chicago. Ziehr was given choice of styles in the first bout and took Cornish. He threw Willie in 7 minutes and 42 seconds.

Willie won the second fall, catch-as-catch-can, in 8minutes and 8 seconds, Zeihr thereby getting choice for third. He downed Willie in Cornish style in 11 minutes and 30 seconds.

Both men worked fast, but Willie was unused to the Cornish style. Ziehr has issued a challenge to any Cornish wrestler in the world.

MAROONS IN BATTING BEE

Herr's Men Find Clark Easy and Take Second Game.

Terry Hit Hard, But Fargo Fails to Bunch Hits.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo and Winnipeg had a swatfest yesterday, the Maroons winning by scoring five in the fourth inning and getting a lead that Fargo could not overcome. The final score was 8 to 5.

Cody Clark pitched for Fargo and the Maroons took kindly to his curves. They scored seventeen hits and bunched them successfully, so that Fargo had little chance after the fourth. Clark settled after that inning also and the Maroons could not hit him with men on bases.

Terry wasn't any too hard for the Brownies to find. They hit him ten times and in the first few innings threatened to win the game, but he settled and cut them off with men on bases in the later innings.

The game was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness. Score:

MUST RETURN MONEY.

Hoffman Will Gain Nothing by Allowance of Salary Claim.

Cincinnati, June 25.—Although Player H. C. Hoffman was sustained by the national baseball commission in his claim against the Boston National league club for salary, he must pay back to that club part of the advance money that he had received. He was released to the Providence club after being given $100 advance money and put in a claim for ten days' pay. His claim is upheld, but at the same time he is found entitled to only as much of the amount advanced as would make the ten days' pay, the balance being ordered back to Boston, by which club a claim for the advance money had been made.

TRAFFLEY IS DEAD.

Manager of Famous Des Moines Team Succumbs to Tuberculosis.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 25.—William F. Traffley, once manager of the Baltimore team, manager of the Des Moines team in 1886, when they made a world's record of twenty-five games won in succession, died here this morning of tuberculosis, aged 48 years.

GRIFFITH RESIGNS.

Manager of New York Americans Gives Up Position.

Philadelphia, June 25.—Clark Griffith, manager of the New York baseball team of the American league, tendered his resignation to Frank Farrell, owner of the team, yesterday. Griffith asked to be relieved from the management of the team several days ago, and, following a conference with Mr. Farrell before the game with Philadelphia here yesterday, he tendered his resignation to take effect at once.

Griffith said that he was disheartened and felt that he should get out and give Mr. Farrell a chance to try another manager. He said there was no dissension among the players. Elberfeld is mentioned as a possible successor to Griffith.

COURSE TO BE LONGER

Two Mile Current Will be Against Shells at Winnipeg.

Duluth Crews to Leave Several Days Before Regatta.

With the course approximately a quarter of a mile longer on account of a two mile current against the shells, it will be necessary for the crews entered in the Winnipeg regatta to become somewhat accustomed to the new conditions in order to be at their best, and the Duluth crews will go to the Manitoba metropolis a few days before the regatta.

The regatta will be held July 24 and 25, Friday and Saturday, and the Tuesday and Wednesday will be given to heavy practice over the course, with light workout Thursday and the boys expect to become fairly familiar with the flow of the river by the time they go to the mark for the first race.

About sixteen men will make the trip from Duluth. The junior eight will enter both the junior and senior eight oared races. A four picked from the junior eight will enter the junior four event and, if the showing warrants, they will also go in for the senior fours.

A bantam four will also be taken along for the lightweight four oared race, in which Duluth made such a good showing last year on White Bear lake.

The new shell, constructed at Cambridge, Mass., has not yet arrived, though it was shipped some time ago. It is expected some time this week, however, and will be put into the water immediately. The two eight oared shells will be used for brushes between the crews.

The date for the Kelley-Killorin cup races has not yet been set, but will probably be early in July.

Followers of the fight game have had nothing but reminiscences for amusement and entertainment for several weeks and nothing remains now but to look ahead to July 4, when there will be something really worth while in the air.

At Los Angeles, Packey McFarland will go on for twenty-five rounds with Freddie Welsh. At Grand Rapids, Mich., Stanley Ketchell will make a punching bag of Tony Caponi for the entertainment of his fellow townsmen. And best of all bouts will be a forty-five round go between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson at San Francisco, which should settle once and for all the question of who won the Goldfield fight.

With a weight agreement advantageous to him and Nelson making nothing but a mediocre showing in all of his recent bouts, Gans thinks it will be all milk and honey for him. Battling Nelson has long been regarded as a dead one. Nobody with as much brains as the head of a pin would bet any money on him in the coming fight. If he does let loose something strange and win from Gans, the fight world will be overwhelmed with surprise. It does look like Gans.

Packey McFarland should win from Freddie Welsh within the twenty-five round limit. He beat Welsh at Milwaukee and should be able to do it again. If he doesn't, he had better banish hopes of becoming the lightweight champion, for Gans would make a chopping block of Welsh.

* * * *

But one more game is to be played at Brandon, and then the Sox go to Winnipeg for six games, while Fargo will switch over to Brandon to take a few beatings.

Nobody is kicking on the two losses of the Sox at Brandon, even if it did cost them a position a day. They cannot drop into last place, and there is always a chance of them going up, so the fans are happy.

Both games have been close—of the kind where the big end may go either way without discredit to the loser. Brandon was lucky enough to draw the big end, and to the lucky belong the spoils in baseball, sometimes. If Fargo would take a brace and do a little trimming on its own account, instead of being the trimmee in every game, there would be a chance of the Sox coming back in first place. But if the Browns persist in loosing everything, the Sox alone can't uphold the honor of the United States, and the Canadians will boost their percentage.

* * * *

An effort will be made to arouse greater interest in the ball team at a meeting to be held this evening at 5 o'clock in the Commercial club rooms. New officers will be elected by the gathering, which will be the annual meeting of the baseball club. Reports will be made on the financial condition of the club, and the fans will be urged to boost for the present team, and the prospects of breaking into the Western league next season.

FARMER KILLS HIMSELF AFTER STRIKING WIFE.

Dexter, Mo., Jnue 25.—Believing he had killed his wife by a blow with his fist, N. M. Kline, 34 years old, committed suicide sixteen miles east of here.

When he went to the harvest field he directed his wife to send his 6-year-old daughter with drinking water later in the day. The child failed to appear in the field. Angered, Kline returned to the house and whipped his child. He then struck his wife with his fist, knocking her unconscious. Believing he had killed her, he blew out his brains with a shotgun. His wife was not seriously hurt.

"PROGRESSIVES" IN CONTROL IN IOWA.

Waterloo, Iowa, June 25.—While the "Progressives" were in control of yesterday's Republican state convention they did not control with any vindictiveness but in reasonable good temper adopted a state platform giving enthusiastic indorsement to Governor Cummins and the Progressive legislation on railroad and corporation questions, and they also gave warm endorsement to the services of the Iowa delegation in congress and especially to Senator Allison and a pledge for his re-election by the next legislature. The Progressives secured control of the new state campaign committee controlling it by a majority of one.

The convention nominated John Scott Ladd, and Silas M. Weaver to succeed themselves on the supreme bench, and also went through the formality of approving the nominations for state officers made in recent primaries.

FOURTEEN GRADUATE

Bishop McGolrick Presents Diplomas to Girls at Cathedral School.

Fourteen girls received diplomas at the eighth grade commencement exercises of the Cathedral school, held last evening in the cathedral auditorium before a large audience of friends and relatives.

Bishop McGolrick delivered the principal address of the evening. He complimented the girls on their work during the school year, and mentioned particularly their domestic science studies. He announced himself as well pleased with the progress made in this branch of the school work.

After the distribution of the diplomas a number of medals and prizes were awarded to the different students of the school for excellent marks in the different studies.

Those graduated were Mary Twohy, Helen Mackey, Anna Fitzgerald, Alice M. Sullivan, Catherine Healy, Rosalia Mannheim, Mary McLaughlin, Germaine Benda, Mary Furlong, Cecilia Sullivan, Ethel McKeever, Alice Sullivan and Mary O'Grady.

A four-act drama, "Patricia," was given by the students and was much enjoyed. Those who had parts were: Alice A. Sullivan, Helen Mackey, Anna Fitzgerald, Emily Mackey, Rosalia Mannheim, Alice M. Sullivan, Cecilia Sullivan, Gertrude Mannheim, Mary Monahan, Margaret Blanche, Mary Twohy, Germain Benda, Bessie Rolin, Mabel Rossman, Margaret Dunsmore, Catherine Healy, Sadie Calhoun, Gertrude Reilly, Mary Fitzgerald, Edith McMahon, Mary O'Grady, Lulu Haynes, Mary McLaughlin, Pearl Desplus, Mary Furlong, Ethel McKeever, Alice Sullivan, Theresa Ryan, Elizabeth McGraw, Rose Murphy, Ellen Gettings, Veronica Arnold, Theresa Costigan, Mary Hubbard, Helen Maguire, Arline Higgens, Pauline Green.

Edna Smith gave a recitation and Catherine Healy read an essay on "Silence, the Atmosphere of Great Deeds." Helen Mackey was the valedictorian, and the response to her address was made by Mary Monahan. A number of the boys of the lower grades sang "The Soldier Boy" and "Joy." William Lynch recited.

The Sundby Road.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Of the different issues at present before the council, there is nothing of more importance than the Sundby road proposition. It has already been discussed more or less in the papers, so it is not necessary to go into details at this time. It is just exactly what we want, and what we must have. As an improvement of this kind is somewhat out of the ordinary, the writer is not familiar with from what fund the money for same should come, but think that can be left to our efficient council and county commissioners.

The Commercial club could not do better than to take this up and push it to a finish. It is certainly of enough importance, and so much to the welfare of this community at large, that it is worthy of the club's best efforts.

Duluth, June 24. T. W. WAHL.

Major General Putnam, U. S. A.

THE hero of Bunker Hill—who first marshaled the Riflemen of the Revolution—and left his plow standing in the furrow to hoist the banner of defiance against legislative oppression! Who has not heard of him?

When others faltered and grew pale, facing fearful odds, this intrepid old Puritan Commander remained strong-hearted, steadfast and true. His tavern, known to fame as the "GENERAL WOLFE," was (in its day) a celebrated meeting place for Revolutionary veterans.

In its cozy bar parlor they delighted to periodically gather and drink with him the foaming juices of the malt; toasting each other in memory of the splendid and heroic days when they gave blood and treasure to found this nation and write the immortal principle of "PERSONAL LIBERTY" in our laws forevermore.

Hale, hearty and generous minded to the last, Israel Putnam died at eighty-three, and what living Prohibitionist dare stand up and say, "I am a purer patriot than he?"

DULUTH LODGES WILL ATTEND

International Grand Chief of Good Templars at Superior.

Edward Wabrinsky of Sweden, member of the Swedish parliament, and Peter Swenson, ex-member of Norway's parliament, will speak at the Grand opera house in Superior Sunday afternoon before three Duluth lodges and one Superior lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars. Mr. Wabrinsky is international grand chief templar of the order, and is said to be a very interesting talker.

The program will begin at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and following it there will be a street parade of the several lodges. After this there will be a banquet at one of the Superior hotels, and there will be more speaking. The lectures of the two distinguished men from Sweden and Norway will be free in the afternoon, and it is expected the attendance from Duluth, aside from the Good Templars themselves, will be large.

APPLY FOR AID.

Syrians Ask Charity of Mrs. Forgy for First Time.

For the first time in the history of charity work in Duluth, Syrians applied to Mrs. Forgy, humane officer, for assistance. Three children of this nationality were taken to the state school at Owatonna to become wards of the state, because their father is unable to support them properly, and their mother is dead.

Syrians, who made the complaint against the father, said that it was their wish to have the little one sent to a place where they would receive the same advantages as Americans and be trained in the American ways. These people said that because of the father's weak physical condition the children would be put to work instead of being sent to school as soon as they became old enough, unless the state took charge of them.

Don't Heat the Kitchen

All the necessary family cooking may be done as well on a New Perfection Wick, Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove as on the best coal or wood range.

By using the "New Perfection" Oil Stove, the annoyance of an overheated and stuffy kitchen is entirely avoided, even in midsummer. The construction of the

NEW PERFECTION
Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

is such that the heat is thrown directly upward against the kettle or pan upon the stove top, without affecting the atmosphere of the room to an appreciable degree.

You can at once see the advantage of this stove over a great range which throws heat in all directions—it is the ideal summer stove.

If your dealer does not have the "New Perfection" write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp is substantially made of brass, finely nickeled and very handsome. Gives a powerful light and burns for hours with one filling. Portable, safe, convenient—just what every home needs.

If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

DULUTH IS HEALTHFUL

Never Before Were Residents in Such Fine Health.

Hospitals Nearly Empty —Contagious Disease Situation Improving.

Duluth is no place for doctors this summer. They are unanimous in agreeing that never in the history of the city was the general health of the public so good as at the present time. There is practically no sickness at all, outside of contagious diseases, and they are getting to be fewer every day. The hospital authorities say they do not remember a time when business was so light with them as this month.

The city health department reports the contagious disease situation as improving right along. Yesterday twelve quarantine signs, on smallpox, diptheria and scarlet fever, were removed, and not a single new sign was put up. The record of the day before was almost equally as good. Every day more signs are coming down than are going up, and at the present rate of improvement it will be only a week or two before there will be practically no contagious disease cases in the city.

Records show that Duluth is one of the most healthful cities in the country at all times, but just now it is proving to be exceptionally so. Perhaps the abundance of rain and cool weather has had something to do with it. While Chicago and the Twin Cities have been sweltering in a torrid summer heat, Duluthians have been buttoning their coats around their chins in the face of a cold wind from off the lake.

ATTENTION F. O. E.

All members of Duluth Aerie, No. 79, and visiting Eagles, will assemble at the hall at 6:30 p. m. Friday evening for the purpose of attending the state convention of the Wisconsin Eagles at Superior. Boat leaves at 7:15 p. m. Bring badges. By order of

JOHN KERNS, W. P.
Duluth Aerie, No. 79.

CREDITORS WILL PROFIT BY DECISION OF JUDGE.

Minot, N. D., June 25.—United States Judge Reed of Iowa has sustained the decision of Referee-in-Bankruptcy J. H. Lewis of Minot that the 320 acres of land belonging to F. Frank & Sons, and about $2,000 worth of personal property are not exempt under the bankruptcy laws.

This is one of the most important decisions thus far in the famous bankruptcy case. It means that there will be a dividend forthcoming soon in the case and that the creditors will get some returns on their accounts.

MARINE NEWS

MENACE TO LAUNCHES

Many Obstructions in St. Louis Bay and River.

Tug Sunk Last Fall in Path of Small Boats.

The way of the launch owner on St. Louis bay or river, especially at night, is beset with lurking dangers. Deadlocks innumerable lie just below the surface of the water and even the unswerving watchfulness of a keen-eyed wheelman is sometimes unable to avoid them.

The old dyke, which has long been a menace to launches, has lost some of its terrors, for the experienced know where it lies and give it a wide berth. The man who is new at the game, loses a few propeller wheels and scratches his launch up a little a few times on the dyke and then decides that he had better keep further out in the channel when running in that part of the bay.

A new obstacle presents itself this year. A tug, which isn't worth the trouble or expense of raising, has sunk in six or eight feet of water some distance below the yacht club, in the bay. Its cabin is over water and no lights are shown on it and unless the man at the wheel keeps a sharp lookout, he is likely to run into it. No accidents of the kind have yet been reported, but the tug is always there and the wonder is that all launch owners have avoided it.

As far as is known, no efforts have been made to remove the tug. It is out of the channel of the big boats using that part of the bay, but the launch owners may be its prey.

Navigation of the St. Louis river is almost impossible for launches at night. There are any number of sand bars, which only the most experienced of river navigators can avoid and the notice who attempts to run through the river at night, may find himself high and dry on a bar and due to spend a night on the river before assistance can be secured.

MEN ARE SATISFIED.

Ore Handlers on the Ashtabula Docks Will Sign Up.

Ashtabula, June 25.—The ore handlers on the Pennsylvania docks which are operated by the M. A. Hanna company have voted to go to work on the company's terms and will sign individual contracts. This decision was reached at a meeting of the local No. 2 of the Longshoremens' association, and it is expected that the men on the other docks will take the same action. Ashtabula is the only one of the big ports at this end of the route that has not received any ore this season.

Buffalo Charters.

Buffalo, March 25.—Coal charters reported today are Kopp to Milwaukee at 40 cents; Hebard to Superior at 30 cents. Until shipments from the West increase, vesselmen are of the opinion that little improvement in the westbound freight traffic will be noted, as it hardly pays them to send out their boats with coal cargoes and return light.

Marine Notes.

The steamer Juniata, the second of the Anchor line passenger boats to make port, came in this morning with a large passenger list. She is unloading freight at different docks around the harbor today, and will leave tomorrow night on her first trip down the lakes.

The new Tomlinson steamer Frod G. Hartwell arrived in port yesterday afternoon under her high pressure cylinder, her machinery having gone wrong and delayed her a day between the Soo and Duluth.

Four new boats were in port yesterday, the Hartwell, Berwind, Nettleton and Dunn. The Berwind and Nettleton left with ore yesterday and the Hartwell is taking a cargo at the D. M. & N. ore docks.

Only thre boats arrived light for ore within the last twenty-four hours, although several that have coal cargoes will take ore for the return trip. The Great Northern docks at Superior are shipping out about 20,000 tons a day.

If You Buy a Bohn---

You'll Buy But One Refrigerator in Your Lifetime

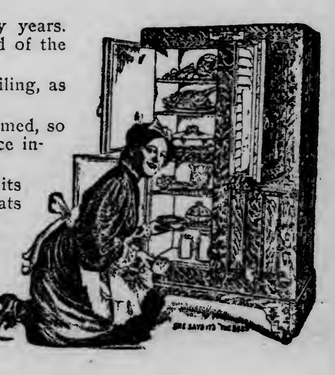

A home uses but few refrigerators in a life time. Say a Bohn lasts only twenty years. Don't you see how trifling is your annual price saving in selecting a cheap box instead of the slightly higher priced Bohn Refrigerator?

A Bohn, too, saves its cost almost every year in provisions that it keeps from spoiling, as well as in the strict economy of ice.

A cheap refrigerator generally "eats its head off" in foods wasted and in ice consumed, so that the first difference in favor of the ordinary refrigerator is a genuine extravagance instead of saving.

THINK OF THE SATISFACTION the beautiful and wonderful Bohn gives its user. Milk and cream ever sweet; vegetables crisp; fruit firm and full flavored; meats choice and eatable; summer drinks delightfully cold; enamel or opalite linings cleansed perfectly by wiping with a moist cloth; doors tightly closed and the box itself a thing of beauty.

FULLY WARRANTED—All American railroads use it after severest tests by refrigeration experts. Why shouldn't you own one? Price them and examine them in our refrigerator section. Inspection welcome. Booklet mailed free to our out-of-town customers.

LEAVE FOR RANGE TRIP

Members of Lake Superior Mining Institute Leave for Ely.

The two hundred and fifty mining experts, members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, who were seen in such large numbers about the Spalding hotel yesterday, have gone.

Two special trains left Duluth early this morning, for a trip over the Vermilion and Mesaba ranges which will last three days. The party will not return to Duluth until Saturday, when the thirteenth annual meeting of the Lake Superior Mining Institute will have concluded.

Today, the experts are visiting mines at Ely, Soudan, Biwabik, Eveleth and Irginia. A business session of the institute will be held in the high school auditorium at Virginia this evening.

Tomorrow will be spent at Mountain Iron, the Monroe-Tener mines and at Hibbing. There will be another business session of the institute Friday evening, at Close's hall in Hibbing. Saturady, the last day of the range trip, will be spent at Coleraine, which has great interest for the mining men but it is located in a much newer district than any of the other communities on the range.

During their stay on the range, the members of the institute will sleep and take most of their meals on their trains. Both are provided with sleepers and dining cars. In the two trains are all the private cars of the local Steel corporation officials, as well as those of a number of visiting railroad officials, who are honary members of the institute.

Many members of the institute attended the informal reception and smoker given in their honor at the Northland Country club last evening. Others visited the boat and yacht clubs. The special trains did not leave until 1 o'clock this morning so that the mining men had plenty of time to spend a pleasant evening in Duluth.

Yesterday afternoon, many of them took the special train which went to the Great Northern Power company's plant on the St. Louis river at Thomson. All of the engineers were much impressed with what they saw.

Eveleth, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute will be here for a short time today, while tomorrow they will come over from Virginia to inspect the Adams, Spruce and Fayal mines. Supt. J. H. Hearding of the Adams-Spruce is on the program to read a paper on "Biographical Sketches."

Hibbing, Minn., June 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will give the Lake Superior Mining Institute a royal reception here tomorrow. Shortly after noon Friday a reception committee of 100, headed by Frank Coventry, will go to the Monroe-Tenner yards on a special train and there meet the visitors. Each member of the committee will wear a badge with the inscription, "Reception—Ask Me." The members of the institute will each be given a letter of welcome explaining in detail the program of entertainment during their stay in Hibbing and each member of the institute will also be given a souvenir of Hibbing in the shape of a small blue print of the mines and roads of the Hibbing district.

After inspecting the Monroe-Tenar, the Hartley, the Myers, Shenango, Chisholm, Pearce, Clark, Leonard, Glen and Pillsbury the party will be brought into town and be given an opportunity to see the Morris, the Albany, Buffalo and Susquehanna, Burt, Sellers, Hull-Rust and the Mahoning with the largest exposed ore body in the world. Later the visitors will witness a ball game between Hibbing and Virginia.

AT HALF MAST FOR THIRTY DAYS

Flags Lowered Out of Respect to Grover Cleveland.

In accordance with President Roosevelt's order, the flags on all public buildings in Duluth will be placed at half mast today, to remain there for thirty days, in respect to the memory of ex-President Grover Cleveland, who died yesterday. The order of the president applies to all government offices throughout the world.

DR. PRICE'S WHEAT FLAKE CELERY FOOD

The name is a guarantee of its purity.

WHEAT HAS A DECLINE

Bearish Crop News Causes Pressure on the Market.

Flax Has an Advance and Closes Up in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 25.—The selling pressure during the latter part of the session in the American markets today caused a weak close in wheat.

Buying was somewhat irregular during the day. At the opening and once after that during the session in Duluth, July went over yesterday's close, but most of the time, the tone was easier. All the Northwestern crop news is bearish and there was practically no bullish news to offset these advices.

Liverpool closed ¾d higher.

The July option closed ¼c lower in Chicago, unchanged in Duluth, ⅝-¾c lower in Minneapolis, ⅜c lower in New York and ⅛c lower in Kansas City and ¼c lower in Winnipeg.

September wheat closed ⅞c lower in Duluth, ¾c lower in Chicago and Kansas City, ⅝c lower in Minneapolis, ⅛c lower in New York and ½-⅝c lower in St. Louis. The October option closed ⅝c lower in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ½c lower in Chicago and was unchanged in Liverpool. July oats closed ¼c lower in Chicago.

Car receipts at Duluth were 12 against 46 last year, and at Minneapolis 109 against 205 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 121 against 338 last year. Chicago received 4 against 19 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 237,000 bushels, last year, 584,000 bushels. Shipments, 265,000 bushels; last year, 206,000 bushels.

Primary reelpts of corn were 443,000 bushels, last year, 881,000 bushels. Shipments, 417,000 bushels, last year, 772,000 bushels.

Wheat was rather quiet in the Duluth market. The September wheat has now become the most active option. July wheat opened late at $1.04¼, declined to $1.03⅝ and closed at $1.03⅝, a loss of ¼c from yesterday. September wheat opened ⅛c higher at 90¾c, declined to 90⅜c, rallied to 90⅝c, declined to 89⅝c and closed there, a loss of ¾c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ⅛c lower and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2c over for July No. 1 northern.

Flax became stronger after the first hour and closed higher. July flax opened unchanged at $1.22, declined to $1.21½, reacted to $1.22⅝ and closed at $1.22⅝, a gain of ⅜c over yesterday. September flax opened late at $1.19¾, went to $1.20¼ and closed at $1.20½, a gain of ½c over yesterday. October flax opened late at $1.18¼, went to $1.19¼ and closed there, a gain of ½c over yesterday.

Oats closed ½c higher and other coarse grains unchanged.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard on track, $1.06⅜. To arrive: No. 1 northern, $1.06⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.03⅝. On track: No. 1 northern, $1.06⅜; No. 2 northern, $1.03⅝; July, $1.03⅝; September, 89⅝c. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Active Trading in Wheat, With Prices Easier on Good Weather.

Chicago, June 25.—There was active trading in wheat at the start today and the market was easy in view of greatly improved weather throughout the wheat belt. July opened ⅛c to ¾c lower, at 85⅞c to 87¾ and sold at 85c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 125 cars against 246 cars last week and 257 cars a year ago.

The market became weaker as trading progressed, pressure from continued liquidation of July forcing prices of all deliveries to a lower level. July sold off from 86⅝@87c to 85¾c and closed weak at net loss of ⅝@¾c at 85¼@85¾c.

Corn was dull and weak. Better weather than has prevailed for the past week was the chief influence in this market. July opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 68¾c to 68¾c and sold at 68¼c. Local receipts were 229 cars with 29 of contract grade.

The market continued weak throughout the session. The low point for July was 68c. The close was weak with July down ½c at 68¼c.

Oats were easy along with wheat and corn and trade was dull and featureless. July started ⅛c lower, at 44¾c and advanced to 45⅛c. Local receipts were 118 cars.

Provisions were firm, a strong market for hogs offsetting the influence of weakness in grains. September pork was unchanged to 2½c higher at $14.55 to $14.87½; lard was 2½c higher at $9.15. Ribs were 2½c higher, at $8.40.

Wheat—Close: July 85¼@85¾c; September, 85⅝c; December, 88⅝c. Corn—July, 68¼c; September, 68⅞@68¾c; December, 58⅝c. Oats—July, old, 45¼c; July, 44⅛c; September, 38¾@37¾c; December, 39¾c; May, 41⅝c. Pork—July, $14.50@14.55; September, $14.75; October, $14.85. Lard—July, $8.87½; September, $9.05; October, $9.12½. Ribs—July, $8.07½; September, $8.30; October, $8.37½@8.40. Rye—Cash, 72@77c. Barley—Cash, 56@60c Cash wheat—No. 2 red, 90@91c; No. 3 red, 88@89c; No. 2 hard, 90@92c; No. 3 hard, 88@89c; No. 1 northern, $1.06@1.06; No. 3 spring, 95c@$1.01. Corn—No. 2, 69¼@70c; No. 3, 69c.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Good Crop News All Around Puts a Weight on Wheat.

Minneapolis, June 25.—Estimates of 83,000,000 to 85,000,000 bushels for the Kansas wheat crop, fine weather permitting winter wheat harvesting and indications of its continuance, with good Northwest crop news from the growing spring wheat put a weight on the market. Cables were strong and Liverpool 1@1½d higher and had not the domestic news been bearish the market, which scored only a fair advance early might have done much better. Local elevator stocks are off 50,000 bushels for five days. Minneapolis got 169 cars today against 93. Duluth 12 against 45. The volume of business was too light to make activity and dullness ruled the pit except at intervals when Chicago turned lively. Near the close of the market there was considerable selling pressure put on and September felt it most, locally losing the early advance and closing lower than yesterday for both new and old September. July opened at $1.03⅝; high, $1.03¾; low, $1.03¼; close, $1.03⅝. Old July closed at $1.05. September wheat opened at 88⅝; high, 88¾c; low, 87¾c; close, 87¾c. Old September closed at 88⅞@89c.

Cash wheat was in fair demand at 3@½c over new July for No. 1 northern and 1½c over for No. 2. Millers were moderate buyers of the best grades. Close: No. 1 northern, $1.06⅜ spot, $1.06 to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.04¼ spot, $1.04⅜ to arrive; No. 3 wheat, $1.00¾@1.02⅝. No. 3 yellow corn, 68¾@68¾c; No. 3 white oats, 38⅝@39c; No. 2 rye, 69¾@71c.

Barley—Receipts 6 cars. The market was off again by 1c for all grades and there was indifferent demand. Close, 48@56c.

Flax—Receipts 28 cars. Demand less urgent today; only fair at the Duluth July price. Close, $1.22⅝. Mill stuffs quotable on the basis of $18 for bran in bulk, with millers holding 50c higher, but $18 the current price quoted by brokers.

The flour market was a little better in spots. Two milling companies reported sales larger than earlier in the week, but business on the whole was still moderate. Shipments, 38,336 barrels. First patents, $5.30@5.45; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $4.20@4.30; second clears, $3.55@3.60.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, June 25.—Close: Wheat—Spot quiet; No. 2 red western winter, 7s 6d; No. 1 California, 7s 8d; futures, quiet; July, 7s 1¼d; September, 6s 11¾d. December, 6s 10¼d. Corn—Spot, new American, kiln dried, firm, 6s 1¾d; old, American, mixed, steady, 6s 1¾d; futures quiet; July, 6s 1¾d; September, 6s ¼d.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Gay & Sturgis: The Boston & Montana company is operating at only about one-third of normal capacity and is dividing work among the miners, giving all a chance to work part time. The Great Northern tracks between Butte and Great Falls will be repaired by Saturday, but the Boston & Montana smelter will not be repaired for some time thereafter.

To advertise your real estate twice as much as another man advertises his does not indicate that you are twice as anxious to sell as he is—but that you know twice as much as he does about how to sell.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Prices Turned Downward Early, But Rallied and Held Firm.

American Locomotive Had Bulge on Declaring of Usual Dividend.

New York, June 25.—The opening stock market today showed a good deal of strength in spite of the very light volume of the dealings. St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Westinghouse Electric were lifted about a point and Union Pacific and Reading large fractions.

Not enough business was done to change the opening level of prices, notably. Colorado & Southern gained 1; Westinghouse Electric, 2½, and the first preferred, 6 points. International Paper preferred yielded 1 and United States Pipe preferred 4.

Prices turned downward in sympathy with renewed weakness in Rock Island securities and Missouri Pacific. The previous advances were generally cancelled. At a slight rally trading fell into stagnation. Bonds were irregular.

The declaration of the usual dividend on American Locomotive caused a jump of 4⅝, and infused some strength into the rest of the list.

The market closed firm and dull. American Locomotive's gain reached 5¼ and helped to hold the general list firm with the day's small gains well maintained. Corn Products preferred rose 1½. St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred fell 2½.

HOW TOBACCO IS DOCTORED.

Answers: As the result of considerable experience of tobacco culture and manufacture in Cuba, Jamaica, the Philippines and the Southern states, I can confidently assert (writes an American correspondent) that nearly all tobaccos are doctored in various ways in order to suit the tastes of different consumers.

Each manufacture—even in Havana—has his own secret methods, handed down from father to son, which are regarded as perfectly legitimate and necessary in the preparation of the soothing weed. Saltpetre is added to the tobacco to make it burn well, licorice, honey, molasses and maple sugar to give sweetness to it for the special benifit of chewers, and rum to make it keep well and preserve its properties.

Nearly every plant which will afford a perfume is used in the preparation of what is known as "fancy" tobaccos; but it is not true, as some suppose, that opium and deleterious drugs are employed, save in a few brands of imported Turkish and Egyptian cigarettes.

Among the flavors used are coffee, tea valerian, lemon, orange, geranium, sassafras, thyme, anise, mint and cinnamon. Gum and glycerine are occasionally employed to bind the tobacco particles so that they shall not crumble into dust. The various ingredients are made into a kind of sauce, into which the tobacco leaves are dipped, or with which they are sprinkled.

FOR SALE
Stock in the North West Consolidated Mining Co.
Copper Mine, near Everett, Wash.
We have here not a prospect but a real copper mine and with a considerable amount of ore blocked out and ready for shipment We have over 1,000 feet of tunnel and drift work on ledges and have any quantity of high grade copper ore in sight. Our mine is only one mile from railroad and only forty miles from one of the country's leading smelters.
We have placed on market now 200,000 shares at 25 cents a share; this money will be spent to put in tramway and other machinery to put mine on shipping basis, and no more stock will go at such sacrificial price as this.
Our property is a real mine We do not sell wild cat stock or try to swindle or hold people up. We sincerely invite and see our property.
And we positively know that no mine has ever been discovered that has a greater future before it than the North West Consolidated Mine of Snohomish County, Washington.
Our office is in the American National Bank building, rooms 216-217, Everett, Wash. For further information call on

STREET CARS.
NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.
This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.
The fare for a continuous ride in one direction between any two points on either one of these lines is 5c.
The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.
This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of forseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines, nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and, therefore, cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

FISHING ON THE RIVER

Good Catches of Wall-Eyed Pike and Trout Reported.

Fear That Power Dam Had Spoiled Sport, Dispelled.

Fishing is said to be the best this season on the St Louis river that it has been in years. It is estimated that more fish have been taken out of the river so far this year than there have been in the last three years together.

Most of the fish have been wall-eyed pike, a species of the perch family, and a very gamey member of the finny tribe, which any disciple of Isaak Walton delights in landing. Last year hardly a wall-eyed pike was hooked on the river, or in fact any kind of game fish. It was feared that the building of the Great Northern Power company's dam at Thompson had something to do with it, and that sport for the fisherman on the river had been spoiled forever. But this year all fears have been dispelled, and the rod and reel are working overtime, with satisfactory results. Some say that the exceptional fishing is due to the heavy rains we have had, which have brough the river up to a high level recently.

Hardly a day goes by but some fine mess of wall-eyes and pickerel is caught at or above Spirit lake, though the best catches seem to come from Fond du Lac. This week Jack Schuler brought in a string of 23 beauties the largest of which was 8½ pounds. Several seven pounders are reported as having been caught. J. Shilaluk, city fire warden, returned from an excursion with 22 which he distributed among his neighbors.

There has also been some good sport on the small trout streams that flow into the river from the Wisconsin side. Hugo Jacoby, who spends every possible spare minute of his time up the river, the other day, filled a creel with thirty speckled ones, from one of the little Wisconsin creeks. He says that was the largest catch that has been made there this year.

Wahlberg-Highmark.

Last evening Miss Anna K. Wahlberg became the bride of Tobias L. Highmark at the home of her father, John G. Wahlberg, 129 Sixty-third avenue west. Prof. K. E. Forsell of Minneapolis, formerly pastor of the Swedish Mission church, performed the ceremony. Miss Jennie Wahlberg accompanied the bride and Emil Highmark was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Highmark will live at 221 Sixty-third avenue west.

VIOLATED STATE LAW

Bahr and McQueen Are Being Tried on Indictments.

The trial of Max Bahr, bartender at the St. James bar, who was indicted by the last grand jury for keeping the saloon open after hours, was begun in Judge Ensign's room this afternoon, Judge S. F. White appearing for the state and M. H. McMahon for the defendant.

Bahr was one of the local saloon men, who, after being convicted and fined in the municipal court for keeping their places of business open after hours, under the city ordinances, was also indicted by the grand jury under the state liquor laws.

Judge Dibell, a few days ago, released Bahr under a habeas corpus proceeding, following his conviction in the municipal court, the effect of the decision being to hold invalid the city ordinance governing the sale of liquor.

The municipal court case, it is claimed, has no bearing on the trial in the district court, where Bahr is being tried under the state law.

Following the disposition of the case against Bahr, the state will take up the case against Alexander McQueen, a Lake avenue saloonkeeper, who was indicted under the state law for keeping his place open after hours. McQueen was also tried in the municipal court, under the city ordinances, and paid a fine.

It is expected that these two criminal cases wil be the last taken up this week.

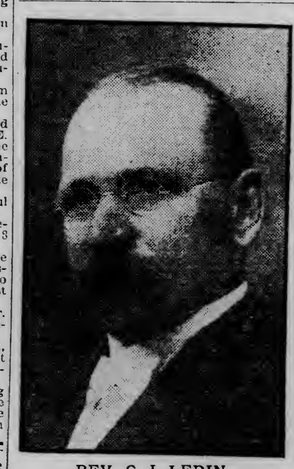

Will Cure Consumption.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." You never hear of any one using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied. Sold by all druggists.

No Need of Suffering From Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment hould be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Saved "Beau" From Jail.

Because Minnie Hanson had no desire to see her "best fellow" sent up on a larceny charge, Howard Autterson was released, after a trial in the municipal court yesterday. He was arrested on the complaint of the girl and her mother, who claimed he had taken a $5 watch belonging to Miss Hanson. When she was called to the witness stand Miss Hanson testified that she gave the watch to the young man. The defendant, it is said, was not on good terms with the mother, but the daughter blocked her efforts to have Autterson convicted.

Larsen Gets Damages.

Lewis C. Larsen was awarded damages in the sum of $175 against W. Hennecke and A. C. Vallee by a jury in the circuit court yesterday. The defendants did not make an appearance at the trial. Larsen sued for $1,000 for an assault alleged to have been made on him by the two defendants at the Saratoga hotel some time ago. He was thrown out of a private room by Hennecke and Vallee, who claimed they were dining with some friends and that Larsen "butter in."

Will Appraise Property.

The commission appointed by the court to appraise the property that the Soo road seeks under condemnation proceedings for a right-of-way in Superior has served notice of a hearing on the various property owners, and it is believed that the company will begin operations within a short time to build its line within the city limits. The work will probably start along the bay front first, where some docks and elevators are to be erected.

More Cures Performed By the Great Wittman

Mrs. Sustow, Mrs. Girings and Many Others Made to Hear the Tick of the Watch.

Last night one of the largest crowds ever gathered together in Duluth, stood at the corner of Twenty-third avenue and Superior street west, to witness the second appearance of the Great Wittman. Cheers could be heard for blocks, as the healer applied his Balm, and, by certain manipulations of his hands, made the deaf hear the whisper. Among those to be treated was a Mrs. Sustow, who has been deaf for twenty-seven years. Mr. De Maire, living at 601 Garfield avenue, was very successfully treated. Mrs. Girings, who gave her residence as 23 Eighth street, was most gracious, and shook the doctor by the hand, saying she had not been able to hear a watch tick for twenty years. A small boy, with a very stiff neck, was next, and in less than the time it takes to tell it Wittman had him moving his neck as if he had forgotten it was ever stiff, a thing which the child has not been able to do for two months. There were throngs to be treated, but his time was limited to fifteen minutes, and they were requested to come tonight. The vaudeville ,which is given entirely free, is one of the best ever seen in the city, and better than we have paid 25c for many times. Wittman announced a special lecture for tonight, with pictures, illustrating the different diseases treated successfully without the knife.

The show grounds, at Twenty-third and Superior street west are sure to be crowded to here this truly wonderful speaker.

Offices have been opened in the Vincent block, at Twenty-first and Superior street west, where consultation and examination can be had from 10 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m.

SEARCH FOR LOST SONS

Finder of Unidentified Body Receives Several Pathetic Letters.

"Please describe the man to me; I want to know if he is my son, whom I have not seen or heard from for many years."

This is the burden of eight letters received by Andrew Thompson of the West end from mothers in different parts of the state, who read in the newspapers accounts of how Mr. Thompson found the body of an unknown man in a camp at Corona, a small station in Carlton county, on the Northern Pacific road.

All the letters are pathetic in the extreme. Some are long and some are short. In each one, however, the fond mother lets it be inferred that she is worrying her life away, in a hopeless quest for the son that has forgotten to write, or who may, perhaps, be dead.

Two or three of the communications show the writers to be of the scantiest education, but the others are well written, most of them evidently being from women of refinement. Mr. Thompson has answered each one as best he could, but has received no replies as yet.

Work of piling and loading ties, posts and poles has been suspended at the camp in question, owned by the Zenith Cedar company, because of the carelessness of the Carlton county authorities in burying the body of the unknown. J. W. Fee of that company, and Andrew Thompson, who does some work for him, say the remains were interred directly across the threshold of the door leading to the camp, only two or three feet in front of it, so everybody entering the place has to step over the grave.

The grave itself, it is claimed, is only eighteen inches deep, and is dug in low, swamp ground, so the body is covered with water. The stench arising from the place is so offensive that men cannot work in the neighborhood, and work there is at a standin low, swampy ground, so the body was buried without any inquest being held, and is rather of the opinion that diphthtria was the cause of death.

ATTITUDE OF VENEZUELA

Will be Better Known on Arrival of Secretary Sleeper.

Not Believed Present Condition Will Continue Long.

Washington, June 26.—The state department is awaiting with interest the arrival at Washington of Jacob Sleeper, the secretary of the American legation at Caracas, who was summoned home from his post because of the dissatisfaction of the administration with the manner in which the Castro government has been dealing with interests of citizens of this country. The officials feel from personal interviews with Mr. Sleeper that they will be better informed as to the present attitude of President Castro.

It is believed here that President Castro will not be willing to permit the present anamolous situation to continue indefinitely without taking action of some kind.

The cordial relations that exist between the state department and Senor Volez-Goitica, Venezuelan charge in this city, is looked upon as an easy channel for any resumption of a friendly discussion of the situation. With Consular Agent Brewer in charge at Caracas this government should communicate easily with the Venezuelan capital at any time.

Much interest was attached here to the statement of Mr. Sleeper and Lieut. Ruggles, the military attache, in an interview given the Associated Press at Willemstad. In this the two members of the legation reiterated that they were courteously treated by Venezuela up to the time of their departure and that they were awaiting instructions from Washington.

Sleeper Heard From.

Washington, June 26.—Jacob Sleeper, the secretary of the American legation at Caracas, who was summoned home by this government and who left that city several days ago, has reported his arrival at Willemstad to the department of state. He was carried to Willemstad by the gunboat Marietto from Porto Cabello. Mr. Sleeper announces that he is ready to proceed to the American naval station at Guantanamo, and arrangements will be made between the state and navy departments today for sending the Marietta there. Mr. Sleeper will remain at Guantanamo only long enough to catch a steamer on his way to New York, going by way of Cienfuegos and Havana, Cuba. With a grim sense of humor, in view of the conditions under which he left Venezuela, Mr. Sleeper suggests to the state department that it is impracticable for him to proceed to New York direct from Willemstad, as the first steamer leaving for New York goes by way of Porto Cabello, Venezuela, which place he had just left. Mr. Sleeper's dispatch adds that Military Attache Ruggles and family, after undergoing quarantine (presumably at Willemstad) will proceed to Washington.

FOR MONETARY COMMISSION

National Board of Trade is Endeavoring to Collate Views.

Washington, June 26.—In connection with the work of the national monetary commission, created at the last session of congress, the national board of trade is making an effort to collate views for presentation before the commission. Notification has been sent to all the organizations making up the national body, emphasizing the necessity of immediate consideration of the matter. This notice is given in a letter issued by President Frank D. La Lanne of the board, who points out that it is peculiarly incumbent upon the board to consider the matter in an endeavor to agree upon the principles of a system for presentation.

The letter adds: "The subject dealing with the most vital principle in the business world, and affecting the varied interests of ninety millions of people spreading over a continent with all the consequent conditions of environment, nothing is so sensitive as finance and moreover each branch of trade is inclined to look solely upon the effect of any change upon its own immediate interests and there will therefore be great difficulty in harmonizing so as to make a comprehensive national system.

"If the main principles can be agreed on, the necessary changes should be by gradual steps, all tending steadfastly towards the desired end which can only be reached by giving time so as to avoid disturbance of existing conditions. Owing to the lamentable effects of the recent financial crisis, the country seems fully alive to the necessity of a change, and the opportunity should be availed of, and acted upon while this impression continues.

BELIEVES ONE MAN SHOULD RUN THINGS.

Washington, June 26.—The Washington Post today states that President Roosevelt believes the time has come when the interests of the District of Columbia demand a better form of government, and that he wishes to have a one man head of affairs for the national capital, in place of the organization headed by three commissioners, which has prevailed since 1874. It is stated that he will make this recommendation to congress, next winter, asking to have the power of appointment, as in the case of commissioners, as well as the power of removal placed in the hands of the president.

AN EXPERT SAYS MANY MEN OF RESPONSIBILITY ARE INSANE

Kansas City, June 26.—At the session of the Society of Neurology and Psychiatry held today in conjunction with the meeting of the American Institute of Homeopathy, Dr. R. Montfort Schley, assistant physician of the Gowanda, N. Y., state hospital, read a paper on "Insane Who Have Held Responsible Positions," in which he stated that he has been impressed with the number of patients who, while still holding responsible positions, have been sent to the asylum. "When we think that every day we are liable to place our life in the keeping of an insane railroad employe, our honor and good name in the hands of a mentally unsound lawyer, our money in the care of an incapable banker, it is certainly appalling.

"Upon railroads and traction companies physical examinations are always given men who are to hold positions of any stress or responsibility, but the mental condition of these people is never inquired into. If they are able to walk and talk in any way that an indulgent superior can call normal, they are left in their position until some terrible accident occurs and the nature of their disease is self-evident.

"A cashier was left, eight months after attempting suicide, to run a national bank with practically no supervision. A lawyer, who was responsible for six estates with widows and orphans, was able to continue for several years in charge of these large amounts of money without his true normal condition being suspected."

MINNEAPOLIS MAN DRIVES AUTO INTO CURB WHILE GOING 60 MILES AN HOUR

Deliberately Smashed His Valuable Machine to Avoid Collision.

Henry Wilcox Hurled Across a Sidewalk Into a Lot.

Was Making Speed Test of Auto for Fire Chief.

Minneapolis, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—To avert a collision with another automobile at Dupont and Douglas avenues, Minneapolis, last night, Harry Wilcox, president of the Wilcox Automobile company, deliberately drove his machine into the curb while speeding at a rate of sixty miles an hour. The machine was utterly demolished and Wilcox was hurled several feet through the air, but escaped serious injury. The occupant of the other machine, Archibald Wagner, 1712 Dupont avenue south, son of F. H. Wagner, president of the Wagner Insurance company, was unhurt, and the rear of his machine was slightly damaged, as a result of the impact.

The machine in which Wilcox rode was one intended to be used by Fire Chief Canterbury on runs to fires, and was making its speed test at the time of the accident. As they approached the intersecting streets both drivers observed each other and endeavored to avoid a collision. Wilcox realized instantly that a collision was inevitable and deliberately drove his machine straight for the curb. The huge machine struck the curb squarely and Wilcox was hurled across the sidewalk into an adjoining lot. Wagner was thrown from his seat into the street, but neither was injured and were on their feet when assistance arrived. That both men were not killed outright is a miracle, as Wilcox's machine was entirely wrecked and lay in a heap of ruins near the curb, a mass of practically worthless debris. Wagner's machine can be repaired.

TAFT TO START FOR NEW YORK

Will Dine With Friend and Visit President on Saturday.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—Secretary Taft, after four days of work and festivities incident to the commencement exercises at Yale, today concluded his sojourn in New Haven. He will go to New York some time this afternoon. Mrs. Taft and Master Charles Taft left for New York at 9 a. m., and will go directly to Washington.

"This has been," said the secretary, "one of the most enjoyable commencements I ever attended. Every moment has had its delights. It was too bad that we did not make it more interesting for Harvard in the boat race; but we defeated them at baseball, anyway."

Mr. Taft had particular pleasure in meeting so large a number of his former classmates, the reunion of '78 having been the largest and most successful in the history of the class.

Notwithstanding the fatigue of the last four days, Secretary Taft expressed himself today as feeling in excellent health and spirits.

Mrs. Taft and her son, who have been with the secretary since his arrival in New Haven, proceeded directly to Washington, where Mrs. Taft will begin preparations for breaking up their home in the national capital. They will spend practically the entire summer at Hot Springs, Va., only one or two short trips from there to other points being in contemplation.

In New York tonight Mr. Taft will dine with Jacob G. Schmidlapp of Cincinnati and perhaps another friend or two, but he says the dinner will not be in any sense significant. While in New York, the secretary will confer with a few personal and political friends as to plans for the approaching campaign and as to the closing up of his official business in the war department. After his conference with the president tomorrow at Oyster Bay, he will proceed practically directly to Washington.

HE EMBEZZLED COUNTY FUNDS

Former Treasurer of Sac County, Iowa, Placed Under Arrest.

Sac City, Iowa, June 26.—Following the report of an expert, showing the amount of a shortage, came the arrest of Former County Treasurer William H. Pettis, last night, on information sworn to by twenty citizens of Sac county, charging Pettis with embezzlement of county funds. Pettis furnished a bond of $5,000, signed by his wife, which secures his appearance before the grand jury.

Real estate and other property, valued at $27,000, have been turned over to the bondsmen of Pettis. The alleged shortage aggregates about $25,000.

CHARGED WITH COMPLICITY.

Paris, June 26.—A man named Renard has been arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of Auguste Remy, a wealthy retired banker, 77 years of age, who was stabbed to death in his home in this city the night of June 6. Renard was a steward in the Remy household.

BIG BRIDGE FINISHED.

Vancouver, Wash., June 26.—The steel bridge across the Columbia river, at this place, said to be the longest steel bridge in the world, is now fully completed. The bridge was built by the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad at a cost of $2,000,000. It is two miles long, including the approaches. The main structure of ten spans is 2,806 feet in length. It is the first and only bridge to span the Columbia between Oregon and Washington.

SHERMAN FEELS FINE

Expects to Leave Hospital Not Later Than Next Wednesday.

Plans Conference With Political Friends at Utica, July 3.

Cleveland, June 26.—"I feel fine this morning," was the greeting Dr. E. P. Carter had when he visited Representative James S. Sherman at Lakeside hospital at 11 a. m. today.

"Doctor, when can I go home?" the patient asked.

He was assured that from present indications he could leave the hospital not later than Wednesday next. The vice presidential nominee immediately began to plan for a conference with political friends at Utica, on July 3.

Mr. Carter stated that Mr. Sherman had obtained seven hours of refreshing sleep during the night and felt in high spirits, freely joking with those around his bedside. His condition physically was about normal when Dr. Carter called, his temperature being 98, pulse 72, respiration 22.

At a conference held this morning between Dr. Carter and counselling physicians, Doctors Allen and Stone, the greatest assurance was expressed as to the ultimate complete recovery of Mr. Sherman.

The patient's temperature was reported as normal at midnight last night, and continued constant during the remainder of the night and today.

Mrs. Sherman has completely regained her strength and was in the best of spirits today.

HIGHWAYMEN ATTACK CAR

Several Shots Fired, But Motorman Succeeds in Getting Away.

Springfield, Ill., June 26.—An express car on the Illinois Traction system, leaving St. Louis last night, carrying a large amount of money and other valuables, was made the object of an attack by three highwaymen at Lynch station, outside of East St. Louis.

C. E. Hartman, a Chicago & Alton dispatcher, saw the would-be robbers creeping along the grass, and gave a signal to the car to go on.

Several shots were fired by the highwaymen, one of them striking the car, and three shots were returned by the motorman and conductor of the car. No one was hurt.

TO FACILITATE AUTO TRAVEL.

Paris, June 26.—The government has decided to call an international conference in Paris, with the object of establishing regulations to facilitate automobile travel in Europe. This conference will meet simultaneously with the international road congress.

DISASTROUS FIRE RAGING ON DULUTH WATER FRONT WILL CAUSE $750,000 LOSS

Elevator D of Consolidated Group Burned to Ground.

Fire Spreads Across Slip to Northern Pacific Warehouse.

Standard Oil Warehouse is Threatened by the Flames.

A disastrous fire, which will entail a property loss of nearly $750,000, is raging in the Garfield avenue elevator district, this afternoon.

The fire broke out in Elevator D of the consolidated group. The company has four elevators in a line on its Garfield avenue slip. Elevator G is the one nearest Garfield avenue, and next to it are D, C and B.

The elevator in which the fire originated contained 300,000 bushels of wheat, 90,000 bushels of flax and 7,000 bushels of barley. The fire broke out about 12:30, and the first alarm was given at 12:39. Headquarters and No. 2 companies responded, and soon realized that they would not be able to cope with the flames. A second alarm, at 12:46, brought out Nos. 3 and 6 fire companies, and the general alarm was given at 1:02, when the entire fire fighting apparatus of the city turned out to battle with the flames, which were fast becoming more menacing, fanned by a brisk northwest wind.

Is Total Loss.

After the first half hour there was little hope for the elevator and great possibilities that the fire would cause an enormous loss. It spread from the elevator across the slip to the Northern Pacific warehouse No. 1, a wooden structure, which burned like tinder as soon as the first sparks caught. The warehouse, which was the least used of the company's warehouses, had a quantity of flour and cereals stored in it, the exact amount unknown, and it, too, soon became a hopeless object of the firemen's attentions.

With the warehouse, the Northern Pacific dock took fire and the flames rapidly ate up the dry timber. The tug Superior of the Great Lakes Towing company's fleet turned into the slip as soon as the fire in the dock gained a little headway and battled bravely with the flames, although without fire fighting facilities of any account. It succeeded in checking the onward sweep of the flames toward the end of the dock somewhat, but was handicapped by lack of a sufficient number of streams.

Fire Tug on Scene.

The tug America, fire tug at the D., M. & N. coal docks, arrived at the scene of the fire at 2 o'clock and with its fire fighting facilities began pouring water on the burning dock, which was then almost consumed. The force of its efforts were shown in the subdued activity of the flames and it promised to hold them well in check.

Streams Fall Short.

In the meantime the city firemen were battling for the salvation of surrounding property, which was menaced. Scores of streams poured on the elevator, from which belched smoke and burning embers to form a black cloud and be swept over the bay by the wind. The streams were ineffectual, in a measure, the force being unable to send them to the top of the elevator, where the flames held full sway.

While one corps was at work matching its strength and resources against the great force, which was rapidly destroying the elevator, the larger force was doing everything possible to prevent a spread of the flames to the surrounding buildings. Almost directly south lay the other elevators of the

FUNERAL OF EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND HELD WITHOUT EULOGY, SERMON OR SONG

Simple Burial Service of Presbyterian Church Used.

President Roosevelt and Other Distinguished Men Present.

Number of Mourners Present Limited to About 150.

Princeton, N. J., June 26.—Without eulogy, sermon or song, but with the simple service of the Presbyterian church, Grover Cleveland will be buried, late this afternoon, in Princeton cemetery, beside the ivy-covered grave of his daughter Ruth. Although President Roosevelt will be in attendance, as will Governor Fort of New Jersey, Governor Hughes of New York, Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia and other distinguished personages, they will not attend in an official capacity, but as friends of the late ex-president.

The last honors to be paid the dead statesman will be strictly private, both at "Westland," the Cleveland residence, and at the cemetery, in compliance with the wishes, not only of Mrs. Cleveland, but those of Mr. Cleveland as well.

The services at the house, which will begin at 5 o'clock, will last about half an hour. The clergymen who will alternate in the ceremonies there and at the grave are the Rev. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton university; the Dr. William R. Richards of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York; the Rev. Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Princeton, in which Mrs. Cleveland is a communicant, and the Rev. Maitland V. Bartle, a former pastor of Mr. Cleveland and the present pastor of the West Farms Presbyterian church of New York.

Active Pall Bearers.

The active pall bearers, who were chosen by Mrs. Cleveland, and who will officiate either at "Westland" or at the grave, are Mayor George B. McClellan of New York; Commodore E. C. Benedict, Dr. Richard Watson Gil-

A WISCONSIN MAN STABS HIS WIFE.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 26.—John Welsh, a farmer, 32 years old, fatally wounded his wife at a railway depot in Colfax today by stabbing her six times with a pair of scissors. He had been drinking and was enraged at his wife for telling the police to send him home.

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN TEXAS.

Dallas, Tex., June 26.—During the funeral services of the late ex-President Grover Cleveland, this afternoon, memorial exercises will be held in this city. Gen. W. L. Cabel will preside. He served as United States marshal in Texas during Cleveland's first administration, and is the oldest living appointee in Texas.

HARLOW WINS MATCH WITH W. HENDERSON.

Columbus, Ohio, June 26.—Fred Harlow of Newark, Ohio, won the Grand American handicap today in the shooting off at the Arlington range with his rival, Woolford Henderson of Lexington, Ky. Harlow broke eighteen out of twenty birds, and Henderson broke seventeen out of twenty. The two men tied yesterday for first honors, each breaking ninety-two out of 100 targets.

As a special closing feature of the Grand American shoot, A. H. Hardy of Lincoln, said to be the world's greatest rifle and pistol shot, will give an exhibition.

CARETAKER MURDERED

Mystery Surrounding the Death of Chicago Man Cleared Up.

Prisoner at Pittsburg Confesses He Was Witness to Killing.

Chicago, June 26.—The fact that a murder was committed ten dasy ago at 33 Cedar street, near the fashionable Lake Shore drive, was established today, when information reached the police that J. B. Hosters, under arrest in Pittsburg, has confessed that he was present when the crime was committed. Valentine Heider, the victim, caretaker in charge of the home of C. H. Gottfrid, a wealthy brewer, in the latter's absence was found dead on the basement floor and the police have been in doubt whether he committed suicide or was murdered. The confession of Hoster charges C. L. Smith with the shooting of Heiser. Smith, according to the Pittsburg authorities, has been traced to Buffalo, N. Y. A watch and ring, said to have belonged to Heiser, were found in the possession of Hoster who said he had received them from Smith.

WEATHER—Partly cloudy and cooler with possibly showers or thunder storms tonight or Saturday; fresh southerly to easterly winds.

Enthusiasm in Smart Clothes

THE enthusiasm for smart styles is contagious. It cannot be drowned out by storm or abated by unseasonably cold weather. Proper fabrics and shades rightly fashioned and tailored are the "stuff" for young men—of any age.

The nifty browns, the classy grays, the clever olives and tans—shades of the forest, field and jungle—modeled by real artist designers, tailored by skilled hands and labeled "Oak Hall Hand-made" have brought this store a vastly increased business this spring season as distributors of the best clothes to be found.

Our great stock of suits, in distinctive, exclusive models, augmented by many new and exclusive fabrics and patterns, with values no other Duluth store can equal are "at your service" at prices ranging from $10 to $30

MUST SERVE OUT FINE IN JAIL

Mr. and Mrs. John Esterlund, who last Monday promised Judge Windom they would leave town for good if allowed to go under suspended sentence, failed to keep their word, and were arrested again last night by Patrolman Dickman. The sixty-day sentence imposed upon them Monday will be made to stick, and they will languish in the county jail for the next two months. The judge told them this would be the case if they were caught within the city limit within the next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Esterlund are charged with running a disorderly house on St. Croix avenue. It is said to be the noisiest place in town, and the Esterlunds, through it, have caused the police a good deal of trouble. The man in the case is only 22 years old, and Minnie, his wife, is about 40 years old, and looks more. They have kept themselves locked in their house since Monday, venturing forth only at night.

FORGER MAKES A GOOD HAUL

A clever forger, who has been working the range towns, must have cleared up a good sum of money this week. A total of fifteen forged checks made out by the man have been received by the local First National bank in the last two days.

Eveleth and Hibbing were hit the hardest. The bits of paper are supposed to have been issued by the Minnesota Steel Mining company of Mount Iron. There is no such company in existence.

The checks ranged in amounts from $75 to $90. They were placed in the hands of the police, who are now working on the case. Every one of the checks which has so far turned up bears a different name from the others. They were cashed for the most part in saloons and hotels, by a man dressed as a laborer or a miner.

Duluth stores, business houses, hotels and saloons have been warned to be careful in cashing checks.

WILCOX MADE LIEUTENANT

Sergt. Wilcox of the police force was successful in passing the examination for promotion to the rank of lieutenant, and will continue in charge of the West Duluth district, where he has been stationed since the death of Lieut. Briggs.

The civil service board passed on all the civil service examinations last night, and decided on eligibles for the fire and police departments, and also for library assistants and promotions. Fifteen men took the examination for first grade patrolman and all passed with a good mark.

Of the six men who tried the examination for firemen, only one failed. Eight were examined for assistant librarians, and only three passed that mark. The names of the successful candidates were submitted to the different departments today, and those who are not appointed at once will be placed on the eligible list.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED BEYOND

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 26.—Lieut. Col. Ammon A. Auger, U. S. A., who for the past two months has been stationed at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, died last night of Brights disease. Col Auger was born in Michigan, fifty-five yeears ago and graduated at West Point.

Paris, June 26.—The death is announced of Vice Admiral Charles Regnault de Presmesnil. He was born in 1837, entered the service in 1853 and was made an admiral in 1893.

Mrs. Lillie Arrives in the City.

Mrs. R. S. Lillie of Santa Barbara, Cal., is in the city and will deliver in the Steinway hall a series of lectures upon the "Philosophy of Spiritualism." These are lectures and have not embodied in them any of the phenomena. The character of all Mrs. Lillie's lectures has been such that it is unnecessary to enlarge upon her standing as a public speaker further than to say that she is without doubt America's foremost lady lecturer before the people today.

She will open this series at the Steinway hall this evening. Hon. Judge A. N. McGindley, of Duluth will act as chairman of the meeting and a special selection will be rendered upon the piano by Miss Peery.

HIS HOME SCORCHED

Claude G. Lyman Finds His Kitchen in Flames.

Fire Probably Started From a Pan of Grease.

At the call of fire at an early hour this morning, Claude G. McLyman of 400 North Fifty-eighth avenue ran from his home, partly clad and in his bare feet, to see which one of his neighbors might be the unfortunate one, only to find that it was the rear of his own dwelling that was ablaze.

McLyman had just returned to his room after starting the fire for breakfast, at 5 o'clock this morning, when he heard some one shout fire. He rushed to the back of the house as soon as he discovered that it was his own home aflame, to secure his shoes which he had left in the kitchen when he built the fire. The flames had gained such headway by that time that it was impossible to enter, so, still barefooted, he ran to the nearest alarm and called the department.

Though the flames had such a good start that they had badly scorched the two houses on the adjoining lots, when the department arrived, the firemen soon had them under control and were back at the station within an hour from the time they left.

McLyman thinks that the fire started from a pan of grease that was on the stove when he built the fire in the range. The range is in a little back shed off the house. He thinks that when the grease became hot it flamed up setting fire to the partition between the house and the shed. The houses next door are so close, being built on 25-foot lots, that had there been any wind all three would have been destroyed. All three houses were insured.

WILL TALK TO CLUB.

Mayor Haven Will Explain Movement for Playgrounds.

As president of the Duluth Playgrounds association, Mayor Haven will, this evening, address the members of the West Duluth Commercial club, at their regular weekly meeting, held in the rooms over the Western State bank. Other members of the association have also been invited to talk on the subject of playgrounds for this city, and their location.

The invitation to speak on the subject was extended to Mayor Haven and his colleagues, after a communication had been received at the club's meeting last Friday, from Mrs. I. P. Swangie, who is a West Duluth member of the Women's Council. The communication was a request that the West Duluth Commercial club lend its support to getting one of the first playgrounds for West Duluth. The club discussed the matter thoroughly, and finally decided to call upon some of the members of the playgrounds association to explain their ideas on the subject to them.

It is the wish of the club that the meeting be well attended tonight, as the matter in hand is one of importance to West Duluth, as it promises to solve, to a great extent, the problem of creating some healthful place of recreation for the children.

WEPT WITH JOY

Mrs. Deerheart Overcome at the Lecture Last Night.

Tonight a Contest for the Boys—$5 Prize to Winner.

Last night when Wittman invited the deaf, maimed and blind to come upon the platform and be treated there was such a rush that it was impossible for Wittman to give them all treatment, but were told to come tonight and it required the assistance of two men to keep them back off the platform. The first to come forward was Mr. Lundholm from West Duluth, who had been deaf for five years. Wittman applied the balm and in three minutes he could hear a whisper. The next was Mrs. Hagen, who had been paralyzed on the right side, and after Wittman had given her a thorough examination he told the lady that her's was a case of complete paralysis, and with a few lively tunes from the band, Wittman was applying his cure for paralysis, and in three minutes the lady was able to raise her hand above her head. The next was Mrs. Deerheart; she had been troubled with her eyes, which greatly affected her sight, and after Wittman had given her one of his famous treatments, she could see so good that she broke down and wept, with tears in her eyes. She thanked Wittman for the relief he had given her, after which an outburst of applause from the vast crowd was given to Wittman for the relief that he had given the woman. Mr. E. Lloyd, Fifty-ninth avenue west, Duluth, was treated for blindness and was relieved to such an extent that he shook Wittman's hand and thanked him. Frank Hadlow, 2005 West First street, was relieved of deafness. Clark Lewis of West Duluth was also relieved in the same manner. The office is crowded with people, the hours of which are from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4. Tonight the boys' contest, the winner receiving $5. Don't miss this.

Would Adopt Boy.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Baldwin of Fifty-eighth avenue west and Grand avenue have petitioned the district court to adopt Elmer Johnson, also known as Robert James. The child is 4 years old. It was left at the St. James Orphanage shortly after its birth by Mrs. E. Johnson, who stated that her husband was dead and she could not support both herself and the child. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin have been taking care of the boy for about three years and now wish to adopt him.

Object to Sandsuckers.

The removal of sand from along the lake shore of Minnesota Point, by sand suckers, is arousing the ire of residents of that part of the city who claim they have received no encouragement from city authorities, government officials or anybody else when complaints have been made of the practice. It is claimed that large holes have been made within a hundred yards of the shore into which the waves carry the sand from a point near the shore, causing the point to become narrowed in many places. One resident of the point, it is said, threatenes to stop the removal of the sand by force if necessary.

Two Cases Stricken.

Two civil cases for trial by the court, were striken from the calendar in Judge Cant's room this monring, there being no appearance on the part of the jarties to the suits. One was the Torrens case of R. M. Bennett and others against William Harrison and others and the other against O. A. Oredson.

Small Fire.

The fire department made a run last night to Twenty-third avenue east and Third street, to the residence of J. B. Cotton, now under construction. The blaze, which started in an unknown manner in a pile of rags, was extinguished before any damage was done.

Second Case Dismissed.

For a second time within a year the divorce suit started by Mary Banack against Frank Banack has been settled and dismissed from the district court. When Mrs. Banack sought a legal separation in the first case she alleged bad treatment and non-support. Banack was ordered to pay certain fees and temporary allmony and on his failure to do so was cited to appear in proceedings for contempt of court. The troubles were patched up, however, and the case was dropped. Shortly afterward Mrs. Banack claimed that her husband was not living up to his promises and she sought to reopen the old case but the court refused to do so. Another action was then instituted nd this, too, has been dismissed.

Sues the Circus.

Suit was filed in district court today by A. E. McManus, attorney for Eva Laughren, against B. E. Wallace and Carl Hagenbeck, proprietors of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, which exhibited here Monday. The complaint alleges that the plaintiff paid 75 cents for a reserved seat at the afternoon performance and while occupying the seat, the tent fell, a pole hitting her and causing injuries, for which she demands $1,999.

Sues to Recover Loan.

Gustaf Carlson today filed suit in district court against Ole Hanson for $200, alleged to be the balance due on a loan.

King Opposes Tipping.

King Edward is greatly opposed to tipping, and does his level best to suppress the practice. In fact, he has induced several of his subjects to take steps in this direction. Worthy of note also is the fact that golden grain belt beer will please the most critical taste and will contribute to the health, comfort and happiness of the consumer. QUALITY PIONEERS

Jaunty Silk Dresses $10

There will be a scramble here tomorrow for these dainty little creations which have been markt at a price that creates a most unusual purchasing opportunity. These are light, dressy conceits for summer days, made up in the latest Princesse model from non-crushable Chiffon Taffetas in the most desirable shades. Truly an exceptional collection, with such a variety of dainty effects that you will probably buy more than one when you see them. There is no dress quite so suitable for summer wear, styles, that usually sell at almost double the price askt for them tomorrow.

Tailored Suits at $10, $15 and $25

The fame of our suit values is so widespread as to need little comment. Women know best as to where to buy, and, while we expect and accept price losses at this season, we are recompensed that we can count a long list of truly satisfied buyers who have tested our suit values and found them as advertised. But, you are more interested in the suits themselves, and to fully appreciate the lines which have been added to the lots at these prices you must come here tomorrow. Many handsome creations in tropical suitings will be found at the above prices, suits worth more than double present figures—and keep the fact uppermost in your mind, that these are our own best selling lines which we offer at stock reducing figures; styles so thoroly dependable that they totally eclipse the near styles and job lots so much exploited as big bargains. Prove your store!

SUMMER COMFORT.

Guard against unsatisfactory summer attire by adhering to the S. & B. lines. You are sure to avoid the discomfort resulting from shrinkage or ill-fitting garments. You are protected from inferior fabrics—you have the assurance of wearing the best and looking your best at no additional expense.

Beautiful Millinery at Half

The S. & B. millinery has achieved a distinct triumph thruout the season. We have no hesitancy in saying that this is the recognized emporium of all that is truly artistic in this line and the best place hereabouts to buy. Whether it is a simple inexpensive hat for practical wear or an artistic Paris creation, whatever the price, you may rest assured that it will be as perfect in style and materials as those of the world's greatest shops. Tomorrow you may select from five entire tables of beautiful hats. Pay $2.50 for $5 hats, $3.75 for $7.50 hats, $5 for $10 hats and so on. We will also have on sale tomorrow in our millinery section a large showing of children's hats at half. This will be interesting news for mothers who have not already selected hats for the girls.

Officer Injured.

Officer Robert McDermott was struck by the buggy of the city electrician, while the latter was on his way to the fire in Elevator D this afternoon. He was knocked down, the shaft striking him in the ribs, and his clothing was torn from his body. His injuries are serious, but are not expected to prove fatal.

St. Louis Cafe Offers Music at Dinner Hour.

The management of the cafe of the St. Louis hotel has obtained from the Duluth Music company a Victor Victrola, and invites herewith all friends and patrons to hear the Grand Opera and instrumental selections given during the dinner hour, 12 to 2 o'clock every day. The demonstration of this wonderful Victrola is managed by an expert operator and the program consists of choice operatic and instrumental selections by the greatest singers and the most famous orchestras and bands in the world.

HE DREW THE LINE.

Chicago Record-Herald: "And remember," said the modern Polonius, "to be all things to all men."

"No, father," his son replied, "I'll be darned if I'm going to be a mollycoddle to the mollycoddle."

SUCCESSORS TO THE "TREADWELL"

NOMINATION OF JACOBSON

On First Ballot Indicated by the County Conventions.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Republican county conventions were held throughout Minnesota yesterday to elect delegates to the state convention, which will meet in St. Paul July 1 to nominate a state ticket.

Interest has centered chiefly in the contest for governor. Returns so far received give J. F. Jacobson 296 instructed delegates in the state convention and 105 favorable; Atty. Gen. E. T. Young, 137 instructed and 46 favorable; Former Congressman Samuel P. Snider, 113 instructed, and Joel P. Heatwole, 25 instructed and 10 favorable.

Thus Jacobson is in the lead, having a total of instructed and "favorable" of 401. Several counties have not yet been heard from. The number necessary to nominate is 527. It is believed that when all the returns are received Jacobson will have enough delegates to nominate him on the first ballot.

Pine for Jacobson.

Hinckley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the county convention held here yesterday the following were elected delegates to the state convention. Ed Clough, H. P. Webb, Henry Rath, C. C. Ives, W. P. Hogan, Ottocar Sobotka, H. A. Parsons, J. D. Johnson, C. T. Swain, Oscar Thorson. In the resolutions Jacob F. Jacobson was heartily indorsed and Congressman Beds and Representative Webb were commended. Charles Elmquist was indorsed for state railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Crow Wing Uninstructed.

Brainerd, Minn., June 26.—The Republican county convention elected the following delegates to the state convention. A. J. Halsted, F. H. Gruenyagen, T. G. Butler, C. A. Allbright, K. McDonald, J. A. Thabes, A. Purdy, A. D. Polk, H. J. Hage, R. R. Wise, N. H. Ingersoll and John Larson. The delegation is uninstructed on governor, but is instructed to vote as a unit.

Akeley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to Theo Herald.)—The Hubbard county Republican convention, assembled at Akeley, instructed the delegation for Jacobson after a fight on the floor led by Chairman C. F. Scheers and County Attorney E. R. Dampier of Akeley. Resolutions were passed indorsing Congressman Lindberg, B. F. Wright for district judge, Elmquist and Grass for railroad and warehouse commissioners. The election of C. F. Scheers as chairman favors a county option bill, Scheers being outspoken for an option law. The delegates to the state convention are Messrs. Giese, Dampier, A. W. Elmquist, Hines, Pardon, Page, Winship, Anderson, August Elmquist, Andrew McMahon and W. W. Pearson.

Kanabec for Jacobson.

Mora, Minn., June 26.—The Kanabec county Republican convention adopted resolutions instructing for Jacobson for governor and Elmquist for railroad commissioner. The following delegates were elected to the state convention: John O. Sesline, G. W. Holmes, F. L. Elliott, Otto Allman, O. P. Victorien, C. E. Williams and J. W. Bragg.

Stearns for Jacobson.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 26.—The Stearns county delegates to the Republican state convention go uninstructed, but all are in favor of J. F. Jacobson for governor. They are: R. B. Brower, C. A. Gilman, Frank M. Eddy, Alvah Eastman, W. L. Sartell, C. D. Shoemaker, J. F. Stephen, C. M. Sprague, John Cotes, H. C. Hanson, William Westerman, Thomas Savage and George Fish; alternates, J. C. Cotton, John Kolb, Joseph Swaller, C. S. Eastman, L. L. Sartell, Victor Mimal, John Schaefer, L. S. Bishop, John Dole, J. C. Nehring, G. B. Sherwood, L. L. Bowers and A. F. Steffens.

Beltrami for Jacobson.

Majority Favor Jacobson.

Little Falls, Minn., June 26.—The Morrison county Republican convention to elect delegates to the state convention of July 1 was very harmonious. The following delegates were elected: E. A. Kling, M. M. Williams, W. M. Fuller, C. B. Buckman, F. W. Linon, N. W. Chance, M. N. Young, J. W. Bouck, Mark Murphy, Robert Telford, Charles Valentine, J. J. McRae, T. C. Gordon. The delegates were uninstructed, but a majority favor Jacobson for governor.

County Option Favored.

Detroit, Minn., June 26.—At the Becker county convention here the following delegates were elected to attend the state convention: E. H. Canfield, A. O. Netland, C. M. Johnston, W. J. Morrow, E. L. Jordan, W. B. Carman, J. A. Nichols, J. H. Baldwin, T. W. Clinton, Eber Haught and E. E. Burnum. The delegates are uninstructed, but it is believed that a majority favor Jacobson. The delegates were instructed to work for a county option plank in the Clay Indorses Jacobson.

Moorhead, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Clay county Republican convention emphatically indorsed J. F. Jacobson for governor, and the delegation was instructed for him. The official acts of Ira B. Mills, railroad and warehouse commission, were indorsed by resolutions, and the delegation was instructed to vote and work for his nomination. Resolutions also indorsed W. H. Taft for president, James S. Sherman for vice president, and the Republican platform adopted at the Chicago convention. The resolutions were carried unanimously. Separate resolutions of sympathy over the death of Former President Grover Cleveland were passed by a rising vote.

Delegates to the Republican convention in St. Paul were chosen as follows: R. W. Richards, D. W. Meeker, L. A. Huntoon and John Bayer of Moorhead; John Lommen of Comstock, E. J. Murphy of Felton, John Johnson of Averill, John Olness of Kragness, John McGrath and H. G. Tweston of Barnesville, O. E. Reisergaard of Ulen, Hans Rushfeldt and Paul Van Vlissingen of Hawley.

Hamilton Indorsed.

Aitkin, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Republican county convention yesterday elected a delegation to the state convention favorable to Jacobson for governor, and while it was not the sense of the convention that the delegation be instructed, a motion carried unanimously in favor of Jacobson. A resolution of regret and sympathy was adopted regarding the death of Grover Cleveland in which a high compliment was paid him. A. L. Hamilton was unanimously indorsed for representative for this district, and the resolution carried unstinted praise for the man and his stand on matters of public benefit. Col. Potter made the principal address of the convention.

Ives Indorsed.

Red Lake Falls, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Republican convention for Red Lake county, held in this city yesterday afternoon, resolutions indorsing the candidacy of Harry E. Ives as a candidate for representative from the Sixty-first district were passed unanimously.

MRS. LLOYD IN PEN.

Woman Forger Removed From St. Cloud to Stillwater.

Stillwater, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Htraid.)—Mrs. Aimee Lloyd, who was convicted of forgery in Rochester and committed to the state reformatory, has been removed from that institution to the penitentiary here, by order of the state board of control. The reason given is that there are not proper facilities at the St. Cloud institution for the care and restraint of female prisoners.

There is no women's ward or department at the state reformatory, and women prisoners have always been cared for outside of the institution at the home of Frank H. Whitney, who is chief keeper. This plan is not regarded by the board of control as safe, and they have deemed it for the best interests of the institution that Mrs. Lloyd be transferred to the prison, where provision is made for women and the employment of women prisoners.

Mrs. Lloyd was convicted of forgery after a somewhat sensational trial, owing to the fact that she had formerly moved in the best society in Rochester and other cities and that she is highly connected. Her husband is now under arrest at Rochester.

IMMENSE LAND DEAL.

Ten Thousand Acres in Billings County, North Dakota, Sold.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest real estate deals in St. Paul for some time has been consummated by the Sperry-Norton Realty company, through which A. F. Behnke has purchased 10,000 acres of land in Billings county, N. D., from the Western Land & Securities company, in which Watson P. Davidson and H. H. Hamilton are the leading spirits.

Part of the consideration involved was the building, valued at $90,000, at East Fourth and Wacouta streets, owned by Mr. Behnke, and the balance was in cash and securities. The total amount involved in the deal was $253,000.

MINNESOTA RIVER IS HIGHEST IN MANY YEARS.

St. Peter, Minn., June 26.—A rise of fourteen inches last night has sent the Minnesota river to the highest point it has reached since the great flood of 1881. Water is flowing over the roadway between this city and the Omaha station on the east bank, and the bottoms are covered. In four days the river has risen seven feet.

SCALDED THEN FROZEN.

Locomotive Engineer Got Tough Deal in Railroad Wreck.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Big damages in the sum of $40,250 are alleged in a suit now on trial before Judge Kelly and a jury. It is a case in which a locomotive engineer, 32 years old, at the time of the accident, was, as he avers, badly smashed in a collision which occurred Jan. 17 last, at Bellingham, Wash., when he was running a fast passenger train.

Scott says that he was scalded with steam and then congealed from the freezing water which escaped from the exploded tank. That as a result of his injuries he is a physical wreck, paralyzed below the hips. He was accustomed to earning the sum of $175 a month.

MILLINERY SALESMEN END NATIONAL MEET.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—The National Millinery Salesmen's association closed its three days' convention late Wednesday afternoon with the re-election of the following officers: President, H. P. Folk of St. Louis; vice president, George Craft of Des Moines; secretary and treasurer, E. L. Zukoski of St. Louis. The new board of directors consists of George Fuchs and Ivan Osborne of St. Louis, Ralph Goldsticker and G. P. Lind of Kansas City, I. P. Delaney of Chicago, H. M. Hirsch of Des Moines, J. C. Cline of Milwaukee, M. J. Levy of St. Paul. Milwaukee was chosen as the meeting place for 1909.

A banquet and dance were given at the Ryan hotel Wednesday evening.

FINALLY KILLS SELF.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 26.—Fred Hamann, a former Eagle Point farmer, committed suicide by hanging. A year ago he tried to take his life by cutting his throat and wrists. He was 50 years old and a widower.

WILLOUGHBY "MUGGED."

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—Measured, photographed and finger-printed like any other criminal, George Willoughby passed through the last formality at the police station before leaving for Waupun Thursday morning. Bertillion measurements were taken of the wife murderer and he was photographed and his picture placed in the rogues' gallery. His fingerprints were also taken by Robert Haukohl, secretary of the police, and placed upon file. Through it all—a trying experience for a man of Willoughby's caliber — Willoughby hardly uttered a word and took it all calmly enough.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

Mcominee, Mich., June 26.—The Daggett postoffice and a nearby saloon, owned by Gus John, were robbed Tuesday night of $50 in currency and a small amount of stamps. The postoffice safe, which held over $1,000, was not tampered with. The work was evidently that of amateurs.

GOES TO FOND DU LAC.

Isanti, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Calvin Mooers came from Duluth Monday evening to visit at the William Renvel home. Mr. Mooers is a former buttermaker in the Isanti creamery, but has recently been employed by Bridgeman & Russell of Duluth. He left Tuesday evening for Rosendale, Fond du Lac county, Wis., where he has secured a position.

ORDER FROM THE WEST

First Call for Lumber Pilers From Northern California.

Railroad Work and Harvest Will Take All Idle Men.

All the way from Northern California an order has been received in Duluth for lumber pilers. The order is not a large one, only for six English-speaking Scandinavians, who are good, steady men, but it shows that business is better in the West when they have to send over half way across the continent for the right kind of men.

The offer is one of a steady job at $2.25 for a ten-hour day and with it comes the report that the saw mills along the coast are renewing their operations.

Railroad construction work, locally and in the West, is still booming and there is a prospect of orders being placed with local employment agencies in the very near future for large ballasting and surface gangs. One order for fifty, to be filled before July 1, has been placed already.

The pay is small, only $1.35 per day, but a railroad man who is well posted said yesterday that he expected, owing to the increasing demand for labor, that the wage scale would be somewhat raised on railroad work by July 1. He also said there is no need of any man being out of a job now if he is willing to work at the wages offered.

There are few summer logging operations being carried on, but it is expected that by August 1 they will be starting up. By that time the harvest fields will be sending in their annual call for men. The logging and the harvest will provide plenty of work for all the men on the market.

BEHR DENIES STATE'S CHARGE

Claims That He Closed St. James Saloon at Proper Time.

All the evidence was introduced yesterday in the case of the state against Max Mahr, accused under indictment of keeping the St. James hotel bar open after hours. This morning the case was argued to the jury by Judge S. F. White for the state and M. H. McMahon for the defendant.

Sergeant Tuchy and Patrolman Robert Smollett testified that they had seen several men and a woman in the saloon on the evening of May 7 after the closing hour prescribed by law.

Bahr testified that he closed the saloon at the usual hour and that there was nobody left in the room. He claimed he was accompanied home by James Mitchell and that on the way they met two men, one of them named Ring. The last named person appeared as a witness for Bahr. Charles Riley, who boards at the St. James, corroborated Bahr's story about closing the saloon on time.

The case of the state against Alexander McQueen, a Lake avenue saloonkeeper, charged with the same offense, will be tried next.

STALWARTS WON IN NORTH DAKOTA

Marshall and Johnson Are Leaders in Senatorial Contest.

Fargo, N. D., June 26—With at least a third of the counties in the state to hear from, the Stalwart wing of the Republican party seems to have named the state ticket, with the possible exception of supreme court justice, and it appears as though Burleigh Spalding, a Stalwart, will be nominated to succeed himself in that office. The missing returns are not likely to change results materially. The status for United States senator, based on returns actually at hand, is: Thomas F. Marshall, 8,000; M. N. Johnson, 6,600; B. B. Little, 5,500; H. C. Hansbrough, 4,250.

Under the primary law, if no candidate for senator does not receive 40 per cent of the party vote, the two highest shall be placed on the ballot at the November election. The one who then receives the highest vote will be the party candidat when the legislature ballots on the senatorship. Consequently the names of Marshall and M. N. Johnson will go on the ballot in November. Senator Hansbrough is eliminated from the race for re-election. L. B. Hanna was nominated for congress by at least 10,000 plurality, with Congressman Asle J. Gronna a close second, to succeed himself. There were nine candidates for the two places in the national house.

C. A. Johnson of Minot, Stalwart, defeated Treadwell Twichell, Insurgent, for governor by a majority, which is now claimed to be 15,000, and he carried the rest of the Stalwart state ticket, with the possible exception of supreme court justice and state superintendent of schools, which will be close. E. C. Cooper, for insurance commissioner, is renominated, as is W. C. Galbraith for commissioner of agriculture. No reliable returns are in as to legislative candidates. James Kennedy, Republican national committeeman, is elected state senator from the Fargo district. No adequate returns are in as to the Democratic vote.

SAYS KERN WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR V. P.

Denver, June 26.—Thomas Taggart, chairman of the national Democratic committee, came to town yesterday bringing along a vice presidential boom which he put forth with much enthusiasm.

"Bryan will be nominated on the first ballot, without a doubt, and his running mate will be John W. Kern of Indiana. Mr. Kern will be be placed in nomination by John E. Land or B. E. Shiveley, both of that state and his nomination ought to follow." This was the greeting Mr. Taggart gave to the newspaper men.

"The arrangements for the convention are fine," he said, "I cannot see how they could be improved upin."

Chairman Taggart has called a meeting of the national committee for Saturday, July 4, when the principal business will be to hear the contests for seats as delegates.

BANDITS CAPTURE A MEXICAN TOWN.

Laredo, Tex., June 26.—Two hundred armed mounted men yesterday attacked and captured the town of Vicosca, state of Coahuila, Mexico. Three persons were killed and several wounded in the fighting.

Telegraph wires were cut and the railroad lines torn up and a bridge burned.

Three trainloads of troops left the city of Mexico last night for the scene, and one trainload of soldiers also is leaving Saltillo, the capital of the state.

Reports received here are to the effect that the government believes the attack was made by bandits. The vice president of the republic and the secretary of war and interior, it is stated, deny that the trouble has any political significance. Some reports received heer say the outbreak is the starting of a revolution.

NEW POSTMASTER.

Washington, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Sanquist has been appointed postmaster at Corbin, St. Louis county, Minn., vice C. Johnson, resigned.

HEARST FAILS TO GAIN ENOUGH BALLOTS.

New York, June 26.—With the practical close of the actual re-counting of the ballots cast in the last mayoralty election yesterday came charges by Clarence W. Shean, counsel for W. R. Hearst, that the ballot boxes had been stuffed.

As the re-count stands, with the contents of forty-six boxes unreported, Hearst has made a net gain of 863, leaving plurality of 2,917 for Mayor McClellan.

GOODELL RESIGNS

As General Secretary of Y. M. C. A. at Marshalltown, Iowa.

Marshalltown, Iowa, June 26.—General Secretary John A. Goodell of the Marshalltown Y. M. C. A., resigned yesterday and will become financial secretary for Iowa. He has been here two years, coming from Duluth, Minn.

HE WOULDN'T SET.

A Washington photographer, now famous, told the other day how, in his youth, he was practicing his art in Cleveland when Mark Twain visited the town to lecture.

Impressed with the humorist's splendid feaures, the photographer, at the lecture's end, sent up a note asking Mr. Clemens for a sitting.

The reply that came back was characteristic. It said:

"A sitting! Is thy servant a hen that he should do this thing?"

We have just received a shipment of two cases of the finest gauge Silk Lisle Hose that it is possible to produce. There are certainly none finer, perhaps none as fine to be found in Duluth at this time.

Bought now when the season is well advanced the manufacturer necessarily had to come down largely in the price. The benefit is yours—we extend it to you freely—here is your chance to get the finest of hot weather hose at nearly half price.

Superfine gauge Silk Lisle in all black, black with white soles—new tans and white—splendid values at 89c. Sold in many stores at $1.00. For this sale only 59c a Pr.

Remarkable Values at the Big Shoe Sale

We have been giving the people of Duluth some really remarkable bargains in fine Dependable Footwear during the past two days, and judging by the crowds who have attended the sale—the fact that goods advertised here as being bargains ARE bargains seems well impressed

This sale is particularly worthy of your attention. All lots not entirely complete, every line in the whole big Annex Shoe Department, of which there are not ALL sizes, in Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes, have been cut to, in many cases half and less. Desirable Seasonable Shoes, not old "passe" numbers. (Does it sound good?) Come in Saturday, the last day of the sale, and we will convince you of their worth.

New lots have been added since the commencement of the sale—both in tans and blacks—in shoes and oxfords—for men, women or children.

Men's $4, $5 and $6 Shoes and Oxfords, not all sizes in every style, but all sizes in the lot, at..... $2.65

Men's Strong & Garfield's $5 and $6 Shoes; snappy styles..... $3.75

Women's $4.00 Shoes and $4.00 and $5.00 Oxfords for..... $2.95

Misses' and children's Shoes and Oxfords, worth $2 and $2.50; come early, only a few pairs left..... 98c

Women's Oxfords and Slippers, worth up to $2.50, at..... 98c

Children's $1.25 White Canvas Shoes at..... 69c

Infants' $1.25 fine Kid Shoes, per pair..... 69c

Women's $3.00 and $3.50 Oxfords for..... $1.98

Women's Pumps and Oxfords, worth $3, $3.50 and $4, in one lot at..... $2.25

And hundreds of others. They are melting away like snow in a June sun, so come early on Saturday. If we can fit you, we can more than please you and gladden your purse with a big saving.

Good Rousing Bargains in Ladies' Fine Gloves

$1.50 Quality for 89c

Why should any lady stint herself on gloves when such excellent qualities are going here at such small prices. Buy two pairs instead of one without stretching the glove allowance a particle.

Some few days ago we placed on sale a lot of 12 and 16-button length, pure silk Milanese gloves, and another lot of fine gauge, long wearing, lustrous silk lisles. These two lots, combined with other lots of both the silks and the lisles (silks in white, light shades; silk lisle in black, white, mode, and pearl gray) of which not a pair is worth less than $1.50, go on sale Saturday at

Can you digest starch?

Starch that is half-digested ferments and breeds germs—and these cause appendicitis, and other bowel disorders. In the making of "FORCE" the starch in the wheat is converted into dextrine by our scientific malting process thereby partially digesting the food before it enters the stomach. The "sunny" food—the sustaining food.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes in one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, dipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

MARINE NEWS

STRIKE NOT PROBABLE

Marine Labor Leaders Opposed to Trouble This Season.

No Conference of Longshoremen Before Annual Meet at Erie.

The strike talk, which was prevalent in lower lake ports last week has practically subsided and marine labor, union leaders are doing their best to dispel the impression that they are looking for trouble. It is not now believed that the men will be called out, inasmuch as the dock workers at Ashtabula have made the first move toward accepting the terms of the dock managers and going to work. It is believed the men in the other ports will follow their lead.

President Daniel J. Keefe of the Longshoremen's union, gives out an interview in Detroit, in which he says there will be no conference to discuss the lake labor situation before the annual convention of the Longshoremen, which will be held in Erie next month. President other marine unions, has not been slow to recognize the folly of a strike at this time, when the lake trade is quieter than it has been in years at this season.

Victor Leander, recording secretary of the Lake Seamen's union, with which several other organizations are affiliated, reiterates the statements he made earlier in the season that the men would not be called out. He is also firm in his statement that the seamen will not combine with the longshoremen to fight the open shop policy, with which they are content, if not entirely satisfied. In some quarters there are suspicions that interests outside of the marine labor organizations would welcome a strike.

SUMMER SCHEDULE.

All Three Booth Line Boats to be Operated.

The summer schedule of the Booth lins, operating boats between north and south shore points and Isle Royale and Duluth, will go into effect next Thursday, when the steamer Moore will replace the Easton, which has been on the south shore for the past six weeks and all three boats, the Easton, Moore and America, will be operated.

The America and Easton will both be operated on the North Shore and Isle Royale run, leaving Duluth Sunday and Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the morning and Monday, Thursday and Friday at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two trips will be made to the south shore, the Moore leaving here at 10 a. m. every Tuesday and Friday. The return trip will be made leaving Houghton at 8 p. m. Sunday and Wennesday evenings.

The Easton will continue to run the regular Sunday excursions to two Harbors and at the other end of the route, the Moore will make a trip to Washington's Harbor, Isle Royale, every week, leaving Houghton each Saturday night and returning Sunday evenings.

MAY SPECIFY NUMBER.

Common Practice of Steamboat Inspectors is Legalized.

James Monaghan and Michael F. Cahlk, local inspectors of hulls and boilers, have been notified of the act passed by congress legalizing the specifying of the minimum number of licensed officers and crew which any boat shall carry.

It has been the custom of inspectors in some ports to specify in the certificate of a boat the minimum number of licensed officers and crews the boat would be allowed to carry. The practice was declared without foundation in law, so congress enacted a law legalizing it. In the future, all inspectors will put the number in the certificate, and the law will be strictly enforced with respect to it.

ORE FLEET BUNCHED.

Greater Activity Expected at Missabe Docks Next Week.

The Great Northern ore docks at Allouez have had almost a monopoly of the ore shipping out of the local harbor for the past two days. The Missabe docks have had very little activity, a big fleet having become bunched last week and waiting to load their cargoes at lower lake ports.

Coal shipments to Duluth and Superior have been heavy, and most of the boats have been able to get return cargoes at the Allouez docks after discharging their coal. As a result, there has been a rush at the Great Northern docks all week and seven or eight boats are now waiting there to take cargoes.

Another rush is expected at the Missabe docks next week. The Pittsburg Steamship company's boats, which have been unloading at lower lake ports this week, will come up in greater number next week and there will be a number of cargoes for the Independents. It is possible a large crew will be put on to handle the boats if their number becomes too great for th force employed at present, and they will be gotten away with all possible dispatch.

BROKEN REVERSE BAR.

Steamer Northern Wind Disabled and Towed to Detroit..

Detroit, Mich., June 26.—The steamer Northern Wind arrived in Detroit in tow of her sister ship of the Mutual Transit company, Northern Light, and tied up at the company's dock at the foot of Randolph street.

The Northern Wind cleared from Duluth last week and when off Whitefish point the following night broke the reverse bars of her engines. Though the accident was not serious, as affecting the boat or its mechanism, still it effectually disabled her. Fortunately she was able within a short time to obtain a tow and was taken to the Soo by a down-bound Steel trust boat.

There she lay over a day and was overtaken by the Northern Light and brought on to Detroit. The two boats will discharge their cargoes of copper and then proceed to Buffalo.

CUT IN ORE RATES.

Some Business Done at 65 Cents From Head of Lakes.

Cleveland, June 26.—Season carrying cargoes were cut yesterday and some business was done at 65 cents from the Head of Lake Superior and 50 cents from Escanaba. Vessel capacity to move between 300,000 and 400,000 tons were tied up. The big shippers have not made any contracts, and the rate has not been named on some wild charters that were made last week. Coal tonnage is offered freely and there is considerable delay at the docks.

NEW STEAMER LAUNCHED.

Daniel M. Meacham Goes Into the Water at Ecorse Yards.

Detroit, Mich., June 26.—The 550-foot bulk freighter Daniel M. Meacham, built at the Ecorse yards of the Great Lakes Engineering company for the Frontier Steamship company of North Tonawanda, was successfully launched yesterday, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy of Pittsburg christened the steamer. A large party of people from Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffalo and North Tonawanda witnessed the launching. A number of members of the American Engineering society, which is holding its annual convention here, were also present.

Juniata Almost Full.

The steamer Juniata of the Anchor line will leave tonight on her first down trip of the season, with an almost complete passenger list. The Juniata is the second boat of the Anchor line to come to Duluth this year and both have started out with every indication of a prosperous tourist season. The Juniata had about 100 passengers upbound, but the business East is better. The Japan will leave Buffalo on her first trip next week.

Shaw to be Docked.

Cleveland, June 26.—The steamer Shaw, which was in collision with the Hoover & Mason at the Soo, arrived yesterday with ore. She has seven damaged plats, and it will take a week to repair her. She will be docked at Lorain.

EVELETH WELCOMED ITS SOLDIERS BACK FROM CAMP.

Eveleth, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local militia company returned yesterday morning from their summer camp and looked a little worn out, as this is their first encampment. A few of the men have been on the hospital list, due to the change in climate and water. The men came in on their special car and marched up in a body from the depot to the Armory, where they dispersed. A number of people were at the depot to welcome the boys home.

AGREEMENT IS DENIED.

Aurora, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dispatch printed from here stating that the council and the brewers have come to an agreement on all matters in regard to the latter not selling beer to unlicensed places is declared to be slightly overdrawn. Some saloonmen did petition the council that they be allowed licenses, with the understanding that they stop using the beer of a brewery that is found dealing with the piggers, but it was laid on the table and is there yet. No licenses have been refused to date for this reason, all such having been allowed with the understanding that the saloonmen granted such will not use beer brewed by brewers that have not signed said agreement. One license has been held up for proper signature, and several laid over for a few days only to allow the bonds to be presented. Arrangements are being made for the Peoples Brewery of Duluth to come in here by July 1.

YEAR FOR PATTERSON.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Dibell was here from Duluth this week and sentenced George L. Patterson to one year at hard labor in the state prison at Stillwater. Patterson was arrested for absconding with $500 belonging to A. G. Nordstrom, a saloonkeeper at Beaver Crossing, who had given it to him to deposit in a bank at Duluth.

The Talk of the Town.

The sale of two-piece Outing Suits at the Fitwell Clothing Parlors has certainly created a lot of talk in Duluth. Just think of buying beautiful suits actually worth $15 for only $5. Saturday is the last day of this wonderful offering, so be on hand early tomorrow.

HIS OWN PRIVATE THEATER.

There is a town in Pennsylvania, not far from Harrisburg, but off the beaten track, which boasts of a theater which for luxury of accommodation would be hard to equal. The theater has all sorts of modern conveniences, of a kind that could hardly be expected in a city under 1,000,000 inhabitants. This particular city had at the last census about 10,000 inhabitants, says the New York Sun.

The reason for being of this theater, which gets all the regular road attractions of high class, is that there is in the town an exceedingly wealthy man who wants to see shows without leaving home. He is worthy about $10,000,000.

He has lived in and about the place all his life, making money out of lumber and manufactures. When he had enough to retire on he didn't want to have to go anywhere else to see shows, and as the theater the place boasted was a very dingy one, he had one built.

He runs the theater himself at a considerable loss every year, but he gets what he wants. The theater people like the place, too, because it's so very different from the average show house in the small town.

WATERED STOCK.

Edward R. Emerson, the president of the American Wine Growers' association, came from Washingtonville to New York the other day, and lunched in a Broadway cafe with an editor.

Mr. Emerson, naturally, is a connoisseur of wines. The editor deems himself something of a connoisseur, too, and introduced Mr. Emerson with some pride to a Rhine wine, presumably of the famous '95 vintage.

"'Well,' he said, 'how do you like this Rhine wine, Mr. Emerson? Delicious, don't you think?'

"'Not bad,' said Mr. Emerson; 'only I fancy there's a trifle too much Rhine in it.'"

HIS EMPLOYER.

Baltimore Sun: Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts was a tireless worker when he started on anything. He and his secretary, Clancy, oftentimes sat in the library until almost daylight when the general wanted to finish up anything.

During the night sessions of the senate, toward a close of congress, a senator called on Gen. Butler one morning at 5 o'clock. The same senator called again when the senate adjourned the following morning at daybreak and found the general and Clancy still at work.

"Don't you ever stop?" the senator asked.

"No," Gen. Butler said. "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do."

"General, I never knew before just who my employer was," Clancy said, bowing.

KNOW REDUSO CORSETS!

The W. B. REDUSO is as simple as a corset waist. It is scientific in that it accomplishes by its lines, curves, gores, what other models bring about through force.

It will render the figure from one to five inches less through the abdomen and hips, support where it is weak, strengthen the spine, throw back the chest, and especially subdue its fullness below the waist.

You who have full figures will find the REDUSO an ideal corset—it gives that poise and ease so difficult to secure and altogether impossible with many corsets. Let our corset experts show you!

County Authorities Are Complimented on New Courthouse Progress.

Not Twenty-Four Hours' Delay in Work Since Feb. 26.

Although St. Louis county was a little slow in getting things started toward a new courthouse, it has, in the events which have been followed each other so rapidly since the first of the year, demonstrated to the other counties of the state that when once started on the right track the people of the Northern country believe in doing things and doing them thoroughly and with expediency.

Beginning with February 26, on which date the taxpayers of the county at a mass meeting at the old courthouse, voted decisively their wish to have the courthouse erected at the intersection of Fifth avenue west and Second street, in accordance with the grouping plan for Duluth's public buildings, there has not been twenty-four hours' delay in bringing matters to their present state, when the contractors have already begun excavations for the building and are under penalized terms to have the building enclosed by October 15, 1909, about a year and a half from the beginning of the work.

To the taxpayers generally the courthouse matter may seem to have moved slowly, but those of the taxpayers, officials and business men who have kept in touch with the negotiations and who have followed the multitude of complications to be overcome, have been surprised and pleased at the expediency with which those who have had the courthouse building in hand have carried through their work.

Not long ago business men were complaining that those who had the matter in charge were not proceeding fast enough, but today those same business men are complimenting the courthouse commission, the county board and the assistant county attorney on their success in bringing the work up to the present condition.

Expediency has been shown by the county authorities at every turn. The courthouse commission, comprised of men who gave their services to the county gratis, the county board, which organized, has the control of the funds to be expended for the $1,000,000 structure, have been working in perfect harmony. Members of both commissions have been put to much trouble and expense in connection with the courthouse. They have been called to Duluth to attend special meetings, to pass on some important question that arose, and, through it all, there has been the best of feeling and not a murmur from the range members on whom the burden of making frequent trips to Duluth, without compensation, has fallen quite heavily.

Few people, possibly, except those who have had something to do with similar proceedings, can realize the immense amount of detail work that has been required of the county's legal department, the caution, diplomacy and hard research of records, etc., that has kept Assistant County Attorney W. J. Stevenson, who is looking after the matter, busy constantly since the first of the year Condemnation proceedings were instituted by Mr. Stevenson to acquire the Fifth avenue and Second street site. These proceedings involved the preparation of a large number of papers, the looking up of titles to land, the delving into the history of the city for thirty years past to get a line on property values, and the negotiating with owners scattered from Duluth half way around the world. All this has been accomplished in the space of a few months, and the county now has title to the property wanted, excepting an appeal in the case of the McDougall property appraisal.

Then followed the legal process of getting the city to vacate the portions of the street and avenue wanted by the county, also certain alleys. In view of the interests that would seem to be affected by the former move, the proceedings required diplomcay, and the results have been satisfactory.

The condemnation proceedings out of the way, the legal department has drawn up and seen executed all the contracts in connection with the courthouse construction, and has passed on all the bonds of the contractors.

Last, but not least, Mr. Stevenson has undertaken the defense of the county, through its officials, in the action brought by Whitney Wall, a taxpayer, to test the constitutionality of the law providing for the issue of certificates of indebtedness to raise funds to build courthouses. The papers were served on the county one day, the county's demurrer was sustained the following morning an appeal was taken to the supreme court and stipulations for a hearing of the case during the present term calendar were made within twenty-four hours after the papers were served. If Mr. Stevenson, who is now in St. Paul, succeeds in his efforts, the matter will be argued and submitted inside the next week or ten days.

Through all the legal complications that have arisen, and which have been so promply surmounted, there has not been a single hitch in the progress toward the new courthouse. On the county authorities has fallen the responsibility of providing ways and means to finance the courthouse business until the money from the usual surces is available, and the results have shown that the county has officers equal to the occasion. Within the past several weeks County Auditor Halden has carried through, very successfully, temporary arrangements to procure all the funds necessary to take care of the work until such a time as the money is available on the courthouse bonds, either through the recent sale, or on others voted on by the people.

THREE DIE IN QUICKSAND.

Two Schoolmasters and Girl Step Into Soft Mud.

Paris, June 26.—Two schoolmasters of Morlaix and a girl, the daughter of one of them, were swallowed up, the other night, by the soft mud in Morlaix harbor, at low tide. They and another schoolmaster, who was saved, had been out in a boat. They stayed out too long and ran ashore in the soft mud at the bottom of the harbor. It was getting dark, and as they could not get the boat out of the mud, they partially undressed and tried to scramble ashore. Two of the men took the girl between them, and the other one went on in front. Suddenly he heard loud shrieks for help and, looking back, he saw the three behind him slowly disappearing in the mud. He tried to help them, but could not, and just as he scrambled on to firm land his companions disappeared with one last despairing shriek.

RULERS AID THE SEAMEN

Nations and States Outfit a Home for Jack-Ashore.

Royal Penmen Sign Portraits for New Seamen's Institute.

New York, June 26.—To decorate the new institute for sailors, which is just being completed in this city, portraits personally signed and sent by the rulers of England, Germany, Italy and Denmark have today been received by the American Seamen's Friend society. Realizing that many thousands of their subjects who follow the sea will soon be harbored in the $325,000 building of this American organization each year, King Edward, Kaiser Wilhelm II, Victor Emanuel III and Frederik VIII have been quick to respond through diplomatic channels to a request for recognition of the international character of this enterprise. When the modern hotel and club quarters is thrown open in August to the 7,000 sailors who arrive each day in this port, twelve nations of the world and many states in this country will be represented by some room, furnishing or decoration in the big building.

Ranged along beside the picture of Theodore Roosevelt, which the president personally presented to the society last month "with heartiest good wishes," portraits of royalty will be hung where every sailor may read the autographed inscription of his own sovereign. The bold handwriting of Kaiser Wilhelm himself is affixed in good English to his latest portrait, while the king of England has traced "Edward R. and I" beneath his picture with his own hand. The same rare attention has been paid by the rulers of Italy and Denmark. This unusual courtesy is believed by the diplomats here to be a recognition of the service of eighty Italian and Danish seamen all over the world.

Memorial Rooms.

Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Massachussetts, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Vermont have already claimed representation in the new sailors' institute by selecting some one of its 200 rooms to furnish as a memorial. It is believed that every state in the union will be as anxious to make its seafaring sons feel at home here as are the outside nations. The Order of Sons of St. George and the St. Andrew's society and the St. David society have today secured memorial quarters, as well as the Board of Pilot commissioners, the Pilot's association of New Jersey and the Masters' Mates and Pilot's association of New York.

Towering like a fortress against the army of crimps that swarms about its doors, the big structure is today just being finished on the waterfront in the center of the Chelsea district, the greatest mile of shipping stretch in the world. Within the next two months the interior of this ornate sky scraper will be open to every officer, sailor, steward and stoker who is looking for a snug berth out of reach of the land sharks. A swimming pool, showers, billiards, music, writing and reading rooms are some of the things which Jack-ashore may enjoy to his heart's content. He may patronize a safe bank, a modern restaurant, an honest "slop shop" to replenish his kit, or ship through a special free bureau. For the first time in the history of the world the merchant sailor man in great numbers may here spend his time in port in just as retired, decent and respectable surroundings as any other traveler.

"The chance to be as self-respecting as any other class of men is all the sailor wants," said G. McPherson Hunter, secretary of the American Seamen's Friend society, at its headquarters, 76 Wall street, today. "I know the sailor and I am sure he will rise to his first apportunity of living like other men in port. It has taken $250,000 to build our institute and we are still looking for $50,000 to furnish it properly. It will open a world-wide benefit to the sailor man and every state and nation should surely be represented."

GERMAN SCHOLAR ON AMERICANS

Says They Speak English as Correctly as Englishmen.

Berlin, June 26.—Prof. Alois Brandl, the eminent German scholar, further explaining his declaration that the average educated American speaks English as correctly as the average educated Englishman, says: "English pedagogues have suggested that I was merely joking. I was by no means joking. The children in the Council schools of West London were not themselves in any way to blame when they said as a body 'ryne' for rain, 'twoice' for twice, 'pawr' for power, 'deering' for during, and so forth. They were following a law of nature irresistible to the child. What rather surprised me was the fact that their teachers permitted them to yield to deteriorative Cockney and dialect influences.

Deplores English System.

"Now, in London Council school-teachers made a really excellent impression on me as teachers, both in regard to their enthsiasm and energy and in their attitude toward the children, half paternal, and yet marked by a delightful spirit of camaraderie. Obviously, they conscientiously taught the children all that they had been taught themselves. It was not they, but the system in which they had been trained, which was to blame.

"The system which I deplore is, in a word, the drastocally exclusive cultivation of the classical languages. In England, for example, all examinations in modern languages—in which pronunciation is surely an essential consideration— are carried out by means of writing only, just as are those in Greek and Latin. Again Cambridge has to the present day no chair of modern English. There is at Oxford a scholar who is famous the world over for his knowledge of phonetics and of the history of the English language—my venerated teacher, Dr. Henry Sweet. He, however, must content himself with an unimportant back seat as lector.

Americans in the Lead.

Finally, in the secondary schools modern languages are taught with few exceptions, by men who have passed examinations not in modern languages, but in the classics. America is far and away ahead of England in the cultivation of the mother language, as, indeed, of all modern languages. At Harvard the study of English is represented by a staff of nineteen members, which deals with it in its most various aspects. Philadelphia has a magnificient school of German; the writings and scholars it has produced are already making their influence felt at our universities in Germany.

"America, moreover, unlike England, properly appoints the teachers thus educated to the positions for which they have qualified, making them—and not classical students—their instructors of modern languages in the secondary schools. When a young American university man who has graduated in English comes to Berlin, I can, quite without misgiving, intrust him with an English conversation course in my English seminary. The B. A. from the northern parts of England, on the other hand, suffers, as not, from the vitating influence of dialect."

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson of Naples, Me., says, in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years, New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

GUNNERY TESTS PLANNED.

France Will Follow the Example of the Florida Experiments.

Paris, June 26.—Following upon the remarkable gunnery test to which the United States government has submitted the monitor Florida, comes the announcement that during the summer the French naval authorities intend to sacrifice three old battle ships in the endeavor to find out the best means of protecting ships against gun fire.

The ships to be subjected to the tests are the Tonnerre, Neptune and Jena. The Tonnerre is a coast defense ship of 5,800 tons, built in 1875, while the Neptune is nearly twice the size and was completed in 1892. The Jena, completed in 1901, was partially destroyed at Toulon in March last year, ard, although efforts were at first made to rebuild her, it has been decided that she is not worth the trouble and expense. The combined cost of the three ships was about $11,000,000.

SURPRISE WAS SPRUNG

Delegates at Republican Convention Overthrew the Unit Rule.

Each Delegate Will Vote as He Pleases at St. Paul.

Just as two or three delegates to the Republican county convention at the city hall yesterday afternoon were taking in long breaths to say "I move that we adjourn," after a brief and peaceable session, the unexpected happened, and Judge James A. Hanks stood up and entered a vigorous kick against a clause in the convention resolutions, as reported by the resolutions committee.

This particular clause provided that the unit rule should govern the St. Louis county delegation to the state convention, and that the whole delegation should vote as a unit at the convention on any proposition favored by a majority of the delegation in caucuses to be held before the convention. Judge Hanks maintained that this was not good politics, and said every man should be allowed to vote according to his own best judgment on the floor of the convention, regardless of what the majority of the home delegation thought. He said he might want to vote for county option, and wanted to have the right, anyway, whether the majority of the men from St. Louis county favored it or not.

Before the convention was called to order, it was a fact well known to all the delegates that everything had been prepared before hand, "cooked and dried," as the saying goes, and it was considered that the convention was merely a formality. In view of this fact, there was general surprise at the words of Judge Hanks.

Should Follow Majority.

Nothing of this kind happened, but P. E. Dowling of Eveleth stood up and gave an interesting discourse on the "God-given right" of the free-born American citizen to vote as he pleased on any subject. He was most decidedly opposed to Judge Hanks' motion that that part of the resolution referring to the unit rule be stricken out, and said it would not be good politics. He said the majority of the delegation should rule the vote of the delegation in the convention, and held that as long as every man was allowed to vote as he pleased in caucus, he should be willing to submit to the majority when it came to the convention, and sit back and keep his mouth closed if anything came up in the convention which he felt should be objected to, while the majority of the home delegation voted aye on it.

Mr. Dowling was given some applause, and the old wheel horses of the party seemed to think that settled the matter, but they were due for another surprise, when Alderman Alec G. McKnight arose to his feet and supported Judge Hanks. Mr. McKnight is used to putting up a fight on the council room floor, and seemed to feel quite at home. He asserted that there had been much dissatisfaction among the delegates and Republicans generally over the fact that everything, even to the selection of the delegats to the state convention, had been decided by the party bosses before the convention assembled. He said for all the average delegate knew, every one of these men who will represent the county at the state convention is already pledged to one candidate, or one set of candidates for state offices.

Delegates Like Sheep.

He didn't believe the majority of the delegation should have a right to "choke off" the minority on the convention floor. He declared that in itself it was a dangerous thing to place the power of selecting a state delegation in the hands of a committee of five, even if the delegation had not already been selected, and the appointment of the committee was not a mere form. He believed the most damaging thing the Republicans would have to contend with in the coming national election was the fact that three men had been allowed to run the national convention, and warned local Republicans against allowing one-man rule, or two or three-men rule, to be established in St. Louis county. He compared the delegates to a flock of sheep, waiting to follow the leader when the shepherd whistled, going they knew not where, just so they followed the leader.

Mr. McKnight gave it as his opinion that four or five men might just as well get together in some back office and run the affairs connected with the delegation themselves, without going through the formality of a county convention, as to allow things to go along as they appeared to be going at the present convention. He thought the will of the people would be expressed just as well that way. He made a plea for free American citizenship, and wound up by asking general support to Judge Hanks' amendment.

The chairman and several of the delegats looked uneasy, and so Mr. Hanks and Mr. Dowling got up and talked some more along the same lines as in their previous speeches.

Assistant City Attorney E. J. Kenney, who was on hand as a delegate, also got up in support of Judge Hanks' motion. He got some applause right at the start by aptly referring to certain things about the grand old party.

"Are we sending delegates to the state convention at St. Paul, or are we sending men to St. Paul to attend caucuses to be held before the convention?" he asked. "We are sending them to the convention, and they should be allowed to vote as they please when they get there, and not compel them to follow the judgment of others, which may be poorer than their own. It would be a wise policy to change the system that has been in vogue in this county for so many years, and thus give the people a more representative government. A few men should not be allowed to control the whole situation."

Rising Vote Taken.

Mr. Kenney, who made an apology for daring to make such a speech when it was his first experience in a convention, and when he was one of the youngest men in the hall, got a round of applause. This ended the discussion. A rising vote was taken, and Judge Hanks' amendment carried by a vote of 53 to 34. The remainder of the resolutions were adopted, but, encouraged by their success, the insurgents moved for a reconsideration of the clause directing that the chairman appoint delegates to fill the places of those originally named who could not attend the convention. This looked too much like one-man rule, they said. After more or less discussion on this point, it was discovered that the chairman could not lawfully be given such power, anyway, and so it was decided to leave it to the delegation itself to fill vacancies, or do the voting without anyone being named by any individual.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions adopted by the convention embody an indorsement of Taft and Sherman as the national party leaders, and paid tribute to Roosevelt. The platform laid down at Chicago is enthusiastically approved. W. E. Richardson, H. E. Emerson, S. W. Gilpin, Peter Schaefer and Gust Bergquist composed the committee which drew up the resolutions. They are in full as follows:

"The Republicans of St. Louis county, in convention assembled, renew with pride and pleasure their allegiance to Republicanism and pledge their support to William Howard Taft and James Schoolcraft Sherman, the recently named standard bearers of the national party of patriotism and progress. This county will register for these candidates a majority larger than heretofore recorded. In William Howard Taft we recognize a tried, experienced and scholarly statesman, able and willing to carry on the work so well begun by Theodore Roosevelt, his friend and predecessor. And in James Schoolcraft Sherman we see the calm and upright legislator who will bring to his great station experience, integrity and patriotism.

"Before the Republicans of this county will meet again in convention Theodore Roosevelt will have vacated the great station he now adorns and dignifies. St. Louis county, Republicans extend to him their homage for the great work he has done in purifying the public service, in elevating the standard of public and private morality and in leading with so much courage and vigor in all paths of constructive statesmanship. Good men have preceded him and good men will follow him, but he must be classed with the best and greatest of those who have gone before he will be an example to all who follow.

"We concur in the platform laid down by the national Republican convention at Chicago, fully believing that only by persistence in Republican policies can the happiness and prosperity of the American people be assured.

"St. Louis county, as always, will give a large majority against free trade, against flat money, whether of paper or silver, and against anarchy and disorder in whatever guise it comes.

"This county calls upon her sister counties in this state to join with her in electing at the coming general election a Republican governor for this commonwealth. St. Louis county pledges its support to the nominees of the coming Republican state convention and instructs its delegates to work for the nomination of a state ticket which will unify the party on a platform expressing the best ideals of progressive American citizenship.

"Realizing the extent to which agricultural development waits upon good roads, we urge generous legislative appropriations to aid in road-building. We also urge the settlement of all state lands and the drainage of swamp lands that our large area may be made to return to the state its limit of value."

The following resolution on the death of ex-President Grover Cleveland, introduced by P. E. Dowling, was adopted:

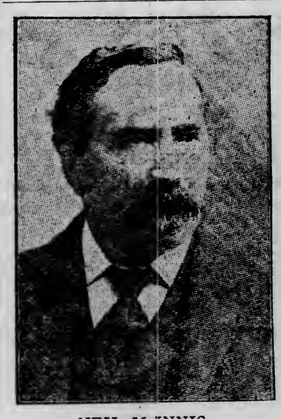

"Whereas, the heart of the American people sorrows in the loss of Grover Cleveland, one of its most ardent and patriotic citizens, whose public service was characterized by wisdom, courage and patriotism typically American.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that this convention here assembled unites with the nation in expressions of condolence and sympathy."

GENEROUS RIVALRY

Between the Army and Navy Over the National Matches.

Crack Military Shots Will Go to Camp Perry in August.

Washington, June 26.—It is an interesting fact that the National Guard of the various states and territories are equipped with better rifles than the United States navy and arine corps. The former, like the army, has been armed with the Model 1903, popularly known as the New Springfield, while the navy continues to use the Krag. This is not, however, the fault of the naval authorities who would be only too pleased to change to the new rifle but, alas, there is no money available. It would cost about $1,000,000 to equip the navy and marine corps with New Springfields, and as congress did not appropriate the money and no other fund is available these branches of the service will continue using the Krags. The teams from the navy, marine corps and naval academy which will shoot in the national matches at Camp Perry, however, will use the new rifles the department having purchased 100 of them from the war department, to be used in the trials now in progress and in the matches. There is a warm but generous rivalry between the army and the navy over these matches and extensive preparations are bing made by both services to win the national trophy.

The army brought from the Philippines a dozen of the best experts stationed there to compete for places on the infantry and cavalry teams, while the navy has detached from the fleet now in Pacific waters the following: Ensigns Dortch, Doherty, Wilcox and White, and Midshipmen Osborn, Lewis, Woodward and Amdon. They will proceed to Annapolis where the contests for places on the naval and naval academy teams will be held. Early next month both teams will go to Camp Perry, Ohio, where they will practice constantly until the matches. The army teams will be trained at Fort Sheridan and Fort Ethan Allen, and then proceed to Camp Perry. Last year the nuavy team won the trophy and a midshipman won the national individual rifle and the national pistol matches. The army proposes to carry off the honors if possible, while the navy intends to hold them.

It is not likely the naval militia will be equipped with the new army rifles for some time to come. Occupying a somewhat anamalous position they cannot be equipped from the regular fund available to the land forces, and the total appropriation for the naval militia is only $100,000, which must be divided among nineteen organizations according to their strength. Should the commanders desire it, however, it is understood a portion of the quota for their commands may be used for this purpose.

The state of Ohio is making elaborate preparations to entertain the crack military shots of the United States at the national matches in August, the more so as it will probably be some years before the matches are again held on that range. There will be almost 1,000 team members and substitutes in attendance on the national team match alone, representing almost every state and territory, and all branches of the regular services together with a team from the army in Cuba. There will probably be 800 entries in the national individual rifle match and half as many or more in the national pistol match. In addition there will be hundreds of marksmen who are ineligible for these matches but who will contest in the matces of the National Rifle association and the Ohio State Rifle association, shot during the preceding two weeks. Approximately 100 army officers will be detailed to supervise the national matches, together with a regiment of regulars to act as markers and scorers. The state has purchased sixty-six acres of additional ground to the west of the range which will admit of firing at all ranges from a common firing point. The new 1,000 yard butt will be 800 feet long, of reinforced concrete and equipped with telephone connections, buzzers, etc. Just north of the railroad terminals a new mess-hall is being constructed. It will be 76 by 172 feet, two stories in height with an extension for the kitchen. The upper story will provide a large drill hall without pillars. This building will also be of reinforced concrete. On the lower floor 1,000 men can be messed at one time.

For the national matches congress made a special appropriation of $12,000 to provide for the messing of the competitors, which mess will be conducted by the army. Another important improvement is the construction of a stand-pipe with a capacity of 75,000 gallons of water, all water used at the camp being carefully filtered. An intercepting storm-water sewer is being constructed to drain the camp. It will empty into a large basin and the water will be pumped into the lake, which insure a perfectly dry camp. All roads are being macadamized and parked, and cinder foot-paths are being constructed to all parts of the range. These improvements will cost the state about $35,000 in addition to the cost of the additional ground. In July the Second infantry will be at Camp Perry for qualification of its men and it will probably be designed to remain during the matches in August.

Considerable saving in ammunition to the states will be effected by a recent decision of Assistant Secretary of War Oliver who has held that where an officer or enlisted man of the National Guard qualifies as an expert rifleman or as a sharpshooter, he enters the next season's practice with the qualification of the grade next below, so that under Special Course C the expert of last year will have to qualify only in this class, and the sharpshooters only as sharpshooters and then experts, instead of having to qualify in all three classes as marksmen, sharpshooters and expert.

HONORS ACCORDED BY KING EDWARD.

London, June 26.—The list of honors accorded on the occasion of the official celebration of King Edward's birthday was issued yesterday. Four new peers have been created and there are ten new privy councillors, eleven baronets and twenty-five knights. The peers include Sir Anthony Patrick McDonnell, under secretary to the lord lieutenant of Ireland, whose resignation from this position coincides with his elevation, and George Whiteley, a member of parliament for the West Riding of York, who has just resigned the post of Liberal whip. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of Canada, and Thomas Wallace Russell, Liberal member for the South Division of the Tyrone, are made privy councillors.

DOG MOTHER TO CHICKENS.

Hen Deserts Brood and Canine Adopts the Chicks.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 26.—Miss Alice West, stenographer in the office of County Judge Prowse, owns a handsome dog named Sam, which has attempted the seemingly impossible in assuming the role of mother to a brood of nine young downy young chicks. So far Sam is progressing finely.

The chicks were hatched out about two weeks ago, there being ten in the brood; but one was pecked to death by the unnatural mother hen, who made matters even worse by deserting the rest of the flock. The dog, though, seemed to realize the dilemma of the hapless chicks and he took them under his care.

IOWA DEMOCRATS END CONVENTION.

Sioux City, Iowa, June 26.—Enlivened in its last hours by a spirited contest over the "liquor" plank in its platform, the fight on which has been previously waged for hours in the committee on resolutions, the Democratic state convention was brought to a close at 5:45 o'clock last evening with enthusiastic cheers for Tyrrell for governor, to be established in St. The so-called liquor plank which was adopted by a good majority simply affirms the traditional policy of the party with reference to local self-government.

The afternoon proceedings also witnessed an interesting fight between four of the leading Democratic jurists of the state for the nominations for judges of the supreme court. On a roll call vote by counties, D. W. Highbee of Preston and Judge A. J. House of Maquoketa were the winners by substantial majorities. The other two candidates were Capt. W. H. Jaques of Ottawa, and Theodore Bradford of Marshalltown.

TO DEVELOP QUARRIES.

Alpena, Mich., June 26.—The United States Steel corporation has let contracts for the machinery to develop its immense stone quarries in Alpena. The Steel Corporation owns 2,000 acres of stone land north of Alpena and will build immense docks in Thunder Bay.

TO ATTACK CONGRESS

Campaign Orators Are Preparing the Thunder of Denunciation.

Will Assail Appropriation of $1,023,000 at Recent Season.

By Ralph M. Whiteside.

Washington, June 26.—Those statesmen who look ahead are making a few predictions as to what orators will say in the coming campaign concerning the $1,023,000,000 appropriated by congress at the recent session.

One billion twenty-three million dollars is a whole lot of money. Already the thunder of denunciation is being prepared and there are many who are asking what, beside a few more warships, fortifications and public buildings, has been provided for with the appropriation of this great sum.

The figures hardly convey how huge a sum a billion dollars is. If the property of the United States Steel trust, the greatest and richest corporation in the United States, with all its mills, coal and ore mines, railroads, coke ovens and furnaces were wiped out, the amount congress appropriated to run the government for a year would restore everything.

If every building in Brooklyn, or in other large cities, was toppled over by an earthquake, or destroyed by fire, the loss would not be as great as the annual expenditure of the United States.

A congressman from Missouri put the matter in a novel light.

"The appropriation this year," he said, "would take a wagon train seven and one-half miles to transport it. If loaded in twenty-ton freight cars it would fill ninety-two and one-half of them and packed on men's backs, 150 pounds to the man, it would take 24,063 men to carry next year's appropriation."

The average workingman and farmer earns about $600 a year. On million, six hundred thousand men with such earning capacity would starve, go naked and shelterless to pay what congress spends in a year.

As a rule, people are not closely enough interested in political matters, or matters of public importance, to realize what such vast expenditures mean. The majority, not being property owners, think it is all right—they do not have to pay the taxes.

It is this mistaken idea that is responsible for appropriations being made year after year without voice of protest from the people. The people do not realize that they pay, every man of them their share of the billion, twenty-six et their share of the $1,023,000,000 appropriated.

The cost of living is high. This cry is heard in every part of the country.

So are taxes high. This explains why living is high. People pay the taxes in some form or other. They pay them to the landlord, the butcher, the baker, the grocer, the brewer, the tobacco merchant and dozens of others.

On the basis of five persons to a family, the United States taxes 10 per cent of the average earnings of the average man. Add to this city taxes, special taxes and other municipal and governmental expenses and the workingman, who really pays the great bulk of taxes, has a pretty hard row to hoe. Somehow, when congress is appropriating by the tens of millions, it does not seem that the workingman's money is being spent. However, this is true.

The consumer, of course, does not pay direct to the government. He pays in shoes, clothes, rent, groceries and everything that he requires to live. The producers see that taxes are included in the selling price of products. If taxes were paid with money and that money disappeared with payment, the gold supply of the country would disappear in two years.

The government is alarmed about the Indians in Alaska. Their health is not of the best. Forty-eight per cent of the adult Indians in Alaska are suffering from tuberculosis, while practically all of the children are suffering from some disease or other. Capt. Paul C. Hutton, assistant surgeon of the United States, made a searching investigation and he has returned from the Far North to recommend some relief for the unfortunate Indians.

"The only salvation for the red men of the North," he says, "is to send instructors and medical men so that they may learn sanitation."

This will likely be done at once. The Indians in Alaska are not a cleanly lot. They are slow intellectually and have not had opportunities to learn health laws. The ravages of disease have been such it is seemingly a hopeless task to attempt to give them any great relief. The white plague is sweeping through the tribes with alarming rapidity and there are no known methods of stamping it out.

It is the future, though, that the government must guard against and to this end a number of physicians, sanitary inspectors and instructors will be sent into Alaska.

The National Council of Commerce proposes to establish in Washington an agency council for the dissemination throughout the country of information respecting domestic and foreign commerce obtained by our foreign consuls and local authorities.

Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor, estimates that the maintenance of a proper agency in Washington will reuire an expenditure of about $20,000 a year. This expense will be borne by merchants and manufacturers and the amount assessed from each will be insignificant.

There is no medium today sufficiently comprehensive to properly take advantage of the valuable informations obtained by our representatives abroad.

Ever see any of those little pamphlets, containing consuls' reports? They are mighty interesting. The consuls tell all about the countries in which they are stationed—of their industries, their specialties in the way of agriculture and manufactories and, in short, everything worth knowing. A collection of these reports is as valuable as any atlas ever printed, for they keep abreast of the times and go into detail to a greater extent.

The advantage of receiving these reports is obvious. A manufacturer or merchant can learn what is going on all over the world and he does not have to indulge in a lot of dry reading in the learning. As a rule government reports are uninteresting enough. The consuls' reports, however, are far from being in that class. They are an education in themselves.

J. BULL JEALOUS OF THE FLEET

Scolds Australia for Voting $500,000 to Fete Jack Tars.

London, June 26.—England is rather jealous of the visit of the great American fleet to Australia, where it will remain one month. The Australians have appropriated about $500,000 to entertain the American sailors, and the Daily Mail thinks this is rather extravagant for a British colony.

That paper says: "The explanation of this outburst of enthusiasm is probably to be found in the fact that since the withdrawal of the British battleship which has left the British empire without a single battleship east of Suez, the Australian people have felt themselves open to naval attack. They see in the fleet of the United States a force capable of giving protection. It would be well, however, for Australians to understand the true causes which led the admiralty to recall the British battleships. The rapid development of the continental navies confronted Britain with these alternatives. She might greatly increase her navy, and thus be strong at home, while still maintaining powerful squadrons in distant waters. That course would have been wisest and safest in the long run, though its cost would have been great. Or she might obtain allies, economize in naval construction, and withdraw her distant fleets, which, with a reduced navy, she would no longer be able to spare.

"The second course was taken, rightly or wrongly, and we may say frankly that its results have not been gratifying to national pride. The failure of the British navy to put in a prompt appearance after the earthquake at Kingston is now to be followed by the assemblage before Australian crowds of a far more powerful fleet under a foreign flag than Britain has ever displayed in Pacific waters.

Puts Blame on Australia.

"The blame, however, for this state of affairs does not rest entirely with the people of the United Kingdom. They annually provide some $160,000,000 for the navy. The cost of an efficient and powerful Australian squadron would be at least $10,000,000, and probably considerably more. Yet the total contribution of Australia to the navy is only $1,000,000, while that of New Zealand is an additional $200,000.

"It is impossible for the British navy to be strong at all points, as the idealists would wish to see it, unless it receives greater pecuniary support from the states of the empire. If large detachments were made to a distant point from the present navy, defeat in Europe would be risked.

"Australians can see that any serious blow to the integrity or prosperity of the mother country would be a disaster to their own commonwealth, and they will not be inclined to blame the British admiralty for taking its precautions to prevent this. But it would be well next year, if the ships could be spared from their stations in Europe, were a powerful British fleet of modern armor clads dispatched on a voyage to the great colonies.

"The progress of the prince of Wales to Quebec in the superb battleship cruiser Indomitable will at least prove to Canada that the British navy possesses finer warships than any which fly the American flag. There is no reason why the Indomitable and her sisters should not show themselves at Sydney and Melbourne."

GREAT PAINTING FOUND.

Stolen Gainsborough, "Girl With a Dog," Missing Two Years.

London, June 26.—A priceless oil painting by Gainsborough, which was stolen by burglars eighteen months ago from Kensington, was recovered by the police this week from under the doorstep of an empty house in Gascoyne road, Victoria Park. The picture is the famous "Girl With a Dog," which with other valuable was stolen in November, 1906, from the home of Mrs. Whetherly of Egerton Gardens, Kensington. Here there is one of the finest private art collections in London, with examples of Rubens and other great masters, valued at many thousands of dollars. The burglars took down from the walls many of the finest pictures for removal, but they were disturbed and fled. Before they left, however, they tore the "Girl With a Dog" from its frame, leaving intact the companion picture by Gainsborough, "Girl With a Kitten." The art world has been searched ever since for the stolen masterpiece, and all the time it has been tightly rolled up in a newspaper parcel under a doorstep in Northeast London. A caretaker, engaged in cleaning up the premises, made the discovery. A roll of newspaper was seen tightly fixed, as though it had been kicked there, under the stone steps leading to the front door. The parcel—after some difficulty—was pulled out, and when the newspaper covering was unrolled the finder saw what he at first took to be "a roll of sailcloth." When the canvas was unrolled it was at once seen that it was an oil painting, and a gold and black title plate bearing the name of Gainsborough dropped out.

The caretaker realized the value of his find and informed the police. The painting has been badly damaged.

Don't Purge the Bowels—Do as Nature Does

Nature gets her laxatives from food.

If you ate plenty of fruit, coarse food and green vegetables, you would get laxative enough.

But you eat fine food, and too much of it. And you exercise too little.

So it is vital that you help the bowels in another way.

But don't use salts or pill cathartics. Never employ harsh physic.

Nature does all things gently. Give her gentle help.

Cascarets are vegetable. They have just the same effect as a laxative food.

They never gripe, so you know they don't irritate.

They act in Nature's way. Yet they are just as effective as violence.

While harsh physic ruins the stomach, Cascarets aid digestion.

While harsh physic callouses the bowels, Cascarets restore the natural functions.

Every effect is curative.

Those who are well informed about laxatives employ only Cascarets.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with C C C on every tablet. The box is marked like this:

Cascarets THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. The month-treatment box 50 cents. 12,000,000 boxes sold annually. 822

THE WEEK TO "PRESERVE"

Strawberries Are Now Probably the Cheapest They Will Be.

In the bright calendar of the house wives, this is a big preserve week.

Commission men say that strawberries are cheaper now than they have been at any time during the season and that prices will not go any lower than they are at the present time.

Receipts of strawberries have been very heavy during the past few days, most of them coming from Wisconsin. Carload lot have been arriving daily and there is nothing on commission now as plentiful as the strawberries. The Wisconsin berries are selling at $1.35 to $1.50 for 16-quart cases, and are said to be very fine in quality.

The demand for them has been very good.

Green stuff in abundance is offered on Michigan street and the commission men declare that prices are very reasonable, although the demand is firm. All of them declare that business has been very good this week.

The first raspberries of the season are on hand, although receipts are very light as yet. These berries are well grown and come from Indiana. They are selling here at $4 per case of twenty-four pints.

Melons are arriving daily. The Florida variety is wholesaling at thirty cents apiece, while the California melons are selling at $4 per crate. The demand for them has been very good and is bound to keep up well during the next three or four weeks. Receipts are expected to substantially increase every week.

New cabbages are selling at $1.75 for medium sized crates and $2.50 for large crates. Receipts so far have been almost altogether from Missouri and Illinois.

California cantaloupes, Mississippi wax beans, Texas tomatoes and new potatoes and Missouri cabbages are among the green goods which are coming in every day, in good quantities. Receipts of all kinds of green fruits and vegetables have been large.

Extra fancy tomatoes are offered now at 99 cents per crate of four baskets. There has been a very strong demand for these, as well as for cucumbers, wrich are quoted at $1.50 per bushel crate. These latter come from Louisiana, which produced an excellent crop.

Radishes are now very plentiful at 25 cents per dozen bunches. This is the quotation on the round ones. The long ones are quoted at 25 cents per dozen bunches.

The continued rains in the Southwest had a very strengthening effect on the potato market as all the new ones have been coming from that part of the country. Old stocks are being depleted and the new spuds are the ones most in demand. New potatoes hailing from Texas are selling at $1.65 a bushel but new crops from other states may be had in some instances at $1.

Sour cherries have been received in fairly good quantities from Iowa during the past week. The fruit has not weathered the trip very well, however, and is arriving in rather poor condition.

California is sending an enormous quantity of fruit and it is arriving more regularly now that the floods in the West are over and trains are running with more regularity than they were a week or so ago.

California black and white cherries are selling at $1.55 a box. Alexander peaches are quoted at $1 a crate and plums are $1.25.

Lemons are in very good demand and the price remains steady around $4.25 per box for both the California and the Messina fruit.

The big demand for bananas has caused a bulge in the market. Importations have been light and the market has been stiffening for the past several days. Prices here are now 4 cents to 4½ cents a pound.

Florida pineapples are plentiful around $1.50 and $1.75, according to the size.

Eggs are advancing. Today they are 17 cents a dozen and there is every indication that by next week they will be selling at 18 cents a dozen. The demand has been very firm.

Butter prices remain about unchanged, with little feature to the market. There is a slightly easier undertone to the cheese market but prices are about unchanged.

Poultry is unchanged and the meat market shows no fluctuation from last week. The tone is still very firm, however, Lard is very strong, advancing from 9¾ cents to 10⅛ cents.

SUSPENDED ON ONE ARM

Injured Oiler at Ore Docks Keeps Nerve Until Rescued.

Then Collapses at Sight of His Gaping Wounds.

With one arm nearly severed by a runaway truck, Stans Walczak, an oiler employed at the Missabe ore docks, clung with his other arm to a cable and hung in mid air until he could be lowered to the ground by his fellow workmen. The accident occurred late yesterday afternoon.

Walczak was at work oiling some of the mechanism of the docks when one of the trucks on the automatic dips became loosened and started in his direction. At first it seemed as if the oiler must lose his life, but with a quick movement he managed to get out of the way of the flying truck, although not in time to save his right arm, which was nearly ripped from his body.

Despite the terrible agony he was suffering Walczak kept his nerve and remained conscious until others on the dock had tied a rope around his body and lowered him to the ground. Then he collapsed at the sight of his bleeding arm and from loss of blood.

The arm was so badly mangled that it was necessary to have it amputated at St. Mary's hospital last evening. The operation was performed by Dr. Sukeforth, who cut the arm off just below the elbow. Unless complications set in, Walczak will recover. He is a married man and lives with his family at 2116 West Sixth street.

Hillsiders Will Protest.

The West End Hillside Improvement club will hold a special meeting this evening, when a petition protesting against the building of the new Horace Mann school anywhere but the site of the present structure, will be framed. The Hillsiders plan to present it at the next meeting of the board of education, which will be held on the first Friday evening in July.

West End Shortrails.

In his efforts to stop a runaway horse at Twenty-eighth avenue west and Third street yesterday, Theodore Dahlgren received a badly mangled thumb. His hand was caught in the frightened horse's bridle.

Misses Gertrude and Louise Emerson of 827 Twenty-fifth avenue west have gone to Portland, Or., where they will visit relatives for the next two months.

Jack Caverly is confined to his bed at the Esmond hotel, as a result of a scratch he received on his leg the other day. He was threatened with blood poison for a time.

Peter Miley has gone to the range, where he will visit friends for the next two weeks.

Neil Black is back in the West end after an absence of several months in Michigan and Ohio. He has been greeting friends for several days. He will leave about the last of the week for Minneapolis, where he has accepted a position.

Dr. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church, lectured at the First Swedish Mission church Wednesday evening. His subject was "The Live Dog Versus the Dead Lion."

Rev. C. J. Ledin of Princeton, Ill., conducted the prayer meeting services at the First Swedish Mission church last evening. He will also conduct the services Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Ledin may accept the pastorate of the church, as the present pastor, Rev. F. O. Kling, is soon to leave for Minneapolis, where he will take charge of one of the large Swedish Mission churches.

The funeral of Carl A. Johnson, who died Tuesday, is being held this afternoon at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

Dr. A. Osterberg and Mrs. Osterberg have gone to Cokato, Minn., where they will visit Dr. Osterberg's parents for a week.

We would like to fill your prescriptions. "Lion drug store."

Dr. C. B. Green left yesterday for Port Wing, Wis., where he will remain several days on business.

Miss Marit Anderson of West Third street has gone to Bayfield, Wis., where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Close.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Lundberg will be held Sunday afternoon at the First Swedish Mission church. Rev. F. O. Kling will be in charge of the services.

"Lion Cough Cure" stops that cough. Sold at "Lion drug store."

William MacDonald of 130 First street has returned from Brainerd, Minn., where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The marriage of Ella G. Eklund and Charles Johnson took place Wednesday evening at the parsonage of the First Swedish Baptist church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. Edstam. Mrs. Johnson formerly lived at Braham, Minn., but Mr. Johnson is in business in the West end.

Miss Anna Wood and Carl F. Johnson, both well-known residents of the West end, were married last evening by Rev. J. L. McBride. The ceremony took place at the parsonage of the Second Presbyterian church. They will be at home after Aug. 1 at Nineteenth avenue west and First street.

A. B. Anderson was re-elected president of the Epworth League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church at the annual meeting of the society held this week.

THE SPRINGERS SIGHT A FORTUNE

Heirs to Organize to Fight for Property at Wilmington.

Ukiah, Cal., June 26.—B. N. Springer, formerly a candidate for county surveyor and a resident of Ukiah, now in business in Potter Valley, claims to be heir to an estate in Wilmington, Del., alleged to be worth $30,000,000. He will at once take legal steps to establish his descent.

Christopher Springer died at Wilmington in the year 1759, leaving land that now comprises a large part of that city, and extensive farming lands in Pennsylvania, to the Swedish church there, under lease for ninety-nine years. The lease expired in 1889, a fact that has only recently become known and now every Springer from the Atlantic to the Pacific is trying to connect himself with the vast estate.

All the heirs are now taking steps to organize a corporation to provide money to take up the case.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of 436 Houston street, New York. NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

THEY HAVE CLOSE CALL

Wife and Daughter of State Drainage Engineer Nearly Strangle.

Are Hurled Into Muddy Water From Rear Seat of Wagon.

Crookston, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. George A. Ralph, wife of State Drainage Engineer George A. Ralph, and her daughter, Dorothy, came near losing their lives while en route from Caribou to Lancaster with Mr. Ralph. Capt. James A. Beard of the Standard Drainage company and J. B. Pierson.

The roads were very bad and while crossing a swale the hind wheels of the buggy dropped into a deep hole from which a big rock had been removed. The rear seat broke and fell backwards. Mrs. Ralph and her daughter were sitting on this seat and fell in about four feet of water. Mrs. Ralph is a very large woman, and before she was brought to the surface was nearly strangled, while her daughter had to be worked over for half an hour before she recovered consciousness, being nearly choked to death with mud and water.

SOO RAILROAD WORK ADVANCES

Steel Being Laid East From the Mississippi River Bridge.

Little Falls, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rails and ties are now being placed on the Soo railroad eastward from the Mississippi bridge about seven miles below Little Falls.

On Tuesday the rails had reached the main wagon road running south from this city. The grade is all prepared as far as Onamia at the Rum river crossing near Mille Lacs and the work will be promptly pushed that far.

Last fall the Soo built its tracks from Brooten eastward to the Mississippi, and irregular trains have been run during the winter and spring. All the bridges in Morrison and Mille Lacs counties between the Mississippi and Rum rivers are built and ready for the rails.

A considerable force of graders for the working on the line from Onamia to Moose Lake. This latter station is on the St. Paul & Duluth line of the Northern Pacific. There seems little doubt that the road can easily be completed to Moose Lake this year. Whether the road from Moose Lake to Lake Superior will be pushed this year is not yet known. The Soo road must make extensive terminal improvements at the head of the lakes before it can use its own entrance into Duluth and Superior, and it is estimated that it will take at least a year to finish that work.

It is quite evident that the southern and eastern points of Morrison county will within a few months have regular East and West passenger and freight train service.

DO NOT NEGLECT THIN BLOOD

It Means an Anaemic Condition Which Is Always Dangerous.

Taken in Time Anaemia Is Readily Curable, But It is a Disease Which Gradually Progresses Toward the Incurable.

Anaemia, or poverty of the blood, is recognized by the characteristic symptoms of languor, paleness of lips, cheeks and gums, dull eyes, loss of appetite, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart upon the slightest exertion. If neglected the disease slowly and gradually progresses until hope of recovery is gone. But taken in time the disease is readily curable, the specific being a tonic medicine which increases the number of red blood-corpuscles thus enabling the blood to carry the life-giving oxygen to all the tissues of the body. Such a tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have had unbounded success in curing this stubborn disease because of this wonderful property. The cure of anaemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is a certain as anything in medical science.

Mrs. Clair Kellay of 43 Colvin street, Battle Creek, Mich., whose husband is an engineer on the Grand Trunk railway, running between Battle Creek and Chicago, has recently been cured of anaemia and tells of her case as follows:

"I am only too glad to tell what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me, for when I began to take them I was suffering with anaemia and had been told by the doctors that I was going into consumption. I had no blood to speak of and my complexion was as white as chalk. I had no appetite and for a long time ate nothing but a cracker at a meal. There was a great deal of gas on my stomach, causing a distressed feeling. I was short of breath, had palpitation of the heart and a dull, heavy headache. My feet were cold, there were sharp pains in my limbs and I grew very weak, being confined to bed for a month.

"I was treated by a doctor for about a year but grew no better. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a friend at Bay City and, as they had cured her of anaemia, I decided to try them. A few boxes relieved me and I took them until cured. I now have a good appetite and my sickness has left me. I can recommend the pills knowing them to be as represented and I hope my statement will be a help to other sufferers."

A helpful booklet "Diseases of the Blood" giving more information about anaemia will be sent free upon request. If you are suffering from impoverished blood you cannot afford to wait another day before giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a thorough trial. They are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price. 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

IRON ORE FIND EXCITES THEM

Deposits Said to Have Been Found in Hubbard County.

Akeley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable excitement exists in the vicinity of Lake George and Lake Alice because of the finding of iron ore. It is reported that in digging for foundations of buildings and in drilling for wells, that large quantities of ore have been discovered. It was at first thought that the ore was not marketable, but samples tested have given the ore a market value.

The fact that all mineral rights being withheld in the deeds of land sold by the large owners of land in Hubbard county, is also used as an argument that there are rich mineral deposits which will be mined when the timber is all cut. At Akeley the water from 100 feet deep has a strong taste of iron, and when filtered leaves a thick deposit of iron ore. The magnetic needle also gives signs of iron ore near the lake district here, and experts say that this whole country is a continuation of the Missabe iron range. More tests will be made to determine the quantity and quality of the ore deposits.

AGED CRIMINAL CAUGHT.

Seventy-Five-Year-Old Prescott Boynton Returned to Manitowoc.

Manitowoc, Wis., June 26.—Handcuffed and tottering under the weight of his 75 years, Prescott Boynton of Manitowoc, who has been sought for four years on a charge of embezzling $10,000 worth of United States bonds and also a charge of grand larceny, was brought here Thursday.

He was in the custody of Deputy Sheriff J. C. Willinger who brought the prisoner from Knoxville, Tenn., where he was arrested on June 14. He was caught in the postoffice as he was opening an envelope containing his pension check, as a veteran of the civil war.

DAVIDSON ON CLEVELAND.

Wisconsin's Governor Joins in Tributes to Dead Statesman.

Madison, Wis., June 26.—By way of tribute to the late Grover Cleveland Governor Davidson made this statement:

"Grover Cleveland was a type of man and official who grew in public esteem as he was better known and understood. He was president at a time when party spirit was fierce and bitter and his merits as an official and an individual were not accorded the full respect to which they were entitled. Although Mr. Cleveland has lived a quiet life since he resigned as president, he has frequently emphasized the great need of patriotic spirit on the part of the citizens as a check to the wild commercialism of the present day."

GOVERNOR'S ODD PRESENT.

Given Old Pistol With Which Jesse James Did Business.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The revolver carried by Jesse James, the bandit, in the historic raid on the Northfield bank in which Haywood, cashier of the bank was killed, has been received at the state capitol as a present to Governor John A. Johnson from Cleve Van Dyke, a former resident of Minnesota, who is now in Arizona.

The revolver is now much battered and discolored and must have been a valuable and effective weapon in its day. It is an immense holster revolver of the Colt type of thirty years ago, with a six-cylinder chamber made to use a percussion cap.

Accompanying the relic was a letter from Mr. Van Wyke, who says that it was given to him in Mexico by Dr. Howard Crutcher, who received it from Peter Bedell of Mexico, Mo., a former member of the James gang. Mr. Van Dyke says that Bedell told Dr. Crutcher that the revolver was the one that Jesse James carried in the Northfield raid.

AKELEY BOYS DID WELL.

Firemen Captured Several Prizes at Park Rapids Tournament.

Akeley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Akeley fire department has returned from Park Rapids with three second prizes and over $50 in money, captured at the Northern Minnesota Tournament association of firemen. With only one member of the department that had ever been at a turnament before, they made the second best appearance, and second for number in line. They also were second for the association banner, in the cart and hose races, with Park Rapids a few points ahead. In this race they ran with their uniforms and regulation shoes, while the the other Northwest crack teams weer in running costume. President Walter Luff said the team went to get some pointers for next year and not to win prizes, as the department was newly organized, but for fun entered the three contests, in which they were surprised to win the three scond prizes.

Akeley citizens gave the firemen a big reception at the depot on returning with the village band.

CAPITAL CORNERSTONE IS LAID AT PIERRE, S. D.

Pierre, June 26.—The laying of the corner stone of the new state capitol yesterday was under Masonic ceremony for such occasions. The Masonic orders and state officials marched to the capitol, where the stone was laid. This was followed by a short address by Governor Crawford, and the address of the day by Gen. W. H. H. Beadle of Madison.

The structure is to be 300 feet in length, with a width of 160 feet in the central part, and 199 feet in the wings. The top of the dome will be 164 feet above the sub-basement wall. The sub-basement wall is of granite boulders from the hills about this city. The basement, or first story walls are of Marquette rain-droy sandstone with Ortonville granite trimming and pillars. The rest of the structure of Bedford limestone.

The halls of the two houses of the legislature will be in the wings and will reach from the second story to the roof, with offices on what will be the third and fourth floors in the building. The main offices of state officials will be on the second floor. The contract calls for a completed building by the first of July, 1910, and the first legislative session which can be held in the building will be that of 1911.

JEALOUSY'S AWFUL WORK.

Hancock Finn Shoots Wife and Infant Child, Then Himself.

Hancock, Mich., June 26—(Special to The Herald.)—John Heikkala, a Finn, employed at the Quincy mine, his wife and their infant daughter, are inmates of St. Joseph's hospital, with their recovery doubtful, from gunshot wounds inflicted by the man, Heikkala, who is about 37, is said to have been insanely jealous of his wife, and on coming home last evening flew into a rage and, grabbing a pistol, shot her twice in the abdmen. Then he wounded their infant daughter and wound up his sanguinary efforts by firing probably fatal shots into himself.

BRYCE LIKED THE LAKE.

Pleased With His Trip to This Section of Country.

Houghton, Mich., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador to the United States, spent a little over an hour in Houghton Wednesday, being a passenger on the steamer North West, en route from Duluth to the East after being the guest of the Zenith City the past couple of days. As in Duluth the ambassador declined to talk for publication.

Mr. Bryce, on the other hand, was very anxious that the reporters talk and seemed anxious to learn something of the Copper country, of which he has read and heard much. The distinguished British statesman was particularly anxious to know the effect of the recent financial difficulties in this section of the country and seemed greatly surprised to know that there had been little, if any, noticeable effect here. This is the ambassador's first trip to "the great inland sea," as he termed Lake Superior, and Mr. Bryce admitted enjoying the trip immensely.

Mr. Bryce regretted his inability to visit points of interest, especially the great Calumet & Hecla mine, but he did enjoy a ride through East Houghton as the guest of Johnson Vivian. Local people of prominence called upon Mr. Bryce and paid their respects.

ST. CLOUD MAN MISSING.

William Hulst Wanders Away and is Reported in Far West.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Hulst is still missing. The police have been unable to secure any trace of him whatever and are at a loss to know what has become of him. The authorities at Butte, Mont., where Hulst was last seen, state that he left that city about the middle of May bound for the West. All the towns along the line have been notified, but nothing has been seen of him. The theory of Mrs. Hulst that the missing man has lost his mind sounds feasible to the police. It is known that he acted peculiarly for several months before he left this city. With the man in that condition it is feared that something serious has happened to him. It is understood that the wife has interested the Minneapolis police in the case, who are now trying to locate the man.

SAVED BY HIS WIFE.

Would Have Drowned in South Lake But for Better Half.

Brainerd, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Had Mrs. Alla Wyrzykowski not been able to swim both she and her husband would have undoubtedly been drowned in South Long lake Monday. They were out in a rowboat when the storm came up and though they sought to reach the shore were about four rods away when the wind struck the boat and capsized it. He is unable to swim and would have drowned but for his wife, who is an expert swimmer. She succeeded in getting him safely to shore, but the boat was sunk and all its contents were lost.

ENDEAVORERS MEETING.

The Fergus Falls District Union Gathers at Hawley.

Hawley, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sixteenth annual convention of the Fergus Falls district union, Christian Endeavor, comprising the counties of Hubbard, Wadena, Otter Tail, Becker, Wilkin, Clay and Grant convenes at Hawley today, Saturday and Sunday, June 26, 27 and 28. The Rev. Robert L. Vance of Maine is president and Miss Lucy Weld of Moorhead is treasurer.

LIGHTNING THROWS PANIC INTO WISCONSIN WEDDING.

Manitowoc, Wis., June 26.—A wedding party at Kellhersville, near this city, had a most terrible fright yesterday when lightning dashed right into the midst of the festivities, and began to set fire to things and play other pranks. The dress of Mrs. Frank Novachek, the hostess, was set afire and her 5-year-old daughter who sat near her was rendered unconscious. When the lightning bolt was playing tag about the room two women fainted away.

FAITHFUL WASHERWOMAN IS REWARDED IN WILL.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bequest of $30 is provided in the will of Anna Schultz for Mrs. Emma Whitnall, "because of the faithful manner in which she has done the family washing." After providing $200 for her funeral, $300 for a family monument, together with $55 each for headstones for herself, father and mother, and $250 for the Union Cemetery company, numerous small bequests are made as tokens of the friendship of the testator, including $250 for the Plymouth Brethren of Milwaukee, $50 for the Associated Charities and $10 to the flower mission. Others bequests ranging from $25 to $400 are left to relatives.

INVESTIGATING LANDS.

Bismarck, N. D., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. W. Wesdal, special agent from Duluth, and Mr. Milliams, an expert coal miner from Montana, arrived in the city Monday and left Tuesday morning on the Soo to investigate lands in the vicinity of Colebarbor to determine which tracts are more valuable for coal than agriculture.

MINNEAPOLIS MERCHANT DIES SUDDENLY IN EAST.

Minneapolis, Min., June 26.—R. S. Goodfellow, 68, for twenty-four years a leading merchant of Minneapolis, died suddenly Wednesday night in Troy, N. Y., where he had gone on a pleasure trip.

Mr. Goodfellow was best known in Minneapolis for his connection with the dry goods firms of Goodfellow & Eastman and R. S. Goodfellow & Co. He organized both firms. He retired from active business in 1902, when he sold his interest in the firm of R. S. Goodfellow & Co. to George D. Dayton, and the company's name was changed to the Dayton Dry Goods company. Mr. Goodfellow is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Martha G. Lewis, and a son, W. E. Goodfellow. None of the members of his family was with him at the time of his death.

YOUNG BOY DROWNS.

Towner, N. D., June 26.—Alvin Olson, 7 years old, the son of George Olson, was drowned in the Mouse river here yesterday afternoon. The boy, in company with several others, was playing on the boat landing.

SANDSTONE IMPROVEMENTS.

Sandstone, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern has scheduled some needed improvements for this yards here in the near future. Rock is already on the grounds for a new set of scales in the northern end of the yard and it will also install a new turning table near the round house. This will be large enough to turn the biggest engines without cutting off the tender and will be operated with a gasoline engine, while the present one has to be pushed by hand.

ST. PAUL RAISING MONEY.

St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—The funds of $125,000 with which the St. Paul Business league intends to buy a site at St. Peter, Market, Fourth and Fifth street, for the erection of a $1,000,000 hotel, will be entirely subscribed, the league believes, before the close of this week. The balance to be secured is only $5,000.

NEW MOORHEAD CONCERN.

St. Paul, June 26.—Articles have been filed with the secretary of state by the Golden Rule Clothing company of Moorhead. The capital stock is $25,000, and the limit of indebtedness $10,000. The incorporators are Fred G. Berg of Detroit, Minn.; Albert H. Spring of Rochester and Thowald Loken of Fargo, N. D.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Prof. John Lang, for the past three years principal of the Rockville schools, has announced his candidacy for the office of register of deeds before the coming primaries. Mr. Lang is well known in the county, having taught eleven years at Spring Hill, two years at Lake Henry and three years at Rockville.

Perham—Owing to ill health, Miss Minnie Hassler, was compelled to give up her position with the Perham telephone exchange. Miss Hassler has been chief operator with the company for the past five years.

New York Mills—Mrs. Charles G. Hyry, after spending a month with her parents here, returned Monday. She will spend the week at Duluth and leave for Hibbing Friday. Her sister Miss Lydia Haarala, went with her as far as Brainerd, where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. Foster.

Moorhead—Unwearied search has been made by men in four boats for the body of little Edward Swensen, who was drowned in the Red river Tuesday afternoon, but the search has been unrewarded. The current is so strong at present that the finding of the body will undoubtedly be a difficult matter.

Brainerd—Dr. Morse, a graduate of the University of Michigan, has been in the city a few days visiting Dr. Altnow and other friends at the Northern Pacific hospital. He goes from here to Missoula, Mont., where he will take a position as interne in the Northern Pacific hospital.

Anoka—John Blacklund died in Anoka Sunday morning, after a short illness. He was 73 years old May 12 and left five grandchildren, Mrs. Ed. Turnquist, Fred and John Carlson and Agnes and Axel Backlund. The funeral services were held Tuesday from the Mission church, Revs. Rood and Hans Nelson conducting them.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Judge Charles A. Pollock returned to Fargo Tuesday evening after having spent several weeks in the East, where he attended the big national Methodist Episcopal conference, and has also visited with friends in several places in the East.

Jamestown, N. D.—The city board of equalization has increased the valuations on city property as shown by the assessor's return, $42,740. The largest item to receive equalization at the hands of the board was bank stock, which was lowered from 50 to 35 per cent, the total representing a decrease of $20,015.

Dunseith, N. D.—Rev. J. A. Lemieux has arrived for a short visit with his nephew, Dr. Lemieux. He departed for Tarsus, where he held services. He has just returned from a ten months' trip around the world.

Bismarck, N. D.—J. C. McDowell, a representative of the United States department of agriculture, arrived in Bismarck Monday and will spend several days in his work on the Missouri slope. Mr. McDowell's special work is in connection with the "farm management investigations" work and the "bureau of plant industry."

Grand Forks, N. D.—C. Bryant, a Great Northern switchman of Whitefish, Mont., left Wednesday for his home, after a visit with friends here. He had been in Butler, Ind., for a visit with relatives. Whitefish has been rather quiet for several weeks.

Fargo, N. D.—President George B. Howley of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, arrived Wednesday morning from Mandan and Bismarck. Mr. Howley has been all over North Dakota, and stated this afternoon in an interview that he found conditions in the best of shape all over the state.

Bismarck, N. D.—Joe Cannavan was run over by the Northern Pacific freight here Tuesday and died two hours later. He was crossing the track in an intoxicated condition in front of a slow moving train when he stumbled and fell in front of the engine. Both legs were cut off and he was crushed internally. No blame is attached to the railway employes.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Calumet—The Calumet depot of the Mineral Range and South Shore roads is crumbling in decay. A large piece of the wall of the waiting room of the depot fell away this week and this in addition to a large piece of plastering that fell from the ceiling gives the depot a more dilapidated appearance than ever.

Menominee—Editor William F. Trayes of the Herald-Leader is back from Colorado Springs, fully restored to health. Mr. Trayes has resumed his duties as managing editor of that paper.

Hancock—Oscar Fred of Hancock has been awarded one of the prizes offered by a magazine for securing subscriptions, consisting of a trip to Niagara Falls, with all expenses paid. He secured ninety subscriptions and will go to Niagara Falls sometime about the middle of July.

Houghton—Amendatory articles of the Indiana Copper company, changing the business office from Ontonagon to Houghton, but continuing a mine office in Ontonagon county have been filed with Couty Clerk Richardson. The amendment was authorized at a meeting of the company on May 27 last.

Hancock—Judge George C. Bentley will be a candidate for re-election as a member of the Hancock board of education to succeed himself at the coming school election to be held on Monday, July 13, and a petition is now being circulated by his friends in his behalf.

Houghton—The remains of the late Capt. Stevens formerly of Atlantic, whose death occurred at Ypsilanti, arrived in Houghton Wednesday and were buried from the Grace M. E. church. Montrose Commandery Knights Templar attended the services.

Ishpeming—C. J. Byrns of Ishpeming, who was re-elected a director of the Modern Woodmen of America without opposition, has returned home from the head camp session held last week at Peoria.

Marquette—There are six electrical houses bidding on the equipment for the city's proposed sub-station and the equipment in connection with it that will be needed at the plant.

Houghton—The marriage of Miss Katherine McGrath of Quincy, Ill., and Joseph Hillenbrand of Houghton took place Wednesday morning, the ceremony being performed by Rev. T. J. Attfield, pastor of St. Patrick's church. Mr. and Mrs. Hillenbrand will live in Houghton.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Marshfield—Three school girls, aged about 7 each were caught in the severe storm which struck this city the other day. They were about to cross the street to go their homes when they were bodily lifted off the ground and carried across the street, where they were set down safely.

Oshkosh—The Oshkosh Athletic club is endeavoring to secure a match between Young Sharkey (Roy Zuelke) of Appleton and Young Ryan of Fond du Lac. A purse has been offered and all that remains to bind the match is Ryan's signature. Zuelke is willing and his father, Otto Zuelke, offers to bet $200 that his son will win.

Janesville—Arguments will be heard by Judge Grimm in circuit court next Monday in the case of John Brown vs. George Appleby to determine who is head of the Janesville police department.

Waupaca—The case of A. C. Smith against the board of trustees of the Wisconsin Veterans' home, came to an end Wednesday when Judge Goodland directed a verdict for the defendant. This case grew out of the ishonorable discharge of Mr. Smith from the home in September, 1906. He sued the trustees for $5,000 damages.

Milwaukee—Two-year-old Anna Dornato, 1834 Detroit street, was pushed off a porch by one of her playmates last night, and her right leg was broken above the knee. The limb was set at the Emergency hospital and the child was taken back home.

New Richmond—Last Monday during the electrical storm the Omaha freight depot here was struck by lightning and totally destroyed by fire. The lightnig caused other damage at numerous places along the line.

A HUSHED JACOBSON.

Not nearly enough attention has been given to this strange, new Jacob F. Jacobson who is figuring so largely in the canvass for the Republican nomination for governor of Minnesota. No such marvelous phenomenon as the metamorphosis of the "gentleman from Lac Qui Parle" has happened in this state within the memory of man, and yet few people seem to be appreciating the wonder of it all.

It is time people began to consider it, however, for the county conventions make it look very much like Jacobson. Indeed, he seems to have nearly as strong a chance of nomination as he had at the same relative time prior to the convention of two years ago, only this time it is different. Then he had the opposition of certain elements in the Republican party which were able, when the time came, to shift the cut on the man from Lac Qui Parle and to deposit him carefully upon the scrap heap before he and his friends knew what was happening. This time, however, those elements seem to be behind his candidacy with all their power and influence, and if they really mean it—and friend Jacobson wants to remember that nobody on the outside really knows what they mean until after they have acted—they are going to nominate him, probably on the first ballot.

But that isn't the wonder, the miracle, the phenomenon that has taken place upon the political stage of Minnesota. That strange thing is the lightning change of "Hell Roaring Jake," as his loving friends used admiringly to call him, to Silent Jake, the Voiceless Wonder. Gone are the fervid appeals to the populace, the shrill falsetto notes which the fever of the fight sent ringing in the rafters of the statehouse, the clarion notes that called his followers to battle with the powers of plutocracy. In their place is a stolid, silent, inscrutable being with a mien of mighty import but a voice of appalling stillness. That stalwart, rawboned figure which used to put forth sounds that made the welkin ring and shattered the stillness of the farther distances is now surrounded, wrapped, engulfed, entombed in a dark brown hush that is awful in its intensity.

Can this be the same old "Jake," our old reliable volcano of sound and motion, the incessantly erupting mouthpiece of the common people, the mighty champion who rehearsed his eloquence on the pebbled shores of the Lake That Talks and thereby awed it into respectful silence? What can have happened? Can it be that that crushed and defeated lake of eloquence finally turned when driven into a corner, and raised its voice again in mighty tones that humiliated into a perpetual silence the clamorous voices of the statesman from its storied shores? How, otherwise, are we to account for this unwonted hush? How, otherwise, are we to understand how this mighty force, one moment a raging whirlwind, an unquenchable prairie fire, an irresistible torrent, an all-conquering avalanche, becomes the next moment a prodigious silence, a perfect inertia? Can the leopard change his spots? Can the babbling phonograph become a dumb image? Can the mountain torrent become a still brook? Can the ponderous rogue elephant become a cooing dove?

There is something here that passes human understanding. It is positively uncanny. There is nothing more awful, more disturbing, more fearsome than an unwholesome hush where there should be sound. If Jacobson doesn't say something pretty soon, we know we shall have to scream.

REPUBLICANS AND SOCIALISM.

At the close of the Republican national platform there are some passages attempting to set forth the differences between the Republican party and the Democratic party, and the view of the writer of the platform seems to be mainly that the Republican party is the party of individualism and the Democratic party the party of Socialism.

As a matter of fact, this is a very shallow view. Any Socialist will tell you that the activities of the Republican party in protecting and upbuilding the great combinations of business that have come about have been far more serviceable to Socialism than anything the Democratic party could have done if it had had a chance to carry out its principles. While the Republican party had been fostering these great combinations, the Democratic party has been attacking them, and declaring that if it had its way it would destroy them.

The Socialist does not want them destroyed. He wants the Republican party to keep on fostering them and encouraging their growth. He would like to see them become perfect monopolies, as they naturally and inevitably will if they are allowed to go on as they have in the past. He believes that when it comes to a question of whether the people are going to let these ultimate monopolies remain in private hands to be operated for selfish interests, or whether they are to be taken over by the public to be operated for the common good, the people will choose the latter course; and that means a form of Socialism.

It cannot be asserted, by anybody that really thinks, that the Republican party is the party of individualism. These great combinations, which are semi-socialistic in their nature, have utterly destroyed individualism. They have brought about a partial state of Socialism, though the benefits are going to a few instead of to all, as the Socialists claim would be the case under the Co-operative Commonwealth to which they look forward. Though industry has become quasi-public through the operation of these combinations, it is exempt from the influence of the public conscience because the combinations are in the hands of selfish interests and are operated selfishly. This is the work of a party which is unconsciously working toward Socialism. Therefore it would be more accurate to say that the Republican party is Socialistic in its tendencies than it would be to say that the Democratic party has such tendencies.

Says the Springfield Republican: "The attack on Socialism in the Republican platform is made over the shoulders of a party that, on the whole, cannot be considered as Socialistic as the Republicans themselves. The centralization tendencies of the Republicans, their Rooseveltian tendency to "regulate" everything through government agencies, no matter where the ownership may be vested,—these are facts which give a momentous impulse to Socialistic development in this country. One must conclude that the planks on the Socialism of the Democratic party are designed to throw dust in the eyes of the people in order to prevent them from observing the Socialistic trend of the party in power. It is probable, too, that beyond the Democrats, the Republican platform makers had the Debs party under direct consideration. The real Socialists the Republican leaders do not, perhaps, wish to dignify by open attack, so they belabor Socialism by way of the Democracy."

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS.

When Cardinal Logue, the brainy, broad-minded and progressive Catholic prelate of Ireland, was taking his departure recently after a visit in this country, he spoke with alarm about "the growth of divorce in this country and the increasing favor with which it seems to be regarded." It constitutes, he said, a serious peril to the continuance of civilization in the United States. The greatness of any country, in his opinion, must be measured by the strength and purity of the home. Divorce disrupts the home and desecrates its sanctity. In the home the first lessons of respect for authority and obedience must be learned, and these lessons cannot be instilled into the mind of the child if the home is not what it ought to be. If the next generation should grow up without having learned them, the country will speedily feel the effects of that lack. Civilization may not be destroyed, but it will be changed—not for the better.

Every word of this is true, and every fear is justified. It is true that what he says about home influences applies not only to homes where divorce has disrupted the family ties, but to many homes where there is no thought of divorce, but where the negligence, ignorance or bad influences of the parents work sad havoc upon the children.

And yet, care must be taken not to emphasize too much the extent of the divorce evil. Divorce cases get into the papers, but there is no attempt at describing the millions of happy homes where wholesome companionship, love and mutual trust abide. It is easy to get up statistics showing the large number of divorces granted in this country, but there are no statistics of the millions of instances where divorce is neither sought nor considered.

If there could be some sort of showing of the amount of marital contentment and happiness that exists, to offset the frequent stories of matrimonial disharmonies that get into the divorce court, it might serve to reassure us somewhat as to the real proportions of the divorce evil, though it could not possibly condone the manifest abuses of the divorce privilege that exist.

And we are quite certain that if statistics of the many stable, happy and permanent marriages could be gathered, they would make a very formidable showing and would make the divorce statistics look very small.

What is first needed in this country is uniformity of the divorce laws. It is infamous, shameful and demoralizing that the state laws should vary so widely that a couple, one of whom has been divorced, are considered as legally married in one state, and as living in adultery in another state.

That is the chief evil of divorce in this country, and the one to be first remedied. If the people of this country agree upon a uniform divorce law, it will not be one that panders to the immoral and the dissolute, or that facilitates free and easy matrimonial arrangements. Our people are not that kind of people.

SUPPRESSING ANARCHISTIC COUNSELS.

One very proper thing congress did at its recent session, for which it should have full credit, was to amend the postal laws so as to provide a legal method of suppressing publications which counsel violence.

It will be remembered that during the winter the postoffice department shut out of the mails two publications which had been convicted of advocating violence in the most flagrant manner. The offense of these publications was heinous, and the action of the government in forbidding them the mails was morally right.

Legally, however, it was wrong, though it is one of those wrongs which necessity makes right. There was no law under which it could be done, except perhaps the common law, for the postal laws only permitted the exclusion of indecent publications, and took no cognizance of publications preaching violence.

It was proper and necessary to shut these newspapers out of the mails; it would have been proper even to prohibit their publication absolutely; but it was unfortunate that it was necessary to take this action without the warrant of law. The precedent was bad, because the policy of doing unlawful things for good purposes is dangerous; mob law and lynch law come under that head. If the postal authorities could shut out a publication for preaching violence, it wouldn't be much of a strain to go further and shut out publications for preaching peaceful revolution by means of the ballot, if the authorities were bitterly opposed to such revolution.

It will no longer be necessary, however, to perform this necessary work against lawlessness in an unlawful manner, for congress added an amendment to the postal laws forbidding the use of the mails by publications of a character tending to "incite arson, murder or assassination." Under that law the postmaster general has issued orders to postmasters directing them to put the new rule into effect at once. The instructions contained in the order are "not to be used to irritate, annoy or intimidate publishers," and postmasters are instructed to use discretion and conservatism in order that no innocent publishers may suffer injustice.

The form of the order is very proper, and it is not at all probable that the new law will be abused. It is up to the postmasters first to determine whether publications under suspicion are inciting murder, arson or assassination, or whether their utterances have such tendencies. This point determined, the powers and duties of the postmaster are clear: he is to shut such publications out of the mails, and thereby destroy their power for mischief. If the postmasters use ordinary common sense, no harm can come of the new law; and if publishers of "reform" newspapers and magazines use the same brand of common sense, they will not come under suspicion of having deserved the operation of this rule in their cases.

What has become of "Hell Roaring Jake" Jacobson of Lac Qui Parle? This silent, mysterious being masquerading under his name is very evidently a changeling.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

George T. Rogers, an employe in the department of agriculture, was at the St. Louis hotel yesterday. Mr. Rogers was asked regarding the work the government was doing for the farmers, and replied that never before in the history of the country were the farmers receiving so much benefit from the work that was being carried on in their behalf.

"For instance, there are the experiments with soils," said Mr. Rogers. "Soil tests have been taken in almost every part of the country, with the idea of ascertaining the best grains and other products for each section of the country. Experiments have been made in the growing of products in different sections of the country, and the result has been greatly increased crops for the farmer.

"Willet M. Hayes, formerly of the Minnesota State Agricultural college, at the present time assistant secretary of the department of agriculture, has done much for the farmer along this line. His experiments in the breeding of wheat have resulted in an increase of from five to ten bushels per acre. He has grossed varieties of wheat and has obtained good results.

"The work of Mr. Hayes was most favorably known in Minnesota before he took up the work at Washington. Since then he has made further experiments that have resulted very successfully. If a man never accomplished anything further than increasing the yielding power of wheat, he would, in my opinion, have accomplished great and lasting good for his country.

"Conserving the energy of the soil is another educational work that the department is carrying on. The great waste of the farm lands of this country has at last excited the alarm of thinking men. The keynote of apprehension was sounded at the conference of governors which, as you know, was recently held at Washington. Here the criminal waste of the soil was told of by experts, and the great annual waste of farm lands through careless and ignorant methods of tilling the soil was thoroughly gone into by men who have studied the problem.

"It is to prevent this waste, which will result in the abandoning of thousands of farms in the next decade if it is not checked, that the department has taken up the education of the farmers along the line of soil conservation.

"The rotation of crops, fertilizing, and methods of extracting the nitrogen from the air and utilizing it to restore life to the soil, along with other means of restoring soil energy, have been taught by the department. The department of agriculture realizes the seriousness of the problem, and is bending every effort to impress upon the farmers of the country the fact that the farming land of this country is being exhausted in a manner that threatens to seriously deprecate the greatest asset of the United States within a short time.

"Instructors have been sent out by the department and are endeavoring to instruct the farmers in the methods that have been worked out by the department. The result of years of work is given to the farmers, and every effort is being made to impress upon the farmers the fact that the time has arrived when the wasteful treatment of the soil can no longer be tolerated.

"Methods of irrigation and the reclaiming of swamp lands is another service the government has performed for the farmers of the country. The drainage and the reclaiming of swamp lands has resulted in making fertile thousands of acres of arid and swampy land. It has increased the acreage of the country by many thousands of acres and has added to the lands that can be taken up for settlement.

"The work of instruction is going on in every branch of agriculture. The American farmer is being given the result of the experiments of the department, and it is his own fault if he does not take the lessons to heart. The things I have enumerated are only a few of the experiments that are being carried on."

Other Hopes.

Louisville Courier-Journal: The Philadelphia Press seeks to reassure us by predicting that when the beef trust tilts the price of meats high enough terrapin will seem cheap. Our hope rests chiefly upon the fact that the fried chicken, ros'n ear, and blackberry cobbler crop is near at hand.

Lucky for Taft.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Had it been Secretary Taft whose horse fell into Rock creek with him the babbling waters of that classic stream would have been pushed out upon the land and many fish would have perished miserably.

THE WEATHER.

Still another day of perfect charm. This morning the sun rose upon a cloudless sky, and its later warmth, combined with a cooling breeze, compounded a day that was perfectly delightful for circus day or for any other uses—but particularly for fishing rather than for the daily grind of the office or shop. The weather man says there may be showers tonight or tomorrow, and that it will be cooler, but he threatens nothing very alarming. Last night's lowest temperature was 50 degs., and yesterday's highest was 76 degs.

A year ago today it was clear, warm and charming.

The sun rose this morning at 4:14, and sets tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 53 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "The Mississippi high pressure has moved into the lake region attended by cooler temperatures over most Eastern states and fine weather generally in the lake region, central valleys and New England states. Barometric depressions central over Montana, Arizona and British Columbia have caused warmer weather in the Northwest, South Atlantic and Gulf states and New Mexico during the past twenty-four hours. Indications favor showers in this locality by or during Saturday."

LINES TO A SMILE.

Baltimore American: Tom—Her father kicked you out, eh? I thought you said you'd make him come to terms.

Dick—So I did—to heated terms. You should have heard them.

Philadelphia Press: "Now, my dear sir," said Dr. Fox, "I can't cure you unless you promise to do everything I tell you."

"All right," said Skinner, "I promise."

"Good! Now, first of all, pay me my last year's bill."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Didn't I see the grocer's boy kiss you this morning, Martha?"

"Yes'm. But he ain't to blame, ma'am. 'Twas the iceman set him the bad example."

Kansas City Journal: "This son of mine is always up to something."

"Boys will be boys."

"I wouldn't object to that. But he wants to take a female part in a college play."

Baltimore American: "Remove the mote from thine own eye—" began the exhorter, solemnly.

"But," pleaded the young man he was exhorting, "I haven't got any mote in my eye. It's a motor."

Chicago Tribune: Julius Caesar had just summed up the result of his victories in this concise form: "Veni, vidi, vici."

"That will be better than sending home a lot of picture postcards," he said.

Reflecting, furthermore, that he wasn't writing a nominating speech for a political convention, he let it go at that.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Straw-vote fiends ought to be thrashed.

The Knocking Propensity.

If you have a little hammer in your fist,
And you start a gentle motion with your wrist,
There will come a lot of knocks
That will give somebody shocks
Which will last until you're ready to desist.

Now, this knocking is a very funny way
To find out what other people have to say;
Stir him up with rapid taps
And the quietest of chaps
Will convince you that the mischief is to pay.

As a knocker you will very quickly learn
How the sentiments of all creation turn;
Give a man a blow or two
And he'll pound you black and blue—
It's the chance for which all human beings yearn.

To enjoy the knocking habit one must be
Hammer-proof and fond of trouble—for you see
When Dame Nature built mankind
She made each of different mind,
But she gave them all the same propensitee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Levi P. Morton captured the Republican vice presidential nomination on the first ballot, which resulted: Morton, 591; Phelps of New Jersey, 119; Bradley of Kentucky, 103; B. K. Bruce, 11; W. F. Thomas, 1.

Officer Sam Thompson, living at 518 East Third street, and Carl West, a carpenter, who resides at 920 West Fourth street, are irate fathers today. Their sons, aged 8 and 9 respectively, left their homes about 9 o'clock yesterday morning and have not returned. They are supposed to have taken the well-trodden paths to the alleged Western wilds, but it is expected they will return for the fatted calf within a couple of days.

Edward Kelly, head switchman in the yard of the Terminal company's railroad at West Superior, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by being run over while coupling cars. He was about 22 years of age, and has a brother, William, living here.

Joseph Cummings, formerly cook upon the steamer Ossifrage, has taken charge of the restaurant at the rear of Cullen & Hathaway's saloon.

The great commandery of the Knights Templar, in session at Duluth, has elected the following officers: Sir John A. Schlener, R. E. G. C.; Sir Walter B. Sanborn, V. E. G. C.; Sir C. L. Spaulding, E. G. G.; Sir Isaac C. Slaid, E. G. C. S.; Sir Philo P. Hubbell, E. G. P.; Sir A. Z. Levering, E. G. S. W.; Sir M. E. Powell, E. G. J. W.; Sir J. G. McFarlane, E. G. T.; Sir A. T. C. Pierson, E. G. R.; Sir F. F. Grant, E. G. Sr. B.; Sir C. S. Allen, E. G. Sd. Br.; Sir D. R. Sutherland, E. G. W.

The city council last night voted $600 to Fred Bayha for damage done to stock in his basement by surface water. The poundmaster's salary was fixed at $80 per month. The petition of G. H. Holden for an assistant to the clerk of the municipal court was denied.

Henry L. Heisler has returned from Indianapolis, where he was a delegate to the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and will resume his position in the office of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad.

J. S. Clarkson will be chairman of the executive committee of the Republican national committe, and Col. Dudley, ex-pension commissioner, will be secretarly. John C. New, who, with Dudley, has managed Harrison's campaign thus far, will also be a member of the executive committee.

The Duluth Boat club is making final arrangements for attending the annual regatta of the Winnipeg and Minnesota Rowing association on July 6 and 7, at Minnetonka beach. The club will send three boat crews, as follows: W. B. Silvey, junior single; Raymond Moore and Harry D. Pearson, junior double; Dean Burke, John Chisholm, C. C. Cochran and W. B. McLean, junior four.

Miss Nattalie Dowse has returned from Pittsfield, Mass., where she has been at school.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Grand Marais News-Herald: A congressman says man ought not to work more than six hours a day. We can't all be congressmen, however.

Cass Lake Voice: The Minnesota postmasters, in convention in St. Paul last week, went on record in favor of postal savings bank. It's bound to come.

Cass Lake Times: We have asked half a hundred voters during the last ten days to give us a choice for governor, but so far have failed to get an opinion. The present outlook is in favor of Jacobson, with Young a healthy second. It now looks as favorable for Jacobson as it did two years ago, but there's no knowing what may happen before the convention is called.

Appleton Press: The Democratic party is the party of progress today, not because it is fundamentally more nearly right than the Republican party, or than it was before the war, but because the men who have prostituted it have left on account of its defeats and it has been free to give expression to its real spirit. The Republican party is being tested today as never before, and if it proves unable to rid itself of the Cannons, Aldriches and Hopkins, it is doomed to half a century of defeat, and later human advancement will march under another banner.

Red Wing News: Minnesota has been classed within the last month or so with Ohio as a state with presidential timber, since F. B. Kellogg became prominently mentioned as vice president on the Republican ticket. Then, with Governor Johnson as a strong Democratic candidate, the Eastern states have awakened to the fact that there is such a place as Minnesota. We have had good timber here for years, but we've been a little slow in bringing it out. Now watch Minnesota! At present the least we can say is, it has been a good ad for the Bread and Butter state.

Hibbing Tribune: The Democratic party in Minnesota may be rich in gubernatorial material, as John A. Johnson says, but it is dreadfully short of sprinters.

Cannon Falls Beacon: Since the public declaration by Governor Johnson that he will not be a candidate for a third term, it seems to be accepted among the Republican leaders that P. M. Ringdahl will be made the Democratic candidate for governor. Mr. Ringdahl is a man of more than usual ability—is clean, upright and progressive. He is a good speaker, and, while lacking in the personal element that makes Governor Johnson appeal strongly to the people, will make a very effective campaign if nominated. Mr. Ringdahl is a comparatively young man, is a lawyer by profession, a Norwegian, and lives at Crookston.

Stillwater Gazette: They are off, with Jacobson in the lead, followed by Young and Heatwole. The dark horse may jump to the front just before reaching the wire.

Chisholm Herald: The Biwabik Times is greatly incensed at the so-called political gang of Duluth, and it is like shaking a red rag at a bull to merely mention the matter to it. It cavorts around, does stunts, says things, rages (in print), and the alleged gang still lives. And Brother Claude of the Mesaba Ore is only a little better. Duluth is no better and no worse than other towns in that they will take all they can get and reach out for more, and abuse will not force them to let go. If the other communities are not satisfied with their share of the offices, they should go after them and take whatever they can get from the other fellows, and not abuse them for what they would do themselves if they got a chance.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: When a man is in love with a girl it's a sign she convinced him of it.

The bigger an armful a woman is, the more she expects you to call her your little pet.

The more any particular fashion shocks a woman, the surer she is to wear it.

A very embarrasing thing about being married is to how many people you have to pretend you are glad of it.

From the tone of voice in which woman says some other woman hasn't called on her, you'd think she ran a baby murder farm.

The Republican Tariff Plank.

Chicago Journal: "The Republican party declares unequivocally for a revision of the tariff by a special session of congress," according to the tariff plank that is to be inserted in the platform this week. So far the party's declaration of principles will satisfy the people. But the remainder of the plank will be looked upon with suspicion. Starting with the truism that "the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industry," it goes on to favor the establishment of maximum and minimum rates, and ends with the usual campaign assertion that the aim of the party is not only to protect manufacturers against foreign competition, but also "to maintain the high standard of living of the wage earners of this country, who are the most direct beneficiaries of the protective system."

All this is unexceptional, but the trouble is that it will not appeal to voters, who have heard the same thing reiterated in every campaign for the past forty years. It will fall on deaf ears.

What the Republican party should say, if it wishes to arouse enthusiasm, is that present protective duties are such that trusts can and do take advantage of them to rob American consumers, paying current wages and yet manufacturing so cheaply that they can freight their products across the ocean and sell them there in competition with foreign manufacturers who have no high wages to pay, while at home they exact enormous prices; and that the Republican party pledges itself to the country to put an immediate end to this robbery.

The American people believe in a tariff that protects American workingmen. They do not believe in a tariff that taxes them for the benefit of a few trusts.

ECHOES OF HARMONY.

Ortonville Herald Star: The gubernatorial candidates are on the home stretch. Young, Heatwole and Jacobson seem to be pretty well bunched, but about in the order named. The field can be seen in the distance in some kind of a commotion and a mixup is imminent. Look out for your colors.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Republican party of Minnesota contains many gentlemen who could be elected governor, and if the party really wants a governor it will place one of the gentlemen in nomination. A "personal," a "machine" or a "dictated" candidate will be a defeated man before he leaves the hall in which he was nominated. Been tried twice and the voters have the same old scythes ready for use.

Anoka Union: The Minneapolis Republicans are strutting around flattering themselves that they have made a wise move in having two gubernatorial candidates. Watch the convention give them a swift punch in the lonesome ribs.

St. Peter Free Press: And now it is given out that Bob Dunn is seriously considered as a possible dark horse for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Duluth News Tribune's support of Mr. Jacobson has created a great deal of suspicion in this part of the county, and the delegates from here want to report free-handed at the convention, and thus not be compelled to return to their homes wearing a Duluth News Tribune collar. The News Tribune, up to four months ago, was bitterly opposed to Mr. Jacobson's candidacy, and assailed the Lac Qui Parle statesman in a manner purely distinctive of that morning publication.

Willmar Journal: Even Bob Dunn himself puts Jacobson in his own class. He maintains that "Jacobson will make almost as good a governor as Bob Dunn would have made had he been chosen in 1904." From all reports we should judge that Jake had fallen to as low an estate as Dunn, and that they are two of a kind.

Northfield News: It is now certain that unless some compromise is effected after the delegates to the state convention meet in St. Paul no candidate for governor will be able to command a majority of the votes, and the convention will have to decide which of them will be most likely to harmonize the party and can best reconcile conflicting factions.

Ortonville Herald-Star: The political differences that have arisen in several Northwestern states, particularly among Republicans, have not gained a foothold in Minnesota yet, though these other causes the party is sufficiently divided and weakened. If the questions creating trouble here were purely political and not personal, party success would not be endangered, but with any number of prominent Republicans ready to sacrifice the party rather than their own ambitions, the prospect for a party victory is not particularly gorgeous.

Cannon Falls Beacon: Extremes and contradictions meet in Young and Jacobson: Young can't keep from writing letters and Jacobson has evidently forgotten how to write. Young has always been known as a conservative if not a secretive man and Jacobson as a man who could not hold his tongue. The nature of the opposition to Young has quite naturally, we think, exasperated him; while the loud-mouthed, conspicuous and obtrusive support of the liquor interests in St. Paul and the Mills-railroad crowd in Hennepin have evidently choked off utterance in Mr. Jacobson.

Princeton Union: Mr. Jacobson is not in the least perturbed by the tom-tom beating of his opponents in the gubernatorial race nor the amount of mud they are ejecting from their batteries. He is pursuing a gentlemanly, unostentatious course in the race—a course which the people appreciate and which will result in his nomination and election as governor.

Not Panic-stricken.

Kansas City Star: Dr. Macnamara, a member of the British parliament, tells of a school teacher who was endeavoring to convey the idea of pity to the members of his class. He illustrated it by a little story: "Now, supposing," he said, "a man working on the river bank suddenly fell in. He could not swim and would be in danger of drowning. Picture the scene, boys and girls. The man's sudden fall, the cry for help. His wife, knowing his peril and hearing his screams, rushed immediately to the bank. Why does she rush to the bank?" After a pause a small voice piped forth: "Please, sir, to draw his insurance money."

ELABORATE DECORATION

Of Denver Auditorium Where Democratic Convention Will Meet.

Systematic Plans Are Made for Entertaining the Visitors.

Denver, Colo., June 26.—Red, white and blue will be the only colors used in decorating the new auditorium for the Democratic national convention, and the decorations will be the most elaborate ever seen in a Democratic convention. The auditorium is nearly complete and everything will be in shape for the convention not later than July 3. The convention will convene at noon on July 7.

The contract for decorating the convention hall was awarded to a Denver firm, the Daniels & Fisher company, by the national committee, the award being made absolutely upon merit of design and not out of consideration for local feeling.

A unique feature of the decorations will be fifty-two huge stars artistically arranged on the ceiling. These stars will represent the states, territories and insular possessions, the name appearing in blue letters on a white background in the center of each star. The points of the stars will be red and white.

Directly over the speaker's platform, against the wall of the building near the junction with the ceiling, will be a large shield, sixteen feet high, carrying six flags twelve feet long draped in artistic folds. In addition to this main shield there will be four other shields over the platform, each ten feet high. The six flags on these shields will be eight feet long.

Portrait of Washington.

Just below the main shield will hang a mammoth portrait of George Washington, 14 by 16 feet in dimensions. Red, white and blue bunting will be draped from the sides of the shield to the bottom of the portrait of the "Father of His Country."

Directly under the last shield, on each side of the Washington portrait will be suspended a portrait, one of Thomas Jefferson and the other of Andrew Jackson. On each side of these pictures a large American flag will be draped. These flags are forty by sixty feet in dimensions. Beyond these pictures, at each end of the wall, and hanging above the galleries, will be suspended a pendant, ten feet in diameter, upon which bunting will be draped. Upon these pendants a tiger will be painted. The back of the platform will be banked with palms. Twenty stuffed American eagles, with extended wings, will be suspended over the platform, each bird carrying in his bill red, white and blue silk ribbons that will be draped back to the wall.

In the Denver auditorium the balcony extends all the way around the huge building, but the galleries are limited to each side. The front of the balcony and the fronts of the galleries and boxes will be draped with bunting, 50,000 yards being necessary to complete this part of the decorative scheme. At intervals of five feet shields, three feet high, will be placed.

Thousands of yards of bunting will be used in draping the corridors of the building and the walls of the balcony and galleries. Delegates will be supplied with small American flags to wave when their feelings reach a pitch that compels an extraordinary demonstration, especially when the candidate who is to lead the party in the great presidential campaign is named.

The Street Decorations.

Although the decorations in the auditorium will be elaborate, the street decorations will be even more picturesque, and the illumination scheme will be the most brilliant Denver ever attempted.

Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, three of the main thoroughfares in the city, will be revelations in color. On Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets there are eight iron ornamental electric poles to a block, four on each side of the street. On these streets the poles will be draped with red white and blue bunting. Wires will be stretched across the street from these poles, and from each wire two American flags will be suspended. The flags will hang over the street and will be "weighted" to prevent them from becoming soiled and torn by the wind.

On Seventeenth street the scheme will be the same, except there are only six poles to each block, two at each corner and two at each alley.

At each crossing two wires will be strung diagonally across the intersection, from which red, white and blue incandescent lights will hang. The business houses along the three streets will be handsomely decorated with bunting and flags. Elaborate and costly electric display signs already have been put in place on the buildings, and at night Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets will be a blaze of light.

Electric display signs are one of the main features of business life in Denver. Every merchant has an electric sign, and as all of the streets that cross the three thoroughfares described are live business streets, the committee on illumination will not find it necessary to add much in the way of light to these avenues of trade. However, the business houses will be handsomely decorated with bunting and flags, so the entire business section of Denver will be a mass of color when the big convention opens.

To Entertain Visitors.

The people of Denver, in addition to decorating their city and providing a beautiful and commodious auditorium for the Democratic national convention, are determined to convince every visitor that true Western hospitability is not a thing of the past in this city. The real Denverite is hospitable because hospitality is in the atmosphere in the wonderful Rocky Mountain country.

Preparations for entertaining visitors during the convention have been made in a systematic manner. The Denver committee, which is working in conjunction with the national committee on arrangements, has appointed special entertainment committees to look after the welfare of visitors from the different states and territories. Each of these committees has a perfect organization, with headquarters for its officers. It is the duty of each committee to provide for the entertainment of visitors from the group of states the committee represents. Consequently there is keen rivalry among the committees and each is striving to outdo the others in demonstrations of hospitality.

The hotel committee will see that every visitor is directed to a comfortable and clean room. Hotels, rooming houses and a large number of private residences have been listed, together with the prices asked for rooms in each instance. This committee will have 100 boys, wearing white coats and caps, on duty at the Union station to direct all visitors to rooms. If reservations have been made in advance at any particular hotel or rooming house, a boy will be at hand to conduct strangers to a street car that will take them to their destinations. In cases where reservations have not been made, visitors will be informed where rooms can be had, and a boy will conduct them to the car line that will carry them to the addresses indicated. These boys will be attached to the bureau of information, which will have headquarters at the union station. With this system in operation no stranger need go astray or experience difficulty in obtaining a room at a price within his or her means.

To Prevent Extortion.

Every effort possible is being made by the hotel committee to prevent excessive charges for rooms, and when overcharges are discovered the committee will cease its efforts to send patronage to the offenders.

The committee insists upon knowing what prices will be charged when a house or hotel is listed, and if the rates demanded are considered exorbitant by the committee the name is not placed on the list. Therefore, strangers who contemplate coming to Denver for the Democratic national convention can rest assured that extraordinary precautions are being taken to protect them from overcharges and to convince them that out here in the Far West there is a great, wholesouled city that enjoys having national convention for the pleasure of entertaining strangers. Denver people have the convention habit for the reason that Denver is a natural and an ideal convention city. Denver wants all the conventions she can get, and the only way Denver can secure conventions is by treating visitors as guests of the city.

Every person who attends the Democratic national convention next month will be given a square deal or the hotel committee will know the reason why.

DEMOCRACY IS GAINING GROUND

Durnovo's Blood Rule Turned Russian People to First Love.

St. Petersburg, June 26.—Incredible as it may seem to the Western world, Russia is making rapid strides toward democracy. A concrete instance is afforded by one of the principal actors in the national drama, M. Durnovo, who for half a year was the anti-Christ of the revolution. Home secretary under Count Witte, his task was to stamp out the insurrection, and he tackled it resolutely and accomplished it speedily. It was as though an avalanche had swept over all the little local republics and communes and crushed them out of existence.

"That man," revolutionists complained, "if not put out of the way will give a new lease of life to the autocracy." And they accordingly condemned him to die. But they were mistaken. His action had the opposite effect. It hastened the end of the regime which he was saving, for the very thoroughness and rapidity with which he crushed out the insurrection was fatal to his cause. It did not give time to the population to realize the worst that terrorism brings. People whose fierce indignation was roused by the grewsome crimes of the revolution soon recovered from their reactionary mood, their painful impressions faded and they returned to their first love. Had a man less resolute been in Durnovo's place, the insurrection would have spread and fire and sword would have deepened the sinister impressions of the nation.

The third duma, M. Stolypin's own creation, is warranted patriotic, obedient, conservative. It reverses the premier much as the ailing mooshik venerates the physician, to whose question, "What's wrong with you, my good fellow?" he returns the stereotyped answer, "Whatever your honor will be pleased to say!" Self-surrender to the promptings of the first minister is an essential trait of the bulk of the assembly. In a word, it is a loyal body—the most loyal body that Russia can supply.

M. Stolypin is essentially the emperor's man. Anathematized and calumniated by enemies, intrigued against by "friends," he is kept in office by the will of the czar, and by naught else. Stolypin and his duma have accomplished more in a few months than the sum total of revolutionary forces effected during a generation. Since autumn last they have transformed autocratic Muscovy into constitutional Russia and introduced into the new organism the germs of pure democracy. That is the definite outcome of the cordial co-operation of the premier and his legislative army.

GREAT PAINTER MURDERED.

Mangold Was Returning Home When Four Men Made Attack.

Geneva, June 26.—The painter, Mangold, aged 43, who has a great Swiss reputation, was returning home at Basle a couple of days ago, accompanied by several friends, when he was suddenly attacked by four young men armed with knives. The artist fell dead in the street and the murderers ran away into the town. Later in the evening they were recognized and arrested. The murderers are young men of good family and were pupils of the painter. The motive for the crime is not known.

Americans Lead Life of Ease in Vera Cruz Prison.

Sanitation Good and the Prisoners in Robust Health.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, June 26.—W. W. Canada, the United States consul at Vera Cruz, has made a thorough investigation of the treatment which is being accorded the three American prisoners who are confined in the San Juan de Ulua prison under sentence of twenty years each for the murder of two other Americans for their life insurance, amounting to $50,000. These three Americans are Dr. C. S. Harle, Leslie M. Hulbert and William Mitchell. Dr. Harle has written several letters to relatives and influential friends in the United States, making complaint of the prison conditions at San Juan de Ulua, and the matter was brought to the attention of the department of state at Washington and referred to Mr. Canada for personal investigation.

San Juan de Ulua is a grim-looking prison. It is situated in the center of the harbor at Vera Cruz and is entirely surrounded by water. The only vegetation on the coral island that is apparent from the shore is a lone cocoanut true, which raises its head above the top of the prison wall. The structure was built originally for a fortress, and there is nothing about its construction that fits it for a modern, up-to-date place for the confinement of desperate criminals.

Trio in Good Health.

When Mr. Canada made known to the prison authorities the fact that he desired to visit the three Americans confined there, and to personally inspect the condition with which they were surrounded, he was accorded every facility for doing so. He was accompanied on the visit to the prison by Dr. Jacobs, the United States marine hospital surgeon, stationed at this port. Dr. Jacobs made an examination of the sanitary conditions of the prison, and found them to be very good. It was found that the three Americans were not confined in solitary underground cells, as has been reported. They live with a number of other prisoners in a large room. This room is not underground, but it is lacking in sunlight. It is well ventilated, however, the cool breezes from the gulf sweeping through it day and night. The breeze gains admittance to the room through large arcades.

All three men are in good health and have gained in weight since they were brought to San Juan de Ulua from the penitentiary in Chihuahua. Mr. Canada says that they are permitted to receive and forward letters, but it is required that all letters shall be written in Spanish, in order that they may be read by the prison authorities. They are allowed to spend $1 per month each. Dr. Harle is well provided with money, but under the prison rules he is not able to get rid of it very fast. The men are permitted to receive and read newspapers, and they keep well in touch with what is going on in the outside world. They are allowed to bathe regularly in the salt water, which is brought into the prison. On certain days they have to assist in prison-cleaning work. They are allowed to mix freely and engage in conversation with the other prisoners confined in the large room.

Natives in Poorer Quarters.

Mr. Canada expressed the opinion that there are 10,000 people in Vera Cruz who are worse off than the three American prisoners in San Juan de Ulua. In former years the underground rooms of the prison were used for cells for the more desperate class of prisoners. These roms are no longer used for that purpose. Some of them have been fitted up as workshops, and in others supplies are stored.

There is one other American in San Juan de Ulua. His name is John Brown. He is serving a twenty-years' sentence for murder, and has been in the prison for fifteen years. He has made such a model prisoner that he is a "trusty," and is in charge of what is called a "regiment" of prisoners. He is frequently sent on trips to Vera Cruz, and has never violated a prison rule. He was overseer of a plantation in the state of Vera Cruz when he committed the crime which landed him in San Juan de Ulua. His friends have disappeared and he is forgotten to the outside world.

There is little possibility that the other three American confined there will be pardoned for some years to come. Dr. Harle is the most prominent of the trio. In 1901 he was a medical examiner for the New York Life Insurance company in Chihuahua. He had a good practice and stood well in the community. He had previously practiced in Dallas, Tex., where he had influential friends.

TAFT WRITES ON THE TARIFF

Says Schedules Must be Changed to Meet New Conditions.

New Haven, Conn., June 26.—Secretary Taft has written an article on the "Republican Party" for the Yale Courant. He discusses the organization and deevelopment of the party and of its policies from 1856 until the present time.

"One of the great problems to which the Republican party has been pledged is the protective system, by which industries have been diversified and domestic manufacture and farm production have been enormously developed. In the ten years which have elapsed since the enactment of the Dingley tariff the conditions have changed so as to make a number of the schedules under that tariff too high and others too low. This renders it necessary to examine the schedules so that the tariff shall be placed on a purely protective basis. By this I mean that it should properly protect from foreign competition and afford a reasonable profit to all manufacturers, farmers and business men, but should not be so high as to offer a temptation to the formation of monopolies to appropriate the undue profit of excessive rates."

Emancipation of the Fat Folks

To have to sit through the hot weather quiet as a log, scarcely daring to breathe simply because one is so fat the least exertion will start the prespiration in a stream, is not a very lively prospect. But it has been the lot of the fat since time began until now.

Fat folks have been emancipated from hot weather misery at last, by a home mixture: ½ ounce Marmola, ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3½ ounces Simp Simplex, of which they take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime until—which isn't a very long time—they have lost all the fat they care to.

Simple and inexpensive (any druggist will fill it for a small sum) as this receipt is, the result it obtains are unexcelled. Some folks have lost as much as a pound a day within a week after starting. Yet, radical and delightful as such an effect is, there is no aftermath of wrinkles or stomach troubles; the mixture is harmless except to the fat itself.

HER FEET WERE SORE AND CRACKED

Soles Seemed as Though Covered with Knife Cuts—Could Not Bear Weight of Feet Even on Pillow—Was Long Unable to Walk—Many Remedies Failed—Now Cured.

WILL PRAISE CUTICURA AS LONG AS SHE LIVES

"Some four years ago I had the misfortune to have my feet get sore. The doctors could not tell me what it was. I used everything I could hear or think of but all to no avail. The feet were all cracked across the bottom as if you had taken a knife and cut them every whichway. They would peel up, and, oh, my! how they did hurt when I would try to walk—which I was not able to do for a long time. One day one of our neighbors came to our house and asked what was the matter. I showed him my feet and he said he had some Cuticura Ointment which would heal them up. There was only enough to apply once, but I found it helped me so much that I sent for a set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills, costing one dollar, and to my great joy, my feet were cured and have never troubled me since. I shall praise Cuticura as long as I live for the great help it has been. Mrs. Margaret Primmer, Plattin, Mo., June 30 and July 21, 1907."

ECZEMAS

Warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment afford instant relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning, scaly, crusted humors, eczemas, rashes, inflammations, irritations, and chafings of infancy and childhood, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy and permanent cure, in the majority of cases, when all other remedies fail.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. SUIT INVOLVES OVER A MILLION

Grub Stake Feature in Case Decided by Washington Court.

Seattle, Wash., June 26.—A lawsuit which involves more than $1,000,000 in Alaskan property and which is unusually interesting on account of its grub stake feature has just been decided on an appeal by the supreme court. Capt. E. T. Barnette, banker and mining operator of Fairbanks, has been forced to make an accounting of all property and money which he has made while in the Tanana with a stock of goods. His steamer sprung a leak and Causten advanced $6,000 to engage another boat with the agreement that he should have a third interest in whatever profit Barnette made.

Barnette, through the fortunate development of the Tanana, became immensely wealthy. He established a bank and at present has interests in many of the richest claims in the district.

This agreement holds good according to the decision of the supreme court, and a third of Barnette's possession is awarded to Causten.

CONCERNING WOMAN.

Circus day is circus day whether one has a fond papa to look one over speculatively and say, "So you want to go to the circus, eh?" or not, and for some weeks ever since the beautiful posters have announced that the great three-ring circus was coming to town, excitement hat reigned in many quarters of the city. Baron Munchausen has had many rivals in the small boys who once attended another circus.

At the Children's home the circus was just as alluring, just as desirable, just as exciting and because the little folks there are in the happy land of childhood they were trusting in some all wise something that the way might be opened for them to attend the performance without worrying over the necessary essentials.

And then it happened. Some good friends inquired casually how many were going and then made the matter possible for about thirty of the older children to attend. Without much trouble transportation was provided and for two days delightful anticipation has given way to excited reality. Discipline has been shoved to one side and the most wonderful tales have been evolved out of whole cloth and a child's imagination.

The retiring hour at the home last evening was a trying one for the matron and the nurses. John had just been impressed with the necessity of sleep even if he didn't feel the need of it, whn he would spring up with wide open, shining eyes and say: "I saw a elephant once with two trunks."

"Oh, John, not two," would protest the truth-loving attendant.

"Yes'm; two and one of them—"

"Now, John, you go to sleep; that will be about all from you."

"Yes'm, but it did have—"

"Go to sleep, John."

And over in the girl's dormitory Sarah was saying while the other small maidens cowered under the bed covers: "An' the tiger ate the snakes an'—"

"Wasn't you afraid," quavered one of the credulous ones.

"Pooh, no," said Sarah, the brave. "I just went up to the tiger an' I said—"

"Sarah," says the shocked nurse, "you go to sleep or you can't go to the circus tomorrow."

And then peace fell and when their eyes opened again it was bright, golden sunlight and circus day.

Certain it is that there were no more joyous spectators at the circus today than the thirty representatives from the Children's home.

Club Dances.

The informal dances given by the Boat and Yacht clubs are now in full swing. The Yacht club entertains on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, and the Boat club on Saturday evenings.

Art Reception.

The series of receptions which were planned in connection with the state art exhibition, which is being shown at the building of the Y. M. C. A., are continuing to attract large audiences and the affair last evening, the first of the evening receptions, was a beautiful event.

The guest of honor was C. C. Rosenkranz, director of the Duluth Art school, and receiving about the rooms were Mrs. Morton Miller, Mrs. H. F. Williamson and Mrs. William Dalrymple. Presiding at the punch bowl was Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr. During the evening Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Munger.

Several hundred guests called during the evening to view the splendid exhibit, and those who have been deeply interested in the success of the local showing are delighted at the appreciation which is being shown.

A BANQUET FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

Des Moines, Iow a, June 26.—A party of Democratic leaders of Illinois, bound for the Denver convention in automobiles, were banquetted at a picnic spread at the farm of Mrs. James Dailey, an aunt of Roger C. Sullivan, near Colorado, Iowa, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Sullivan, who is national committeeman from Illinois, was not with the party, however, having gone to Denver by train earlier in the week. Mrs. Dailey, 80 years old and a jolly Irish woman, suddenly appeared in front of the leading automobile, waving a huge American flag. She made herself known and invited the entire party on the lawn, and the members ate pies and cake and drank lemonade. The affair was a surprise to the men, and the happiest and jolliest incident of the trip. Soon after the journey Westward was resumed.

What Retail Markets Offer.

Duluth grown spinach, 25c a peck.
Gooseberries, 15c a box.
Pie cherries, two for 25c.
Pine apples, 15c each.
Cucumbers, three for 25c.
Squabs, 25c each.
Spring chickens, 50c to $1.00 each.
Hens, 22c a pound.

The vegetable and fruit market is at its best and the Sunday housewife may have a variety to any end that may please herself. The luxuriance of July is just begining to be evident in the quality and quantity of green things which are in the market.

Cherry pie is one of the immediate possibilities of the time and its tart luciousness might tempt even Mrs. Rorer, who abhors pies, to break a custom.

MAX BAHR IS ACQUITTED

Jury Decides He Did Not Violate State Liquor Law.

McQueen Employs the Attorney Who First Prosecuted Him.

Max Bahr, the bartender at the St. James hotel bar, who has been brought into the limelight recently by reason of a district court decision in habeas corpus proceedings which invalidates the city ordinance covering prosecutions of liquor dealers keeping open after hours, was given another taste of freedom this morning when the jury in the district court acquitted him of the charge of violating the state liquor laws.

The case was given to the jury shortly after 11 o'clock and it required only a few minutes to reach an agreement for an acquittal.

Bahr was indicted by the last grand jury for keeping the saloon open after hours one night last May. Two members of the police department testified that they saw several men and one woman in the place after the regular closing hour.

Bahr claimed that he did not keep the place open after hours on the night in question, and produced several witnesses to establish an alibi.

Some amusement was caused during the argument to the jury by M. H. McMahon, attorney for Bahr. Mr. McMahon referred to the stress that Judge S. F. White, who represented the state, had placed on the testimony of the two police officials, and then remarked it was only a short time ago that Judge White, while defending somebody in the municipal court, had taken occasion to roast the police department and declare that a policeman was not to be believed under oath. Judge White denied the statement, but it raised a laugh at his expense.

This afternoon Alexander McQueen, a Lake avenue saloonkeeper, who was indicted under the state law of keeping his place of business open after 11 o'clock, is being tried. McQueen was also convicted and fined under the city ordinance. He paid his fine.

T. J. McKeon, who prosecuted McQueen while occupying the position of assistant city attorney, is now defending the saloonkeeper in the district court.

SHOULD AID THE WIDOW

Oklahoma Judge Advances a New Theory of Punishment.

Murderers' Earnings Should Go to Those Robbed of Support.

Cherokee, Okla., June 26.—In sentencing Lowry and May White to prison for manslaughter, because of the killing of Fred Haunstein, a neighbor, March 3 last, Judge M. C. Garber advanced the unusual statement that the earnings of a man sent to prison for the murder of the head of a family should be devoted to the widow or orphans of the murdered man. Judge Garber added that life in prison was not a sufficient penalty to inflict on one who had not only taken a life, but had robbed a family of its bread-winner by the act.

Lowry and May White are man and wife, and the killing was the result of the kindness of a neighbor for a woman maltreated by her husband. Last November Mrs. White went to Haunstein's house and asked to be protected from her husband, who had brutally treated her. The Haunsteins and other neighbors later got out a warrant for White, but the wife refused to testify against her husband, despite the fact that White's cruelties were matters of every-day comment. The interference of Haunstein incensed White and finally led up to the tragedy.

While Haunstein was going from his field to his home for dinner along the public highway in front of White's home, White followed him and engaged in a personal encounter, which led to his defeat. While Haunstein had White down on the ground, May White came running to the scene with a double-barreled shotgun in one hand and a revolver in the other. Upon his promise to return home and behave himself, Hunstein let White up unimpured, with the exception of a scratch here and there and a bloody nose, and started down the road toward his buggy, preparatory to going home.

Shot His Victim in the Back.

White seized the gun from the hands of his wife and shot his enemy in the back, killing him almost instantly. White then fled, leaving his wife to take care of herself, but was captured about eighteen miles south, at Sheridan. For a while mob violence was threatened.

The case came promptly on for trial June 1. June 2, however, Lowry White became seriously ill, having an acute attack of appendicitis, and it was believed for a while that the case would have to be continued. His illness necessitated keeping the jury together for nearly a week, and his recovery at the end of that time permitted the trial of the case to be resumed, which resulted in a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree for Lowry White and manslaughter in the second degree for May White.

In passing sentence upon the defendant, Lowry White, after briefly reviewing the evidence in the case, Judge Garber said:

"In response to the outrages of your wife for protection from your inhuman treatment, the man you slew, in company with his neighbors, took the requisite legal steps to procure an investigation, and, because of his sympathy and his high sense of public duty which prompted such action, you engaged him in a personal combat on the public highway, while passing your residence in going to his home, and when retiring therefrom to his buggy you shot him in the back with a shotgun. The wounds in his back proclaim, with a thousand tongues, the falsity of your plea of self-defense, and cry aloud for the vindication of a good name as the only heritage left a weeping widow and orphan children.

Punishment Not an Atonement.

"The extent of the result of such a cowardly crime is not confined to the individuals immediately concerned. It reaches every fireside, alarming defenseless women and children in their places of security. It challenges the immediate and aggressive action of the whole social family in its self-defense, to insist upon an immediate and impartial disposition of the case.

"Looking back to that March 3, we see a peaceable, law-abiding citizen shot down while passing on the public highway in front of your residence; his widow, in her helplessness, running across the fields with water to revive him; a funeral procession wherein all the neighbors of the entire community are mourners; a newly made grave in the nearby cemetery on the hill; a lonely home with two orphan children and a weeping widow at a desolate fireside. Could length of term of imprisonment pay for all this? Nor if it were for a thousand years! A human life is not valued so cheaply.

"The education and opportunities of young children are worth more than that.

Should Be Forced to Pay.

"How inadequate is the law to compel restitution in such a case and make good the desolation caused by your ruthless hand. Thirty years at hard labor is but a slight reprimand when compared with the results of your crime, although it is all that the law and the verdict of the jury will permit in this case; and it is to be regretted that the law will not permit the court to order the profits of your labor each day of that period to be applied to the support of the widow and the education of the orphan children made desolate and dependent by your act.

"To be compelled to contribute the proceeds of your toil each day toward the part restitution of that which you took away would develop in you a higher respect for law and a reverential regard for that even-handed, stern-eyed justice, as she impartially holds aloft the scale and deals out retribution to every man according to his deeds.

"It is the judgment of the court that you be remanded into the custody of the sheriff, to be by him transported to the state penitentiary at Lansing, Kan., there to remain for a period of thirty years from that date at hard labor, and from this judgment you have a right to appeal to the supreme court of the state of Oklahoma."

When you need to take something, take it promptly for the stomach, but take something you know is reliable—something like Kodol for Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Sold by all druggists.

ARE LURED BY BRITISH GOLD

Irish Laborers Leave Farms Untilled for Higher Wages.

Dublin, June 26.—Some very interesting facts about the Irish migratory laborers are contained in the annual report of the department of agriculture, which has just been published. According to this document 24,000 agricultural laborers left Ireland and went to England and Scotland for periods varying from five to seven months during 1907. The average wages earned by these laborers when working by the week or month was about $4.50 a week, but if working by the piece some of them earned as much as $7.50 a week. Many of them saved from $50 to $100 on their season's work, and their total earnings approximate $1,375,000. Most of the migratory laborers come from the province of Connaught, County Mayo furnishing the largest number. A large number also come from Donegal. The men are highly valued and much sought after by the English and Scotch farmers, who declare that they are steadier and more efficient than the native laborers.

Another feature of this annual migration of labor from Ireland is its effect on the labor market at home. The Irish farmers are constantly complaining that they cannot get enough labor and there seems to be some justice in their complaint. The fact is that tillage in Ireland is gradually decreasing. The reason for the migration, however, is not far to seek. In some cases the wages of agricultural laborers in Ireland may reach $3.50 or $4 a week, but throughout the country the average is not higher than $3 a week.

That the situation is a serious one is shown by the fact that in 1907 there were only 217,652 agricultural laborers in Ireland in addition to 76,870 general laborers, most of whom worked on the land part of the time, whilst in 1871 there were 446,682 agricultural and 198,839 general laborers.

The growth of the Irish tobacco industry is illustrated by the following figures, which have just been compiled by the excise authorities, showing the amount of Irish grown tobacco on which duty was paid in each year and the amount paid:

To March 31, 1906—7,353 pounds..... $5,515
To March 31, 1907—20,173 pounds..... 15,130
To March 31, 1908—68,612 pounds..... 51,455

This is a growth of nearly 1,000 per cent in three years.

TRIED FOR BRUTALITY.

Eight German Officers Held for Mistreating Soldiers.

Berlin, June 26.—A non-commissioned officer named Thamm of the guards' field artillery and seven of his comrades have been court-martialed for systematic ill treatment of enlisted men under them. Over 600 instances were cited in the charges. The gravest case was that relating to a gunner named Knoble, who committed suicide by jumping out of a window in the barracks in a fit of desperation because of persistent excessive punishment. A dozen witnesses testified that Thamm said that he had beat the man because of his stupidity, but others testified that Knoble showed weakness of mind only after long ill-treatment. Pieces of heavy iron from gunners' harness were used in beating the men. The court sentenced Thamm to fifteen minutes' imprisonment and degradation. The other defendants were sentenced to terms of arrest in barracks, varying from three months to three weeks. Thamm has been a terror to raw recruits for many years on account of his known brutality.

EARL GREY IN TROUBLE

Criticised by Methodists for Opening the Woodbine Meet.

Canada Gets Hague Arbitrator—Another Protest to Japan.

Toronto, Ont., June 26.—Such a business that his excellency, the Right Honorable Sir Albert Henry George, Earl Grey, Viscount Howick, Baron Grey of Howick, etc., has got himself into the good city of Toronto. Just as the governor general of Canada was getting on so well, had launched a grand scheme for a Champlain tercentenary celebration at old Quebec, had visited Toronto and had received the salaams of the local elite, didn't he have to go and get into trouble over that old fruit of discord, the Woodbine meet. It is customary to open the Woodbine with the presence of the governor general, if his excellency is available. It is a big social event; everybody goes, and the presence of the king's viceroy starts the meet off with a swing. Earl Grey, being governor general for the time being, comes to the Woodbine. He attended the recent meeting, hiped things along with his presence, and incidentally saw some very fair horseracing. That is where he gets into the hot water.

The Woodbine is an ancient foe of the anti-gambling workers in Toronto. They allege that the Woodbine starts many an innocent youth upon the down-hill route, and stands as an excuse for worse forms of gambling at other times and places. Many heroic efforts have been made to abolish the betting ring at the Woodbine, which would be to abolish the meet, but always a way out has been found, and though the bookmaker has been forced out of his comfortable little stand, he is still able to do business and hand out his hard-earned money to the greedy talent. Having failed to banish the bookie, the reformers have now turned their attention to Earl Grey. Their contention is that he shouldn't go, that it's a bad example to be set by the representative of King Edward, albeit his majesty once in a while gets to a race himself.

The earl is getting it from the pulpit and from the meeting hall. He is compared with Governor Hughes of New York, to the everlasting credit of Governor Hughes and the contrary to himself. Furthermore, the Toronto Methodist conference has things to say about his excellency. The temperance, prohibition and moral reform committee of that body this week framed a report in which the "wide spread vice" of gambling was earnestly deplored, and regret was expressed that the "demoralizing institution" at the Woodbine should be opened by his majesty's representative. The committee decided to accord the earl the right to regulate his own private conduct, but they felt that one occupying so high an office should not lend his presence to an "enterprise so vicious in its tendencies." The committee on temperance, prohibition and moral reform presented this resolution to the conference and the conference passed it, more in sorrow than in anger. Now it is up to the earl. There will be other meets, and he will in all probability be asked to open them.

A Hague Arbitrator.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of the supreme court of the Dominion of Canada, has been notified by the British government that he has been appointed a British member of the permanent international court of arbitration of The Hague convention of 1899 for the settlement of international disputes. The vacancy on the court was created by the death on Sept. 30 last of Maj. Gen. Sir Jardagh. The appointment is for a term of six years. Sir Charles will sit on the Newfoundland-Canadian fisheries case. The American representative has not yet been selected. The United States senate had adjourned before the terms of reference of the case were ready for ratification, and, therefore, there is no particular haste in appointing representatives. This will cause a good deal of disappointment in Newfoundland as another fishing season will have to be carried on under the existing modus vivendi.

There is general satisfaction in Canada over the appointment of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, who was minister of justice previous to his appointment to the chief justiceship of the supreme court. A better man for the position it would be difficult to select. Newfoundland will accept his appointment in the same way that it has been received in Canada.

Again Canada Protests.

Canada is protesting again to Japan to limit the number of immigrants coming here. Protesting is no doubt a rather strong word to use, but it is no doubt correct that a hint has been sent to Tokio to the effect that Canada has had a sufficient number of Japs for the present season. In other words, about as many as were arranged for in the Lemieux negotiations to arrive in one year have already landed and, therefore, no more passports should be given.

From British Columbia there are still grumblings against the competition of Japanese. The white man and the Oriental cannot live side by side. The reason is partly economic and partly social. It is social because the white man will not stay in a district where his neighbors are neighbors only in the sense of living close at hand. Even though the white occupier clings with determination to the farm which he has made with his own hands, the result is the same in the end. Sooner or later he must retire or die and his place is then on the market to be bought by Japanese because no white man will buy land in a Japanese settlement. That under such conditions property will not bring the price it might have brought goes without saying. It is for this reason that the Japanese pay heavily to obtain their first footing in a district—they know that they will be able to buy cheaply enough afterward. This effect is being felt where the Japanese have settled. People going to British Columbia to take up land and to make the farms they buy their permanent homes inquire carefully as to the kind of neighbors they will have, and the admission that this piece of land and the other piece of land are in the hands of the Japanese is usually fatal to the negotiations for purchase. Just how the evil is to be remedied it is hard to say. It is very doubtful if any legislation could be so framed as to meet the difficulty. The Japanese have captured the fishing industry; in the Queen Charlotte islands they have made a beginning in the conquest of the mining industry and they are largely employed in getting out shingle-bolts and in other occupations which used to provide labor for the white man when work in the mills or elsewhere was not to be had. Are they now to go on and take possession of the agricultural resources of the province? is the question which white men are putting to each other.

Yukon Elective Council.

Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, has introduced a bill in the house of commons providing for an entirely elective council for the Yukon territory. There is naturally a desire on the part of every community in this country to have the fullest measure of self-government. In the organization of new territories it has not always been thought desirable, nor has it always been possible to give entirely elective legislatures.

When the Northwest territories were first organized it was necessary to have a legislature partly elective and partly appointed, and when the Yukon government was organized, that system was followed. While that has worked with some degree of satisfaction on the Yukon, it can never be considered an entirely satisfactory system and the time has come when the council of Yukon should be made wholly elective, instead of partially appointive. The membership will be ten, as at present, one of whom will be speaker. At present the commissioner is ex-officio speaker, but it is proposed that he shall not sit in the council and shall exercise executive functions only. Just now the commissioner has legislative as well as executive functions, and so has the council. But under this bill it is proposed to place the responsibility for legislation entirely on the people of the Yukon through their elective members and the responsibility for administration entirely on the commissioner appointed by this government.

CERTIFICATE

Being a state official and authorized to administer oaths and certify documents, I hereby certify that correspondence laid before me this morning from an Eastern city, states as follows: "A Dr. B——, an old practitioner in this city, has had Bright's Disease for years, is bed ridden, and is simply waiting his time. He has taken three bottles of Fulton's Renal Compound with more than the usual results. Wednesday, of last week, a brother physician called to see him. The latter, upon finding he was better, asked what he was taking. Dr. B—— replied, "It is in the window." The The Dr.'s rejoinder was, "And so you are taking that stuff, too, are you? I had a severe case of Diabetes in a patient who left this city and whom I expected to die. Yesterday I had a letter from him stating that he had taken Fulton's Compound and was well."

The following report is made by another prominent physician in the same city, using Fulton's Compound on an acute case of Bright's—"case is now on the second bottle with astonishing results."

Witness my hand and seal in evidence of the genuineness of this correspondence affixed at Oakland, Cal., this December 28th, 1907.

(seal.) T. C. LANDREGAN,
Notary Public.

No matter whether you call it kidney trouble, Nephritis or Bright's Disease, it is a case of inflamed kidneys, and as the old-time kidney medicines are kidney excitants, it is clear why they are futile. Fulton's Renal Compound is the first successful Renal emollient thus reducing kidney inflammation which is now curable for the first time. Even the serious, supposed incurable forms yield.

CLIMATE CHANGES SPOUSE.

Chinaman a Model Husband Before He Took Wife Home.

Paris, June 26.—How climates change husbands has been discovered by a French lady, who married a Chinaman six years ago in Paris. The wedding was celebrated with pomp and circumstance. The lady, being a Roman Catholic, had obtained from the pope a special dispensation to marry a pagan. Half Paris and all the Chinese colony—the groom being one of its most distinguished members—went to the wedding, the papers published the portraits of the young couple, and, what was after all more essential, their honeymoon was unalloyed bliss. The bliss, moreover, persisted for some time. The Chinaman was an ideal husband in France, and the lady laughed at the wise counselors who had tried to persuade her against the match. But her husband was ordered back by his government to his own country, and, like a dutiful wife, she followed him. Then the trouble began.

On landing in the Celestial empire, the ideal husband "became another man." In Europe he was perfect, but in China he was impossible. An ancient heredity and the tradition of the oldest empire in the world got the better of his European veneer. He became a tyrant, used his wife as a slave, gave her in his home the place of a domestic drudge, ignored her as a companion and treated her only as a servant. In short, being back in China, he insisted on his wife being a Chinese wife. Fortunately for her, she is a European. She left him and is in Paris.

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL

Hotel St. Regis, New York, as Homelike as It is Beautiful

ATTRACTIVE IN THE HIGHEST DEGREE

New York hotels are the wonder and admiration of the world. In no other city has hotel construction and management been carried to so high a degree of perfection. As a result no other city has such a large hotel population, the number of people who are patrons of hotels being estimated at two hundred thousand daily.

The leader among these great hotels, and the one by which all others are judged, is the St. Regis, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street. It is indeed "the house beautiful," and it is as homelike and comfortable as it is beautiful. It is a common remark of those who have been so fortunate as to live there, even for a brief length of time, that the St. Regis does not seem like a public house, but rather like a refined individual home of the highest type, wherein a host is putting forth the utmost effort to please his friends and make them enjoy their stay.

Everything is here provided which can in any way contribute to one's enjoyment and yet the cost of living at the St. Regis is no higher than at first-class hotels generally. The restaurant charges are at standard rates, while a large, well-furnished, outside room may be had for $4 a day, or the same, with bath in connection, for $5 ($6 for two people), or a parlor, bedroom and bath for $12.

The ever-increasing popularity of the St. Regis, both for transient and permanent guests, is proof that the management's efforts to please particular people are meeting with well-merited recognition.

SAWYER IS POUNDED

New Duluth Pitcher Proves Easy for Brandon Sluggers.

Sox Cannot Hit Dahlgren and Lose Third Game.

Brandon, Man., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sawyer, secured by Duluth from Winnipeg Marcoons, was given his first try-out in the box yesterday and he failed to make good. Brandon found him awfully easy and won the third game of the series by a score of 8 to 2.

Duluth opened up in the first inning with two runs on a pass to A. Williams and hits by O'Brien and D. Williams. Sawyer got away well until the sixth, when Brandon tied the score on singles by Mehelez and Livingston and a three-base drive by Wagner. In the eighth, Sawyer passed two men and the Angels opened a collection of hits. They bunched six of them for six runs and Sawyer's humiliation was complete.

Dahlgren was wild, but the Sox only got three safe hits off him and he was never in danger after Brandon had tied the score. Score:

MAROONS FIND WALDORF EASY

Fargo Pitcher Hit Hard and Winnipeg Wins, 14 to 0.

Winnipeg, Man., June 26.—(Special to TheHerald.)—The Maroons slaughtered Fargo again yesterday, bunching fourteen hits with Fargo's eight errors and Waldorf's three bases on balls for fourteen runs. The Browns could do nothing at all with Glencke and Winnipeg won, 14 to 0.

The Fargo team played horrible ball in the field. Sheehan, alone, had four errors and Thompson contributed two. The Maroons scored thirteen runs in the first three innings and then let up for the remainder of the game. Score:

Sox Lose Another.

Cleveland, June 26.—Cleveland defeated Chicago again yesterday, the score being 3 to 2. Two hits and a sacrifice gave Cleveland a run in the third while Isbell's error and Hinchman's home run netted two more in the fourth. Chicago had the bases filled in the eighth with one out. Leibhardt struck out the next two men up. Isbell rejoined the White Sox yesterday. Score:

BASEBALL CLUB MEETS

Winnipeg Condemned for Greatly Exceeding Salary Limit.

Deficit of $800 Must be Made Up by Duluth Club.

That Winnipeg is leading the league astray in a financial way by exceeding the salary limit beyond all reason and forcing the other teams to do the same was the sense of the meeting of the Duluth Baseball club held yesterday in the Commercial club rooms.

Secretary-Treasurer Kuehnow reported that the Duluth club is $800 to the bad, despite the fact that the patronage thus far this season has been fairly good. It is necessary for the members of the club and the fans of the city in general to make up that deficit. No definite action toward raising the money was taken yesterday, but efforts will be made to do so through the sale of book tickets, good for forty-two games and selling at $10. The sale of 100 of the books will put the club on easy street, and the fans to take them will be hunted out.

The talk at the meeting was mostly on the question of exceeding the salary limit. It was shown that Winnipeg has far overstepped the limit in the hope of clinching the pennant early in the season. Winnipeg's action forced the others to do the same to protect themselves, with the result that the Northern league now has a better class of ball that it can possibly support. If unusual and unprecedented interest in the pennant race is worked up, and the fans turn out better than it is thought they will, the owners of the team may possibly break even on the season, but little more.

The trouble is, Winnipeg is not running its team as a business proposition. Money is being spent to win a pennant, and if the money placed into the team is not returned, there will be no complaint. In Duluth, Fargo and Brandon the situation is different. One or two men in Duluth have put up the money for carrying the team thus far this season. If they cannot see chances of returns for money put in, they do not propose to carry the team for the purpose of winning a pennant at enormous expense. They realize that if baseball is not made a business proposition, something will drop.

The general situation was talked over by those present yesterday, the record of the team thus far this year pronounced satisfactory, and the following officers re-elected for the coming year: President, J. C. McGreevey; vice president, A. J. Lyle; secretary-treasurer, A. W. Kuehnow. The directors of the club are W. I. Prince, J. C. McGreevey and A. W. Kuehnow.

HARVARD IS THE WINNER

Yale Stroke Collapses and Crimson Crew Scores Easily.

Yale Covers Last Mile and Half Mile With Seven Men.

New London, Conn., June 26.—Amid a deafening din of steam whistles, horns and the frenzied shouts of collegians, the Harvard 'varsity eight shot their boat over the finish line last night, winning from the crippled and distanced Yale crew, that classic of American college aquatics, the Harvard-Yale 'varsity boat race. But instead of a race, Harvard finished the last mile and half alone, while far behind Yale limped along with but seven men at the oars, with Griswold, the stroke—the man who had been relied upone to set the winning pace—bent forward, limp and faint from the terrific strain of the opening two miles. Up to this unexpected climax, it had been a stirring struggle, worthy of the best traditions of the old antagonists, and with the fitting setting of a marine spectacle such as has seldom been equalled along a regatta course for brilliancy and magnitude. For the first time, too, the president of the United States was taking keen and active interest, as a champion of the crimson colors, and although compelled by circumstances to absent himself, the spirit of his enthusiasm was voiced by the Roosevelt family, who witnessed the contest from the deck of the presidential yacht. Yale was more fortunate in having her distinguished champion, Secretary Taft, present in reality, the central figure of a group of collegians aboard one of the observation trains, who shouted enthusiastically to the Yale crew as they sped over the early reaches of the course and then lapsed into glum dismay as Griswold was seen to fall over helpless in the Yale boat. The race was rowed under the most favorable racing conditions just as the sun was setting over the picturesque Thames, with water broken only by ripples, a cloudless sky and a light northwesterly breeze.

The picture of the straining racers as they started on their course was one of interest. At either hand the green hills of the Thames stretched away, dotted with old-fashioned New England farm houses, the river banks fringed with solid masses of people and with crowded observation trains skirting the banks and keeping abreast of the flying boats. The great steel draw bridge spanning the Thames marked the start of the race, with the finish at Red Top, four miles up stream. Just above the bridge were massed the main flotilla of pleasure craft with myriads of trim white hulled yachts, auxiliaries, sloops and schooners, one of very pick of the Atlantic pleasure fleet, their rigging bright with signal flags from stem to stern and their spick and span decks alive with yachtsmen, university men and pretty girls in bright summer costume, feathers, fans and gay parasols. Further up the course, for full four miles, stretched long lines of steam and sailing craft of every conceivable description. The Sybil, the Roosevelts aboard, had a point of vantage, while all about were the racing cracks of every class in American waters.

Through this maze of craft, the racers threaded their way with a clear, open course, 200 feet wide, marked every half miles with red and blue standards—blue for Yale and crimson for Harvard—swaying bronzed forms in the boats as they bent to the terrific strain of 26 then 30 and then 34 strokes to the minute. Yale had splashed at the start and the Harvard men had been quick to take this advantage, pushing their boat slightly ahead. They they hung, nip and tuck, Harvard stamina against Yale pluck. Half a mile from the start both crews were almost side by side, Harvard being a few feet to the fore; one mile, Harvard still ahead with Yale holding on doggedly; two miles, Yale spurting and lessening the gap, two and a half miles, Harvard still in the lead, with open water between the boats and Yale fighting on like grim death.

The Decisive Movement.

Now came the decisive moment with the final stretch in sight and the breathless throngs straining to see if Harvard could keep up the pace, or would weaken at the close. Steadily on they came, when suddenly commotion was observed in the Yale boat as Griswold, the stroke, fell forward on his oar and ceased to row. Cass, Yale's coxswain, had already been dashing water into his pale face. For nearly a minute—it seemed—the Yale stroke sat motionless, bent down as lifeless. Then he was seen to straighten up and bend to his oar again, and a great shout went up from the Yale cohorts, as their crew was seen to pick up the stroke and rally for another effort. But they were now six lengths behind, hopelessly beaten. Another twenty strokes and Griswold was seen to collapse again and then the whole crew, disheartened at the fall of their leader, quit their work and sat dejected at their oars. Yale was beaten. It was no longer a race, and Harvard swung ahead alone, still keeping up the racing clip and crossing the finish line with a regular "swish" to the very end. As Harvard sped across the line, "Boom Boom" and "Toot Toot" went up in deafening chorus from the myriad of craft, while from bank to bank rolled a chorus of Harvard yells and from every truck and mainmast broke out the triumphant crimson and a bewildering maze of kaleidoscopic color in the lorewater stood out the big presidential yacht with the Roosevelt children on the bridge applauding lustily. Far away could be seen Secretary Taft's car, the big secretary standing bareheaded, gazing back toward the crippled Yale boat, while "Rah, Rah, Rah Harvard" came from the groups of college men as the secretary sped by.

Griswold had been helped from the Yale boat and lagging far behind the Harvard men, the seven remaining Yale men at last made their appearance at the finish a half mile behind Harvard, receiving a generous ovation for their pluck under such disheartening conditions.

Official time: Half mile, Harvard, 2:38; Yale, 2:39.

One mile, Harvard, 5:37; Yale, 5:39.

Mile and a half, Harvard. 9:12; Yale, 9:16.

Two miles, Harvard, 5:37; Yale, 5:39.

Two and a half miles, Harvard, 14:35; Yale, 14:45.

Three miles, Harvard, 18:00; Yale, —.

Three and one-half miles, Harvard, 21:10; Yale, —.

Four miles, Harvard, 24:10; Yale, —

There was a wild scene of tumultous demonstration as the men of Harvard welcomed the victors and celebrated their triumph. It was twilight as the great line moved shoreward from the river banks, turning from the fleet sparkling with electric lights to the streets of this old shipping town, which was, indeed, a hot town last night. Soon the college men began to move to their home fields, the outgoing trains taking crowds to New Haven and Cambridge, Secretary Taft being among those leaving early for New Haven. A little later, the Mayflower with the presidential family aboard moved out toward the sound and headed toward Oyster Bay, the other yachts and the throngs of visitors scattered and the Harvard-Yale boat race of 1908 was a memory.

At the Yale headquarters it was found that Griswold simply suffered a complete nervous collapse. He was quickly revived.

The Yale oarsmen elected as captain for next year P. A. Howe, 1909, of Orange, N. J. Howe is 20 years of age, six feet and one inch in height and weighs 186 pounds. This is the second year that he has rowed in the varsity eight. He is one of the most powerful oarsmen that Yale has had in recent years. He rows at number six.

Harvard elected as her captain for 1909, W. R. Severance, 1909 of New Bedford, Mass. Severance is 21 years of age, five feet eleven inches in height and weighs 177 pounds. This is the second year that he has rowed in a Harvard varsity boat.

TAYLOR TO VIRGINIA

Last Year's Shortstop Rejoins the Range Independent Team.

Hibbing and Virginia to Meet in Crucial Series.

M. O. "Kid" Taylor, manager of the Houghton team of the Northern-Copper Country lague last year and later captain of the Virginia independent team, passed through Duluth this morning en route to Virginia from Rockford, Ill. He has been with the Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league all season, but now goes back to independent ball.

The addition of Taylor means a shake-up in the Virginia team for the series of three games with Hibbing, which opens at Hibbing today. The series will virtually decide the independent championship of Northern Minnesota and is one, for which Virginia has been preparing since the opening of the season. To wrest the honors from Brady is the ambition of Virginia baseball backers and they believe that now they have the team that will do the business.

Oscar Graham, who has jumped the Minneapolis team of the American association will carry the big end of the pitching for the three games series. Virginia will pitch him today and again Sunday and with him in the box, they feel fairly certain of capturing two of the games. Currie, a Wisconsin state leaguer, who has been pitching splendid ball on the range, will pitch Saturday's game.

Hillings will work behind the bat, with O'Hayer at first, Roxie Walters at second, Taylor at short and Olmstead on third. With Anthony, Jimmie Ryan and McDonald in the field, Virginia has one of the strongest independent teams ever gathered together in Northern Minnesota and Hibbing will feel the impact when they clash.

Brady is perfectly satisfied with the men he already has. He will go into the games with his regular lineup, full of confidence in the ability of his men to win. Gilligan will probably oppose Graham in both games, in which the Minneapolis man works, while Gilchrist will pitch against Currie.

STARVATION IN ENGLAND.

Thousands Destitute in the Great Shipbuilding Towns.

Sunderland, Eng., June 26.—Here, upon the bleak northeast coast of England, in the heart of the shipbuilding industry, a great tragedy is being enacted, a whole district being in the grip of hunger and dire privation. Thousands of people are literally destitute, many of the mactually starving.

The famine area includes the great shipbuilding towns on the rivers Tyne, Wear and Tees. On them last autumn descended an unprecedented slackness. The freight market is bad, steamers are too numerous, owners want no new ones, so orders gradually ceased, and soon the clang of the hammer stopped along the Tyne from Gateshead and Hebburn to Wallsend and Jarrow, on the Wear at Sunderland, farther south at the Hartlepools, and at Stockton and Middleborough on the Tees.

Many of these towns have experienced the most dreadful industrial stagnation of recent years, but the hardest hit of all has been Sunderland, where work has been at a standstill in practically all the thirteen shipyards, and 10,000 men have been without employment or wages for over six months. It means but a moment's thought to realize what a tremendous fact is here concealed. Ten thousand workless men in one town means that a vast mass of poverty is at once created, and six months of it means starvation, stark and grim, in 10,000 homes.

In November last the distress had become so acute that the Sunderland townspeople took the matter in hand, a relief fund was opened, and the mayor organized district committees to distribute the funds raised. At the town's meeting, at which the fund was started, it was mentioned that 20,000 people were in distress through the paralysis of the shipbuilding industry of the town. That was over six months ago, and the stagnation is as bad as ever.

In the first four months of this year the output of new shipping has been three-fourths of what it was in April alone last year. Wheras, in the first four months of 1907 the tonnage launched was 107,200, this year it has been only 22,345 tons. The yards are empty and idle—one that used to employ 4,000 men regularly now has only 300 at work. The streets often fill the streets, empty and despairing.

M. PAULUS, FAMOUS MUSIC HALL SINGER, IS DEAD.

Paris, June 26.—M. Paulus, the most popular French music hall singer of the last half century, died recently at St. Mande, a suburb of Paris, at the age of 63. His life was full of incident. His real name was Paul Habanas, and he was born in Paris. In his early days, when he was a lawyer's clerk, he devoted his spare time to writing topical songs. One night, after hearing the famous comic singer Perrin, at the El Dorado Music hall, he determined to try his fortune on the variety stage. His first engagement in the Belleville district was at $1 a night, and the manager told him that he was not worth it. Though disheartened, he persevered, but after three unpromising years in Paris he went to the provinces. At Toulouse he made his first success with a song called "Buvons Sec," which in a few days was hummed all over the city.

For four years he built up great popular renown throughout the country, and then returned to Paris in 1871, where he appeared at the open air concerts in the Champs-Elysees. His first triumph in the capital was with "Si j'etais fleur." His song, "En Ravenant de la Revue," helped to make the late Gen. Boulanger popular, and was played by every military band in Europe, as was also his "Pere la Victoire." M. Paulus appeared in New York some years ago. He saved money and bought a vineyard near Bordeau for $100,000, but was not a good business man. Between it and a music hall which he took over he lost all his savings.

S.S.S. FOR BAD BLOOD

When bad blood is caused from an infection of the circulation by the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, it usually shows in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored splotches on the body, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. These general symptoms, affecting all parts of the body, show how deeply poisoned the blood becomes, and emphasizes the dangerous character of the trouble. If allowed to remain in the system the disease will finally wreck the health and break down the strongest constitution. No medicine can cure Contagious Blood Poison which does not rid the circulation of every particle of the virus. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure; it goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, and by removing every trace of the poison, and adding rich, healthful qualities to the blood, forever cures this powerful disorder. S. S. S. is the most reliable of all blood purifiers, and its concentrated ingredients of healthful vegetable extracts and juices especially adapt it to curing this insidious trouble. Write for our home treatment book, which is a valuable aid in the treatment of the different stages of the disease, and ask for any medical advice you wish. No charge for either.

ON THE IRON RANGES

THIS CITY'S FINE FUTURE

President Cole of Mining Institute on Outlook for Duluth.

Well Adapted for Extensive Making of Iron and Steel.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute arrived here in two special trains from Eveleth at 7:30 last evening and, beginning at 8:45, held a meeting in the Roosevelt high school auditorium, where several interesting papers were read. President Thomas F. Cole presided at the meeting. Attorney L. M. Osborne delivered a brief address of welcome on behalf of the citizens of Virginia, and W. J. Olcott responded in behalf of the institute.

President Cole read a paper on "The Conservation of Natural Resources." He strongly advised the increased use of steel for mining purposes, that the timber might be saved for other uses, and also advised the utilization of water powers wherever practicable, in order to save the fuel supply. By way of illustration, he stated that the St. Louis river water power at Duluth would annually furnish energy equal to that produced by the consumption of 1,300,000 tons of coal. He spoke of the bright future of Duluth as a point for the manufacture of iron and steel, and closed with a reference to the successful solution of the problem of separating the ores of the western Mesaba from the sands which are usually mixed with them.

Prof. N. H. Winchell discussed the structure of the ores of the Mesaba range, as tending to prove that they were of volcanic origin and came with repeated flows of trap rock such as is found on the north shore of Lake Superior. His paper was very interesting to those who understood geology, and one member of the institute stated after the meeting that Prof. Winchell had "started something," claiming that his theory is generally considered as "rank heresy."

Spencer Rumsey's Paper.

Spencer S. Rumsey of Duluth read a paper on "The Automatic Throttle Closing Device for Hoisting Machinery," dwelling briefly though technically on the different methods that have been employed and are being perfected to prevent accidents in the shaft in hoisting and lowering the skip or cage.

"Ever since the application of steam there has been a continuous line of accidents caused by over-winding," said Mr. Rumsey. "These accidents are always of a serious nature and owing to the damage to the shafthouse and machinery, generally cause a cessation of mining operations for a longer or shorter period, and often loss of life.

"Over-winding is caused sometimes by defective machinery, sometimes by the inattention or confusion of the brakeman, and often, where skips or cages are operated in balance, by the brakeman neglecting to reverse the engines, before opening the throttle for the next trip.

"The means of automatically preventing over-winds has long been a subject which has received the most thorough consideration from mining operators and manufacturers."

Mr. Rumsey then touched upon the earlier automatic devices which were used in mining operations to prevent, in case any mishap came to the hoisting machinery, the skip or cage from falling down the shaft, a brake that would stop the fall of the car at some point in the shaft, before it reached to bottom. This point, he said, was usually chosen just above the skip dump or at the top landing. When the cage or skip reached either of these points, the powerful brake is instantly automatically applied. These devices, Mr. Rumsey said, were steps in the right direction, but the brake is applied so near the danger point, that its reliability is a matter of doubt and especially so if the brake should happen to be the least little bit out of adjustment. Then in case something should happen to the engineer or he should lose his head, and not close the throttle when the sudden application of the emergency brake came, with the engines working under a powerful head of steam, the abrupt halt would tend to seriously strain the shafthouse and machinery.

"Attention was next turned to perfecting a device which would automatically close the throttle at a point during the hoist so that the momentum of the rising skip or cage would be just sufficient to bring it into the dump or the top cage landing," said Mr. Rumsey. "If this device were perfected the skip or cage would not rise to the danger point and over winding would be practically impossible.

"A great many different designs have been submitted during the previous years, but inasmuch as none of them would prevent over-winding from all causes and that most of them interfered with the rapid handling of the machinery, they never came into general use."

In the latter part of the year 1900, some time after the formation of the Oliver Mining company, it was necessary for that company to purchase a new first motion hoist for operating the cage in the "A" shaft, Pioneer mine, and the specifications required that this machine be equipped with an automatic device which would be a part of the hoisting engine and which would close the throttle at a point during the hoist so that the momentum of the rising cage would carry it to the top landing, there making it impossible for an over-wind to occur.

Mr. Rumsey then told how H. J. Westinger, then mechanical engineer for the company solved the problem.

"Sampling of Iron Ores," by Prof. L. S. Austin of Houghton, Mich., was the last paper read.

The following auditing committee was elected: J. M. Bush of the Gogebic range, Charles T. Kruse of the Marquette range, Charles Grapowsky of the Vermilion range.

A nominating committee was chosen as follows: E. E. Keese of the Marquette range, M. W. Haire of Houghton county, Mich., C. H. Munger of Duluth, W. J. Richards of the Menominee range and D. E. Sutherland of the Gogebic range.

A vote of thanks was given to the citizens of Virginia for the cordial welcome and fine entertainment. The Glee club was given a special vote of thanks.

This morning the institute visited the mines in this vicinity and at 10 o'clock they departed for Hibbing by way of Mountain Iron.

Eveleth, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute, 300 strong came in on a special train about 4:30 p. m. yesterday and visited the Adams, Spruce and Fayal mines. Some of the local mining men went over last evening to Virginia where the institute held a meeting.

VICTOR JOHNSON DEAD.

Well-Known Two Harbors Man Dies of Physical Breakdown.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The community was shocked today on learning of the death last night of Victor C. Johnson, formerly a member of the board of county commissioners, of which body he was a member for several years, also an alderman and clerk of the Modern Woodmen camp. Mr. Johnson was foreman in the composing room of the Iron News newspaptr. His parents reside at Cannon Falls, Minn., while his brother, Theodore G. Johnson, is part owner of the Two Harbors Iron Trade Journal.

Because of a physical breakdown due to overwork, he had to give up all work about three months ago, since which time he appears to have been gradually declining.

NEW BAND MILL BEING ERECTED

Bailey Lumber Company Starts Work on Its New Plant.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Instead of proceeding as at first intended to make alterations and improvements in their old mill, the Bailey Lumber company recently decided to tear down the ald structure entirely and erect a new mill from the foundations.

The work of demolition is already under way and R. L. Hoyt, the superintending millwright, went to Minneapolis this week to engage a force of millwrights to begin the work of construction.

The band mill and edger, formerly used in the old mill, will be retained, as both are new and modern, but practically all the other machinery will be new. A new lath mill will be one of the additions to the plant. Two large new boilers, each of 200-horse power capacity, will be installed and a brick power house will be erected to shelter the boilers and new engine of greater capacity.

It will require a somewhat longer time to complete these improvements than would have been required for the changes at first contemplated, but when the work is completed the company will have one of the most modern and complete single band mills in the entire country.

Because the Bailey Lumber company did not put in any logs last winter the impression became prevalent that the concern's timber resources were practically exhausted. This is far from the truth, as it owns over $300,000 worth of standing timber in Northern Minnesota, practically all of which will be brought to the Virginia mill for manufacture. In addition to this the company has secured a contract to saw 30,000,000 feet of logs for the Oliver Iron Mining company, of which 8,000,000 feet will be cut the present summer and fall. It is also probable that this arrangement with the mining company will be continued when the present contract expires. This work, in addition to the cutting of the lumber company's own timber, will keep the mill in steady operation summer and winter, night and day, for several years to come and will prove a substantial support to the business interests of the city.

RIFLE FALLS AND KILLS A WOMAN

Miss Alva Everts, From Iowa is Accidentally Shot.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—While a party of settlers, recently from Iowa, was waiting in a frame shack, near Beaver station, about twenty-five miles from here, Wednesday afternoon, for a thunder storm to pass over, a rifle, suspended from the wall fell and was discharged, killing one and wounding another member of the party. Miss Alva Everts, aged 18, was almost instantly killed. The bullet from the rifle, which was of 33 caliber, passed through her thigh, fracturing the bone and severing the femoral artery. She died in less than a minute. The bullet then entered the thigh of Fred Finch, just grazing the femoral artery and lodging in the flesh against the bone. Nothing could be done for the young lady, but Finch was taken to Beaver station, six miles distant, and brought to the Budd hospital, this city, where the bullet was extracted and the wound properly dressed. He will recover. It is not known just how the rifle happened to fall.

PROBABLY FOR JACOBSON.

Lake County Republican Convention Not Committed on Governorship

Two Harbors, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the Lake county Republican convention did not go on record yesterday afternoon on the governorship question it is understood a majority of the delegates selected to the state convention favor Jacobson. Taft and Sherman were indorsed while Senators Clapp and Nelson and Representative Bede received some bouquets. Harmony marked the proceedings, the convention being called to order by Chairman W. N. Moulton, while George M. Roberts was secretary. M. N. Hanna, J. D. Budd, J. H. Lund and Iver Amundson, the committee to select delegates to the state convention proposed the following and they were elected without opposition: S. C. Holdn, B. F. Fowler, George Munford, D. J. Hayes, E. H. Lawrence, Andrew Haugen, G. H. Good; alternates, Thomas Owens, Emil Nelson, John Nollen, George M. Roberts, Peter Johnson, Arthur Amundsen and J. D. Budd.

The following are the county committee: M. N. Hanna, temporary chairman; E. J. Miller, Martin Muth, Charles Cotter, F. M. Woodsill, George S. Rater, Frank Swanson, G. H. Good, Peter Johnson, Archie McPhee, D. J. Hayes and H. C. Hanson.

MINER'S INJURIES FATAL.

Joseph Jopponi is Fatally Hurt in Monroe Mine.

Chisholm, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Jopponi, an Italian laborer at the Monroe mine was fatally injured while at work at the Monroe mine Tuesday, dying of his injuries yesterday. He was 35 years old and it is not known whether he was married or not. The funeral will take place Saturday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. F. R. Winder and her son, Lawrence, departed for Winnipeg, Canada, yesterday, where they will visit relatives during the summer. They will also visit other points in Canada during the next two months.

The dance July 4th will be given by the firemen of Chisholm.

Misses Gertrude Knapp and Jessie Woods left for St. Paul Sunday morning where they will visit friends and relatives for a couple of months. They will return when it is time to reopen the high school for the fall term as the former is a teacher in the Chisholm schools and the latter is a pupil in the high school.

C. E. Mahoney, an officer of the Western Federation, appeared before a large crowd at the Finn temperance hall last Sunday. He spoke about organizing all trades, also about the Western Federation of Miners.

MUST INDICT HIM AGAIN.

Bill Against Alleged Incendiary Found to be Faulty.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of a verbal defect in the indictment against Matt Blendich, the Nashwauk man indicted for alleged arson in setting fire to a boarding house at the La Rue mine, in which some men were sleeping, last September, the indictment was nolled in the district court this week, and another will be returned by a special grand jury called by the court. The error in the indictment gave the year of the alleged offense 1903, instead of 1907. The defect was pointed out by counsel for the defense as a jury was being secured.

The case of Michael McAlpine, administrator, vs. Frank H. Kratka, resulted in a verdict of $3,600 for plaintiff.

The trial of Thomas Peltola for assault closed Wednesday, and he was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or go to jail for ninety days.

GRAND RAPIDS EVENTS.

Events of Local Interest in Itasca County Seat.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Stanton and Court Reporter Samuelson arrived in Grand Rapids Tuesday, to relieve Judge McClenahan, who is conducting a regular term of court for Itasca county. Judge McClenahan will hold a special term of court in Bemidji on Saturday, for the purpose of considering applications for naturalization papers.

Henry Connell, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Connell, is suffering from blood poisoning caused by stepping upon a rusty nail, which pierced the foot causing a bad wound.

County Attorney Thwing has been entertaining his father, J. L. Thwing, of Duluth, for several days past. The visitor is much impressed with the natural beauties of Grand Rapids, and thinks we have a bright future ahead of us.

Miss Pauline O'Reilly, who has made her home here for the past two years, has returned to her former home in New Ontario. She was accompanied by her uncle, John Boyle O'Reilly, who will visit in that section for some time.

HIBBING HAS WILSON.

Crack Twirler Said to Have Been Engaged at Fancy Figure.

Virginia, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Information reached this city yesterday that the management of the Hibbing ball team had engaged Wilson, the famous colored pitcher, to do hill work in two of the three games to be played in Hibbing today, tomorrow and Sunday. It is stated that Wilson is to receive $250 for pitching these two games. Wilson is rated as one of the best pitchers in the United States and it has been frequently said that were it not for the color of his skin he would be drawing a large salary from one of the big league clubs.

Oscar Graham, who will pitch two of the three games for Virginia has been engaged to play with the Virginia team the remainder of the season. He was dissatisfied with the treatment accorded him by the members of the Minneapolis team and so decided to accept the offer of the management of the Virginia team, which has been trying to sign him for some time past. He will reside in this city in the future.

EVELETH EXPECTS ADAMS NO. 4 PIT WILL BE WORKED.

Eveleth, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two large locomotives were brought to the Adams mine today, but it is not definitely known for what especial purpose. From what some of the unemployed miners say it is generally believed that the locomotives will be used in the Adams No. 4 open pit. They are eagerly awaiting the disposition of the locomotives as some of them have not been at work for some time and badly in need of money.

EVELETH RAISING MONEY.

Plans for Fourth Celebration Are Going Forward Nicely.

Eveleth, Minn., June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fourth of July committee last night heard reports from several of the subordinate committees. The soliciting committee collected $283 in two hours yesterday and the whole city has not yet been canvassed. The other committees are not able to do anything until they can figure on how much money can be used for the various affairs. The city council has already appropriated $200 for two bands that will play the whole day. The members of the soliciting committee that live in the Fayal location will

G. H. Dormer, who was appointed marshal of the day, will be out of town on that day, so that another man will have to be appointed. Martin Hughes of Hibbing has been secured to deliver the address of the day. A baseball game has been arranged for between Eveleth and Virginia. Another meeting of the committees has been called for Saturday night, when the soliciting committee will know how much money there will be on hand for the other committees to work on.

der, Dr. John H. Finley, Prof Paul Van Dyke of Princeton graduate seminary; Prof. John Grier Hibbon of Princeton university; Paul Morton, ex-secretary of the navy; Prof. Howard McClenahan of Princeton university, and Archibald D Russell, Junius S. Morgan and Bayard Stockton, trustees of Princeton university.

Mrs. Cleveland, in issuing invitations to the funeral, considered, first, Mr. Cleveland's own friends and neighbors of recent years, and also selected from among them the list of active pall bearers. No official distinctions were recognized.

The arrangement was also made necessary on account of the inability to care for a large crowd in the Cleveland home.

This morning the casket, which had been reposing in the front room on the second floor, was borne down the flight of stairs into the hall which divides the first floor of the house, and was placed in the library on the west side of the house.

The library, with its southern exposure, where Princeton's distinguished citizen spent many happy hours in retirement, is about thirty feet long by twenty-five feet wide, together with the books stacked from ceiling to floor, and furniture which cannot be moved, there is comparatively little space left in the room for others than members of the family. Mrs. Cleveland and her two children, Esther and Richard, who came from Tamworth, the Cleveland summer home, last night; Miss Rose Cleveland, a sister of the former president; Miss Mary Hastings, a niece; Cleveland F. Bacon, a nephew, and other immediate relations, will surround the bier in the library.

About 150 Will Attend.

Although about 300 chairs were taken to "Westland," not more than 200 were today placed about the house, as it is expected that only about 150 persons will attend the services.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke will begin the service by reading from the scriptures and the Presbyterian book of common worship. The other pastors will assist in turn at the house or at the cemetery. At the house they probably will stand in the main hall at the library door so that those in the Eastern part of the house and others in adjoining rooms will be able to hear what is said.

After the service, which will consist only of reading of scripture, the recital of the creed and prayer, the coffin will be borne from the library to the hearse for the journey to the cemetery. More than a score of carriages will be in procession, which will move slowly through the Cleveland grounds to Bayard lane, a street on which formerly stood historic dwellings of revolutionary times. The procession will move to the junction of Stockton and Nassau streets where a monument in commemoration of the battle of Princeton is soon to be erected.

Ground Is Historic.

Practically every foot of the ground the be traversed by the funeral cortege is historic. Here Gen. Washington passed in state with other officials of the new government to Nassau hall, where congress sat and which for a time was the nation's capitol. Here President James Madison passed his days as a student of Princeton university, and down Nassau street to Vandeventer avenue to the historic Princeton cemetery were borne the bodies of Vice President Aaron Burr, President John Witherspoon, John McClean, John Ethan Edwards and other chief executives of Princeton university.

The streets from "Westland" to the cemetery will be guarded by mounted troopers and members of the New Jersey state militia. Intersecting streets will be roped off and no pedestrians or vehicles will be allowed within the curb lines from the time the procession starts until after it has passed into the cemetery. The guardsmen are here merely to assist in policing the city and their presence was consented to by Mrs. Cleveland only after she had been convinced of the necessity of taking every precaution to guard against probable accident to Roosevelt. Mrs. Cleveland had hoped to avoid anything of a military element in connection with the funeral.

Among those who spent the night at the Cleveland house were President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York; Mrs. Finley, Miss Rose Cleveland, Miss Mary Hastings and Cleveland F. Bacon. It was midnight before the lights in the housee were extinguished.

Many floral tributes are being received at "Westland" and messages and letters of sympathy are still coming in in large numbers.

The Funeral Party.

Twenty-six carriages will convey the funeral party to the cemetery. The pallbearers will walk with the hearse, six on either side. The officiating clergymen will occupy the first carriage, and the second will contain Mrs. Cleveland, her son Richard and Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York, the family physician. The third will be occupied by Miss Rose Cleveland and Miss Esther Cleveland. Cleveland F. Baker, Miss Mary L. Hastings and Prof. and Mrs. Wood will ride in the fourth, and the fifth and sixth will convey Mr. and Mrs. Huston of Princeton; Mrs. John H. Finley of New York; Mrs. Richard Watson Glider, George Shipley, Miss Annie Heckler, the Cleveland nurse; Louis Yoemans of Chicago, and Charles Rogers of Brooklyn.

Following the family and intimate friends will come President and Mrs. Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb in the seventh carriage and this will be followed by another containing four secret service men. The occupants of the other carriages will be:

Ninth, Chief Justice Fuller, Governor Fort of New Jersey, Governor Hughes of New York and Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou.

Tenth, John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury; William F. Vilas of Wisconsin, and Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont.

Eleventh, Richard Olney, former secretary of the treasury; David R. Francis, former secretary of the interior, and Judson Harmon of Connecticut; former United States attorney general.

Twelfth, Hilliary A. Herbert, former secretary of the navy; Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia; United States Senators Kean and Briggs of New Jersey.

Thirteenth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hastings, New York; Mrs. Joseph D. Bryant and Miss Florence Bryant.

Fourteenth, Mrs. Wilson S. Bissell, Mrs. Daniel Manning and Mr. and Mrs. St. George Tucker.

Fifteenth, Dr. and Mrs. Gibson, Princeton; Dr. J. M. Carnochan, Princeton, and Dr. George R. Lockwood. New York.

Sixteenth, Charles W. Goodyear, Gen. Anson McCook, St. Clair McKelway and Mr. Farquhar.

Seventeenth, Dean H. B. Fine and trustees of Princeton university.

Eighteenth, Bishop McFall, Trenton; Father Leahy, Princeton.

Nineteenth, Representatives of the Equitable Assurance society.

Twentieth, Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Hamlin, Boston.

Twenty-first, Mrs. Junius Morgan, Miss Sarah Morgan, Mrs. George B. McClellan and Mrs. Henry Satterlee.

Twenty-second, Mrs. A. D. Russell, Mrs. Howard McClenahan and Albert D. Boyden.

Twenty-third, Mr. and Mrs. George Armour, Princeton; Mrs. Cleveland H. Dodge, New York; Mrs. Bayard Henry, Philadelphia.

Twenty-fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Colgate, New York; Charles R. Crane and Mr. Rodman Gilder.

Twenty-fifth, T. S. Bisell, E. R. Bacon and H. H. Topkyan.

Twenty-sixth, Mrs. T. Harrison Garret, Mrs. Horatio Garrett, Baltimore.

Few Arrivals at Noon.

There were comparatively few arrivals of those invited to attend the funeral up to noon. The town began to take on a more animated appearance about that hour when hundreds of persons from nearby places began arriving eager to see the funeral procession and get a glimpse of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Outside the Cleveland home, which stands in one of the prettiest parts of Princeton, there were no signs during the morning of what will take place this afternoon. The house stands far from the most frequented streets, and few persons were in the vicinity. At the entrance to the Cleveland grounds a policeman stood guard and only those known to him or vouched for by those in charge were permitted to enter the grounds.

Among those who applied for admission was an elderly man who asked to be permitted to view the body of the former president. He proved to be "Tony" Leggett of Trenton, N. J., who for years was Mr. Cleveland's companion on numerous shooting expeditions. He was at once admitted to the house and permitted to look upon the face of his lifelong friend. He came out of the houses with tears streaming down his cheeks.

Many Floral Tributes.

Mr. Cleveland's body reposed in the open casket near the front window of his bedroom during the forenoon and was surrounded by many floral tributes. Among the offerings was the wreath sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. A large wreath of orchids was received from the friendly sons of St. Patrick. Another wreath made from the ivy of the class of '68 on Nassau was among those placed near the casket.

Richard, the elder son, upon returning from a walk with Miss Rose Cleveland, volunteered to assist those in charge of the arrangements by running errands about the house. Esther, the other child here, kept to her room and was not to be seen. The Cleveland team, a handsome pair of dapple grays, attached to the family surrey, was kept busy during the morning, making trips to and from "Westland."

Fakirs were about the streets early offering pictures of Mr. Cleveland and badges of mourning for sale as souvenirs.

Honored by Venezuela.

Willemstad, Curacao, June 25.—The governor of the island of Curacao issued orders today to honor the memory of the late Grover Cleveland. Following his instructions the forts of Curacao displayed the flag at half mast and every half hour throughout the day a gun will be fired.

This action on the part of the authorities, together with the courtesy extended the American gunboat Marietta, which arrived here yesterday with the personnel of the American legation at Caracas on board is taken as an indication that the Dutch government has agreed to common action with the United States in regard to Venezuela.

The Curacao section of the general Dutch union, a society for the promotion of Dutch interests has invited the chamber of commerce and the local branch of the Dutch flees society, an organization to promote interest in the navy, to discuss the existing situation with regard to Venezuela in combined meeting.

Board Closes Early.

Chicago, June 26.—As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Grover Cleveland the Chicago board of trade prepared to close at 12 o'clock today instead of at 1:15, the regular closing hour. The action was decided upon at a meeting of the board of directors.

Tributes Abroad.

Washington June 26.—In every part of the world where there is a United States flag floating tribute was today paid to the memory of Grover Cleveland. Several foreign governments accorded special honors for the occasion. American embassies, legations and consular agencies bore the stars and stripes at half mast; army and navy officers wherever they were wore a badge of mourning, and battleships, cruisers and vessels of our navy of every type rendered appropriate observance of the death of the former commander-in-chief of the army and the navy. Beginning at daybreak salutes were fired by all ships and army posts, beginning at military posts with a thunder of thirteen guns and winding up with forty-five guns at sunset. Throughout the world tribute in some form, either under American or foreign auspices, was rendered.

In Latin America, Brazil, with its feeling of debt of gratitude to Mr. Cleveland, paid the most signal honors.

M. S. Rice and C. W. Ramshaw.

The following clergymen answered to the roll call: Orris Surver, Aurora; H. Mecklenhey, Bear River; A. L. Richardson, Carlton; R. Swinnerton, Cloquet; Norman Batdorf, Cromwell; W. G. Boyle, Deer River; T. Grice, Asbury church; J. A. Roberts, city missions; J. W. Powell, Endion; M. S. Rice, First church; H. H. Osterhout, Aitkin; J. R. Davies, Grace church; J. A. Geer, Lester Park; J. A. Hawkins, Turlayson circle; H. G. Gardner, Floodwood; H. R. Scott, Grand Rapids; F. Pequette, Mille Lacs; J. W. Martin, Sawyer; C. W. Ramshaw, Proctor; H. P. Long, Sandstone; F. G. Clark, Virginia; W. E. T. Gratz, Two Harbors.

Rev. H. H. Osterhout was the first to address the session. Then H. R. Scott read a paper on the First Two Chapters of the Epistles to the Hebrews. J. F. Picards opened the discussion, which lasted for some time. Following a paper by J. A. Roberts was read on "The Deaconnesses' Work." Then H. H. Osterhout made a very strong and original address on "The Resurrection," which was followed by a lively discussion.

This evening, at the First M. E. church, where the conference is being held, Rev. M. Watson Cooper of Hamline university will deliver a lecture on "English Literature." No admission fee will be charged.

A paper on "Socialism," by Rev. J. R. Davies, pastor of Grace M. E. church in the West end, was the principal talk at the afternoon session today.

H. S. Ousterhout of Aitkin was the principal speaker at the session last evening. He told of his conversion in an interesting and impressive fashion.

There will be a session tomorrow morning and tomorrow afternoon the ministers will be taken for a boat-ride around the bay and up the St. Louis river. J. A. Geer is in charge of the arrangements for this outing.

Tomorrow evening Judge Ensign will speak before the conference on "The Juvenile Court."

Dr. E. C. Clemans, presiding elder of the district, will have charge of the communion service Sunday morning at the First church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. F. B. Cowgill, and in the afternoon "Methodism on the Range" will be discussed.

Miss Norris Weds.

Miss Lottie Norris of 112 East Third street was quietly married in Minneapolis Wednesday to Hal Hobbie of Minneapolis.

The wedding was a complete surprise to the friends of Miss Norris in Duluth, as few of them knew that it was about to take place.

A TERRIBLE APPETITE.

Henry B. Dixey was sneering about the squabble that went on between two brave young men over a Carnegie medal.

"It is not a very ennobling thing," he said, "to see two heroes fighting and jawing over a medal for heroism. Mr. Carnegie should have thought of this when he originated his hero fund.

"The taste for medals, once formed, is worse than the taste for chicken. You know what Mrs. G. Washington White said of her husband, don't you?

"'My Wash,' she said, 'is the wust man for chicken you ever see. Why, if he can't git a chicken no other way, he'll go and buy one.'"

You couldn't discuss the events of the day in the world unless you had read your newspaper. You cannot "shop" intelligently unless you have read the store-ads.

Embargo Lifted.

Word was received this afternoon from the general offices of the Great Northern railroad that the embargo on freight from Eastern points had been lifted on the Great Falls and Helena branch of the Great Northern railway.

DECISIONS BY SUPREME COURT

Log Drivers Liable for Injury Done to Riparian Owners.

St. Paul, June 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following supreme court decisions were handed down today:

Joseph Mandery, respondent, vs. Mississippi and Rum river Boom company, appellant.

Syllabus — A corporation organized for the purpose of driving, floating and conveying logs on navigable streams is required to exercise ordinary care to prevent the same from doing damage to the property of riparian owners. Such duty demands the exercise of ordinary care to prevent logs, delivered into streams by owners, from lodging and creating jams and obstructions in the stream, and thus forcing the waters out of their natural course to the injury of riparian property. It does not conclusively appear from the evidence in this case that appellant company could not, by the exercise of ordinary care, have prevented its logs from creating a jam and causing the injury complained of.

Upon the question of damages a properly qualified witness may state how much less, in his opinion, the premises were worth after the injury than before. Affirmed. From Morrison county.

Clara E. Widell and Gustaf Widell, plaintiffs-respondents, vs. Citizens' Bank of Mankato defendant-respondent. William G. Henry and Charles N. Boynton, defendants-appellants. Affirmed. From Nicollet county.

Frand Sidval, respondent, vs. Interstate Iron company, appellant. Affirmed. From St. Louis county.

Albin E. Rudquist, respondent, vs. Empire Lumber company, appellant. Affirmed. From Winona county.

E. H. Bowler, appellant vs. The County of Renville in the State of Minnesota respondent. Affirmed. From Hennepin county.

Edward C. Osborn and Joseph J. Slocum, assignee in trust of Hastings & Dakota Railway company, appellants vs. Peter Froyseth respondent. Affirmed. From Chippewa county.

Kristen Markusen, et al, respondents vs. C. P. Mortenson, appellant. Affirmed. From Lincoln county.

First State Bank of Montgomery, respondent vs. Joseph J. Schatz, appellant. Affirmed. From Le Sueur county.

Demurrer Overruled.

The ruling of Judge Page Morris of the United States court on the demurrer of the defendant to the complaint of the plaintiff in the case of Charles A. Duncan vs. Herman L. Hartenstein was filed this morning. The demurrer is overruled and the defendant is given five days in which to file an answer to the complaint, in default of which the plaintiff will be given judgment for the full amount of the complaint.

CONCEPTION ALL WRONG

People Do Not Have Right Idea of the Church.

Dr. Rice Gives Interesting Talk to Methodist Conference.

"I venture to say that a majority of the people of this city, and of every community have a begging conception of the church; that they think the church is a charitable institution picking up the crumbs which drop from the table," said Rev. M. S. Rice, pastor of the First M. E. church, in an address to the ministers in attendance at the Methodist Episcopal district conference today.

"They have an idea that one of the principal objects of the church is to get the money and they jokingly clamp their hands on their pocketbooks when a minister approaches. There is nothing that disgusts me more. I have no time for such people, and the only consolation is that that sort of people never give much to the church anyway. Possibly they will write $1.50 on a slip, but they do not sign their names. Instead, they write 'cash' and hand it over.

"It is disgusting to me to think that every time a minister approaches a citizen it is to sell tickets for some entertainment or other or to secure money for this or that work. I defy anyone in this town to recall a time when I ever approached anyone to ask one penny."

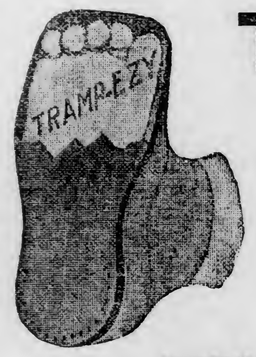

Rev. Mr. Rice's text was "I Seek Not Yours, but You."

"I have kept that bible quotation before me ever since I entered the ministry," said he, "and I have tried to bear it in mind in every bit of my work.

"Society needs God. If the people had Jesus Christ the problems of society would be solved. We need God everywhere. We have about enough of everything else. We have enough wheat, although there should be, perhaps a better distribution of it, and we have plenty of money to carry on the world's business, but men must take God into their hearts.

"The church is at a critical point; our progress is so slow. Our congregations must be moved. Our duty is to preach the gospel to men and move them. We do not want to preach merely to entertain or interest them, but we want to move them to greater things. I want my church to do something beside hold meetings."

The morning devotions were opened by Rev. W. G. Boyle of Deer River, followed by the opening prayer by Rev. F. G. Clark of Virginia. At 9 o'clock the chair was taken by Dr. E. C. Clemens, district superintendent, and the meeting was opened by the reading of yesterday's session's minutes by Secretary J. R. Davies of Grace church, after which the chair appointed the following committees: Committee on resolutions, F. G. Clark, Rupert Swinnerton, A. L. Richardson; examinations, J. F. Pichard, J. A. Roberts and W. E. J. Gratz; finance, J. R. Davies,

$5 Per Share

We offer for a limited period small blocks of stock in the

LAURA CONSOLIDATED GOLD MINES CO.

This well known gold mine (adjacent to Steeplerock, N. M., managed by the superintendent of the Steeplerock holdings of the Rothschild syndicate), is a big producer. London and Paris helped to float it originally and their stock is netting them a nice return on their investment. This mine, though being operated at a comfortable profit, is a little handicapped by having to pay $8 per ton shipping charges to smelter. By putting in a cyaniding plant this charge is cut out and the cost of cyaniding will be $1 per ton. A saving of $7 per ton is quite material. In floating a block of stock to erect this cyanide plant we obtained the option on a portion for Duluth sale. With our flotation here a block will be simultaneously offered to the original English and French investors.

A long list of references, reports from twelve of the best mining engineers and a most complete array of mining data relative to this property can be inspected at our office. At $5 per share, which is par value of stock on an $800,000 capitalization, we believe will discount any stock being offered today. The absolute safety of the investment, where a paying basis has been long since reached, should appeal to you strongly. This has been a closed company, but it must readily be apparent to you that if we can show you $1,230,000 net profit on ore now blocked out, besides equipment and buildings, that on an $800,000 capital stock is easily worth $8 or more per share, or, in other words, the company would be justified in offering it at a premium, should they feel so inclined. The saving of $7 per ton will make a big difference in the future—a report shows that with a 100-ton mill in operation the profits will be 65 per cent on the capitalization of $800,000.

We have figures to substantiate any assertion we make, but feel that a personal interview would be greatly more convincing, as we can then submit to you properly witnessed proofs that cannot be questioned. Should you call today or tomorrow we can have it arranged, if desired, that you meet the manager of the mine, who is now in this city. In any event, we scarcely believe you will confuse this property with "get rich quick" schemes, whose foundation is largely in the promoter's brain. If you cannot call, write us and we will send you full information, including our prospectus, which will be out today.

FROM COOK TO COMMODORE.

Broadway Magazine: There seems to be something about the sea that keeps men's heads in a more or less normal relation to the rest of their bodies. Certainly no more modest man can be found anywhere than Capt. John Pritchard of the Mauretania, the largest ship afloat, which took away from her sister ship, the Lusitania, the Eastern record on her first trip. Capt. Pritchard is one of the most interesting examples of the value of modest devotion to the duties of the strenuous life. Born in Wales 63 years ago, he had at the age of 12 to choose between the workhouse, as an orphaned charge upon the community, and the cook's galley on a little Carnarvon sailing vessel named the Gleen, at the munificent salary of 12 shillings a week. Fortunately for those of us who go down into the sea in ships, he chose the latter, and has gradually worked his way up from this low rung of the ladder to one of the two most important commands in the mercantile marine service of the world.

The keynote of his character is struck in the remark said to have been made by him to a friend recently: "I wear the same sized hat that I did when I was second officer of the Umbria." In any event, next year his head will fit into a commodore's hat, and none will grudge him this new honor.

THE AIRSHIP IN WAR.

Henry B. Hersey in the Century: The dirigible balloon, or airship, as it is usually called, is now an established success, and is sure to play an important part in future wars. The French government is taking the lead in the matter, and will soon have a whole fleet of aerial cruisers, capable of sailing over the enemy's defenses and dropping hundreds of pounds of dynamite into their fortifications; or of gliding quietly out at night over a battleship, and dropping down on her enough dynamite to send her, a shattered wreck, with all on board, to the bottom of the sea.

Germany is also making rapid strides in this work. Count Zeppelin, working under the patronage of the government, has built the largest and probably the most scientifically planned airship ever constructed.

THE MARKET IS BEARISH

Wheat Has Decline in America—Old Wheat Well Bought.

Flax Quiet and Easier at the Close in Duluth.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 26.—Wheat was generally weaker at the close of the American markets today. Out of respect to the late Grover Cleveland, every exchange in the United States concluded the day's business at noon, making it a short session.

Cables were higher, but most of the news was bearish and prices slumped off in the face of it. The Modern Miller's report of Southwestern conditions was conceded to be bearish by the trade and crop advices from the Northwest were bearish.

There was considerable buying of old wheat in Duluth and Minneapolis and the near-by options closed stronger, but the distant options were soft.

Aggregate shipments of wheat were 2,276,000 bus., against 2,344,000 bus., last week and 1,100,000 bus., a year ago.

Broomhall estimates the world's shipments of wheat this week, exclusive of North America, at 4,000,000 bus., of which quantity Europe will take about 3,000,000 bus.

The Modern Miller says:

"Favorable weather for harvesting has enabled farmers to push this work and cutting of wheat is nearing the northern sections of the winter wheat belt. Threshing is becoming general in the central sections and returns indicate an irregular yield, but while low yields of lightweight wheat are numerous good yields are plentiful. In some sections the prospects are beyond expectations. The prospects are for a considerably larger winter wheat crop than last year."

Liverpool closed ½d to ¾d higher, Paris ½c to 1c lower, Berlin ¼c higher and Budapest ½c lower.

The July option closed ½c higher in Duluth, ⅝c lower in Chicago, ¾c higher in Minneapolis, ⅛c lower in New York, ⅜c lower in St. Louis, ½c lower in Kansas City and ⅝c lower in Winnipeg. The September option closed ⅝c lower in Duluth and Kansas City, ⅛c lower in Chicago, 5-8c lower in Minneapolis and St. Louis and ⅜c lower in New York. The October option closed ⅝c lower in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅝c lower in Chicago and ⅛d to ⅜d higher in Liverpool.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—There was a quiet opening in wheat, with values unchanged. Offerings were light. The weakness in American markets yesterday was offset by the slight shipments from Argentina. Following the opening, firmness developed and shorts became nervous on the less favorable weather and crop reports from Russia, and prices advanced ½d. Toward midday, however, the market became dull and support was less pronounced; prices eased, losing part of the advance, with a poor demand for spot. At this time the market was quiet and from ½d to ¾d higher than yesterday.

"Corn was quiet, with opening prices unchanged. Later support developed on the light Argentine shipments, and at midday the market was ½d to ⅝d higher."

Car receipts at Duluth were 57 against 49 last year, and at Minneapolis 168 against 311 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 225 gainst 360 last year. Chicago received 6 against 22 last year. Winnipeg received 166 against 201 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 262,000 bushels; last year 468,000 bushels. Shipments 105,000 bushels; last year 317,000 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 136,000 bushels.

Primary receipts of corn were 488,000 bushels; last year 624,000 bushels. Shipments 140,000 bushels; last year 1,694,000 bushels. Clearances of corn were 32,572 bushels.

Wheat was quiet during the session in Duluth. July wheat was in good demand and closed higher. It opened ⅛c lower at $1.03⅛, advanced to $1.04⅛, declined to $1.04⅛ and closed there, a gain of ⅛c over yesterday. September wheat opened late at 89½c, advanced to 89⅝c, declined to 88c and closed there, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¼c lower and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2½c over July for No. 1 northern.

Flax was easier at the end of the session. July flax opened ⅝c higher at $1.22¾, declined to $1.21½, rallied to $1.22, declined to $1.21⅜, reacted to $1.21¾ and closed at that price, a loss of ⅝c from yesterday. September flax opened ¾c higher at $1.20⅝, declined to $1.19¾, rallied to $1.20¼, declined to $1.19¾ and closed at $1.20, a loss of ½c from yesterday. October flax opened unchanged at $1.19¼, declined to $1.18¼, rallied to $1.19 and closed at $1.18¾, a loss of ½c from yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

Following were yesterday's closing prices:

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Excellent Weather in All Sections Gives Wheat an Easy Tone.

Chicago, June 26.—Excellent weather all over the wheat belt gave an easy tone to the wheat market on the local exchange at the start today. Trading was of small volume. July opened 1⅛@1¼c lower to a shade higher at 85¼c to 85⅜c and sold at 85c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 231 cars against 138 cars last week and 342 cars a year ago.

Bearishness prevailed throughout the session and the close was weak. July sold off to 84⅞c and closed with a net loss of ⅜c at 84⅞@85c.

Corn was dull and the market started weak owing to larger receipts than estimated, and to good weather for the crop. July opened ¼@⅜c lower at 67½c to 68c and held within that range. Local receipts were 337 cars, with 14 of contract grade.

The market continued weak and closed at almost the lowest point, July being off ⅝c at 67⅜c.

Oats were easy, chiefly on account of the dullness in other grains. There was considerable profit-taking in the July delivery. Others were quiet. July opened unchanged at 45½c, sold off to 44⅝c and held at about that figure. Local receipts were 126 cars.

A 10c decline in hogs weakened the market for provisions, and trading was dull and featureless. September pork opened 2½c lower at $14.72½ and sold off to $14.65. Lard started 2½c lower at $9.02½ and sold at $9. Ribs were unchanged to 2½c lower, at $8.27½@8.30.

Close—Wheat: July, 84⅞@85c; September, 85@85c; December, 86⅝c. Corn—July, 67⅝c; September, 68⅜@67½c; December, 68⅝c. Oats—July, old, 44¾c; July, 43⅝c; September, 38⅝c; December, 29@31½c; May, 41½c. Pork—July, $14.50; September, $14.75; October, $14.77½. Lard—July, $8.90; September, $9.07½; October, $9.15. Ribs—July, $8.07½; September, $8.32½; October, $8.40. Rye—Cash, 76. Barley—Cash, 56@61c. Casn wheat—No. 2 red, 89@91c; No. 3 red, 87@89c; No. 2 hard, 89@91c; No. 3 hard, 87@89c; No. 1 northern, $1.04@1.07; No. 3 spring, 85c@$1.00. Corn—No. 3, 68c.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Early Strengthening of Wheat Prices Did Not Hold for Long.

Minneapolis, June 26.—Cables were moderately higher when Liverpool opened today, but the local tone was indifferent to weak and while there was an early strengthening in old July it amounted to little and other options did not hinge. The chamber adjourned at noon in respect to Former President Cleveland. The railroads brought in 168 cars against 311 and in Duluth 57 against 49. The appearance of these smaller Minneapolis receipts with a decrease in stocks that looks like 75,000 bushels for the week brought into the pit a few small orders for old July and so little was doing in that option that in filling them prices advanced quickly a cent or more, but the deferred futures, September and December were affected very slightly. Near the close very favorable crop news came in and it was predicted that new spring wheat will be received in Minneapolis as early as Aug. 15. This broke the market all around. July wheat opened at $1.03⅜; high, $1.04⅜@6⅜; low, $1.03⅜; close, $1.04⅛. Old July high, $1.03¾; closed, $1.04⅞. September opened at 87¾c; high, 88c; low, 87¼c; close, 87⅝@⅞c. Old September closed at 88½c. The cash market had good tone and top grades were in better demand, but low grades showed no improvement. No. 1 northern sold at 3@3½c over new July and No. 2 northern, 1@1½c over.

Close: No. 1 northern, $1.06⅞ spot; $1.06⅞ to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.04⅞ spot; $1.04⅞ to arrive. No. 3 wheat, $1.01@1.03.

No. 3 yellow corn, 68¼@68¾c; No. 3 white oats, 46⅝@46⅞c.

No. 2 rye, 68¾@70¾c.

Barley receipts today, 16 cars. The market was quoted generally about steady, although some sellers thought about 1c lower. Good malting barley was in fair demand, low grades dull. Close, 48@55c.

Flax receipts, 38 cars; No. 1 sold steady at the Duluth July price. Close, $1.21½.

Mill stuffs firm on the basis of $18.00 for bran in bulk.

On advances in July wheat strengthened the tone of the flour market, but not to the extent that millers felt warranted in advancing prices and while the flour market was quoted strong, yesterday's quotations stood unchanged. Demand is moderate. Shipments, 44,560 barrels. First patents, $5.70@5.85; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $4.20@4.30; second clears, $3.50@3.60.

Liverpool Grain.

ON CARNEGIE.

Andrew Carnegie, at a dinner that was recently given in his honor in New York, told an amusing story at his own expense.

"I was traveling on an English railway Londonward last year," he said, "and had chosen a seat in a non-smoking carriage. At a wayside station a man boarded the train, sat down in my compartment, and lighted a vile clay pipe.

"'This is not a smoking-carriage,' said I.

"'All right, governor,' said the man. I'll just finish this pipe here.'

"He finished it, then refilled it again.

"'See here,' I said, 'I told you this wasn't a smoking-carriage. If you persist with that pipe I shall report you at the next station to the guard.'

"I handed him my card. He looked at it, pocketed it, but lighted his pipe nevertheless. At the next station, however, he changed to another compartment.

"Calling a guard I told him what had occurred, and demanded that the smoker's name and address be taken.

"'Yes, sir,' said the guard, and hurried away. In a little while he returned. He seemed rather awed. He bent over me and said apologetically:

"'Do you know, sir, if I were you I would not prosecute that gent. He has just given me his card. Here it is. He is Mr. Andrew Carnegie.'"

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Shares Bought Sparingly and Close Was Steady and Quiet.

Prices Showed Some Uplift as Short Session Neared End.

New York, June 26.—Only a narrow vibration of prices resulted from the small opening dealings in stocks today. Slight gains and losses were mixed. Rock Island preferred, St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred and American Locomotive preferred advanced 1. Missouri Pacific declined ⅝.

Stocks were bought sparingly on a rising scale, but none of the prominent issues covered a range exceeding ½ and the entire movement soon flattened out. General Electric advanced 3. Northwestern and Erie first preferred 1¾ and Westinghouse Electric and Great Northern Ore Certificates 1.

Dealings were trivial and fluctuations unimportant in view of the ending of the session at 1 o'clock. United States Pipe and Utah Copper rose 1⅜, Pressed Steel Car 1¼ and Consolidated Gas 1, Western Union declined 1. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed steady and quiet. Prices showed some uplift as the shortened session drew to its end. Union Pacific the Hill stocks, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, Reading, New York Central and Sloss-Sheffield Steel rose 1, Louisville & Nashville and Illinois Central 1¼ and Reading second preferred 2. American Car sold off 1¾.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co.: Good buying of Osceola was the feature today. The stock was very scarce and advanced easily. A small speculative interest is springing up in the market and Wyandotte on the strength of the good showing at the lake, but we do not think it will go far.

The Cotton Market.

New York, June 26.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 9 points to an advance of 2 points, near months being lower under notices estimated at about 20 000 bales while the later positions were sustained by covering and steady cables. After a rally to about last night's prices old crop months sold off to a net loss of 12@13 points under continued liquidation during the middle of the morning, while the new crop held within a point or two of last night's finals.

Spot—Closed quiet, 10 points lower. Middling uplands, 11.40; middling gulf, 11.85. No sales. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: June, 9.87; July, 9.86; Aug., 9.82; Sept., 9.61; Oct., 9.27; Nov., 9.12; Dec., 9.13; Jan., 9.08; Feb., 9.08; March, 9.08.

St. Paul Livestock.

St. Paul, June 26.—Cattle—Receipts, 400 easier, $15@25 lower; steers, $4.00@6.70; cows and heifers, $3.50@5.50; stokers, $1.00@4.50; feeders, $3.25@4.40. Hogs—Receipts 2,500 weak and $5 lower; range, $5.75@6.95. Sheep—Steady and unchanged.

Treasury Balances.

Washington, June 26.—Today's treasury statement: Available cash balance, $239,382,880; gold coin and bullion, $31,458,405; gold certificates, $31,915,160.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., June 26.—Barnett & Zimmerman report: Demand light with receipts in proportion. Trade shows the usual summer shrinkage, with cheaper grades off $5 to $10 per head. Good young drafters are holding up well, country orders have fallen off very noticeably.

Drafters, extra	$170@245

New York Money.

New York, June 26.—Close: Money on call easy, 1@1¼ per cent; ruling rate, 1¼; closing bid, 1; offered at 1¼. Time loans dull and firm, 60 days 2@2¼ and 90 days 2@2½; six months, 3½. Prime mercantile paper, 3@3½. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87 for demand and at $4.85.65 for 60 day bills. Commercial bills, $4.85¼@¼; bar silver, 54¼c; Mexican dollars, 46c; government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

New York Grain.

New York, June 26.—Close: Wheat—July 94⅜c; September, 92⅜c; December, 94¼c. Corn—July, 78c; September, 68c.

Chicago Livestock.

A LAWYER WORSTED.

Gresham P. Lyons of San Francisco discussed in New York the other day the movement for the protection of witnesses in law courts that he has recently inaugurated.

"We know," said Mr. Lyons, "how witnesses are browbeaten and insulted by lawyers the country over. Well, I want to see them protected from such damnable treatment. If my movement succeeds, a cross-examining lawyer will no more think of insulting a respectable witness than of insulting the judge."

Mr. Lyons smiled.

"But I saw one of those contemptible and insolent lawyers worsted the other day—by a boy, too.

"The lawyer, after trying in vain to shake the boy's evidence by fair means, resorted to foul ones—proceeded to enrage and shame the lad, hoping thus to confuse him into contradictory statements.

"'Now, son,' he said. 'I want to ask you about your father.'

"'Yes, sir,' said the boy.

"'Haven't certain damaging reports been circulating about your father lately?'

"'I dunno what reports you mean.'

"'Isn't there a report current to the effect that your father beats his wife and robs hen roosts?'

"'So you say,' the boy muttered sullenly.

"'So I say,' shouted the lawyer, 'and now I ask you if that report isn't true? Come, speak up! Don't stand there like a ninny! Is it not true that your father beats his wife and steals chickens?'

"'I dunno,' said the boy. 'You'd better ask him. He's sittin' over there on the jury.'"

HOW TO GET A COMPLEXION.

Washington Herald: Senator Flint of California has a complexion that many a pretty girl might envy, and his general appearance of vigorous health is a matter of frequent comment. His residence in the salubrious atmosphere of California was put down as the cause of his ruddy appearance and sturdy well being until a few nights ago, when a newspaper man who wanted to ask the senator a question of more or less importance called him up at his home about 10 o'clock.

He was informed that the senator had retired; moreover, the information was vouch-safed that the senator had retired at 9 o'clock; that he always retired at that hour, and that he could not be awakened under any circumstances.

So now everybody who wants a complexion like the senator knows how to achieve it.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—
Default has been made in the conditions of a certain purchase money mortgage, executed and delivered by Lizzie B. Briggs of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagor, to Charles H. Graves of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee, dated April 8th, 1907, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on April 10th, 1907, at 11:30 A. M., in Book 234 of Mortgages, on page 102.

Said default consists in the non-payment of Four Hundred Fifty Dollars ($450.00) interest for the year ending April 8th, 1908, and in the non-payment of the taxes for the year 1907, amounting to Two Hundred Eight and 70-100 Dollars ($208.70), the first half thereof, amounting to One Hundred Four and 35-100 Dollars ($104.35) having been paid by said mortgagee and being a part of the debt secured by said mortgage.

By reason whereof, said mortgagee has elected to exercise the option given by the terms of said mortgage, to declare and does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by, said mortgage with all accrued interest thereon, to be now due and payable.

There is claimed to be due and is actually owing at said mortgage at the date of this notice, the sum of Nine Thousand Six Hundred Forty-seven and 54-100 Dollars ($9,647.54), principal and interest and taxes paid, and no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

NOW THEREFORE, Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: Lots numbered eighteen (18), twenty (20), twenty-two (22), West Fourth street, Duluth Proper, First Division, according to the plat thereof on record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State on Tuesday, the 4th day of August, 1908, at 10:00 A. M., at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and taxes paid and Seventy-five Dollars ($75.00) attorneys' fees, stipulated for in said mortgage, in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption within one year from date of sale, as provided by law.

NO RESULTS YET.

Charlotte, N. C., June 26.—The Democratic state convention began its third day's session this morning. The delegates were on hand early despite the well nigh all night session which failed to break the deadlock in the gubernatorial contests. When the convention opened it faced a record of 14 ballots without result. Congressman W. W. Kitchin was in the lead over Locke Craig of Buncombe county and Col. Ashley Horne of Johnston county.

CLAIMS TAX IS DOUBLE

J. B. Cotton Protests Against Assessment of North Butte Co.

Claims That Company Has No Property Assessable by City.

Joseph Cotton appeared before the board of review at the city hall this morning and protested against the personal property assessment against the North Butte Mining company, a Minnesota corporation with mining properties in Western states. The board will announce its decision on the matter this afternoon or tomorrow.

The North Butte people say it is not fair to tax personal property of the company in Duluth, when it is already paying taxes on extensive properties in other states. It is argued that this is something in the nature of double taxation. The assessment against the North Butte company, as made by the city assessors, was $5,000.

"If mining companies making their headquarters in Duluth are compelled to pay taxes in this fashion, they will make their headquarters somewhere else, and all hopes of making Duluth a mining center will be done away with," said Mr. Cotton. "There are several companies that will be affected, just the same as North Butte. The law providing for taxing corporations was not intended to be enforced against concerns like a mining company, but was aimed at public service corporations, such as street car and lighting companies, whose franchise is worth more to them, perhaps, than the actual property in possession of the company. The whole valuation of a mining company is its mines. There is nothing beyond that. One tax is enough."

CIRCUS DAY IN DULUTH

Ringling Brothers' Parade is Witnessed by Immense Crowds.

Circus day! Ringlings' circus day! And bright sunshiny, Duluth summer weather.

There may have been a few Duluth people who were unable to leave their homes this morning and line Superior street to watch for the circus parade, but they were the unfortunate exceptions.

For eight or ten blocks through the business section of the city Superior street was so crowded that it was almost impossible for a pedestrian to get through. Any circus is sufficient excuse for a crowd to gather, but in Duluth the Ringling circus has always been a favorite, and has established a reputation for having the best street parade of any of the big exhibitions that visit the city. The combination of Ringlings' circus and a beautiful day was therefore most effective, and the crowds must have gladdened the hearts of the circus managers.

The parade was fully up to the Ringling standard, and delighted the thousands of spectators, although it was very late in starting and did not reach Fifth avenue until after 12 o'clock.

The people of Duluth and surrounding country have been waiting for the Ringling Brothers' circus. Everybody in this section of the country has come to look upon this show as their favorite tented enterprise. Even from the time several years ago when the show was not nearly so large as it is today the people of Duluth were impressed with the high moral tone of the Ringling Brothers' show and growth has not interfered with the morals about the Ringlings' tents. The circus is twice as big as it was fifteen years ago, but it is run with the same regard for the welfare of the public. The entire concern is policed and perfect order is maintained. The system of management is superb. Great things are accomplished with quiet efforts, the results in many instances being nothing short of startling.

An inspection of the Ringling show in its entirety serves to impress one with its many exceptional features and above all its tone of elegance.

Big Attendance Tonight.

Indications point to a big attendance tonight. The mammoth tents have been made as comfortable as a liberal outlay of money can make them. There is every convenience for the spectator. The program contains acts that meet with the favor of all classes of showgoers. It is evident that expense has not curbed the Ringlings in providing their performers. Everything about the show is costly and in this connection it is interesting to know that the investment in a circus today is not less than 30 per cent more than it was fifteen years. Horses alone have advanced 100 per cent.

Crowd at Afternoon Performance.

The crowd at the performance this afternoon was very large.

The pick and flower of Europe and America are in the circus program proper. Most of the artists are appearing in America for the first time. Gymnasts, acrobats, equestrians, jugglers, athletes, contortionists, dancers, wire performers and other arenic specialists are stirring factors in the stupendous bill of ring acts this season.

The double somersaulting automobile is the climax of the performance. This act is baffling to human understanding and the most thrilling ever witnessed. The automobile, in which is seated Labelle Roche, shoots down a steep incline, and at an upward turn in mid air, leaps skywards, turns over completely twice, and lands with shuddering impact upon a spring platform and thence wheels with a terrific momentum into the hippodrome track.

SUPERIOR NEWS

Says Lilley Kicked Him.

A. C. Lilley, proprietor of a merry-go-round outfit at the carnival in Hammond park, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with assaulting Alfred Bossard, who was employed by Lilley up to yesterday. Bossard claims that Lilley owes him money and that when he went around with the constable to serve attachment papers, Lilley kicked him off the grounds. Lilley furnished $50 bail.

Two Men Get Damages.

A verdict awarding damages in the sum of $600 to Make Harson against the Northern Pacific Railway company was returned in the circuit court yesterday. Harson sued for $2,500 damages for injuries received while working for the company last February. A verdict for $225 in favor of David McKee against the railroad company was also returned yesterday. McKee sued for $1,000. He claimed that he was injured through the neligence of the railroad company.

Insurance Men Meet.

A meeting of the Superior Underwriters' association was held yesterday and plans were formulated for a reorganization. Articles of incorporation have been sent to the secretary of state and a meeting will be held June 30 to elect officers. The following directors have been chosen: E. B. Jerrard, W. V. Wedd, Harrie Rogers, C. A. Erhart, C. H. Sunderland, Roy Agen, F. J. Wildner, B. S. Loney and Frank Crumption. The organization is for the mutual benefit of the local fire insurance men and has control of insurance rates in the city.

MINERS ASK A FLAT RATE

Birmingham, Ala., June 26.—Fighting against being crushed out entirely, the union miners of Alabama have made a counter proposition to the commercial coal operators, the only interests recognizing their organization, for a flat rate of 55 cents perton for mining during the next twelve months.

The contract has heretofore been a sliding one and on a basis of iron quotations, ranging from 47½ cents to 60 cents per ton for coal digging.

The rate has never been under 57½ cents. The commercial coal operators recently demanded the same rate as paid at the non-union mines, 47½ cents per ton.

Theer are about four thousand union miners in the state and the contract expires July 1. All the iron companies employ non-union miners, and are getting all the labor they need.

MILWAUKEEANS FILE COMPLAINTS

Washington, June 26.—Charging five railroads with discrimination in favor of Chicago as against Milwaukee in the grain trade, the chamber of commerce of Milwaukee today filed with the interstate commerce commission two complaints asking the government to require the same through rates on all kinds of grain from stations on the defendant roads in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota to Milwaukee as to the Chicago markets.

One complaint charges that the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific in connection with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul enforces the same as the Chicago through rates on wheat and barley from the three states named to Milwaukee but refuse to apply these to corn, oats and rye, thus giving undue preference to the Illinois market. The other complaint is against the Illinois Central, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwestern. It says these roads had through rates on all grain from the three states named to Milwaukee identical with the tariff to Chicago but that on Aug. 1 last the defendant roads arbitrarily cancelled the then existing Milwaukee through rates and advanced the rate to Milwaukee, which the complaint alleges, is unjust and prohibitory.

COMPLAINTS ARE FILED IN COURT

Several papers in the suits brought by M. H. Alworth and C. A. Duncan against Herman L. Hartenstein, promoter of the local carbolite company, and by the American Carbolite company against the Electro Chemical & Development company, were filed in the district court this morning.

All three actions were started last spring, M. H. Alworth suing Mr. Hartenstein for $20,000 on a promissory note alleged to have been executed last September, Mr. Duncan suing for a large amount on an alleged loan, and the carbolite company suing the electro company for over $48,000, alleged to have been paid out or obligated for the construction of the carbolite plant. It is alleged that the electro company agreed to pay for the construction, but did not carry out its contract.

With the complaints in two cases are filed writs of attachment in all three cases on shares of Continental Investment company stock claimed to belong to Hartenstein, and on capital stock of the carbolite company claimed to belong to the electro company.

Helmick Coming to Duluth With the Famous Rheumaline Remedies

Coming Here for An Indefinite Time With the Rheumaline Remedies Which Cure Rheumatism.

Helmick will be in Duluth Saturday, June 27, for the purpose of introducing the famous Rheumaline Remedies so much talked of by the medical fraternity throughout the state. It seems almost too good to be true, but it is a fact nevertheless, that Helmick will be in Duluth at the Lyceum Pharmacy, and have a heart-to-heart talk with sufferers of Rheumatism. He has been in the East for some time, where his success has been phenomenal, and now he proposes to accomplish the same results here that he has there, with the Rheumaline Remedies.

We have all heard much of him. People from all sections are devoting columns of space to him, and the remarkable cures made by the New Discovery. Cases after cases that were pronounced incurable, are reported every day, that have been cured with the remedies he represents, and the enthusiasm displayed by the public wherever Helmick goes with the Rheumaline Remedies, is astonishing. Mrs. L. B. Mattix of this city, with her usual enterprise, succeeded in inducing Helmick to come to Duluth, and it can now be announced that he will be here on Saturday, June 27, '08, sure.

All persons afflicted with Rheumatism, in any of its forms, or Uric Acid troubles, that are unable to get relief from any other preparations, should call on Helmick at once. The wonderful Rheumaline Remedies he expounds, remove those horrible Rheumatism pains as if they were a myth, and the nice part of it all, is that they leave no unpleasant effect.

Helmick can tell you more about Rheumatism than anyone you have ever talked with, and he knows it from A to Z. His discourse on the subject is intelligent and filled with such sincerity that after you have seen him, you will wonder no longer why he is so popular.

Helmick wishes to prove that the Rheumaline Remedies cure where all other treatments fail. He offers these remedies on a positive guarantee that unless they benefit, the cost of same will be refunded.

One more claim Helmick makes, and that is, that these remedies are the only scientific preparation for Rheumatism in the world. They are a perfect solvent of Uric Acid in the secretions of the blood, and do not hurt the stomach nor affect the heart, but treat your whole system throughout and put your body in a normal and healthy condition.

This being true, it puts this medicine in a class by itself. It costs nothing to talk with Helmick, so come at once. He will remain in this city only a short time. He will be at the Lyceum Pharmacy, commencing Saturday, June 27, to establish his claims, and a conversation with him will be appreciated by you, for he certainly knows about Rheumatism, and the medicine he is introducing. It has merit and honesty in every ingredient of its composition.

STEAM ROLLER DOING ITS WORK WELL AND JACOBSON WILL SECURE NOMINATION

FRANK JAY GOULD.
Youngest Son of the Late Jay Gould, Who Has Been Sued by His Wife for Absolute Divorce. Young Gould Inherited $10,000,000 From His Father's Estate.

Machine is in the Hands of Experienced Engineers.

Expected That Convention Will be a Very Tame Affair.

Friends of Governor Johnson Urging That He Run Again.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the creation of the big steam roller at Chicago, little steam rollers have sprung up all over the country, and excellent working models of the big machine are now at work in Minnesota flattening out obstructions and smoothing out the pathway on which the old ring leaders in the Republican party art trying to travel back into power. The steam roller has been doing its turns in many of the counties in the state and has been building a fine road for J. P. Jacobson and the slated ticket to travel. The roller has not hit all the candidates hard enough yet to make them admit that they have been flattened out, but the process will probably be completed before next Wednesday is over, unless Young, Heatwole and the rest of them can form a strong enough combine to stop the progress of the big machine or make the smooth working rig slip a cog. But the machine

NICHOLAS LONESOME

Fear That the Czar is in Danger of Going Insane.

Lives in Dread of Death —Surrounded by Police Agents.

Paris, June 27.—Fear that the czar is in danger of going insane and not any special desire on his own part is said here to be the real reason why Emperor Nicholas is to leave Russia for a series of visits to Vienna, Rome and Paris.

The czar is known in Russia now as "Nicholas the Lonesome," and the many months of actual imprisonment at Tzarskoe-Selo, interrupted only by his short visit to Reval, have played havoc with the mental condition of the unhappy ruler, who lives in constant fear of death, though he has no desire to live but for his love of his wife and children.

How great is the fear of Nihilistic plots at the czar's court is shown by the fact that the little town of Tzarsko-Selo is spied upon by 1,500 police agents. That is to say there is more than one to each house and besides these there are more than 400 detectives guarding the imperial palace, aside from the military guards.

The telephone service between Tzarskoe-Selo and St. Petersburg is under constant surveillance and every conversation is written down and submitted to the chief of the secret service, Gen. Dedjulin, who also opens every letter and reads every postal card which arrives at the postoffice.

The czar himself is indeed a lonesome man. With the exception of the Grand Dukes Peter Nicholaievitch and

BIG TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

J. J. Hill Sells Great Falls Plant to Ryan and Others.

Great Falls, Mont., June 27.—James J. Hill and associates have sold the property of the Great Falls Water Power & Townsite company to John D. Ryan and others for $1,500,000.

John D. Ryan, managing director of the Amalgamated Copper company and John G. Marony, president of the Daly Bank & Trust company of Butte and the First National bank of Great Falls are the heaviest stockholders. The purchasers deny that the Amalgamated Copper company has any interest in the deal.

The property embraces all of the holdings of the Great Falls Water Power & Townsite company; an immense water power plant at Black Eagle dam and the entire generating power of the Missouri river for a distance of twelve miles from the city of Great Falls, east to the "big" falls.

It is probable that an immense electric generating plant will be constructed at the "big" falls.

MARKING OF OLEO CANNOT BE CHANGED.

Washington, June 27.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, after hearing representations on oleomargarine and dairy interests regarding the placing of the government mark of inspection upon oleomargarine today announced that the recent regulation requiring the mark as promulgated by the department must stand, the statute being clear and admitting of but one construction.

CLUB WOMEN IN ACCIDENT

Axle on Tally-ho Coach Breaks Near Newport, R. I.

Newport, R. I., June 27.—The 2,000 club women who came here from Boston yesterday for an outing, went back greatly saddened as the result of an accident, which caused serious injuries to three of their number. Many of the visitors, who were delegates to the biennial session of the general Federation of Women's Clubs in Boston, had been enjoying carriage drives about the city, and it was the occupants of a tally-ho coach, bound for Easton's Beach, who met the disaster. When the coach had reached the middle of a steep hill in Bath road, one of its forward axles suddenly broke, and almost instantly the vehicle collapsed. Nearly all of the women were caught beneath the coach, which turned completely over. Private automobiles carried the injured to the Newport hospital. Most of those taken to the hospital were able to leave after they had been treated for bruises and other minor injuries, and only three remain. These are: Mrs. Henry Wynn, Malden, Mass., suffering from a fracture of the skull; Mrs. Bennet F. Davenport, Watertown, Mass., collar bone and three ribs fractured; Mrs. Sundean, Lincoln, Neb., ankle dislocated and suffering also from bruises and cut about the head. The condition of Mrs. Wynn is regarded as very critical

THAW SECURES ANOTHER WRIT

Designed to Prevent His Removal Back to Matteawan.

Poughkeepsie, June 27.—Harry Thaw has obtained a new writ of hebeas corpus, returnable before Supreme Court Justice Mills at White Plains at 10:30 Monday morning, when counsel for Thaw will endeavor to secure a jury trial to pass upon his mental condition.

The writ was served this morning on Undersheriff Townsend in anticipation of Judge Morschauser's signing an order at 11 o'clock this morning recommitting Thaw to Matteawan. The writ has the effect of holding Thaw here until Monday, when the sheriff will be required to produce him before Judge Mills at White Plains.

BRYAN APPROVES OF SULLIVAN FOR V. P.

Omaha, Neb., June 27.—A special to the Bee from Des Moines says: Jerry B. Sullivan today received a letter from W. J. Bryan saying that the suggestion of Mr. Sullivan for vice president on the Democratic ticket met with his approval; that he knew of no reason why Mr. Sullivan should not be named for vice president, and knew that he was eminently fitted for the position. He assures Mr. Sullivan that if his ambition runs in that direction, he will be glad to add his name to the available list. Mr. Sullivan will second the nomination of Bryan at the Democratic convention at Denver, having been selected for that honor by Mr. Bryan himself.

REVOLUTIONISTS ATTACK MEXICAN TROOPS AND A FIERCE BATTLE RESULTS

JOHN D. RYAN,
Who, With Others, Has Bought From J. J. Hill and Associates for $1,500,000, the Great Falls (Mont.) Water Power & Townsite Company's Holdings.

Forty or Fifty Men Are Killed and Many Wounded.

Fight Occurs at La Vacos Near the American Border.

Soldiers Finally Repulse Assailants After Forenoon's Engagement.

El Paso, Tex., June 27.—In an encounter between revolutionists and troops of the Mexican government at the town of La Vacos, in Coahuila, Mexico, near the border across from Del Rio, Tex., early yesterday between forty and fifty were killed and the commandant of the Mexican troops was badly injured, according to advices received here last night. The story of the battle as received here is as follows:

The quarters of the Mexican officers and barracks were fired upon by the attacking band, and the assault centered upon the federal customs house. Forty troops were finally assembled.

In the disorder following the initial attack upon the barracks and the discovery that the quarters of the soldiers were burning, the revolutionists captured about sixty horses belonging to the Mexican cavalry.

At the customs house the troops made a determined stand and the fighting lasted all morning without intermission. It is said that 5,000 shots were exchanged.

The revolutionists cut all telephone and telegraph wires leading to Las Vacos and thus prevented the besieged town from sending for reinforcements.

After heavy firing until about noon the attacking party was repulsed and communication was established out of Las Vacos. Troops were rushed to the place and were expected to arrive there late last night. Later advices from Del Rio say that a second outbreak was feared before the arrival of assistance.

The sheriff of Valverde county, this state, telegraphed Governor Campbell of Texas that the revolutionists had been repulsed and that a number of them were fleeing to the United States.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE

Between President, Taft and Wright at Oyster Bay.

Will Probably Close Taft's Direction of War Department.

New York, June 27.—Secretary Taft and Gen. Luke E. Wright left for Oyster Bay this morning to confer with President Roosevelt regarding the assumption of the war portfolio by Gen. Wright and on the chairmanship of the national committee. There was a conference here yesterday and early this morning with Gen. C. R. Edwards, United States army, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department. Gen. Edwards did not go to Oyster Bay.

It was expected that Frank B. Kellogg, member of the national Republican committee from Minnesota, would accompany Mr. Taft and Gen. Wright on their trip to Oyster Bay, but he was not with them when they left the hotel, and it was not known whether he would join them at Oyster Bay.

LA DUE INDORSED

By Cass County Republican Convention for Representative.

Walker, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the county convention held Thursday, Cass county sent an uninstructed delegation to the state convention. Charles La Due of Pine River received the indorsement of the convention, for representative for the Fifty-second district.

INSANE MURDERER MAKES AN ATTEMPT TO GET AWAY

Flood Sets Fire to Bed Clothes in Hennepin County Jail.

Attempts to Overpower Jailer When He Responds to Call.

With Assistance of Trusties, the Maniac is Secured.

St. Paul, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Flood, the half-witted slayer of A. J. Camden, who is now lodged in the Hennepin county jail awaiting trial next September, made a desperate attempt to escape from his cell last night by setting fire to his bed clothes and some paper, and then trying to overpower Jailer Peter Morton, who arrived on the scene in response to yells of "fire!" from several of the other prisoners.

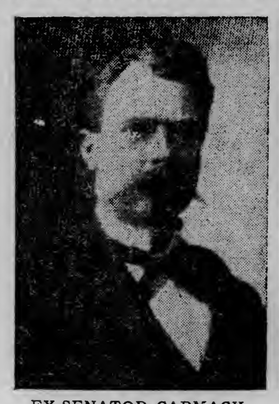

C. J. Olson, a prisoner who occupied the cell next to that of Flood, heard him tearing up some paper. This attracted his attention and upon listening he also heard him tear some cloth, which proved to be the mattress on his cot. Everything was quiet for a short time, and then he noticed the reflection of a flame on the window pane. Smoke began to pour out into the corridor and Olson sounded the alarm, which was joined in by several of the other prisoners.

Made Lunge at Jailer's Throat.

When Jailer Morton opened the cell door Flood rushed by him. He then

CANDIDATES FOR AND AGAINST PROHIBITION IN TENNESSEE

EX-SENATOR CARMACK.

GOVERNOR PATTERSON.

Nashville, Tenn., June 27.—The campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination between ex-Senator Edward W. Carmack and Governor Malcolm R. Patterson closed last night in a whirlwind finish and today the primaries are being held throughout the state. The campaign has been one of the bitterest and most partisan in the history of the commonwealth. State wide prohibition has been the leading issue. Mr. Carmack, who stands for state wide prohibition, has the support of the Women's Christian Temperance union, while the Liberal element in the state is most solidly behind Mr. Patterson.

Today thousands of the most prominent women of the city, accompanied by children, paraded the streets of Nashville singing temperance songs and hundreds of them were at work at the polls. Meetings at which prayers were offered for a Prohibition victory were held.

DROVE SPIKES IN THE TRACKS

Pennsylvania Passenger Train is Deliberately Wrecked.

Hazleton, Pa., June 27.—One man was killed and eight or ten passengers were injured at Lofty, on the mountains twelve miles from here, early today by the wrecking of a Pennsylvania passenger train which is believed to have been deliberately derailed by the spiking of the tracks. The dead man is the engineer. The injured passengers were brought to the state hospital here.

DULUTH MAN INTERESTED IN NEW TOWN SCHEME.

Brainerd, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Keene & McFadden, and J. C. Jamieson of this city, and Leon E. Lum of Duluth, have purchased the farm surrounding the Northern Pacific water tank at Klondike, the second station east of Brainerd, and will plat a town between the railroad tracks and Lookout lake. Several parties have announced their intention of locating in the new town, and the promoters have much faith in it, as it is within two miles of the Rogers-Brown Ore company's new shaft, where they have found large amounts of good iron ore.

HIGHEST FOR MANY YEARS

Zumbro River Doing Incalculable Amount of Damage.

Houses, Cattle and Swine Swept Away by the Flood.

St. Paul, June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thousands of dollars damage has been done in Wabasha county by the flood now raging in the Zumbro river. The stream is higher than it has been for twenty years.

The water rose thirty feet in a few hours and houses, cattle and swine were swept away.

The Wabasha-Faribault road is demoralized. It will be some time before it is in running order. Crops are almost a total loss.

Over the state recent floods are receding. At Mankato the Minnesota river has fallen six inches.

The cellars in the houses of Lake Crystal all contain water from the recent rains. Crystal Lake has been greatly raised and has overflowed the dykes erected several years ago.

At Henderson the Minnesota river is higher than since 1881. One of the approaches to the iron bridge near the town was washed away Friday.

Mississippi Rising Again.

The Mississippi is rising rapidly. It is possible, but not probable, that the stage of fifteen feet reached two weeks ago may be equalled.

Today the official river gauge indicated a stage of 14.7 feet, seven-tenths of a foot more than had been expected and predicted by the weather bureau.

The water was still rising quite rapidly when the gauge reading was taken, and weather officials do not expect that the crest of the rise will be reached before this evening or tomorrow. Definite predictions could not be made, it was said, until telegraphic reports had been received from points along the Minnesota and Missouri rivers.

Cutting Away Banks.

Bird's Point, Mo., June 27.—The flooded Mississippi is rapidly cutting away the banks here, and the railroads are confronted by a grave situation. The Iron Mountain railroad tracks have ben undermined and torn up, and the water is nearly up to the Cotton Belt right-of-way.

The Cotton Belt round house has been destroyed by the flood.

Officials of both roads will hold a conference next Tuesday, in an effort to get relief from the government.

Falling at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 27.—The flood stage of the Mississippi river here marks 33 feet today, a fall of 1.9 feet during the past week, the crest of the flood having reached 34.9 feet last Saturday. The fall has been .4 of a foot in the past twenty-four hours.

A number of larger steamboats, which have been unable to pass under the Merchants bridge during the high water, are expected to resume making trips on the upper river within a few days, if the decline steadily continues, as seems probable.

Going Down at Omaha.

Omaha, June 27.—For the first time in three weeks the Missouri river began to fall. The stage at Omaha was 19 feet, a fall of an inch in twenty-four hours. At Sioux City it is down two-tenths, and at Blair four-tenths. Forecaster Welch does not anticipate any further rise.

AMERICAN TEAM SAILS.

New York, June 27.—When the steamer Philadelphia sailed for Europe today it carried practically all of the American team of athletes who are to compete in the Olympic games at London. In many quarters it is regarded as the strongest and most representative body of athletes ever sent from America to compete with Europe's pick.

RABBI CALMLY AWAITS DEATH

Bitten by a Mad Dog and Doctors Fear the Worst.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 27.—Waiting calmly for the fate that his physicians say threatens him, Rabbi L. Friedman is at his home, the victim of a rabid dog.

"If God desires to call me at this time I am ready to go," the rabbi said.

"I do not feel any pain yet and I trust the treatment will prove successful. But the doctor seems to be discouraged."

The crisis in the disease will be reached perhaps tomorrow. The physicians refuse to make a hopeful forecast.

Rabbi Friedman is 64 years old and has retired as an active pastor. While walking in East Thirty-fifth street several days ago he was attacked and bitten upon the left hand by a dog.

Injections of serum have been given him regularly in the hope that rabbies and lockjaw could be prevented.

NO CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Appeal to Supreme Court Will Thow Out Both Hull and Prouty.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 27.—It now seems certain that there will be no regularly nominated Republican candidate for congress in the Seventh Iowa district and both Capt. Hull and Judge Prouty may go on the ballot as independents.

It is more than probable that the Dallas county contest will be carried to the state supreme court and there is but slight chance of it being decided before the November election. In that event there will be no Republican candidate and if either Judge Prouty or Capt. Hull wish to make the race for congress they must get on the ballot by petition as independents.

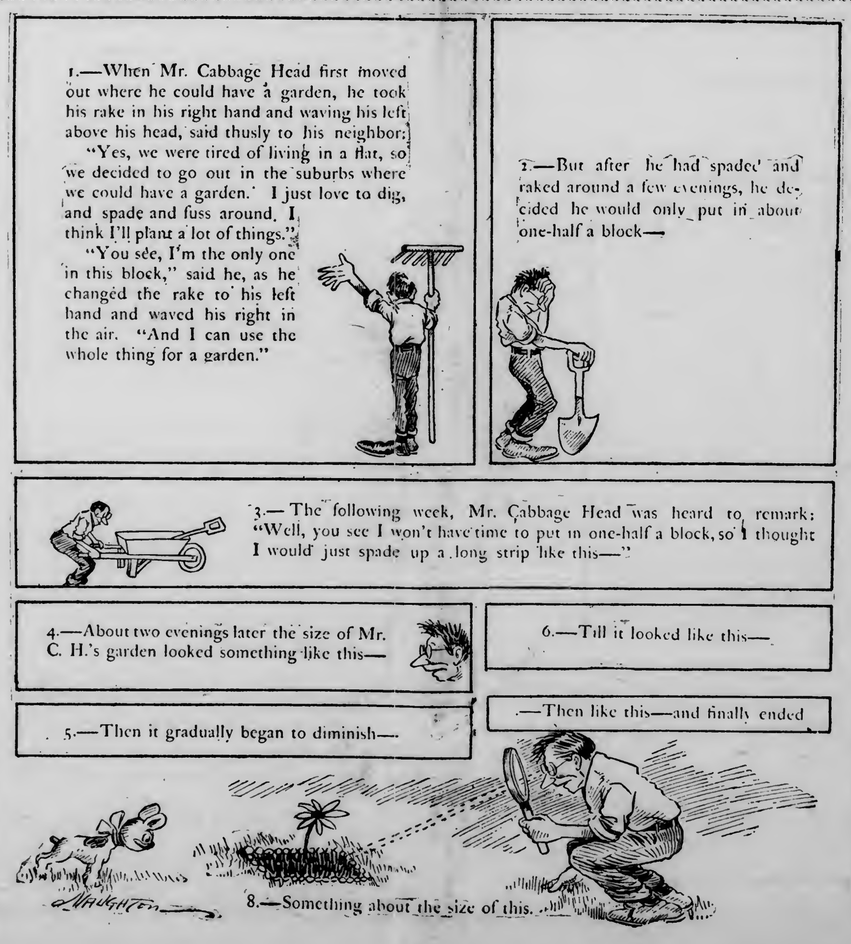

NO VIOLATION OF STATE LAW

Though the Georgia Legislature Will Travel Free on Train.

Atlanta, Ga., June 27.—Much discussion has been caused all over the state by the decision of the Georgia legislature to visit Chattanooga, Tenn., as a body on Friday and Saturday, traveling on a private train furnished free by the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway. This railroad is the lessee of the Western & Atlantic railroad, which is state property, and which the legislature will inspect.

The trip is unique, not only in the fact that the legislature has decided it is not violating the state railroad pass law and the interstate commerce law, because it is traveling over its own property, but in that for the first time in the history of Georgia the house and senate, from page boy up, and as a body, will leave the confines of the state. Chattanooga, it is understood, wishes to lease part of the property of the Western & Atlantic for street purposes, and for this reason Georgia will send its legislature to that city.

SPENCER'S.

BRYAN FAVORS GRAY FOR RUNNING MATE

Chicago, June 27.—William Jennings Bryan has again made known his wishes regarding his running mate on the Democratic national ticket, and the man of his choice is Judge George Gray of Delaware.

He has made this known to several members of the national committee who have dropped off at Lincoln on their way to Denver, the latest recipient of the information being Norman E. Mack of New York.

Although the Democratic leaders announced publicly that the Denver convention is not to be operated from Lincoln, several of them have found it convenient to drop off for a chat with the man they expect to nominate, and Mr. Bryan's wishes and desires have been carried on to the convention city in segments, and from there transmitted back to Chicago and New York.

TALKS ON PLAYGROUNDS.

Mayor Explains Purpose of Association to West Duluth Club.

Public playgrounds were the chief subject of discussion last evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. Mayor Haven, president of the Duluth Playgrounds association, at the invitation of the club, addressed the members on the subject, explaining the purpose and the plans of the association.

Mayor Haven was last night asked to address the club, as a result of a communication received at the last meeting, asking the club to give its support to secure a playground for West Duluth. After the mayor had finished speaking, a discussion followed, which resulted in a resolution being introduced, stating that the club is heartily in favor of the playground plan, and calling for a committee to be appointed to meet with the association for the purpose of obtaining a playground for West Duluth. The resolution was laid over until next meeting, when some action will be taken on it.

Another matter which was of interest last evening was a communication from the Wrenshall Progressive Farmers' association, asking the club to call a public good roads meeting to consider the building of a road from Fond du Lac to Wrenshall. Such a road has been a matter of interest to West Duluth for some time. At one time the club promised to lend its support to the building of such a road, but it was learned that a state road was to be built, which would be just what was wanted. The state road did not materialize. It is believed that a road to Wrenshall would be of material benefit to West Duluth. Superior has offered to assist in building a road, and is anxious to get the farmers' trade, but the people of Wrenshall wish to keep the road in their own state. A committee was appointed to investigate and report.

In regard to the securing of names of available candidates for the school board, the committee appointed to look after the matter reported that none whom they had approached in West Duluth seemed desirous of running for the places left vacant. The club did not indorse a candidate, but drew up a resolution, urging all West Duluth citizens to bring in the names of any whom they wished to see on the board.

CREEK CAUSES DISPUTE.

Neighbors Have Legal Battle Over Course of Stream.

A little creek that crosses the alley at the rear of their properties and runs down the line, between their houses for about one-third of the distance, has caused two Hazelwood families to get into a legal battle.

Flora Anderson, who owns lot 1, block 5, Hazelwood Park addition to West Duluth, has started suit to have Mrs. Guldbore Peterson, who owns lot 2 in the same block, restrained from building any more stone walls that will divert the water of the creek on to the plaintiff's land. Mrs. Anderson claims that Mrs. Peterson has already constructed a water tight wall that throws some of the water on to the plaintiff's land and that unless Mrs. Peterson is enjoined she will continue to do irreparable damage to the Anderson property.

HUMAN TORCH.

Lamp Explodes and Ignites Clothing of West Duluth Boy.

The explosion of a kerosene lamp in the store of Fred Dellborn, at 5405 Ramsey street, at about 8:30 o'clock last evening, ignited the clothing of Fred, his 13-year-old son, and sent the lad screaming for help out into the street.

Louis Sliger and Jerry Mikiska, who fortunately happened by just then, caught the boy in his mad flight, and with their bare hands beat out the fire.

Young Dellborn was taken to Dr. Payette's office by the two young men and his burns, which were not of a serious nature, owing to the prompt action of Sliger and Mikiska, were dressed.

A small fire resulted from the explosion of the lamp in the residence, but was easily extinguished by the fire department.

DOG FIGHT CAUSED TROUBLE.

Lad Who Tried to Separate Them Got Black Eye.

For striking Marvy Santete, who was trying to separate two fighting dogs by throwing a pail of water on them, William Fisher was this morning arraigned before the West Duluth justice court, where he was found guilty by Judge Flack and fined $10 and costs.

The trouble started over a dog fight, which Santete thought had gone on long enough. Santete claims that he threw a pail of water on the dogs to try to break the fight up. This was resented by Fisher, who struck him in the face, badly blackening his eye. According to Fisher's story, he was pulling on one of the dogs when his hand slipped and struck the lad, and the blow was entirely accidental.

MINISTERS SEE HARBOR

Threatening weather is not daunting the ministers in attendance at the Methodist Episcopal district conference, who are taking their outing on the bay this afternoon. Covered launches took the party on board after luncheon, and the visitors are being shown the beauties and industries of the local waterways.

The features of the session of the conference this morning, in the First M. E. church, were discussions of the Indian mission work and an address by Prof. Watson Cooper of Hamline university. Rev. F. Pequette of Wake-em-Up Bay and Rev. Martin Martin of Sawyer, both of whom are Indians themselves, and in charge of Methodist missions in this district, told of their progress in a most interesting fashion. They described conditions among their people before the missions were established, and recited the changes for the better in modes of living and in morals since the work was begun. Reports were heard on all the Indian missionary work in the district.

Prof. Cooper's subject was "The Preacher." He told the assembled clergymen what ministers should be, in his opinion.

The following were licensed to preach in the district, which is the last step taken by the ministers before ordination: Orris Suver, H. C. Meklenberg, Lewis Keast, E. A. Wood and J. Nankeulis.

Rev. W. E. J. Gratz of Two Harbors and Rev. E. C. Clemans gave interesting accounts of what transpired at the Methodist Episcopal conference at Baltimore.

Rev. T. A. Stafford, one of the pastors of the Litchfield district of the Northern Minnesota district, read a paper on the last chapters of the Hebrews.

Among the other visitors at the conference are Rev. F. B. Cowgill, superintendent of the Marshall district of the Southern Minnesota conference, and Rev. R. J. Johnson of International Falls.

Judge Ensign will speak this evening on "The Juvenile Court."

Last evening Prof. Watson Cooper gave a delightful talk on "English Literature and Art."

WILL LEARN EXACT COST

Stump Pulling Contest to be Held at Wrenshall.

To determine the exact cost of clearing a piece of land by use of a stump-pulling machine, and at the same time settle the question of superiority among machines of the kind, a stump pulling contest will be held on B. C. Church's farm at Wrenshall, Minn., beginning a week from Monday, and continuing for a week.

The contest has been arranged by J. K. Flynn of 211 West Second street, and Mr. Church, and it will be a unique affair. Six machines have been entered, and each will be given five acres of land to clear. Exact records will be kept of time consumed, labor and expense incidental to the work, so that the exact cost of clearing each piece of land will be known at the finish. The judge's decision will be in favor of the most economical and efficient machine, and all of the companies entered are taking big interest in the contest.

Stump pulling machines are meeting with favor from farmers, on accoun of their simplicity and the thoroughness with which they do their work. The contest will bring out some interesting points in regard to them, and the machines in action will doubtless attract a large number of interested parties to the scene.

DEATH OF TWO CLUB WOMEN ANNOUNCED.

Boston, June 27.—After today's session of the convention of the National Federation of Women's clubs had been formally called to order, President Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker of Denver announced the death of Mrs. Henry Wynn of Malden, Mass., as a result of injuries received in the coaching accident at Newport yesterday afternoon, and also the death from heart disease of Mrs. Sarah Shute of Coon Rapids, Iowa, on board the steamer Mount Hope, near Newport, yesterday. Mrs. D. N. Cooley of Iowa, honorary vice president of the general federation, offered a prayer for the deceased delegates.

WORKED ON BIG SCALE

Range Forgers Had Book of 908 Worthless Checks.

Local Authorities Looking for Three Suspicious Characters.

A cleverly laid scheme to do a wholesale business in the way of fleecing the business men of Northern Minnesota has been unearthed at Hibbing by the discovery of a check book containing, originally, 908 checks of the "Minnesota Steel Mining Company," issued at the "Monalac Mine," at Mountain Iron, and payable at the First National Bank of Duluth. The book was found Thursday in a pile of snow fences belonging to the Missabe road by some boys who were playing in the vicinity.

The discovery of the check book throws additional light on the scheme of the forgers who passed a large number of worthless checks on business men on the range, and made their getaway before detected.

Shortly after the boys found the book, a man is said to have been seen hunting for something in the vicinity of the pile of boards. The incident was not reported to the police for some hours, however, so that they did not have an opportunity of tracing the fellow.

On the same day that the check book was found, three suspicious characters, for whom the authorities have since been looking, left Hibbing for Virginia. The police have an idea that the men were connected with the forgeries, and that one of them went after the book in its hiding place and then fled as soon as he discovered that it was missing.

The three men were arrested at Virginia in the railroad yards, directly after their arrival there. Two of them were lame and the other had one arm missing. One of the party is said to be a printer. As there was no charge hanging over them in Virginia the men were released. They are said to have taken the train for Duluth. After they left Virginia the authorities got wind of the forgeries at Hibbing and suspicion was directed toward the three men who had been released. Chief Troyer of this city was notified, but up to the present time the men have not been located.

The checks are of the usual form, well executed and stamped with a date, but the paper is of a somewhat cheaper grade than that usually used by persons doing business with banks. It is believed that many more of the bogus checks were passed by the swindlers than have been reported. The forgers seemed to follow a system in disposing of them. They bought a quantity of goods at various places, running up large bills and paying for the same with the checks, receiving from $20 to $40 in change. One of the men is said to have purchased a large bill of household furniture at Hibbing on the installment plan, giving a check for $70. Thirty dollars were taken out by the dealer as the first payment. The forger gave a fictitious address and the furniture dealer spent the greater part of one day attempting to locate the house.

There is no such concern as the Minnesota Steel Mining company and no such mine as the Monalac mine.

Deputy Sheriff Owen Gately brought two or three samples of the bogus checks to the sheriff's office this morning.

Electric Flat Iron Most Helpful Invention to the Busy Housewife.

Perhaps no invention of modern times is so helpful to women who do their own ironing as the electric flat-iron. Hundreds are already in use in the city and the demand is increasing. They do away with the persperation process over a hot stove and make ironing a pleasure. Those who have one would not part with it. As the hot weather approaches it is a real necessity. The Duluth-Edison company will gladly demonstrate the advantages of the electric flat-iron to all who call at the company's office, 216 West Superior street.

HAVE LATENT POWERS.

All People Endowed With Spiritualistic Vision, Says Lecturer.

"All of us are endowed with latent powers of spiritualistic vision. The growth of religion was originally based upon these powers. In some they have been cultivated to greater degrees than in others. Spiritualism is a religion and its growth is rapid," says Mrs. R. S. Lillie of Santa Barbara, Cal., who is lecturing here. She declares that spiritualism has been misrepresented through fakers and charlatans.

Mrs. Lillie says that things beyond the comprehension of laymen can be performed by spiritualists. She says that eminent scientists have admitted this, after a thorough investigation of the subject. Spiritualism she describes as an intercommunion between the dead and the living. It is a communion between the souls of those who have passed beyond and the souls of the living.

The new thought is an outgrowth of spiritualism, according to Mrs. Lillie. Spiritualism possesses a philosophy of its own, and does not consist merely in demonstrations of seeming impossible feats, as many people believe. Anna Eva Fay was once a recognized spiritualist, declares Mrs. Lillie, but the true spiritualists believe that she has employed a divine gift in ways that are not favored by the spiritualists.

Circus License High.

Some of the city officials expressed annoyance this morning over the report that Duluth was not charging a high enough circus license fee. It is claimed that Duluth is known as one of the few high-license towns of the country. Circus men assert that $250 for one day's performance is excessive, and an extensive correspondence carried on by the city officials with other municipalities of the country last fall proved it to be a fact that in only a very few instances was a license fee charged as high as here in Duluth. In some towns larger than Duluth a circus may exhibit a week for $25, it is claimed. Philadelphia, Chicago, Milwaukee, and various other large cities charge a fee much below that charged in Duluth.

Picturesque Prisoner.

Wearing a several weeks' growth of whiskers, an old blue suit trimmed with epaulets and ragged braid and a hat pinned up at the side with a green cord and with a green feather stuck in the crown, Peter Bergen presented a very striking appearance when taken into the probate court this morning to be examined for insanity. Bergen has been in the county jail about three weeks awaiting the grand jury action. He has a notion that he is a high official in some army. He also has hallucinations of a peculiar and startling nature. Bergen is 45 years old and single. He has been in this country twenty-two years.

FAREWELL PROCTOR PARTY

Given by Two Clubs in Honor of Miss Shabert.

Proctor, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lemon club and the Oh My club gave a farewell party for Miss Mabel Sherbet at the home of Miss Mabel Rich last evening. Miss Shabert has been visiting her brother here for the past few months and leaves for her home in St. Peter, Minn., Monday.

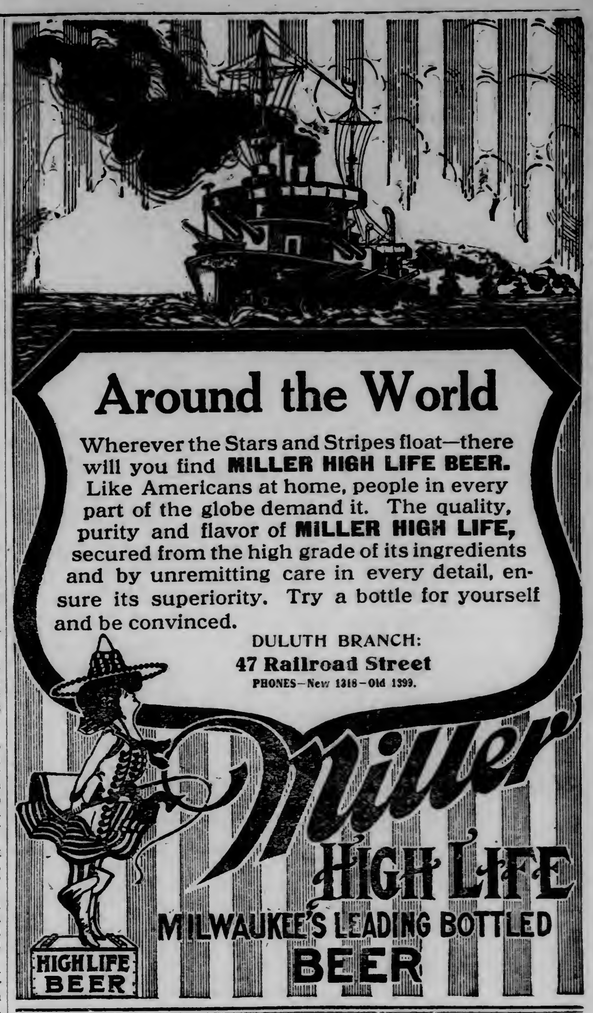

Mrs. F. C. Irvine and daughter, Elsie, of St. Anthony Park, St. Paul, arrived today for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Welch.

W. B. Harris, who has been employed in the offices of the Missabe road here the past two years, has resigned his position and will go into the bakery business. Mr. Harris expects to have things in readiness to open about the first of next week. His place of business will be located in the building owned and formerly occupied by Mrs. Wood.

Murray Quick has purchased James McGilvary's house on First street, East side, and moved into it this week. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reed, who have been living in McGilvary's house, have exchanged with Mr. and Mrs. Quick and moved into the house they vacated.

Thomas Cass, who was called to his home in Escanaba, Mich., by a death in the family last week, returned to Proctor Wednesday.

A surprise was created in ore circles Monday when the announcement was made that fifteen firemen could obtain leave of absence until April 1, 1909, upon request. Many firemen have been hanging around here unable to work, but waiting for the ore rush and in a short time a number of men had applied. They left early in the week in all directions, under the condition that they couldn't return to work and take younger men's jobs unless firemen were needed.

IS THERE A PIANO IN YOUR HOME?

IF NOT, perhaps it's because you thought you couldn't afford one—but you can. Our one price system makes it easy for you to own a fine, high grade, beautifully toned instrument, at such a low price, that it would be foolish to pay that amount in other stores for the sake of owning a cheaply made instrument. Our low priced, one price system actually saves you from a hundred and twenty-five to a hundred and seventy-five dollars on an instrument.

Isn't this worth considering? Can you afford to waste that much on the old fashioned "dickering plan" of buying a piano where they make all kinds of prices, give all kinds of "discounts for cash," and sell you any kind of an instrument.

A piano bought here cannot be purchased for less, even at the factory—our price is absolutely the lowest cash price possible. You don't need to pay all cash—we can arrange easy terms of payment—and still save you enough money to start a nice bank account.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

To The Voters of the Fifty-First Legislative District:

I hereby take the opportunity of announcing that I will be a candidate for the nomination at the primaries, in September, for representative from the Fifty-first Legislative District. Some time ago I refused to be a candidate, upon the request of my Duluth and Two Harbors friends, and my refusal appeared in the Duluth News Tribune. After that time I was besieged with requests to become a candidate, and after taking the matter into consideration for some time, I finally consented to enter the field. The former chairman of the Lake County Republican Committee, who is now a member of the new committee, when my decision was made known to him, informed me that he had already requested another to become a candidate, thinking that I would not consent to be a candidate. Part of the Lake County Republican committee, also some of the delegates to the county convention, have since informed me that they did not know that I was a candidate, and have offered me their support. Had I known that the aforesaid member of the Lake County Republican committee had asked another, I should never have consented to enter the field. Nevertheless, I have filed, and in justice to my Duluth and Two Harbors friends and to myself, I am a candidate for the nomination of representative from the Fifty-first Legislative District.

I make this explanation owing to the fact that an article relative to this matter appeared in the Duluth News Tribune, June 27th, 1903, which might be misleading to the voters of the aforesaid district.

Yours respectfully,
DAVID H. LAWRENCE.

SYLVAN PLAYS.

Hunter's Park Will be Scene of Two Novel Entertainments.

The Glen Avon women are planning to give another Sylvan play this year in the Hunter woods.

The "Midsummer Night's Dream" last summer was such an artistic success that many requests have been made for a similar entertainment this year.

A. F. M. Custance is preparing two short plays which will be given on July 21. One will be "The Flower of Yeddo," with special Japanese features, and the other a children's fairy play, "Snow White," both musical in nature. The young people of Hunter's Park will take part.

COAL MOVES WITH RUSH

Past Week Record Breaker in the Local Harbor.

Return Cargoes Scarce and Boats Go Down Light.

While down-bound ore cargoes continue fairly numerous, the bulk of the activity in the local harbor is occasioned by the arrival of coal cargoes, of which there have been more during the past week than for any week since the season opened. Reports from lower lake ports indicate that large quantities of coal are on the docks waiting to be moved and, since the independents decided to put all of their boats in commission, there is plenty of tonnage to care for the coal movement.

Within the past twenty-four hours, ten coal boats have arrived for Duluth and Superior docks and now nearly every dock in the harbor has some sort of a boat unloading. Some of the boats will be forced to wait for positions, as a few of the docks have more than they can care for.

Down cargoes are none too numerous boats for coal are taking chances on getting a cargo for the return trip. The F. B. Wells and the Maitland, both of which brought coal, left yesterday for lower lake ports light. Carrying coal to Duluth at 20 cents and returning light isn't profitable business, and unless the ore movement becomes heavier within the next week or two, some of the independent boats may be taken out of the trade entirely for a time.

The grain movement is practically over for a month or so. There is a little export wheat moving, but it is in small quantities, which can be carried easily by the line boats. The rush of coal will be greater when the new grain crop begins to move, for return cargoes will be more plentiful and the trade more profitable.

Marine Notes.

L. W. Wakely, ex-president of the New Jersey legislature, and John F. Fisher, clerk of the committee of marine and fishers of the house of representatives, who were passengers on th G. F. Baker on her last trip, left last night for home on the new steamer Upson.

The new steamer William H. Wolf was in port yesterday on her maiden trip. She went to the Missabe ore docks to take a cargo.

Dr. E. W. Fahey, marine physician for this district advised St. Mary's hospital authorities that they have been awarded the contract for caring for marine patients at this port.

Capt. Dan Christie, Anchor line agent here, who has been ill for some days, is so far convalescent as to be able to sit up and he is expected to appear at the office in a few days.

The harbor was strewn today with charred timbers, which floated out from the fire at Elevator D, yesterday.

The steel steamer Manitou, operated by the Northern Michigan Transportation company sails tonight from Chicago for Mackinac Island and intermediate points on her first trip of the season.

THEIR WORK COMPLETED

Eight Health Inspectors Will be Laid Off Wednesday.

Eight health inspectors now employed by the city will be laid off the first of the month by Health Commissioner Patton. The three or four remaining will be able to handle the work during the summer. It is customary to appoint extra men in this department every spring, for there is a rush of work then, when everybody is cleaning up yards, houses etc., or is supposed to be cleaning up.

The city is reported to be in a sanitary condition now. The health department has been active and the citizens have taken a great interest in the cleaning campaign, going ahead with the necessary work without any special prompting.

It is likely that the inspection force of the Duluth health department will be increased again in the fall, although along a somewhat different line. Commissioner Patton is advocating a medical inspection of the schools to be established here, and if his recommendations are carried out, one or two inspectors will be engaged to make a medical inspection of the public educational institutions of the city. The matter probably will be brought up at a meeting of the school board in the near future.

"Medical inspection of schools is destined to become one of the most valuable adjuncts to the health and school departments," said Commissioner Patton yesterday." The necessity for such a system has been repeatedly demonstrated, and its practical value has been proven wherever tried.

"This system is the result of repeated epidemics of the contagious diseases of childhood, traceable in most instances to the schoolroom, where the diseases are spread by the close contact of the children and their wearing apparel in the cloak rooms. A glance at monthly reports of communicable diseases verifies this, for as soon as vacation begins, the number of contagiou cases immediately drops to a minimum.

"Although the movement is of recent growth, yet as early as 1842 the authorities of Paris appointed physicians to look after the school children, and about half a century later Philidelphia gave it a trial, but the opposition was so strong that the effort was abandoned. Chicago, Boston, New York, and other American citizens have established the system, it is meeting with excellent results. I think Duluth would do well to follow their lead."

Flying Machine That Flies.

In the early part of this year a very successful test was made with a large aeroplane over a circuitous route. It rose, dipped and turned just at the operator's will, but, notwithstanding this degree of perfection, this mode of travel still seems a long way off. Many successful tests have been made with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past fifty-four years in cases of stomach, liver and bowel disorders. In fact, it has cured so often after other remedies had failed that it is looked upon by prominent physicians as a very superior medicine. It cures and prevents sick headache, belching, heartburn, poor appetite, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, billousness, kidney ills and malaria, fever and ague. Don't hesitate about trying it, because we guarantee every bottle to be absolutely pure.

GAVE ACID TO BABE.

Red Lodge, Mont., June 27.—Advices from Basin, Wyo., just across the Wyoming line from here, tell of the death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Judkins through a mistake made by the mother in administering carbolic acid to the child in the belief that it was soothing syrup. The mother is crazed with grief and fears are felt for her recovery.

TO INSPECT IRON MINES

A Party of Fifty-Three Librarians Coming to Duluth.

Will Go to the Range on a Special Train.

Fifty-three librarians from all parts of the United States will arrive in the city tonight from Minneapolis, coming in over the Omaha road on the Twilight Limited, and will remain in Duluth and vicinity until Monday evening, when they will leave for the Michigan Copper country. They have been attending the meeting of the American Library association at Lake Minnetonka. Miss Jean Poirier of the local library returned home this morning.

Among the more prominent members of the party are H. O. Brigham of the state library at Providence, R. I; George S Goddard of the state library at Hartford, Conn.; Frank P. Hill of the Brooklyn N. public library, Lyman P. Osborn of the Peabody institute, Peabody, Mass., and Reuben Thwaites of the historical library at Madison, Wis.

An interesting program of entertainment has been provided for the party while in Northern Minnesota. Headquarters will be at the Spalding hotel. A special train will be run to Eveleth out of Duluth tomorrow morning, leaving here at 8 o'clock. The special is furnished through the courtesy of W. A. McGonagle, vice president and general manager of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road. At Eveleth the party will be met by Capt. John Hearding, who will convey the visitors by carriage to the Fayal mine, and later to the Spruce and Adams mines. The special is due to return to Duluth at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. There is no special program for the evening. The Y. M. C. A. management has extended all the privileges of the institution to the men of the party while they are in town.

At 10 o'clock Monday the librarians will be guests at the Commercial club on a drive around the boulevard, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the library boards will have special street cars waiting to take the party around the city, from West Duluth to Lakeside. From 2 o'clock until 3 the visitors will be at the state art exhibit, where a special committee will have them in charge. All will be provided with one of the Commercial club handbooks with its interesting description of Duluth, and containing Proctor Knott's famous speech. They will leave over the South Shore for Northern Michigan Monday evening, and Wednesday will board the steamship North West at Marquette for a trip down the lakes.

Miss Poirier says there were about 700 in attendance at the meeting, which was a very successful one in every way. Following is the list of the librarians who will compose the party that will visit Duluth.

Mrs. C. P. Barnes, Simmons library, Kenosha, Wis.; A. L. Bailey, Williamton Institute; H. M. Utley, Jacksonville public library, Jacksonville, Fla.; H. O. Brigham, state library, Providence, R. CITY BRIEFS

Thwing-Stewart Co.; Printing, Binding, Engraving; 316-12 W. 2nd St. 'Phones 114.

Music Every Evening.
Flaaten's orchestra every evening at Spalding Cafe during dinner hour.

Lineman Is Hurt.
William Curry, 40 years old, a lineman employed by the Duluth-Edison Electric company, sustained a broken leg and several bad bruises yesterday afternoon as the result of coming in contact with a live wire while working on a pole near Seventh avenue east on Superior street. He was knocked from the pole to the ground by the shock. He is now at St. Mary's hospital.

Looking For Son.
Chief of Police Troyer yesterday received a telegram from Mrs. Mary Englehart of Brazil, Ind., asking him to locate her missing son in time to notify him that his father's funeral will occur at Brazil Sunday afternoon. She says the young man, who is a machinist, came to Duluth to look for work. The father was killed Thursday, and since then frantic efforts have been made to locate the missing son. The police were unable to find him yesterday.

Bergen May Be Insane.
Peter Bergen, an inmate of the county jail who was brought down from the range three weeks ago to await action of the grand jury on a serious charge, is to be examined as to his sanity in the probate court this afternoon.

Asks For New Trial.
Among the special term matters to be heard in the district court this afternoon is a motion by Jacob Klitz for a new trial of the damage case brought against him by Mrs. Olga Bergman of Hibbing. Mrs. Bergman sued Klitz for alleged attempt at assault and for taking undue liberties with her. She claimed that he forced his attentions on her while the Bergmans were renting a hotel building from Klitz. The case has been tried twice, Mrs. Bergman getting damages in both instances. The first time she got $5,000 and the last time something over $4,700. It is understood that the motion for a new trial will be based largely on affidavits tending to impeach Mrs. Katz, the star witness for Mrs. Bergman.

Larsen Case Dismissed.
The civil action brought by L. A. Larsen against J. D. La Motte to recover a commission on a real estate transaction, has been settled and dismissed from the district court.

City Drops Case.
City Attorney Wilson has dismissed in the district court the condemnation proceedings started by the city to secure lots 49 to 56 inclusive, block 198, Third division, for a reservoir site.

Will Lead Simple Life.
Alec Green and Andrew Ojala of Hibbing and Mike Cochran of Virginia were brought down from the range this morning to spend thirty days in jail for drunkenness.

Must Keep Peace.
Bert Quigley was put under $250 bonds by Judge Cutting in municipal court this morning as a guarantee that he will keep the peace for three months. He will be placed in jail for that length of time if he is unable to furnish the bond. Mrs. Quigley and son, Carl, claim he threatened to assault them and do them great bodily harm, and asked that he be brought into court and placed under bond. The woman claims her married life has been very unhappy, and that Quigley has handled her roughly, using much abusive language for years.

Married at the Lenox.
Ernest W. Foote of Two Harbors, well known on the range, and Sarah Chandler were married in the parlors of the Lenox late Thursday by the Rev. Alexander Milne. They left for a honeymoon trip immediately after the ceremony.

Joyland on the Point.
"Joyland on the Point," the old White City under new management and ownership, will open July 4, with T. P. Getz in charge. The new features, with which Mr. Getz is to entertain Duluth people this year, are being installed in the amusement place, which will be better than ever this year. Dances are being given in the big pavilion every Wednesday and Saturday for the present and there will be dancing every evening after the formal opening.

Will Visit Sand Island.
Unless the weather conditions prevent, the Minnesota Naval Reserves will leave on the training ship Gopher this evening for a short cruise down the south shore to Sand Island. The sailors will return Sunday evening.

Caught Many Trout.
Postmaster Guy A. Eaton, William Eaton, his brother, and Dr. W. R. Bagley put in one day this week fishing at Grand Marais and returned with their baskets filled with brook trout of a good size. They went up on the Wednesday boat and returned on the Thursday night boat. They report the fishing at its best on the north shore.

C. A. Aldeen Will Preach.
C. A. Aldeen, formerly pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church, will preach tomorrow morning and evening at the Bethel Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and Third street.

Pupils' Recital.

LAND AGAIN WITHDRAWN

The hopes of applicants and entrymen on lands in the Northern Pacific indemnity grant were raised and lowered into the depths again—all in a few short hours yesterday. About 20,000 acres of land involved were ordered placed in the public domain yesterday and just when the land officials here were preparing to enter them in the books a telegram arrived suspending action and tying them up again, leaving the situation as it had been for months.

The grant of the land in question was cancelled some time ago and counsel for the railroad company made application for a rehearing. The motion was denied, but another motion for a review was granted and in consequence the lands were withdrawn from entry for sixty days.

The sixty days expired June 15 and counsel for the company had taken no action. Under date of June 23 the commissioner directed the land office officials to admit the lands to the public domain. The letter was received yesterday and the telegram suspending action was received within an hour afterwards.

Every square inch of the land involved has been entered upon, either under the timber and stone act or as a homestead. The entrymen and applicants are waiting anxiously for the settlement of the case and the latest action of the department may hang it up for months again.

IGNORANCE AND NEGLECT

These Two Factors Cause More Deaths Annually Than All Other Causes Combined.

There are very few diseases now-a-days that some cure has not been found to overcome, if applied intelligently and in time, but the trouble is that most people do not consult a doctor about their "little ailments" until they have passed far beyond the stage of being inconsequential and have become, if not hopeless, at least, sufficient to impair the health of the patient permanently. Particularly this is so in the case of diseases from which men alone suffer, they appear to be extremely reticent about letting even an experienced scientist know of their sufferings until the extremity drives them to it, and then it is sometimes too late. Men who are suffering from any form of sexual disease should not delay an instant in laying the case before the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL EXPERTS thousands of such cases are laid before them every year and none leave their office without experiencing relief.

They specialize in this line and have devoted their whole lives to obtain every possible scrap of knowledge on the subject which might in any way further their cures. Their cases are conducted with absolute privacy, and the cure is guaranteed if they assume the case. It will be worth your while to come up to their offices at No. 1 West Superior street and lay your case before them, even though other doctors have pronounced it hopeless. A large number of the cases they treated during the past year were pronounced hopeless by others before coming to them, and were completely cured. If you wish to see the way in which the fame of these scientists has spread beyond th confines not only of the city in which their offices are, but of the state, you should call at the Institute and see the addresses of some of the patients who have come, in some cases, hundreds of miles, to leave the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, CURED. You would find cases of men from Bergland, Mich.; Cloquet, Calumet Mich.; Ballard, Wash.; Chicago, Bemidji and Aurelia, Iowa, and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with tumors and festering cancers, gallstones and ulcered legs or crippled from rheumatism. There are people who bear the mark of pain and suffering of long standing, people who have sought a cure for years without success, to find it at last in the office on West Superior street, which has taken in so many hopeless wrecks of humanity to turn them out virile and strong.

Nothing has a more depressing effect on the system than the slow insidious progress of some deadly sexual disease, it saps vitality from a man and robs life of all its brightness. Such are the men who are continually finding new health and brightened prospects at the hands of these Specialists. We cannot sufficiently impress upon you the need of haste in dealing with these diseases, delay even for a few weeks may increase the time required for a cure, to say nothing of the additional expense, pain and suffering.

If you detect the slightest signs of any form of sexual diseases in yourself do not delay an instant but come at once to the PROGRESSIVE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, NO. 1 WEST SUPERIOR STREET, and have your case examined. The cure will be guaranteed.

LOCATION

The Laura Consolidated Gold Mines company consists of twelve mines and mining claims, comprising about 240 acres of mineral ground in Grant county, N. M. The chief development is on the Laura mine. This consists of the main shaft, averaging 7 feet by 10 feet in the clear and sunk to a depth of 350 feet. Sinking is still being continued. An air shaft has also been sunk to the 200-foot level, connecting the four levels to that depth. There are six stations cut in the mine and drifts run each way on the vein for 400 feet in continuous ore.

WORK DONE

On Laura mine 4,000 lineal feet on development work or four-fifths of a mile of workings.

Main shaft 350 feet deep, air shaft 200 feet.
Six stations, 400 feet each, 2,400 feet.

25-foot Cross Cut. 100-foot Cross Cut.
500-foot Cross Cut. 75-foot Cross Cut.

On the other claims about 1,000 feet of work, making a mile of workings on the whole property.

ORE VALUES The ore varies in value from $5.00 to $1,500 per ton in gold and silver. Average shipments of about 1,500 tons recently sent to smelters and taken from all levels in the mines gave average returns of $20 per ton, the ratio being even in value, half gold and half silver. A thorough sampling of the mine, consisting of several hundred samples, gave average returns of $16 per ton. An average of $12 per ton is a conservative estimate throughout the mine.

CONCLUSION If you are desirous of improving your financial condition let us ask you to invest in the Laura Consolidated Gold Mines company while the opportunity is open to secure this stock at par, which will return to you a profit larger than one unfamiliar with the fortunes made in mining would believe.

We cannot impress upon you too strong that the stock of this great company, headed by Harold C. E. Spence, president, is being subscribed for at a most remarkable rate by conservative investors, many of whom are well versed in mining and know the great value of our property.

In order to provide funds for the erection of large mills and a cyanide plant on the properties of this company, a limited amount of treasury stock will be sold. Kindly do not overlook the fact that the allotment at par value is limited, and it is advisable to place your order with the sales agent at the earliest possible moment.

We trust you will accept our counsel, inasmuch as we know whereof we speak.

Black Mountain sold at $4 and closed at $4 asked.

SOCIALISTS ENTER FIELD

The Socialists have entered the state political field.

Announcement was made today that candidates for the state legislature, from the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first districts, would be nominated at a convention, to be held at 104 West Second street, a week from next Monday. A candidate for the office of sheriff will also be placed in the field, as well as a candidate for congress from the Eighth district.

The convention will represent all of the societies of the Eighth district. Each society is entitled to five delegates. It is probable that that about forty delegates will attend the convention. The convention will meet at 9 a. m. and will remain in session all day. The evening meeting will be at Flaaten's hall.

Every society in St. Louis county, it is expected, will have delegates at the convention. The Finnish as well as the English Socialistic societies will be represented.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED BEYOND

Creelman, Sask., June 27.—A. P. Kitchen, deputy minister of agriculture of this province, died today as the result of a sunstroke received yesterday while judging a plowing match.

Louisville, Ky., June 27.—Thomas Lord, 84, a retired druggist of Chicago, died at the home of his daughter here yesterday.

Thomas Connolly Dies.

A telegram received by Fred L. Ryan announced the death this morning of Thomas Connolly, state secretary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, who died at St. Mary's hospital, Minneapolis, from an acute attack of appendicitis. Mr. Connolly was well known in Duluth. He had been here often in connection with the work of the society, in which he was such an active worker, and had often spoken here and on the range. His death will cause sincere regret among his many friends in Duluth and on the range.

NEW GROCERY

Opened Yesterday at Third Avenue East and Superior Street.

Roderick G. MacKenzie and James McGhie, two of the best known grocery salesmen in the Northwest, have formed a partnership and opened a modern grocery in the new brick block at 301-303 East Superior street, opposite Seekins'. Both Mr. MacKenzie and Mr. McGhie have been associated with the leading grocery stores of Duluth for over twenty years, and will put the same careful attention and courtesy in their own business that has made them popular with every one.

Mac Kenzie & McGhie will carry a fine line of everything that is best in pure foods, and their prices will always be reasonable. Give them a trial order.

Will Discuss Bridges.

The appropriation for the repair and replacement of Duluth's bridges probably will come up at the council meeting next Monday evening. City Engineer McGilvray estimates that about $60,000 will be required to make all the needed improvements, but it is expected that not more than $30,000 will be appropriated for the purpose. This will provide for the most urgent repairs.

Alderman Bloedel will take his seat among the aldermen Monday and henceforth will take an active part in the doings of that body.

The garbage ordinance will be considered, and final disposition probably will be made of it. There will be a few saloon matters to engage the attention of the city fathers. The application for a saloon license at 11 East Superior street will come up. The application may be turned down.

Begin Street Extension.

Lanquist & Illsley, the courthouse contractors, have been awarded another contract on the extension of Second street, around the courthouse, and have started the excavation on the first part of the roadway, beginning on the Thomson property. The work is done now to avoid doubling the expense of excavating when the changes are made in the sewer system. It was expected that the contractors who have the changes to make in the sewer system would begin today on Fifth avenue, near the postoffice.

Next week the courthouse contractors expect to keep a day and a night crew on the work. Arc lamps have been placed to give all the light necessary, and the excavation work will be rushed along as fast as possible. Up to the present time the contractors have been working with a day shift only, as the buildings were not all removed from the site. The foundations of the old Spalding residence will be out today, so that there will be no further delay.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINNESOTA

WILL BUILD MORE ROADS

Two New Lines Planned to Construct Into North Country.

Companies Incorporated and It is Expected Work Will Start.

Thief River Falls, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Articles of incorporation for what is known as the Minnesota Air Line railway are published this week in the local papers. The purpose of the company is to build an air line from Thief River Falls to Roosevelt on the Rainy river, and this, the incorporators say, will be begun in the near future. The principal place of business is to be this city. The capital of the company is placed at $600,000, and the fee that the incorporators had to pay the secretary of state for the filing of the articles amounted to $275. The surveys have been already made, and Eastern capitalists are back of the promotion. The first officers are W. F. Hunt of Roosevelt, president; vice president, T. R. Hasley of Waterville, Me.; secretary, Ralph H. Hockwood, Iowa City, Iowa.

Railroad building in the northern part of the state is particularly active so far as the incorporation of new companies is concerned, and if recently launched projects are made good, the sparsely settled districts of Roseau, Beltrami and Kittson counties will have two new railways running parallel to the Great Northern from Thief River Falls north to the Canadian line. Following closely the incorporation of the Minnesota Air Line railway comes the filing of articles by the Northern Minnesota railway, of which the incorporators are Minneapolis men. The purpose of the company, as the articles say, is to build a road from a point in Warroad township in Roseau county to a point in Marshall county, on the Red river. This distance is sixty miles, and would pass through the villages of Warroad, Roseau, Badger, Pelan and Karlstad. The incorporators are George Seeley, Waldron M. J. Jerome and Hector G. Spaulding. The capital stock is fixed at $100,000.

OPEN NEW Y. M. C. A.

Cloquet's Handsome Structure is Given a Fine Send Off.

Cloquet, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Y. M. C. A. building erected here through the generosity of the various lumber and paper companies was formally opened yesterday afternoon and evening, and the affair was the event of the year. The building was thronged with visitors during the afternoon, and last evening fitting exercises were held in the Nelson opera house, in which Phil Bevis, general secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., and George D. McDill of Chicago, international secretary of the Y. M. C. A., were prominent speakers.

The program rendered last evening was as follows:

Overture ..... La Brosse orchestra.
Opening prayer ..... Rev. M. L. Hostager.
A Brief History of the Cloquet Y. M. C. A. ..... Hon. H. Oldenburg, Carlton, Minn.
Music ..... La Brosse orchestra.
Opening Address ..... George D. McDill, international secretary Y. M. C. A., Chicago.
Music ..... La Brosse orchestra.
Greetings by visiting association men....
Phil Bevis, general secretary, Y. M. C. A. Duluth, Minn.

Following the exercises at the opera house the audience adjourned to the association rooms for a reception and refreshments.

Akeley Man May Pay for His Folly With Life.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ole Steffson of Akeley, Minn., was nearly asphyxiated in his room in the Collins hotel Thursday, as the result of his ignorance of modern improvements.

When he went to bed at night he left the gas jet partly open. The only thing that saved his life was the fact that he had thrown the window open and opened the transom before he went to bed.

While, of course, he was rendered very ill it is not believed that the poisoning will prove serious.

The unconscious man was found in his room yesterday afternoon and hurried to the City hospital in the police ambulance. He arrived in Minneapolis Thursday.

Steffson is in a precarious condition and chances for his recovery are slight, according to attending physicians.

PIONEER EDITOR DIES.

Charles A. Bloomquist, Who Came to Minnesota in 1851.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles A. Bloomquist, aged 75 years, died at his home, 1970 Eleventh avenue south, late Thursday evening. He was a pioneer of this part of the Middle West, coming to St. Paul in 1851. He afterward moved to Carver, Minn., but for the last thirty years he has been a resident of Minneapolis. Mr. Bloomquist was the first president of the Svenska Folkets Tidning, afterwards engaging in the hotel business. He leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters, all of whom reside in Minneapolis. The names of the children are: Edward A. Bloomquist, C. Albert Bloomquist, Elmer V. Bloomquist, George L. Bloomquist, Mrs. J. B. Larson and Mrs. J. C. Larson. The funeral will take place at Carver, Minn., next Sunday.

DITCH FOREMAN KILLED.

Ivanhoe, Minn., June 27.—Albin Norse, foreman of the ditching crew employed by C. A. Lindskog, north of Ivanhoe, was struck on the head by the beam of a capstan yesterday and died within half an hour. Norse was of Swedish birth and unmarried. His parents reside at Sweden. An inquest will be held to fix the responsibility

MINNESOTA.

WAVING GRAINS WELCOME SIGHT

Cereals of All Kinds in Red River Valley Doing Finely.

Crookston, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another ideal week for the crops in the Red River valley has passed. A good rain the fore part of the week was followed by cool weather, and the last three days of the week have been very warm and the growth of the grain has been wonderful. The early oats are beginning to head and another week will see the earliest of the wheat headed out.

The uniform color of the grain has not been equaled in ten years past. From one end to the other the fields do not show a single spot. The crops in the low places are as good as on the high ground, and the rapid growth has shut out the weeds in practically all the fields, mustard being about the only foul growth that can be seen, and there is less of that than usual.

Corn is going to make the best crop this year ever raised. Though the corn planting was not as early as it has been; the moisture has come at just the opportune time, followed by warm weather, and as is the case with all vegetation the growth has been little short of phenomenal.

From all the branch lines the reports regarding the crop situation are the same and business is responding to the general feeling of optimism that is prevailing throughout this section. Nothing short of a calamity can prevent a splendid crop the coming fall —the best raised in the past ten years.

CONSTRUCTION OF GIFT.

Question Whether Giver Was in Right Mind at Time.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether or not Robert Miller of Sauk Center was mentally unbalanced during the fall of 1906 when he donated $4,000 in cash to his wife, was the point in question at the hearing which was held in probate court this week.

Robert Miller died about a year ago, leaving an estate valued at $25,000. This was divided equally between the widow and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellenson. The other children were left with nothing. The children who were not made beneficiaries decided to contest the will, but lost their case. When the time for winding up the estate came Mrs. Ellenson filed objections. She claimed that her father had turned about $4,000 in cash over to his wife just a few weeks before he was sent to the insane hospital, which should be a part of the estate. She also objected to the payment of $500 attorneys' fees. Mrs. Miller admitted that she received $4,000 from her husband, but stated that it was a gift and should not be a part of the estate. She also asserted that her husband was perfectly sane at the time. In order to prove her case, J. F. Cooper, James Connelly, Lucas Ellis, R. R. Kelly and B. F. Carr were put on the stand to testify that they had had dealings with the deceased shortly before he was sent to the asylum and that he was perfectly sane.

SALOON ELEMENT BARRED.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—The grand lodge of Sons of Norway in session here decided by a two-thirds vote to exclude from membership liquor manufacturers, liquor dealers and persons employed in the liquor traffic. Heretofore liquor employes have not been excluded. The amendment making insurance optional was voted down.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Ada—Dr. Bjorn has returned from Zumbrota, where he was called by the illness and death of his father who passed away on Sunday, June 14. Rev. L. M. Bjorn was formerly vice president of the United Lutheran church of America and long a leader in religious work in this state. He was born in Noss, Norway in 1835.

Staples—One of the most fashionable of recent weddings occurred here Wednesday evening, June 24, at the home of Mrs. Minnie Nason, when her daughter, Beulah Emma Nason, was united in marriage to Harry Guy Boardway. Rev. C. Vincent performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Boardway left for Duluth, where they will make an extended tour of the Great Lakes, stopping at Isle Royal and other points.

Stillwater—A letter received from F. W. Gall by Orris Lee, states that the former is now an orange farmer, having just closed a deal for an orange grove at Covina, a town of 2,500, twenty-three miles east of Los Angeles. There are twenty-five acres in the property all set out to trees.

Big Falls—There will be a grand celebration at Big Falls the Fourth as all the towns along the line excepting International Falls are coming here to celebrate. Three bands will come, Littlefork cornet and baseball team, Northome band and baseball team, and Big Falls has a band and ball tem of their own.

Milaca—The village council of Milaca has called a special election to be held on June 30, for the purpose of voting on the question of issuing $20,000 bonds for sewer purposes.

Fisher—Fred Jarvis, who several months ago wa injured by a tree falling on him, died Sunday after intense suffering, being buried at Fisher Wednesday. The deceased spent some time in St. Vincent hospital in Crookston, at which time he underwent an operation.

St. Cloud—The car shops picnic which has been an annual event for several years will not take place this summer.

Wadena—The state department of public instruction through State Supt. Olson, has engaged Col. G. A. Whitney of this city to lecture before the teachers' training schools at Aitkin and Brainerd.

Moorhead—An agreement was reached here between James Witherow, representing Grant, Smith company, and F. H. Peterson, representing Carl Bartness, whereby the latter accepted $3,000 in full for damages resulting to his eyesight from a dynamite explosion.

Perham—The social event of the season in this village was the double wedding at the Congregational church Wednesday forenoon, when Miss Alice Turner became Mrs. Peter Lund and Miss Frances became Mrs. J. A. Muckala.

Argyle—A new mail route has been established with John L. Johnson as carrier, to run between Argyle and West Valley. The route goes via Apple postoffice and the distance covered is 22.19 miles. Leaving Argyle at 12:30 p. m., it will arrive at West Valley at 6:25 p. m. every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Moorhead—The rural free delivery system is gradually becoming general in Clay county, and Felton is the next locality to be favored. A new route will be established there on July 1, and it will be appreciated by the farmers of that vicinity.

WISCONSIN

IRON RIVER IS TO CELEBRATE

Nearby Wisconsin Town Plans to Observe the Fourth in Style.

Iron River, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Iron River is planning one of the largest Fourth of July celebrations in its history.

The soliciting committee has raised more money than has ever been raised before for a celebration in this town, and the general committee of arrangements are going to see that it is all spent in providing entertainment for the people, or know the reason why.

There will be parades, singing, speech-making, vocal and band music, foot races, horse races, swimming races, baseball games, tennis games and skin games. Red, white and blue lemonade will be in evidence everywhere, and stronger drinks can be found without a search warrant. In the evening the fireworks will be touched off and the celebration brought to a close by a grand ball at the opera house, given by the Iron River fire department.

The Mason ball team will be here and will play two games with the local boys, one on the afternoon of the Fourth and the other the following day.

F. L. McNamara, a bright young attorney from Hayward, district attorney of Sawyer county, has been secured to deliver an oration.

WILL SEPARATE RESERVE.

Change in Wisconsin Indian Reservations Effective July 1.

Ashland, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wednesday, July 1, is the date set for the separation of the Lac du Flambeau Indian reesrvation, in Vilas county, from the LaPointe agency, at Ashland. W. N. Sickles, assistant superintendent of the Chilocco school of Oklahoma, has been designated as the new head of the Flambeau Indians. He has arrived at Ashland and is now at work at the Indian office getting ready for the change.

Flambeau has nearly seven hundred Indians. It has always been a part of the LaPointe agency, but the present transfer is the result of changed conditions. The Flambeau reesrvation was one of the first on which the permission to cut pine was given, and for the past fourteen years it has been logged, until there remains only about one year's good cut, which may be extended out three or four years.

SPOONER SALOON BURNS.

Spooner, Wis., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Then & Idean's saloon here was completely destroyed by fire yesterday, involving a loss of about $10,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire was discovered early in the morning burning fiercely and could not be checked, the building in which the saloon was located being destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Iron River—County Highway Commissioner Olson has a force of men at work cutting the brush on a new piece of county road which will furnish a new route into this city from the Port Wing-Iron River road.

Ashland—Last Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock the water in Chequamegon bay rose about two feet inside of two minutes. There was a light wind from the southwest, and apparently no reason why the water should rise suddenly. At the height of the rise Tuesday evening those who saw it say that the water in the bay was higher than it has been for several years.

Grand Rapids—Rainbow chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, tendered Ira Purdy, its oldest member, a banquet in honor of his 90th birthday. He has belonged to the Masons for over sixty-five years, and has scarcely missed a meeting of the lodge in the last fifteen years, during all of which time he has held the office of tyler of the lodge.

Madison—State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtell issued a warning against the insane celebration of the Fourth of July, calling attention to the great loss of life and property through this means, and suggesting action by local authorities to avoid disasters.

Milwaukee—Damages of $10,000, half the amount asked, were awarded to Matthew Schwind, 13 years of age, by the jury which heard the personal injury suit brought against the Milwaukee road for the loss of his left arm two years ago, as the result of being run over by a switch engine.

Oshkosh—Jacob Hubert, a young man employed on the South side, is unconscious and in a serious condition at Lakeside sanitarium as a result of a street car accident Wednesday night. The young man was injured by falling upon the brick pavement in alighting from a car.

HEAR ACCUSED TUESDAY.

Alleged Assailant of Girl Must Explain Charge Then.

Bemidji, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Justin Stoddard, who was arrested on the charge of criminally assaulting 9-year-old Hazel Kruger of Tenstrike, Wednesday night, was arraigned before Judge Clark of this city Friday.

Stoddard asked to have a hearing, with all witnesses present. Accordingly County Attorney Funkley had the case continued until 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning. The hearing will be held at Tenstrike on the morning of June 30.

WILL "BOOST" WALKER.

Live Cass County Town is Going After Things.

Walker, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walker has organized a Ten Thousand club, and all the village boosters will be wearing buttons in a few days. At a meeting of the Commercial club Thursday evening, several manufacturing propositions were taken up and the necessity of unity was made quite apparent. The village has in view a box factory, a handle factory and a boat factory, all of which can be secured with a little work, and the Ten Thousand club was organized for this purpose. Walker is enjoying unparalleled prosperity this season.

UPPER MICHIGAN

BANKERS MEET AT MARQUETTE

Michigan Financiers Are Hoping Secretary Taft Will be Present.

Marquette, Mich., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twenty-second convention of Michigan bankers will be held here next month. The trip will be made from Detroit by boat. Leaving that city July 6, a stop will be made at Port Huron to take on the bankers assembled at that point. Tuesday morning will be devoted to the first business session. The boat will arrive at Sault Ste. Marie at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The steamer will pass close to the Pictured Rocks on Lake Superior Wednesday morning, and will arrive at Marquette at noon.

The feature of the session, it is hoped, will be an address by William H. Taft or Secretary of the Treasury George B. Cortelyou. The St. Ignace will pass through the St. Mary's ship canal, on the return trip Friday morning and will reach Mackinac island at 2:30 o'clock p. m. The final business session will be held Saturday afternoon, and the boat will tie up at Detroit early Sunday morning.

Among the prominent bankers expected to attend the convention are: James B. Forgan of Chicago and William Woodward, vice president of the Hanover National; H. A. Smith, vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, and Charles Sabin, president of the National Copper bank of New York.

Calumet—The alumni banquet to the graduating class of 1908 of the Sacred Heart high school was held Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the high school, which was tastefully decorated for the event. Streamers of blue and white swung from the ceiling and walls, interspersed with the class pennants.

Houghton—Miss Frances Goodale, who was graduated from the Houghton high school last week, has been removed to St. Joseph's hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Hancock—The grand ball held Wednesday evening in Germania hall under the auspices of the society of St. Jean de Baptiste was a brilliant success and a fitting conclusion of one of the most successful celebrations of St. Jean de Baptiste's day ever held in Houghton county.

Calumet—Word has been received of the death in Shulesberg, Wis., of John Peoples. Mr. Peoples was engaged with the C. & H. Mining company in 1873, and worked here for a period of three years. He was aged 63 years, and is survived by a wife, three sons and three daughters, one of the sons being station agent at Republic.

Houghton—Miss Elizabeth Slock and Charles Rowe, both of Houghton, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride on South street, Rev. Walter Frit performing the ceremony.

Hancock—Shelden street is to have another pretentious structure. The I. E. Swift hardware concern has decided to build a modern store on the lot west of the Citizen's bank recently purchased from the Edwards estate.

Dollar Bay—Mrs. Dennis Sullivan passed away at her home in Dollar Bay Wednesday evening after a brief suffering from a complication of diseases. The deceased was a life long resident of the Copper country, having been born thirty-four years ago in Hancock.

POLITICIANS BUSY.

Shaking Hands With People at Big McIntosh Celegration.

McIntosh, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big celebration here, in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of the Thirteen Towns, opened Friday with the biggest attendance that ever assembled in McIntosh. Politicians are present from all over the state, and especially county politicians. Among the speakers are Senator Knute Nelson, Senator Stephens, Hon. Elias Steenerson, State Representatives Holton and Saugstad of Polk county, Judge Montague and others. Mayor Conger delivered the address of welcome, and special musical numbers were rendered by the Bjarne chorus of Grand Rapids.

THOROUGHBRED'S CLOSE CALL; JUMPS FROM TRAIN.

Bemidji, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)— Baron Humbug, a thoroughbred saddle horse, owned by A. O'Kelliher of Blackduck, jumped from a car on a rapidly-moving northbound freight train on the M. & I. railway Friday, while being shipped to Blackduck from Bemidji, and escaped with only a few slight bruises. Mr. O'Kelliher brought the horse home from Blackduck last week and he was sued here for several days by both Mr. and Mrs. O'Kelliher. Mr. O'Kelliher decided to ship him home and placed him on an M. & I. car at an early hour Friday, tying him securely and closing the doors.

The trainmen started with the car on their northbound trip, and got as far as Turtle River, when it was noticed that the horse was not in the car. In the meantime the horse showed up at the Bemidji Lumber company's yards, on the east side of Lake Bemidji. The horse was brought to Pogue's livery stable, in this city. It was noticed that the horse's nose was bleeding slightly, and that there were a couple of bruises on his leg.

BIG FRAZEE FIRE.

Frazee, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire yesterday did heavy damage here completely destroying one of the large barns of the Nicholas-Chisholm Lumber company, entailing a loss of several thousand dollars. Three valuable horses that were in the barn could not be removed and they were cremated.

DAKOTAS

DEATH FOLLOWS AS MAN FEARED

Injured While Plowing, Dies After Leg is Cut Off.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—"I'll die if that foot is taken off," declared Robert Wallace of Knox, this state, who was brought here recently to a hospital to receive treatment for an injury sustained in a runaway. The limb was taken off and the death he predicted came true.

The deceased was 40, unmarried and a native of Ontario, whence his body was shipped.

Wallace's team ran away while he was plowing in a field a few miles from Knox. One of Wallace's feet became caught in a wheel of the plow and it was terribly smashed and mangled. He was brought to a hospital here and it was hoped at first that the foot could be saved. Amputation was soon found necessary.

SALOON MAN MUST PAY

Big Damages for Giving Liquor to Man Who Kills Himself.

Pierre, S. D., June 27.—The supreme court has, in an opinion by Corson, sustained the lower court in giving a judgment of $2,000 to Carrie E. Palmer against Conrad Schurz, a saloonkeeper at Ethan, and the Western Surety company, his bondsmen. Palmer, the husband of the plaintiff, committed suicide after a prolonged spree, in which, it was charged, that he secured the liquor at the saloon of Schurz, who sold him the liquor when he was known to be intoxicated. The jury in the lower court granted damages to the amount named, and the supreme court holds the judgment to be sustained.

MAYOR FIRES CHIEF.

Grand Forks Executive Lets Out the Police Head.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor J. D. Taylor yesterday demanded the resignation of Chief J. W. Lowe of the police force. The chief declined to comply with the request, but turned over his star. Mayor Taylor named Odin Overby as chief to succeed Chief Lowe, and announced last night that the new chief would assume the duties of his office this morning. The mayor also announced the appointment of the following patrolmen who will take the places of three men now on the force: Mart Lavelle, John Tracy and W. E. Ellven. They will also begin work today.

The appointment of Overby must go before the city council for confirmation. It was brought before the council at a meeting a few weeks ago and the council voted against the confirmation. It is said that the mayor has been advised that he can appoint a chief from month to month and in that way thwart the council.

LAST DIVE IS FATAL.

S. R. Davis Jumps Into River From Bridge and Perishes.

Fargo, N. D., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. R. Davis alias Hemphill, lost his life in the Red river last evening after making a spectacular jump from the high bridge across the river leading to Moorhead. He dropped a distance of about seventy-five feet, hitting the water with a big splash disappearing beneath the muddy water, then came up to the surface. He started to swim ashore and when within a few feet of the landing disappeared to rise no more. The river is being dragged for his body. He said before making the dive it would be his last, as his folks objected very much to his indulging in the practice.

The dead man's father lives at Bancroft, Iowa, and is said to have secured an injunction in several states to prevent his son from doing these high-diving stunts. Davis was a Northern Pacific brakeman.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—The traction engineering school which has been in progress at the agricultural college for the past month will close on July 3. In every respect the school has been a very great success, there being at the present time 215 students in attendance. These young men represent almost every state in the union and several provinces of Canada.

Lakota, N. D.—The most serious accident in years in the the annals of ball playing in Lakota happened in the game with Clyde when Mose Blais, first baseman for the visiting team, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg below the knee.

Fargo, N. D.—A meeting of the state railroad commission will be held in Fargo on July 7. Under the new law the commission meets five times annually in different parts of the state. The meeting on July 7 will be held in the courthouse.

Jamestown, N. D.—The camp meeting just closed here was the largest and best ever held in the state. Besides the evangelists and pastors in attendance, Bishop Bristol of Washington, was present two days and preached two great sermons.

Devils Lake, N. D.—All the railroads in North Dakota have granted a special rate to the North Dakota Bible conference on the certificate plan. The program takes place on the Chautauqua grounds, July 21 to 26, and the rates are good July 20 to 27, if the purchases takes a receipt of the agent at starting point.

Bottineau, N. D.—Two of the suspects in the Siedel murder case are now in jail and 200 armed men are scouring the mountains for the third one. The man was captured at Colimar's circus here yesterday.

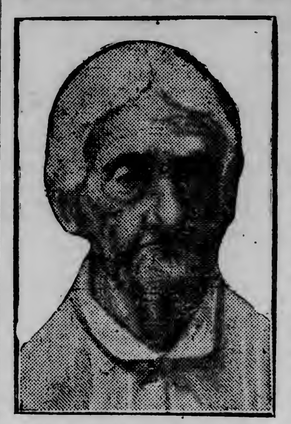

ELOPED BY BOBSLEIGH.

London Daily mail: An elopement by bobsleigh has occurred at Bienne, where a young Swiss, forbidden to visit his sweetheart's house, carried off the girl by an ingenious ruse.

The girl persuaded her parents to accompany her up the mountain route to Evilard to watch the tobogganning. Half way up shouts of warning were heard, a sleigh came tearing down and every one ran to the side of the course. The girl alone stood still. The lover and his friends, who were on the sleigh, slackened speed, caught the girl in their arms and flashed down to the bottom of the run.

There the lovers caught a train to Basle, where their marriage took place immediately.

MRS. SAMUEL DECKER

Mrs. Samuel Decker of Seneca Falls, N. Y., is a living example at 107 years of age of what a pure tonic-stimulant and invigorator will do for old people.

Mr. Decker, her husband, in an interview on January 24 with our correspondent said: "I want to tell you that Mrs. Decker is using your medicine. She is 107 years of age. We know that it has done her a great deal of good. It is a wonderful medicine, and we could not get along without it. We will tell all old people to use it, and we want every one to know what it has done for us. It is the only thing that keeps Mrs. Decker alive. We send you her picture and you can publish this letter in any paper you wish with her picture."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain; great care being used to have every kernel thoroughly malted, thus destroying the germ and producing a predigested liquid food in the form of a malt essence, which is the most effective tonic-stimulant and invigorator known to science; softened by warmth and moisture, its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

If you wish to keep young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as a medicine everywhere.

CAUTION.—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only, never in bulk. Price $1.00. Look for the trade mark, the "Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Write Consulting Physician, Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y., for a free illustrated medical booklet and free advice.

BURIED ALIVE, YET HE LIVES

Trench Digger at Cloquet Goes Through Harrowing Experience.

Cloquet, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gus Frykholm, a trench digger working on the city sewer system, knows what it is to be buried alive. He was caught in a cavein on the work yesterday, six feet of soft earth falling upon him and for half an hour he was a doomed man to all appearances, yet when finally dug out he was found to be unhurt.

The trench is about fourteen feet deep where he and a Finn were working. With a crash the earth descended catching one of the workmen. The Finn, not speaking English, was unable to explain matters to other workmen and he ran about talking half incoherently for several minutes, waving his hands and pointing exactly towards the partly filled trench. Finally some one, who had missed Frykholm, guessed what he was driving at and rescue parties began digging for Frykholm. Soon as the latter was reached he was dragged to the surface and, after a grunt or two, said he was all right.

SENSATIONAL CHARGE MADE

Judge Hoyt Describes "High Finance" of Railway Company.

Judge H. H. Hoyt of Duluth has published a pamphlet entitled "The history of the passing of the Northern Pacific railroad company," which contains some rather sensational charges of "high financiering" in the reorganization by which the Northern Pacific railway company took over the property of the old Northern Pacific railroad company. It is charged that in the process both creditors and stockholders were frozen out and that the property was transferred for much less than it was worth. Particular reference is made to the enormous land grants given the railroad by the government, amounting to upward of 43,000,000 acres, and it is claimed that the railroad has violated the terms of the agreement by which it got this land, much of which is very valuable. The government is urged to take steps to recover as much of this land as possible and to restore it to the public domain. It is asserted that the railroad fixed its eastern terminus at Ashland simply for the purpose of getting more land, and that the real terminus has always been at Duluth. It is further charged that in the original construction road that should have been built for $20,000 a mile cost $285,000 a mile. Some curious doings in the receivership are also narrated. The author states that the whole story comes from the official record.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN SUNDAY

Piece of Smoked Glass is Needed to See It.

To the Readers of The Herald:

Don't forget the eclipse tomorrow, Sunday. If the sky is clear it will be an object worth seeing, and all that is needed for seeing it is a piece of smoked glass, or a dense photographic negative. The moon will pass across the face of the sun from right to left.

At Duluth the eclipse will begin at about 8:46 a. m. by standard or 90th meridian time, and end at 11:08 a. m. lasting over two hours. At the middle of the eclipse the moon will cover about one half of the sun's diameter. There will be no darkening of the sky, and those who do not see it through a smoked glass will not suspect that anything is happening.

This eclipse is what is called annular, or like a ring. On the central line, which crosses Florida at Tampa, the moon does not quite cover the face of the sun, so that there will be a bright ring of sunlight around a dark center. This bright ring will prevent astronomers from making any observations of the corona and prominences, and so this eclipse will not possess the scientific interest that it would if it were total.

LOOK OVER BIG MINES

Lake Superior Mining Institute Visits Properties at Hibbing.

Officers Are Elected and Some Sporting Stunts Are Witnessed.

Hibbing, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Lake Superior Mining Institute left here early this morning for Coleraine to look over properties in that vicinity, and will return to Duluth this evening, having finished their inspection of the Minnesota iron ranges.

The distinguished visitors arrived here about 1 p. m. yesterday, escorted by a committee of 100 well-known citizens who had met them at the Monroe-Tener mine. The party then looked over the Monroe, th Morris, the Hull-Rust, the Mahoning and other big properties.

On arriving here the Institute held a meeting in the Lincoln high school, where they were welcomed by Rev. Frank Durant, President T. F. Cole responding. John Hearding of Eveleth favored the establishment of a department of biographies to cover sketches of early day members of the institute. Mr. Hearding also paid a fine tribute to the late Peter White of Marquette.

A paper on the Oliver Iron Mining company's standard boilerhouse was read by A. M. Gow of Duluth. The hydro-electric plant of the Penn Iron Mining company at Vulcan, Mich., was the subject of a paper prepared by Thomas W. Orvison of Appleton, Wis., and F. H. Armstrong of Vulcan, Mich. Mine waters was the subject of a paper given by Arthur C. Lane, state geologist of Michigan. A paper on acetyline was as an underground light was given by W. S. Slaughter.

Ishpeming Man President.

The following officers were elected: President, M. M. Duncan, Ishpeming, Mich.; vice presidents, W. J. Richards, Crystal Falls, Mich., and Charles Trezona, Ely; managers, T. E. Keese, Ishpeming, Mich.; W. J. Uren, Calumet, Mich., and L. M. Hardenburg, Hurley, Wis. E. W. Hopkins, Commonwealth, Wis., treasurer, and A. J. Yungbluth, Ishpeming, Mich., secretary, were re-elected.

During the afternoon the visitors took in the athletic entertainment, beginning with the ball game between Hibbing and Virginia. The latter was a battle from start to finish between Graham and Gilligen. Five hits were gathered off each, Virginia being the more fortunate in bunching two of their singles in the ninth inning, thereby scoring the winning run. Both teams played phenomenal ball in the field.

Wrestling and Boxing.

In the evening there was wrestling and boxing exhibitions in the ball park. The final bout between Joe Cherry and Mike O'Keefe proved to be one of the most interesting exhibitions ever seen here. There was not a minute that the boys were not making it. The first four rounds were about even, neither boy paying much attention to the clean break rule, under which they were fighting. From the fifth on, Cherry had his opponent on the defensive most of the time. It was apparent to all after the sixth round that Cherry carried too many guns for the Superior lad. O'Keefe seemed to be content with letting Cherry do all the leading, while he covered up. In the ninth, Cherry rushed across the ring and met O'Keefe with a straight right to the stomach as he was leaving his corner. O'Keefe went down like a log. Referee Haney awarded the fight to Cherry.

The Mining Institute is loud in its praise of the hospitality shown to the members during their brief stay in Hibbing.

JOHNSON FUNERAL SUNDAY.

Body of Two Harbors Man Will be Buried at Cannon Falls.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of C. V. Johnson for many years a well-known citizen here, alderman of the Fourth ward and member of the board of county commissioners, who died Thursday night, will be held here tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The body will be taken to Cannon Falls, Minn., his old home, for interment. Mr. Johnson was 41 years of age, a native of Sweden and came here from St. Paul a number of years ago, having been engaged in the printing business in that city as he was here.

He belonged to many organizations and all are expected to be represented at the funeral, which will probably be large.

He was a member of the following orders: Elks, Knights of Pythias, Modern Samaritans, Modern Woodmen of America, Royal League, Druids, A. O. U. W. and Duluth Typographical union, No. 136, holding positions of trust in several of them.

VIRGINIA BOAT CLUB HAS ELECTED OFFICERS.

Virginia, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following officers have been chosen by the recently organized Virginia Boat club: Kenneth McDonald, president; J. M. Thurston, vice president; Louis M. Osborn, secretary and treasurer. The membership fee was fixed at $5, and any person desiring to join may submit his application to any member or officer of the club. It was decided to push the work on the boathouse at once and ascertain at what cost electric lights could be secured for outside and inside use at the boathouse. The four boats now on hand will be rented to non-members and a competent person will be in attendance at all times. As soon as the present indebtedness of the club is met, a new and attractive boathouse will be erected.

EVELETH'S HANDSOME SCHOOL BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE.

THE HIGH SCHOOL THAT WAS BURNED.

Eveleth, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire totally destroyed the Eveleth high school yesterday afternoon. The fire broke out about 1 o'clock, and is supposed to have been started by the soldering outfit that was used by two tinners who were working on the roof during the morning, and were at lunch at that time. The fire was first seen by Frank Parker, who turned in the alarm. Something was wrong with the fire whistle at the electric plant, and another whistle was sounded, but it was a short time before people knew that the high school was burning.

At first the flames were only seen within the cupola on the top of the school, but they soon were under headway and ate up the whole roof. A number of volunteers ran a hose up to the third floor, which was then full of smoke, but with little effect. From appearances, it seemed as if the attic was on fire before the flames broke through the cupola. The firemen tried to confine the flames to the third floor, but the fire was soon beyond control. From the outside of the building three men went up on the porch, and a line was then played on the fire from that point, but the pressure and water gave out and the men were called down.

Very Little Saved.

After that it was seen that the building was doomed, as that place was the least dangerous and the best for fighting the fire. The men then set to work bringing out what could be saved. The records, a piano, a large number of library books, a few pictures and some manual training work were saved, but all else was eaten up by the flames. By 3:30 the building was a total loss, only a few walls remained of what was one of the finest school buildings on the entire range.

The building was dedicated in the fall of 1906, but already had been occupied at that time for one year. The building was about a year in erection. It was put up at a cost of about $85,000, the interior decorations and furnishings bringing the fire loss up to about $100,000, fully covered by insurance. Though some of the books and furnishings can easily be replaced, the memorials left by the classes are gone for good. In the auditorium there was a very fine collection of ferns and palms, that was the pride of the teachers' and pupils' hearts, and which had taken about three years to come into their best appearance. The statue of Minerva that was presented to the school, only a week ago, was destroyed.

Will Promptly Rebuild.

The school board lost no time yesterday and immediately telegraphed to Duluth to advertise for bids for the erection of a new school on the same site. The plans will be exactly in accordance with that of the destroyed building, so no time will be lost in making new ones. The new building will be an exact duplicate of the the destroyed one. The question now in the minds of Supt. Greening and the school board is what to do with the pupils who will be without a school building. It is very fortunate that the school building that is now in construction will be finished by fall, but as it has only four rooms, it will not relieve the condition very much. A church will probably be used for the pupils until they can use the high school.

The fire of yesterday was the worst one in the history of Eveleth. A wind was blowing away from town, otherwise the whole town might have gone. St. Patrick's church was right in the path of the wind, and a couple of hoses were played upon it to keep the flames off. The Fayal fire department was called over to help the local men, who did what was possible with the odds against them. The fire department did not have a call for two months until the fire of yesterday, and Chief Mellen happened to go over to Hibbing just half an hour before the fire started, leaving the men in charge of Assistant Chief McDonough. On account of the inability to secure a pressure great enough to send the water to the third floor, it is very possible that steps will soon be taken to secure an engine for this town, as the department can not fight above third floor fires with the apparatus they now have.

The whole town was out during the afternoon and evening witnessing the fire and the remains of the high school. The fire could be seen as far over as Virginia, from which town a large number of people came over to see what was the cause of all the flames. The opening of the commercial course that was to have started this fall, will have to be put off. It will be some time before the high school students will be able to take up manual training and cooking as well as having other advantages not usually seen in a town of this size.

HIBBING CLUB DENIES.

Not Importing Colored Pitcher as Has Been Claimed.

Hibbing, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the ball team wants it strictly understood that they are not importing a colored man by the name of Wilson or anybody else to help them beat Virginia. It is the intention of Manager Brady to play the same team that he started the season with. The only importation being done is that being done by Virginia.

RANGE EDITORS MEET.

Hibbing, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Iron Range Press association is in session here with a dozen or more members in attendance. Various matters pertaining to the business in this section are being considered. Although the association is a young affair, its members are enthusiastic over its mission and believe they are accomplishing much for the benefit of their profession in this section.

Among those in attendance are: George A. Perham, Eveleth News; P. E. Dowling, Eveleth Star, president of the organization; W. E. Hannaford, Virginia Enterprise; D. E. Cipperrull, Virginia Virginian; E. A. Koen, Biwabik Times; H. L. Nicholson, Aurora News; R. M. Sheets, Tower News; Peter Schaefer, Ely Miner; Oscar La France, Chisholm Tribune; W. E. Talboys, Chisholm Herald; C. M. Atkinson, Mesaba Ore; A. E. Pfremmer and R. M. Hitchcock, Hibbing Tribune.

ASSESSMENT CUT BY BOARD

The North Butte Mining Company Wins Its Point.

The board of review, in session at the city hall, yesterday afternoon cut the personal property assessment against the North Butte Mining company from $600,000 to $50,000, as the result of a protest made by Joseph B. Cotton, attorney for the mining company.

While the North Butte company was acting only for itself, it is expected the other mining companies with headquarters in the city, will follow its lead, and also ask for a reduction in the personal property assessment, on the ground that it would be double taxation to pay taxes to the city when the companies already are paying taxes on extensive mining properties in other states.

None of the other companies whose headquarters are in this city have appeared before the board of review, but it is probable that their taxes will be regulated according to the rule laid down in the case of the North Butte company. The board will exact a promise from each of the companies, however, to submit to the city assessor a complete and detailed statement of the amount of personal property owned by them, and will use these statements as a basis for action in making out the assesment lists next year.

NEWS AND GOSSIP IN POLITICAL CIRCLES

As was generally anticipated, the St. Louis county convention failed to instruct its delegates to the state convention as to the head of the state ticket or the other state officers. It has been generally known that Jacobactive candidates to the Head of the Lakes voters. The sentiment of the lakes voters. The sentiment of the convention proved this. It is not that the St. Louis county delegation will go to the state convention filled with enthusiasm for "Jake;" rather will they journey to St. Paul with the feeling that he will be the most acceptable candidate to the voters hereabouts.

Little general interest is being manifested in the Republican campaign. One of the dullest campaigns in the history of the party is in prospect at the present time, at least.

Up here it looks as if Mr. Jacobson will be the one best wager of the Republican party. "Bob" Dunn's warmly professed friendship for "Jake" has been doubted in various quarters, but Dunn has come out flat-footed and declared that he neither desires or would accept the Republican nomination for governor. This is not the first denial on the part of Mr. Dunn that he entertained aspirations for another try at the head of the state ticket, but the vigor of the repudiation seems to leave but little chance to doubt that the "Sage of Princeton" is out of the race for at least another two years.

The conventions held in the Eighth district shed little light on the relative strength of either J. Adam Bede or Clarence B. Miller. Little attention was given to the impending fight for the Republican nomination for congress from this district. In two conventions resolutions of a complimentary nature to Congressman Bede were passed.

Both Congressman Bede and Mr. Miller are getting things in shape for the strenuous campaign that is impending. Mr. Bede has spent his time between Pine City and Duluth, while Mr. Miller has been engaged in a quiet hunt for votes. Campaign issues have not been sounded as yet, the nearest thing to a platform that has been announced being Mr. Bede's declaration that he will stand on the record he has made in the session of congress that has just closed.

Judging from the resolutions adopted by the county convention here, the county option clause will cut some figure in the state campaign. Mr. Young's position on the enforcement on the state liquor laws is well known, but so far any attempt to commit Mr. Jacobson upon this issue has failed.

Although he has not yet filed his affidavit of nomination nor announced his intention of being a candidate for renomination and re-election as county commissioner of the First district, it is believed by the friends of Edward M. Patterson that he will consent to continue in the office he has filled for several years past. While Mr. Patterson is affiliated with the Republican party his support has always been nonpartisan. The taxpayers of his district, realizing the value of his services to the county, have never quibbled over the matter of his politics and he has never had any serious opposition in an election. The fact that Mr. Patterson is so familiar with the county's conditions and its needs, and because he can devote practically all his time to county affairs, peculiarly fits him for the job and the taxpayers of his district are pretty well satisfied in keeping him there.

MEETING WAS A BRIEF ONE

Assembly Delegates Hear Reports and Attend the Circus.

Owing to the fact that a great many of the delegates attended the circus last night, the trades assembly meeting was a very small one, and was adjourned at the earliest possible moment. The reports of the different delegates showed some improvement in the conditions of their respective trades.

The carpenters reported that work in their trade is plentiful and conditions are improving. The following reported trade fair: Blacksmiths, machinists, printers, and painters.

Credentials to the assembly were received from J. H. Baker, who has been reappointed as delegate from the carpenter's union.

A communication inviting the members of the assembly to visit the Minnesota art exhibit was received from the art association. Mr. Perrault urged all that possibly could, to attend.

Though the meeting was a small one, Secretary E. P. Peters read the report of the delegates from the assembly to the state convention at Winona.

At the next meeting of the trade's assembly, the semi-annual election of officers will be held. This was announced last evening by Secretary Ernest Peters. The announcement was followed by a short address by President Henry Perrault urging upon the delegates the necessity of a good attendance on that evening.

Mr. Perrault said, "It is important that as many delegates as possible be present at the election of officers, for the officers chosen should be the choice of the majority of the delegates. Special cards will be sent out to notify the delegates, so that they may not overlook the meeting. I also wish to state, that I shall refuse to run for the presidency again this year. I do not believe in a long term, and besides there are other matters that make it absolutely impossible for me to consider the office for another half year."

The following officers were elected at the last meeting of the Leather Workers' union, local No. 63: President, Edward O'Connors; vice president, J. Schwartz; recording secretary, Charles Boldt; secretary and treasurer, J. M. Beols; guard, A. Adams; marshal, H. Daly; trustees, J. Miller, A. Poul, H. Raly; delegates to assembly, L. H. Boldt, J. M. Beals and E. P. Peters.

At the last meeting of the Women's Union Label League, No. 230, the delegates to the state convention at Winona, made their report, which was most thorough and detailed, and the constitution had its second reading.

It was decided to extend the special privilege of voting to the men in any matters of importance. The dues of the organization also were reduced, as they has been complained of as too high. Following the evening's business, a social session was held, at which Miss McInnis extended an invitation to the members of the league to spend Monday evening with her at her home, 930 West Fourth street.

HELMICK COMING TO DULUTH NO LONGER REMAINS DOUBTFUL

It is now a certainty Helmick will surely be here. A telegram was received at the hotel this morning, which reads: "Will arrive Monday;" signed, "Helmick." At first thought, these words seem rather insignificant, but when people fully realize that he, about whom so much has been heard and written, is coming to Duluth, this telegram will show its real significance. He claims he is going to prove here, like he has at other cities visited by him, that the New Discovery and justly famous Rheumaline Remedies possess qualities that really and actually cure Rheumatism. Just to give you an idea of the wonderful performance of Rheumaline in other cities, Helmick makes public the following remarkable case:

E. P. Maddock, 139 East Sixth street, Cincinnati, Ohio, had suffered more or less with Rheumatism for eighteen years. When he began taking the Rheumaline Remedies, he had been confined to his room for nearly ten weeks, under a doctor's care. After taking these remedies only two days, he dressed himself, left his room and walked about the heart of Cincinnati for two hours, without the aid of crutch or cane. At this time he is cured of Rheumatism, his limbs are more active than they have been for ten years, and his general health is much improved.

Write to Mr. Maddock, make Helmick prove what he says.

Any person who may be suffering from Rheumatism in any of its forms should call on Helmick at once, always bearing in mind the fact that he will furnish the Rheumaline Remedies on the guarantee that unless they benefit, the cost of same will be refunded. Make preparations now to meet Helmick Monday, June 29, at Lyceum Pharmacy. He can be seen there from 9 a. m. until 8:30 p. m.

Helmick will certainly prove what he claims.

The conference between the president and Mr. Taft and Gen. Wright today was expected to close up Secretary Taft's direction of the war department, and prepare Gen. Wright to take over its management on July 1.

Although the formal selection of a new chairman for the national Republican committee is scheduled to be made at a conference of Secretary Taft and his political advisers in Washington on July 8 it is expected that the matter will be discussed with the president at some length today and that the availability of Frank Hitchcock for that position will again be considered.

Taft Disappoints Crowd.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 27.—Secretary Taft disappointed the people of Oyster Bay today. It was expected that he would arrive here at noon, and arrangements had been made to give him a rousing reception. As a fact, he arrived much earlier and comparatively few people were at the station. As the secretary, accompanied by Governor Luke E. Wright, stepped from the train he was surrounded by persons who desired to greet him. He chatted genially with those about him, shaking hands with all within reach. Among those who greeted him were fifteen or twenty young ladies and children. One little tot held up a teddy bear to him to look at. He patted the child on the head and remarked: "You're a pretty child and your teddy bear is just fine."

Secretary Taft and Governor Wright were conducted to a government automobile in waiting for them and were whirled away to Sagamore Hill.

It is the intention of the war secretary to leave Oyster Bay this afternoon at 2:40 o'clock. He will arrive at Long Island City at 4 o'clock and will hurry across the river and through New York city in an effort to catch the 4:55 train for Washington at West Twenty-third street. He remarked this morning that it would be a race against time.

Reason For Conferences.

President Roosevelt arranged today's conference at Sagamore Hill with the outgoing and incoming secretary of war in order that a general understanding of questions now pending before the war department might be acquired by Governor Wright. Among the matters to be discusser is the situation in Panama. No serious eventuation of that situation is likely, in the opinion of Secretary Taft and Governor Wright. The placing of 1,200 marines on the American zone of the isthmus is likely to prevent trouble at the approaching election. Matters concerning the Philippines and Cuba also were to be considered. Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, brought from Washington last night the latest information concerning developments in all American insular possessions. Gen. Edwards did not accompany the secretary and Governor Wright to Oyster Bay but will join the secretary in New York and return with him to Washington.

Secretary Taft laughingly remarked on the way to Oyster Bay that he fancied politics might be referred to incidentally at today's conference, but declined to give any intimation of the nature of the discussion. He said frankly that no determination of the national chairmanship question would be reached today.

"That matter," said he "will go over until the eighth of July when the subcommittee of the Republican national committee will confer with me and I hope with Representative Sherman in Washington."

Nicholas Nicholaievitch, he sees no relatives. He has not a single confidential friend. His life is, aside from military parades and official audiences, far more secluded than formerly.

The czar speaks with Stolypin about domestic politics in which he is much more interested than before, but he never speaks out his mind. A short time ago the court carmarilla was greatly worried because Czar Nicholas had a private conversation lasting for more than two hours with the president of the duma, Chomjakoff. The court dislikes Chomjakoff, in whom many see the "coming man," and everything is being done to isolate the czar even more than at present.

Very much against his usual habit, Nicholas stays up late nights. He spends much time reading and studies every word of the stenographic reports of the proceedings of the duma. At midnight every night he is called up on the telephone by Stolypin, who reads to him over the 'phone long secret reports and it is as a rule after 2 a. m. before the czar retires.

A very unpleasant incident, which is kept strictly secret, has taken place in the czar's own household. A few days ago a number of servants and minor palace officials handed Czar Nicholas a petition, in which they complained that for many months they had received no wages. The czar turned the matter over, not to Gen. Dedjulin, chief of the secret service, but Baron Fredericks, minister of the imperial household, and it was found that a certain high official, Tscherep Spiridovitch, had been embezzling large amounts from the czar's privy purse and had made the servants sign blank receipts, which he afterwards filled in to make it appear that wages had been paid for many months ahead. He was instantly discharged, but was not punished, as Nicholas wanted to keep the matter secret.

If you will make inquiry it will be a revelation to you how many succumb to kidney or bladder troubles in one form or another. If the patient is not beyond medical aid, Foley's Kidney Cure will cure. It never disappoints. Sold at all druggists.

returned and made a lunge at Morton's throat, at the same time attempting to get to Morton's rear pocket, with the evident intent of grabbing his gun, but the jailer did not have one.

Morton pushed Flood back and slammed shut the outside corridor door. Flood again re-entered his cell and Morton followed him, for fear that he would throw himself in the flames which reached to the ceiling. Flood again sprung at the jailer and this time attempted to beat him with the rung of a chair.

Olson and another prisoner, Thomas Alton, were then released by the jailer. They are known as trusties and they assisted him in putting out the flames and then dragged Flood toward the insane ward, where he was locked up.

Flood Has Been Watched.

Jailer Morton stated that Flood has been watched for fear that he would attempt to kill himself. He asked one of the prisoners for a knife the other day and when searched last night after he was securely placed in the insane ward, a piece of glass was found on his person.

When Flood is allowed the freedom of the corridor, he sneaks around from cell to cell and it is believed he procured the matches on one of these occasions.

Flood very frequently takes the other prisoners into his confidence and discusses the shooting of Camden. At such times he give evidence of insanity. He told several of the prisoners the other day that after he had shot Camden he had presence of mind to reload the revolver. "Wasn't I cute?" he added.

The other day Flood went into a spasm in his cell. The city physician and several others who saw him claim that the spasm was a sham.

WILL DISCUSS SCHOOL YEAR

A special meeting of the Women's council will be called for either Wednesday or Thursday of next week at 10 a. m. in the club room of the Library building. The meeting is an important one, as the subject to be discussed will be whether the school year shall be nine or ten months' long. Supt. Denfeld and some other members of the school board, probably J. L. Washburn, will speak on the question. All women and men interested in this subject are invited to attend, and it is hoped that a large number will be present. The purpose of the council is to acquaint the parents of the school children with the subject, so they may vote intelligently on a question concerning so vitally the welfare of the children.

WOULD BAR THE WOMEN

Union Objects to Them Serving as Restaurant Cooks.

Ultimatum Presented to Two Cafe Owners Employing Them.

A committee from the Cooks and Waiters' union waited on the proprietors of two restaurants, yesterday afternoon, and requested that they stop employing women cooks in their kitchens, as it is against a clause in the agreement signed by the proprietors on May 1. The clause reads that women shall be prohibited from cooking in any house carrying a union card.

The proprietors have been given until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to decide what they intend to do, and if by that time they still retain the women as cooks, the men will all walk out. It is claimed that all other restaurants employing union labor keep only men for cooks, as required by the union.

The union men state that they have no objection to the waitresses, for in that respect the union is what is termed a "mixed union." But with the cooks it is different they claim for women will work for lower wages than the men. The proprietors of the two restaurants claim that they pay the same wages to the women as they do to the men, and that they have no reason for employing women, except that they prefer them and they think they have a right to hire whom they wish.

At the last meeting of the cooks and waiters' union the whole matter was discussed before appointing the committee to visit the restaurant men. Some members of the union were very much against locking out the women, but it was finally decided that it must be a lockout or a walkout.

Saved From the Grave

Candy Contest Tonight, $5.00 to Winner.

Last night, before a crowd of 5,000 people at the corner of Twenty-third avenue west and Superior street, to hear Wittman in one of his wonderful lectures, and exhibited one of the largest tape worms ever taken from a human being, John Sherman from Eveleth, Minn., was the victim of that awful tape worm. It was 100 feet in length. Wittman had it in a dish, and while he was showing it to the people, the parasite would be seen squirming around in the dish alive, just like a snake in the grass. Mr. Sherman had heard about Wittman's wonderful treatment. He decided to come to see this great Wittman, although at first he said he had little faith whether Wittman could cure him, but decided to try his wonderful cure, and in three and a half hours that monster worm was taken from Mr. Sherman, which Wittman was showing to the people. Mr. Sherman said it was a godsend to him to have such relief. The invitation was then given to those who wanted to come upon the platform for special treatment. Mr. A. Carron, 1021 Minnesota avenue, had been suffering with what is called paralysis, it being in the left arm. Wittman then applied his wonderful cure, and to the surprise of every one that was there, and to Mr. Carron himself, he found that he could raise his hand above his head, which he could not do when he first came upon the platform. Martin Tilder of West Duluth was relieved of rheumatism. Mr. Thomas McClaren of Twenty-ninth avenue west had a very long siege of deafness. He had been that way for forty years, and after he was given one treatment of Wittman cure for deafness, the gentleman was able to hear a whisper. Any one wishing to call at Wittman's offices will find them at the corner of Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. The hours are from 10 to 12, and from 2 to 4 in the afternoon.

HUNDREDS VISIT THE GRAVE OF CLEVELAND.

Princeton, N. J., June 27.—Hundreds of people visited the grave of Grover Cleveland in Princeton cemetery today. Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by little Richard and Prof. John Grier Hibben, went to the cemetery before 7 o'clock, where Mrs. Cleveland stood for some time besides the flower-strewn graves of her husband and her daughter, Ruth. A member of the local militia stood guard at the grave throughout the night and was relieved this morning by another guardsman. The men were not in uniform, in obedience to Mrs. Cleveland's desire to avoid anything of a military character. The plot will be guarded for several days. Those who remained at the Cleveland home last night with Mrs. Cleveland and the children were Miss Rose Cleveland, Mr. Cleveland's sister; Miss Mary Hastings, a niece; Cleveland F. Bacon of New York, a nephew of the former president, and Prof. and Mrs. John H. Finley. Messages and letters of condolence continue to come in by the score.

GOVERNMENT GAUGERS ENJOINED BY COURT.

Cincinnati, June 27.—Judge Thompson yesterday granted a temporary injunction against Collector Bettman and seven government gaugers requiring them to continue branding with the word "Spirits" until further orders, the output of the Clifton Springs Distillery company. The case is to be heard for final decision Monday morning.

Under the new order of Internal Revenue Commissioner Capers the gaugers were going to omit this name and in its place substitute the word "alcohol."

This, the Clifton Springs company declares, would result in immense outright loss and damage to its business, as the word "alcohol" is known and used to designate distilled spirits of inferior quality and intended only for use in the arts and trades and in making drugs. The order, it is asserted, is contrary to the law.

NEW WAY—3000 CUBIC YARDS A DAY

This Company owns 460 acres of the old river bed of the Colorado River—constituting the present banks of the Colorado River—lying between the rich mineral belts of Arizona and Nevada. Numerous tests made at three different times by different parties, prove it to contain an average $1.50 of gold per cubic yard and in the aggregate, in addition to garnets and platinum, more than TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS of gold.

This Company also practically has the exclusive right to dredge 20 miles of the present bottom of this river, which the tests prove to be as rich as the ground it owns. The river having an average width of 1200 feet, makes this one of the largest and most profitable dredging propositions ever undertaken.

This gold is simply mixed with the earth and practically all of it can be saved by the modern dredge which separates the gold from the ground and saves it as the separator winnows the wheat from the chaff and saves it. Dredging is practically manufacturing on a large scale; it is very profitable. Knowing the amount of gold the ground contains and the cost of taking it out, the profits can be pretty closely estimated and speculation eliminated.

This Company intends putting at least three dredges at work dredging these banks and the present bottom of the river. As each dredge has a daily capacity of 3,000 cubic yards and the ground averages One Dollar in gold per yard and the cost of operation is small, you can see that even one dredge taking out Three Thousand Dollars a day will enable this Company to pay very large dividends and make its stock very valuable. Three dredges taking out Nine Thousand Dollars a day will treble these profits.

As these dredges are expensive and we have not personally all the money necessary to buy them, we concluded to organize this Company and sell some stock. Although this stock now is intrinsically worth more than par, we will sell enough of it at twenty-five cents a share—par value $1.00 per share—to buy the first dredge. As soon as this first dredge is at work it is our intention to materially advance the price of the stock. If you want any of this stock send in your order at once as a large amount of it has already been sold. It is fully paid, non-assessable and carries no personal liability.

We feel confident that you will make money by joining us in this enterprise—that this Company will pay very large dividends and that its stock will soon be selling for many times what it cost you.

AT THE LYCEUM

Dockstader's Minstrels Coming for One Night---The Mack-Leone Players Will Present "Esmeralda" for Remainder of Week.

The popularity which Lew Dockstader and his minstrels enjoy everywhere is amply demonstrated by the large audiences which they have been drawing this season. They will doubtless be welcomed by another when they appear at the Lyceum next Monday night.

The show this year is said to be the best Dockstader has ever brought here, and any one who wants to enjoy a laugh will be more than delighted by the entertainment offered, it is claimed.

The opening part is given an exquisite setting, radiant with numerous vari-colored electric lights, and is very aptly called "The Temple of Gems." The songs in this first part, both the funny ones and those rendered by the vocal soloists, are original and to be heard in no other production in the world. Dockstader contributes a new song, called "When the Hammer on the Anvil Rings," which has a swinging chorus, and is certain to be heard on the streets here long after he has gone. The big feature of the entertainment is Dockstader's extremely humorous make-up as the president in black face, in his new skit, called "A Dull Day in the White House," in which the government of the country is turned over for a day to the merry minstrel. He discusses important national topics in the fine spirit of satire, and incidentally gets into communication, by telephone, with local political affairs.

Other numbers, which are very interesting, are "The Land of Nicotine," in which there is some good dancing and singing, a clever parade drill, called "Reveille at West Point," and Neil O'Brien's droll humor in the closing act of the program, called "A Quick Lunch."

THE MACK-LEONES.

William Gillette's Version of "Esmeralda" is Next Week's Bill.

The Mack-Leone Players will appear all next week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday, in William Gillette's version of Mrs. Burnett's "Esmeralda." The play was produced twenty-five years ago at the Madison Square theater, and ran for over a year and a half. Mr. Gillette was a very young man when he wrote this play, but it is still considered by the critics as the best thing he has ever done. The play was produced by an extremely clever cast, including Herbert Kelcey, Effie Shannon, Annie Russell and W. H. Thompson.

Mr. Mack will play the part of Dave Hardy, the young mountaineer, and Miss Holmes the title role. Jay Quigley, who has proven his dramatic worth since he has been in Duluth, will play old man Rogers, one of the most lovable and sympathetic parts ever written. Miss Farnum will play the part of Mrs. Rogers, and Miss Agnes Bilal, who has lately returned to the cast after a severe illness, will have the ingenue role. The balance of the company are all cast to good advantage, and Mr. Fourlner, the scenic artist, has done some especially fine work with scenic settings, the first scene being placed in North Carolina, and the other there in Paris.

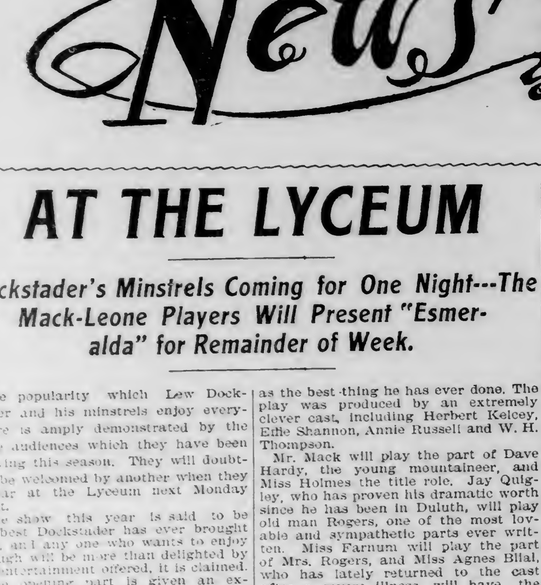

The Cameraphone.

Doubt, which was freely expressed as to the truth of the claims made for the cameraphone, preceding its introduction at the Lyceum theater last week, was effectually dispelled when its singing, dancing, talking and acting pictures were shown to hundreds of men, women and children.

Heading tomorrow's offering will be George Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Boys" and "It's a Grand Old Flag.' An unusually good laughing act will be presented by "Cherry Hill" Jerry in his interpretations of "He's My Pal" and "Peaches and Cream." One of the features of "The Parisian Model," Anna Held's new play, which ran in New York all last season, was "The Teddy Bear Chorus," which the cameraphone reproduces tomorrow.

Thorne and Grady will sing "I'm Afraid to Come Home in the Dark," "March Me Around Again" and "Upper Ten and Lower Five." Two of last season's favorite Indian songs will be sung by the famous vaudeville team Trainor and Stanley. They will sing "Reed Bird" and "Rain-in-the-Face."

Another number on the bill that comes with strong recommendations is the "See-saw" act, which has to be seen to be fully appreciated. In addition the program for tomorrow will be made up of moving pictures and illustrated songs. The performances are continuous from 2 until 11 p. m. with but five minutes' intermission between each performance.

LEW DOCKSTADER,
At the Lyceum Next Week.

AT THE BIJOU

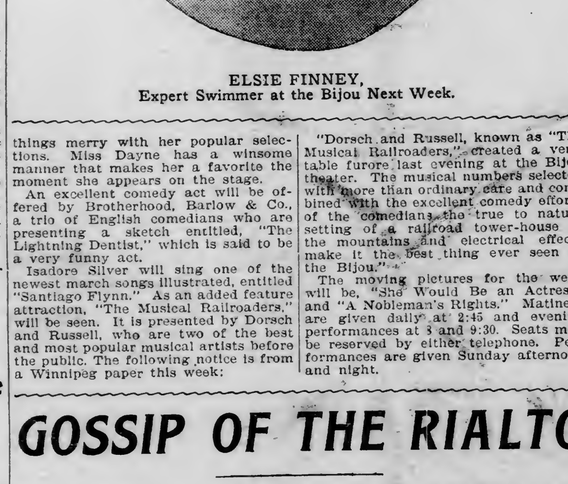

The Champion Swimmers of the World Will be the Big Feature for Next Week---Big Tank Provided on the Stage.

Patrons of the Bijou the coming week will have a chance to see the world's champion swimmers, the management having secured "The Finneys," who will introduce their crystal tank, which holds nearly 500 gallons of rwate. The tank is not large enough for distance swimming, but they will perform such feats as floating, picking coins up with the mouth, turning somersaults in the water, eating and other novel feats. James Finney holds fifteen championship medals, which he has won in European and American contests. The following notice is from the Cleveland Plain Dealer of recent date when the Finneys were appearing in that city at the Keith theater:

"In this week's bill is a clever little tank drama in which the Finneys, James and Elsie, father and daughter, disport themselves in a crystal tank. Papa Finney makes his entre adorned with medals enough to insure him a permanent residence beneath the waters if he should happen to fall overboard when he has them on. They represent the swimming championships which he has won and are sufficiently numerous to give him a life place on the governor's staff when the water gets too cold for swimming. The act includes all sorts of submarine stunts—eating and drinking, protracted naps, coin collecting with the teeth, whiring and somersaulting. The pair hold the interest of the audience all the time and they certainly belong to the 'Finny' tribe."

Harry Kraton will present one of the season's best novelties called "Hoopland," with Clarence Johnson and brother. All three of these artists are considered masters of the rolling hoops, and with the special stage setting the public will see the best act of its kind in vaudeville.

Dainty Dorothy Dayne, a charming little singing comedienne, will make things merry with her popular selections. Miss Dayne has a winsome manner that makes her a favorite the moment she appears on the stage.

ELSIE FINNEY,
Expert Swimmer at the Bijou Next Week.

An excellent comedy act will be offered by Brotherhood, Barlow & Co., a trio of English comedians who are presenting a sketch entitled, "The Lightning Dentist," which is said to be a very funny act.

Isadore Silver will sing one of the newest march songs illustrated, entitled "Santiago Flynn." As an added feature attraction, "The Musical Railroaders," will be seen. It is presented by Dorsch and Russell, who are two of the best and most popular musical artists before the public. The following notice is from a Winnipeg paper this week:

"Dorsch and Russell, known as "The Musical Railroaders," created a veritable furore last evening at the Bijou theater. The musical numbers selected with more than ordinary care and combined with the excellent comedy efforts of the comedians, the true to nature setting of a railroad tower-house in the mountains and electrical effects make it the best thing ever seen at the Bijou."

The moving pictures for the week will be, "She Would Be an Actress" and "A Nobleman's Rights." Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either telephone. Performances are given Sunday afternoon and night.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Old Farce Successfully Made Over Into Musical Comedy---Politics in "The Follies of 1908" ---The Exodus to Europe.

New York, June 27.—"The Three Twins" proved one of the liveliest and most interesting offerings of the summer season, as presented for the first time at the Herald Square theater. This is an adaptation made by Charles Dickson, the comedian, from Mrs. R. Pacheco's well-known farce, "Incog," in which the adapter starred for a number of seasons. As now revealed, it is a highly colored musical show, with lyrics by O. A. Hauerbach and music by Carl Hoschna. The producers have ransacked the market for pretty show girls and gone the limit to find novel effects to please the eye. But it is something more than a pretty mechanical affair and a show-girl exhibition, for the music has a sprightly character of its own, and the numerous vaudeville features are novel and entertaining.

The plot—but never mind the plot.

It is "The Two Dromios" turned topsy-turvy, and instead of two human peas looking exactly alike, there are three to create confusion, distract loving wives and sweethearts and make havoc for that martyr of dyspepsia, Gen. Stanhope, and turn Dr. Siegfried Hartmann's private sanitarium for the cure of diseased minds into a bedlam. All this is familiar stuff and serves merely as the spinal column of an action of which the incidents are really the vitals.

In the first place, your ear is made captive by the sportive music, which, light as it is, has true musical qualities and sparkles generously. Some concession is made to the inevitable law governing musical comedy in revamping a popular tune and turning it over like a flap-jack to make it still more popular. A woman back of me was able to hum the number which is "the piece de resistance" as soon as the orchestra led off with the opening bars, and, of course, everybody was piping it as the audience filed out of the playhouse. But those things have to be. There was compensation in the spirited tempo of the tuneful marches and ballets and some of the duets and choruses.

One seldom sees such an aggregation of shapely and comely chorus ladies. The management must have scoured the theatrical agencies with a microscope to look for perfection in the human form. There was a bevy of the daintiest girls in the most ravishing bathing costumes that were ever turned out of a costumer's shop. If one is impelled to wonder at the freedom of our musical stage in the display of limb, let him consider that the whole philosophy of one's moral equanimity toward such exhibitions is due to the neatness of these dainty figures. You somply can't be shocked, no matter how you try.

Then we caught the first glimpse of the famous Directoire gown, the sheathed skirt you have all read about. The exhibition was fetching, and all the rest of it was in keeping.

As the curtain went down on the sea view beach scene of the first act there was a quick magic lantern effect before the drop, and in the darkness an illuminated canoe was seen to cross the stage with realistic imitation of heaving billows, carrying a loving group athwart your enchanted vision, singing the aforesaid "piece de resistance." Then, in response to the noisy demonstration of enthusiasm and approval, the curtain rose again and displayed six little maidens seated in a revolving flower-decked and electrically glowing swing, describing a majestic circle through the circumambient night air.

But the real center of interest was Bessie McCoy in a song and dance with a group of assisting coryphees, toward the end of the performance. The song was called "The Yama Yama Man." When the gloom in which the stage was momentarily enveloped was lifted it disclosed in semidarkness a queerly garbed octet of female clowns crouching on the floor, in the center of which Bessie McCoy—who in the early part of the evening had given one a strong temptation to compare her make-up to that of the sweet Ophelia in "Hamlet" during her tragic period of dementia—stood erect in spacious black satin Harlequin trousers and waist, with white buttons and gloves. In one of the most eccentric dances in which the vivacious and fascinating Bessie has ever been seen, she scored one encore after another, until exhausted, she begged leave to retire.

Then there was another striking effect. Against the back drop, while the chorus was making the beams rattle with vocal fervor, suddenly appeared, in heroic size and the color of life, the luminous, laughing face of a beautiful girl, winking at the audience and coquetting right and left while apparently joining lustily in the song. It was not the ordinary cinemetograph portrait, with its flicker and monotone, but the living, speaking, sparkling face of a girl ten times magnified. On the program I saw a special reference to this contrivance, which was invented by Charles De Soria and is called the faceograph.

Not only was the piece well put on, as indicated, but it was well acted, with Clifton Crawford in the leading part. He is a young fellow who has been seen a great deal in vaudeville recently, and introduced some specialties and imitations. Alice Yorke, a soprano of excellent quality, raised the artistic tone of the performance by her fine singing, being at the same time an actress of animation and temperament. In the cast also was Joseph Allen as General Stanhope, and W. J. McCarthy as Dr. Hartmann, the head of a sanitarium.

The Chicago convention, among other things, is cleverly burlesqued in "The Follies of 1908," which Florenze Ziegfeld presented at what he calls the Jardin de Paris, being, in fact, the roof garden of the New York theater. This new show is of the dynamic vaudeville order, put together by Harry B. Smith, with music by Maurice Levi, with plenty of pointed dialogue and strong pictoral features, terpsichorean diversions and popular tunes.

The show is studded with political allusions and characters, and many prominent men are cleverly caricatured in life. Fairbanks, Bryan, Cannon and Taft are all brought into the limelight, His Satanic Majesty apparently acting as chairman of the convention. When "The Master of the Universe" is summoned there appears, of course, President Roosevelt.

The dances are elaborate and well worked out. There is a mosquito ballet of pretty maidens, who settle in a swarm over the stage and sweetly hum the interrogatory refrain, "Would You Like to Be Stung?" And there is a striking taxicab song in which a dozen girls, representing the popular vehicles, go through a series of pleasing evolutions. The song hit of the evening, however, was "You Will Have to Sing an Irish Song." The show is richly entertaining.

A Toledo newspaper once had a fair dramatic critic on its staff, Elizabeth Brice by name, who is lost to the writing craft forever. A few months ago she was unknown to fame beyond the radius of her Toledo circulation department. Today she illuminates the posters on Broadway as one of the hits in musical comedy. When Ethel Levy decided to bid farewell to her career as a dancer and go to Europe to cultivate her voice for grand opera, and resigned from "Nearly a Hero," in which Sam Bernard is playing at the Casino, this modest Elizabeth Brice who may or may not be a relative of the late Senator Brice, was given her lines in the piece. She acquitted herself so satisfactorily that her name became known as a find, and she continued to acquit herself so well that the Shuberts have just re-engaged her for an important role at a greatly increased salary.

It is marvelous now the reports from Berlin of American singers making hits in grand opera have tended to start a craze among our minor songsters to leave our shores, where they are not appreciated, to go to Europe to cultivate their voices, in the expectation of rivaling Mary Garden and Geraldine Farrar.

The example of Estelle Levy will be followed by Estelle Wentworth, the prima donna of "The Yankee Prince," who will leave the stage for awhile after her present contract expires, to study singing abroad. And these two are only a fraction of the ambitious ones.

Ethel Levy, by the way, before leaving for the other side, declared that the rumor of her secret marriage to Robert Edeson is without foundation, and she added she would remain single forever.

Lina Arbarbanell, who sang the role of the Merry Widow in the performances of the opera in Chicago and here, sailed for Europe on Tuesday, and will enjoy a long vacation in Vienna.

Rose Stahl was a conspicuous figure in the exodus of hard-working professionals who have been sailing for Europe to recoup their wasted energies, of late. She is not averse to playing "The Chorus Lady" another season or two, and declared as she was about to go aboard the Baltic that she would be playing Patricia

Brennan re-engaged practically the entire original company of "The Clansman" for the famous play's tour of the Pacific slope next autumn. The organization has been held together intact for three years, or ever since the first production, and is known as the No. 1 company. George H. Brennan personally interviewed and tested the abilities of not less than 1,500 actors before making the final selections. Instead of the usual haphazard bunch, he secured a group of players thoroughly able to interpret the life of Dixieland after the war and temperamentally fitted to their respective parts. Besides a large number of supernumeraries, there are forty-five principal actors, including such favorites of "Clansman" audience as Franklin Ritchie, who takes the title part of Ben Cameron; Eugenie Hayden, Maude Durand, Barry Maxwell, Ruth Hart, Violet Nersereau, M. J. Jordan, Murry Woods, Guy B. Hoffman, George A. Linderman, J. L. Sweeney, John J. Flanagan, Earl Lee, Edna Davis and Mortimer Ritchie.

Klaw & Erlanger have engaged Master Gabriel to play the role of Little Nemo in the big cartoon spectacle, "Little Nemo in Slumberland," which the firm will produce in New York in the early fall. The $100,000 production will be the biggest made in a decade. The book is by Harry B. Smith and the music by Victor Herbert. Three acts with ten scenes will be utilized to tell the story. Master Gabriel, who will play the title role, was born in New York City. At the time of his birth he weighed just exactly fifteen ounces. At the age of 4 he could read and write. His parents moved to Wickford, R. I., where the lad entered the public schools. Special desks and books were made for his use. At the age of 12 he was taken to Paris by his parents, where he mastered the French, German and Italian tongues. Gabriel made his stage debut at the Providence opera house. Later he entered vaudeville. He created the role of "Buster Brown" in the play of that title which has made such a great success. Master Gabriel is 33 inches tall. His parents were of average size. Joseph Cawthron, the commendian, will head the list of fun-makers who will vivify "Little Nemo" and his adventures in Slumberland.

Klaw & Erlanger have appointed John Murray Press Representative succeeding Wilbur M. Bates, who resigned because of illness. For the past two seasons Mr. Murray has been business manager for Lillian Russell in "The Butterfly" and her racing play, "Wildfire." Mr. Murray was graduated from Princeton university. He spend two years in the New York law school, but did not take the bar examinations as he never intended to practice the profession. His earlier newspaper experience was obtained on the New York Sun. Editorial positions have been filled by him on the New York World, Press and the Hearst papers, both in New York and Chicago.

Maclyn Arbuckle, who plays the part of the sheriff in Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Round Up," is spending the summer at his country place on the St. Lawrence river near Ogdensburg, New York. There will be more of him in the play next year than there was last season. He has taken on five pounds in weight since the close of the pday.

Klaw & Erlanger have secured for Adeline Genee, the dancer, the famous ballet, "Coppelia." This composition is the best example of classic music ever written. Her contract with the firm covers a period of three years. Associated with Mlle. Genee will be nine girls, whom the firm have signed during their present engagement in ondon. Klaw & Erlanger will also present in New York with Mlle. Genee in the leading part the pantomimic play, "The Little Dryad," by Miss Milliner Duchess" and "Round the Town."

Paul Armstrong, who is writing the big naval play for Klaw & Erlanger, is working on the manuscript at his country place, Acton Manor, near Annapolis, Md. Mr. Armstrong has purchased the Belmont place near his summer home and he intends to become a gentleman farmer breeding pedigreed stock. Mr. Armstrong's new play will be called "In Time of Peace." The characters will be officers in the navy and their associates. Big specific effects are planned for the production.

Lillian Russell will open her season at Asbury Park, Sept. 4, in her lively racing comedy, "Wildfire." Her metropolitan engagement will be played at the Liberty theater beginning the following Monday evening, Sept. 8. Return visits will be made to the principal cities of the East and Middle West. After two weeks at the Illinois theater, Chicago, Miss Russell will play Denver and the Pacific coast cities. A visit to Goldfield and the mining towns of Nevada is contemplated. As this will be the first time Miss Russell will play in these cities a rousing reception is expected. "Wildfire" is one of the best racing comedies ever staged.

Edmund Day, the author of "The Round Up," has returned from Europe with a couple of new plays in his trunk. His great play of the ranges and the desert of Arizona will be presented by Klaw & Erlanger at the Academy of Music, New York, opening Aug. 31. The Academy with the assistance of the cow ponies, cavalry horses and bucking bronchos. The cast this season will be as strong as the one assembled last year. Maelyn Arbuckle will continue in the role of the fat sheriff whom nobody loves. "The Round Up" will pay its first visit to the road this season.

Klaw & Erlanger's new and greater "Ben-Hur" begins its tenth season in

JAMES FINNEY,
Swimming Expert at the Bijou Next Week.

September. A few cities in the East will be visited, but the organization will play the larger part of its year in the Far West. New and improved racing parapharnalia is being built. The chariot race in "Ben-Hur" has stood alone for half a decade as the most thrilling and stirring of all the effects produced in a modern theater, but the scene to be presented this season will contain features hitherto considered impossible within the limitations of a stage. New scenery and costumes and equipment are being made on even a more elaborate scale than before.

Miss Alice Lloyd, the young English comedienne, who is to be starred by Klaw & Erlanger, is busy in London filling contracts which were made before she scored such a big hit in this country. Miss Lloyd is to appear early in the fall in a new musical comedy called "The Bonnie Belle of Scotland." John J. McNally wrote the book and the music is by George M. Cohan. The McNaughtons will support Miss Lloyd in her first starring venture. The comedienne will return to New York about a month before rehearsals begin. She will bring with her from Paris a lot of ideas for costumes and gowns which she will work out with F. Richard Anderson, who will design the dresses and scenery of the production.

McIntyre & Heath have closed their third successful tour in "The Ham Tree" and are now planning for next year. They have not settled whether they will go abroad for next year with the same musical comedy or get up a new piece for their American use next season.

Last week in Asbury Park, N. J., Jack Gardner and Louise Dresser were quietly married in the presence of a few friends, and that same evening Mr. Gardner hurried back to New York to play his part in the new Cohen piece now running at the Knickerbocker.

J. M. Allison has made a big change in the company that is to present his musical comedy, "The Top o' the World," for the Chicago run that opens next month. The first of these is the engagement of Emma Janvier to play the eccentric character of the queen. This part heretofore has been played my men, but the engagement of Miss Janvier should be a big aid to the musical extravaganza.

Elsie Janis closed her special summer engagement in "The Hoyden" last Saturday night and left on Wednesday for Europe to spend her vacation in Paris and London or at some of the places near the two cities. Miss Janis does not have to worry about her next season's offering, as she will continue in "The Hoyden" for another season. According to present plans, Joe Cawthorne will continue also as a featured member of that clever company.

There is a rumor from Paris that when N. C. Goodwin returns to this country for his annual tour next season he will have for his leading lady Miss May de Sousa, the pretty musical comedy star who has been abroad for several years. Miss De Sousa is at present playing in one of the Paris revues, but is said to be ambitious to get into the legitimate drama, and may consent to risk the task under Goodwin's direction.

The recent death of Frank C. Bangs removed one of the favorites of the stage veterans of this country. Mr. Bangs died at Atlantic City, where he was living in retirement. He was 75 years old, and had passed through a long and honorable career upon the stage. He began his career in Washington in 1852, and since then had been closely identified with American theatricals except during the four years of the Civil war, when he fought with the Confederate army. He played with Laura Keen in New York, and also originated the part of Old Tom in "After Dark." In his days with Palmer, Bangs had the leading parts in such plays as "Tom Bunker's Daughter," "Jim the Penman" and "Alabama." He also played with Booth, Barrett, Fechter, Adelaide Neilson and other stars of the day. In later years Bangs had been seen in many character old men parts, and was always looked upon as an actor of fine qualities and much personal distinction.

Wilton Lackaye's next play will be a drama called "Saul," written by Paul Heyse, the German author whose play, "Mary of Magdala," was produced in this country some seasons back by Mrs. Fiske. Little is known in advance of the new play, but that it was selected by two such shrewd judges as Mackaye and Manager William A. Brady is pretty good evidence that it is possessed of the qualities needed in a successful drama.

No Need of Suffering From Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment hould be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

DR. MITCHELL

Corner First Street and Fourth Ave. West, One Block East of Postoffice.

A record of nearly eleven years of the most remarkable cures; old cases of rheumatism and paralysis, helpless for years, are made to walk, old supposed incurable cases of deafness and blindness that had wrecked people's lives for a score of years; nervous prostration, women who from female weakness and disease have become infirmed invalids and are cured in a short time. He has cured case after case of stomach troubles, constipation, kidney and bladder trouble; removed troublesome growths, cured cancer. Dr. Mitchell, in talking to a reporter a few days ago said: "I know that I have a treatment that will reach diseases which medicine will not. My treatment stands upon its merits and will bear the closest investigation."

RUINS OF ELEVATOR "D" ARE STILL SMOULDERING

THE BURNING ELEVATOR.

FIREMEN AT WORK.

Last night's rain was not enough to entirely extinguish the fire at the Consolidated Elevator company's elevator D, and the ruins are still smouldering today. It probably will be two or three days before the fire is extinguished. The fact that there is so much loose grain covering the burning timbers makes it rather difficult to get at the fire.

Firemen remained on the scene all night and kept streams of water playing on the mass of ruins. They are still on guard today, continually watching to see that the wind does not fan the fire into dangerous action again, and putting water where it will do the most good. The spectacular part of the big fire was over by 5 o'clock in the afternoon, but flames leaped briskly about the blackened ruins of the building until about 9 o'clock in the evening.

The fire department and the tugs which assisted in fighting the blaze are coming in for many compliments on their efficient work in confining the flames to the one building. There was a strong wind blowing from the southwest, carrying burning embers a considerable distance, and the two elevators to the east of D, as well as the docks and warehouses across the slip, were constantly in danger of catching fire. There were several small blazes about these docks and warehouses that would have assumed serious proportions if the tugs and men on land had not been there to put them out.

The crew of the tug Helm probably saved the dock and warehouse and contents from destruction by promptly smashing open the doors and extinguishing a lively blaze that had started on the inside. The tugs Superior and Record each took a company of firemen on board, who climbed upon the roofs of the freight warehouses, where the tugs kept their hose and buckets supplied with water until the big fire across the slip was under control.

Especially effective at the elevator itself was the work of the tug Sinclair, Capt. Hoy, and the America, Capt. Ditzel, who were able to throw powerful streams of water clear over the building. They demonstrated as never before the value of a fire tug in protecting the harbor frontage. Capt. Vroman personally directed the work of the tugs of the Union Towing & Wrecking company, working like a professional fireman, whose job depended upon the success of his efforts. T. W. Hugo of the Consolidated Elevator company was early at the fire, and remained with the front rank of firemen, alternately getting almost blistered by the fierce heat and soaked by numerous streams of water.

BIG DAY FOR RINGLINGS IN DULUTH

CROWDS WATCHING CIRCUS PARADE.

Yesteday was one of the best "circus days" ever seen in Duluth and the Ringling Bros.' show prospered mightily and gave Duluthians a very fine performance.

The tents were packed afternoon and evening and there was scarcely a vacant seat anywhere at either performance.

It was a good, old-fashioned "red lemonade" circus day. The sun beat down warmly all day long, but the people did not mind the heat. They were grateful for the clear skies and so were the Ringlings.

Ringlings certainly know what constitutes a good circus performance and how to carry one out. After the grand introductory pageant there is not a single wait or a pause; the entertainment is incessant until the chariot races proclaim the program's end.

All of the features which have been emblazoned with large type and colored pictures for the past few weeks were given. There was Alexander Patty, who walked on his head down a flight of stairs; the elephants, who played nine-pins; the horse, which went to bed; the Duttons and other famous riders; the Persian acrobats; the aerialists; the clowns; the races, and the somersaulting automobile with the woman inside. Both performances yesterday went off without a hitch.

The menagerie looked well fed and healthy, the horses sleek and sprightly and, in fact, every department of the big show seemed at its best.

INDICTMENT IS DISMISSED

State Drops Case Against Alexander McQueen, a Local Saloonkeeper.

The state did not prosecute Alexander McQueen, the Lake avenue saloonkeeper, under the indictment charging him with keeping open after hours. When the case was called for trial yesterday afternoon, Judge S. F. White, who is trying the state cases in the absence of County Attorney Norton, moved for a dismissal on the ground that the indictment was faulty. The motion was granted and McQueen was discharged.

The indictment was one of several returned against local saloonmen who have been convicted and fined in the municipal court for violating the city ordinance, relative to the closing hour. T. J. McKeon, who represented McQueen states that he did not prosecute the saloonkeeper under the city ordinance. Mr. McKeon's term of office as assistant city attorney expired shortly before McQueen's arrest.

MARSHALL AND JOHNSON

Will Go on the Ballot for Senator in November.

Fargo, N. D., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Practically complete returns from thirty-six of the forty-four counties in the state give Congressman Thomas F. Marshal 17,026 votes in the direct primaries for the Republican senatorial nomination; M. N. Johnson, 15,144; Senator H. C. Hansbrough, 10,888; C. B. Little, 10,203. Marshal lacks about 7 per cent of the 40 per cent necessary to secure the nomination. The names of both Marshall and Johnson will go on the ballot in November.

FOURTH AT NORTH BRANCH.

Enterprising Citizens Planning to Have Big Celebration.

North Branch, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—From reports which have been received by the committee it is evident that the parade this year will be the best ever. J. P. Holmberg, in dress uniform, will be the marshal of the day and with the Woodmen band, the fraternal orders, the various floats, the Holligan band and the calithumpians the parade will certainly be worth looking for.

The people of Harris, Sunrise, Kost, Almelund, Stacy, Weber, Isanti, Blomford, Cambridge, Stark, Fish Lake and Spring Lake, and, in fact, everybody from all the surrounding country, are expected to come to North Branch on Independence day and join with the revelers. North Branch makes good.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN SYNOD IN SESSION AT RED WING.

Red Wing, Minn., June 27.—The convention of the English Lutheran synod of the Northwest has been formally opened at St. Paul's church. The officers elected are: President, A. J. Reichert, Red Wing; secretary, John Keehely, Albert Lea; treasurer, C. A. Smith, Minneapolis.

The report of Rev. A. J. Reichert of St. Paul's English Lutheran church, whos is now serving his second term as president of the Northwest synod, was full of many interesting facts and suggestions in regard to the work of the synod. Mr. Reichert, in his report, among other things, says:

"What progress the Lutheran church has made during the past twenty-five years! She has grown from 3,350 ministers, 6,384 congregations, 823,398 communicants, until today there are over 8,000 ministers, more than 13,000 congregations and over 2,000,000 communicants. From the sixteenth place on the roll of denominations in the United States, Lutheranism has advanced to the third. Eighteen synods have been organized, nine theological seminaries, twenty-one homes for the aged, thirty orphanages, nine deaconess' institutions and nine emigrants' and seamen's missions."

CASS LAKE BOND VOTE LACKED SIX BALLOTS.

Cass Lake, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bond election, recently held here for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not it was the desire of the voters to bond the village for the amount of the outstanding indebtedness, did not carry, as was at first reported. It was the general opinion at first that the majority of votes would determine the question, but after consulting the law, it was found that it took five-eighths majority to carry the bonds. At the recent election the bonds lacked six votes of being carried by this majority. Another election will be held in the near future.

WEDDING JOKER INJURED.

Little Falls, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jake Kingren broke his right arm Tuesday by falling from an elevation of fifteen feet. He, with a number of other young people, were playing pranks on the Kingen-John wedding party and Jake had gone to the second story to see what was next to be done in the line of jokes. He was chased by one of the party and attempted to slide down a pole and the pole broke throwing Jake to the ground.

SOX SCORE ON MAROONS

Duluth Takes First Game of the Series in Ten Innings.

Krick Pitches Fine Ball and Support is Errorless.

Winnipeg, Man., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Playing errorless ball behind Krick, who pitched a splendid game, the Duluth White Sox won the first game here by a score of 2 to 1 in ten innings.

From a spectator's viewpoint, the game was one of the best seen here this season. It was full of interesting situations, in which pitchers and fielders were forced to work to ward off defeat. Bond started out to pitch for Winnipeg, but was wild and had to be taken out in the first inning. Theobald, who succeeded him, pitched good ball all the way through until the Sox bunched a couple of hits in the tenth for the winning run.

Both Theobald and Krick were hit fairly hard, but both were strong with men on bases. Winnipeg had eight men left on the sacks and Duluth twelve during the game, both pitchers working well when there was danger of scores. Sensenback had a bad day with three errors, but otherwise the Winnipeg team fielded well. Score:

BRANDON WINS HITTING GAME

Cook and Smith Are Pounded and Angels Bunch Hits.

Brandon, Man., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brandon and Fargo had a batting bee at the expense of Cook and Smith yesterday, Brandon winning by a score of 11 to 8.

Fargo had the greater number of hits, with nineteen to Brandon's thirteen, but the Brandons could not bring them together sufficiently to win. The hitting was fierce all the way through, five of the hits being for three sacks and one for two bases. A high wind bothered the outfielders, and errors were frequent. Mills, Brandon's catcher, turned an ankle sliding to second and will be out of the game for some time. Custer is sick and Brandon is seriously crippled. Score:

LEGG AND SEAVER.

Golf Championship at Kansas City Lies Between Two Men.

Kansas City., June 27.—The trans-Mississippi golf championship lies between Harry Legg of Minneapolis and Everett H. Seaver of this city and they will settle the matter on the Evanston Golf club links. Legg beat L. Johnson of Minneapolis yesterday, 6 up and 4 to play. Seaver beat Jerry Magee of Omaha 7 up and 6 to play.

MAINSTAYS ARE OUT.

Colt and Colin Unable to Compete for Coney Island Stake.

New York, June 27.—Neither Colin nor Colt, the mainstays of James R. Keene's big stable this year, start today in the $25,000 Coney Island Jockey club stakes at Sheepshead Bay. Both are seriously amiss. The sheath of the tendon of one of Colin's forelegs is so feverish that Dr. Sheppard, the veterinary, declares after examination that it would be dangerous to work the colt for the rich stake.

Colt has developed a quartercrack in one hoof. It may be cured in time, but neither this colt nor Colin may be seen in a race for a long time to come.

Sponges Are Tossed.

San Francisco, June 27.—Jimmy Gardner won from Kyle Whitney last night in the thirteenth round, Whitney's second throwing up the sponge. Jimmy Walsh got the decision over Jimmy Caroll whose seconds threw up the sponge in the eleventh round.

WILL HOLD TO LIMIT

Finances to be Discussed at Meeting of Northern League.

Winnipeg Said to be Spending Too Much Money.

When the Northern league teams return from Canada, J. M. Lamb and A. H. Pulford of Winnipeg, and Dr. V. E. Lattimer of Brandon, will come with them and a meeting of the league board of control will be held here or at Fargo to settle several matters of importance.

The salary limit question will be brought up by Duluth and threshed out to a finish. At the annual meeting of the Duluth club Thursday, it was decided that the teams were going too high and something should be done to check the lavish expenditure of money. Winnipeg is the greatest offender and the Maroon delegates will hear a few things.

It is not believed the teams can be cut to $1,200, the salary limit, but it should certainly be set at $1,500 and rigidly enforced at that figure. Winnipeg and Fargo are both over $1,500, which is believed to be entirely too high. Duluth and Brandon are about $1,500, but no more.

There are two games, on which the league board must pass. One is between Duluth and Brandon and the other between Fargo and Brandon. Duluth claims that its game with Brandon, when it lost through a faulty interpretation of the rules by the umpire, should be thrown out, while Brandon claims a tie in a game, which was awarded to Fargo by the umpire.

COMMERCIAL TEAMS TO PLAY

Two Games in League Schedule at Athletic Park.

Two games will be played in the Commercial league this afternoon at Athletic park. The Wolvin and Patrick teams will go on at 2:45, and as soon as their game is finished the Board of Trade and First National Bank will play.

The Board of Trade team is leading the league with two games won and none lost. The Bankers' and Wolvin teams have each won one and lost one, and the Patrick team has lost two games without a victory. The teams will line up as follows:

COLORED MEN TO PLAY HERE

Brady's Hibbing Team to Meet Gophers at Athletic Park.

Tom Brady's Hibbing Colts, independent champions of Northern Minnesota for several years, will be displayed to Duluth fans next Wednesday and Thursday, when they will play the Colored Gophers of St. Paul at Athletic park.

Both teams are worth going a long way to see. Tom Brady, the manager of the Hibbing team, has welded together a well organized machine, which plays baseball every minute of the time and plays it well. The men have been playing together for several years, sweeping everything before them, and every fan in Hibbing swears by them.

The Gophers have one of the best colored teams in the country and only the color line keeps some of the men out of the big leagues. "Rat" Johnson, their catcher, is one of the best men with the big mitt in Minnesota.

The teams will open their series with two games here and will then go to Hibbing for the Fourth of July series. The Gophers have played thirty-nine games thus far this year and have lost only four. Hibbing and the Gophers met in twelve games last season, Hibbing winning six, losing five and tying one.

COLLINS IS ARRAIGNED

Jockey Club to Get Interpretation of New Law.

New York, June 27.—The determination of the Jockey club to make use of the arrest of Melville Collins to secure a judicial interpretation of the new anti-gambling laws was indicted yesterday when Collins was again taken before Justice Bischoff and charged with violating the new laws by making a wager at the Sheepshead Bay track. Collins was arrested several days ago by a detective employed by the management of the Sheepshead Bay track and was held in bail by a magistrate. Counsel for the race track interests promptly secured a writ of habea corpus and brought Collins into the supreme court, but the case against him was dismissed by agreement of counsel on the ground that the complaint was defective because it did not state in what respect Collins was alleged to have violated the law.

As Collins was still held on the magistrate's order, a representative of the racing interests yesterday secured another writ of habeas corpus from Justice Bischoff and again took Collins into the supreme court. He was charged with having received $5 wagered upon the result of a horse race. Acting District Attorney Elder of Kings county was in court to represent the county.

GOLD STOLEN BY MINERS.

Statisticians compile tables of the world's production of gold yearly, but all admit that it is impossible to give accurate figures because not a little of the metal is stolen and never figures in the returns of production. In a country like China, where the industry of gold mining is poorly organized and controlled, this source of error in the returns of output is very important, says the New York Sun.

Prof. de Launay in his recent book on gold says that the gold industry in no country escapes the evil of thievery. Gold stealing goes on everywhere, but the extent of the evil varies according to the country and the efficiency of the supervision over miners.

Gold from its nature is easy to steal and to sell. In the Transvaal it is estimated that from 5 to 10 per cent of all the gold extracted from the ores of the Witwatersrand are stolen.

The gold thief is able to steal on a larger scale in such a country as Siberia, where the miners are more isolated and corruption is more common. There the thieves even venture to tamper sometimes with work superintendents who for a share of the pickings will give favorable opportunities for stealing. According to Mr. Levat's statements in his book on gold mining in Eastern Siberia, the quantity of gold stolen from Siberian mines is not less than 20 per cent of the entire output.

In 1896 4,000 adventurers drove the mining companies and their employes from the gold district of the Zeya river and washed out a large amount of gold before they finally fled on the approach of a regiment of Cossacks. Not a particle of the gold they mined has been included in the figures of production.

It was found also in 1830 that gold mining along the border between French Guinana and Brazil, where the placers were remarkably rich, had been carried on for several years without any supervision whatever, and not an ounce of the gold was included in the statistics.

To find, to get, to let, to sell—is to Herald want advertise!

ADVERTISING HIS WARES.

A preacher in a college town up the state recently decided that the best way to increase the attendance at his church was to advertise. So he took up a part of the paper in town with a small display got up not unlike a theater advertisement, says the New York Sun.

"How long since you have been to church?" was the first line in black type interrogation. "Better go tomorrow," was the next line. "Try the First ——," continued the advertisement, mentioning the name of a denomination that is not essential in the context.

Then followed the subjects for the morning and the evening sermons.

The pastor had designated for the evening sermon, "Boyville," and he invited for the purpose of hearing what he had to say, "All boys, all who once were boys, all who dislike boys, and all who like them."

VIRGINIA WINS FIRST

Graham Holds Hibbing in Check in Opening Game.

Two Hits Bunched in Ninth Inning Wins Game.

Hibbing, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the score 1 to 1 and two down in the ninth inning, Walters singled and Anthony hit out a double, Virginia winning the first game of the series from Hibbing oy a score of 2 to 1.

The game was one of the best ever seen on the Mesaba range Oscar Graham of the Minneapolis American association team, and Gilligan were pitted against each other in a pitcher's battle, and it was a battle indeed. Graham had a bad lining in the fifth, when he passed Moynihan with the bases full and forces in Hibbing's only run. In the other innings he was unhittable and had perfect control and Hibbing never had a chance to score.

Gilligan pitched a fine game also, but three of Virginia's four hits were well placed. In the fourth inning, "Kid" Taylor, who appeared in the Virginia line-up for the first time this season, hit one over the fence with the bases clear. The two hits coming together in the ninth finished it up.

The teams will play three games, Freeman pitching for Hibbing this afternoon, and Currie for Virginia. Sunday, Gilchrist will oppose Graham. Score:

KELLEYS VS. FITWELLS

Semi-Professional Teams to Settle City Championship.

The semi-professional championship of the city will be settled tomorrow, when the Kelleys and Fitwells will meet at Athletic park in their first game of the season. It is the game for which the supporters of both teams have been waiting—the game which will settle the long standing dispute between Managers Ziegler and Jacobs, who have talked themselves blue in the face extolling their respective exponents of the national game.

The Kelleys and Fitwells are both good teams. They have met some of the strongest semi-professional crowds in Northern Minnesota and have come out without their colors lowered. The fans have not had an opportunity to see them work together and they will turn out well, if the weather permits.

The Fitwells' pitching staff is now strong with Dick Thorsen and Murphy, both southpaws. Thorsen blew in this week from Clarksburg, W. Va., where he was pitching in a league that gave up the ghost. He left here to join the Lima team of the Ohio State league, but was released and went to Clarksburg. He pitched six games there and won four. After the league broke up he returned to Duluth and will probably be given a trial with the White Sox. In the meanwhile, he will pitch semi-professional ball and will go after the Kelleys tomorrow as a starter. If Thorsen falls, Murphy will take up the burden.

Incidentally, the Fitwells haven't any Fourth of July dates, those at Ashland being cancelled. The Ashland team has received a scorching letter regarding the cancellation, and an effort is being made to hook up with one of the range towns.

Contracts and Releases.

New York, June 27.—Harry C. Pulliam president of the National League of professional baseball clubs has authorized the following contracts and releases: Contracts—With Boston: Harry Smith and H. E. Young; with Cincinnati, George A. Kelly; with Pittsburg, Roy A. Thomas and Allan Storke. Releases by Chicago to Decatur; A. V. Campbell; by Philadelphia to Trenton, C. A. Crist.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood, Ind., "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

RACING AT THE STATE FAIR

Great Array of Pacers and Trotters in the Entries---Races Will Be Run Under an Entirely Different System.

Never in the history of harness horse racing has such an array of pacers and trotters been entered to participate in a Western circuit race meet as there are in the races to be run during the state fair this fall. C. M. Griggs, vice president and superintendent of speed of the Minnesota state fair, has probably given more thought and time to the arrangement of the racing program than has ever been given by any living man.

The state fair races this fall will be run under an entirely different system from ever before. With the exception of the $5,000-trot and the $5,000-pace, all races will be run under the three-heat system, every heat of which must be a race, as 30 per cent of the purse goes to the winner of each heat, the 10 per cent going to the horse standing best in the summary. Mr. Griggs has also abandoned the time honored customed of deducting 5 per cent from winners, as is the case at all the meetings on both the Grand and Western circuits.

As a result of these liberal conditions, the largest and fastest lot of horses ever before entered in the West are now numbered on the entry list for the state fair meet.

The great racing feature of the entire fair is to be the grand challenge championship trot for a purse of $6,000 to be raced on Monday, Aug. 31, the first day of the state fair. This is not only the greatest race of the Minnesota state fair, but it will be the greatest harness horse race of the year, in fact it is doubtful if there has ever before been an equal number of such celebrated horses entered in one race. When the idea of pulling off this big event at the state fair was first mentioned to the editors of the various horse papers most of them expressed their doubts as to the state fair securing enough entries to fill it. Under the conditions it was necessary that at least three of the entries must have records of 2:06¾ or better in order for the race to fill. As there are less than a dozen horses in the United States in racing form who have such records it was quite reasonable that the horsemen should express some doubt regarding the filling of such an important event. To the surprise of not only Mr. Griggs himself, but of the entire harness world, the entries which closed on June 10, showed nine of the most famous horses in the world ready to participate in this great event.

E. F. Gears, who is probably the best known harness horseman in America, has entered the famous Highball; J. A. Crabtree of Atlantic Quincy, Mass., has entered the no less famous Sanoma Girl; Calvin Proctor of Hobart has entered Watson, who took the measure of Sanoma Girl last fall, but at a time when it was claimed that she was not in good condition. The other entries are such wonderful racing machines as the bay mare Angolia, owned by S. S. Smollinger of Iron Mountain, Mo. Mr. Smollinger has also entered his celebrated brown mare, Daffodil; W. B. Taylor's bay mares, Early Alice and May June; C. D. Mulchay of La Porte, Iowa, the brown mare, Aunt Jerusha, and F. Maybaum's bay gelding, Wilkesheart. This race will probably bring out the largest crowd that has ever assembled at the state fair grounds. If either Highball or Sanoma Girl were to give an exhibition against time it is doubtful if the grandstand and bleachers on the state fair grounds would hold the admirers of the harness horses who would want to see them, but that will be the result when the greatest collection of horses that have faced a starter meet on the state fair grounds track, which is now conceded b yall horsemen to be the fastest track of the circulation type in the world.

In the 2:04 "Hamline pace" to be raced on Wednesday, Sept. 2, there is an array of pacers equally as famous as the trotters in the grand challenge champion trot to be raced on Monday. The entries in the 2:04 pace include Dana Patch, the best daughter of the famous Dan Patch, owned by the International Stock Food company of Minneapolis. Dana Patach, last year, paced in 2:05¼, and she shows every indication of getting within a few seconds of the mark of her wonderful father this season. Argot Boy, Lady Maud C, Baron Gratton, Aileen Wilson, Don Roma, Inferlotta, Citation, Rollins and Robert Lee are the other entries in the 2:04 pace.

In the 2:13 St. Paul race, for a purse of $5,000, to be raced on Tuesday, Sept. 1, there are thirty-seven entries, the largest list of entries for this event the state fair has ever had.

The following is an itemized list of the entries in the early closing events, which closed at 11 o'clock p. m., on June 10:

SILER WAS AUTHORITY

Veteran Referee Recognized as Greatest of Arbiters.

Began Writing Late in Life and Made Reputation.

George Siler, the boxing referee, who died of heart failure last week, was one of the best known men connected with the ring. Appended is a sketch of his life:

George Siler was born of German parents in New York in 1846. He celebrated his 61st birthday and, incidentally his retirement as an official referee at the monster testimonial which was given him by friends at the Chicago Coliseum, Sept. 23 of last year.

"The greatest referee of them all" quit school early, but not without a foundation upon which to base the worldly knowledge he acquired later. It was in the noon hours while he was employed as a packer in a furniture factory that he learned the art of boxing, and later he turned his talents in that direction to good account in nightly exhibitions at Harry Hill's and other boxing halls about New York. Contemporaneous with him were Billy Edwards, Arthur Chambers, Dooney Harris, "Siddons' Mouse' Mike Donovan, Steve Taylor, Mike Coburn, Johnny Clark and Billy Madden, and Siler was acknowledged to be as clever as the cleverest and as fair as the fairest.

When Siler's father enlisted at the time of the Civil war and went to the front to fight with Sigel, George became the head of the household, and his devotion to his parents was constant until they died at a ripe age within a decade.

In 1873 Siler and Billy Madden, both lightweights, toured this tier of states, meeting all comers, regardless of size, in limited round bouts, and Siler's encounters with the rough lumberjacks and miners were among the rich experiences whch he told so well.

Surrenders His Title.

Some time after returning to New York, he gave up boxing and his title of lightweight champion and became superintendent of the Coney Island Pier. He drifted West again in the middle '80s and turned his hand to teaching sparring.

Siler's ability to write of pugilists and pugilism in an instructive and entertaining way was discovered through a personal letter he wrote to Mike Donovan, boxing instructor of the New York Athletic club. His first printed article dealt with the philosophy of the knock out and was printed in the Chicago Times. He contributed weekly letters to that paper for a year and in 1888 joined the regular sporting staff, when he came to handle billiards, racing and general athletics with equal intelligence and accuracy.

Shortly before the Corbett-Sullivan fight Siler took charge of the sporting page of the Chicago Globe. The editor of the paper had opinions of his own and Siler differed with his sporting authority on the latter's well worked out theory that Sullivan would meet his Waterloo at the hands of the younger man. Siler stuck to his argument, however, and the article which found space in another paper, proved a sensation in the light of what happened.

After contributing letters to the Chicago Tribune for two years, Siler became attached to the sporting department of that paper as a member of the regular staff in June, 1900.

The recognition of Siler's ability and honesty as a referee was world wide. He officiated as third man in more ring encounters than any other referee that ever lived. He decided the championship battles between Fitzsimmons and Corbett, called the "fight of the century"; Jeffries and Fitzsimmons, Jeffries and Sharkey, Ryan and Craig, Ryan and Carter, McCoy and Ryan, McGovern and Palmer, and Gans and Nelson. The last named contest signalized his farewell appearance in the ring. It was during that battle that he realized that his health would no longer stand teh strain incident to acting as third man in the ring.

Authority on Pugilism.

There is nobody that one can recall who saw as much of life in a sporting way as Siler, or got as much out of it in the way of experience. His life was a strange mixture of the simple and the strenuous, the rough and the smooth, the grave and the gay, tempered always with the sincere. He devoted the last twenty years of it to something he never thought of in the first forty. He will be alluded to as a veteran sporting writer, although he did not start the writing of sports until he had reached the age where the ordinary sporting writer feels that he has run his race.

Siler had rounded out several careers before the world knew him for what he really was and should have started out to be. What he wrote about boxing in the last twenty years was a compound of ripe experience, solid judgment, personal gameness and unimpeachable honesty, served with a ready wit and a quaintness of style that were all his own.

Interprets Queensberry Code.

That he should become the arbiter of all points pertaining to the game and the game itself was quite natural. He knew more about it than anybody else extant and judged it and talked about it more intelligently and fearlessly. He never trimmed or pared to serve expedients. His services as a referee were sought where the most important questions about pugilism were involved and his interpretation of rules was law.

Siler was the last of the old guard of sporting writers, although he was about the latest to come in. At the ringside he had worked beside Harry Weldon, Joe Eakin, Pete Donohue, Charley Seymour, Langdon Smith, Jimmy Wingfield, Joe Campbell and Nelse Innes, all of whom are dead.

FUN OF BALLOONING.

Henry B. Hersey in the Century: Floating softly up into the blue ocean of air, watching the earth sink slowly away beneath us and fade and change quietly to an immense map spread before our wondering eyes—such are the first impressions of balloon voyagers. The noisy shouts of those who come to wish us "Bon voyage!" becomes fainter and fainter until absolute quiet reigns about us. It is so still that the ticking of the clock in the barograph is heard noisily counting the seconds as it traces the line of our upward flight across the sheet.

Meanwhile the earth-map down below us stretches out larger and larger; but its details are fading and becoming blurred. High hills have changed to flat surfaces. A river winds and bends its way through the duller colors like a tangled ribbon of silver. A small lake sparkles in the sunshine, giving life and fire to the sober shades about it. A railway train creeps slowly along, its trail of smoke streaming back over it, but as we look, it suddenly disappears from sight, apparently swallowed up before our eyes. Then we realize that it has plunged into a tunnel, through a hill, which to us seems only a flat surface, now it apears again, coming out on the other side.

So the wonderful scenes come and go, ever changing, but ever grand and inspiring—scenes that come back to us real and vivid, that we may live them over aagin in later days. The cloud effects are at times the most beautiful of all. After having sailed up through these into the dazzling sunlight, we see the snowy billows just below our car, the shadow is often surrounded b ya halo of rainbow colors of rare beauty. At such times one has the feeling of having left the earth completely, and to have reached some other planet. The white masses just below seem to be quite solid, and look as though one might step out of the balloon and take a stroll over them, if one only had snowshoes. The air is wonderfully clear and pure, and gives one a feeling of exhilaration much greater than that enjoyed in mountain-climbing. Is it, then, surprising that ballooning is rapidly becoming a popular sport?

BASEBALL IN DE PARK.

The captain of the Neversweats was rooted in his place,
One foot upon the tattered coat that served for second base,
His ashen hued habiliments were padded, hip and knee.
The captain of the Neversweats was all of three foot three,
A mighty mitt incased his paw. He spat upon the same
And chirped, with shouted interludes, the story of the game:

"Twuz Sattid'y a week ago we played de Busy Bees,
Dey rung a borered pitcher in, an' say, he wuz de cheese!
De way he handed pretzels out wuz putty near a crime,
He chucked dis curly inshoot drop dat fools ye ev'ry time,
He'd held us down to forty hits, an' t'ings wuz lookin' blue,
Fer dey had fifty-seven runs, while we had t'irty-two.
He'd held us down to forty hits, an' runs wuz mighty rare,
But in de nint' we sized 'im up an' pasted 'im fer fair.

"Foist Dumpy Collins found his coives an' knocked a corkin' fly,
Den Limpy picked a crackerjack an' smashed it in de eye,
Den Sheesicks hit de ball a swipe dat lifted off de lid,
An' Carrots run de bags fer home, an', cricky, how he slid!
Dem Bees wuz stiffs! Dey couldn't t'row, dey couldn't reach at all,
While we wuz playin' fer our lives—we couldn't miss de ball.
"An did we win? Well, did we! Say, dey didn't git a smell,
We chased each udder roun' an' roun'; 'twuz like the carrousel,
W'y, w'en we put de las' man out an' added up de score,
Sure, dey had only eighty runs, an' we had ninety-four!

"Wa't! Lick dese lobsters? Sure, we kin, at any time o' year!
Jes' watch. We'll show ye how it's done. Hi, cully, put 'er here!"

—ARTHUR GUITERMAN in New York Times.

WHAT YALE MEN EAT.

Some statistics have been published by the Yale Dining club to show what the 1,068 members of that organization who eat at the Yale commons manage to get away with in the line of food. In a week, for instance, 6,500 pounds of meat, 900 dozen eggs and 9,100 rolls and loaves of bread disappear down the Yale throat, says the New York Sun.

The daily consumption is about like this: Nine hundred and twenty-nine pounds of meat, subdivided into 286 pounds of roast beef, 284 pounds of poultry, 144 pounds of lamb, 142 pounds of pork and 72 pounds of steak; 100 loaves of bread, 1,200 rolls, 50 pounds of oatmeal, 1,200 quarts of milk, 120 quarts of cream, 120 pounds of table butter and a like amount for cooking purposes, and from three to four bunches of bananas, as well as 20 bushels of potatoes.

Two hundred gallons of soup is prepared daily for two meals. Several years ago, when the club had 1,050 members, the figures showed an equal preference for meat, but not so decided a leaning toward eggs. Otherwise the items were proportionately the same.

MURPHY IS CONFIDENT

Trainer of Olympic Team Discusses Men Under Him.

Americans May Fall Down on the Long Run Events.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 27.—Michael C. Murphy of the University of Pennsylvania and trainer of the American Olympic team, is carrying the biggest burden of any man who has anything to do with the preparation of the American team for the Olympic games in London next month. Murphy has had thrust upon his shoulders the stupendous task of training and conditioning some seventy-five men for a period of nearly six weeks. When it is considered that this team is made up of men from every section of the United States, college athletes, club men and school boys, nearly all trained according to different methods, and with all kinds of characters, the magnitude of his task can be appreciated in part.

"Nobody appreciates better than I do," said Mr. Murphy, "the big task before me or the honor that has been done me by making me the trainer of this splendid team. This is a case where America will find herself lined up with the whole world against her. We have won so often that it will be anything to beat America this time. No man can tell now what the outcome will be, but if our boys can keep in condition and withstand the rigors of the voyage, they will put up a tremendous fight for the world's honors on track and field. The work of training so large a body of men ought to be made easier by the patriotism that is sure to inspire every member of the American team.

Good Half Mile.

"For the half-mile we have a very good man in Sheppard, who did 1:53 3-5 for the half-mile two years ago and 1:54 for the 800 meters at the Olympic try outs here on June 6. As the 800 meters is only four yards short of the half-mile it is seen that Sheppard was traveling some. If Sheppard's work is not affected by the English climate he will make them all hustle to beat him. Lightbody, Bromilow, Ramey and Jones are all good men, and we may do better than most people think in this race.

"The American representatives in the 1,500 meters will have an even harder job to win on account of the strength of the English and Swedes at this distance. Halstead of Cornell is a first-class man, perhaps the best we have. His feat of running the 1,500 meters at the Olympic try outs in 4:01 1-5 was about equal to what Haskins did at Cambridge last year. Occasionally we find a distance runner who is not affected injuriously by the English climate. Halstead may be such a man. If he is he may surprise some of the Britons. It is unfortunate that America cannot have the services of Haskins of Pennsylvania, who holds the intercollegiate record of 4:20 3-5. He is a rough and ready runner and ought to do his best in the English climate. In the five-mile and Marathon runs America need not expect much, not because we haven't good men, but because our climate and other handicaps increase with the longer distances.

Sprinters Are Fast.

"If nothing happens to our sprinters we ought to outscore the Britons in the 100 and 200-meter dashes. In these two events we have several first-class men, who will take a lot of beating. It is hard to make a comparison between the best American sprinters. Cartmell of Pennsylvania, who has won the two sprints at the intercollegiate championships three years in succession, is probably the most experienced of the Americans. In addition, he knows something about the English climate by actual experience which ought to stand him in good stead. Then there is Recter of Virginia, who while probably not as fast as the early reports which made him doing 9 2-5 seconds would indicate, has lots of speed and is a consistent 10-second sprinter. Huff, Whitham, May, Hamilton and Robertson are all good men and will ably represent this country. If any one of these men gets out of condition we should have enough left to take care of America.

"The 400 meters is going to be a harder race for America than many people imagine. Taylor is very fast, as his record of 48 4-5 seconds will show, but he has not been running quite up to the standard as yet. If he is running in his true form on the other side he should beat anything the old country can offer. In this race it looks as though Halswell of England will be the hardest man to beat. He has done 49 seconds, and will have the advantage of his own climate. To help Taylor out America has two good men in Merriam of Chicago, and Harry Hillman, who seems to be getting back into his old form. Then Atlee of Princeton, Prout of Boston and Cartnell of Pennsylvania, who is also entered in the 400 meters, all have a chance.

"This country could hardly ask for three better hurdlers at the 110 meters than Shaw of Dartmouth, Smithson of Portland, Or., and Garrels, the former Michigan man. Each one of these men has done 15 2-5 seconds or better. It is very seldom that England ever develops a hurdler who can beat 15 4-5 seconds, so barring accidents we should get more than first place in this event. The 400 meters is an odd event, and it is hard to make a comparison with the English here, but Hillman and Bacon of the American team, are both very fast and should take good care of this event.

Should Get Weight Events.

"Unless some new stars are discovered in foreign lands, America should have almost a monopoly of the weight events. I never saw such a fine lot of weight throwers in my life. In the hammer throw John Flanagan and McGrath ought to take the measure of the best the foreign countries can produce, for both of these men are consistent at distances of more than 170 feet. Talbott of Cornell should not be forgotten, for he threw the sixteen-pound hammer 166 feet at the Olympic try outs. The marks of these three men are considerably better than the best of any of our rivals.

"In the shot put the conditions are the same. Here we have Ralph Rose and Wesley Coe, both world champions. Rose has done 49 feet 7½ inches, while Coe once held the world record at 49 feet 6 inches. Finally, there is Garrelis of Michigan, who, besides being a star hurdler, can put the shot consistently 46 feet and better, which is good enough to beat the best of the foreigners.

"The discus throws will be very well cared for by Dearborn and Sheridan and Garrells. This is a somewhat uncertain event, but the three men mentioned are very consistent and all can do in the neighborhood of 140 feet.

"In the running broad jump the Olympic tryouts showed that we have three first class men in Cook of Cornell, Mt. Pleasant of the Carlisle Indians and O'Connell of New York. All three of these men did better than twenty-three feet, and I don't think any has reached his limit. Mention should also be made of Dan Kelly, who did not compete at the Olympics on account of a strained tendon. Kelly is a first class broad jumper and during the six weeks he trained under me did twenty-four feet and thereabouts regularly.

"We are well cared for in the high jump with Porter and Moffit. Moffit ought to improve every week and do as well as he did a year ago, when he made a new intercollegiate record of 6 feet 3¼ inches. Porter cleared 6 feet 2 inches at the tryouts and has an indoor mark of 6 feet 3 inches. England has few consistent high jumpers and though Leahy, the Irishman, may make some trouble here I look to see America outscore the field.

"Ray Ewry, of course, will be the mainstay in the standing high and broad jumps. His work at the Olympic tryouts showed that he is in his old time form. If the foreigners do no better in these events than they did in their tryouts, Sheridan, Biller, Adams and the other American entrants stand a good chance to pick up many points.

"Canada and Sweden are the only countries likely to make any serious challenge for American honors in the pole vault, but Dray and Gilbert of Yale, Cook of Cornell and the other Western entrants are of such high caliber that the United States should outscore the field. In all these events we must look for surprises, but the Americans should furnish as many of them as anybody else, so that the failure of any of our first string of men will be neutralized.

WOMAN A FORT KEEPER.

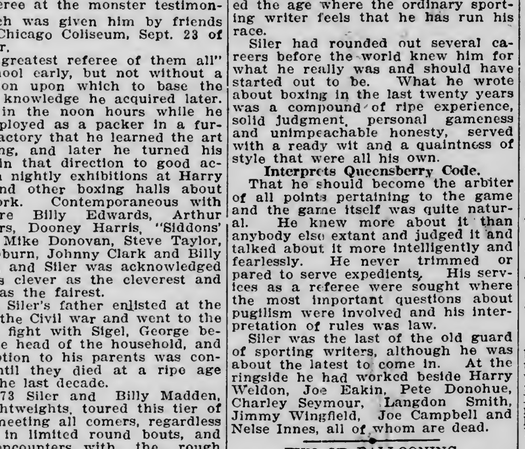

Kansas City tSar: There is one woman fort keeper in the United States, and only one. She is Mrs. Tucker, widow of Ordnance Sergeant G. H. Tucker, U. S. A., who died a few weeks ago in Cuba. She is in charge of Fort Foote, Maryland, six miles below Washington.

The post as a fort has been abandoned, but is retained as a military reservation. Sergeant Tucker was the fort keeper for several years, but on being ordered to foreign service two years ago the war department conferred the trust of keep on his wife. The position is classed as a civil appointment, subject to a competitive examination, and carries with it a salary of $50 a month. Mrs. Tucker has five children, aged 11, 9, 7, 3 and 2, respectively.

A searcher for the picturesque will find it at Fort Foote. Dismantled guns, jungle hidden gun carriages, decaying buildings, tree grown earthworks, weedy graves and grim relics of war are there.

Fort Foote was abandoned because after the development of the high power gun it was considered too close to Washington to be of use in the defense of the federal city, the protection of which is now committe. to Fort Washington, Md. and Fort Hunt, Va., eight miles further down the Potomac river.

SOME of The GEMS of The ART And CRAFTS EXHIBIT

All week the people of Duluth—artistic loving and merely curious—have thronged to the Y. M. C. A. building to view the art exhibition of the Minnesota State Art society, which opened last Saturday and will continue to July 7. They have reveled in the beauty of productions of the painter's brush and the handicraft of works in bronze, marble and metal and with almost two weeks more of the exhibition, Duluth people will have full opportunity to enjoy a display which would take thousands of dollars to bring together in any private collection and some of which could not be duplicated at any expenditure.

Duluth has shown appreciation of art in a greater measure than it was thought to possess. Those in charge of the exhibit have marveled at times in the innate love for the beautiful shown by the crowds which viewed the display. Children and adults have displayed their appreciation in their own ways. Some of the comments inspired in himself by that which he paints.

A study of the picture, an entrance were peculiar—some ridiculous—to the initiated, but they bore behind them the feeling without power of expression, the knowledge in the heart that could not come to the lips.

The voting contest has been liberally patronized, and at the end the verdict of the many will give something of beauty to the whole. The expressions of choice are varied, which is but natural in view of the fact that the personal views of hundreds are being expressed, but some of the pictures are gradually springing into prominence through the fact that many views coincide.

One of the pictures which strikes a responsive chord with Duluthians, figuring prominently in the voting contest, is "Old House in a Glen," numbered 53 in the collection. It is by William Langson Lathrop of New Hope, Pa., and it brings out the finer feelings of the landscape painter, who seeks not only to paint the scene as he sees it, but as he feels it, and to convey with his brush the sentiments into it, gives one the feeling of peace, quietude and solitude—yet of warmth and beauty. The winding country road, the warm November sunshine, the little old deserted house, the shedding trees, all bring one to the scene where the wayfarer may sit down and rest and dream. The little old house, deserted and standing alone in the glen, may cause one to conjure up visions and dreams of what might have been. There are stories of happy little children romping on the country road, a later battle with the stern realities of life, and last of all, failure and death. The little old house is left to reflect the sunshine and give pause to the passer-by, who learns its story and passes on down the winding road into the woods beyond to remember and to dream.

Mr. Lathrop brings it all out in the picture. It has the mood of failure and sadness, yet beautiful solitude. The true artist may study it and feel its mood and yet be unable to describe his emotions. It is one of the truly beautiful studies of the exhibit and it grows on one with each recurrent view.

Another landscape painting, which is attracting attention, is "The Old Plantation Home," by Walter Marshall Clute of Park Ridge, Ill., and it will probably figure strongly in the result of the voting. It is another study of quietness, solitude. The most prominent object in the picture is the live oak tree, hung with Spanish moss, which stands out in the foreground and commands the attention of the eye. The structure of the roots and branches is unique. The little plantation home is seen under the branches of the tree, giving an effect of rural beauty. The coloring is exquisite in sky, grass and tree and execution perfectly expresses the mood of the painter. The picture is numbered 16 in the collection.

Charles Warren Eaton's "Dune at Knocke," No. 23, is greatly admired, but does not enter strongly into the voting, on account of its value. It is one of the most expensive pictures in the collection. Mr. Eaton is a New York man, who has spent much time abroad and become known as one of America's best painters of foreign scenes. His Holland water colors are excellently done, and the fact that they are given universal notice is a tribute to the painter, as Holland is drawn upon for subjects by artists of every nationality.

The picture shown here was greatly noticed and admired at the salon in Paris last year. The coloring is the predominating feature. The clump of trees stands out against a beautifully colored sky, from which sunshine pours to be reflected by the sandy dunes. It is altogether a unique composition, decorative rather than a study of nature, but yet permitting of studious notice.

Probably the most admired of paintings by Duluth artists is "The Willows," No. 512, by C. C. Rosencranz, director of the Duluth Art school. The picture was painted on an Ohio canal, near Akron, the canal on which Garfield worked as a tow-boy in his youth, giving the picture historical interest.

The beautiful effect of the willows along the shore of the placid canal, the reflections in the water, the warm, bright midsummer's day sky, are all brought out by Mr. Rosencranz in wonderful detail.

Other Duluth artists have meritorious works in the collection to show that Duluth, in artistic execution, as well as appreciation, is coming to the front.

Duluth people in general express satisfaction over the recognition given the good works of Duluth artists, and this year's exhibition will have the effect of increasing the patronage and appreciation of art, which has heretofore been confined to a small coterie of Duluthians.

BIG RESERVATION OPENED

Largest Irrigation Project on the American Continent, Now One-Third Completed, Marks New Chapter in Agricultural Development.

Calgary, Alta., June 27.—The largest reservation of irrigated lands on the continent has at last been opened for settlement. Final notice has been given of the opening of 1,000,000 acres of the Bow River Valley reservation in the southern part of this province and settlers are already beginning to pour in. The total area of the tract is 3,000,000 acres, or nearly as much as the area of all the irrigation projects in the United States combined. The work of digging the canals for the rest of the enormous tract is being pushed and ultimately all the land will be thrown open for settlement.

The magnitude of the project gives it a unique interest and marks a new chapter in the history of agricultural development. The reservation extends in the form of a stubby bow, southeast from Calgary. It is 150 miles long and 40 miles wide, with a general eastward slope of seven feet in the mile. The Canadian Pacific main line traverses it from end to end. The water is drawn from the Bow river at a point two miles below Calgary, and distributed through a system of main and branch canals that already has a total of about one thousand miles, and will have somewhat over three thousand when completed. From these canals the water is conducted directly to the fields, in ditches dug by the farmers themselves. The Bow river, like all other natural water in the Dominion, is crown property and inalienable.

The land until recently belonged to the Dominion of Canada. It passed to the Canadian Pacific Railway company as part of their land grant subsidy, through an agreement under which the company was to construct and maintain an irrigation system, and the government was to furnish water at a nominal rate. Up to the time of that agreement none of it could be had at any price; nor was any of it open to sale until the company had established its plant, inaugurated its systems, and made ready for settlement upon a very broad scale. The project is the largest and undoubtedly the most important one involving irrigation, in America, and the manner of carrying it out is the most modern and thorough. It is planned for present efficiency and to endure for all time.

Alberta is not arid. The average annual rainfall of about twenty inches is quite sufficient for successful farming by the old and ordinary method. It is not for lack of water enough to make things grow, but to show what a well-planned and thoroughly controlled artificial supply of water will do to make more things grow, and all things grow better, and to show, moreover, how the real wealth of an acre of soil may be brought out, that this enterprise has been established.

The Bow river takes its rise in the nearby Rockies, in a series of lakes that are fed by the mountain snows. At the main intake, near Calgary, it has a volume of almost twenty-two million cube feet per hour in the warmer months. When it is considered that the "duty" of this water is one cube foot per second flowing continuously, for each 150 acres of land, that a considerable percentage of the block is purposely left dry to enable a combination of dry and irrigated surfaces in single farms, and that none of it is kept under continuous moisture, the abundance and reliability of this supply is apparent at once.

While a newcomer's arrangements for occupancy are in progress, the company's development department, which has offices in Calgary, will break, disk, harrow, seed and fence his land for him, at actual cost; but it will not undertake to either harvest or market his crop. The agricultural department of the Dominion government has established laboratories for testing seeds, and this service is free. So is the advice and active assistance of the experts at the company's nearest demonstration farm, in determining the particular growths best suited to each new farm. The test of seeds is for purity as well as vitality, the Dominion law against noxious weeds being strictly enforced.

One of the first things necessary in a prairie country is to set out trees to act as wind-breaks, and to form shelter for live stock, or shade for buildings and grounds.

Some years ago the dominion department of agriculture established a department of forestry and appropriated a large sum of money for supplying native trees to settlers, free of cost. This department now has a large tree plantation at Indian Head, and forestry experts will, upon request, visit any farmer to aid and advise him as to tree planting. The trees are delivered free. Shade trees on these irrigated lands make a growth of from twelve to fifteen feet the first four or five years.

Dairying has come in of itself recently, and with so much success that to help the market for its more perishable products the provincial government has installed the largest and finest dairy station and cold storage plant in the West. Four or five years ago the farmers became dissatisfied with the private creameries then in operation, and asked the government to take the matter up. The government did take it up, and in a very little while had established a series of co-operative creameries throughout the country, with expert men in charge. The creameries are subject to the control of the farmers, through boards of directors, but are under absolute government management. Most of the patrons separate their cream at home and bring it in three and four times a week, when it is carefully tested and weighed. At the end of the month each gets credit for the equivalent of his cream in butteer, and receives a cash balance of 10 cents a pound. Thirty or sixty days later the department of agriculture sends him a check for the balance due, after deducting 4 cents a pound for manufacturing and 1 cent a pound for a building and maintenance fund. This latter charge is credited to the farmer as an investment in the plant, of which he thus becomes an owner in part.

This arrangement has one very distinct advantage—it enables a settler who owns a few milch cows to take a cash income from the day he starts in. Its effect may be judged by the increase in butter production from about 400 pounds in 1902 to about 1,500,000 in 1907. The butter is sold for the most part in British Columbia and the Yukon, but the government is now developing a market in China and Japan.

The part taken by the government and the company may seem like paternalism, or a shaping toward some sort of communal system, but it is neither—though to American eyes it may have some such look. It is, in fact, the outcome of good statesmanship in government and far-sighted commercialism in the railway company.

Nothing is given away for which the settler makes no return. Precious god care is taken that the settler himself, in every individual instance, is a man of his own hands and able to hold his own. But when he buys his land, he may be said to fix himself to and upon it. He is there to stay, and both government and company have good reason for wishing him to prosper, and to begin prospering at once. So they begin by keeping from his shoulders the burden of high freights and customs dues, and then they take hold of his work with him, give him educated advice about his crops and his ditches, test his seed for him, break and prepare his land and put in his first crop, give him shade trees to plant and tell him how and where to plant them, pay him a bounty on his sugar beets, if he grows any; buy his butter, if he has any to sell; see to it that he has good roads and good schools, and get behind him with all these organized forces to help him push his business so that it has to go anyway, if there is anything in him at all. In the course of time (and not a long course), he will have settled down to a steady gait in prosperity, and the authorities will be busy starting his newer neighbors.

About one-third of the irrigation block is now served with water and filling up with people. The canals are being steadily extended, and more land is being made ready for market all the time. About 80 per cent of the settlers are from the American side of the line, but this year a considerable number of people have come in from Holland, and that movement is likely to increase. Father Van Aken, formerly of the diocese of Montana, went to Holland and Belgium last winter and returned in April, bringing with him a party of thirty-six, who bought about 3,300 acres, most of which they are putting into sugar beets. Father Van Aken has returned to Holland to bring out others, and the company's agent has meanwhile brought in about ten more families from there. These people are keeping pretty well together and are taking quite seriously to sugar beets.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Mid-Summer Quietness Prevails, But Fall Prospects Are Excellent.

New York, June 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Midsummer quiet is augmented this year by the general contraction that has occurred in all departments of trade and industry, but splendid progress of the crop strengthens confidence in the future and preparations for a large volume of fall business is gradually increasing the percentage of active machinery. Erratic fluctuations in prices of raw material retarded improvement in the cotton goods industry, but the recent sharp advance in hides and leather on account of small receipts of cattle failed to check progress at shoe factories, and a fair tonnage of new business is received by the steel mills. Semi-annual clearances of dry goods were well attended, country merchants replenishing depleted stocks at satisfactory prices and reports from all sections of the country testify to a good distribution of lightweight wearing apparel. Idle freight cars have been reduced to less than 350,000 and railroad shops are resuming repair work.

Numerous small orders make up a fair tonnage of new business in the iron and steel industry, but buying is conservative as is customary at this season in most departments. The usual inventories and repairs will be made next week, reducing operations at mills and furnaces somewhat, but resumption of work will be on a much larger scale than has prevailed of late.

Expert trade is broadening, although there is no disposition to make any any further reductions in steel prices. Pig iron furnaces are only receiving small orders for immediate needs, but in this department also there is a stability about prices that is becoming disturbing to buyers who have failed to provide for requirements.

The combination of conservative buying and violent fluctuations in raw cotton precludes the development of any definite tendency, and prices of cotton goods in the primary market are also affected by terms at clearance sales. Export business is light, the past week bringing some orders from China, but curtailment at Lancashire mills testifies to the lack of demand from the Far East. Early duplicate orders for men's wear woolens have been completed, and no additional business is expected until clothiers' salesmen secure further contracts. Arrivals of foreign dry hides are small and are readily absorbed at the recent advance in prices. Tanners insist on full quotations for leather. Especial strength is noted in heavy weight sole leather, the supply being scarce. Improvement continues at New England shoe shops, Eastern jobbers placing a fair number of fall orders.

JUDGE PROUTY DOES NOT CONCEDE DEFEAT.

Des Moines, June 27.—Notwithstanding the fact that the practically complete official count of the ballot cast for congressman in the Seventh Iowa district gives J. A. T. Hull a majority of 46 votes, Judge Prouty does not concede his defeat.

Judge Gamble enjoined the Dallas county board of supervisors from conducting a recount of the ballots cast in that county, and it is probable Judge Prouty will appeal from that decision. He says a recount in that county would result in giving him 75 votes, and thus insure his nomination.

Headache and Sleeplessness

Indigestion.
Muscular weakness.
Restlessness and irritability.
Tendency to worry and anxiety.
Twitching of nerves and muscles.
Discouragement and desponency.

Such symptoms indicate an exhausted condition of the nerves and suggest the necessity of such restorative treatment as Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, which positively cure nervous disorders in nature's way by actually forming rich, red blood, the substance of which new nerve force is made.

Nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia and partial paralysis are not only prevented, but also cured by use of this extraordinary nerve restorative.

But you must be sure to get the genuine, each box of which bears the portrait and signature of the famous Receipt Book author, A. W. Chase, M. D. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Chas. Neitzelt, East Main Street, St. Clairsville, Ohio, states:

"Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills cured me of the worst kind of nervous sick headache—headache that made me sick in bed and left me weak and nervous. Since taking a treatment of this medicine I have not had a headache and it has built up my system generally. It is the grandest medicine I ever used."

COMMANDMENTS FOR THE JUDGES

Chicago Jurist Makes Some Remarks That Cause Sensation.

Chicago, Ill., June 27.—The judge in politics, the judge in "high finance" and the judge who defies the supreme court in habeas corpus proceedings were criticised severely by Chief Justice Jesse Holdom of the branch appellate court in an address before the Illinois Bar association.

The remarks of the jurist caused a sensation, as they were regarded by many of his hearers as referring to members of the Cook county bench and as being called forth by events of the not distant past.

Ten commandments for the jurists of Illinois were laid down in the remarks of Justice Holdom, as follows:

1. Expound the law as it exists and fear not.
2. Judge no case by the fame of its lawyer.
3. Be very wary of affinities and be the husband of only one wife.
4. Lead not the life of a roisterer, carouse not in taverns and associate not with persons of known evil life.
5. Never seek political preferment while occupying the bench, and keep aloof from all political controversies.
6. Do not wobble and vacillate in arriving at a decision and be not weak in enforcing it when finally reached.
7. Heed your conscience that the evil of unlawful exercise of habeas corpus jurisdiction to free convicted criminals may be eradicated.
8. Be content with the honors of a judicial career while holding your office.
9. Observe moral conduct and rectitude in your daily life.
10. Be calm, temperate, patient, attentive, considerate and respectful to all, even to the youngest, humblest and least learned members of the bar.

"The quality of judicial ethical conduct is guided and controlled by the conscience of the judge," said the Justice, "and on whether it be a tender and alert conscience or a hardened and dulled one will depend the ethical or non-ethical conduct of its possessor.

"No judge should ever seek political preferment while still occupying the bench and thereby trail the ermine in the mire of political strife. While the avenue of ambition is open to all, and is not closed even to a judge, still it is highly reprehensible in a judge to attempt, through his judicial position, to gratify a desire for the attainment of office other than judicial."

COWBOY NOW HAS ENGLISH TITLE

And He is Coming Back to America for His Bride.

London, June 27.—After having roughed it for years, and after having been a cowboy in the Far West, Sir Genilde Cave-Brown Cave is at last to take possession of his splendid estates in Leicestershire in August, and another American girl, and a typical Western girl, is to be the mistress of a lordly mansion.

Sir Genille is about as differnt from the typical English nobleman as it is possible to be, and he proved it right from the start for, although he had plenty of money, he chose to return to his native land in a cattle boat, actually working his way over as a cattleman, and when he was asked why he did so, he replied that having been a cowboy for years, he was more used to cattle than to human beings, and that at any rate he much preferred the dumb beasts to the company he was apt to find among the saloon passengers of an ocean liner.

In London he immediately became popular, and it is generally hoped that he will bring new life into society. It was impossible, however, to make him stay for the London season, for he had promised his American bride-to-be to come back for her as soon as he had arranged some necessary formalities about his estates, and he will leave in a very few days—in a cattle boat, of course—and when he again returns he will be a married man, much to the disgust of a number of society belles, who would have given anything to capture this refreshingly breezy, Americanized nobleman.

He was very much interested in some secret passages which had been discovered just before his arrival, connecting his mansion, Stretton hall, with an old watermill a quarter of a mile away, but ordered further investigations postponed until his American bride shall be present, as he said that things of that kind would just suit her romantic fancy.

FROM THE MINES AND THE SMELTERS

LAKE SUPERIOR IRON MINES

Isupeming Mines Have Been on Producing List More Than Fifty Years---Work of Diverting Sturgeon River Practically Finished.

Probably nowhere else in the Lake Superior iron country have the mines greater permanency than those at Ishpeming, on the Marquette range. The Ishpming mines have been on the producing list for more than fifty years, shipping during that period some 35,000,000 tons of ore, and there is assurance they will be active for more than half a century to come. The deposits lie deep, filling great troughs made by the folding of the diorite rocks. These troughs are extensive in their strike, yet the ore they contain has been followed very short distances, only half a mile in the case of the Steel corporation's Lake Superior Iron company, whose properties were first opened upwards of fifty years ago. In point of quality these ores rank high, they being red speculars, containing little moisture and running rich in metallic iron. They are both bessemer and non-bessemer in their percentage of phosphorus.

The Lake Superior company's hard ore shafts are to a depth of approximately 1,000 feet. In some places the bottom of the ore-holding troughs has been reached, and at these points there are being removed the big pillars of ore that had been left to support the hanging wall. In the extreme west end of the property the deposits extend into lands of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, where they will be mined in due time. The Cleveland Cliffs company, which celebrated its semi-centennial several years ago, was the first to mine ore at Ishpeming, and the second to engage in the Lake Superior country. Its mines extend over a greater area than those of its neighbor, and it has plenty of ore to celebrate a centennial of prosperous activity.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel company's Lake Angeline mine has covered a mile in developing its ore trough, and it is still busy. There are occasional rumors that its life is nearly run and that a very short time will see its commercial certification, but these are false alarms, the property being certain to be long on the active shipping list. The ores are particularly good and the company desires them for mix with other grades, and thus operates a little more slowly than previously; but the mines are healthy and good for a long time in the future. Close to the city limits, at the west, new and extensive ore deposits have been located, and the work of their development is now only starting.

Ore Moving Freely.

Ore is moving more freely on all the ranges, and working forces are gradually being increased, but the activity continues materially less pronounced than at this time a year ago and very few of the idle mines have resumed operations. Much better things are expected, however, and it is the general belief of mining men that the last half of the season will see a big rush of shipments. Lake freights have come down 5 cents a ton from all Lake Superior ports. This reduction following the 50-cent cut in ore prices, and like that concession it is expected to have its share in stimulating business. One idle property that has been restored to the producing list is Ogiebay, Morton & Co.'s Empire mine, five miles south of Negaunee, Marquette range. The Empire is a milling proposition. It has been

APACHE STARTS SHIPMENTS

Copper Property in the Hachita Field in New Mexico Has Ore Developed Worth $250,000 ---Gold Fields Being Worked.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—The Anderson Apache Copper company, whose property is located in the Hachita field in Nex Mexico, has commenced shipping ore to the Copper Queen smelter at Douglas. Within the past year a two compartment shaft has been sunk and 1,000 feet of crosscutting and drifting has been done.

Arthur Houle, the Douglas mining expert, is to take charge of the Anderson apache company. This property is situated about five miles south of Hachita, New Mexico. It has been a producer since 1883 and has shipped upwards of $20,000,000 worth of copper and silver ore prior to the present company taking it over. Shipments to the Copper Queen smelter, Douglas, will be begun June 20. To start with the output will be from one to two cars per week, running 15 per cent copper and from seven to ten ounces silver. The company is working from fifteen to twenty men two shifts. Mexican labor is employed and the company runs its own store. A recent report by a reliable engineer shows that the mine has ore developed at the present time which will net the company about $250,000.00 at present market prices.

The gold fields, which are situated a distance of ten miles to the west of the Anderson Apache property, are working steadily and in addition to the original placer finds, several quartz ledges have been opened which show from $50.00 to $400.00 gold per ton. The Gold Hill property recently made a shipment of ore to the Calumet & Arizona smelter which netted $25.00 per ton over all expenses.

The American mine, operated by Robert Anderson together with local and Hachita parties, is showing up well. This is a silver-zinc ore which had been worked to water level a number of years ago. Mr. Anderson has unwatered the mine and is now breaking ore for shipment.

STAYING WITH GREENWATER

Furnace Creek and Death Valley Companies Determined to Prove the District---Expect Immense Deposit of Copper at Depth.

Bullfrog, Nev., June 27.—R. J. Fairbanks of Greenwater, who was in town recently, states that operations are being continued at both the Furnace Creek and the Death Valley copper properties. The latter will reach the 1,000-foot point in the shaft within a few days, when lateral work will be started. The Furnace Creek is now down 800 feet, and will sink to the 1,500-foot level before any lateral work will be undertaken. This company has just installed a 60-horse power hoisting plant, and is prepared for deep mining.

Mr. Fairbanks says that formation is changing in both shafts, and that pockets of copper are appearing. Those two companies are the only ones which are staying with Greenwater, and they are demonstrating their faith in the district by continuing development. They go on the theory that an immnse deposit of copper will be reaced at depth, and they are prepared to either prove or disprove it.

Those who followed the early history of Greenwater will remember that phenomenally rich copper ore ore was found at, or near the surface, but that depth failed to reveal bodies of any considerable extent. The ore near the surface appears in pockets, and while these pockets are rich, they are not continuous. It is believed by those who have made a scientific examination of the district that deep sinking will reveal vast areas of copper ground.

Mr. Fairbanks says that Greenwater is only a shadow of its former self. He has the only store and saloon in the place, and the population has dwindled to almost nothing. But he has faith in the district, and he says he is going to stay with it until the development of the two properties mentioned show it to be one of the biggest copper prpositions in the world, or nothing.

Mr. Fairbanks has the contract for hauling the ore from the Badgett lease in Willow Creek to Death Valley Junction, on the Tonopah & Tidewater. He says Mr. Badgett is driving work ahead and taking out a fino grade of ore. As a gold camp, he thinks Willow Creek is destined to become a winner.

KELVIN DISTRICT MINING

Eagle Mountain Copper Mine Passes Into the Hands of Interests in Wisconsin---The Renfroo Group is Being Developed.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 27.—A party of mining men from a trip through the Kelvin district brought back favorable reports on the situation there. It was stated by one of the members of the party, that the Eagle mountain copper mine on the south bank of the Gila river, opposite the Ray Mills and adjoining the Sultana National copper mines on the east, and owned by Don L. Pugh, James Shoemaker, Mike Kickey, Rilla Ingram and Price and Stevenson of Globe, was recently sold and the first payment made on the property by T. H. McGrath, who represents millionaire capitalists in Wisconsin.

This is one of the promising copper mines of the Kelvin district and with good management and small outlay of capital can be made a paying investment. The property contains twenty-seven claims. George Blackman and wife have sold to T. H. McGrath the south extension of the Sultana National copper mines and a large force of men will be put to work at an early date on these properties, which will put the Riverside mining district on the map. All the ore is of high grade and an abundance of it.

J. Jay Smith of Kelvin and Phoenix has lately bought the Renfoo group, containing gold, silver and copper and consisting of twenty claims. The property adjoins the Troy Manhattan Copper company's property and has served as the backbone of that company for years. A force of men are now employed on this property doing development work which consists of a crosscut tunnel tapping the "Roman Eagle" claim at a depth of 450 feet. This tunnel will be about 700 feet in length, and is being run on a link vein which traverses west from the main workings on the Roman Eagle claim and which is of itself eight feet in width. The Troy held an option on this property for some time.

On the Eagle Eye belonging to Mr. Sullivan there is about 2,000 feet of development work, consisting of crosscuts, tunnels and shafts and all of which shows good grades of ores. This is principally a tunnel proposition at present, but later on will require sinking. A good spring of water is right at the entrance of the tunnel. This property, said the returning party can be mined at a nominal cost. With a smelter at Erman station this property alone could furnish the principal part of the ore to run the smelter, as it has one of the largest exposed bodies of ore carrying high values in the territory.

TWO GOOD ORE STRIKES MADE

One at Shattuck-Arizona and the Other, a Lead-Silver One, at Wolverine-Arizona—Sinking Resumed at the Junction —Warren Shaft Still in Lime Formation.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—Last week the Warren district brought forth two ore strikes, one at the Shattuck-Arizona and the other, a lead-silver one, at the Wolverine-Arizona. The former is the more important of the two, as it shows to a certainty that the Shattuck will prove to be one of the great mines of the district.

The ore encountered at the Shattuck was found at the 600 level in No. 7 crosscut, 400 feet from the shaft, in a southerly direction. The ore is an oxide and assays between 7 and 8 per cent copper. Up to last evening thirty-five feet had been cut, the ore still occurring in half of the face of the drift—the lower portion. The upper half of the drift is in leached mineralized ground carrying a trace of copper. In the near future the company expects to sink a winze on the ore body, but not until the extent of the ore has been ascertained. The new strike looks like the lead to a big ore body. It is similar to the ore encountered in the Wolverine-Arizona, several months ago. The ore in the Wolverine pitched toward the Shattuck at such an angle that it is almost a certainty that the ore struck in the Shattuck is the same ore body. Several hundred feet above where the Shattuck encountered its new ore is about the depth where the Wolverine made its strike last fall, the Wolverine strike being a short distance from the Shattuck, no more than fifty feet from the side lines.

Other work is being done at the Shattuck, which reveals more ore in different localities from that where the last strike was made. In No. 14 crosscut, in a raise from the 800 level drift which runs in an opposite direction to that on the 600, where the recent strike was made, the company is at present working in an iron-lime formation, mineralized to quite an extent. In the south drift, on the 700 level, sulphides of a low grade have been encountered in crosscut No. 16. They will run about 2½ per cent in copper.

No. 17 crosscut, on the same level, (700) runs in a westerly direction towards the Southwest claim of the Copper Queen company. Good indications of ore are also here, as small quantities of sulphides have been encountered.

Most of the ore which has been shipped from the Shattuck has been taken from the 700 level, also the 800 and a little from the 500. The recent development work which has been prosecuted shows that the property is still in its infancy, even if the company did ship an average of 400 tons daily before they ceased shipping to the smelters. All the recent development have been made in virgin ground, and all show ore. Three drifts running in different directions on different levels received the most attention since the resumption of work at the property, several months ago, and thees drifts are the ones in which the ore has been encountered.

All the ore taken from the mine since the beginning of opperations after the shutdown were taken from the abovementioned three drifts, and the bins in which they were dumped show the results of the efforts of the company. The bins are very large and at the present time are half filled with ore running anywhere between 2 and 14

OPERATIONS IN GLOBE CAMP

Improvement is Noted at All the Properties—At the Old Dominion Smelter Five Furnaces Have Been Running This Month—Progress at the Globe Consolidated.

Globe, Ariz., June 27.—A steady improvement in the local mining situation has been apparent for some time—in returing confidence, the better demand for the labor and the gradual enlargement of operations. The registers of Globe hotels tell of the almost daily arrival of representatives of machinery and other mine supply houses. While recently instituted litigation over valuable mining property in the district is for somo reasons to be deplored, yet it is the best evidence of the high value placed upon the mines of Globe district by mining men of reputation and the advertising that the district will receive as a result of this litigation will be of great benefit.

Operations continue on a large scale at the Old Dominion mine, and with additional buildings to the force as the starting of the new work requires. There is a large amount of mine development under way, and of especial importance on the lower levels where the sulphide veins are being opened. The 10th level drift is in some of the finest ore ever found in the mine—burnite and copper glance carrying very high values in copper and several ounces of silver to the ton, and some gold. One sample of ore assayed 56 per cent copper, and a car load sample gave a return of seven ounces of silver. Drifting was resumed last week on the Kirky sulphide vein, on the 10th level, in United Globe ground and very good ore is being stoped there.

The hoisting capacity of A shaft, the main working shaft of the five compartments, has been greatly increased by equipping two compartments not heretofort used for hoisting with a two-deck cage. These changes were made necessary by the decision of the management to sink the shaft 200 feet deeper, to the 16th level, which will greatly increase the amount of rock to be hoisted and timbers and supplies to be lowered.

At the smelter five furnaces have been running steadily this month. The daily output has been maintained at a good average and if continued the production for June should reach close to 4,000,000 pounds. No. 6 furnace will be ready to operate as soon as the blast connection is made. The installation of the new No. 10 Connersville blower and Nordorf engine is practically completed, connection with the blast pipe being all that is needed. These connections will be made on July 4, when the smelter will be closed down for the day. After that date there will always be five furnaces in condition for service and much of the time six furnaces can be operated if desired.

At the Gem shaft of the Globe Consolidated, little trouble is now being caused by water, the flow having decreased in the main crosscut on the 12th level and the pumps easily caring for the present flow. The east drift in the crosscut is now 122 feet from the crosscut and the west drift 135 feet. General samples taken from both drifts show low grade copper values, with sulphur and iron contents running high and as three ounces in silver. The south crosscut in the Boston-Globe shaft on the 8th level is now 855 feet from the shaft and is still in hard diorite.

The new sulphide vein on the tenth level of the Old Dominion betwen the O. D. and United Globe lines is proving to be better than expected and it is believed that this will develop into one of the most valuable assets of the company.

The Old Dominion recently inaugurated a new leasing plan, most of the shallow workings of the company's properties having been leased out. The old Buckeye mine was leased several months ago and good shipments are being made to the smelter by the leasers. A large force of men is be-

AT THE LAKE COPPER MINES

Cutting of Rich Amygdaloid Bed on Lower Level of the Adventure Mine—Is Also of Great Importance to the Lake Company—Favors Theory of Faulting.

Houghton, Mich., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The most important development for some time past, in this district, is the cutting of a rich amygdaloid bed by a diamond drill hole pitched southward from the end of a southerly crosscut on a lower level of the Adventure mine. The core was 26 feet in length, very rich in copper. As the hole was bored at approximately right angles to the dip of the beds of the Keweenawan series, the core reasonably may be presumed to represent a cross-section of the copper-bearing bed.

The rich drill core not only is of the utmost importance to the Adventure, which needs copper sadly, but is of almost equal importance to the Lake Copper company. The lake has copper—surprising quantities of it—in its shaft and drifts, but the strike of the formation is wrong, being something like 30 degrees too far to the northward to correspond with the general strike of the Keweenawan formation at that point. As the copper-bearing lode of the lake is a typical amygdaloidal trap, the hypothesis that it is a fissure vein is not tenable, and it is also impossible that a trappean bed should cut across the two hundred separate trap flows constituting the series. By a process of elimination, the only conclusion possible to reach is that there is a gigantic fault in the vicinity of the lake property. Faults, especially along the basal portion of the Keweenawan system, are by no means uncommon, and it is because of an extensive faulting between the Baltic and Superior mines that the section 16 mine of the Atlantic has taken nearly ten years to locate payable ground. The first seven years were spent in vain endeavors to find the northern extension of the Baltic amygdaloid, the work being given over in disgust. After the Superior mine was opened to the northward, and the old Atlantic mine was put out of commission by air-blasts, work was renewed on section 16, but the faulting caused depletion of metallic values in the upper portion of the bed, so that copper values were not found above a quarter mile depth.

A Tremendous Fault.

The faulting in the vicinity of the lake, however, is much more marked than between the Baltic and Superior, both as to strike and throw. The geology in the immediate vicinity of the Lake is as yet largely empirical, but the circumstances are such that all competent observers of the Lake situation have been forced to the opinion that a tremendous fault, on a scale hitherto unencountered in the Lake Superior Copper district, alone can be responsible for the exaggerated northerly strike, not only of the Lake amygdaloid, but of the beds in its vicinity. The rich core of the Adventure was secured in the hypothetical horizon of the westward extension of the Lake bed, and while the identity of the bed encountered by the drill can be determined only by several years of underground development, by both Adventure and Lake, there is very strong evidence that the Adventure actually has cut the Lake lode, and even should it prove otherwise, the richness of the Adventure's new bed in copper is unquestionable.

Another evidence in favor of the theory of faulting is found only a few miles west of the Lake, in the exaggerated northerly strike of the beds of the Evergreen belt at the Mass mine, these striking as sharply north as north 32 degs. east, while on the Adventure property the same seven parallel copper-bearing beds, known as the Evergreen belt, have a strike of north 73 degs. east—a difference of 41 degs. within a mile. In all likelihood the base of the Lake, which lies about three miles east of the Adventure, though their

THE EAST BUTTE EXAMINED

For the Benefit of New Interests in the Company—Big Working Fund and No Debts—Butte & Buxton to Begin Active Operations When Negotiations Are Completed.

Butte, Mont., June 27.—J. Morgan Clements of New York, a mining expert, who has been in Butte several weeks, engaged in making other examination of the property of the East Butte Copper Mining company and its affairs for the benefits of new intesests in the company, has concluded his work and returned East. Mr. Morgan's examination had more to do with the property holdings and financial affairs of the company than with the conditions of the mines, and his report will show that the company has not a dollar of indebtedness, but has a good fund in the tresury. W. A. Paine of Boston, who sent Mr. Clements to Butte, has largely increased his stockholdings in the company and has underwritten a large block of treasury stock to provide a new working capital. A private letter from Boston says the plans are for a resumption of work after the annual meeting. That there are affairs pending in the East very favorable to the East Butte seems to be indicated by the fact that George L. Walker, Pains, Webber & Co. and ohers in Boston have for some time been advising the purchase of the stock. The Boston Commercial says that a majority of the old directors will retire at the annual meeting and will be succeeded by three Boston men, and that a well-known Boston man will be elected president. Stock control of the company has also passed to new interests in Boston and New York, and it is growing apparent that the situation of the company is being immensely strengthened.

The lower workings of the East Butte mines are filled with water, and Mr. Clements could only make an examination of the upper workings. James M. Neill, one of the most eminent mining engineers of the country, and several other well-known experts have from time to time made examinations and very favorable reports on the mines. The fact that astonishingly high values are placed on disputed ores in East Butte and adjoining ground indicates that even the enemies and persons hostile to the East Butte recognize the value and high grade of the veins in that section, 21 of which, according to Mr. Neill's report, go through the East Butte ground.

Negotiations are under way as a result of which it is highly probable that the Butte & Buxton Copper Mining comapny will be enabled actively to commence operations on its group of claims about twelve miles southwest of this city in a low-lying spur of the Rocky mountains. Some development work has been done during the past few weeks, and the last few rounds of holes have proved the mineralization to be even better than the first showing.

For more than 100 feet in width the mainvei n is traceable on the surface for a distance of 6,000 feet through the length of four of the claims. There are numerous other veins evident from outcroppings; and taken altogether the property is most promising for the extensive work which the company contemplates commencing within the next few weeks.

The opening up of the Butte & Buxton properties, if the quality of the ore improves with depth as it has to that of 120 feet, will prove the theory of all geologists, who have made a study of the formation of the district that the great veins of the Anaconda hill continue in an

NO SIGN OF RESUMPTION YET

At the Greene-Cananea, Recent Reports Being Erroneous---Rumor Delays Opening Until July ---Dr. Ricketts Suddenly Called East.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—According to recent arrivals in the city from Cananea, the Greene-Cananea company has not undertaken the resumption of operations according to the program made public some time since. It was authoritatively stated that partial resumption would become effective June 15, but there appears to be another delay and the same desultory work, which has been going on since the shutdown last fall, continues without any increase in the force of men employed.

The cause of the present hitch in the program cannot be learned, but it is a significant fact that on the day Dr. L. D. Ricketts, the general manager of the company, was due in Cananga, he was suddenly called to New York and he has not yet returned.

Semi-authentic information has been received to the effect that preparations are in progress for resumption on July 1, but those who have been following the fortunes of the company believe they will be safe in not crediting further rumors of resumption until they see or hear of smoke coming out of the smelter stacks.

A rumor was current last week to the effect that the El Tigre mine, in Cananea, is now the subject of negotiation for sale. This property became well known because of the long litigation over it by the Kansas City people, who controlled the majority of the stock, and the Graham crowd, who sought to regain it because of noncompliance with the terms of payment. Those who have recently visi • l the property agree that it is looking better than ever before. The additions to the mill during the past year have required some alteration and readjustment, but this work has been about completed. There is a scarcity of the water supply at the Tigre camp as is the case at nearly every camp in Sonora not located on rivers where there is running surface.

FABULOUS ORE DISCOVERED

New Strike in the Dragoons of Arizona---Highest Grade of Galena Ore Found---Average Value of Over $300 a Ton.

Benson, Ariz., June 27.—Lead and silver ore, the highest grade of galena; assays show an average value of over $300 per ton, and the richest ore going over $800 per ton, in gold, silver and lead.

Such are the facts about the latest and biggest strike made in the Cochise mining district in years. The property is located about three and one-half miles from Dragoon station, in what is known as the Gunnison hills, a low range of mountains lying between the Big and Little Dragoon mountains, about two miles on the north side of the main line of the Southern Pacific railroad, and about a mile from the grade of the new Johnson, Dragoon & Northern railway.

The strike was made about fifteen days ago, and was kept as quiet as possible until it could be ascertained whether the strike was in a vein or only a pocket. Two weeks' work has demonstrated that it is a good one and that it grows better with depth.

The discovery of the ledge was made by two young men, F. A. Stroud and Pearl Adams, who were prospecting. They had gone to look at the property at the instance of a friend, who had filed on the claims some two months previous, and who was not able to handle the assessment work, and had offered an interest in the property to any one who would do the necessary work.

The Benson men went out and looked over the ground, and had about given up the idea of finding anything of value, and had decided to eat their lunch and then leave. After finishing their luncheon they were sitting on a large rock talking the matter over, when Stroud, who was idly picking around a small black, shiny streak of galena. He called his companion's attention to it, saying: "Look here; what do you think of that?" His companion expressed himself that it looked pretty good, and thought that they had better dig around a little and see what it would lead to. They did so, and at a depth of two feet the stringer of galena widened to about three inches, and the ore and yellow dirt, which obtained its color from the lead and silver chlorides, made about ten inches more.

Their friend was notified immediately and the work of sinking a shaft on the find was commenced. Two weeks' work has completed a hole about six feet square and seven feet deep, with pay rock showing on all sides. On the east side of the hole, dipping toward the center of the mountain, the whole face shows rich values, and in the bottom of the shaft the ledge has widened to about five feet. About a foot from this side is a bunch of pure galena ore, about eighteen inches long and five inches wide, and in the bottom of the shaft, within a foot of the above bunch, there is another, at least about a foot long and about seven inches wide.

RICH STRIKE NEAR OLD MINE

White Metal in Paying Quantities Uncovered a Silver King in the Pinals---Claim Had Been Idle for Years.

Douglas, Ariz., June 27.—A great body of silver ore, running $146.06 to the ton, has been uncovered on a group of claims owned by Riggs, Nesbitt & Sullivan, four miles north of the old Silver King mine, in Pinal county.

The ore was discovered about two years ago, while the owners of the claims were doing development work. Numerous local assays failed to return values, and the mine was practically abandoned. Mr. Riggs, however, believed that the greyish colored ore contained mineral wealth of some kind. He had never seen anything exactly like it in this section of the country, and had a hunch that it was something good. About a month ago, governed by this belief, he sent a liberal quantity of the ledge matter to the Colorado school of mines. He received a report which shows that the ore runs 277.10 ounces in silver and a fraction of an ounce in gold, the total values being 147.06. The ore is pronounced a silver tellurium. There is a veritable mountain of it, all of which will assay as high as the sample sent East and which can be mined and marketed at a big profit at the present low price of silver.

Another important gold strike has been made on the claims of the Nesbit-McAlpine group in Lost Gulch. Leasers working a claim just above the Nesbit shaft, at a depth of eighteen feet, struck a rich stringer, which assays way up in the picture cards. At twenty feet, a well-defined vein was encountered, which is believed to be the same ledge upon which Nesbit-McAlpine and associates are working. An assay from across the vein shows values of about $80. The leasers are highly pleased with the discovery and, while they have only a one-year term on the property, they feel satisfied that during the next twelve months they can take out a good-sized fortune.

The McAlpine-Nesbit shaft is now down 100 feet and is in one of the finest bodies of ore ever uncovered in the Lost Gulch district, stringers running with the main vein run as nigh as $1,000 to the ton, while the vein proper is maintaining values running close to $100.

Charles Freeman Jackson, a prominent capitalist and mining man of Minneapolis, visited the mine and has had several tests made of the ore. He believes the property is one of the most promising gold propositions in this section of the country and, while not given out financially, it is believed that Mr. Jackson is working for an option, and if he secures this he will interest Minnesota capital and develop the mine on a large scale. So great is their faith in the property that Nesbit and McAlpine are willing to take half the purchase price in stock of the operating company.

COPPER GULF GOOD RETURNS

Bisbee, Ariz., June 27.—At the Bisbee offices of the Copper Gulf Mining company, with extensive properties at Silver City, N. M., word has been received that the shipment of three cars of ore to the El Paso smelter from the Virginia shaft have netted the company over $1,000. But few shipments have been made since the slump in copper metal last fall, previous to which the company netted between $7,000 and $8,000 per month from ore shipments, and the result of the last shipment is very encouraging, especially when the present low price of all the metal is considered. The company is working a large force at its various properties in the Burro mountain distriot and is obtaining excellent development results.

Charles U. Morris is acting as general manager of the company during the absence of General Manager E. A. Wayne, who, several months ago, was appointed by the court as trustee of the Comanche Mining company. Mr. Morris was formerly superintendent of the Bingham smelter at Bingham, Utah, and previous to going to Silver City was manager of the Casa Grande Development company of this territory.

Mr. Wayne is also well known in Bisbee, having formerly been foreman at the Cole shaft of the Superior & Pittsburg and later superintendent of the Globe Consolidated. He is at present in Duluth, Minn., on business connected with the Comanche company. He plans to reorganize the company, and if he is successful in his venture his success will mean much for him and for the company, which, before its insolvency, was the largest operating metal mining company in New Mexico.

THE ST. LOUIS COUNTY FAIR.

Since Duluth lost the St. Louis county fair by failing to do the right thing by it the Mesaba range has been taking good care of it, and until Duluth has been induced to handle the fair as it ought to be handled it ought to remain on the Mesaba range, where very much more interest is being taken in it than was ever taken in Duluth.

But just now, unfortunately, there appears to be a little too much interest in the fair on the range. Hibbing has had it a couple of seasons or so, and can well afford it. New Virginia proposes to hold a rousing fair and undoubtedly Virginia would do well with it. Only Hibbing is very much perturbed over the prospect of losing the fair or of sharing it and Eveleth, a near neighbor of Virginia seems also a little restless over the proposal.

Now, while suggestions from Duluth seem to be taken to rather ill humor by certain of the range newspapers—not by all of them, however—which seem to resent in any interest Duluth may take in the county's affairs a plot to "gobble" all the county offices, all the county road money, all the county taxes, or all the county itself, The Herald would suggest that the range towns ought to get together at once as may be and decide upon one location for the county fair. It will spoil it to divide it between two localities, since it is hard enough to make it what it ought to be when there is but one. It will injure it, too, if there is jealousy or opposition between the range communities.

What is needed is first, a location; and second, a united effort by all parts of the county to make the fair a thoroughly representative success.

Duluth has no particular interest in the first question, that of location. Properly, in view of the fact that this is the largest city and the county seat, and because it is about as accessible from all parts of the range as one part of the range is from Duluth or from another part of the range, the fair should have been continued at this point. But Duluth didn't improve its opportunity, suffered the fair to degenerate into a cheap racing meet, and thereby richly earned the punishment meted out in the loss of it. But Duluth is interested in seeing a county fair arranged that will be truly representative of the magnificent wealth and prodigious resources of St. Louis county, and when the question of location is settled, Duluth ought to take off its coat and pitch in to help make the fair a splendid success.

If it exhibits all the resources and illustrates all the opportunities of the county, it cannot fail to be a success, but it will not accomplish these ends unless all parts of the county get together in peace and harmony to make it what it ought to be.

Let the range towns settle where the fair is going to be, therefore, and then let Duluth get to work to help the successful town and its range neighbors make it a thorough success. Last year Duluth talked a good deal about the county fair, praised the enterprise of Hibbing generously—and stayed at home when the fair was held. It should be different this year.

"WISCONSIN SOCIALISM."

No more illuminating exposition of the confusion into which the new problems of the day have thrown partisanship in this country could be provided than that furnished in the contract between the ideas of Senator Hopkins of Illinois, chairman of the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention, and the ideas of the element in the party which is represented by Senator La Follette and set forth in the minority platform proposed by Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin.

In his talk before the convention Senator Hopkins, who is an ultra conservative of the most hidebound type, referred to the Cooper platform as the "Socialistic Democratic utterances of Wisconsin." The convention voted down the Cooper platform by an overwhelming vote, and then voted down three separate planks of that platform one after another.

Now since there seems to be a good deal of confusion about just what Socialism is, and since Senator Hopkins is a man who has been long in public life and has had many opportunities to observe and to learn, it may be worth while to analyze that "Wisconsin Socialism" to see what light it offers.

First, one plank, voted down by the convention, declared for publicity of campaign contributions and expenditures. If this is Socialism, Socialism can't be so bad, because this simply provides a check upon the parties so that the people may know whether they are working for the common good or for those who subsidize them.

Another plank, also specifically rejected by the convention, called for a valuation of the railroad property of the country. If this is Socialism, again Socialism cannot be such a bad thing, because a valuation of the railroads would show what rates they should charge, and if, as claimed by the railroads, they could not be duplicated for their present capitalization, it will provide them a sufficient excuse for raising their rates.

Another plank defeated by the convention called for popular election of United States senators. If this is Socialism, nine-tenths of the people are Socialists and don't know it; the legislatures of nearly two-thirds of the states which have called upon congress to submit a constitutional amendment providing for this change are dominated by Socialists masquerading as Republicans and Democrats.

The rejected platform also blames tariff abuses for the growth of monopolies, and demands a revision that will cut out those abuses and bring the trusts to time. If this is Socialism, then The Herald must admit that it is very strongly Socialistic and that pretty nearly every individual it knows is also Socialistic.

The rejected platform declares that a laborer, charged with contempt of court for violating an injunction restraining him from pursuing a strike for fair wages and fair working conditions, shall not be convicted and sentenced without a trial by a jury of his peers. If this is Socialistic, the law and practice of the land are Socialistic, because in no other instance than this may a man be convicted and sentenced by the complaining witness. These and other equally attractive principles are contained in what Senator Hopkins calls "Wisconsin Socialism," which has changed Wisconsin from a railroad ridden state to a state governed by and for the people. More power to this Wisconsin Socialism; may it spread afar!

HOT WEATHER ADVICE.

People living in Duluth take note these days of the suffering from the heat reported from nearly all the other cities of the country, and with pity for those so afflicted is mingled a profound satisfaction with being a resident of a city where such ills do not plague.

Duluthians may say harsh things about the climate during the bad days of springtime, but when summer comes they forgive everything because of the glories of warm but comfortable days, of a smiling sun that heats but does not oppress, of breezes that soothe and comfort and that do not, like those of hotter place, suffocate and torture; but above all, of nights that are cool and balmy and full of restful sleep.

The newspapers in the afflicted cities are filled with talk about the heat. Alternating with irritable remarks about the altitudinous temperature are columns of sage advice about how to meet the hot weather, something like this bunch of good counsel, which was issued by a Chicago doctor:

"Don't worry; keep tranquil and calm.
"Don't drink iced water or alcoholic liquors.
"Don't walk on the sunny side of the street.
"Don't indulge in any kind of excesses.
"Don't eat meat if a vegetable diet can be had.
"Don't eat more than moderately of anything.
"Don't fail to take a rest if dizziness, the first symptom of prostration, is experienced."

But here is a better piece of advice than any of these, good as they are:

Don't try to stick it out in a city that is a furnace, that is full of heat dangers and dangers of sickness, but come to Duluth.

Come to Duluth where nobody worries about the heat, and where the weather keeps everybody tranquil and calm every day in the year.

Come to Duluth where you don't have to drink iced water, but where there is a whole lake full of the finest and coolest drinking water in the world, which you can take out of the tap in your house just as cool as you wish it.

Come to Duluth where there is never heat enough to turn you into a vegetarian to avoid the heating qualities of meat; where nobody gets dizzy from the heat, whatever they may feel from other causes; where days are processions of glorious delight and the nights are peaceful intervals of comfortable sleep under a blanket.

Come to Duluth where the summer weather, instead of incapacitating you from work, give life a new zest and gives you new capabilities and energies.

Come to Duluth for your summer, and be cool, calm, comfortable and complacent.

THE GOOD OF THE PLAYGROUND.

If you wish a demonstration of what the public playground does, take a walk into one of the several parks in which the park board has set apart a spot and equipped it with a few simple means of affording pleasure to the children.

In several of the parks, including Lincoln, Cascade and Portland parks, swings, seesaws and sand boxes have been installed, and if you don't think they are worth while just go and see what the children are doing with them.

For instance, in Portland park a safe and comfortable frame holding three swings, a large seesaw holding three planks, and a large box full of fine, clean sand, have been put in place in a grassy corner of the square. Though the children may not play upon the grass elsewhere in the park, this spot is theirs, and they are making the most of it. The swings and seesaws are going constantly, with children awaiting their turn. The sandbox is nearly full of happy, laughing, tumbling children, who are having the time of their lives. The place is perfectly free from dangers, and in that respect it forms a sharp contrast with the streets to which many of the children were compelled to resort before this innovation was made.

This is the playground in embryo. Real playgrounds, such as Duluth is going to have when the movement gets in full swing, will not only have swings and seesaws and sandboxes, but more elaborate gymnastic implements for the larger children, with attendants to teach them grace and skill and to keep them out of harm and mischief.

But the introduction of the swings, seesaws and sandboxes in the parks already provided, which has come out of the agitation of the playground movement, is a splendid thing in itself. It is not expensive, it requires little more attention than the park now does, and it gives wholesome pleasure and enjoyment to the children, thereby keeping them in the open air yet out of the streets.

The playground movement deserves the warmest support from everybody, and the most tangible and helpful form that support can take is through contributions to the playground society. The city will do its share, but it cannot do it all, and a large part of the money needed must come from private generosity. The more money, the more playgrounds there will be and the better they will be equipped.

This means that not only will the children be given safe, pleasant and wholesome places to play, and that they will thereby be given pleasures to which they are entitled, but that the coming generation will be vastly the better for the fact that the children of today have been provided with an outlet for their play energies that does not, like the street, endanger and corrupt.

THE FOOL IN THE BOAT.

The fool that rocks the boat and that does other fool things upon the water that imperil the lives of his companions gets plenty of indignation heaped upon his head after his folly results in tragedy, but he doesn't get enough of it beforehand. The time to take him in hand is before he has a chance to do any mischief; he should be suppressed as soon as the slightest demonstration enables his companions to identify him as one of the species of mankind for whom the foolkiller—the most recreant and negligent official on earth—is supposed to be looking.

A girl in Philadelphia gave a pretty good example the other day of how to handle the fool in the boat. Miss Mary Garston, whom the reporters quite properly describe as "one of Philadelphia's fair daughters"—if they had failed to state that she was fair the story would have been incomplete, unless perchance they had said that she was "handsome," "talented," or "comely"—Miss Garston had an invitation to go rowing with a young man. A girl friend was included in the invitation, which was accepted.

Once upon the water the young man promptly betrayed his real nature and developed the symptoms that enabled the keen observer promptly to assign him to his genera, family and species. Class, mammalia; genus, homo; species, idiot. In short, he attempted to frighten the girls by rocking the boat.

Miss Garston—perhaps frightened but still self-possessed—warned him to desist, saying that her father has told her that a man who was fool enough to rock a boat with women in it was fool enough to be knocked into the river. Sensible father, that. Sensible girl, too; because when she found that after the manner of his kind he was deaf to hints, she picked up an oar and smashed him over the head with it.

The fool fell overboard, where he belonged, and the two girls rowed on without him, cheered by persons in other boats and on the banks of the stream. Fortunately for him, there was nobody present with sufficient presence of mind to hold his head under the water until the world was rid of the nuisance, and he swam ashore, almost exhausted but at that nowhere near so badly off as he might have been and should have been. It may prove to be a lesson for him. Some idiots of his class are not beyond redemption; a lesson of that sort would be sufficient for them, and thenceforth they would be sane and levelheaded human beings. It is to be hoped that he is one of this kind.

All of which reminds us again that the boating season is in progress, that all the fools do not live in Philadelphia, and that similar provocation may be offered pleasure-seekers upon the water fronts of Duluth.

This story describes accurately and with sufficient detail how to handle the fool in the boat: put him out of it and make him walk ashore or swim ashore or float about or do whatever fate pleases to make him do. It is hard to kill a fool, but fools find it tragically easy to kill others if they get the chance. Moral, don't give them the chance.

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY.

For the man that expects some time to build himself a home of his own, and to cease paying rent to fatten the bank account of another, the opportunity is ripe.

Now is the time to build.

Money is plentiful and rates are low.

Labor is plentiful, and while wages are not lower, the employer gets more for his money because labor produces better results in times like these than it does when there is a labor shortage and any workman can be certain of a new job if he doesn't like his old one.

Materials of all kinds are cheaper than they have been in years, and cheaper than they will be again for many years more. Some have been reduced more than others, but all are lower.

Besides all this, those who build now, when building is not so active as it was, will get better results than at any other time. They can get a better house for the same money, or the same house for less money. Contractors are not so busy that they will not be able to put in their best efforts, and the same thing is true of all other departments of building. Materials are not only cheaper, but they will not be subject to the delays in manufacture and shipment that harrassed those who built last year; and these delays cost money every time.

Says the American Lumberman: "Buildings put up for investment yield not to exceed an average of 8 per cent. By building at this time investors should save 10 to 20 per cent on the cost, as compared with the cost in 1907 and the outlay that will probably be required next year. This is equivalent to the earnings on the investment for two and a half to three years." Also, if 8 per cent can be earned on an investment at last year's prices, and this year's prices will permit a saving of 20 per cent, the same rent on that property means a return of 10 per cent instead of 8 per cent. This is for investors, but the home-builder will get the benefit of the same figures, and what is worth saving for the investor is worth saving for the home-builder.

Next year, if prices rally, in response to a renewed demand, to last year's levels or higher, you will be saying: "Why didn't I have sense enough to build last year when it was cheap?" You will be admiring the forethought and sagacity of the man who did build this year, and perhaps you will be calling him "lucky." It isn't luck; it's just common sense. Big demand means big prices; small demand means lower prices: the wise man buys or builds when others are out of the market, and thereby reaps the advantages that always go to the few who look ahead.

Adds the American Lumberman: "Lumber, brick, stone and other materials necessary to the construction of buildings, purchased and put into place at this time, will be worth in the new relation they bear one to the other a great deal more a year or two from now than the present cost. Furthermore, such structures will be ready for use."

It is the chance of a lifetime for investment or home-building.

HOTEL GOSSIP.

W. T. Steinberg, accompanied by his wife, was at the Spalding hotel yesterday. Mr. Steinberg is from Kansas City, and has some interesting things to say of the way the packers are boosting the price of meat.

First, Mr. Steinberg states that the packers are not paying any more for beef on the hoof than they have in the past. In spite of this fact they have raised the price on meat to a very high figure within the past year. They have done it simply because they are able to dictate the price the consumer shall pay, regardless of the conditions under which the price is established, says Mr. Steinberg.

Mr. Steinberg states that the raisers of cattle are getting a lower price for their beef today than they have received for the past three years. Notwithstanding this, the packer is receiving a price for all kinds of prepared meats that is causing many of the poorer people to do without it.

"The cattlemen of Texas, Arizona and the other cattle raising states of the West are discouraged over a system that can dictate both the price of the beef on the hoof and the price of the prepared meats," said Mr. Steinberg. "They see an unfair discrimination against them. They are aware that they are getting the worst of the bargain under the system established by the packing trust, but they are powerless to remedy the situation.

"Cattle associations of the Western states has striven to secure fair play for the cattle breeders, but their efforts have all been in vain. The different organizations of the cattlemen have failed to secure any advantage for the man who raise the cattle of the Western plains.

"At the present time, the representatives of the packers' trust are paying a very low price to Western cattlemen for beef on the hoof. The big difference between the price paid for beef and the price received from the consumer shows the power of absolute monopoly on the part of the companies banded under the beef trust, a monopoly which the cattlemen have been fighting for years.

"At the same time the packers have reduced the wages of their employes. With the decrease in wages, and a gradual decrease in the price for beef on the hoof, the price of meat to the consumer has advanced.

"The American consumer has been mulcted for the benefit of the stockholders of the meat trust.

A true value of the meat, and one that would permit of a legitimate profit to the packers, would be one far below the present igure. Every cent above this legitimate value is money taken from the pocket of the consumer. This money represents thousands of dollars annually and is the result of a perfected system of monopoly, that is absolute in its tyranny and conident in its arrogant power of defying the natural laws of supply and demand."

Mr. Steinberg says that at the present time a large number of the butcher shops are either directly controlled or are owned by the representatives of the beef trust. In this way they are enabled to maintain a uniformly high price on meat from the retail trade. A shop that would attempt to lower the price of meat would find that it would be speedily run out of business, according to Mr. Steinberg's statement.

He states that it is simply a huge monopoly controlling the buying market on one hand and the selling market on the other. Under this system, Mr. Steinberg states that there remains little choice on the part of the public but to either pay the price forced upon them by the trust or to go without the meat.

Mr. Steinberg further says that at the present time protests are going up from all parts of the country against the high price of meat. What effect the protest will have, Mr. Steinberg did not venture to say. He did state, however, that the officials of the beef trust were only controlled by public opinion in so far as it affected their profits. He believed that there is little hope for an immediate decrease in the price of meat.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The reason a girl's feet are so small is she says so anyway.

A woman can win any kind of argument by crying hard enough.

There's hardly anything that wears off as soon as the sweetness from kisses.

The trouble with having a good temper is all you then have to stand from those with bad ones.

It's awful mean of a man to go off fishing alone when he knows it would ruin his wife's complexion by sunburn to go along and spoil his fun.

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday was a very fit circus day; the thermometer was up to 80 degs., the sky clear and beautifully brilliant, and the interior of the tent comfortably hot. Last evening clouds gathered in the West, but the rain did not come until some time in the night. This morning it was cloudy and showery, but warm, and the weather man says that while the showers may continue tonight, tomorrow it will be fair. Last night's lowest temperature was 61 degs.

A year ago today it was clear, warm and fine.

The sun rose this morning at 4:15 and sets tonight at 8:07, making 15 hours and 52 minutes of sunlight.

Says Mr. Richardson of conditions: "Low pressures over Western Canada caused showers in that district and the Northwestern border states during Friday or last night. Copious rains also fell over Florida. The barometer continues high over Eastern states and over Oregon and Washington. The latter high pressure is causing cooler weather in the greater portion of the Northwest. Further showers are indicated for this locality tonight, followed by clearing skies Sunday."

Following were yesterday's highest temperatures:

MERRY JINGLES.

Baltimore American: "Oh, the poor policeman at the street corners!"

"What's the matter with him, my boy?"

"He's whistling for a job."

Philadelphia Press: "Oh, I'll get through all right," boasted the convicted murderer. "There's always some loophole of the law for a fellow."

"Yes," replied his counsel, "but the loophole for you, I'm afraid, is a noose."

Washington Star: "Don't you think our military friend indulges in glittering generalities?"

"His position requires him to be somewhat showy," replied the painfully precise person. "But his uniform is that of a colonel, not a general."

Philadelphia Press: "Gracious!" exclaimed the visitor, "what's that odor?"

"That," said the native, "is the trade-wind."

"The trade-wind?"

"Yes, that breeze comes from the western end of the town, where the glue factory and all the other manufacturing plants are."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Did you write to papa, George?"

"Asking for your hand?"

"Of course."

"Yes, I wrote."

"That's strange. I supposed papa would be terribly angry. You know he doesn't like you."

"Yes, I know. But I fixed it all right. I—I didn't sign the letter."

Chicago Tribune: "When you were in Rome, of course you did as the Romans do."

"Er—yes; I had to. I ran out of money, and had to find some way to extract it from the rich Americans that were visiting the city."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

After the Honeymoon.

Was it coincidence or a bit of intended irony that the June number of a popular magazine should contain two stories revealing the seamy side of married life? Of all months in the year, June the bridal month, would seem to be the time when the hosts of happy brides and adoring bridegrooms should be speeded on their way with stories and poems that picture the felicity of wedded life. And yet, there is this redeeming feature that both these tales issue as they ought to.

One begins with the separation of a husband and wife, whose little boy divides his time between them. It gives an idea of the troubles of the so-called society people, among whom, despite means to gratify almost every desire, estrangements so often arise. However, in this case, the gem of a boy, a beautiful 6-year-older, who does not understand why his papa and mamma live apart, proves the means of reuniting them, and the story ends with a scene that must satisfy even the most ardent reader.

The other story moves in the realm not of brownstone fronts and high stepping bays; but in that of the stockyards and dreary tenements. The hero, a father of more children than he can support, runs away from home only to feel the compunctions of conscience, and to return a penitent man, eager for the drudgery still awaiting him. He puts his arm around his Irish wife, as they sit in the doorway of their little home, close to the pig sties, and he says: "Do you remember our weddin' night in Wicklow, when we walked home from the church fourteen miles that afthernoon, an' sat on the steps of our little cabin and watched the stars come out? We're older, and haven't the stren'th—and all the mouths to feed! But I've more stren'th in my soul now, Kitty, and I wouldn't give tonight for that night, Kitty. No, this is bether."

There is a fine moral for all June brides and bridegrooms in stories like these. They make it clear that the business of living together as man and wife year after year when things go right and when things go wrong, is essentially a disciplinary business, and that the inevitable trials which arise, the misunderstandings and the heart burnings, are all capable of being turned toward the deepening of affection rather than the shattering of it. The only requisite is that both partners to the union shall understand at the outset that the real test of married life comes not in the honeymoon, not when the procession of congratulants is filing up with blessings on their tongues; not when things are smooth and easy and rapturous, but when, both in brownstone mansions and in the tenements, there is the clash of opinions, the difference of tastes, the contrary desires—then and then only love has its full testing. Then it will be seen whether the thought of either concerning marriage was generous and unselfish enough to cover such times of stress and strain.

Who are the happiest married people? Not those who have never disagreed in opinion. If one is only the echo of the other that means a subordination and not a real union. The happiest marriages ensue when two strong natures without either requiring the sacrifice of the other's individuality, join their fortunes and their hearts in the expectation that there will be mutual forbearance, trust and burden-bearing. Great is the happiness of the golden days, when love is young and ardent and demonstrative. Greater still the happiness of a tested affection that holds and deepens in the midst of what Lowell calls the "every-dayness of this working world," when the strain of real life makes severe drains on the reserves of patience and tenderness.

It is a long journey, dear young lovers, on which you have entered. It may lead you sometimes through dark valleys and up rocky heights. But wherever it leads, you can make it a way to peace and of blessedness. And as you drive proudly away let's send after you, instead of an old shoe or a handful of rice, this splendid thought from the recently issued biography of Alice Freeman Palmer, a former president of Wellesley college. Writing to a girl friend on the eve of her wedding, she said: "Keep happy and grow wise in keeping another happy. Be unselfish, dear. Sympathy is the great want of the human heart, man's heart as well as woman's. You must teach him how to sympathize with you in the broad sense, and let you sympathize with him in little as well as in great things. Then you will feel always that you are bound up together and that everything you each do is and that everything you each do is full of the other. That, I think, must be 'being married' and that, you know, isn't the work of an hour or a year. Then no matter what comes you can never really be separated."

THE TARIFF AND POLITICS

By SAVOYARD.

(Copyright, 1908, by E. W. Newman.)

THE New York Butchers' association has been investigating the perplexing question of the tariff, and has found out that the duty on live stock, poultry, eggs and things has increased the cost of living and is a special hardship on their guild. Had they made a little deeper investigation, they would have ascertained that there is even a more onerous duty on dressed meats; but that is a circumstance they do not care to tell in Gath or proclaim in Askelon, as it is for their protection, and thus again is vindicated the true philosophy of tariff graft, viz: "Every man is a free trader when he comes to buy, and a protectionist when he offers to sell. These New York butchers appeal to the president for the abrogation of the duty of $2 a head on calves, $3.75 a head on cattle past the yearling stage, $1.50 a head on swine, 3 cents a pound on poultry, 75 cents a head on lambs and $1.50 a head on sheep. From that it would seem that our friends of the New York slaughterhouse are not very strong on the Constitution of the United States, which, in clause 1 of section 8 of article 1, confers on congress, and not upon the president, the work of making and unmaking tariffs.

I think this proposition may be acknowledged as sound, even fundamental, that one of the causes of the marvelous material progress of this country—that is, money making—is due to cheap foods as much as to any other single agency. America—that is, urban America—no longer enjoys that advantage. Why? Because we tax foods to the quick and have free trade in appetite. I mean that, while we have prohibitory tariffs on nearly everything of which breakfast, dinner and supper are composed, we allow 1,250,000 immigrants to come to our shores with lusty appetites to help boost the price of food, and this very moment meat is cheaper in England than it is in the United States.

Now I have no objection to immigration. I would welcome every foreigner of Caucasian blood with a character and a muscle for work; or a character and a brain for thought. But I think we are getting them a little too fast, and are a little careless in our scrutiny of those who come. Right here I hope I will be pardoned for a piece of opinion. When we admit free of tax a bale of goods made abroad we put some American artisan or farmer to work making something to exchange for it, but when we admit the foreigner himself, he takes the place of some American workman. We have established a tin plate industry upon that very principle. It has made some Pittsburg millionaires, of whom we sometimes read in the newspapers that chronicle scandal and crime, but it has brought tens of thousands of aliens to compete with domestic labor. It was done in the name of the farmer, as though he cared whether his products were consumed in Pennsylvania or in Wales.

To amplify: The tariff is on the product. That is the property of capital. There is free trade in labor, and yet the knaves tell, and the fools believe, that the tariff is for labor. If there was as big a tariff on imported labor as there is on imported blankets there would be fewer inhabitants and cheaper foods in the United States, less concentrated wealth and more content.

Let us see the schedule the beef trust wrote in the present tariff, the Dingley law: Bacon and hams, 5 cents a pound; beef, 2 cents a pound; lard, 2 cents a pound; mutton, 2 cents a pound; pork, 2 cents a pound; poultry, 6 cents a pound; veal, 2 cents a pound; venison, 2 cents a pound; butter, 6 cents a pound. In addition the outrageous robbery perpetrated in the fish schedule of the Dingley tariff is in practice a positive protection of the meat trust, for if Canada fish is excluded it makes more home market for Chicago meat. The robber duties on eggs and cheese in the same way swell the ill-got gains of the meat trust.

But the worst of it is that it makes living dearer, and cheap living is the foundation of all real prosperity. Last year England imported from Australia 100,000,000 dressed rabbits, free of duty. She took meats, fish, poultry, game, eggs cheese, butter, fruits and everything else for the dining table, except tea, coffee and wines, from all the world free of duty. The beef trust, the butter trust, the poultry trust, the egg trust, the fruit trust could not live five minutes in England, but here these octopuses lay tribute every day on every urban dining room.

Here are both parties on their heads chasing the railroad octopus that has done ten thousand times as much good as it ever did harm, while they leave in perfect security the tariff octopus that has done ten thousand times more harm than it has good, and Mr. Bryan, the master of the opposition party, tells us that the tariff must by no means be made paramount, and that the chase of the railroad octopus is just begun.

There was a time when England had protection run mad. Edward III greatest of the Plantagenets, hanged those of his subjects he caught exporting raw wool, and every reader of Blackstone will tell you how it was the law that the dead should be buried in woolen. So outrageous were the oppressions of the tariff that by the dawn of the eighteenth century it was honorable to be a smuggler, and he was the proudest Englishman who drank wine that never paid the king tribute. believe that it was in 1785 that there rose a diplomat in England—one Eden—mark the name—who set on foot a reciprocity treaty with France. It was nearly accomplished when the revolution and the succeeding Napoleonic wars postponed the thing for half a century. In 1846 England adopted free trade, since when she is the first of the financial and commercial peoples and, except the United States, the first of the manufacturing peoples, in many lines of which she is ahead of us out of sight, especially in cotton goods, for which she darws from us the raw material.

And all these times the "balance of trade," the blessed, the precious balance of trade, has been adverse to England, yet she persists in growing richer and stronger instead of weaker and poorer. John Dalzell will prove to you by rule and plumet that an adverse balance of trade is ruin—that to live the country must export more than it imports, otherwise bankruptcy inevitably follows.

To that might be opposed an idea drawn from Bastiat, the French gentleman who taught William Jennings Bryan what [illegible] the Peerless One knows about the tariff, though Mr. Bryan did supplement Bastiat's political economy with Tom Moore's sentimental poetry, which, I doubt not, inspired Benton McMillin to adorn a tariff argument with this from Byron:

Many a vanished year and age,
And tempest breath and battle rage,
Have swept o'er Corinth, yet she stands,
A fortress formed to Freedom's hands.
The whirlwind's wrath, the earthquake's shock
Have left untouched her hoary rock,
The keystone of a land which still,
Though fallen, looks proudly on that hill.

Rather touching that, but not quite political economy; not at all like Robert J. Walker, or James Guthrie, or John G. Carlisle, or Henry G. Turner, or William R. Morrison put it, for these plain folk dealt in homely speech and convincing logic.

But to return to the Bastiat idea, which he applied to a cargo sent from Marsailles, and which Frank Hurd adapted and sent a ship out from Maine, a wooden country, loaded with staves and bound for Cuba, a sugar country. At Portland, the port of departure, the staves—for sugar hogsheads—were worth $5,000. At Havana, the port of destination, the cargo was worth $10,000, and sugar was exchanged for the staves. At Portland that sugar was appraised at $10,000, thus making the export $5,000 and the import $10,000, an adverse balance of trade of $5,000. John Dalzell, Joseph B. Foraker, Albert J. Hopkins, Julius C. Burrows, Eugene Hale, Nelson W. Aldrich, William P. Hepburn, Charles H. Grosvenor or any other protectionist will bring all the logic of absurdity—and it is inexhaustible, limitless—and show to you that a few more transactions like that and Maine will be fit for nothing but the poorhouse. Meanwhile, the fellow that turned the trick would be glad to do it twice over every day in the year, and it is absurd enough to think he would get rich at it.

How oft did that fine old man Pig-Iron Kelley, in eloquence more fit for stage tragedy than for congress debate, prove that a favorable balance of trade made impossible business prostration. We had that favorable balance last October. We have it now, some $500,000,000, and yet there is report of the souphouse at manufacturing centers, while Canada, with a frightful adverse balance of trade, was never so prosperous. Heap of humbug in political economy.

But what would follow if the teachings of the protectionists are sound and their objects attained? We would sell everything and buy nothing. That ultimately would fetch to this country all the money in the world. That is not desirable, any more than it would be to have all the money in the union centered into the state of Pennsylvania, and there, centered in Allegheny county, and ultimately covered into the coffers, and reduced to the personal belongings of a man with a son like Harry Thaw.

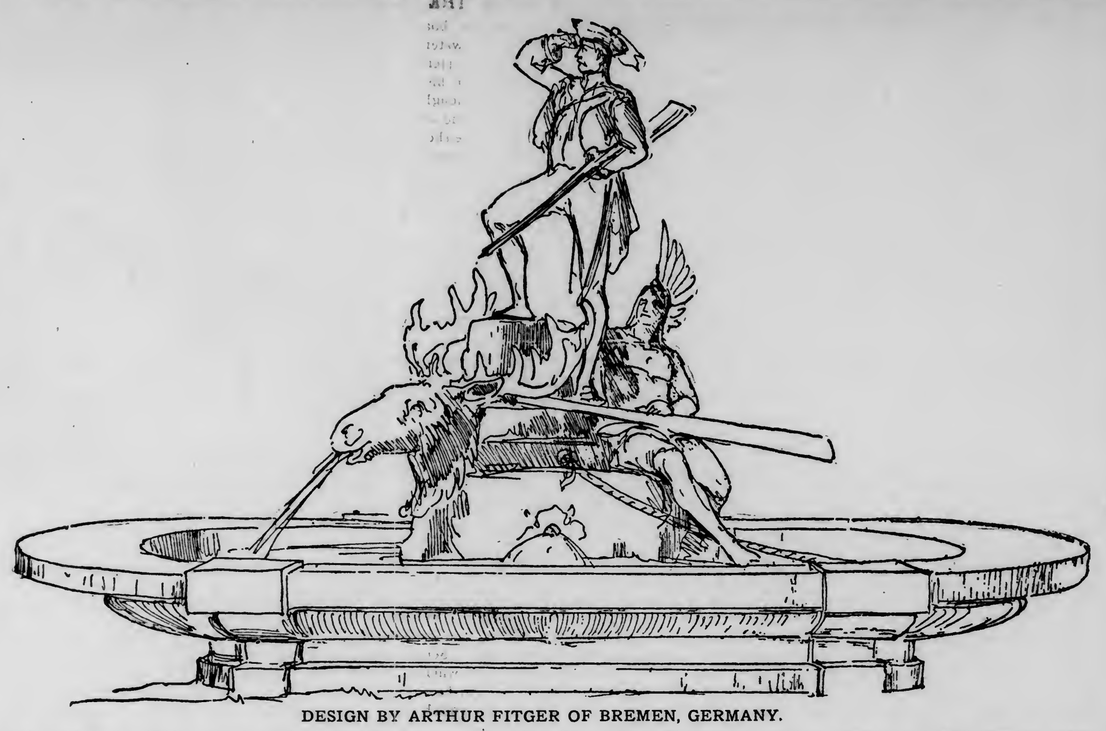

No, no, no; the true doctrine is that the fruits of man's industry, like the dews of God's heaven, should fall on all nations and all peoples. If there were a nation more powerful, more energetic, more opulent, more civilized, in the valley of the Amazon than there now is, in the valley of the Mississippi—and that nation is in the womb of future—it would be to the advantage of every American citizen from plutocrat to hobo. The greatest of material blessings that have fallen to mankind is the British empire. I know that is treason, but I can point to out a thousand cases wherein treason is candor and patriotism cant.

In the work of civilization, England is a hand-and-a-half. We are scarce half a hand. England is promoting the brotherhood of man materially. We are retarding that consummation, but it is inevitable.

If the Democratic party had enough sense to plant a hill of beans, or put up a panel of drawbars, it would have the next presidency in a basket on the tariff question. But until it swears out a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from Populism it will not have the openers of a jack pot.

STATUE TO GREYSOLON DU LHUT IS PROPOSED AT FIRST STREET AND SEVENTH AVENUE EAST

DESIGN BY ARTHUR FITGER OF BREMEN, GERMANY.

A few weeks ago a letter was received from Capt. Ray T. Lewis, who is making a tour of European countries, suggesting that for the plaza in front of the new courthouse building a statue of Greysolon Du Lhut be secured. He says he has secured figures from the celebrated sculptor, Chevalier G. Trentanove of Florence, Italy, showing that a statue of the kind desired could be secured for $10,000 to $15,000. "At my request," wrote Capt. Lewis, from Florence, "Mr. Trentanove has made a very handsome model of Greysolon Du Lhut, about twenty inches high, representing him as a French officer in the costume of the sixteenth century. I consider it very fine and just what the city of Duluth ought to have in front of the new courthouse. Mr. Trentanove will have some photographs of the model made, and they will be forwarded to me at Paris."

The question of erecting a statue of Du Lhut is not a new one. It has been under consideration for some time past by several residents of First street, Washington avenue and Seventh avenue east. Those who are acquainted with that section of the city will recognize the availability of the open space referred to for a statue. The plaza in front of the courthouse, it is contended by those who have considered the subject, is too large for a statue. It is the contention in the leading European cities to erect statues in smaller open spaces, and the one at Seventh avenue east appears to be an ideal one for the purpose, giving the monument a proper compact background. The idea originated with August Fitger, whose residence is on the corner of First street and Seventh avenue and he enlisted the support of Louis Rouchleau, David T. Adams and others residing in the neighborhood, but various circumstances have combined to prevent any definite steps being yet taken to carry out the idea. However, Mr. Fitger wrote to his brother, Arthur Fitger of Bremen, the celebrated German painter, regarding the matter, and received an outline sketch of an appropriate statue. It takes the form of a fountain with a moose head on one side and an Indian seated on the other, and a figure of Du Lhut standing in the center, in the attitude of looking toward the West, the Indian with his paddle, indicating that they came by canoe. The accompanying picture gives an idea of what is proposed. Arthur Fitger is not a sculptor, but his high standing as an artist entitles his views to respect, and he urges that if the idea be carried out, an American sculptor should be given the work, for such a distinctly American subject, as the result would be certain to be more satisfactory. The idea of a fountain at the point suggested is especially good as running water could be secured all the time by making connection with Brewery creek, which is in the immediate vicinity.

It is hoped that Messrs. Fitger, Adams, Rouchleau and others will see their way clear to carry out this splendid suggestion at an early date.

GROWTH OF CRIMINALITY IN THE UNITED STATES

By MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN.

Washington, June 27.—The census proves that criminality has steadily increased in the United States since 1880 and that a large per cent of this increase may be attributed to the astonishing increase in immigration.

In the old days when the immigration to the United States was from the industrial and simple peasantry of the old world, no such unfavorable conditions was the result of the multiplication of our population, probably because the majority of them were seeking lands upon which to establish homes for their families.

They applied themselves assiduously to the cultivation of the soil, the abundant returns rewarding them for their faithfulness. They were satisfied, thrifty, and useful citizens of the new world.

But with the development of the great resources of the country and the rapid multiplicity of railroads and other means of transportation, together with the frequent communication with the old world, has brought in their train hordes of idle, vicious, revolutionary and shiftless people who do not come to the United States to make permanent homes, but to engage in the labor necessary to the carrying out of some great enterprise, from which they derive high wages.

On the completion of the work they return to the old world to be revolutionists in their own lands as they have been in the United States.

Many of them have not taken any advantage of the privileges that are extended to all men through the generality of the government and liberality of their employes, but have been dissatisfied, ripe for every conspiracy and active in the most unlawful proceedings against capital and the government.

To expect to reform these people is almost a hopeless task, and yet, a majority of the citizens of this republic believe that in the future they will be brought to respect law and order and conform to the manners and customs of the republic.

While the country is making marvelous progress in its extension of civilization and Christianity, it has much yet to do to exchange the conditions of the ignorant and indigent. Perhaps one of the most effective measures to accomplish this would be to organize and carry out some plan by which the idle, vicious class could be induced to adopt agricultural employment.

If the millionaires of the country would put as much money into a colonization scheme that would enable these people to establish homes on the land as they do for homes for the homeless, hospitals, asylums, poorhouses, and places that house paupers and criminals, we should find that much more could be accomplished and these creatures could be saved for usefulness and good citizenship.

In a way, the Salvation Army and some enterprising individuals have done much, but the necessity for money with which to carry this out has prevented this remedy from being adopted to as large an extent as it should be.

The aggregating of great numbers of persons in the cities who speak foreign languages and expecting them to live together in peace and harmony is a great mistake. They are constantly misunderstanding rules and regulations of municipal, state, and United States authority.

They become jealous of each other and are so addicted to dissipation that they are constantly engaging in conflicts that terminate in tragedies.

Any attempt to force them to obey the laws is resented and consequently they bring upon themselves the severest penalties of the law.

Revenge seizes them as being their only resort for securing what they deem their rights or the liberality of their employes, but have been dissatisfied, ripe for every conspiracy and active in the most unlawful proceedings against capital and the government.

Isolation from temptation, fresh air, healthful occupations, proper food, and conservative government would do more for the ignorant emigrants and natives than anything else that could possibly be done. Little can ever be accomplished in the great cities where vice is always before them and where immorality and dissipation run riot in persons. It may be a long time before anything of this kind is done, but if we examine closely the cause of our greatness, we will find that it originated with the tillers of the soil.

is in the hands of experienced engineers, men who have traveled the path before and who know how to hit the obstructions.

The opposition was completely flattened out in Hennepin, Thursday. The Savage men put up a game fight in the county convention, but they were beaten on the organization, and as they saw the roller coming down the line they submitted and allowed the passage of a resolution allowing Capt. S. P. Snider and his friend, Judge Steele, the chairman of the convention, to select the entire delegation and then directed this delegation to vote for Snider until they felt like voting for somebody else, which means that they will vote for Jacobson. Young joined forces with Savage and had hoped thereby to get some of the delegates from the county, but the delegation which Steele and Snider are naming will be a strictly Snider-Jacobson delegation. The steam roller is again in evidence, and all the old prominent politicians who took any part in the Savage movement are carefully left off the delegation.

The pavement in Ramsey county was in good repair, the municipal steam roller having done quick work with the anti-machine element in the Republican party here. Therefore, the county convention here passed off smoothly, and Jacobson got an instructed delegation here as easily as his enemies got the delegation two years ago. The only protest came from H. T. Halbert, manager of the late municipal campaign. He wanted to do away with the unit rule, but the paving company had the roller all steamed up, and the minute Halbert made his motion, the roller hit him with a unanimous vote. He got up and let them run over him once more before they got through.

Similar tales are told from all parts of the state. Joel Heatwole thought he had the Third district; they indorsed him at their convention in April. But when the county conventions were held this week, only one county, his own, instructed for him, several counties instructed for Jacobson, and Young also got more votes than Heatwole in the district. Counting some uninstructed votes, Heatwole may get nearly fifty votes in his district, unless some of the delegates see the band wagon passing by and jump on to that instead of getting in front of the roller.

As it is, Jacobson does not have more than one-fourth of the delegates tied to him by absolute instructions, but there are enough of the uinstructed delegates who are committed to him to make his nomination on the first ballot very probable, and if he gets the same proportion of the uninstructed as he does of the instructed delegates, he will have more than enough. Not only will Jacobson be nominated, but the whole slate will go through—Eberhart for lieutenant governor, Schmahl for secretary of state, Dinehart for state treasurer, Judge Mills and Elmquist for railroad and warehouse commissioners, and if he is good, Simpson for attorney general. Reports were circulated this week that Winona county, which did not instruct, would be for Young for governor. If that is true, Simpson may be steamrollered out of political existence for the present, but if he plays with the right bunch, he is slated to be nominated.

Therefore, the state convention will be a rather tame affair. It will meet at the St. Paul auditorium at 11 a. m. on Wednesday. There are no contests, so the committee on credentials will be dispensed with. There is a possibility that some of the candidates will concede Jacobson's lead and will let him have it by acclamation. But if they do not, the tendency will be to cut the nomination speeches short anyway. The resolutions will be ready beforehand and will be pushed through with very little debate. The convention will adjourn reasonably early in the afternoon, and the politicians, who have for years have been lying awake nights trying to figure out some way of killing Jake, will be out shouting for Taft and Jake and Sherman, with the emphasis on Sherman.

Although Governor Johnson's refusal to consider another nomination for governor may be taken as final, for there can be no doubting his sincerity, there has been a storm of protest since he gave out his statement two weeks ago. Democrats and friends of all parties have written to him and to his close friends, hoping against hope to make him change his determination. They are all confident that he could be elected easily, for there are many Republicans who are not greatly enthused by the tactics which have been used to secure Jacobson's supremacy in state politics. Add to this Johnson's personal following, and there is enough to elect him easily even in a presidential year. But this is all dependent upon the action of the convention at Denver, for there is still a possibility that it may call Johnson for one place upon the ticket.

Minnesota Democrats are turning their attention to Denver, and Frank Day, F. B. Lynch and some of the others will leave for the convention city early next week. The remainder of the delegation will on the special train, which will leave here Sunday morning and reach Denver Monday afternoon. JUNIUS.

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Duluth Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed;
Have too much to do,
They tell about it in many aches and pains—
Backache, sideache, headache,
Early symptoms of kidney ills.
Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Duluth citizen tells here a certain cure.

H. G. Hibke, clerk in the Northern Pacific R. R. freight house, and living at Hunter's Park, Duluth, Minn., says: "In a testimonial given by me in 1898, which has been published often in the Duluth papers, I told how Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a severe attack of kidney complaint, from which I had suffered for a long time. I believe that it was brought on in the first place by exposure to all kinds of weather and the jarring of driving. Backache set in and the pains and aches made stooping and lifting very painful. Whenever I took cold it settled in my back and aggravated the trouble. The kidney secretions became discolored, irregular and contained a sediment. I also had frequent attacks of headaches. However, as I have emphatically declared and will always affirm, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of all these conditions, and today not a symptom of my former trouble remains."

ENGLISH JINGO PRESS.

Much Excited Over the Coming German Naval Maneuvers.

London, June 27.—A great many people are very much excited by the news which comes from Germany that for the first time the German navy is to have a series of maneuvers in the Atlantic, while it has formerly always held its maneuvers in the Baltic.

It is thought that this is meant to be not only a demonstration against England, but a forerunner of actual war. The jingo press, of course, is making the most of it, and says that this country cannot protest loudly enough against this "insult," while the more sensible papers remind that Germany has a perfect right to hold her naval maneuvers wherever she pleases, and that maneuvers in the Atlantic are no more a threat against Great Britain than are maneuvers in the Baltic a demonstration against Russia.

All this hubbub is mainly interesting because it shows how strained the relations between the two people are getting to be, but to the unbiased it seems, indeed, as if all the provocation has been done by England, and that the kaiser, all things considered, has shown remarkable patience.

Born in Iowa.

Our family were all born and raised in Iowa, and have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (made at Des Moines) for years. We know how good it is from long experience in the use of it. In fact, when in El Paso, Texas, the writer's life was saved by the prompt use of this remedy. We are now engaged in the mercantile business at Nacoosee, Fla., and have introduced the remedy here. It has proven very successful and is constantly growing in favor.—Ennis Bros. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

STARTLING DECISION.

English Judge Finds 60 Per Cent a Reasonable Rate.

London, June 27.—Justice Darling, the famous legal light, has rather startled England by declaring that under certain circumstances 60 per cent is a reasonable rate of interest.

A case has came up before his lordship in which a firm of money-lenders sought to recover the sum of $900 for interest on a promissory note for $1,600, the principal having been repaid, and the defendant sought relief, on the grounds that the inteerst was excessive and the transaction "harsh and unconscionable."

His lordship found that the interest charged in this case, 300 per cent was exceedingly high. A money-lender ran great risks when he lent money without any security, and it was to be expected that he must charge high interest, but he thought that 60 per cent was a reasonable rate, and ordered the defendant to pay on that basis.

NEW LAND DISTRICT.

Washington, June 27.—A new land district, to include certain lands in North and South Dakota, with offices at Lemmon, S. D, will be established on Aug. 1. With a view to having the boundaries follow out township section lines, the new district is taken from the Dickinson and Bismarck districts in North Dakota and the Rapid City district, in South Dakota. Edwin G. Coleman of Flandreau, S. D., has been appointed by the president to be receiver, and Cyrus C. Carpenter of Sisseton, S. D., as register of the new office.

FALLS FROM HIGH WINDOW.

Chicago, June 27.—Raymond Wells, 20 years old, a son of R. M. Wells, president of the Bankers' National bank, was probably fatally injured yesterday by falling from a fourth floor window at 75 Jackson boulevard. Wells, as he backed away from a mirror, stumbled over the low sill of the window. An awning broke the fall, but the young man sustained a fracture of the skull and internal injuries. The accident was witnessed by scores of pedestrians, and one man was knocked down and slightly injured by the falling body.

JACOBSON HAS A STRONG LEAD

Indications He Will be Nominated on First Ballot.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Practically complete returns received on the results of the Republican county conventions to elect delegates to the state nominating convention, which meets in St. Paul next Wednesday, give J. F. Jacobson, for governor, 514 instructed and "favorable" delegates, and all other candidates 379. Two hundred and fifty are doubtful, but of these the Jacobson supporters claim two-thirds. If their claims are substantiated, Jacobson will be nominated on the first ballot. The number of votes necessary to nominate is 572.

CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 27.—Three children were burned to death last night when fire destroyed the home of William Kalmacks.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

SOCIETY

THE deep interest taken by the Duluth people in the state art exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. this week has not abated in the slightest degree. The informal receptions are very popular and the interest taken in the voting contest increases day by day as the visitors at the exhibition grow more familiar with the paintings.

At the reception on Tuesday, June 23, the assisting hostesses were Mrs. G. A. Tomlinson, Mrs. William Prindle, Mrs. James E. Granger, Mrs. W. B. Silvey, Mrs. T. F. Cole and Mrs. R. P. Dowse. Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour gave an interesting talk on the handicraft portion of the exhibit.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Morton Miller, Mrs. H. F. Williamson, Mrs. William Dalrymple and Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr., received. The guest of honor was C. C. Rosenkranz, director of the Duluth Art school. Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Munger.

The next reception will be held on Monday afternoon, June 29. The hostesses will be Mrs. George C. Stone, Mrs. C. H. Munger, Mrs. G. G. Hartley, Mrs. O. C. Hartman, Miss Markell and Miss Bradshaw.

Mrs Whitnew Wall of 1615 Second street entertained at bridge on Wednesday afternoon at her home. The favors were won by Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. S. G. Knox and Mrs. Markell.

Miss Frank Paine of Lakeside entertained the Lakeside Five Hundred club on Wednesday afternoon. The game was played at four tables, and the prize was won by Mrs. John Jensvold, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Church will return from their wedding trip Thursday on the Tionesta and will be at home after Aug 1 at 812½ East Second street.

Calvin Siebolt Lawson of Scranton, Pa., arrived in Duluth today and is visiting his wife, who is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harpen of 1113 East First street.

Mrs. Robinson of New York will be the guest of her son, Dr. J. W. Robinson for the summer.

Miss Elizabeth Anderson, formerly of this city, and her sister, Miss Agnes Anderson of Brooklyn, left this week for England, where they will spend the summer. Later they will visit relatives in Scotland.

Miss Louise Wirth has returned from Simmons college in Boston, where she has been the past winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee W. Farmer of East First street have as their guest, Miss Edwina Stone of Saginaw.

James Tracy Hale has as his guests Lloyd Robinson, a classmate at Williams college, and his cousin, Hale Codding of Towanda, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Johnson and son, Robert, have returned from a week's outing at Deerwood.

David Duncan, Charles McLennan, Eben Spencer, Porter Alexander and Howard Manley have gone down the lakes for a trip.

The Misses Calverley of East First street had as their guests the first of the week Mrs. W. D. Calverley and son of Houghton, who left Wednesday to visit Capt. and Mrs. Harry Roberts at Solon Springs.

Miss Elsie Pruden, 16 West Third street, entertained informally Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Ruth Herman of Minneapolis, and Miss Wallace of Superior, who will be a July bride. Mrs. Jack Foreman and Miss Edith Scovell assisted the hostess. Red and white peonies and hearts were used to decorate the rooms. Twenty guests were present.

Miss Lavinia Mead, a missionary from the Far East, is in the city as the guest of her former schoolmate, Mrs. Ray Nichols of 1801 East Third street. Miss Mead will speak at the Baptist convention held in Superior this week.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS' PAGE

THE CHILDREN'S EXCITING FOURTH OF JULY.

BY MAUD WALKER.

Bert and Lily Graham's mother was giving them a Fourth of July picnic in the woods. No adults, save Mrs. Graham, was of the party, for, as she had said, it was to be young America's party, and all the speeches, the songs and recitations were to be of the youth, by the youth and for the youth.

The place chosen for the picnic was in a lovely dell some two or three miles from town, and the party chaperoned by Mrs. Graham, made an early start so as to reach the place of destination before the heat of the day should become too intense. In the woods the air was cool and refreshing. A great shaded spring afforded water to the picnickers, and a fine board platform and benches had been arranged for the morning's patriotic exercises. Also, an organ had been taken to the picnic grounds that morning very early, and was on the platform when the picnic crowd arrived. An old serving man, belonging to Mrs. Graham's household, had prepared the grounds for the occasion, and was in attendance on the young folks, putting up swings, hanging hammocks and making himself generally useful.

The morning exercises opened with the Lord's prayer, Mrs. Graham leading and the boys and girls following. Then a patriotic song was sung with spirit, each boy and girl seeming to vie with the other in rendering the words of the song with true American feeling. Following this, extracts from the Declaration of Independence were read by the orator of the day, Charlie Stephens. And a fine, intelligent reading he gave, too, being cheered heartily by his young listeners.

Then other songs were sung, some in chorus and others in quartettes, duets and solos, these being interspersed with recitations and declamations.

And such an enjoyable time was had during the patriotic exercises that young America forgot for a time that there were great baskets full of luncheon, great jugs of fruit lemonade (tucked into bags of ice) and swings and hammocks, and—yes, above all else—a huge box of fireworks to be used in the final windup of the day's celebration.

But as soon as the last song was sung all these other pleasant things came to mind, and the staid and proper company broke up into a gay, laughing excited crowd. Baskets were opened; cloths were spread on the grass beneath the trees; water was brought from the spring, and pieces of ice chipped into the pails and pitchers to add coldness to the sparkling "Adam's ale," so fresh from the interior of the earth.

"Well, I call this the most enjoyable event of my life, so far," spoke up Tom Peterson, his mouth crammed too full of fried chicken to permit of good articulation. At the moment Tom was assisting Gracie and May Stearns in placing some of the appetizing contents of a basket on the picnic cloth.

"There! Caught, sir!" cried May, turning on Tom with a threatening shake of the finger. "How dare you to sneak into that bowl of fried chicken? I'll have to keep an eye on you, sir."

"Just sampled it," muttered Tom, trying to swallow the tasty bit of chicken wing he had purloined. "Gee! I like the sample, and mean to get a seat close to the spot where that bowl is set. Ah-h-h!" And he assumed an injured look as May boldly took the bowl and covered it with a napkin, keeping it close by her side.

"Just one little handout, please, kind lady," begged Tom, to the great amusement of half a dozen girls and boys who had heard the banter between him and May. "You wouldn't refuse a hungry man a bite to eat—and on this the great and glorious Fourth!"

"Well, you must first do a little wood-chopping," smiled May. "It's the custom, I believe, for tramps to offer to work for what they eat. Am I not right, girls?" And May turned an appealing look on the girls grouped about the picnic cloth, some assisting at the opening of baskets, while others cut bread and cake.

"To be sure," declared several girls' voices in unison. "If that tramp wants dinner at this tavern he must do something worth while to pay for it."

"Say, I'll tell you, girls, what to do," said Bert Graham, host of the party. "Insist upon Tom performing some heroic act—not wood-chopping, mind you, but a heroic act—before he be allowed to partake of that chicken."

"Agreed! Agreed!" acquiesced several of the girls. Then, Lily Graham said, teasingly: "Poor old Tom, won't he get a bite of chicken till he performs some genuinely heroic act? Ah, then I fear he is doomed to eliminate chicken from his dietary from this day."

"Say, Lily Graham, just because this is a grand occasion there is no call for such jawbreakers as you just now perpetrate on us," declared Tom. "Speak understandable American, please."

Everybody laughed at Lily's expense; but that young miss was not in the least discomcerted. Looking defiance at Tom, she smiled.

"Do you understand the meaning of the word c-h-i-c-k-e-n?" And she spelled the word with emphasis on each letter. "Well, if you do that fowl—especially when fried and served at a picnic dinner on the Fourth—is to be found missing on your plate. Do you understand that, Sir Tramp?"

But just at this instant a boy of the party who had gone to the spring for more water came rushing madly up the hill, calling out at the top of his lungs: "A mad bull is coming through the meadow! Get into wagons and up trees, for the good Lord's sake, or he'll gore some of us to death! Hurry—he's close behind me!"

Immediately all was confusion. Mrs. Graham tried giving orders, but few of the frightened children heard her. Some scrambled for the picnic wagons, but knew at the same time that they would not be safe in them. Most of the boys started for trees, climbing out of the bull's reach. But, of course, they did not look after their own safety till they saw that the girls were inside the wagons.

"It's no good getting in a wagon!" cried Tom, endeavoring to persuade the girls to try climbing the trees. But no time was left for change of position. Up the steep bank came a powerful bull, snorting and bellowing furiously. On gaining the top he stopped short for a minute, staring with blood-shot eyes at the little party stationed close upon the bank. Then he shook his head, snorted, pawed the earth and gave forth such a bellow that the very ground seemed to shake beneath the frightened picnickers. Mrs. Graham had climbed into a wagon, holding her motherly arms about the smaller girls, while she endeavored to calm them. "Maybe the animal will go past without harming us if we just keep very calm and look straight at him. You know it is said that animals understand our emotions to a certain degree. Let's all be determined to feel no fear, and if he comes toward our wagons we must show fight by threatening him with our parasols."

Sizz! Splutter! Flash! Bang! Two handfuls of giant firecrackers exploded in the bull's face.

After taking in the view to his content the bull put his head to the earth, pawed a few times in rage, snorted again and made a charge right toward the wagon containing Mrs. Graham and the group of smaller girls. Each little miss screamed in fright and hid her face in her hands. Even Mrs. Graham's breath stopped and her face became deathly white. The wagon was a frail affair, and the bed of it was so close to the ground that should the charging bull care to try his horns on its occupants there was nothing to prevent his doing so.

But hardly had the mad bull started charging toward the picnic wagon filled with its frightened humanity, when Tom Peterson darted forth from beneath the wagon, whither he had crept all unnoticed by anyone, and made right at the bull. From the wagons and surrounding trees came cries of horror as the girls and boys saw Tom risk his very life. But before one could have counted five, Sizz! Splutter! Flash! Bang! Tom had thrust out both hands and thrown something right in the charging animal's face. Two handfuls of giant firecrackers exploded in the bull's face. Then as the frightened and half-blinded animal turned in retreat Tom touched off a skyrocket, pointing it to shoot over the running bull's back.

The bull needed nothing more to scare him away. Indeed, it was really funny to see him darting down the bank, into the water of the creek and through the brush and briars on the opposite bank, never stopping an instant to look behind him.

Just as the picnic crowd was wondering whether or not they would better remain there for luncheon or pack up hurriedly and betake themselves off, in anticipation of the bull's return, two horsemen came dashing through the meadow which bordered the grove. One of them seeing the picnic crowd drew rein and asked if they had seen an ill-natured bull thereabouts. "Yes, he has been celebrating," replied Tom, laughingly. "He had the honor of having two bunches of giant firecrackers and one huge skyrocket. Now he's running just as far away—across the creek, yonder—as he can get. I guess he doesn't relish Fourth of July fireworks."

The horseman laughed, and told Tom that he and his companion were off in search of the bull. "But go on with your celebration," he added, "for we'll drive the old fellow into his pen shortly. He'll not molest you again."

"And you may have all the fried chicken you can eat, Sir Hero," cried May, coming down out of the wagon and giving Tom her hand. "Yes, you surely deserve the best the board affords," cried Lily Graham. "You have performed the heroic act which entitles you to——"

"Sh-sh-sh!" And Tom put up a warning finger. "If you say too much I'll get the big head. Truth is, I never once thought of the fried chicken when I was playing with the firecrackers and—the bull."

"You're a brick, old chap." And Bert Graham, coming down from his perch in a tree, seized Tom by the hand. "The others of us boys——"

"Sh-sh-sh!" cried Tom, putting up a warning finger. "Not another word about the little bull episode. Let it be forgot in the merry-making. Say, Mrs. Graham, isn't it luncheon time?"

"You dear, brave boy," began Mrs. Graham, tears in her eyes and emotion in her voice. But seeing a determined look in Tom's eyes she paused; then added: "Yes, girls, let's spread the table and do honor to our hero, Tom Peterson. Come, bring out that fried chicken."

And then the merriest luncheon was enjoyed, and the afternoon of that Fourth of July will always live in the memories of those present. And when the night came down Chinese lanterns were lighted and swung from the trees, and several of the boys took charge of the fireworks. And it is quite sure that the old bull, in his pen on an adjoining farm, could see the skyrockets and hear the snapping and cracking and roaring of the fireworks, and if he did he must have been glad to have been overtaken by his owner and driven home into safety.

A BRILLIANT PUPIL.

One of the board of education, going his rounds, put the following question to a scholar in a country school:

"How do you parse the sentence, 'Mary milked the cow?'"

Pupil—"Cow is a noun, feminine gender, singular number, third person and stands for Mary."

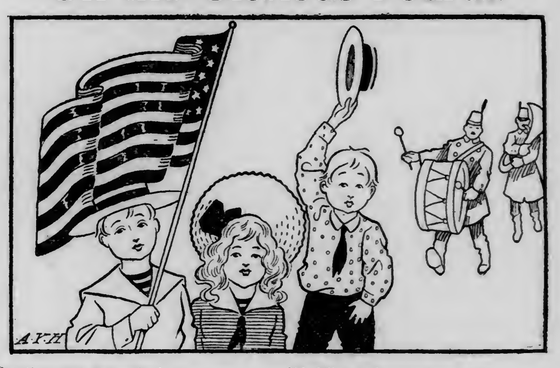

He of the Board—Stands for Mary? Now, how do you make that out?

Pupil—Because, if the cow didn't stand for Mary, how on earth could Mary milk her?

Tommy's Fourth of July Nightmare.

On the Glorious Fourth.

See the great procession!
Hear the big brass band!
Just harken to the awful roar
Throughout this mighty land!

'Tis the glorious glorious Fourth,
And loyal hearts are gay
As out they go to celebrate
Our well-loved National Day.

Old folks, and young ones,
Big folks, and small;
Go out on the glorious Fourth
To respond to the call.

Of love they bear their country,
Where all are blest and free,
In this, the land that's truly called,
"The home of liberty."

Andy, The Hero of Old Solitaire.

BY WILLIAM WALLACE, JR.

Andy Simpson lived in a village that was tucked away in a Rocky Mountain gorge. His father's house set against the side of one of the highest mountains of the range which walled in the village. All about them was the wildest scenery and, as the mountains at this point were almost impregnable, there were few travelers or tourists to be found exploring the region. Only some old grizzled trappers and an occasional mining "prospector" were to be seen wandering about the mountains in search of wild animals, or the precious metals, gold and silver. But, as the mountains in this particular locality had proven unproductive, the prospectors had begun to give the vicinity a wide berth, and had betaken themselves to more promising fields. Thus it was that all about the little gorge town, in which the hero of our story lived, nature in her wildest form reigned supreme.

About two weeks before the opening of this story there had occurred in the town a most daring bank robbery, and the robbers had succeeded in getting away, hiding themselves in the mountains. For two weeks the sheriff and his posse had searched for them in vain among the mountains, not only hoping to apprehend the outlaws, but to cover themselves with glory, and receive the liberal reward offered for the capture of the criminals. But at the expiration of two weeks' constant riding—where such means of locomotion was possible—and climbing on foot when obliged to do so, the sheriff had given up the search, and had returned to the town to await news from other counties and states where he had hopes that the robbers might yet be overtaken.

But gradually the excitement attending the robbery and wounding of the bank's cashier had died out and the little mountain town had recovered from its brief terror and was sleeping as peacefully in the gorge as before. But one little restless spirit still thought constantly of the robbery and of the cruel gunshot wound of the cashier. He was Andy Simpson, the bank cashier's only son. "Those bandits must be caught and punished," he would whisper to himself. "They didn't only steal the people's money, but they wounded my father, and from that wound he may lose the use of his right hand. So, I'm going to find the gang if they're in these mountains. The sheriff is in too much of a hurry. He wants to get 'em on the spot; an' if he don't he gives it up as a bad job."

Thus soliloquized Andy every day, becoming more and more determined that the law should claim its own.

One morning Andy begged his parents' permission to visit an aunt living several miles down the gorge in another little town more isolated than his own, and one with readier access to the fastness of the higher mountains. He did not tell his parents of his intentions to visit the unexplored part of a mountain called "Old Solitaire," so named on account of its inaccessibleness. He had it in his mind that there, hidden away in some canyon of Old Solitaire, he would come upon the robbers. He had once suggested to his father that, doubtless, the robber gang had gone straight to Old Solitaire, but the idea was only laughed at; for while Old Solitaire was big and bold and steep, there was little timber to shelter or hide a gang of men, and few deep crevices or gorges by which they might make their escape to the opposite side. Of all the chain of mountains Old Solitaire promised less to the culprit in hiding. And for that reason the sheriff and his men had not thought it worth while to go over it thoroughly. They had climbed over the parts of it that were most accessible, but the summit and the southern side had not claimed their attention.

"Men wouldn't come here to hide," the sheriff had declared. "They'd be for getting to level ground, and to the railway, for another state, but never to Old Solitaire."

Andy's parents gave their consent for him to visit at his aunt's home, down the gorge. So he set out one morning bright and early, his knapsack over his back and a determined look in his face. He told his mother that he might be gone a week or 10 days. "Don't look for me till you see me," he had said at parting. Then, calling out to his father, who was still confined to his room on account of the wound in his hand, said: "Say, daddy, get well fast, for you may have to appear in court against those thugs that shot you. I have faith that they'll be caught yet."

Andy's father smiled indulgently, but said, with regret in his voice: "I'm afraid, son, that those outlaws will never be captured."

After Andy had spent an hour visiting with his aunt, he explained that her house was but his headquarters, and that he was off to Old Solitaire, where he meant to "explore and prospect." His aunt, knowing him to be a perfectly trustworthy boy, made no objection to his plan and prepared a plentiful amount of cold food for him to carry in his knapsack and pockets. "It may not turn up inside three or four days," Andy told her as he departed, heading for Old Solitaire.

All that afternoon Andy climbed and climbed, and just as the darkness began to fall he reached a most melancholy spot away up on the side of Old Solitaire. A few stunted pine trees afforded a shelter for the night, if indeed, Andy wanted shelter from the star-studded heavens.

After refreshing himself from his knapsack he stretched out wearily on the hard ground to take a nap. Once he decided to remain in that spot for the night, but later—after his bodily fatigue gave way—he concluded to go on up the mountain, turning towards the south, where he knew a deep canyon to be. He carried his gun over his shoulder, for it was said that a few mountain lions and a number of wildcats still survived the trappers' raids and were roaming at sweet freedom about Old Solitaire.

"I may wander about this lonesome old mountain for a week and not get track of the robbers," mused Andy as he went along, making his own path over a very rocky surface. "But I'll act just as though I mean to come upon the band at any minute. I must keep an Indian's eye in my head, an Indian's nose on my face and an Indian's foot as soft as a cat's paw."

But just as Andy finished this mental sentence he stopped quickly and sniffed the air. "As sure as fate, that's smoke—tobacco smoke," he whispered under his breath. "And it must come from some nearby spot, for tobacco smoke doesn't travel great distances. Now, careful, Andrew Simpson. Something is going to happen—I can feel it in my bones."

After making a calculation as to the spot from which issued the tobacco smoke Andy lay down and began crawling slowly in that direction. A twig snapped beneath him, or if a pebble rolled down the mountain side, he would pause and hold his breath. "Gee!" he whispered. "I mustn't make the slightest noise!"

After covering about 200 paces he thought he could overhear voices, very low, but voices surely. His heart was in his mouth, so to speak, and his pulse throbbed. "Oh, what if they should really be here!" he thought. "And the sheriff gave up the search! Wouldn't that be a joke on the sheriff, though? But I must creep quietly, for if that gang should sniff me it would be the last of yours truly." So saying, Andy crept slowly forward. Yes, there was the sound of human voices, and a strong smell of tobacco smoke. Andy now ascertained that the owners of the voices and the smokers of the tobacco were behind a clump of scrub pine trees that grew from the side of a great boulder. With the greatest caution, he crawled to a spot within a few feet of the very place where half a dozen dark forms could be seen crouching together. Upon closer scrutiny these forms proved to be men, and Andy could catch their words.

"Oh, it'll be safe, all right, all right, to get out of here tonight. You see, they have all got the notion that we're off in another direction. Even that old fool sheriff didn't look up here. Why, he was within 20 rods of us one night, and turned back, thinkin' we'd gone down the gully. He's a dandy sheriff, he is!"

"What's that noise?" asked one of the men, quickly rising to his feet and peering through the semidarkness right towards Andy. But Andy's heart didn't stop entirely, for in another instant a man came up the mountain side, whistling softly a signal. Then he passed quite close to Andy and joined the group beside the boulder. "All's clear below," he said. "There's not a live thing astir on the mountain, and we'd better git for tall timber about midnight. It'll take clean three hours to git to the level; then another hour to git to the railroad. We must scatter, though, before we git near to town."

Andy waited for no more. Like a mouse he turned silently and crawled off down the mountain side, using the greatest caution till he reached a spot far enough from the "gang" to allow of his rising to his feet. Then he ran the rest of the way to the little town at the foot of Old Solitaire. It was about 12 o'clock when Andy, all out of breath, waked the deputy sheriff from his slumber and told him in an excited voice of what he had seen and heard up on Old Solitaire. At first the deputy gave little attention to Andy's assertion that he had found the robbers in their hiding place, but as the boy's story developed the man decided to act upon the advice so strangely brought him, and soon had a posse formed to surround the outlaws. "They mean to scatter just before they reach town," explained Andy. "And there's about five or six of 'em, so you'd better go well prepared to fight."

"We'll get 'em if they're on Old Solitaire," smiled the deputy calmly. "And, kid, if we do git these robbers on your information the reward is yours."

"I don't care about the reward," declared Andy warmly; "I'm only thinking of getting the money back for the people and making that wicked gang suffer for having shot my father's hand nearly off. I'm not thinking of the reward."

"All the samey, it'll be yours, kid, if we git the rascals on your information," said the sheriff. And then, without further parley, he and his men were off, creeping like wolves among the boulders and pine trees near the base of Old Solitaire. "They'll have to come this way," said the deputy sheriff, placing his men. "This is the only place where they can come down from the mountain."

And they hadn't long to wait. Soon one man fell into their hands. Then another and another. The last two showed fight, for they had heard some parley going on between their confederates and strangers; but soon they were overcome at the points of guns and surrendered themselves. And when, an hour later, they were searched in the deputy's house before being taken to jail, the money stolen from the bank two weeks before was found on their persons.

When the news spread like wildfire the next day that Andy Simpson, the 14-year-old boy, had discovered the robbers in their retreat just in time to have them captured, the whole town and county turned out to do him honor, and with one voice they declared that the reward—$1,000—was to be paid to Andy Simpson and to nobody else. And Andy, somewhat against his will—for he had not worked with the reward in view—was forced to consent to accept it.

"Well, if daddy's hand has to be amputated on account of the wound we'll have something to go into business on," he said solemnly, shaking his curly head. "But the only reward I wanted was that that gang be caught and turned over to the law. And I hope all the money was found, so that it may be put back into the bank. If daddy's hand gets well and the law settles with the gang as they deserve being settled with—why, that's better than the reward."

And Andy's father, who was present when his son made this statement, said: "Andy, boy, I'm prouder of you than I can tell. You've done that which a sheriff and posse failed to do—you ran to earth a band of outlaws that was a menace to the country."

And from that day to this (which has been one year this month) Andy Simpson has been called the hero of Old Solitaire.

THE SKYROCKET.

Little Billy Bunting,
And little Binny Bly,
Went to have a jolly time
On the Fourth of July.

They had some fire-crackers
A big sky-rocket, too;
But how to use the latter
Neither of them knew.

So all day long they kept it
Until the Fourth was o'er
And now they'll have to wait a year
To see that rocket soar.

Fourth of July Don'ts for Boys.

Don't use firearms or toy pistols on the Fourth; they often prove very dangerous in the reckless hands of youth.

Don't set off fireworks in close proximity to horses; sometimes the gentlest old nag will take fright at such a sudden and unusual noise and will run away, doing mischief to life and limb.

Don't handle fireworks recklessly; many boys have been maimed for life—indeed, many have lost their lives—by so doing.

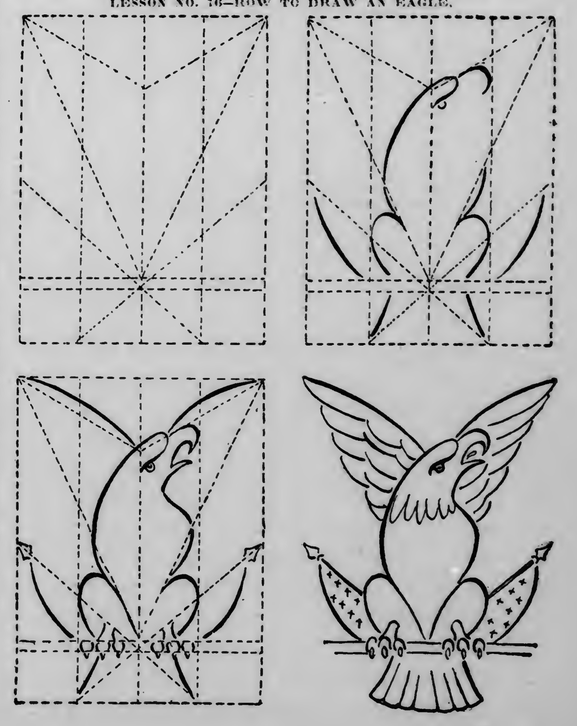

Don't think it smart to frighten children, and startle old people, by snapping caps or firing crackers under their very feet. A gentlemanly boy never forgets his good manners, even on an occasion of jolly good cheer like the Fourth of July.

Don't forget that first grand Independence Day, so long ago, and celebrate its anniversary by rejoicings rather than by noisy, coarse demonstrations.

Don't forget to be a patriotic young American always, and make yourself a worthy citizen of this great nation.

AMERICAN proconsuls now rule an area of the earth's surface about as large as France, Belgium and Holland taken together, and inhabited by nearly fourteen and a million souls, a population greater than that of England and Wales together as late as 1831.

Only a few years ago, if a good fairy had knocked at the doors of certain American lawyers and announced to them, "Get ready! You will shortly be a great proconsul in a foreign land; your power will be nearly autocratic; you will control countries great in extent and populous"—the lawyers would have got out a commission of lunacy on her at once. These lawyers heeded not of proconsuls. They looked forward hopefully to an increase in business and a quiet old age with a country house in their native village.

Then there were some officers of the army and navy, most of them young and unknown outside of the service, who, if the good fairy had appeared with her message in their quarters, would have called the corporal of the guard to put her out. They looked forward only to a slow promotion, final retirement and death. There were to be no more wars fought by this country for a hundred years. Proconsuls, indeed! What was a proconsul, anyway, and what did you do with it? The only sensible thing was to study your profession against the time of examination for promotion and keep tabs in the register of deaths of your seniors so as to know about when a promotion and an increase of pay came due. Life was ordered in advance interminably in the service and in the lawyers' offices and it was ordered humdrum by fate.

Then Came War.

Then, one day, contrary to the statute in the case made and provided, contrary to the "experts," there came a war—and then American proconsuls sitting in the seats of the mighty; ruling over great and small islands far and near; living in ancient palaces; governing strange peoples of whom, a short time before, they had scarcely heard the names; handling the most intricate problems of administrative government; receiving salutes of cannon and riding with glittering escorts when they appeared in state. And doing it all so well, so naturally—as if they were born to it and had been at it all their lives—as to command the admiration of the world.

Few Roman proconsuls—for the world was not so populous in the days of Caesars—governed so many millions as are under some of the proconsuls sent out from these Western regions where the imperial eagles never flew. And these American lawyers, sailors and soldiers give good government to peoples who never had good government before. In ten years they have done more for the countries they govern in the way of advancement in modern civilization than the countries had given them in a hundred years before. The adaptability of the American to new conditions, his custom of turning his face "to the instant need of things," was never so strikingly illustrated as in this sudden evolution of soldiers, sailors, lawyers and laymen into a class of successful governors of great provinces and strange peoples, with ways of life and methods of thought entirely foreign to those of the men sent to rule them.

Here are some of our present proconsuls and the lands they rule:

When the Spanish war broke out James F. Smith was quietly practicing law in his native state of California. He was not by any means an old man nor yet a very young man. He had just arrived at the age when his habits of life might be supposed to be formed and his walk in life marked out for him. He had a good law practice, which he was increasing, and was a man well thought of—a rising lawyer. Some day people said he might achieve a judicial position of prominence, for he was well liked, worked hard and knew his business.

Governor of Philippines.

Out across the long rolling waves of the Pacific, Mr. Smith knew, in a vague way, was a group of islands called the Philippines, and a city called Manila. But "What was Hecuba to him, or he to Hecuba?" If Mr. Smith wanted relaxation from his law practice, he took it in a mild interest in the National Guard of his state and a more earnest interest in the public school system. "Manila? Oh, yes, that's where the cheroots come from," he probably would have said if you had mentioned the capital of the Philippines to him. Today Governor General James F. Smith, lord of 2,000 islands and master of 10,000,000 people, sits in his palace at Malacanang, by the waters of the Pasig, at Manila, and governs the Philippines. It was the ancient palace of the Spanish viceroys, and their pictures hang along the walls of the great reception hall are portraits of Spanish monarchs, whose rule has passed away forever. Mr. Smith is master now.

Some critics have said that the palace is tawdry and uncomfortable. Tawdry it may be, but there is a profusion of carving and gilding, of rare wood and Spanish devices in stately coats of arms, a multitude of rooms, and it will compare favorably with most old world palaces, which are as ancient as Malacanang is. Twenty acres around the palace were originally laid out in gardens and a park and much of this has now been reclaimed and reornamented. At the main entrance of the palace are quarters for the guard and for the halberdiers, who used to stand in stately attention when the governor passed out, under the old regime. Then there are stables and coach houses and residences near by for the governor's secretary and others of his suite. The great dining room opens upon a logia, which commands a magnificent view of river and bay, of towering mountains and hills, clothed with luxurant tropical growth

His Summer "Palace."

Up at Benguet, in the mountains, the governor general has another "palace" for summer use. In the city of Manila, in the ancient walled town part of it, is his capitol—the Ayuntamiento—where the routine business of Mr. Smith's principality is conducted. And it is no small business either. Under the governor general are many provincial governors. Then he has his council of state, the Philippine commission, and once he has had a Philippino congress 'on his hands." He has his own army, the constabulary, and also the scouts and the regulars, the latter sent out to him by his suzerine Uncle Sam, and the former recruited from his own people.

In short, this man who was but the other day a California lawyer, is now entrusted with great powers and governs, and governs admirably, a territory only a little less in area than the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and having a population as great as that of England and Wales at the time of the Napoleonic wars.

How did Mr. Smith arrive at this great height? The manner in which the California lawyer was evolved into the greatest of Uncle Sam's present day proconsuls was a simple one, and it is a graphic illustration of the adaptability of the American.

When the Spanish war broke out, Lawyer Smith turned soldier and became colonel of a California volunteer regiment. He made such a good soldier that he was promoted to be a brigadier general of United States volunteers. He went to the wars in the "islands where the cheroots came from," and got mentioned in dispatches for gallantry. After the fighting was over, they wanted a good collector of customs in Manila, and Gen. Smith became collector of customs. In about a year they wanted a good lawyer for associate justice of the Philippine supreme court, and Lawyer-Colonel-General-Collector Smith became Judge Smith. In two years the judge was made a member of the Philippine commission and given the portfolia of public instruction. Three years later he was installed as governor general.

When Lawyer Smith's seemingly tame and quiet destiny began to run away with him, it whirled him to dizzy heights with a bewildering rapidity. But Governor-General Smith is a quiet, unostentatious man, unassuming and hard working, taking everything that comes as a matter of course. To him, to rule an empire or to practice law in rural California is all in the day's work.

Ruler of the Moros.

Away down to the south of Manila, another American proconsul is tolling. This is Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, who rules the Moro province. Gen. Bliss was a commissary of subsistence, with the rank of captain, when thee war with Spain broke out. He was a graduate of West Point and an honor graduate of the artillery school, but there was going to be no war, "never any more," and he went into the commissary department. He had studied how to fight an army, now he would learn how to feed one; he had studied cannon, now he would study canned goods. That is what makes our army officers such good administrators—if they study all the branches of their profession they learn many different things in the art of handling men. In his youth, of course, Gen. Bliss, like all cadets, had his dreams of greatness, but in his wildest flights of fancy he could never have dreamed that one day he would be ruler of many almost unknown islands in a far-off Southern sea, peopled by a strange race of Mohammedans called Moros, with a sultan and many haughty dattoes at his call. But fate hurled Tasker Bliss rapidly along its own route after the war with Spain, until today he finds himself living in a governor's "palace" in Jolo with the sultan of his subject and the great island of Mindanao, the Sulu group and numerous other small islands to keep him busy in the government business.

From his "imperium" the two Christian provinces of Mindanao—Cagayan and Surigao— are exempted, and he is, in a way, under some nominal subjection to the government at Manila. But his is a military government and, to a great extent, an independent one. It is no sinecure governing these Moros, for before the Americans came they were practically an unconquered people. Even now, they are e very once in a while breaking out into insurrection. They have to be watched like wily serpents and humored like children at the same time. And all the time a firm and steady rein must be kept on them, and efforts made to set their feet in the paths of progress and civilization. The governor of the Moro provinces must be both a fighter and a civil governor of administrative ability, and Gen. Bliss is both. He comes from Pennsylvania and was graduated from West Point in the class of 1875. What a contrast his present position affords to that of a few years ago—a captain in the commissary department suddenly transformed into a ruler of wild islands filled with hordes of savage men!

Proconsul of Panama.

Far away from "the smoky Philippines," from Mindanao and Sulu, with their savage sultaons and dattoes, another army officer is playing the proconsul. What was once the state of Panama, in the republic of Colombia, and later a federal district of that same republic, is now a republic by title, with a population of perhaps 400,000, and an area of 31,000 square miles. In other words, it is about three times the size of Belgium, and some day, in the far-off future, may have nearly as large a population. Parts of it are unexplored and filled with unconquered Indians, and legends of prehistoric cities. Only along the railroad running from sea to sea is the population dense.

Col. George R. Goethals, who only graduated from West Point in 1880 and a few years ago was a captain in the engineer corps of the army, and unheard of outside of his profession, is the "boss" down there. He is chairman of the canal commission, which runs the strip across the Isthmus ceded to the United States, and also keeps an oversight on the affairs of the republic of Panama. Col. Goethals and his advisors must not only administer the canal zone, but must look out that Panama keeps up its sanitation, that she holds honest elections and refrains from revolutions and graft. It is quite a job. Incidentally, Col. Goethals, as chief engineer, is digging the canal.

In reality, the "Republic of Panama" is a protectorate of the United States and the chairman of the Isthmian canal commission is charged with the protection. So keep a general supervision of a turbulent Latin-American republic, to manage a "zone" filled with thousands of laborers from all nations, and to construct at the same time the greatest engineering work the world ever saw, is the task of this comparatively young officer of engineers. He shares his duties, of course, with the other members of the commission, but Goethals is the head and front, the real "pro-consul' in the last analysis. Yet he is a most affable man, who never seems in a hurry. He is a New Yorker and entered West Point in 1876. During the war with Spain he held the volunteer rank of lieutenant colonel of engineers, and had the war continued might have distinguished himself in it. As it was, he had no chance.

Governor of Porto Rico.

Between the Virgin Islands, that northern group of the lesser Antilles which separate the Carribbean sea from the Atlantic, lies the island whose "rich port," has given the whole land the name of Porto Rico. Only a few years ago it was "one of the brightest jewels in the crown of Castile and Aragon." Columbus discovered it, Ponce de Leon governed it. Its old Carib name of Boriquen means "The Land of the Valiant Lord." It has a population of about a million souls and a territory about two-thirds that of the kingdom of Saxeny. It is a fair land, a rich land, capable of sustaining a heavy population and of producing in the future, as it has in the past, great riches for the world.

In an ancient palace said to have been begun by Ponce de Leon himself, a palace situated on a rocky promontory in the city of San Juan de Porto Rico—Saint John of the Rich Port—sits Regis H. Post, another native of New York, a graduate of Harvard, and still young. In fact, he is the youngest of all Uncle Sam's proconsuls, being only 38 last January, and not looking it.

When Mr. Post was graduated from Harvard he took a shy at politics—went to the legislature, etc. He also became well known as a "crack" wing shot. He is a man of independent fortune and belongs to the Post family which settled in Southampton, L. I., early in the seventeenth century. Mr. Post belonged to Mr. Roosevelt's set, and, like the president, had an ambition to take some part in public life—to become something more than a good yachtsman and "crack" wing shot. So in 1903, Mr. Post was sent out to Porto Rico as auditor of the insular government. He "made good" and last January was promoted to be governor.

Governor of Guam.

A curious little dependency of the United States is Guam. It is, as it were, a ship permanently anchored away out in the Pacific, one thousand five hundred miles east of the Philippines. Its affairs being administered through the navy department, with Capt. Edward J. Dorn, U. S. N., as its captain. Also, of course, he is called governor.

This island does not amount to much, but it is the only one of the Ladrone Islands worth having, and it belonged to Spain. So when, in the Spanish war, the Charleston was on her way to Manila she stopped in at the little port of San Louis d'Apra and took off the Spanish governor and his soldiers and annexed the place. Guam was the first land seen by Magellan after his long wandering about the Pacific, and it had a sentimental value for the Spanish monarchs. It has some strategic value for this country, and is, at any rate, a curious little plaything in the way of a "colony."

The government has been to much trouble, thought and expense to try and improve the island and its inhabitants and has succeeded fairly well. Naval officers have generally administered it since it came into the possession of the United States, and each officer has taken the governorship of Guam just as he would the command of a ship which was not in first class condition—taken it with the idea of getting it in condition to pass a good inspection whe his command should be up.

The present captain of the good ship Guam was oppointed to the naval academy from Missouri in 1870, and after his four years at the academy, and his two years at sea, received his commission and settled down to the ordinary work of a naval officer in the time of peace. He might, sometime, in studying a chart of the Pacific, have seen the name of Guam. It is ten to one that if before the war with Spain, any one had asked him where Guam was, he could not have told off hand, yet he is "it" now in this outlying post of semi-civilization—a real governor of a real island, 32 miles long by 100 miles in circumference, with 9,600 subjects to govern as absolutely almost as he would a ship's crew.

Capt. Dorn has a "palace" at Agana, his capital, of course. It is not such a gorgeous palace, but it does very well for the climate, and is considered by the natives to be a rather wonderful buildign. He also has a station ship at Saint Louis, and, altogether, possesses a very compact, agreeable and interesting government. He has his troubles, of course—what pro-consul has not?—but they are not so serious as those which distract the minds of some of the greater pro-consuls. It must be rather nice, for a change, to run this "far off isle of Eden lying in dark purple spheres of sea."

In the Samoan Group.

Something over three thousand miles to the southeast of Capt. Dorn's do-

ROYAL MINES IN REGAL ORE

Was Uncovered at the Seventy-Foot Level and is Silver-Gold, With Plenty of Both in the Free.

Rawhide, Nev., June 27.—Ore that causes fluttering of the heart was uncovered at the 70-foot level on the lease of the Royal Mines company, on Royal ground, formerly known as the Stinson. It is silver-gold, with plenty of both in the free. Sixty-two assays were secured and the average shows that the strike consists of four inches of ore that runs $683.61; fourteen inches which goes $276.20, and three feet additional which runs $39.20. The relative values of the two metals are one of gold to three of silver. In the exceptionally rich streak the values of silver are about five to one of gold.

The search for this rich ore shoot has been prosecuted with good judgment as well as persistency by General Manager John E. Pelton, ably seconded by Superintendent Bollam. Drifting was necessary through what is considered a barren stretch, the values being somewhat in the neighborhood of $30 to the ton. One of the chief satisfactions is found in the fact that the walls on both sides of the ledge for the full distance of the hundred odd feet of drifting were virtually perfect. This property has earned the merited reputation of having walls that make the average knocker of the camp, on the ground of the lack of permanency look foolish.

The shaft is down 200 feet and a station is being cut at this depth, preparatory to crosscutting to the ledge, when drifting will be started to the bonanza ore caught on the upper level.

Another shipment is ready on the dump. The one sent out ten days ago was segregated at the sampler into two grades. The first was paid for on a basis of $281 per ton, the second grade brought $83.40 a ton. There were equal portion of each virtually in the thirty-two tons taken out.

In addition to operating this phenomenal lease, the Royal Mines company is the owner of the Wonder Kings, One, Two and Three and six leases are operating on this ground. One of these, the Wonder King Combination Mining company, with its four adjoining fractions, is considered one of the solid propositions of the camp.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

One of Richest Strikes Since the Early Days Made at the Gilt Edge Maid---Grand Junction Being Unwatered.

Deadwood, S. D., June 27.—Following one of the richest strikes made in this section since the early days, ore is now being sacked at the property of the Gilt Edge-Maid Mining company in Two Bit. The strike was sensational, as the average of the ore found yields $20 per ton in gold, and much of it goes higher. It is too rich for the cyanide process, and is being sacked for shipment to an Eastern smelter. The strike recalls the rich strike made in 1886, when M. H. Day took out much high grade ore and the Gilt Edge was considered one of the richest properties in the West. Since that time the most of the ore mined has been of low grade, but it was expected that sooner or later high grade stuff would be encountered again.

Custer, S. D., June 25.—Work on the Goldfield group of claims, ten miles west of here, is progressing well, and the property is fast developing into a mine. The shaft on the Wandering Boy lode is down over sixty-five feet and a good showing of free gold has been encountered. The property is owned and financed by R. G. Gillespie.

The Grand Junction mine is being unwatered and put in shape. Mr. Vondeleer, the owner, is here now for an examination, and hopes to start up in a few weeks and do some extensive developing.

A Kidd placer machine has been placed in operation in Tenderfoot Gulch, six miles from town, and with a steam shovel its operator estimates that he can handle gravel at a cost of 6 cents a yard.

Joe Layton and William Nevin are about to resume work on the high bar placer ground on Four Mile Creek, near here, for the summer. One of the principal difficulties in the past has been the lack of water, but this has been an unusually wet season.

Edward Davis is still wodking on his amblygonite property in this section and making occasional shipments. Mr. Davis and Herman Reinhold of Omaha have been instrumental in exploiting and discovering many rare minerals, and a number of them have since found markets. Amblygonite seems destined to be one of the most widely produced here, and several important finds of it have been made within the last two years.

unbroken trend to the westward, and slightly south, and it is also the theory that just as the ore deposits have been centralized on the Anaconda hill, they will be found centralized in the spur of the mountains in which are located the claims of this company.

The formation is identical with the Butte district, in which the rich properties have been disclosed, the veins being found between well defined granite walls, dipping slightly to the south. The vein filling is also th esame, although the copper values are found closer to the surface. While the development on the Butte & Buxton claims has opened the vein only to a depth of 130 feet, by the running of a tunnel into the side of the mountain, the ore deposit shows a width of nearly sixty feet, and the minerals are bornite, gray copper and galena. The ore is largely oxidized, but the character of the deposit shows permanency, and there is not a question that as soon as water level is reached, which will be within a depth of 200 feet additional, the sulphide zone will be found and the ore values should materially increase.

According to the plans which have been decided upon the main shaft will be raised from the tunnel at a distance of about 300 feet from the mouth, and this work can be accomplished by the time the surface plant is installed. It is the intention of the company to sink a two-compartment shaft to a depth of at least 1,000 feet, but it is believed that by the time a depth of 500 feet is reached the property will be producing commercial ore.

The stringer of ore encountetred in the shaft of the North Butte Extension company at a depth of 527 feet is still in the shaft and has widened to eighteen inches. The copper and silver values are increasing with depth. The power line has been completed to the mine, and the electric pump, which has been ordered will arrive in time to be installed on the 700 foot level. The shaft is now below 600 feet.

The Butte Coalition company is shipping 1,000 to 1,100 tons of ore daily, mostly coming from the Rarus mine. It is asserted that the company is marketing its copper at a total cost under 9½ cents a pound.

Butte stockholders of the Snowstorm Mining company expect an early resumption of dividends. The mine is again in full operation and is shipping 50 tons of ore per day at an average cost of mining, it is said, of $1.06 per ton. The development work carried on during the shutdown greatly enhanced the value of the property and it is now in condition to produce 1,000 tons of ore per day. Considerable rich ore has been opened in No. 1 adit. The work on No. 4 is being pushed, but is greatly impeded by water This, however, is taken as a good indication. It is asserted that the company is earning about $45,000 per month and that dividends will be paid quarterly hereafter.

ing worked by various leasers on Old Dominion ground.

Preparations are under way for the extension of the Gila Valley railroad to the western section of the district, which will be of great advantage to the mines of that locality, especially the Miami which is doing development work on a large scale, as well as the Gibson, Live Oak and Keystone, although the two latter are now in the inactive list. It is believed the extension will be begun about July 1. Before the completion of the railroad the 1,000-ton mill of the Miami company will be under way. At that time also the Miami company expects to have 5,000,000 tons of 3 per cent concentrating sulphide ore blocked out, according to the consulting engineer of the Lewisohns, J. Parke Channing.

F. A. Woodward, general manager of the National Mining Exploration company has returned from the Fumarole, the company's mine situated on the north side of the Gila river, ten miles from Safford. As the name indicates, the Fumarole is of volcanic origin, the formation being a disintegrated quartz mixed with mud thrown up by hydrothermal action, the values in gold and silver being disseminated through the mass. It is similar to the formation of the Cripple Creek district. The deposit is of oval shape, being about 100 by 150 feet. Around one-half of this mass is a deposit of copper exposed in a number of open cuts, the work of former owners. The company has sunk a two-compartment shaft 500 feet, near the center of the quartz mass, and has run levels at 200 feet and 500 feet. About 250 feet of drifts and crosscuts have been opened on the 500-foot level and in the east drift, for 100 feet in length, ore is exposed that goes from $5 to $6 in gold and silver. Running at a slight angle with this drift is a well defined fissure passing through the ore deposit, and the management expects to encounter the best ore when the drift reaches the cantact.

At the National Exploration company's mine, the Iron Cap, adjoining the Arizona Commercial and Superior & Boston in this district, work is being prosecuted in the east and west drifts on the 450-foot level and both headings are in ore which shows some improvement. A winze sunk in the west drift on the same level is down 101 feet and is just coming into ore carrying some sulphide and carbonate of copper with oxidnized iron and iron pyrites.

The regular development work is being carried on at the Iron King and Great Eastern, and daily shipments of forty tons of ore from the latter mine are made to the Old Dominion smelter, which more than meet the cost of development.

Development work at the Warrior Copper company's Montgomery mine is progressing with satisfactory results. New ore is being opened up continually, and the promise for future developments are unusually reassuring at present. Daily shipments have been made during the past several months and will be continued, for the development work in hand makes the removal in shipping ore necessary. The weekly tonnage is approximately eighty tons.

The Florence Blade states that United States mineral patent has been received by Supt. A. C. Selboth for four mining claims belonging to the Arizona Hancock Copper company, and situated two miles south from Superior. It is said to be the intention of the company to resume active work on the property next fall. The development outlined includes a two and a half compartment shaft. The company expended considerable money on claims near the head of Pinto creek, this county, two or three years ago, but abandoned them.

closed since last December. A force of seventy men has been taken on and shipments have been started. Some 200 men have been added to payrolls in the Crystal Falls district, of the Menominee, still the working forces are yet considerably below the normal and no resumption has occurred at properties closed down some months ago.

Extending for a distance of 200 feet, a tunnel has been driven from the No. 4 pit of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's Jackson property at Negaunee to the old north pit. It was at this location that the first iron ore was mined in the Lake Superior region sixty years ago. The tunnel, eight feet high and eleven feet wide, extends to a point thirty feet below the bottom of the north pit. Through it, mining operations will be much facilitated. Ore in the north pit will be blasted down through chutes and directly into cars placed to receive it in the tunnel. It will then be trammed to No 5 and thence will be taken to surface, only one hoisting plant thus being necessary, whereas two were needed formerly. In the same portion of the range, the Cleveland Cliffs company is shipping from the stockpile as its Negaunee mine. This stockpile gives one a good idea of the amount of work done below the srface the past six months or more. Piled up to a height of thirty feet, the big heap of ore is large enough on top for a baseball game between heavy hitters.

After a force of mechanics had been employed for two months or more in installing the big machine, the new air compressor at the Cleveland Cliffs company's Maas mine has gone into commission. It works with wonderful smoothness. The plant is the largest and most modern on the Marquette range. Its capacity is 5,000 cubic feet of free air a minute. The compressor will supply both the Maas mine and its neighbor the Negaunee. A pipe line half a mile in length will extend to the latter property and will be so inclined as to drain off the moisture precipitated by condensation. Throughout, the equipment at the Maas is on a par with this big compressor. There is a very large deposit of ore, and with the assurance that mining will be in progress for many years to come, only the most substantial machinery has been installed. The Maas has been in course of development for the past seven years, and its initial product was made only last season. The ore lies very deep and is perhaps the largest on the range.

Sturgeon River Diverted.

In progress since last fall, the work of diverting the Sturgeon river away from the Loretto Iron company's Loretto and Appleton mines, Eastern Menominee range, is practically finished, and it is expected that the new channel will be in full commission during the coming week. Averaging ten feet in depth and forty-five feet in width at the bottom, the canal is more than a mile in length. It will carry the waters of the Sturgeon river and its tributary, Pine creek, off to one side of the mining property, and will permit of the extraction of a very large body of excellent ore which because of the proximity of the streams overhead it was heretofore not possible to mine with safety. There existed grave danger that the Sturgeon, suddenly breaking through, would flood the min workings, and, indeed, there was a serious cave-in during the winter just before mining operations were suspended. It is understood that with the waters flowing through the new channel, the company will adopt the caving system of mining. This plan will work very well at the Loretto.

Following a shutdown of some weeks, the Lake Superior corporation has resumed operations at its Algoma steel plant at the Canadian Soo. The bessemer, open hearth, blooming and rail mills are all in commission again, and are employing full crews of men. A number of good-sized orders have been booked. The blast furnaces will continue on the inactive list for some time yet, there being a considerable stock of pig iron on hand.

A branch of Mackenzie & Mann's Canadian Northern railroad having been extended from Sudbury twenty-five miles north to the Moose Mountain iron mine, ore can now be shipped by rail from that property. Shipments by water will be possible with the completion of the Sudbury-Georgian Bay line. The ore at Moose Mountain is a magnetic, assaying 55 per cent in iron and ten-hundredths of 1 per cent in phosphorus, and the deposits are very large. Interested in the property are John W. Gates and other American capitalists. It is understood that it is the ultimate intention to establish a steel plant at Toronto.

lands join, is a repetition, on a more marked scale, of the exceptional northerly strike noted at the Mass. A few miles to the westward of the Mass the Michigan beds have a strike almost as easterly as is noted at the Adventure, though the Michigan mine is opened to the southward of the Evergreen belt, the beds of which have proven a will-o-the-wisp to most that have followed them during the past sixty years.

Openings Very Rich.

As matters now stand in connection with the Lake amygdaloid, it may be said that the openings in the Lake shaft are among the very richest ever found in the Lake Superior district, and the mine gives promise of making another Baltic or Champion, now the richest and best amygdaloid mines of the district, and second only to the Calumet & Hecla, which mines a conglomerate, among all the copper mines of Lake Superior. Adventure has cut an amygdaloid bed, with a diamond drill, which it is reasonably safe to assume is the Lake lode. This reverses the form of the Adventure most startlingly. Of all of the developed mines of the Lake district, Adventure gave the least promise, and was the only producing mine to suspend output because of the low price of copper. While several years of hard work will be required to open a new mine, the prospects of the Adventure have changed so radically, within a few days, that from the least of mines it has become among the best of prospects—and that a good prospect is preferable to a poor mine may be considered axiomatic.

While the Lake and Adventure are the chief beneficiaries of the discoveries made on the Lake lode, they are by no means alone in the possibilities to be determined from further work. The Mass has two chances at the Lake lode, as also has the Adventure, having a second tract. The near proximity of the Mass to both the Lake and the Adventure render it reasonably certain that the Mass also possesses the Lake bed, if the lode found by drill on the Adventure really be the Lake amygdaloid, and the chances overwhelmingly favor the hypothesis that it is. Still further west the Michigan has an immense acreage, and, should this carry the Lake amygdaloid, as rich as found in the Lake shaft or the Adventure drill core, the Michigan would have about twice as much of the lode available for mine-making as the Lake, the Adventure or the Mass. The geology of the Michigan mine is among the most interesting found at any Lake Superior mine, and in several particulars the Michigan is sui generis.

The Old Minnesota.

Sixty years ago the Minnesota mine, the second really great and successful mine of the Lake Superior district, was opened, on lands now owned by the Michigan. The copper-bearing bed of the Minnesota has been variously described as a conglomerate and as a contact vein, the copper occurring in a selvage between the hanging wall of a conglomerate bed and the footwall of a bed of trap, the mineralization being so heavy that the dense trap carried payable copper for several feet from the contact. The present Michigan mine was opened on the Calico amygdaloid, a bed lying only 140 feet north of the old Minnesota contact, and parallel therewith. A peculiar fissure, very irregular of country rock, richly charged with copper, was found running practically parallel with the trap beds as to strike, but shearing downward at a much sharper dip, this vein running from the Calico amygdaloid into the old Minnesota contact vein at depth. There also are ore bodies known as the footwall branch and the hanging wall on either side of the Calico, and sundry unnamed feeders and branches. The mineralization in the Michigan and the old Minnesota, now part of it though not worked, is unusual and most interesting. Should the Lake lode, which is wide, as well as rich, repeat the characteristics of the Calumet & Hecla sarge and Baltic beds, now the master amygdaloids of the district, it will be found payable for many miles. The Kearsarge is being mined for nearly eighteen miles, from the Ojibway to the Tecumseh, and the Baltic for about nine miles, from the Globe to the Isle Royale, while the limits of payable ore have not been determined at either end on either the Kearsarge or Baltic beds. The Michigan is within about five miles of the Lake, and certainly possesses a reasonable hope of the reversion of a new lode that promises to make history in the Lake Superior district.

per cent. The company does not expect to ship any ore until the completion of their smelter, which will be begun at Douglas in a short time, and in the meantime the attention of the company will be directed towards the development of the new ore bodies and the exploration in quest of new ones.

The Wolverine-Arizona strike was quite a surprise to the mining men of Bisbee, many not knowing that silver was to be found in the district in paying quantities. The strike was made in a drift running to the right of their ore body, in a southerly direction, at a distance of about 106 feet. About fifteen feet of the vein has already been cut, the vein running between twelve and eighteen inches in width. The ore assays $60 silver. The formation is a decomposed porphyry and ledge matter, besides leached mineral ground, which leads the management to believe that a body of copper ore is in the immediate vicinity. In a short time the management will either sink a winze or raise on the vein to determine its extent. The strike was made in the center of the Warren claim, at a depth of about 700 feet, which would be directly under the ridge of the mountain immediately above the Shattuck, up the canyon.

Sinking has been resumed at the Junction shaft of the Superior & Pittsburg company with one shift. Work on the shaft was discontinued about three months ago, so that additional pumps could be installed, and the flow is now being well handled, although the men are at present sinking in about three feet of water, which makes the work of sinking tedious and slow. Progress at present, with two shifts at work, would indicate that at least two months would be required to sink the shaft the additional hundred feet.

The station at the fourteenth level being completed, lateral work on that level is now being pushed with good results.

The water in the Briggs has been lowered to some extent, but has not yet been drained to permit the resuming of operations at that shaft. When the property has been unwatered the shaft will be sunk below the 1,100 station, at which level some good indications of ore beneath are evident on account of the leached mineralized ground.

The Hoatson and Cole continue to ship about the same quantity as in the past few months, about 700 tons each daily.

The Lone Star shaft of the Warren Realty & Development company has reached a depth of 650 feet. The shaft is still in a lime formation. The shaft has not yet encountered water, but it is expected to reach it in the next 200 feet.

The Denn-Arizona is still busily engaged in diamond drill exploration work on its 1,100 level. The third hole is at present being drilled. No reports have been given out as to the results of the operations.

At the Calumet & Arizona smelter at Douglas, the work of removing machinery from the portion of the power house to the new addition has begun, this being done to make room for the new furnaces. In a short time the old storehouse will be removed to create additional space for another addition to the power house. Before fall it is expected that there will be seven furnaces and as many converters in operation there. The new furnaces will have a capacity of 400 tons, but, like the other smaller furnaces of the company, they will be worked beyond their stated capacity, it being planned to handle 500 tons daily in each of them.

The starting of an additional furnace at the Copper Queen smelter last week was the feature at Douglas, where the ore of the Warren district is smelted. This additional furnace gives the Queen seven furnaces and a reverberatory furnace in action at the present time. This plant contains ten 500-ton furnaces, but more than nine of these were never in commission at any one time. Judging by the output at the Queen last month with six plant furnaces, it may be assumed that the output for June will be considerably increased over the month of May, bringing it to probably eight million pounds of copper. As a result of the starting of the additional furnace, there has been an increase in the working force, both at the smelter and at the lime quarry east of the city. Early in the week a rumor reached Douglas from El Paso to the effect that the Copper Queen company had purchased the Shattuck mine, but it may be said on the best of authority that the rumor had no foundation further than that in the past there has been some talk of such a deal. The Queen people, no doubt, would like to become the owners of the Shattuck, which lies between the Queen ground and that of the Calumet & Arizona, but it is not likely that they would consider its purchase at the price at which it is held and the value which is represented by the present quotation of the stock. There has been nothing definite received in Douglas during the week concerning the Shattuck smelter. The directors left for Duluth three weeks ago, with all the plans and bids, and at that time it was believed by the machinery men who had gathered at Douglas to submit their bids that the contract would be awarded soon after the arrival of the directors at Duluth. Announcement is now due of the awarding of the contract for machinery to be placed in the smelter. As soon as the contract is let the work of boring a well at the smelter site will start, and also the work of building a spur of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad to the site. The Douglas street railway will also build something like half a mile of track to carry it to the Shattuck smelter from the Calumet & Arizona.

THE NINE PROCONSULS OF UNCLE SAM

mains lies another navally administered outpost of American power and possession. We got it when we dissolved partnership with England and Germany in the management of the Samoan group, and it is called Tutulia. Few people have even heard of the place, or if they have, they have forgotten about it. Nevertheless, here Commander C. B. T. Moore, U. S. N., presides over a government consisting of two considerable islands, a number of smaller ones, and the strongest naval station in the south Pacific—the harbor of Pago-Pago. Tutulia, Manu, Ofu are the names of the principal islands of Commander Moore's government. There are about one hundred square miles of land altogether under the governor commander's sway, and he has about a crew of between five and six thousand people to man them.

It is a most interesting government. Before the white men took charge, the people of Tutulia were great fighters and often carried war into the neighboring and larger Samoan islands. The commander has chiefs under him, real, old-style, haughty and courteous South Pacific chiefs, with real legendary ancestry and royal songs. The commander himself entered the naval academy from Illinois and is now about 51 years old. He has an excellent record as a naval officer. During the Spanish war he was attached to the monitor Monterey, went out to Manila in her and took part in the capturing of the city.

Governor of Cuba.

When the Spanish war broke out Charles E. Magoon, as most newspaper leaders know, was quietly practicing law in Lincoln, Neb. He did not dream of "swaying the rod of empire" or of moulding the government of a nation. Today he sits in the palace of the representatives of the king of Castille and Leon at Havana and governs Cuba—46,000 square miles of territory and near two million people; a country almost as large as England. The "ever faithful isle" is his, and the land which was held by the Spaniards at the cost of such a long succession of cruel wars, under such a long array of captains-general, Governor Magoon governs quietly, smoothly and benignly—yet firmly and without fuss. In brief, the Nebraska lawyer is a more successful ruler than all the hidalgos, the trained diplomats and the trained soldiers put together which Spain sent out to hold the Queen of the Antilles. But it is quite a change from the little law office in Lincoln, Neb., to the palace of the Spanish viceroys.

Another considerable country now run, in fact if not in name, by an American proconsul is Santo Domingo a—country larger than Belgium or Holland in area and having a population which must now be approaching the million mark. It is true that it is only the finances of Santo Domingo which William E. Pulliam, formerly of Kentucky, handles, but he has always a gunboat or two flying the American flag to see that his administration of the customs of the country are not interfered with, and so comes pretty near to holding the Santo Dominican sword as well as the purse.

Proconsul Pulliam's work under the treaty ratified between the United States and Santo Domingo in February, 1907. Under this the United States is empowered to appoint a receiver of customs for the island republic and to appoint the deputies, while it is also specified how much money shall be paid to the Dominican government for its running expenses and how much shall be applied to the wiping out of its foreign debt. In one way or another Santo Domingo has become in reality a protectorate of the United States—whether temporarily or permanently who shall say? And Mr. William E. Pulliam is in fact a proconsul.

It is now seven years since Mr. Pulliam went out to the Philippines, where he had obtained a job in the custom house at Manila. In time he rose to be special deputy collector under the insular government. He did so well that he was called up higher, and a year ago was sent to Santo Domingo as proconsul-receiver of customs.

Governor of Hawaii.

Although enjoying a territorial form of government, Hawaii may fairly be considered one of the "dependencies" of the United States. Over this collection of islands, forming a country a little more than half as big as Belgium, and peopled by 200,000 souls, presides another American lawyer and the son of a retired missionary to the islands when they were a kingdom, Walter F. Frear. Born in California, Proconsul Frear was educated in a Hawaiian college and at Yale, taught Greek and other things in his island alma mater, took to law, became a judge under the kingdom, then under the provisional government, then under the republic of Hawaii, and from 1900 to 1907, when he became our proconsul, he was chief justice of the supreme court of the islands.

Governor Frear sits in the Iolani palace. Before the place stands a great statue of the great Kamehameba, who built up the realm over which Walter F. Frear now reigns. The royal feather plumes carried in the old times before the Hawaiian monarchs are still in the palace, but Mr. Frear does not use them. He has the power they represent, nevertheless.

The administration of this vast, scattered and newly acquired territory, with its millions of strange peoples, is not yet consolidated under the supervision of one department bureau of the "home government." The popular impression is that the affairs of our outlying possessions are under the care of the bureau of insular affairs. Probably some day they will be. This bureau has made an excellent reputation for itself and will possibly blossom out in the years to come as a full-fledged "colonial department." And here again the adaptability of the American is seen. The bureau of insular affairs, which has charge of the Philippines and is the channel through which the government of Cuba and the affairs of Santo Domingo are administered—which is, in fact, if not in name, a colonial department—is run by army officers detailed for the purpose. They turn their hands to being colonial secretaries as readily as to being proconsuls—these army men.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure."

COLONEL FRENCH TO SPEAK HERE

Western Commander of Salvation Army Coming to Duluth.

Col. George French of Chicago, deputy commander of the Western forces of the Salvation Army, will be in Duluth tomorrow and will conduct two special meetings Sunday at the Scandinavian barracks of the Army, 1630 West Superior street.

The first service will be held at 10:30 a. m., and the second comes at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. It was originally planned to have Col. French speak at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon, but the state art exhibit is occupying the rooms intended for the gathering.

Col. French is a figure of national prominence in the Salvation Army. He is practically in charge of the entire Western division of the Army's work, extending from the Mississippi river to the Pacific coast.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better, and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. Brumitt, Hampton, Tenn. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

CIRCUSES IN PLENTY HERE

Several More Tent Shows Are in Store for Duluth.

Summer brings many pleasant things and none of them is appreciated more by Duluthians, according to authentic statistics, than a tent show. In this connection, it is possible to say that this city is very fortunate this season.

Although the weather rather spoiled the visit of the Hagenbeck-Wallace show, that big organization demonstrated that it was a regular big league circus and would have had big crowds if the elements had not been so hysterical. Yesterday, the Ringling Brothers' show played to capacity here at two performances and under smiling skies, but there are more circus joys to come.

Early in July, Gentry Brothers' famous trained animal shows will pay a visit to the Head of the Lakes and later on, the Sells-Floto show, styled "the circus beautiful," will play an engagement in Duluth.

And last, but not least, August is to bring no less a person than Buffalo Bill, Col. William Cody, to the city, accompanied by his well known and enlarged Wild West entertainment. After these announcements no one can complain that Duluth is being neglected in the matter of summer amusements.

WILL CONTEST FATHER'S WILL

Rudolph Leeds, Son of Late W. B. Leeds, Not Satisfied.

New York, June 27.—The will of the late William B. Leeds, millionaire tin plate manufacturer and railway magnate, disposing of an estate worth $40,000,000 will be contested by his son, Rudolph Leeds. This statement was made today by Elisha Dyer, who was Mr. Leeds' nearest friend.

Mr. Dyer told a reporter that before sailing for Paris Mr. Leeds, after a conference with his lawyer, Lewis Cass Ledyard, changed his will, and increased the size of a trust to his second wife from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Rudolph Leeds of Richmond, Ind., 22 years of age, a son of Mr. Leeds by his first wife, was named as the contestant of the will.

The United States Trust company, 45 Wall street, is the trustee of the special trust fund, the interest of which is said to go to Mrs. Leeds until their 5-year-old son, William, attains his majority.

"Until the return of Mr. Ledyard, who is most familiar with Mr. Leeds' private affairs, from Paris, I do not care to discuss any trust which may have been made by Mr. Leeds before his death," said President George Sheldon. "I have heard of the son, Rudolph, but I venture that Mr. Leeds provided for all members of his family and if there be a contest the person making it would receive slight benefit therefrom."

BASHFUL MAN WEDS AT SEVENTH ATTEMPT.

Jerseyville, Ill., June 27.—Daniel Mathews has become a benedict. Blushing and frightened, he faced the altar Thursday for the seventh time, and managed to whisper the "I do," which bound him to Miss Mary Fraser for better or worse.

Whether it was the fact that the young couple had gone to the church alone and evaded the curious, or the threat of the minister that Dan would have no other chance if he balked this time, matters not. Mr. Mathews and Miss Fraser are now one and have gone to Roodhouse, Ill., for their honeymoon.

And in the meantime, the Jerseyville youths have collected all the tin pans, horns and cowbells for miles around, and mean to hold a charivari.

WE ADVOCATE TEMPERANCE

Over-indulgence in any good food is highly detrimental to the system. This is no more true of beer than of any other food. We assert, and our assertion is confirmed by good physicians everywhere, that a temperate use of is very beneficial. The tonic properties of its malt and well cured hops build up the tissues wasted by nervous strain and its very small amount of alcohol (3½ per cent) is an acknowledged aid to digestion.

Use it temperately in your home and you will be stronger in both body and mind.

MARRIED WOMEN

Every woman covets a shapely figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this liniment prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend makes the danger of child-birth less, and carries her safely through this critical period. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this remedy.

Sold by druggists at $1.00 per pottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

AFRICAN METHODISTS WILL HAVE NEW CHURCH

Members of St. Mark's African M. E. congregation are planning to erect a new church on their property at Fifth avenue east and Sixth street, and plans for the new building are already out and on file at the Builders' Exchange, for bids. The new house of worship will cost about $5,000.

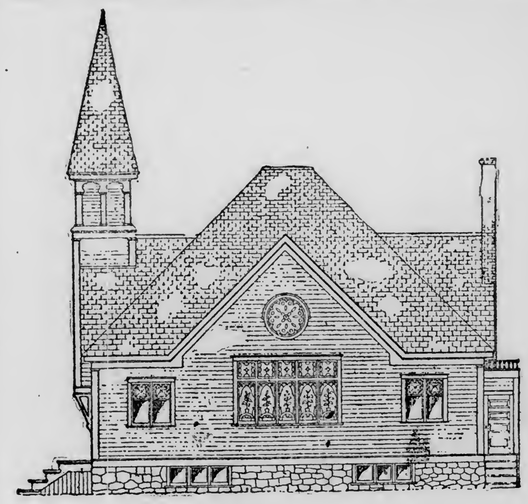

REV. JONATHAN BREWER.

Rev. Jonathan Brewer, who graduated from the Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Ill., in 1907, is pastor of the church. The membership, though small, comprises energetic and industrious colored citizens, bending every effort to realize their plans for a new church building.

The new church will be erected on lots purchased four years ago by the congregation, at a cost of $2,000. The old church is crumbling away and the needs of the congregation demand a much larger and more substantial home.

The members are actively engaged in raising funds for the improvements they are contemplating. Harry E. Johnson of 27 East Superior street is treasurer of the building committee.

THE NEW ST. MARK'S A. M. E. CHURCH.

LOT OF POLITICS, SAYS JARED HOW

Northern Pacific Attorney Gets Quite Testy During Rate Hearing.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some feeling is developing between counsel for the respective sides in the Northern Pacific rate case hearing that is being conducted before Judge Otis. This cropped out when counsel for the stato asked for the introduction of a certain letter Howard Elliott, president of the road, had received from J. P. Morgan & Co., in which it was stated that additional time should be allowed in certain stock issuance plans. Comptroller Gray of the railroad was on the stand and when asked by F. D. O'Brien of counsel for the state, to introduce the letter the witness was advised by Jared How of Northern Pacific counsel, not to do it.

Later Mr. How handed the letter over and it was read into the record.

"I don't want you to think that I am afraid to let you have the letter," said Mr. How.

"Well, you needn' be so pugnacious about it," replied Mr. O'Brien. "We shall try this law suit as we see fit."

"I'd rather be trying a lawsuit than a lot of politics," declared Jared How testily.

The hearing then proceeded. In answer to Mr. O'Brien's question as to the status of J. P. Morgan & Co., and the Deutch Bank of Berlin, through whom this additional stock was handled, Mr. Gray said that they were known as the syndicate managers. The question, however, was not answered until an objection on the part of Jared How was overruled by Judge Otis. Mr. How contended that the connection of Morgan & Co., was not relevant and that the company had no right to charge such rates as would be a just renumeration on the value of the property used for public service. He maintained that since the value of the property was $60,000,000 and the company only chose to declare a 7 per cent dividend on its stock of $155,000,000, it had the further right to divide the surplus earnings as it chose.

For the state Attorney Durment argued that the question was relevant, as it dealt with certain transactions in which the stockholders contributed $10,000,000 of old stock and received $10,000,000 of new stock, and that this was nothing but part of a stock jobbing deal, that the increase in the value of the road's property was due to its large earnings upon which it was not entitled to earn further remuneration.

Relative to the reorganization of 1896, counsel for the state devoted some time to an attempt to find what became of the $17,00,000 securities in the course of reorganization which had not previously been accounted for. As this could not be done at once by Mr. Gray, a report of its disposal will be made later.

An interesting fact was brought out in the examination of the retirement of the company's indebtedness at the time of the reorganization. The fifty year bonds bearing 6 per cent were replaced by bonds bearing only 3 per cent and equalized by cash and stock certificates.

VERMONTERS REFUSE TO BE INSTRUCTED.

Burlington, Vt., June 27.—Democratic state convention adjourned last night after an animated session devoted to the election of delegates to the national convention at Denver, the nomination of candidates for state officers and the adoption of a platform. WHEAT HAS GOOD TONE

American Markets Have an Advance During Short Session.

Flax is Dull But Firm at the Close Here.

Duluth Board of Trade June 27.—Wheat was in better demand today and the closing prices were up. Crop reports and weather predictions were less favorable than they were yesterday, and the market reflected this information during the latter part of the session. Old wheat was well bought.

Cables were lower. Liverpool closed ¼@⅜d lower, Paris unchanged, Antwerp unchanged and Budapest 2½c lower.

The July option closed 1⅜c higher in Duluth, ⅜-½c higher in Chicago, 1⅜c higher in Minneapolis, ⅜c higher in New York, ½-⅝c higher in St. Louis and Kansas City, and ⅝c higher in Winnipeg. The September option closed ½c higher in Duluth, ¼-2c higher in Chicago, ⅝-¾c higher in Minneapolis, St. Louis and Kansas City and ⅝c higher in New York. The October option closed 1⅜c higher in Winnipeg.

July corn closed ⅝c higher in Chicago and ⅛d lower to ¼d higher in Liverpool. Chicago July oats closed unchanged.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool:

"Wheat—As a result of the weaker American cables yesterday and the favorable American weather conditions, offerings in this market were larger and holders anxious for profits and values at the opening were ½d lower. Following the opening and during the remainder of the morning the market developed steadiness with a better demand, owing to the Bradstreet's statement and some week-end covering and most of the decline was recovered. At the close, the market was steady and from ¼@⅜d lower than Friday.

"Corn was affected by the American decline and at the opening values were ½d lower. Later there was some covering in July and this option advanced ¼d from the opening and at the close was ½d higher than Friday. September was neglected."

Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 242,000 bus.

Wheat was quiet during all of the session in Duluth. July wheat opened late at $1.04⅛, advanced to $1.05½ and closed there, a gain of 1⅜c over yesterday. September wheat opened unchanged at 89c, advanced to 89½c and closed at that price, a gain of ½c over yesterday.

Durum wheat closed ¼c higher and cash spring wheat was selling on a basis of 2½c over July for No. 1 northern.

Flax was quiet but firm. July flax opened ¼c lower at $1.21½, advanced to $1.21⅝, declined to $1.21¼, rallied to $1.22 and closed at $1.21⅝, a gain of ⅛c over yesterday. September flax opened unchanged at $1.20, advanced to $1.20¾ and closed at $1.20 bid, unchanged from yesterday. October flax opened ¼c lower at $1.15½ and advanced by the close to $1.19, a gain of ¼c over yesterday.

Coarse grains were unchanged.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Weak on Lower Cables and Reports of Good Weather.

Chicago, June 27.—The wheat market opened weak on lower cables and good weather for harvesting and for the crop, but became firm under a good demand from shorts. July started ¼@⅝c to ⅝@¾c lower, at 84¼c to 84⅝c and sold at 85c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 135 cars against 171 cars last week and 389 cars a year ago.

The support from short interests became more pronounced as trading progressed, and advanced the price of July to 85¾c. The close was firm, with that delivery up ⅞@⅞c at 85¾c.

The corn market was quiet. Opening weak on good weather, it soon improved with the change in sentiment in wheat. July opened ½@¾c lower at 67½c to 67⅝c and sold up to 68@68¼c. Local receipts were 352 cars with 23 of contract grade.

On later transactions the July option advanced to 68¼c and the close was at 68c, a net gain of ⅜c.

Oats followed the trend of other grains, opening easy, but becoming firm at a slight advance. July started ⅜c lower at 48¾c and steadied around 44½c. Local receipts were 167 cars.

A 5c to 10c advance in hogs caused firmness in the market for provisions. September pork was 5c higher at $14.80; lard was 2½c higher at $9.10; ribs were up 2½c at $8.35.

New York Money.

New York, June 27.—Close: Money on call nominal; time loans quiet and firm; 60 days, 2 per cent; 90 days, 2¼ per cent; six months, 3½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87 for demand and at $4.85.70 for 60-day bills. Commercial bills, $4.85¼@4.85⅝. Bar silver, 53¾c. Mexican dollars, 46c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

Close: Wheat—July, 85¾c; September, 85⅝c@⅞; December, 87½c. Corn—July, 68c; September, 68¾@⅞c; December, 58⅞c. Oats—July, 44⅝@⅞c; December, 39¾@⅞c. Pork—July, $14.67½; September, $14.90; October, $14.90. Lard—July, $9.15; September, $9.30; October, $9.35. Ribs—July $8.25; September, $8.45@8.47½; October, $8.55. Rye—Cash, 76c. Barley—Cash, 55@60c. Cash wheat—No. 2 red, 88@89c; No. 3 red, 86@89c; No. 2 hard, 87@89c; No. 3 hard, 85@88c; No. 3 spring, 96c@$1.02. Corn—No. 2, 68c; No. 3, 68¼c. Oats—No. 2, nothing doing, No. 3, 49½c.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Opens Firm and Makes Good Advance During Session.

Minneapolis, XJune 27.—Following yesterday's closing decline in wheat the market opened today firmer and fractionally higher and during the session made a good advance in both July and September. Only 110 cars were received against 290 and in Duluth 21 against 48. Local elevator stocks decreased 75,123 bushels for the week, making the total 2,737,936 with a further decrease of 25,000 bushels to come out for one day. The Inglis estimate of 285, bushels for winter wheat was low and caused some strength. The market, though back a little near the close retained the greater part of the gain and closed strong. July opened $1.04, high $1.05⅝, low $1.04, close $1.05¼. Old July closed $1.06, September opened at 87½c; high, 88¼c; low, 87¼c; close, 88c. Old September closed, 89@89¾.

The cash market was steady at 3@3½c over new July for No. 1 northern and 1 @1½c over for No. 2.

There was a fair milling demand and not much wheat on sale. Close: No. 1 northern, $1.08 spot; $1.08 to arrive; No. 2 northern, $1.06 spot, and to arrive. No. 3 wheat, $1.02@1.04½; No. 3 yellow corn, 63½@63¾; No. 3 white oats, 49¾@49⅞; No. 2 rye, 68¾@70¾.

Barley receipts today, 6 cars. Some quoted it steady with yesterday, but one buyer of a line averaged it somewhat lower than yesterday. In weakest spots it was 1c lower. Close, 46@55c.

Millstuffs steady at $18 for bran in bulk, millers' quotations.

The flour market quoted strong, remains unchanged. Millers say there is some irregularity in the Eastern markets. Boston quotations heard varying somewhat, but that on Minneapolis f. o. b. basis quotations below are as closely correct as they can be made at this time. Variations in cost of old crop shipping wheat has been considerable of late, but against the up and down movements in raw material cost flour quotations so far have remained steady and unchanged. Shipments, 34,689 barrels. First patents, $5.30@5.45; second patents, $5.20@5.35; first clears, $4.20@4.30; second clears, $3.50@3.60.

M. & I. WEEK END TRAINS PROVING VERY POPULAR.

Brainerd, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The week end specials of the Minnesota & International railroad, which leave the Twin Cities every Saturday evening via the Northern Pacific railroad, are proving very popular and will be continued throughout the summer. The train will be run the evening of Friday, July 3, instead of Saturday, July 4, in order to permit city sportsmen to have the Fourth and the day following at the lakes. The train will connect with No. 13 out of Duluth, so that people from the Zenith City can also enjoy the two days' outing.

Had Long Calendar.

The district court had one of the largest calendars at Grand Marais this week in the history of Cook county. Judge Dibell, who has charge of the June calendar, went to Grand Marais by boat Wednesday. On board the boat, bound for the same destination, to try cases were a large number of attorneys, including Bert Fesler, T. J. Davis, H. H. Phelps, W. H. Stanford, J. B. Middlecoff, Arthur Hunter, H. J. Grannis and Harvey Clapp of Duluth, Mr. Taylor of Mankato and Mr. Jerome of St. Paul. Judge Dibell had thirty-nine cases for trial. It was expected that he would partially try many of the actions and hear the arguments at Duluth later in the term. Some of the attorneys returned on the Thursday boat and others are expected back this evening.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Not Much Interest in Market and Close Was Lifeless.

Fractional Losses Established in the More Active Stocks.

New York, June 27.—The stock market opened today without any decided tone, some of the most prominent issues starting at prices unchanged from yesterday.

Advances of small fractions were general but there was not much interest in the market, the half holiday session repressing confident operations.

The market closed heavy and lifeless. The drift of prices although barely perceptible was downwards in the second hour and established fractional losses in the more active stocks. The decline slightly emphasized the final dealings.

Copper Gossip.

Boston to Paine, Webber & Co: Same old story. No interest in the market and prices sagged off their own weight. We advise picking up stocks at this level as the only change must be for the better. The shorts have sold their stocks and are becoming nervous because there is no liquidation to allow them to cover. A leader will appear soon to lift prices.

St. Paul Livestock.

St. Paul, June 27.—Cattle—Receipts, 300; calves, 100; steady, no change. Hogs—Receipts, 1,500; steady; range, $5.75@5.95. Sheep—Receipts, 100; no change.

Bank Statement.

New York, June 27.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $66,098,800 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserva rule. This is an increase of $7,386,925 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement follows: Loans, $1,231,220,800; decrease, $8,701,300; deposits, $1,230,176,400; decrease, $1,302,100; circulation, $56,909,200; decrease, $806,500; legal tenders, $79,472,700; increase, $2,563,500; specie, $316,870,200; increase, $4,552,900; reserve, $396,142,900; increase, $7,116,400; reserve required, $330,044,100; decrease $270,525; surplus, $66,098,800; increase, $7,386,925; ex-United States deposits, $70,858,725; increase, 7,333,425. The percentage of actual reserve of the clearing house banks at the close of business yesterday was 30.63. The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York, not members of the clearing house shows that these institutions have aggregate deposits of $97,765,900; total cash on hand, $76,243,700, and loans amounting to $905,177,800.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—Barnet & Zimmerman report: This week has seen the gradual contraction of the horse trade to a summer level and the demand will be slow at somewhat lower values during the next few weeks. Owing to the scarcity of big young drafters it is expected that that class will show little if any falling off in value. Common grades already show a drop of $@10.

The Cotton Market.

New York, June 27.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 6 points to an advance of 4 points, near months being relatively weak owing to the cables and disappointing week-end figures. Trading was too dull to impart any decided tendency to the market, which ruled barely steady within a point or two of the opening figures during the middle of the morning.

Futures closed steady. Closing bids: June, 9.86; July, 9.85; August, 9.89; September, 9.56; October, 9.26; November, 9.12; December, 9.11; January, 9.06; February, 9.07; March, 9.07; spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 11.60; middling gulf, 11.85; bales, 25.

SUPERIOR NEWS

W. H. Godwin Banquetted.

A dinner in honor of W. H. Godwin, the retiring auditor of the Pittsburg Coal company was given at the Gitchinadji club last evening by the office force of the company with which Mr. Godwin has been connected so many years. P. S. Elwell acted as toastmaster and read a number of telegrams from persons who were unable to be present. While expressing regret at losing Mr. Godwin from the force, the office men congratulated him on his appointment as general sales agent of the Clarkson Coal & Dock company. Covers were laid for thirty-two.

Worked the Ministers.

John McGuire, who was arrested yesterday on the charge of swindling several Superior ministers was released on the promise that he would get out of the city. It is claimed that McGuire told the ministers a hard luck story and worked on their sympathy to the extent of several dollars before one of the victims became suspicious and telephoned the police.

Gave Officers the Slip.

An unknown man who was caught stealing some property in the Great Northern railroad yards early Friday morning made a break for liberty while being taken to headquarters. He was chased by the watchman, Police Lieut. Scoon and Detective Galvin of the Great Northern road but managed to escape in the darkness. The officers fired several shots after him, but the thief only increased his speed.

League Gets to Work.

A meeting of the Superior Improvement league was held at the Commercial club rooms this afternoon to perfect the reorganization of the league. Reports were submitted by the different parts of the city and several propositions were discussed. One of tthe ideas discussed by the league is the lighting of the Tower avenue street corners with clusters of electric lights. The publicity committee of the Commercial club indorses the plan. The league will arrange for a lecture to be given soon to stimulate interest in landscape gardening and the parking of the streets.

Will be Released.

The friends of Mrs. Bertha Clausen who was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane after an examination in the probate court last Wednesday evening, will secure her freedom from that institution and take care of her themselves. Although the examining physicians were convinced at the examination that Mrs. Clausen is insane some of the woman's friends claim she is sound mentally and should not be taken to the hospital. Under the state law they have the privilege of taking her out under a proper bond to take care of her. According to the evidence before the court Mrs. Clausen had delusions that her husband was not faithful to her and claimed that he chloroformed her so as to keep her out of the way while he paid attentions to other women. She claimed that while under the influence of chloroform she knew everything that transpired.

WILL SELECT THE CHAIRMEN

Democratic National Committee Holding a Meeting at Denver.

Denver, Colo., June 27.—Two important meetings were on the program today for the sub-committee on convention arrangements of the Democratic national convention. The first session was held early in the day and only matters of routine in connection with the convention were taken up.

The chief matter slated for consideration at the afternoon meeting and by far the most important of the day was the appointment of officers for the convention.

Gossip early in the day concerned chiefly, for temporary chairman, the names of Theodore A. Bell of California, H. D. Clayton of Alabama, Free F. Morris of Illinois, Governor Folk of Missouri and Judson P. Harmon of Cincinnati. The arrival of Mayor Dahlman of Omaha was expected to throw some light on the matter of selecting officers, it being generally believed that he would be able to inform the members of the committee as to Mr. Bryan's wishes. It is said in some quarters that Mr. Bryan would be pleased with Bell and Clayton for the chairmanship, but willing that either man shall fill either position. This is known to have been his attitude some days

REAL ESTATE HAS HAD FAIRLY ACTIVE MONTH

Aggregate Sales of Local Property in June Were Heavy—Inquiry Has Been Increasing Steadily and There Has Been a Good Demand, Especially for Unimproved Lots—The Past Week Has Been Rather, Quiet in Realty Circles But the Brokers Expect That Business Will Be Good Through the Summer Season.

While the local real estate market has been rather quiet this week, the brokers report a good month's business. Inquiry has been steadily increasing since the first of the month and, in the aggregate, a large number of trades have been consummated while there are still others nearing the closing point. The demand has been largely for lots for improvement, the demand not being confined to any particular portion of the city, but well scattered from the eastern to the western end. There has also been a good demand for homes ranging in price from $1,500 and $2,000 to $5,000. The month's business includes some of the largest sales of the year in blocks of unimproved real estate and business locations. The local brokers have reason to believe that they will have a fairly good business through the summer months. Many offers have been submitted for local properties, but in a number of cases the owners have refused to negotiate at the prices offered.

Edward Williams of Washburn, Wis., has purchased the double brick flat property at 728 East Fourth street, from D. A. Petre for $7,800. The purchaser was represented by Wahl & Messer, and the seller by C. L. Rakowsky & Co. The latter concern reports the sale this week of lot 8, block 6, Highland Park, to the Hanford Investment company, for $1,500; the east half of lot 78, East Sixth street, from J. Lange to H. P. Ross, for $2,150. Two other Second street properties are under negotiation and the deals will probably be closed within a week.

The last issue of the Improvement Bulletin contains an editorial in which the reasons why people should build this year are comprehensively set forth, and strong argument is advanced for improvement work to be made under the present conditions of the labor and material markets. The Bulletin takes the position that the person who does not avail himself of the present advantageous conditions is making a great mistake from a strictly selfish point of view, and at the same time is doing the community the greatest injury—the only one that can seriously affect it, viz: lack of work for both capital and labor.

The editorial is, in part, as follows:

"The time to build. This country is suffering, if at all with suppressed enthusiasm. The warehouses are full; stocks of lumber, building hardware, lime, cement and all other classes of building material are more than sufficient to supply the present demand. Nominally Some manufacturers of building materials have not lowered their prices, but in every line, owing to the slack demand, dealers are willing to make a concession to secure business. This is true of the glass makers, lumbermen, hardware dealers, brick and stone men and of producers of almost every article that enters into the construction of dwellings, warehouses and office buildings.

"It is true in every line of industry in the United States and each particular department of trade is waiting for something to start.

"Now is the time to start it. The reason has been stated and may be reiterated.

"Material and labor can be secured on more advantageous terms now than at any other time within the last five years, and probably more cheaply than will be possible at any time after 1908.

"Mills and factories are being operated under reduced schedule. Some of them are closed down entirely. The workmen who manned these institutions are idle; some of them are walking the streets looking for employment. They are able and anxious to work and under present conditions will give greater and better service in exchange for less money now than they have been accustomed to give in the past.

"Money is easier. A Chicago bank has just issued this statement:

"'We made a real estate loan late in May at 4½ per cent and sold it three days after we made it. We are making loans every day at 5 per cent and that will be the current rate very soon.'

"Lumber now is being offered at prices which appear ridiculously low when compared with market values last year. Where the manufacturer or the dealer refuses to make heavy concessions in prices some one else willing to do so steps in and takes the trade.

"This year a great deal of lumber has been sold at prices that did not yield sufficient to cover the actual cost of producing the stock. This, of course, has not been the case generally, but the lumber trade, so far this year, has been conducted on about the same basis as the business of the man who trades a dollar for 100 cents.

"Yellow pine, hemlock, spruce, northern pine and hardwoods in all sections of the country now are being offered at prices ranging from $2 to $10 below last year's schedules. Shingles, red cedars from the West, bringing $1.20 to $1.30 a thousand below last year's level.

"Prices of mill work are on approximately the same footing. Other kinds of building material also are being offered at bargain prices.

"Retail dealers as a class have worked off their high-priced goods, which have been replaced by late purchases at as near current values as it was possible to secure.

"In some sections of the country building has been good, but as a whole it is far from satisfactory.

"Its sluggishness may be traced largely to the ignorance of the people who are able to build and who do not appreciate or do not know of present advantages.

"A moment's reflection could convince anyone that it is a pretty safe thing to buy at prices which represent merely the cost of production. It is incumbent upon those who handle building material to acquaint the trade with those facts.

"Soon the railroads and other heavy consumers must come into the market, and the instant they do, prices are going to advance 10 to 25 per cent, and the individual who delayed building in the hope of securing even better terms is going to be left.

"Dealers in building material, lumber organizations, commercial associations, banks and others who are interested in having the people at work, doing something for themselves and adding to the physical properties of the nation, should co-operate in presenting this question to the people of the country through the medium of the daily press, periodicals of all classes and trade publications, acquainting the people who do not know or who are hesitating with the present state of affairs and impressing upon them the great saving which can be made by those who build when building can be done most cheaply and most satisfactorily.

SUMMER COTTAGE WHICH MIGHT BE TURNED INTO PERMANENT RESIDENCE

ANTHONY PUCK ARCHITECT

The above illustration suggests a good plan, and an attractive design, for an inexpensive summer home. The arrangement of rooms is distinctly compact, but comfortable. The cottage could be constructed and made very desirable, as an all-the-year home at a very little additional expense.

There is no space in the plans that is not utilized. The living room, with alcove, forms practically one large room, 16x19. The view and light from three sides of the living room is a good feature. The disposition of the fireplace, the built-in seats, the stairway, and the windows and doorways, make the general arrangement of the living room harmonious. Utility is evident in the size and proportions of the bedrooms and the kitchen. Ample closet and storage space is provided. All the windows are hinged to swing in.

No basement is planned. The foundation would be of concrete.

The exterior walls up to the second story level are of stucco, with stained wood trimmings. The gables and roofs are of stained shingles.

The interior walls and ceilings are plastered and the wood finish is of fir stained. Floors throughout are of hardwood.

The ceiling heights are 8½ feet and 8 feet.

The estimated cost of a cottage, as above described, without plumbing, is $1,650.

ANTHONY PUCK, Architect, Duluth, Minn.

STREET CARS.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

This company operates a street railway line in the city of Duluth between Third avenue east and the end of Rice's Point, and another street railway line in the city of Superior between Twenty-first street and the end of Connor's Point. These lines are separated by the waters of St. Louis bay, and are operated as two distinct and separate lines.

The fare for a continuous ride in one direction between any two points on either one of these lines is 5c.

The public is hereby notified that this company does not, by undertaking to carry any passenger, or by accepting fare for such carriage, assume any responsibility beyond that of carrying such passenger safely between points on the above mentioned lines.

This company is not responsible for close connections, nor safe transportation, between the above mentioned lines by any ferryboat or other means of transportation. While the employes of this company have been instructed to keep themselves posted and give upon request all the information they can as to the probability of connections being made with other transportation lines, the company has no better means of foreseeing unexpected interruptions in the service of such lines, nor of telling how long such interruptions will continue, than the public has, and, therefore, cannot be responsible for notice of such interruptions.

MANY JUNE WEDDINGS.

Cupid Appears to be Quite Busy in Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., June 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—June weddings were numerous this week. Elmer G. Fosberg and Fannie Gatten were married Wednesday night and Frank Anderson and Lulu Strewalt were married Thursday evening. Word has reached here of the marriage of B. S. Armstrong of this city and Miss Katherine O'Grady, a former teacher in the schools here, at Janesville, Minn., on Wednesday. They are expected in this city, where they will make their future home, on Saturday.

RAILROAD NEWS

MAY CHANGE THE PLANS

Larger Terminals May Result From Visit of Railroad Officials.

Head of Wisconsin Central Pleased With Prospects in Duluth.

It was learned today that the primary object of the visit of the officials of the Wisconsin Central railroad to Duluth was to thoroughly inspect the Duluth extension before definitely settling the plans for the terminals and the depot in this city.

The growing importance of Duluth as a railroad center, as well as the increasing business that is insured for this city by the link to Winnipeg and the entry of the Soo and the Wisconsin Central, has led the passenger officials of the latter road to consider carefully the plans for the local depot and terminals.

Vice President J. C. Starr stated to The Herald that he was most optimistic over the future of Duluth as a railroad center of the Northwest. This opinion, it is said, was shared by the other officials of the road, who came to Duluth for the purpose of inspecting the roads that run here from the great shipping centers of Wisconsin, Illinois and the Central West.

The importance of Duluth as a future shipping center has increased greatly within the past two years. In fact the railroad men of the Twin Cities are watching with envious eyes the growth of the Zenith city as a point of transfer between Chicago and the rich markets further to the West.

It is stated that the officials of the Wisconsin Central look upon Duluth as the connecting transfer point between the Chicago territory and the the rich markets further to the West. With this idea in view it is stated that the plans for the local transfer facilities will be changed with the idea of improving and enlarging the original plans.

DULUTH LOOKS GOOD.

J. B. Hanson Returns From Railroad Meeting at Atlantic City.

"Duluth weather feels pretty good to me after broiling at Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago," declared J. B. Hanson, general passenger agent of the Missabe road who has returned from a short Eastern trip. Mr. Hanson has been at Atlantic city attending the meeting of heads of the departments of railroads of the country. He says the meeting was purely business not being marked by any of the social events that usually accompany such gatherings. The meetings got an early start each day and ran well along into the afternoon until the business was cleaned up. Then those attending started for home. Mrs. Hanson accompanied Mr. Hanson and they enjoyed several dips in the surf at Atlantic city finding the ocean anything but cool while the atmosphere aided by the scorching rays of the sun gave a lobster color to portions of exposed anatomies. Returning Mr. and Mrs. Hanson visited some of the big steel plants in Pittsburg.

"Pittsburg was like an oven," said Mr. Hanson, "especially in the vicinity of the big furnaces. We also found Chicago very hot, many heat prostrations being reported—far more than have been chronicled in the press. Nearing Duluth on the Omaha road we noted a welcome change in the atmosphere and are glad to be back where breathing is easier."

Passenger Agent Here.

L. P. Gellerman, district passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, is in Duluth today conferring with the local passenger officials of the Northern Pacific.

OFFICIALS IN DULUTH

Canadian Northern Road Will Complete Traffic Agreement.

Canada Expects to Harvest Bumper Crop This Year.

George B. Shaw, traffic manager of the Canadian Northern railroad, is in Duluth today conferring with the officials of the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railways. Mr. Shaw came to Duluth to definitely settle certain traffic matters that have been pending since the through service was installed between this city and Winnipeg.

With Mr. Shaw is William Stapleton of the passenger traffic department of the Canadian Northern, who is also here on business connected with the through business of the three roads which comprise the link between Duluth and Winnipeg.

Mr. Stapleton stated that the biggest crop in the history of Canada is expected this fall.

"A large increase in the acreage is reported," said Mr. Stapleton, "and the crop promises to be one of the best in the history of the three Western wheat-growing provinces.

"The weather conditions for growing wheat have been ideal up to this time. The railroads are preparing to handle a great volume of wheat, and with this object in view, are busy placing their equipment in shape. The promise that the growing wheat holds out has had the most beneficial effect upon business."

Mr. Stapleton says that passenger business over the new short line route to Winnipeg has been very good. He looks upon the district lying between Duluth and Winnipeg as a most promising one, and believes that Duluth will be one of the railroad centers of the West within a few years.

George H. Anthony, general agent of the Wisconsin Central at Winnipeg, is also in the city today. Mr. Anthony states that the wheat acreage has been increased over 25 per cent in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, the three wheat-growing provinces of the dominion.

"The crop prospects are the brightest in the history of the dominion," said Mr. Anthony. "The crop is thirty days ahead of the crop of last year and twenty days ahead of the normal crop. They are cutting flax at the present time in Saskatchewan.

"The railroads have added considerably to their equipment, and are doing everything in their power to increase their capacity. Business will undoubtedly be increased by the great crop."

New Freight Tariff.

The new through tariff on the roads comprising the link between Duluth and Winnipeg will go into effect July 6, permission having been received from the interstate commerce commission. As stated before in this column, the through freight rate, based on 89 cents a hundred for first class freight, will remain unaffected by the new tariff. There will be a material saving to shippers, however, on the new classification for intermediate points.

Tonnage Light.

There was little change in the tonnage record of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern for the week ending today. The average daily tonnage record of approximately 30,000 tons was maintained throughout the week.

Rates Are Reduced.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 27.—A general reduction in freight rates marks the Iowa classification of freight rates No. 14 just issued by the board of railroad commissioners and which takes effect July 1. The new rate schedule includes all the commodities. Where rates are lower in the western classification than in the old Iowa classification, the cheaper rates have been adopted on the new schedule. Where the Iowa rates originally were lower than the western, they have remained the same.

For the most part the reductions are slight but in some cases the rates will be of great advantage to shippers.

Self Control.

There are times in every one's life when one feels that one's self-control is slipping away in the most humiliating manner. Some say a cure for nervousness is to hold a long, deep breath while counting ten. As a preventive, a glass of golden grain belt beer at bedtime will induce refreshing sleep and rest the tired nerves. If you are a sufferer, try it. Duluth branch Minneapolis Brewing company.

WILL BE OPEN ON SUNDAY

Art Exhibit May be Inspected During the Afternoon.

The efforts of Duluth people to have the art exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. open on Sunday have been successful, and tomorrow from 2 until 6 o'clock all those who are unable to attend the exhibit during the week will have an opportunity to see the paintings.

The women have planned a delightful program for the reception on Monday afternoon. A vocal solo will be sung by Miss Patton of Appleton, Wis., and Leo Schmied will give a piano number. At 4:30 Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour will speak on the paintings of the exhibition.
